The Summer Girl's Shoes and Stockings

By BETTY BROWN
NEW YORK—The shoes that we shall wear and the hosiery wherewith our nether extremities are to be covered is as the sands of the sea for number and variety.

For dress effects there are lace-trimmed, hose and soft, shapely satin slippers, high-arched French, hooded and as pointed as skis, or there are Others that are especially designed for afternoon or evening, that have modified French heels, satin backs and patent kid vamps, or again, there are some fetching colonial, the Clarence, for instance, that have great steel buckles and come in soft kid, satin or in a combination of kid and satin, the last being considered particularly smart.

FAMILY TIES BROKEN DOWN BY RED RULE

BUDAPEST, June 7.—What may be the last days of the "Red" soviet rule, public here are fraught with such terror, hunger, mental misery, uprooting of family ties, heartrending partings, flight, arrests, and legal longings that the majority of Hungarians are praying that such days may never come again. They say they have caught in a burning house with the firemen scuffling benches on the only escape ladder.

When fathers and sons flee the country to evade arrest or to join the counter-revolutionists, their wives and mothers whisper at the parting: "Let us hope we may meet in happier times."

When the correspondent of the Associated Press had occasion to explain his nationality "the" whether head guard, peasant or civilian, had remarked with envy: "What a fortunate man you are to be an American."

He would invariably ask whether it would be possible to reach America or whether foreign-born relatives would be permitted to land on her shores. Peasants, who refuse to furnish food to Budapest or other cities because they are hostile to communism, and want shoes and clothes more than money, which they have plenty, gladly enough sold means and supplies to the correspondent on the strength of his nationality.

The city of Budapest which a few weeks ago had a plentiful supply of guns—people almost lived upon them and potatoes are now without sale, because of the obstinacy of the peasants. A great many of the stores have been closed for lack of goods to sell, or because they have been requisitioned by the Soviet.

Conary in Desolation.
The most saddening impression of the winter past is that of a country in desolation, being stripped of its riches, to benefit nobody. The relatively pleasant, orderly, beautiful life that existed in Hungary a few months ago, when its neighbor Austria was starting in case for many years to come.

"If anyone wants to be convinced of the futility of re-making the world in a single day with pet theories, he should now visit Hungary," was the remark made by an American naval officer. "It is estimated that half a million of Hungary's best citizens have been obliged to flee from their homes and wander across the frontiers to strange lands.

pleasant cars. Within a few weeks, there has grown up a system by which large percentages of the value of such property, often amounting to 50 per cent have been given for its safe transport to Vienna and Agrin. Not a few communitarians took advantage of such methods of getting valuable out of the country. Many jewelers, however, stored their stocks under sidewalks or hid them in holes dug in their cellars in preference to traucing them to blockade runners.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salt to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers You.
Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority.

because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, not sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, nervous headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Epsom salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acid in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Epsom salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful after-noon lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—With a view to quieting the unrest in Europe by hastening a return to normal economic conditions, financial interests in New York, with the assistance of the federal reserve board, are considering formation of a group export corporation for wool, copper, steel, tobacco and other American products, similar to that organized to handle foreign sales of cotton.

MEDICS HOLD PLACE IN WAR SERVICE WORK

Story of Organization and Mobilization Make Interesting Chapter.

RESPONSE TO CALL COMES QUICKLY

Members of Profession Laid Aside Their Practice to Serve in Country's Cause.

CHICAGO, June 7.—The story of the mobilization of the nation's medical forces for the army, navy and public health service will form a unique chapter in the history of the world war, according to Dr. Franklin Martin, chairman of the committee on medicine and sanitation of the advisory commission and chairman of the general medical board, council of national defense.

Dr. Martin, who recently returned from Washington where the big task was taken up on December 6, 1918, announced today that final figures show 49,000 civilian medical men were mobilized as officers of the army and navy and the public health service. In addition, 72,000 medical men and women in the volunteer medical service corps enlisted, drafted and called, making a grand total of 121,000 out of a total medical population of approximately 140,000.

