YOUTH VICTOR OVER VETERAN IN BOX FIGHT

Swift Succession of Hard Blows in First Round Takes Battle Out of Willard

MUCH PUNISHMENT IS TAKEN BY THE LOSER

Eyes Closed, Tooth Knocked Out, Face Badly Battered, Champion Forced to Throw Up Sponges.

TOLEDO O., July 4.—By virtue of one of the speediest and most one-sided battles which ever decided a big title event Jack Dempsey, who may now wish to be known by his full fighting name of William Harrison Dempsey, today made the world's champion heavyweight boxer.

To all intents and purposes he whipped the huge Joe Willard, favorite in the manager's betting, in one round. Dempsey thought Willard had announced him, winner and actually left the ring. But he was called back and the victory continued for two rounds more when Joe, sitting in his corner, threw a bewildered look at his swollen countenance, failed to respond to the ring, for the fourth round.

No Use to Continue. "It was no use to continue," said the six-champion. My strength went from me in the first round.

Willard, apparently the most respected man in the United States at the moment. His right eye was closed and his right cheek swollen and blue with bruising. Blood covered his body and his arms hung so helplessly over the ropes that at a glance a child might give him further abuse without arousing his interest.

Dempsey was breathing hard when the fight ended, but it was from exertion and not from punishment. He accepted almost without protest the beating, but he had been using his arms like trip-hammers on the anatomy of his opponent for nine crowded minutes. In a man that sent the thermometer to 110 degrees, his heart was still pumping at high pressure after he appreciated the breaking spell.

In the first few seconds of the contest it looked as if the expert who had been assigned to keep detailed account of all blows struck might count measurably close to doing so, but it was only for a fraction of a moment. After that the experts did well to count Jack's blows, let alone take note of how each was made.

Champion Down Five Times. The challenger knocked the big fellow down five times in the first round and had him hanging helplessly on the ropes or draped over his shoulders most of the time when he was not taking advantage of the count.

Thought Fight Over. The crowd thought the fight was over in that round. Willard was down for the fifth time and the count was apparently about to end when the gong sounded.

Willard's manager, going which couldn't make itself heard so many people, and even Dempsey didn't get it. He crawled through the ropes and was headed out onto the shoulders of screaming fans when the truth was broken to him.

Such fighting as the Kansas bronchman produced was placed on exhibition at the onset. He had stood in this corner a picture of confidence. The more of the challenge was plain, had a brief and not unpleasant talk before him. He certainly was all set to go, for just before time was called he was heard to have remarked: "Let's get this thing over."

He answered the attendance which "disappointed" estimates by about 50 per cent, with an appraising eye.

Dempsey Is Nervous. Dempsey presented a contrast. Now as then, he had a trained eye. The camp physician appeared in the hearing. The man arose from him outstretched his mighty hands and looked as big and impressive as a metropolitan bank building. "The more of the challenge was plain, thoughtful and more than once his gaze was whistled. "He's licked right now."

When they were introduced to the crowd, the champion was

CHRONICLE SCORES NOTABLE BEAT

Out on the streets before all rivals with a report of the big fight yesterday, The Chronicle sold thousands of copies of its two extra editions.

The Chronicle was first on the street. The Chronicle outsold all rivals, selling more copies than both the News and the Times.

The Chronicle was first to be sold at Roundup park and the great mass at the park first heard of the result of the fight through The Chronicle.

The Chronicle issued two extra editions. There were sold of the two editions 4263 copies.

No other paper in Twin Falls issued more than one edition. These two editions were in addition to the regular early morning edition with which subscribers were served. In all, The Chronicle issued three editions yesterday. No other Twin Falls paper has ever issued and disposed of three editions in a day.

The streets were jammed in front of The Chronicle office to watch the bulletin board, and to hear the Associated Press bulletins read by Col. H. P. Lue. As the report came by leased wire from the Associated Press staff of correspondents at the ringside direct to The Chronicle office, bulletins were flashed up the bulletin board and read by Colonel Lue to the cheering crowds.

The wire was interrupted by a flash telling of the fact that Willard had quit, and that there was a new heavyweight champion.

Almost as quickly as you have read this, the flash bulletin was set on the big Intertype, the forms rushed through, and the big press started grinding.

