VOLUME IX, NUMBER 30

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, TUESDAY MORNING, JULY 1, 1919

PRICE FIVE CENTS

BAN IS LIFTED ON BEER AND WINES

Last Minute Ruling Announced by Department of Justice

DRYS TO HURRY BILL FOR LAW ENFORCEMENT

Measure Is Reported Unsuccessful One of Fact and Not of Law

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 30.—As was time prohibition took effect tonight the department of justice announced that its agents throughout the country would not attempt tomorrow to stop the sale of wine and three-quarters per cent beer.

This eleventh hour development, a flat reversal of an earlier ruling today by the department, was due to the uncertainty as to how the federal district court of New York might rule on a pending claim by brewers that beer containing that much alcohol was not intoxicating.

But while this uncertainty existed as to beer of higher alcoholic percentages than that sold heretofore, full warning was given that with respect to whiskey and all beverages not to whose intoxicating powers there was no doubt, every governmental agency would be set to work in a determined effort to prevent their manufacture and sale.

How long the sale of two and three quarters per cent beer might continue would depend ordinarily upon the speed of the courts, but Congress meanwhile will stop to the front in an effort to complete like legislation.

Take Default Stand

Exactly what they have refused heretofore to do, prohibit members of the house will now attempt passage of a straight, clear out bill for enforcement of war time prohibition.

When word spread tonight that the attorney general was taking the prohibited alcoholic and breweries to remain in operation members of the judiciary committee counted noses to find a sufficient number ready to go to the front to demand separation of the enforcement measure, so as to be able to meet the bill and vote up the sale of all beer containing more than one half of one per cent alcohol.

Refuse to Pass Records

Congressional leaders, it was said, refused to abandon plans for a record beginning probably for 1918, but decided to put the bill through as an emergency measure, and the whole question of prohibition will be held up until next Monday, at the earliest. There is every indication tonight that a hard fight would be made to keep an amendment to be offered by Representative Igoe, democrat of Missouri, which would permit the president to set aside the war time act in so far as it relates to light wine and beer.

The attorney general's staff was wrestling with the question of intoxicating and non-intoxicating beer, the judiciary committee sent to the house its report in which the bold assertion was made that anything over one half of one per cent alcohol was intoxicating within the purview of general law and that Congress, and not the court, should fix the alcoholic percentage of all beverages, sale of which is restricted by prohibition statutes.

To Fight Hard Liquor

Attorney general Palmer, in his statement as to the policy of the department called attention to the fact that the authorities in every city and state had been requested to give the utmost cooperation in the matter of enforcing all undoubted provisions of the war time law. The temporary refusal not to proceed against those selling 1 1/4 per cent beer, although evidence against them will be obtained with a view to their prosecution in the event the court decides against the brewers, does not mean that persons offering it for sale in territory heretofore dry will be exempt from arrest and prosecution.

Balcons selling two and three quarters per cent beer will take a gambler's chance and stay open at their own risk, it was emphasized.

Contending that no court may, as a matter of law, what percentage of alcohol in liquor makes it intoxicating, the judiciary committee, in a report today to the house on prohibition enforcement legislation.

CONGRESS FAILS TO PASS NEEDED BILLS

Must Adopt Conference Reports to Provide Money for Fuel, Commerce, and Other Items.

The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 30.—Congress failed today in its aim to enact the remaining appropriation bills before adjournment and to recess until next Monday.

The expected house opposition to the conference agreement on the $148,000,000 army appropriation bill and obstruction by house Democrats to other measures forced adjournment of both the senate and house until tomorrow after the senate had listened most of the day to debate on the treaty of London.

With all the appropriation measures needed July 1 to provide funds for many government agencies beginning the new fiscal year, leaders hoped to clear up all the bills tomorrow and then adjourn until July 7 when President Wilson is expected to arrive with the German peace treaty.