To Complete Survey.
"Practical proof of the permanent value of the Volunteer Medical Service is the fact that the highest general of the army, Major General Marquette W. Ireland, has asked the council of national defense to complete its survey and make it a part of the literature of the nation general, whose reports will keep the records up to date," said Dr. Martin.

After reviewing the numerous obstacles which he and his co-workers had to overcome, Dr. Martin pointed out that the three governmental departments, the army, navy and public health service and less than 100 commissioned officers at the outbreak of war.

"Our first duty, then, was to obtain medical officers for the army and navy from the civilian medical profession in the proportion of about ten doctors for each one thousand enlisted men," he said. "This was accomplished through organizations already in existence, and through the general medical board of the council of national defense which established a large committee of medical men in each state. To subdivide the work and make it effective, finally county organizations under the respective state organizations were effected in more than 4,000 counties of the United States.

Response Was Prompt.
Dr. Martin said there was no difficulty in securing medical men, for the bulk of the profession was spontaneous.

"The only reluctance we observed on the part of the doctors was to blindly accept service without a definite assignment. In the first rush of organization we were unable to properly classify physicians so that they would be chosen with reference to their special fitness and desire.

"However, six months before the end of the war a plan was devised which relieved this uncertainty. The Volunteer Medical Service Corps, under the leadership of Dr. Howard F. Davis, of Philadelphia, was organized. Briefly, it consisted of taking the 90,000 medical men not yet enrolled to agree to serve the government in any capacity, with the implied reservation, however, that they would be selected as far as practically, with reference to their preference for service.

"In spite of the subtle propaganda based on the alleged opposition to men blindly signing an agreement for service, 72,000 of these applications were signed and made the basis of a classification that would have been of incalculable value for further mobilization."

The applications were so coded that it was possible to secure almost instantly a group of men for a special line of work," he said. Instances where large numbers of doctors were furnished within a day or two after requests were received from the public health service were cited by Dr. Martin.

HOOK CARS INTO ANY OLD TRAIN

Russian Cause Grief for Red Cross Workers Traveling in Siberia, Says Reiterfeld.

By the Associated Press.
TOKYO, June 9.—Major John Reiterfeld, formerly of the Red Cross, now of Tokyo, who is attached to the American Red Cross in Siberia, has arrived here preparatory to escorting 2500 Czech-Slovak soldiers from Vladivostok via Brest Canal to Trieste, and thence to France. The troops are chiefly those incapacitated by illness.

Major Reiterfeld who is assistant to Colonel R. B. Tustler of Virginia, the head of the Siberian Red Cross, has had some exciting experiences in Russia. He has conducted Red Cross trains to Omsk on two different occasions. Difficulties were created by the Cosacks as he conducted his trains into the heart of Siberia, he said. Small detachments living in railroad cars in various places would connect their coaches to his train on the spot that they must reach the front. Sometimes the cars numbered nine and ten, thus overburdening the long Red Cross train.

"On my recent visit to Omsk," said Major Reiterfeld to the correspondent, "we had rather a dramatic tableau in the station at Krasnoyarsk. The Cosacks had hitched on eight cars—without permission, and I ordered them taken off. The Cosacks refused. The station commandant threw up his hands in despair, exclaiming, 'What can I do? If I interfere on either side I will be shot for my pains.' Then he went away whistling.

"The Cosacks began to threaten and two of their officers' 'governs' me with revolvers. They said they could lick me and my small guard of American soldiers. Of course, I said they couldn't. Just behind me, one of my soldiers was wounded by the Cosacks officers and further off other American soldiers and Cosack riders were glaring at one another, their hands on rifles or revolvers. It was all 'bluff', of course, but I didn't want any awkward incident to happen.

"I telephoned the commander of the British forces stationed at Krasnoyarsk, explaining the situation. He said I was quite within my rights in going west without the Cosacks. He said he would send a detachment 'right down to the station.' I carried my conversation to the station commandant.

"The commandant was no longer in doubt as to his attitude, and said: 'My dear sir, you will leave in 15 minutes—without the Cosacks.' And we did.

"Before pulling out again I telephoned to the British officer, saying I had no further need of his assistance. He replied: 'Oh, I know it would be all right. Of course I had no objection of sending down a detachment.'"