Out in front the crowd was waiting for the report of the third round when there emerged from the press room a swarm of newsmen with the first extra telling of the result of the fight.

Automobiles rushed newsmen to Roundup park and to other centers of the city, and long before any other paper reached the streets, the whole city had learned of the fact that the world had a new heavyweight champion.

The News was second in the field, a full half hour ahead of the Times, which depends on the Hearst International News service.

It was a great feat for The Chronicle and the Associated Press. And a magnificent piece of enterprise for Twin Falls.

URGES ADOPTION OF FOOD ECONOMY

Projects to Consumers Exorbitant—While Producers Are Losing Money

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 4.—Federal supervision of the packing, sale and distribution of meat products was declared by the department of agriculture to be the only solution to the present situation in which meat prices to the consumer are so high that he is denying himself and in which prices for live stock, especially beef and lambs, are so low that the producers are losing money.

The department emphasized that "meat prices should now be disregarded as to most, especially beef and wheat products. Faced by the largest wheat crop on record and with many cattle raised in response to the demand for meat production for the army now maturing, the American people, the department asserted, must realize that no necessity for conservation of such foods as longer cattle.

A survey of the meat price situation, the department said, reveals that the excessive retail prices now existing are not justified by wholesale quotations. Prices to the producers have declined since the war, 15 to 20 per cent, but the retail price has not materially lessened. The only solution, the department believes, is more strict federal supervision.

PETROGRAD WORKMEN ON PERCENTAGE BASIS

PETROGRAD, July 4.—Workmen in all factories supplying national defense requirements are checked by a system of marking pins that are used for the percentage of work done. The pins are sent to the concentration camps. Inspectors and police make flying visits to such plants to see that requirements are carried out, and penalties are levied for death, disobedience or

SPLENDID PARADE FEATURE OF FOURTH

Military and Cowboy Sections Are Features of Pageant—Many Floats Entered

The parade ushering in the celebration of the natal day of the country yesterday morning was in every way a creditable affair, the military, civil and roundup features cooperating to make it one of the most satisfactory processions ever held in this city.

Following Marshal Charles D. Thomas, came the military section of the Twin Falls parade, after which came the G. A. R. and service men, in the order named. A large number of soldiers and sailors participated in the parade since the end of the war, in honor of the birthday of the country.

The civic organizations were led by the Elks, who were followed by the cowboys leading the roundup contingent.

The Indians gave the war whoop occasionally as they marched in a dignified attire through the streets. The cowboys swung their lariats and the cowgirls looked pretty, efficient and petite.

The Twin Falls fire company was prominently featured in the parade, with a float carrying many compliments from the crowd. The company also, in a canoe amid the water fowls, came in for much applause.

Several children's floats, including a Scotch kilie trio and a small Union Square following a boy with a little sign decorated in the national colors, were striking features, while an impudent little goat hitched to another vehicle pleased the crowd, particularly the juvenile portion thereof.

The second section of the band followed. In the afternoon the crowd unable to go to the roundup or those who preferred to get the first results of the big fight, were congregated around The Chronicle office to secure authentic news from the great prize fight.

MRS WILLARD SEES HUSBAND BEATEN

Clad That Once Mighty Gladiator Is Able to Return to His Home.

By the Associated Press.
 TOLEDO, July 4.—There is one woman in Toledo tonight happy because Jess Willard is no longer world's heavyweight champion. She is the wife of the vanquished title holder, and mother of his five children. She left them at their home in Lawrence, Kansas, to come to Toledo unannounced last night, and with Willard's attorney, accepted a seat in the 100-room hotel apartment while her husband was being battered to defeat. No one in the huge crowd, except the champion, himself, knew she was there.

When the brutal and battered giant of the ring was brought to the home he had accepted in Toledo's exclusive residential district, Mrs. Willard was there, eager to care for his wounds. She put him on a slat-couch and sat at his side, applying soothing iced cloths to his closed eyes.

Mrs. Willard left the sun-baked arena after the level was cast into the ring at the start of the fourth round, while the beaten champion was taken to the Casino, his training camp for a month, where he was belted and flat-aid given his injuries.

