

FAMOUS WOMAN IS CALLED BY DEATH

Dean of American Suffragist Passes Away At Pennsylvania Home.

PHILADELPHIA, July 7.—Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, honorarily president of the National Woman Suffrage association, died at her home in Moylan, Penn., near here at 7 o'clock this evening. She was 71 years old.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw came from England to this country, an unknown pioneer girl of four years and through her own efforts eventually became the president of the National Woman Suffrage association. In her childhood she lived with her parents' immigrant family in a Michigan wilderness port town from a potato and a huff. She had a brother, a sister and a half brother. She was educated at the Boston School of Theology in 1878 paying her way through school and college by preaching and lecturing. She suffered extreme poverty during this period living in an attic in Boston. On account of her sex she was refused ordination by the New England conference and by the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, but in this same year had the honor of being the first woman ordained by the Methodist Protestant church. In her struggles to become a minister she fought against ridicule, denunciation and lack of the barest necessities.

After seven years service as preacher to a small flock at East Dennis, Mass., Dr. Shaw resigned from the pulpit to take up the fight for social purity, for suffrage and for temperance. Her association through her preaching with such prominent figures as Mary A. Livermore and Dr. Ward Howe enlarged her view of life and aroused enthusiasm for the cause of suffrage and liberty.

Dr. Shaw first became a lecturer for the Massachusetts Women's Suffrage association, and from 1886 to 1892 was national superintendent of franchise. On the resignation of Dr. Shaw's most intimate friend Miss Susan B. Anthony in 1906, the presidency of the National Woman's Suffrage association fell between Dr. Shaw and Mrs. Carrie L. Chapman, whom Miss Anthony finally chose as the more experienced, while Dr. Shaw was made vice president at large. However, in 1904 Mrs. Chapman was compelled to resign on account of ill health, and Dr. Shaw succeeded her as president of the National association from 1904 to 1916.

Her administration was marked with by unprec edented progress. The number of suffrage workers increased from 17,000 to 200,000; one campaign in ten years was replaced by ten in one year; the expenditures of the association increased from $15,000 to $50,000 annually; the number of states with full suffrage grew from four to twelve, while the whole anti-suffrage movement changed from an

To the Candidates

The first count of votes in the big Chronicle grand prize distribution will be published Saturday and will include all votes cast up till Friday night of this week.

It should be the aim of every candidate to poll as many votes and subscriptions as is possible before Friday night and to stand well up in the list, for the public's eyes will be focused on the endeavors of the various competitors to see who the real contenders will be.

Did you ever notice how everyone cheers a winner and backs them with their support and influence, while the stragglers are scarcely noticed? Display a little enterprise and energy—show them a dash of speed and see how quickly friends, near relatives and more acquaintances will rally to your support. Get all subscriptions possible into the office by Friday night.

Those who have been "thinking about entering" the generous prize distribution but have not done so yet, should lose no further time. As may be seen by the most casual perusal of the list of candidates, there are rich opportunities for more hustlers to enter the campaign and by little effort during spare moments make themselves big prize winners. Clip out the nomination blank and send or bring it in—that's the first step toward success.

The Chronicle office is open each evening till 9 o'clock. Call in and get acquainted with the details of this OPPORTUNITY enterprise.

TAX FRAUDS BRING THREE INDICTMENTS

Accounting and Auditing Company Charged With Engineering Big Grant.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 7.—Three more indictments were returned today in connection with the income tax frauds involving hundreds of thousands of dollars, which the government charges were engineered by the Bixler, Ainsworth and Audit company. The sum involved in today's indictments is $123,375.

Morris S. Backmil and A. Lincoln Samuelson, officers of the Steeling company, are charged with having conspired with Isaac Weinstein and Samuel Samuels, furriers, with A. L. Leventhal, furrier, and with Nathan Bloom, dealer in woolen goods. To defraud the United States government by making false income tax returns. In the case of Weinstein and Samuel it is charged that a return of $14,624 was made when the correct amount was $26,401. Leventhal's return was for $2,162 as against a government claim of $12,000.

MRS. EDDY'S ESTATE LOSER IS CHARGE

Alleged That Between $25,000 and 30,000 Is Wrongly Spent Yearly.