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.
"I don't ordinarily know that Sage and Sulphur, probably camped out of the hair, the natural color and hiding to the hair which takes the color of gray. You see, the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by taking at any drug store for 'Wyntha Sage and Sulphur Compound,' you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't say gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray has disappeared, and after another application, or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyntha's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful relief requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease."

CHURCHES AND RECREATION.

A New York church has changed its hour of service Sunday morning from 11 o'clock to 10 o'clock. The idea, as the rector calmly explains, is to permit the members to get off earlier in the day, because "many of the congregation want to play golf or go motoring or perhaps take a run down to the beaches."

More of the "continental Sabbath." Yet this innovation, while arousing interest, finds the American public rather calm with respect to it. Many people are ready to condemn that church for its laxity with regard to Sunday observance, but few will accuse the pastor and the church officers of actively encouraging such laxity. It is evident that the church is simply giving formal recognition to a practical situation. Many of the congregation were already going out on Sunday to play golf or go motoring or take a swim, and the church is trying to induce them to attend religious service before going off for the day.

This tendency exists in every city and in every denomination. It is not necessarily an indication of godlessness, either. It may be nothing more than evidence of a growing appreciation of the outdoors and an instinctive desire to obtain, on the only free day of the week, the healthful recreation needed to keep the hard-working men and women working effectively at their tasks during the next six days.

It is by no means certain that the forefathers whom Americans are taught to revere as matchless examples of piety were so very much better than the present generation. They were more scrupulous in their observance of religious forms, but were they, in general, any more honest in their dealings, more clean morally, more neighborly, more charitable, more tolerant, more constructively helpful in the progress of the community and the race?

Did they have any more success in the supreme art of living? Were they better husbands, fathers, mothers? Were they better citizens? It is hard to believe they were. And it is even harder to believe that the Sundays which they made so laborious and painful, with their many services and their elaborate meals, did either the men or women—particularly the hard-working women who died so young in those days—any more good than the present-day Sabbath does those who mingle religion and recreation in moderate proportions.

ECONOMY IN CONGRESS

Reed Smoot of the senate appropriations committee has declared for economy. In a recent speech he said: "A beginning must be made, and made at once, in reducing government expenditures."

It is true that economy is in order in the government finances, following the heavy and often unquestioned expenditures of the war, though it is to be remembered that there was a reason for nearly all of these, and that they accomplished one thing not to be overlooked—we won the war.

From now on there is no reason why public funds should be spent without careful consideration. There is no war-time emergency to excuse wasteful and hasty measures, and it should be possible to reduce the outlay in many directions. Nevertheless such reductions should be carefully made, for the problems of peace are larger in some ways than those of war; it is essential for the good of the nation that large sums shall be raised and spent.

Appropriations for soldier farms should be generous, as should those for waterways, land reclamation of various sorts, public engineering projects. The nation is facing an era of great development, which should not be cramped by financing on too small a scale.

Proper economy should be observed, of course. But what is even more necessary is that all expenditures, large and small, shall be provided for by some sort of budget system putting them upon the same businesslike basis that is recognized as necessary for the successful conduct of any private concern.

THE LANE BILL

Secretary Lane, in testifying before the house public lands committee, pleaded for quick action on the bill project for furnishing farms to soldiers and sailors. He ought to get it, and the indications are that he will.

In fact, this measure seems to be in a more favorable situation than any other important piece of legislation at Washington. The executive and legislative departments are agreed as to its merits. Both parties are supporting it. If there is any politics in their attitude, it is the most commendable sort of politics, which consists in seeking the political benefit that comes from helping along a thing which is intrinsically good and which the public wants.

There is no question as to how the men for whose benefit the measure is intended looks upon it. Secretary Lane said last week that about 60,000 soldiers had applied for land already, and he had reason to believe that there were 650,000 service men who wanted to become landholders. The public as a whole has had nothing but praise for the plan. Every section of the country is for it. Under these exceptional conditions it may be expected to pass without delay. If it does not, the nation will know why.

SPEEDING UP ROAD WORK.