Of the five money bills left over the naval appropriation measure carrying $161,000,000 and providing a naval personnel of 170,000 men, was the only one completed today. Conference agreements were reached on all others, including reduction of the

The senate planned a night session to carry through the supply bills but a clash of members who returned at 1 o'clock, after an adjournment upon learning of the blockade in the house, where democratic objection to consideration of the supply bill and the District of Columbia conference reports forced postponement of final action until tomorrow.

THINKS HEADS OF LEAGUE ARE DISLOYAL

Belief Deduced From Information Received While on Draft Board, He Says.

By the Associated Press. JACKSON, Minn., June 30.—Sheriff O. C. Lee of Jackson county, testifying this afternoon at the conspiracy trial of the A. C. Towner and Joseph Gilbert, declared upon cross-examination he would not claim "the Non-Parian League as a whole as a disloyal organization, but that 'I believe some of the speakers and organizers of the league were disloyal.'"

Sheriff Lee testified he came to this conclusion as a result of incident and conversation with some of the speakers at a meeting at Jackson on June 21, 1918, at which time he was a member of the Jackson county draft board.

Sheriff Lee testified he attended one meeting of the Non-Parian League during the war period at Ewington, Minn., in October, 1917. Irving Fiedler, a league organizer, was the principal speaker, Lee testified.

"I did not consider that any of the remarks made at the meeting were treasonable," the sheriff testified. "The principal theme was an attack on capital and professedly, I consider the meeting ill advised, and I did not think it was right for the Non-Parian League speakers to stir things up at a critical time."

A. E. Anderson of Lakefield, a witness testified regarding the speech which Gilbert made in Lakefield January 31, 1918.

"Gilbert said: 'Your boys are better off at home than in the trenches five thousand miles away,'" said Anderson on direct examination.

LONDON, June 30.—Sir Auckland Geddes, president of the board of trade said in the house of commons the other day that American steel manufacturers were quoting prices for steel in the United Kingdom lower than those quoted by British manufacturers. Nevertheless, he said, the government was not prepared to restrict the importation of iron and steel because of the demand for it in Great Britain.

Lieutenant Colonel Sir F. Hall declared that the American steel manufacturers were underselling British steel in English markets by British shilling ton and upward. He said Sir Auckland if the government was going to do anything to protect British steel manufacturers from this American competition. This evoked the reply that the government intended to impose no restrictions at present.

"There is a very great demand for iron and steel in this country at present and our producers are not able to meet it," said Sir Auckland Geddes. "Our foreign trade demands a large amount of iron and steel to be worked into things to be exported."

CONDITIONS NEAR RIGBY DISCLOSED

Farmers Forced to Replant Wheat Because of the Dry Conditions.

Probation Officer John Ault and Miss Jessie Warrington collaborated yesterday in giving a graphic account of the dry conditions in the Anthon and Rigby country. The probation officer was up last week with a couple of boys who had been committed to the reform school, while Miss Warrington has been in that part of the state for some months in behalf of the university extension.

They both declared that the wheat and beet crop had been utterly ruined by reason of dry weather which prevented the seed from sprouting and the farmers are now plowing up the fields and planting wheat in the hope that they will get a rain which will result in a good crop for the fall. There has been no hay produced there this year. Fruit and potatoes were killed by the early frosts. Twenty-five out of the 23 irrigation ditches around St. Anthony and Rexbury are dry.

Mr. Ault said his view of the matter of food in the institution might be of interest to those having children there. He brought along a sample of the menu. Both officers' and children's meals were given. The following is the children's bill of fare for the day:

Breakfast—Oatmeal, milk, sugar, fried potatoes, gravy, pan cakes and syrup, bread, butter, coffee.

Dinner—Beef shank, vegetable soup, crackers, steamed potatoes, canned corn, peach pie, bread, butter, milk.

Supper—Macaroni with tomato and cheese, creamed potatoes, gravy, pie-plant sauce, cookies, bread, butter, milk.

SARDINIA IS OPEN TO AMERICAN TRADE

Island Produces Many Things That Will Make for Increased Activities.

ROME, June 30.—Every attraction for the American trader—market sufficient domestic resources to warrant the extension of credit and sympathetic clientele—is to be found in Sardinia, according to Dr. Alfred P. Dennis, United States commercial attaché after his recent exhaustive study of the economic situation in the latter island possession of Italy.