By the Associated Press. BOSTON, July 7.—Allegations that the estate of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy had been depleted to the extent of $25,000 or $30,000 a year through methods used by the Christian Science Publishing Society in publishing her works were made today by Frank S. Streeter, counsel for John V. Dittmore, in the master's hearing of the suit of the trustees of the society to have the directors of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, restrained from interfering with the affairs of the society. Mr. Dittmore, who was a member of the board of directors until named by the other directors last March, is chairman of the board of directors of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, and is administrator of the residue of Mrs. Eddy's estate, amounting to more than $2,500,000.

Mr. Streeter said that for some years Mrs. Eddy's works were published by the trustees of her estate. During that time, he said, the trustees had annually yielded a large income. In October, 1917, these trustees contracted with the publishing society to publish the works for a period of twenty-seven years. It was agreed, Mr. Streeter said, that the cost of publication should not be more than it had been under the trustees. He asserted that in spite of this agreement Mrs. Eddy's estate had been "milked out of a large sum of money" by the publishing society.

Mr. Streeter's statement was made in an effort to show the directors had not acted in good faith in renouncing their office under the trustees. He asserted that they had held with the trustees of the publishing society.

DECREASE SHOWN IN R.R. DEFICIT

Approximately $39,000,000 Is Lost Under Government Control of Carriers.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 2.—The deficit incurred by operation of railroads under government control during the month of May amounted to approximately $39,000,000, not operating income totaling $38,520,000, compared with the rental obligation of the government to the railroads for May of $77,520,000, according to unofficial figures of railroad earnings for the month made public today by the bureau of railway economics. The May deficit, however, showed a decrease from the average monthly deficit of $82,500,000 incurred during the first four months of 1919. The total deficit for the first five months of the year was shown to be 213,000,000, not including "minor expenses" of the railroad administration.

Compared with net operating income in May last year, a decrease of $33,500,000 or 44.4 per cent, was shown this year, although gross operating revenue increased from $373,297,000 to $407,542,000, or 9.28 per cent. The disproportionate increase in operating expenses from $282,791,000 to $350,861,000, or more than 24 per cent, caused the decrease in net revenue.

While the volume of freight traffic last May was shown to be 13.6 per cent below the high volume in May, 1918, it was estimated to have been only one third of one per cent less than the average volume for May during the three-year period of operation prior to government control. Passenger traffic last May was shown to be 30 per cent in excess of the average traffic during that period, yielding 70 per cent greater revenue with the high passenger rates set into effect during the period of government control.

An increase of 76 per cent in the "waste cost of operation" during the first five months of 1919 compared with the average for the corresponding period during the three-year period of private control was admitted. The average daily operating expenses last May decreased a little more than $112,000 from the January daily of $11,625,000, according to the figures.

PICTURES FUTURE OF AERIAL TRAVEL

Commander Read Declares Round-Trip to Europe Will Be Made in One Day.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 2.—Regular trans-Atlantic aerial travel would become a reality within three years, if interest in aviation, evident in times of war were continued, in time of peace, declared Lieutenant Commander Albert C. Read, "skipper" of the NC-4, at a dinner given tonight by the American Flying club, in honor of the airplane who flew for the American party the honor of being first to fly across the Atlantic.

"Anyone who says that we will never attain an altitude of sixty thousand feet—that we will never be able to cross to Europe in the tomorrow and return in the afternoon, that we will never be able to accomplish the things that appear impossible now, is a most courageous person, with a courage similar to those in the olden days who said that iron ships would never work," asserted Commander Read. Commander Read predicted that in the future long distance planes would be much larger than the NC boats, which have a wing spread of 125 feet and that going down the propeller to obtain greater efficiency in continuous drive of gasoline motors would solve much of the present engine trouble, especially on long flights.

"The design of larger airplanes in the future will undoubtedly incorporate the features of a gasping down from the motor to the propeller," he said.

"Regarding the radio the results obtained by the radio officer on the NC-4 undoubtedly broke many previous records. He sent messages over 700 miles. He heard Boston talking over 1800 nautical miles. His signal's being message sent from the George Washington when approaching Great France, from 1175 miles away. He heard stations calling other stations 3300 miles away. When you consider the requirements of a radio installation on our comparatively small airplane it is really a marvelous performance."

WILSON MUST SOLVE RAILROAD PROBLEMS

Illness Thus Conference With President Inconclusively Following His Arrival Here.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—President Wilson, facing the railroad administration will be among the first business laid before President Wilson on his return to Washington. Director General Hines plans to confer with the president next week, but declines today to indicate what matters would be discussed other than to say he had no specific recommendations to make.

It is believed, however, that increased freight rates will be perhaps the most important topic. Operating expenses have increased at such a faster rate than operating income and gradually increasing business, which as yet has not attained its full volume, has not been sufficient to make up the deficit.