The Broadway Association of New York city, an organization of public-spirited citizens who are trying to preserve the history and good name of that thoroughfare for future generations, has taken up the question of the continual tearing up of the street for repairs of various kinds, and the fact that these often proceed so slowly that portions of the highway most essential for traffic are closed for weeks at a time.

One suggestion to relieve this latter condition is that all work shall be carried on 24 hours a day, the gangs working on three shifts.

The suggestion seems practical and could be followed to advantage where similar difficulties are experienced.

If in addition to speeding up road work some plan could be devised to assure its being started and carried out at a favorable season of the year much would be gained. It is a habit bad but prevalent to begin tearing up a street just at the beginning of winter, when work can neither be finished nor well advanced, which means, of course, that the street is blocked unnecessarily for months.

These discomforts and difficulties arise largely because the public does not concern itself enough with civic affairs. A little more attention to such details would mean better service and money in the public purse.

The Springfield Union remarks that Hawker's failure was due to water, not alcohol. Sure he had no alcohol in the radiator?

Perhaps, after all, it isn't fair to expect congress to act coolly and rationally in a city as hot as Washington at this time of year.

What is so rare as a day in June? Well, how about the day the Germans sign the treaty?

SIMS SEEKS TO BE TRIED ELSEWHERE

Alleges Malice Granted by D. M. Denton—Motion Overruled by Court.

Alleging that malice towards him had been created in Twin Falls county by D. M. Denton of The Twin Falls Times, Harold M. Sims yesterday made an effort to have his trial on a statutory offense removed to some other place for hearing. The court overruled the motion.

Following this effort an attempt was made to secure a continuance of the case, it being alleged by Sims that because of the withdrawal of E. M. Sweetey as his attorney on full notice and lack of knowledge on the part of the sitting of his case, that he was unprepared to go to trial at this time. Sims also alleged that certain witnesses who could testify to certain acts on the part of the prosecuting witness, Ruth Jeter, could not be secured at this time. This motion was overruled.

Following the overruling of the two motions a jury was selected, the 12th man being accepted at five o'clock last evening after the regular venire had been expended and a special venire of the jury council of Shriners of North Idaho met to select the jury. The jury was finally secured. The jury was selected much more rapidly than anticipated.

Following in the list of jury members, W. H. Parker, William Lamberson, C. C. Davis, W. J. Smith, A. G. Guthrie, S. G. McNealey, J. E. W. W. Weaver, Dan Whaley, Andrew Johnson and E. R. Hobbs.

Following is the affidavit filed by Sims in his affidavit for a change of place of trial.

"I, H. M. Sims being first duly sworn deposes and says, that he is one of the above named defendants. "That he is acquainted with one D. M. Denton, of Twin Falls, Idaho, who is now and has been for more than a year last past, the President of The Twin Falls Times, a newspaper edited and published in the city of Twin Falls, and circulated and distributed generally among the people of the city and county of Twin Falls, Idaho."

"That about two years ago, the said D. M. Denton and the defendant became involved in a certain personal difficulty and certain business disputes as a result of which the said D. M. Denton began an active campaign among the people of the City and County of Twin Falls, Idaho, to defame and injure the character, reputation and business and social standing of the defendant; that this campaign was conducted in a systematic and systematic manner; that the said Denton in the conduct of said systematic campaign circulated false reports of and concerning the defendant verbally and through the columns of the said Twin Falls Times; that the said campaign was one of deliberate slander and libel to accomplish the destruction of this defendant's business, social standing, reputation in the City and County of Twin Falls, and in the State of Idaho.

"That the above entitled matter was tried in the above entitled court during the month of February, 1919; that before the trial of said cause the said D. M. Denton had carried on said campaign actively and systematically among the people of the City and County of Twin Falls for the purpose of creating sentiment against this defendant and in order that prejudice and bias might be created generally among the people inimical to the interests of said defendant's case when the same should come to trial.

"That said efforts of the said D. M. Denton did result in the creation of a feeling of bias and prejudice against this defendant which said feeling now exists generally speaking among the people of the City and County of Twin Falls, Idaho.

"That at the former trial of said cause the jury empaneled disagreed upon this verdict.