"The Italian mainland, just at present," said Dr. Dennis for the Associated Press, "has very little that she can exchange with us. American wants her cheese and olive oil but the supply of both these commodities is below the margin of home consumption."

"The situation is much better, in Sardinia. The island produces cork, silk, oil, tomato paste, wool, sheep skins, almonds, canned tuna, fish and porcine cheese greatly in excess of domestic requirements. These native products we would gladly exchange for American coal, shoes, agricultural implements, cheap saw, cutlery and kitchen utensils. Here lies the coincidence of natural supply and demand which furnish the essential elements for entering into a true program of barter."

"An American steamship service offering direct trade between New York and Sardinian ports would be a novelty, but, in my opinion, would prove a profitable venture. Such an enterprise, of course, would contemplate the establishment of trade agencies and banking facilities in Sardinia."

"I found the people of the island to be the simple unshuffled folk and a perfect delight in establishing friendships."

FOREST FIRE IN WYOMING PLACED UNDER CONTROL

IDA TARRELL GIVES PRAISES TO TREATY

Declares League of Nations Covenant Is Backbone of the Recently Signed Peace.

"Taking the peace treaty as a whole, including the league of nations, which constitutes its backbone, I consider it one of the greatest documents in the history of the world," said Miss M. Tarbell, noted woman publicist, when interviewed by a Chronicle reporter yesterday afternoon.

"I cannot conceive of its not being ratified," she continued. "Not so much because of the attitude of congress at present or on account of the sentiment of the great masses, the American people. The people of this country are noted for their common sense. The appeal for a nation of nations will not attract them. Are we to cease to try to better our (pros) abroad? Are we to cease to endeavor to convert other nations to our democratic principles? If not, why should we refrain from participating in any great world movement that promises to forward the cause of humanity and civilization?"

"The terms, aside from the peace league are hard, but what could Germany expect under the circumstances? Of course, the Germans cannot be expected to be pleased with such conditions, and they are not. On the other hand, there are a few extremists who desire to see the terms still more stringent, but the sentiment of the great masses of Germany is that the conditions are just. To be sure, it may be found that in practice some of the terms of the treaty will prove impracticable and that they may have to be modified to conform to actual circumstances. One of the things that the league is to do is to serve as a means of adjusting difficulties incident to the carrying into effect the terms of the treaty."

"Regarding the Monroe doctrine, it is fully protected and is stronger now than ever since it not only has been backed by our own navy, but also by the power of the league."

"Miss Tarbell" was the next question, "certain senators have intimated that article 10 of the covenant may be construed to strengthen the operation of the Monroe doctrine so far as it is an inviolable, non-warlike aggression, but have contended that it would weaken it in other respects; what is your opinion on that subject?"

"The peace league would not weaken it in any respect since in accepting it, it accepts it as we have defined it, and as our precedents show it to be."

"What do you think about the Russian situation?" asked the interviewer.

"Well, I have never been in Russia, but I have met a great many who have been, a number of Russians of all shades of opinion. My impression is that the situation will have to work itself out. There are eight different nationalities in Russia opposed to the rule of the Bolsheviks. Could these unite, the end of Bolshevik domination would come at once, but since the Bolsheviks are united and their enemies divided, they succeed in maintaining themselves, and will do so until some strong man of really energetic beliefs can gain control of and unite these divided nationalities, when the reign of Bolshevikism will end. It will doubtless be supplanted by some sort of modified socialist state, considering the tendencies manifest in Russia."

"How about the Sinn Fein?" was the last question.

"Well, I am not sure that they have a republic. I sympathize with the demands of Ireland for home rule, and am sure that the league of nations will be a powerful instrument to secure it, since the atmosphere will be liberal. I should prefer to see Ireland secure her rights through evolution and parliamentary means, than through revolution, and believe that the honest and party Whigs proceed along that line has behind the real sentiments of the people of Ireland."