Plans for return of the roads to corporate control constitute another subject likely to be taken up at the conference. Suggestions for a return of the roads to the direction of the operating companies have been made by railroad officials who argue that time should be given to reorganize their plants before December 31, the date set by President Wilson when federal control is to be relinquished. Mr. Hines stated positively today that no plans were being made for a return of the roads to corporate control in the immediate future, but that such a return might be allowed later in the year, perhaps December.

July requirements of the railroads, approximately $56,000,000, were met from cash on hand and no check was issued against the appropriation made by congress which is not yet available.

ARMY OCCUPATION CEASES TO EXIST

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, July 2.—The American army of occupation is finally about to exist today when the removal of the units still in the Rhineland began. It is expected that within a comparatively short time there will remain on the Rhine only one regiment, with certain auxiliary troops, totaling approximately 5,000 men.

The Fourth and Fifth divisions, entering for Brest today, will be followed eventually by the second, third and first divisions, in the order named. The exact time of departure of these latter divisions depends on the manner in which Germany carries out the military terms of the Treaty.

ADVERS LEAGUE HEADS OPPOSED TO WAR

Former Employee of Non-Partisan Organization Tells of His Opinions.

By the Associated Press. JACKSON, Minn., July 2.—Testifying on cross examination this afternoon at the trial of A. C. Townley, president of the national Non-Partisan league, and Joseph Gilbert, organizer, Ferdinand A. Teigan, a former league employee, declared after he became connected with the organization in 1916, he came to the conclusion that every man of importance at Non-Partisan league headquarters in St. Paul with one exception, was opposed to the entrance of the United States into the war.

"I do not believe that Gilbert was pro-German. I believe his opposition to the war was based on philosophy," Teigan testified.

Teigan was cross examined at length by the defense regarding his views as to the loyalty of a speech which Townley made at Glencoe, Minn., in June, 1917. The witness had testified on direct examination that in the morning before Townley had delivered this speech that a number of persons of German extraction probably would be in the audience.

"Townley, I believe, intended to discourage interest in the Liberty loan and to have the impression on his audience that the government's financial preparations were not sound," testified Teigan. "I know what Townley meant when he said these things. My knowledge was based on previous understandings," the witness testified.

Teigan declared that he was discharged from the Non-Partisan league in the fall of 1917. He severed his connections there when Townley told him "he would have to be secret" because of criticism of Non-Partisan league meetings during the summer of 1917.

Townley told me that he intended to make thoroughly patriotic speeches thereafter," said Teigan. The witness testified he heard part of the address Townley delivered at the Non-Partisan league convention in St. Paul in September, 1917, and that he thought Townley made a loyal address.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

This day will be called the "Glorious Fourth," for its sun rises upon a world once more at peace.

True, the peace is not all that men hoped for. The treaty has been signed by the Germans with protests and grumblings which promise little for their honest fulfillment of its terms. But the deed is done. The world stands free at last from the imminence of the threat of war.

The birthday of our country, always a time for signal rejoicing, becomes doubly so this year, since it marks the birth of new hope for the world.

America has justified once more the courage with which she brought her into being. She stands upon the threshold of a future so full of possibilities, so full of rewards for enterprise, so abounding in avenues for achievement that it dazzles the mind.

Of course there will be the most carefully planned celebration everywhere. In Twin Falls we have the Elks' Round-up and patriotic celebration. Every public-spirited citizen, every being in whose breast dwells a real love for freedom and for his fellow men should join in these festivities. We should show ourselves publicly, happily and proud to do honor to the anniversary of the nation's birth.

God bless our country, and may her coming year be the best that she has ever known!

PEANUTS FOR MESOPOTAMIA.

The Mesopotamians are going to become peanut growers, much to their own good. For many years they have used peanuts for food, parching them or making them into sweets. They have had to import all they need, however.

A year ago the enterprising British planted peanuts on a small plot of ground—only a tenth of an acre—near the ancient city of Bagdad. Mesopotamian connoisseurs are delighted with the quality of peanut produced. From now on the peanut industry is going to thrive in that land. There is a ready and eager market for a large crop of home, and any surplus can be exported to less fortunate places.

Another reason why peanut culture is going to be of value in the former absence of any oil seeds. Very few oil-yielding plants have ever been raised in Mesopotamia. Peanut oil will be a welcome product.