"That thereupon the said D. M. Denton published divers articles in the said Twin Falls Times and circulated and distributed the same generally to the people of the city and county of Twin Falls, which said articles criticized the members of said jury who voted for the acquittal of this defendant, and held said jurors up to public criticism, and intimated that the said jurors had not properly performed their duty in the trial of said cause; that the said D. M. Denton conducted a deliberate and malicious campaign of slander against this defendant which had the effect, this affiant believes, in making it impossible to obtain a fair and impartial trial in Twin Falls county.

"That by reason of the activities of the said D. M. Denton, prejudice and sentiment has been created and manufactured in Twin Falls county against this defendant to such an extent that this defendant verily believes that he could not obtain a fair trial in Twin Falls county.

"That said D. M. Denton has carried on said campaign with systematic thoroughness, cunning and malignant ingenuity with the result that this affiant verily believes that a feeling of general prejudice and bias exists against him throughout the entirety of Twin Falls county, and among the great majority of the people thereof. "That the said D. M. Denton has carried said campaign of vilification outside of Twin Falls county and into

THE VILLAGE BEAUTIFUL

If a single merchant in this town were to adopt the permanent policy of making his store attractive in all possible ways he undoubtedly could hold the best trade of his town in the face of competition of every other kind.

What is true of the individual merchant is true of entire village or city. All it needs to hold its trade and its population is to be attractive. Attractiveness is of many kinds and is composed of many elements. Good roads, clean streets, low prices and high quality will attract to and generally hold trade for a town. But shaded streets, well sprinkled, green lawns closely cropped, neatly painted and well kept houses and outbuildings reflect a diligence and prosperity that are almost as persuasive, as some of the more tangible and material appeals of cost and quality.

One may imagine, for example, what a transformation could be effected in this town if every window on its business street were occupied by a flower box filled with beautiful flowering plants. Yet the thought need not remain wholly imaginary; for a comparatively small cost to each individual merchant such a transformation could be effected. Many of the largest stores and hotels of the great cities have decorated their windows in this way.

An example thus set by merchants doubtless would be followed by man citizens in the decorating of their homes.

In a few years our town would become known far and wide for the beauty of its homes and places of business.

PAUL TAKES CRACK AT HOPE FOR RAG

Watson All Over Twin Falls Nine is the Tune of 10 to 3—Mercerites' Need Catcher.

Paul played a baseball game, Twin Falls didn't.

Paul had lots of jazz to show the 1600 fans present. Twin Falls didn't. Paul won the game.

Twin Falls didn't.

Manager Mercer sent in a patched lineup into the field and the patches didn't hold.

Twin Falls needed a catcher. Twin Falls didn't have one.

Watson essayed to do the receiving. But Watson wasn't there.

The loss of Watson was expected to slow up the Mercerites to some extent but even the most dubious fan had no reason to believe that Twin Falls had a one-man team, but if this exhibition is a criterion, this fact can be chalked up as good proof against the locals. Maybe Hysinger could have helped but—oh well—

Oh, the score.

Well, the score board showed up 15 to 3, but those in stadia wouldn't swear that Paul had less than ten thousand fans.

Twin Falls fans are hoping that the necessary spirit of "do it snappy" will be installed in the team before its next appearance here. The fans are all pulling for the pennant.

Maybe the team will be in its next game.

CHICAGO, June 9.—Jack Scott and Marvynne were responsible for Chicago winning the first game of the series from Boston today, 4 to 2. In the eleventh inning, Marvynne fumbled Mann's grounder and Markie followed with a single. Pasker laid down a bunt which Scott took and threw wild to first, permitting Mann to score the winning run.

IS WILLARD TOO BIG FOR DEMPSEY?

Long left boiler Dempsey; in lower it has blacked Jeff effectively.

before the men meet in the ring at May View park on Independence day, but the pictures above, taken by Bob Dorman, at Toledo, should give you some food for thought.

Bill Tule, giant negro, about as tall and big as Willard and with a reach a half inch greater, is one of the interesting men to watch in Jack Dempsey's camp.

And one must admit Willard is a better man than Fate.