Miss Tarbell was four months in France, with the privilege of having the advantage of having the provision acquaintance of many leading delegates and experts from the United States, England and France.

Why An Old Maid?

The average normal woman does not deliberately contemplate a state of single blessedness, so called. In fact, all of her finer instincts rebel against such an unnatural prospect. The tender of her womanly affection is always responsive to nature's divine work.

WOMAN IS A HOME LOVER AND A HOME MAKER.

And therein lies the rub. Too often the young man contemplating matrimony is indifferent regarding his responsibilities as a home maker. WE DO NOT BLAME ANY WOMAN FOR FIGHTING SHY OF SUCH AN UNCERTAIN ALLIANCE. Better single freedom of action than united adversity and uncertainty.

Young man, take our advice unto yourself and devote most of your time to that grand old tune "There Is No Place Like Home." Believe us, there will be fewer old maids in the world, and much more real contentment.

WRITER EXPLAINS FORD EDITORIAL

Tribune's Policy Toward Both Mexico and Germany Is Outlined.

By the Associated Press.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., June 30.—Practically all of today's session of Judge Tucker's court was taken up with the examination of Clifford S. Raymond, who wrote the editorial June 27, 1919, headed "Ford is An Anarchist," on which the Detroit manufacturer based his $1,000,000 libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune.

The witness said that about 1914, the Tribune finally became convinced that only armed intervention in Mexico would bring anarchism to an end.

"This was it on your paper decided to adopt the policy of intervention," asked Attorney Alfred Lacking.

"To the best of my knowledge it was Captain W. M. Patterson."

"And at about this time the Tribune was also arguing that we should keep out of the war with Germany."

"Yes, that we should keep out of the war with Germany if that were possible and consistent with national interests and honor."

Mr. Raymond expressed the opinion that war with Mexico would not have caused any considerable reduction in the war supplies which the United States was shipping to the various allies, and he thought that the building of an army, even of sufficient size and equipment to restore order in Mexico might have impressed the Germans with an idea that they would better not wantonly invite the United States to join the allies.

"Will you state, what, if any influence, the question of lives and property along the border had upon your decision in writing those editorials favoring intervention?" pursued Mr. Lacking.

"I had the idea that it was the first duty of a nation to protect its peaceful citizens even if they were in a foreign territory, and, generally, if they were in their own, regardless of our foreign alliance."

Attorney Weymouth Kirkling, representing the Tribune, asked Mr. Raymond to state the Tribune's policy and the witness answered as follows:

"Our policy was based on the belief that a nation was justified in going into war only when its honor, its security, or when its genuine interests were involved in the issue. Last year this world war had involved American dignity and honor, security and future, the United States should go in. If it did not involve the United States in that way, the American people had no business subjecting themselves to the experience."

PUBLIC MARKET IN TWIN FALLS URGED

Miss Ludwig Asserts Newspaper Advertising Would Make Paper a Success.

"If a public market is established in Twin Falls it will be an unqualified success," declared Miss Edna Ludwig yesterday. Miss Ludwig was recently appointed home demonstration agent.

"This has been demonstrated already," continued Miss Ludwig, "by the experience of those who have established market places this year."

"Because of the water shortage and the slow year there has not been a sufficient amount of garden stuff available, but two or three have sold strawberries."

"One man reports that he has sold out his product every morning before 10 o'clock and had made deliveries in the afternoon of orders given in the morning.

"I hope to see the market started this year so that there will be something to go on next year."

"If the market is established I would advocate the use of newspaper advertising, as that people would know where the market is located and how prices are running. It would do much to assure the success of the venture."

Service men of Twin Falls have received word that the Idaho Grange executive committee has given its unqualified endorsement to the Mondell bill.

This action is pleasing to the Twin Falls service men. The National Grange is reported as having been making a fight against the soldier aid bill and the organization was condemned for this attitude in resolutions adopted by the state convention of the Idaho State Organization of the American Legion.