"I am sorry that Jess was beaten, but I can truthfully say I am happy that he's no longer champion," Mrs. Willard said. "It means now that we shall be able to live in peace. Jess will become a private citizen again. It was the second boxing contest I had ever witnessed and I do not want to witness any more. I shall be happy when I can take Jess back home to our children."

Although the fight was over before 4:30 o'clock, Willard did not return to his home until an hour and a half later. He said he did not recover from the effects of the left hook that Dempsey landed early in the first round—until, perhaps an hour after, he left the city.

"The new blow that started me on deaf-aid," Willard said. "I felt physically able to continue, but my head wasn't clear and my eye was closed and I realized it would have been useless for me to attempt to box while half blind."

"Dempsey is a remarkable hitter. It was the first time that I had ever been knocked off my feet. I have seen many 'birds' home in the same bruised condition that I am in and now I know how they felt. I sincerely wish Dempsey all of the best, sensible and hope that the owners of the titles that go with the championship, I have had my fling at the title. I was champion for four years. And I want to assure you that they'll never have to give a benefit for me. I have invested the money. I have made."

When the beaten champion, escorted to his home with Roy O. Archer, his business manager, and his apartment, the party adjourned. Mrs. Willard, however, was still seen slapping their eyes with handkerchiefs.

"It seems as if there has been a death in the neighborhood," one of them said. "Well, I think it too often" was the greeting Willard gave them.

The champion had a Turkish towel draped over his head to obscure his bruised face. He does not expect to leave Toledo for three or four days.

GARDEN ON BOSTON COMMONS

A demonstration garden has been planted on the historic Boston commons, and during the active gardening season a small information booth is being maintained. According to the report of a representative of the United States department of agriculture, who recently visited a number of cities in the New England states, the food production campaign in those states is an active this year as it was during war times. In many cities the school have attempted to include school garden work as a part of the curriculum, but in Boston they are confining the work primarily to giving instruction in gardening. In that city weekly conferences are held for teachers and special instruction in garden work is given.

TELEPHONE WORKERS TO RETURN TO PLACES

By the Associated Press.
 SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—Intimation that an agreement whereby the striking telephone workers on the Pacific coast may return to work will be reached soon was contained in a telegram from J. P. Noonan, international president of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, received by L. C. Gueser, international vice president, here today.

Noonan telegraphed he had a conference with Charles P. Koons, assistant postmaster general, who declared a satisfactory agreement was possible by Monday. Noonan asked Gueser for a complete statement of the strikers' demands.

TO TAKE SPEEDY STEPS TO ENFORCE POLISH TREATY

By the Associated Press.
 PARIS, July 4.—(Havas).—The allies intend to take adequate measures without delay to insure the speedy execution of the Polish treaty terms, according to the Temps. Premier Clemenceau conferred today with Andre Tardieu, president of the commission for the execution of the territorial and political clauses. M. Tardieu has called a session of the commission for tomorrow.

TURKS ARE ADVANCED TO RETURN TO THEIR HOMES

By the Associated Press.
 NISIBANLIE, July 4.—(Havas).—Members of the Turkish delegation will leave here tomorrow.

The council of four last week sent a note to the Turkish delegation advising it nothing would be expected by its longer stay in Paris as the questions the Turks raised concern international questions which cannot be decided quickly.

HEAT WAVE SPREADS OVER ENTIRE EAST

Five Cities in East Report Conditions the Worst of Many Years.

By the Associated Press.
 WASHINGTON, July 4.—Thermometer readings in five cities—Washington, Boston, Hartford, Conn., Philadelphia and Harrisburg, Pa.—registered 100 degrees today, the weather bureau forecasters said today was one of the hottest fourth of July on record. The warm wave extending over the east chiefly was remarkable for the size of the area covered, taking in everything from the Mississippi valley east to the Atlantic coast and that series of much higher and was 26. Predictions were for a fall in temperature by Saturday night and very general thunderstorms.

At Toledo the official temperature was 94 degrees, but the weather bureau said that stories of much higher temperature in the ring where the Willard-Dempsey fight was staged were to be believed, because arena conditions made for building up abnormal heat conditions.

Tonight the weather bureau renewed its warnings to the British dirigible H-34 enroute to New York to be prepared for thunderstorms and similar disturbances beginning Saturday afternoon. The message were relayed through the naval radio station to the vessel.