Those who have been hit by Dempsey will swear his blows are the hardest they've ever felt. Such blows will hurt the champion if they land cleanly one or two of them, no doubt, would stop up Jess and make it easier for the third and fourth to land.

DUPLICATE PLANS OF ROBERT BRUCE

5000 American Soldiers Give Austrians Impression They Numbered 800,000.

By the Associated Press. BILLINGS, Mont., June 9.—American forces in Italy at the cost of increasing marching and counter-marching gave the Austrians opposing them the impression of a hundred times their actual number, was described by Rev. F. C. Kelly, chaplain of the 33rd infantry, upon his return home here. American forces numbering less than 5000 men, according to Chaplain Kelly, were estimated by Austrian intelligence officers as 500,000 men. From bases the men would be marched off to a spot within sight of an Austrian observation balloon, and as soon as darkness fell would be marched quietly back to the base. Next morning they would move conspicuously to another camp, only to return to their base the next night. One day the troops would wear their service hats of felt, the next their overseas caps and the next their steel helmets, in order to give the appearance of different detachments.

They marched on an average of 30 miles a day for 15 days with full packs," said Chaplain Kelly. "It certainly became monotonous, and we were forced to the conclusion after a while that our staff officers were hopelessly misled by their orders. The troops were not handled either way for it was desired that they spread out and look as numerous as possible in the daytime, and at night the motor lorries were all used for transporting supplies.

"When the big drive started last October we captured among thousands of other prisoners, an Austrian general staff officer. Questioned by our intelligence department he said the lowest estimate of the Austrian intelligence department was that there were 500,000 Americans in Italy."

MEXICAN PLOT GIVEN IN COURT

Efforts to Capture Border States Through German Cooperation Told by Witnesses.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., June 9.—Followers of the trial of Henry FOA's $1,000,000 libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune, now entered upon its fifth week today got what they have been waiting for, namely, the sensational touch from the Mexican border. The proceedings before Judge J. C. Tucker introduced, rangers, deputy sheriffs, a conspiracy of empire which involved the capture by Mexicans of the states of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and the southern part of California, embracing submerged rights, boats, cattle-rustling, sudden and sanguinary battles by Mexican bandits; and a bit of German propaganda in the form of an 18-man iron cross taken from a slain Mexican bandit, and three ancient Mauser rifles—also of German origin.

The story came mainly from Mrs. W. L. ... now a customs official at Santa Maria, Texas, and Thomas S. Mayfield, of Pharr, Hidalgo county, Texas, a rancher, contractor and land developer.

Other witnesses were Thomas J. Alexander, postmaster and keeper of the general store at Sebastian, Texas; Thomas P. Bishop, former United States marshal at San Antonio, Texas, and John B. Hessel, an immigration inspector at Brownsville.

Mayfield testified he took a copy of the conspiracy to retake the border states from a Mexican revolutionist whom he had captured. He turned the papers over to Bishop, who said "that they were his turn given over to A. H. Ford for translation. Harold identified the translations on the stand.

The plan contemplated an invasion from Mexico and a simultaneous uprising of Mexican residents in the border states.

Mr. Bishop appeared indignant at the way the case was handled and testified that he resigned as marshal because "they would not let me do my duty." On cross examination Attorney Alfred Lucking of counsel for Henry Ford, in connection with the resignation, asked:

"The federal authorities regarded it as a trivial occurrence, didn't they?" "Yes, they did," replied the witness with indignation in his voice.

EMBARGO LIFTED ON GOLD EXPORTS

Licenses Still Required; But Will Be Granted Except to Countries Listed By Bolsheviks.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 9.—To hasten return to normal economic conditions and to restore the American dollar to parity in several foreign countries, the control exercised by the government over transactions in foreign exchange and the exportation of gold coin, bullion and currency was terminated today by President Wilson, acting on recommendation of the federal reserve board.

Exceptions made by the president included prohibition or exportation of gold notes or exchange operations with that part of Russia now under the control of the Bolshevik government and exchange transactions with territories in respect of which such transactions are at present permitted only through the American relief administration.