The resolution adopted by the Idaho Grange committee follows:

"The Idaho State Grange, represented by its state executive committee, join in the peremptory written appeal of over 50,000 returned soldiers and the unwritten expression of untold thousands of others who desire farm homes in their native land who so shy and honorably defended. We much prefer that our soldier boys join us in producing the food supply than Oriental and drift migration from war-torn Europe.

The Idaho State Grange are familiar with the work of the reclamation service and give testimony that for every dollar invested by such service in Idaho, there stands a credit in farm wealth of not less than four dollars. Their service stands for the highest efficiency and most intelligent economy.

"The virgin soil of the desert, when supplied with water by the reclamation service, is vastly superior as an opportunity to our returned soldiers than the abandoned farms, exhausted by years of mismanagement and more responsive to intelligent effort even though the real estate junker will find less opportunity for a campaign by government endorsement. The best is none too good for our soldier boys."

"We therefore favor the Mondell bill as the best expression of an adequate knowledge of our reclaimed lands and what may be done with them to make homes for our soldiers, sailors and marines."

"We believe that any opposition to this worthy measure by any Grange purporting to represent our Order comes from inadequate knowledge of the bill in all its bearings.

A RAILROAD POLICY.

Next to the peace treaty, the biggest job ahead of congress is the return of the railroads.

It is recognized that the roads can not be simply dumped back on the hands of their owners. The "unscrambling" process is complex. They have been so closely inter-linked in federal operation that as they are to be returned to their owners, the job must be done carefully.

The Sherman law no longer seems sufficient. It served a good purpose in its time, in correcting monopolistic abuses. But now, strictly interpreted, it seems to cripple development in railroading as in one other big industries. It is not likely to be repealed, but there is much talk of amending it to permit some things now forbidden.

Federal management during the war, though disappointing in many respects, proved that in transportation particularly there are great advantages in centralized authority. The railroads of the country can undoubtedly give the nation better service, and give it cheaper, if they are able to work together more completely—if they can emphasize the principle of cooperation more than that of competition.

Rates of course must be kept reasonable and service must be kept good, but perhaps these aims can be attained by public regulation as well as private competition, or by a judicious mixture of the two methods.

Whatever system is adopted, the government will probably have more to do with the railroads than before the war. The interstate commerce commission may be given larger powers. There may be federal authority over the finances. But it is recognized that the part played by the government must be less negative and repressive, more constructive and helpful. What is wanted is a friendly and effective partnership between public authority and private enterprise. The war has taught us that we do not want government ownership of public utilities.

WIRELESS DEVELOPMENT.

Government ownership is not a term to conjure with in this country at present. Even public control of business is under a cloud. The nation is frankly relieved at the return of the telegraphs and telephones to their owners, and the imminent return of the railroads. It is not a favorable time to suggest any extension of federal management.

Nevertheless there are some pretty good reasons for suggesting a brand new enterprise on the part of the government, in the realm of communication. Wireless telegraphy is rapidly being developed to a point where it can be made extremely serviceable to the nation, for every day use in business and private life. Wireless telephony also is becoming practical. These means of communication are not yet organized and extended like the wire telegraph and telephone lines. From their nature, is more difficult for private enterprise to handle satisfactorily on a national scale.

The government already has many powerful wireless stations. It has large numbers of wireless experts at its disposal—both engineers and operators. It has a great stock of material. It has devices and ideas accumulated during the war and not yet used. With the help of the wireless branches of the army and navy, it may be that a national wireless service could soon be developed far beyond anything of the sort yet existing anywhere, without undue expense, and able to protect itself from the amateur interferences to which private wireless companies are subject.

BURIED TREASURE.

Alas for Stevenson of the graphic pen! Her: is a subject worthy of his powers, and how he would have relished it!

In the very region where Stevenson wrote some of his most delightful tales, the Island of Samoa, certain small boys have been digging up buried treasure.

The treasure is forty chests filled with gold and buried by the German officers who sought to flee from the islands after the United States joined the allies.

When the United States navy officers questioned the Germans they claimed to have disposed of all the money to German agents. But Commander Strum of the U. S. N. knew a thing or two about Germans so he started details of his men searching for the treasure.