HAWAII SOON TO HAVE TOURIST FIXING BOATS

HONOLULU, July 4.—Ten-passenger flying boats, gliding the surface of the waters about Hawaii's beautiful shores, rising in the air to give a birdseye of the delightful landscapes, will soon be available for tourists, according to Major J. E. H. Stewart, who has been investigating the opportunities here for the Curtiss airplane and motor corporation. Two or three passenger seaplanes will be available for professional men and plantation managers. Hawaii's winding roads make out cost for automobiles greater, than it will be for the aircraft.

TWO KILLED IN AEROPLANE CRASH

By the Associated Press.
 MINOT, N. D., July 4.—Mrs. C. J. Pink, wife of the former chief justice of the North Dakota supreme court, was killed instantly and Ruth Stahl of Minot, aged 14, received fatal injuries today when an airplane driven by Lieutenant Chester Jacobson crashed into a crowd.

A farmer named Denker of Drake received a fractured skull and may die. The Stahl girl died in a hospital this evening.

Lieutenant Jacobson, who was not injured, said he tried to stop again when he saw the crowd had stepped out over his landing place, but the people and automobiles were too close.

The exhibition was part of the home coming celebration.

CHEVROLET WINS 80 MILES RACE IN TACOMA

By the Associated Press.
 QUINCY, WASH., Tacoma, July 4.—Chevrolet won the 80-mile dual race in 47 minutes, 19 2/5 seconds. His average was 88 miles an hour. Hearne was second and Durant third. Mulford, who was leading, was forced out in the thirty-second lap with tire trouble.

To the Candidates

The first count of votes in the big Chronicle grand prize distribution will be published Sunday and will include all votes cast up till Saturday night of this week.

It should be the aim of every candidate to poll as many votes and subscriptions as is possible before Friday night and to stand well up in the list, for the public's eyes will be focused on the endeavors of the various competitors to see who the real contenders will be.

Did you ever notice how everyone cheers a winner and backs them with their support and influence, while the stragglers are scarcely noticed? Display a little enterprise and energy—show them a dash of speed and see how quickly friends, near relatives and more acquaintances will rally to your support. Get all subscriptions possible into the office by Friday night.

Those who have been "thinking about entering" the generous prize distribution but have not done so as yet, should lose no further time. As may be seen by the most casual perusal of the list of candidates, there are rich opportunities for more hustlers to enter the campaign and by little effort during spare moments make themselves big-prize winners. Clip out the nomination blank and send or bring it in—that's the first step toward success.

The Chronicle office is open each evening till 9 o'clock. Call in and get acquainted with the details of this OPPORTUNITY enterprise.

A WELCOME HOME

is extended by this Institution to those returning from service with the colors.

In Twin Falls there are many celebrations these days—one for each of you as you arrive. And there will, of course, be one big gala-day following the final home-coming.

In the meanwhile, the officers of the Twin Falls Bank & Trust Co. extend you a cordial greeting.

We shall be glad, at any time, of opportunity to serve you.

ATTEMPT AT OCEAN FLIGHT MADE IN 1978

Two Americans Who First Dreamed of Crossing Sea in Lighter-Than-Air Craft

Stephen Montgolfier, a Frenchman, in 1783, made the first balloon from which have evolved airplanes like the giant Zeppelin with its nearly 700 feet of length and the powerful motors which send it speeding across the Atlantic.

On the story of Montgolfier's discovery is that he flung a paper bag into the fire and it filled with smoke and hung suspended in the chimney for a time. Another is that he was boiling water in a pot with a conical paper cap which filled with vapor and rose into the air.

The Montgolfier's first successful experiment was with a silk balloon of 50 cubic foot capacity, which rose to the ceiling of the room. Then they sent up a balloon 35 feet in diameter to a height of 500 feet. It was made of pack cloth covered with paper and was inflated by burning 10 pounds of moist wool on a small iron grate beneath it.

Henry Cavendish, in 1785, had discovered hydrogen gas is lighter than air, and Thomas Edison, an Italian, had floated soap bubbles filled with the gas.

The first hydrogen gas balloon was sent up in Paris in the same year of the Montgolfier experiment. The gas was then difficult to manufacture and it took four days to fill a bag 15 feet in diameter.