Attention was also called by the board to the fact that termination of control did not authorize transactions with enemies except so far as such transactions may be authorized by a general or special license granted by the war trade board. License to export coin, bullion or currency will be required, but will be granted "freely" by the war trade board, "irrespective of destination or amount," the board's statement said. Applications must, however, continue to be made to the federal reserve board until such time as the president shall by proclamation formally bring to an end the present control, instituted when the United States entered the war.

DISEASES ARE THREATENING LARGE CROPS

Red Rust Makes Appearance in Winter Wheat Sections.

SMUT APPEARS IN EASTERN STATES

Greatest Wheat Crop in History Anticipated by the Forecast.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Dampness is growing throughout the country but plant diseases already have done some damage and threaten to curtail production somewhat. The largest wheat crop ever grown, aggregating a $24,000,000 bushels of winter wheat, is expected to be harvested in the next few weeks. The crops of oats, barley, rye, hay, apples and peaches also are on the prospect.

Red rust made its appearance during May in the principal wheat raising sections and the infection is spreading. It caused damage to the extent of about seven billion bushels to winter wheat and experts are unable to determine how extensive the damage will be by the time that crop is harvested.

In Kansas and Nebraska wheat is well advanced toward maturity but the rust infection is exceptionally heavy and the extent of loss to be expected entirely problematic. The decline in the last week of May was very marked in those states, especially in Kansas.

cent in the area shown. This late spring and abundant rainfall interfered with planting as large an acreage as had been intended. The condition is good in the principal producing states.

Winter Wheat Forecast.

Winter wheat production is forecast at 82,000,000 bushels, compared with 98,816,000 bushels forecast last month, making it the largest growth. Condition of winter wheat was 94.2 per cent of a normal, compared with 106.4 last month and 83.8 last year.

Spring wheat production is forecast at 345,000,000 bushels, compared with last year's production of 350,000,000 bushels. This is also a record crop.

Across this year is $2,593,000. Condition of the crop June 1 was 91.2 per cent of a normal, compared with 95.2 a year ago.

MARY SUCCESSFUL FLIGHT. ST. LOUIS, N. E., June 9.—The Victoria-Viny entry in the London Daily Mail $50,000 trans-Atlantic flight competition made a trial flight today. WHEN YOU WAKE UP DRINK GLASS OF HOT WATER. Wash the poison and toxins from system before putting more food into stomach. Says: Inside-bathing makes anyone look and feel clean, sweet and refreshed.

Wash yourself on the inside before breakfast like you do on the outside. This is vastly more important because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing illness, while the bowels pores do.

For every ounce of food and drink taken into the stomach, nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out of the body. If this waste material is not eliminated day by day it quickly ferments and generates poisons, gases and toxins which are absorbed or sucked into the blood stream, through the lymph ducts, which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

A splendid health measure is to drink, before breakfast each day, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. which is a harmless way to wash the skin pores and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels thus cleaning, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

A quartar-pint of limestone phosphate costs but very little at a drug store but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on inside bathing. Men and women who are accustomed to wake up with a dull aching head or others who have bilious attacks have found limestone phosphate a healthy breath, allow complexion, acid stomach or constipation are signs of pronounced impure blood. Improvement in both health and appearance shortly.

HOME TO MOTHER AND SWEETHEART, COMES AMERICA'S GREATEST HERO

These are exclusive pictures of the simple home-coming of Sergeant Alvin C. York, America's greatest war hero, who passed up a score of rich vaudeville offers to hurry to his Tennessee mountain home, his mother and his sweetheart. "Howdy, my boy, glad to see you back home again," was the mother's unemotional greeting, but ill-concealed pride shows in her face. At this right is 17-year-old Gracie Williams became the bride of Sergeant York at a big barbecue in honor of his his homecoming. Governor Roberts of Tennessee threw the knot. At the left Sergeant York is about to wash away the dust of travel. Mother York bringing the water for him in an old tin bucket, while an admiring little sister gives speeches at her little brother who has killed 20 Huns and captured 132 alone, putting nearly two-score German machine gun nests out of action.