They found nothing. Then Strum appealed to the school children of Samoa, and never did children have a job more to their taste. They dug and they delved, they hunted and they prospected, and did they find the gold? They did. Leave it to them. Almost all of the supply has been unearthed and turned over to Uncle Sam.

It is easy to imagine that school teachers in Samoa found their lives hard during these days of treasure-hunting, for what book could hold a tale half so exciting, or what arithmetic problem be so thrilling as trying to guess how much gold each chest contained.

Huck and Tom will turn in their graves when they hear this.

ANTI-CARBUREORS.

A Cleveland man is said to have invented an "anti-carburetor" which dispenses with the carburetor of an automobile and feeds direct.

As a result of the invention, he says it will be possible to run 90 miles on a quart of gasoline, and even to run a short distance on water alone should gas give out.

It sounds like a fairy tale, but the public will be hopeful that it is one of the fairy tales which come true.

Of course, should the invention prove thoroughly practical, a reduction in price should accompany the reduction in demand for gasoline, and feeding the machine is not add to father's problem of buying shoes for the children as it has hitherto.

Now if only some enterprising soul could invent an anti-carburetor for human beings which would reduce the quantity of food essential to life, with a consequent reduction of prices, what a blessing it would be.

"Why a carpet?" asks a household reformer?" solicitous of summer comfort. To which inquiry it seems reasonable to add, "Why a coat?" Also "Why a collar?" And, except in the hottest of hot suns, "Why a hat?"

The former booze fighters are revenging themselves on the teetotalers by drinking up all the soft drinks on the market, and sending prices up accordingly.

"If I could only see myself in the future," sighs an aspiring young man. No optimist wants to do that. It would be too discouraging.

Mexico promises to pay her debts. Trying to sneak into the L. of N. by the back door?

It can be the greatest Fourth ever, and still be safe and sensible.

MOTHERS HAVE

and to be given in the manner the boys want it to be. Numerous statements from the uniform that they do not wish to be in uniform has been followed up by the committee—announcing that a uniform is not necessary.

Men Are Pleasod.

One of the returned men discussing the matter yesterday said: "We know the folks here would like to see us in our uniforms and if they could only sense the feeling that we have toward this matter they would feel otherwise. We are proud to have worn the khaki. It is about the proudest thing in our lives. But we are citizens again—not service men—and we wish to enjoy the pleasures of the occasion as citizens. Then many of the recently returned men do not wish to appear in uniform because it makes them conspicuous. They do not wish to be centered out in a crowd. We certainly wish to thank the mothers for adopting the attitude they have of not requiring that men appear in uniform—it seems that more of them will be at the dinner. The boys will gather at 11:30 and there will be a short program which will take up the time until the noon hour, consisting of instrumental music and singing by an orchestra of young women."

To Be No Speaking.

It was stated yesterday that there would be no speeches and that the program would be simple in the extreme.

The Boy Scouts were busy yesterday helping the mothers secure things required for the big dinner and all reported fine progress. The success of the affair, from every point of view is assured according to salt connected with it in any way.

within the province of congress. Measure is split. The general enforcement bill is reported out by the committee on Friday, was split into three parts, each section as part one. The report of the committee on the bill as made today explained that the war time act itself provided no machinery for its enforcement merely prescribing a penalty for the manufacture and sale of "interlocking" beverages. If it was brought out that Attorney General Palmer said when war prohibition went into effect "some legislation for its enforcement would seem to be necessary."

KEARNS PROTESTS "RABBIT PUNCH"

Blow Used by Champion Is Unfair Declares the Manager of the Challenger.

By the Associated Press. TOLEDO, June 30.—Barring the blow used by one of Champion Kearns' favorite deliveries, manager of the challenger to enter the ring with Willard July 4, Kearns made a glass his fighter tonight.

The punch is a blow delivered to the back of the neck while the men are fighting in clinches with at least one foot arm.—Both Willard and Dempsey have been known to use this punishing effect in their fighting bouts and Manager Kearns claims that while the blow is a favorite with the champion, it is not at all important in Dempsey's repertoire of punches.