A few years ago Americans would have been astonished to hear of the humble peanut being treated with such honor and certain combination. This particular member of the bean family was long looked upon as a frivolous edible closely associated with amusement parks, circuses and ball games, and occasionally offered to the animals behind the "don't feed or molest" signs.

War changed all that. The peanut became a very serious foodstuff indeed. Peanut oil and peanut butter became mainstays of the national diet. And as a luxury the salted peanut ranked almost as high as the aristocratic almond.

STATUTORY TIME GOVERNS CONTROL

Interpretation Is Given by Department of Justice of Many Disputed Phrases.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—In the absence of their statutory limitations, measures continue until the end of the war will continue in operation until the exchange of ratifications of the treaty of peace between this country and its enemies.

This interpretation is given by the department of justice in a recent decision. The phrase "until the end of the war" was interpreted to mean only that the president need not wait for the issuance of the peace proclamation. "Duration of the emergency," one of the phrases used in the commissions in the army and navy has not been interpreted by justice officials.

They will be available for delivery to those entitled to wear them in about three weeks.

TO WHICH CLASS DO YOU BELONG?

Do you realize that the reason that some people seem to have all the better things in life is that they were awake to opportunities that were offered them—that they did not sit back and say "I can't," but grasped every opportunity for advancement and gain! The biggest and best opportunity for making big money in five weeks of spare time that was ever offered in Southern Idaho is offered you now and that without one cent of investment.

Does The Chronicle's Big Automobile and Grand Prize Distribution appeal to you as being a meritorious business proposition and worthy of time. Does a $1725.00 Paige Car—or the hundreds of dollars in cold cash—appeal to you? If so, are you a participant or are you still debating? "Putting it off" is very poor poor policy in affairs of this kind. Act now before it is too late! The nomination coupon starts you on the road to victory.

Here's Your Chance to Make Nearly $2000.00

Today Can Be the Biggest Day of Your Whole Life if You Send in Your Name and Enter Big Distribution.

People, as a whole, are composed of two classes—those who DO things and those who do not try but instead, spend all their spare time in complaining that others get all the good things in life. The latter class plod along in a menial existence, simply because they do not seize the opportunities that are offered them. LIFE has about the same to offer every one but it is those who are AWAKE and who SEE and TAKE advantage of opportunities open to them who get the good things and prosper. Not because they are necessarily brighter or more capable than others but because they ACT instead of sit-back-and-wait, "I can't".

And so it is in the Chronicle's big $3,000 prize distribution. There never was or never will be such an opportunity offered our people. Think a moment just what this proposition means to YOU—WITHOUT SPENDING ONE CENT YOU CAN WIN AS HIGH AS $1725 IN THE NEXT FIVE WEEKS. And you cannot lose, for you are paid in cash for every subscription that you receive.

Have you ever been offered a better business proposition? Have you ever cashed your spare time for more REAL MONEY. Every prize must have an owner and if your name is sent in immediately and included in the list of candidates, YOU can win the prize of your choice. But you must ACT NOW. The campaign is a very short one and will be "all out and over" in five short weeks.

How to Enter.

To enter your name and share in the big distribution, simply fill out the nomination blank in this issue, and in nomination blank in this issue.

and it or bring it to the office of The Chronicle.

How to Get Votes and Win.

A good way to go about paying the way for a successful campaign is to telephone, say, about a dozen or more of your friends. Suppose they are all taking The Chronicle. First ask each one of them to save their voting coupons out of the paper for you.

Then explain to those who are already subscribers to The Chronicle just how many votes a renewal subscription will give you. They can take another year or more and, too, it eliminates the bother of a collector coming around from the office. If some of them do not take The Chronicle regularly ask them for their subscription. It does not cost them one cent to pay you to the office—and it gives you the votes and a prize.

And think what these votes and prizes mean to you. As fine an automobile as you wish to own, hundreds of dollars in cash—and it is all within your power to secure if you send in your name.

Also think of the automobile. Some one will win it and it can be yours. IT'S ALL UP TO YOU. Send in that nomination blank today.

Miss Ruth Wainwright of Jerome motored to Twin Falls yesterday for the days shopping.

J. W. Shone of Filor was a business visitor in Twin Falls yesterday.

OLD CONTENTION IS ADMITTED IN COURT

Defendants Agree That Pro Rata Share of Water Bought Only.