Montgolfier's next balloon was 72 feet high and 41 feet in diameter. A sheep, a cock and a duck were the first living things to make a flight in a balloon, being placed in a basket attached to one of Montgolfier's gas bags.

Plato de Roeder and the Marquis d'Arlandes were the first man to make a balloon flight. They were in the air 25 minutes and covered the Seine and a part of the city of Paris.

All in the same year a hydrogen balloon was complete as any used for more than a century or so. It was at first inflated and yellow silk was stretched with catgut.

A net supporting a car-cage and it had a valve, sand valves and a balloon.

The first descent by parachute was made by A. J. Garner in 1877.

The first balloon flight in this country was made in 1835, from London to Weiburg, Germany.

Johnny Wise in 1859, made the 509 miles from St. Louis, Mo., to Henderson, Ky., in 50 hours.

The balloon capture, at the Paris exposition in 1900, set a record for distance that stood for more than 10 years—distance from Paris to Koronichev in Russia 1193 miles, in 35 hours and 45 minutes.

The first attempt at directing and propelling a balloon instead of depending on the course of the wind was made by the Roberts Brothers in England who built the first elongated balloon and attempted to guide them through the air with silk covered cars. This was early in the 19th century.

Giffard in France built a spindle-shaped gas bag 143 feet long in 1852, and equipped it with an 11-foot propeller screw connected with a 3-horsepower steam engine.

An electrically driven dirigible was developed in France in 1882, which was 217 feet long and was moved by twin propellers.

But it was the invention of the gas engine that enabled Count Zeppelin of Germany to develop his first practical rigid dirigible. The first attempt, in 1900, consisted of a row of 17 balloons confined in a cylindrical metal shell 416 feet long and with a capacity of 20,000 cubic feet. Atoms were cars forward and aft carried crews and passengers and similar engines of 16 horsepower each turned the screw propellers. The record of this machine made on its first flight was 3,244 miles in 37 hours.

Before the war broke in 1914 there were 10 Zeppelins. In service with over 600,000 feet gas capacity and tourist tickets were being sold for them in all the leading cities.

The development of the German dirigibles from this point has been told in the stories of the war, the dirigible which traveled from a point in Bulgaria into Egypt and return, a distance of about 4000 miles, without landing.

Before the recent unsuccessful attempt of the American blimp Co. at a trans-Atlantic balloon flight, two other such attempts were made by Americans.

The first was in charge of Prof. Walter H. Dornstien in 1873. The balloon was thoroughly equipped, but it traveled only 108 miles and was in the air but a few hours. It was three occupants being conveyed by a heavy storm to jump from the balloon near the ground. The balloon had a diameter of 100 feet and stood 100 feet from the ocean level at that time. It was provided below, to its peak, its gas capacity was 100,000 cubic feet. The flight was from Brooklyn to New Canaan, Conn. Carrier pigeons were taken on board to give news of the flight.

The second was that of Walter Wellman, Chicago newspaper man in 1901; in the dirigible America. This ship was 238 feet long and had a lifting power of 28,000 cubic feet, and a speed of 16 miles an hour. The crew was compelled to abandon the ship after it had cruised and drifted 1008 miles to 71 1-2 hours.

MAKING STRENGTH FROM MILK

Plenty of milk is one of the simplest ways of improving the general health of children, authorities believe, and home demonstration agents of the United States department of agriculture and the extension agents are making special efforts to create public interest so that every child will get its share. In some cities, where many children have been found undernourished and underfed milk is served in the schools. In 10 Indianapolis schools 2,000 children have been served a half pint of milk each school day during the past year. The milk is delivered at the schools in individual half pint bottles. A hole is punched in the cap of the bottle and a straw is inserted. The children help themselves as they mark past, and afterwards they return the empty bottles to the rack. This work in Indianapolis is maintained by the parent-teacher clubs, but it is largely self-supporting. The majority of the children pay 3 cents a day, or 1 1-2 cents for milk and crackers. Those who cannot pay get the milk free. The children are measured and weighed and the chart of each child is kept in his schoolroom, so he may see whether he is up to normal or below. All the children are much interested in weighing what they should. The teachers report a marked improvement in the school work of the children.