Such a delivery is barred and has been forbidden in his fights. The victor of the Toledo boxing commission are silent about the punch. They insist upon clean breaks and prohibit the kidney punch while the boxers are clinched. The blow, however, is permitted under the Toledo rules if the boxers are not locked in an embrace.

Kearns said he will request Ollie Peacor, referee, to see that the punch is not delivered and will insist upon having an understanding with Willard first to that effect before the day of the contest.

Dempsey was measured for height this afternoon by William Muldoon of New York, whose figures give him 5 feet, 10 inches.

QUAKE KILLS 127 IN TUSCANY, ITALY

Physicians Among Those Victims Of Selsian Movement With Center at Vicchio.

By the Associated Press. "ROME, June 30.—Earthquake shocks in Tuscany Sunday caused the death of 127 persons and injuries to several thousands, according to the latest advices from Vicchio, a town of 11,000 inhabitants, 15 miles northeast of Florence.

Among the victims at Vicchio, which suffered severely, were the local doctors. The railway station, churches and factories at Borgo San Lorenzo, north of Vicchio, were destroyed.

Airplanes have been sent in all directions along the Apennine mountains seeking information. It is feared some villages may have been isolated by destruction of all means of communication.

All relief efforts are being centered at Florence, Arezzo, Mugello and Zivara. Arezzo is about 40 miles southeast of Florence and Zivara is about the same distance south. Speedy relief in the damaged area, it is reported is rendered somewhat difficult because of the scarcity of supplies and lack of transportation facilities, because of war conditions.

BEGIN HOT WATER DRINKING IF YOU DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Boys glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue, is coated; if your head is dull or aching; if what you eat sours and forms gas and acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated or nervous, allow, and can't get feeling just right, begin inside bathing. Drink, before breakfast, a glass of hot real water with a teaspoonful of Limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract.

Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's poisonous wastes, gases and sour bile before putting more food into the stomach.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became loaded with dirty impurities; get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of Limestone phosphate which is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge, which is not unpleasant.

Just as soap and water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, kidneys and bowels. Men and women, old or young, usually constipated and headache or have any stomach disorders should begin this inside bathing before breakfast. They are assured they will become real cranks on the subject shortly.

Wheat—This week's receipts were unaltered, quarter cent to 1/16 cent higher, with September $1.74 1/2 to $1.54 1/2.

Oats finished 5/8 to 1 1/2c down. In provisions the outcome varied from 1/16c decline to 1/16c advance. Estimates suggested by current figures on average suggested that the 1919 yield of corn in the United States would fall 100,000,000 bushels under the 1918-1919. Defiance was further stimulated by the fact that stocks in stores were larger, and that the movement of new wheat seemed likely to delay the handling of other grain. An outlook for increase of the available supply total had a depressing effect on the market.

Lower quotations on being deprived provisions of any tendency toward a decided advance. Commission-house, though, were conspicuous at times as buyers of land.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Trading in stocks today occasionally was reminiscent of the dullness and hesitation which in pre-war time marked the advance of the new fiscal year and its attendant uncertainties.

Despite last week's better bank statement call money opened at 6 to 6 1/2 per cent, rising later to 8 for notified loans and 10 for all industrial, indicating increased discrimination against the latter form of collateral.

The new order created by the Versailles treaty found very clear reflection in the course of quoted values aside from the sustained strength of shares which have assumed a fixed place among so-called "blue" industrial.

Transportation shares enjoyed only modestly in the day's movements excepting Texas and Pacific which was again responsive to substantial accumulation.

Rubber issues related to the motor division, extended last Saturday's gain. Ajax, Keystone, Kelly-Springfield and United States Rubber recording gross advances of 2 to 3 points, but motors were relatively backward.

Flood shares came next in speculative favor, while Peabody, Jewett and Corn products rising three to five points, with affiliated issues, notably American Can and Continental Can.

Baldwin and American locomotive Central Foundry, command and preferred Central Leather hose and leather preferred, American Express and International Paper.