LEAGUE WILL EMBRACE HUN IN ITS ROLL

Possibility of Rival League Is to Be Gauged

BIG FOUR AGREE TO NEW SCHEME

"We Can Deal Better With Germany Inside the League Than Outside."

By the Associated Press

PARIS, June 9.—The movement to admit Germany to the league of nations is due mainly to the desire to avoid the possibility of the formation of another group composed of great powers which would embrace Germany, Russia and the old Teutonic group.

Evidence has reached the conference leaders of late that influences are at work in Germany and Russia to establish relations as a basis for a combination of powers not in the league. While not regarded as imminent, it was felt that the danger of such combination would be always present while Germany was outside the league and the relations as there were, was recommended as a means of subjecting her to the same obligations as the allies under the league of nations.

Big Four Agree.

This conference was chiefly instrumental in the unanimous decision of the British, French, American and Italian members of the league committee concerning the conditions on which Germany may be admitted. One of the chief conditions is that Germany can deal with Germany better when inside than outside the league. Outside she would be able to go her own way; inside she must conform to the same obligations as the allies.

The covenant originally foresees Germany's admission on giving effective guarantees of her sincere intention to observe international obligations. The recommendations now submitted to the council of four do not differ from the original one, namely, the establishment of a stable government, the signing of the peace treaty and loyally executing the terms of the treaty.

Abolish Militarism.

The league covenant also made it conditional of Germany's entrance that she accept the league restrictions of military and naval armaments. It was proposed to define this by specific abolition of compulsory military service.

Mr. Clemenceau objected, however, on the ground that such specification might bring up the whole question of compulsory service. It was omitted from the resolutions presented to the council of four.

The council spent the day in examining this and other committee reports. Indications were that the reply to the Germans would be ready before the end of the week, probably Friday, when the stamp will be given for Germany's final answer with respect to signing.

The organization committee of the league of nations commission met today. The secretary-general, Sir Eric Drummond, presented a memorandum regarding organization of the league, after which there was a general discussion as the result of which the following resolution was adopted.

"It will be essential to the league to be fully informed at the earliest possible moment of all the political, economic, financial, social and other relevant considerations in all parts of the world. Every state which is a member of the league should therefore undertake to supply the international secretariat with all appropriate information."

NO SYMPATHY IS SHOWN FOR RED RADICALS

A. F. of L. Puts Stamp of Disapproval on Radical Agitators.

ROAR OF APPLAUSE SHOWS POSITION

Body Will Devote Itself to Patriotic and Constructive Program for Labor.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 9.—Delegates representing more than three million American workmen and women at the opening session of American Federation of Labor here today put the stamp of their disapproval on the hear of radical agitators and prepared to deal with the existing problems of vital importance to organized labor.

Opportunity to show their lack of sympathy with the efforts of radicals came during an address by Governor Huxson of New Jersey. Referring to a meeting in New York last night, the governor asserted "these men threaten that unless things are settled their way chaos will result."

"I know that American labor and this convention, frantically as it is with such potential consequences, have no sympathy with any idea that are not constructive. I know you are out of harmony with destruction credo. You think along sane lines."

A burst of applause from the floor quickly swelled to a roar.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, sounded the keynote of the convention, when he said in his opening address that organized labor was determined that political and industrial Germany should have no place in America.

"An employer," said Mr. Gompers, "who things that industrialocracy is going to prevail in the United States is counting without his best."

Mr. Gompers said organized labor was making no unjust demands and that workers, having shed their blood and made sacrifices to win the war, had no intention of losing sight of the principles, rights and ideals for which they had fought, now that the war was won.

The annual report of the executive council containing broad outlines of organized labor's reconstructive program was submitted. In it the committee made many recommendations designed to protect the rights and improve the conditions of American labor.

Recommendations for a forty-four hour week and a firm declaration that existing wages must not be reduced and in fact to make some cases should be increased, are included as the salient points.

Among other recommendations were that organized labor take a definite stand favoring public and semi-public ownership of utilities, development of waterways and water power, regulation of land ownership, increased activity in political, prohibition of child labor, freedom of expression and association, workmen's compensation, restriction of immigration, tax adjustment, elimination of private employment agencies and recognition of the right of school teachers to organize.