STECHER THROWS STRANGLER LEWIS TWICE IN 2 HOURS

By the Associated Press. OMAHA, Neb., July 4.—Joe Stecher of Dodge, Neb., defeated Ed ("Shranig") Lewis of San Jose, Cal., in two straight falls in a wrestling match staged here today. Stecher won the first fall in one hour and 47 minutes and the second fall in 14 minutes. He took each fall with a body scissors and wrist lock.

Lewis was on the defensive throughout and was given little opportunity to employ his specialty, the headlock. The match was fairly fast and interesting throughout. Earl Caddock, the world's champion, refereed.

GEORGIA IS SAID TO BE THE WORST MOONSHINE STATE

DAWSONVILLE, Ga., July 4.—Georgia is the worst moonshine state in the union.

The average northern automobile manufacturer of Kentucky when some of the moonshiners were being "jumped" from the second-story window of the federal building at Macon. Twice since he has been arrested, serving prison terms each time. He has 12 children.

Tom Curtis has a price on his head. Moonshiners clubbed together to pay a bonus to the mountaineer that put a bullet in Curtis' heart.

That followed his efforts to arrest Tom Henderson for moonshining. The latter's son, Oscar and Bob Henderson, and three others attacked Curtis and Revenue Officer Henry Penland with rifles. Hand to hand fighting ensued. One boy, armed with a knife, made a six-inch slash in the revenue officer's coat. Curtis shot and killed both of the youths.

Eighteen moonshiners, engaged over the killing, got horses and chased Curtis and Penland into North Carolina. They escaped death by a narrow margin.

The forests are so thick in the mountains the sun never strikes the ground in many spots. In such a place last winter Curtis led 25 soldiers, led by the army, in pursuit of the three Crawley brothers, wanted as moonshiners and army snipers. The chase, which was fruitless, followed the killing of Deputy Marshal D. P. Dixon when he tried to arrest the outlaws.

REVOLUTIONISTS VICTORS IN COSTA RICAN CAMPAIGN

By the Associated Press. MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 3.—Cecilia Hirsch revolutionaries last night attacked and dislodged the forces of President Tinoco at Costa Rica from their advanced positions. The revolutionaries charged quantities of arms and provisions. There were many casualties in the fighting it is reported.

WILL NOT INTERFERE IN RUSS-RUMANIAN FIGHT

PARIS, July 3.—It is considered unlikely the council of five will take any action concerning the dispute between Russia and Rumania over Bessarabia. The greater portion of which Rumania has virtually annexed and is now administering.

The Russian ambassador to France has raised the question before the council that no Russian representative were recognized by the conference who have any authority to make arrangements respecting the disposition of Bessarabia territory and Rostov Landing and other members of the council agreed the Bessarabian question is in no way connected with the Austrian treaty of the peace negotiations as Russia is not at war with the allies.

The Rumanian prime minister showed no disposition to submit the question of allegiance to a general vote in Bessarabia in from two to five years, as suggested by several members of the conference.

WILLS BEATS OLD THOM

By the Associated Press. ST. LOUIS, July 4.—Harry Wills won the newspaper decision over Sam Langford in an eight-round open air bout here this afternoon.

And recently George Tillman, the "Red Fox of Jaeger County," was caught. By his own confession he has been making moonshine whiskey a quarter of a century. Twenty years ago he was arrested but he escaped by "jumping" from the second-story window of the federal building at Macon. Twice since he has been arrested, serving prison terms each time. He has 12 children.

KAISER AND CHANCELOIR

The offer of Von-Bethmann-Hollweg to stand trial before an allied tribunal instead of Wilhelm II. Hohenzollern might seem an impressive act of generosity and self-renunciation. There may have been some such feeling on his part in this strange suggestion; the former chancellor is known to have more decency in his make-up than the average Prussian statesman, as he showed when he admitted before the Reichstag that the invasion of Belgium was "wrong." But it little reflection results in the conclusion that this is simply another spectacular example of a course of action that the Germans have been engaged in ever since the war went against them—namely, "passing the buck."

Bethmann-Hollweg's offer is probably part of a carefully prepared scheme on the part of the same schemers who started the war. He seeks technically to draw attention from the Kaiser to himself. For this purpose he chooses to assume sole official responsibility for the launching of the war and for the manner of waging it while he remained in power.