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

Don't Mess With It, You Feel It—It's in Your Blood.

Mean forms urea, acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poisons, else you get a full military in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatoid twinges. The urine is cloudy; full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's poisonous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder troubles disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation; Jad Salts is inexpensive, palatable and makes a delightful after-dinner iced-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

BOOM-OUTLINES THE WORK FOR LEGION

Declares That It Must Keep America Awake From Russian Espionage at Commencement of War.

Members of the American Legion who attended the convention of the organization at Boise last week are greatly impressed with the attitude assumed by E. C. Boom, state commander. Mr. Boom met all the delegates from Twin Falls and assured them that he was hopeful that the organization would be the greatest potential force for good in the United States within a short time.

The fact that Commander Boom is an overseas man has also made a great impression on the members of the Legion in Twin Falls.

"America is going to have to face some pretty serious problems in the near future," said E. C. Boom of Moscow, newly-elected commander of the American Legion. "I feel the American Legion is going to be the one organization which will be able to solve them. We must never let the county get back to the apathetic state in which it lay all the time war was declared, and with this organization doing the work which I feel sure it will do, it never will."

It was this apparent lack of patriotism, at least a lack of outward demonstration of patriotism, that led Mr. Boom, one of the leading attorneys of the north, at the age of 46, to enlist as a private in the United States army. So far as can be learned, he had left Hutton of Moscow have the distinction of being the two "high privates" of the state. Mr. Boom was so anxious to get into the army that he even managed to forget several years of his age, having mailed his birthday book and the necessaries for his home to the post office when he returned as a casual from overseas, according to Uncle Sam's enlistment book he was not then 45 years of age.

Private Boom's regiment of engineers made a record trip from the time they were mobilized until they reached the front. They were mobilized near Tacoma before Camp Lewis was started. In seven days they had crossed the continent and two days later were on the high seas for France. They were immediately assigned to fight with the British, and it was in the battle of Cambrai that Pvt. Boom lost a leg. He was returned to this country as a casual, after some months in a base hospital, and was then offered a captain's commission, with headquarters at Washington, which he also refused, but he remained there for a time doing special work.

It was while at Washington that Pvt. Boom married the sweetest heart of his youth, and in this connection he told a story on himself which has been much enjoyed by his many friends who knew his reputation as a story teller.

He took but three days' vacation from his honeymoon, and when he returned to his duties his fellow workers offered an explanation of his absence.

"Well," he said "it was this way. I got married. I married a girl I had known for 25 years ago. You see, she has been chasing me across the continents all this time, and at last when I was married and deep and cold as winter was any longer, she caught up with me and I just threw up my hands and 'kamrad! kamrad!' and surrendered."

"Of course I embellished the story all I could," said Mr. Boom, retelling the story. "That evening it appeared in the Washington papers, with awfully complimentary headlines than I had given it. I can tell you, I was scared! I had faced schrapnel and shell with no flinching, but the thoughts of going home to my wife with that story staring her in the face was too much for me. I was my anticipated happy married life vanishing into the air. What would that dear little woman say? What could she think? You know, she is red-haired, too."

"Well, I finally summoned courage enough to go home, and here I am in Idaho, and the best wife a man ever had, is waiting for me in Moscow, where she has consented to make her home. So you can see that she has a forgiving disposition. But I am a little more careful now of the subjects on which I talk."

Mr. Boom told an interesting experience which was his wife's in Idaho, apropos of her red-hair. Mrs. Boom has been an extensive traveler, spending much of her time in China, Japan, and India. In the latter country she traveled with the family of an English army officer, going almost all over the country.

It seems in India natural red hair is unknown, but one person who has made certain pilgrimages to many holy places had the privilege of dying their heads and hair red, as an indication of their holiness. Whenever this beautiful red-hair traveled appeared a new province, she would be obliged to disguise her hair and, loosing her hair, and after having it pulled to learn if it was genuine, there was nothing her party could not have.

Commander Boom hopes to bring his wife with him on his next trip South. He has already begun to plan the way in which he can best make the new organization a power in the state.