Admission by the defendants in open court in the case of A. B. Caldwell et al. against the Salmon River Land & Water company, the contention that the settlers bought only a right to pro rata share of the available water and an interest in the company, was eliminated from the case, and the ruling twice previously made by Federal Judge F. S. Dietrich and affirmed by the United States circuit court was made final. It further developed that a way not finally cleared up, had opened whereby the whole matter might be settled through the reimbursement of the settlers left out of the tract, when cut down to size in accordance with the amount of water available.

Heretofore the defendants adhered to the contention that the settlers were entitled to only their pro rata share of water. They asserted that when the company sold 12,000 acres, each acre was entitled annually to 1-73,000 part of the whole amount of water. The amount for which contracts were finally made was reduced to 50,000 acres.

Attorneys for the defendant company in the present case took the position that cutting down by the government and the state land board was final. They said that the company had really no right to sell more land than could be properly watered, and that when it did, the contracts sold in excess of that quantity were simply null and void. They contended that, therefore, the settlers left out by the joint government and land boards, were to be considered as joint holders of void contracts, and without redress.

The plaintiffs, on the other hand, contended that the doctrine of the state and United States government in regard to cutting down of the tract would be final, and that the parties interested all made parties to the suit, and reimbursed for losses incident to their having invested in the land.

Judge Dietrich rejected the theory of defendants that the settlers eliminated were without redress, but said that he was "in doubt" as to which theory of the case to adopt. He said that should the theory of the defendants be adopted, the decision of the state supreme court of Idaho in the case of Childs versus Notel might be applied and the amount paid by the settlers for the 12,000 acres which had been sold under admittedly valid contracts might be held as a trust fund for the reimbursement of settlers eliminated. He stated, however, that he was not clear in regard to whether the contention of the plaintiffs that all parties interested should be made parties to the suit was correct or not.

He gave the attorneys in the case 30 days in which to file briefs.

The pro rata contention of the defendants was dropped, was long a subject of controversy and it was at one time believed that the company would carry the case to the supreme court of the United States on this issue. It is the general opinion of all concerned that the hearing in Boise this week brings the long contention much nearer to a final closing.

FORD'S PEACE SHIP BROUGHT INTO SUIT

Known As "Good Ship Natty" Says General—Famous Soldier On Witness Stand.

By the Associated Press.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., July 2.—Jiffing Blake, testifying today in the Henry Ford-Chicago Tribune libel suit, recited reasons why, as head of the editorial department of the Tribune, gave approval to the editorial headed "Ford is an anarchist," of which the million dollar litigation is founded.

Before Mr. Blake was called the time was taken up with the testimony of Colonel Henry J. Reilly, who commanded the artillery regiment known as "Natty's Block" in the Rainbow division in France, and a long deposition from James W. Gerrard, former United States ambassador to Germany. He stated that at the embassy the Ford peace ship was known as "the good ship Natty" and that his official opinion was that the United States did not want to fight, and couldn't do so even if so wished.

Germany-regarded pacifist propaganda in 1915 as favorable to her, because any peace at that time must be to her advantage. It was the Kaiser, he said, who declared that "America had better look out after the war."

When Mr. Blake was sworn, Attorney Kirkland of counsel for the Tribune, asked him to state why he approved the characterization of the manufacturer "as an anarchist."

"Because," said the witness, "at a time when the United States was in grave danger, he advocated the destruction of our army and navy; because he said he didn't believe in the world; because, with the world in flames, he opposed preparedness; because he said the propoganda be pulled down and because he said the soldiers were murderers."

"TED" BOWEN IS ON HIS WAY HOME

Lieutenant Theodore Bowen is on his way home from Ft. Mead, at Washington, D. C., where he was mustered out yesterday according to a telegram received yesterday by his mother from Congressman Adaman T. Smith. He was expected home Saturday.

"Ted" was greatly pleased by being promoted just before the Idaho troops left France, and thus compelled to remain behind for a few days. He desired to resign his commission, in order that the might return with the rest, but this effort was without success, so he had to wait until the government was ready to let him go.

WATER SUPPLY TO BE CUT TODAY

Thirty Per Cent of Normal Amounts Do Delivered To Consumers.

Stored water supply, is expected to be exhausted on the Twin Falls tract today after which time the supply will be cut to 30 per cent of the total amount.

It is the general opinion that the wheat crop has been sufficiently developed to make a full crop except in the case of late sowing in a few fields and those which develop properly in the event that the usual July rains should fall.

Harvesting of the wheat crop will leave a smaller acreage on the tract to be taken care of and is expected to help these over the dry spell.

The request is general that people refrain from all waste of water in the city and elsewhere and that the supply be put to the best uses.