This assumption is absurd on the face of it, for the whole world knows that Bethmann-Hollweg, as chancellor, was not at all in the same position with respect to the Kaiser as the premier of Great Britain or Italy, with respect to the King. Germany was not a constitutional monarchy. It was an absolute monarchy. The chancellor was responsible to the Kaiser, and he owed no accountability to the German Reichstag, and offered none. He was accountable solely to his master Wilhelm, who boasted that he himself was accountable only to God. That fact clearly puts upon the Kaiser the responsibility for the chancellor's administrative acts, instead of the contrary.

HOW DID HE LOOK?
English newspaper men who saw President Wilson at the time when the German delegates first met with the representatives of the allies at Versailles did not agree as to Wilson's facial expression. Making due allowance for the fact that no two people ever see the same thing in exactly the same way, and that an individual always interprets the acts of others from his own point of view, there is still an interesting divergence of opinion concerning the president's face.

According to one correspondent, the president faced the situation with "a little smile, half hidden in passivity." Says another correspondent: "A searching gaze, but suggestive of judicial stolidity." A third declares "him to be a cold, Wilson—cold and non-committal."

National League for Women's Service

TRAVELING MADE EASY
HELP FOR THE HELPLESS

Purpose: To provide organized trained women to meet social and economic needs.

DEVOYED women who have been wandering where the pathway of constructive and beneficial service would open now that the war is over may very easily find the almost plainest of the road in the program set for itself by the National League for Women's Service. This organization, was formed in 1917, and primarily at that time found the particular field in war activities. It now sees before it a broadening of its activities and a scope of real helpfulness that will go even beyond what it found to be the country was worse conditions.

It is the spirit of service bequeathed rather than ever before in time of national emergency that is the watchword for this nationwide organization of the women. Its purpose, as set forth in the constitution and by-laws, is to provide organized trained groups of women in every community to meet existing needs along social and economic lines.

The earnest women who make up the motor division of the league might have thought that the end of the war would curtail the scope of their activities, making of the work of transporting the sick and wounded and the convalescent soldiers, sailors and marines will be continued as long as the need for this work exists. The motor division has demonstrated the vital necessity of continuing its work as an organized, trained service in peace times to meet emergencies. There is so much work to be done in the way of social welfare and health and industrial helpfulness that the motor corps, instead of diminishing, sees before it growth and expansion.

Special attention is being given by the motor division to the opportunities found in service for the afflicted. One of the concrete examples of this is to be seen in the work being accomplished by the women of the city of Jamaica, who formed a motor corps in that city. These women motorists have already been of great service to the city in transporting crippled children to the hospital for treatment. Not all of these children are permanently crippled, but many of them have lost the use of an arm or a leg after having suffered from infantile paralysis. Sometimes there is only one living parent, who is away from home all day, so there is no one in the family to take the suffering child to the hospital for treatment.

Workers in the motor corps bring the children from their homes for treatment, and then take them back again as soon as they are fit to be moved.

Helping the Helpless.
One of the most pathetic cases of this sort is that of little Gertrude, only three and a half years of age. She was taken to the hospital and a plaster cast was put on her leg. There are six children in her family and her father is unable to work and is receiving a severer attack of influenza. The oldest child in the family suffers from epileptic fits. Another child had broken her arm last November and it had never been set. The driver of the ambulance took this child also to the hospital so that her crippled arm could be set from the doctor and properly set. "So much suffering in one family" is a tragedy and a great deal of future tragedy was averted by the helpfulness of the motor corps.

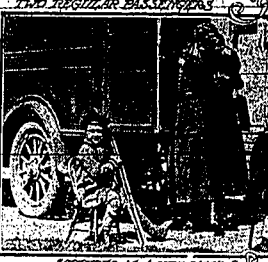

One little boy, whose poor little legs were absolutely useless, came near to being the cause of an accident on the job of the journey to the hospital. Putting his head in the front of the ambulance he jerked the arm of the driver and said: "How that guy that passed riding that bicycle! Gee, I'm going to be like him soon, and how I will ride when my paddles work again."

A three-year-old Italian girl had been very shy on her trips to the hospital and at last had requested being taken by the driver. Finally after her fourth trip she snuggled up against the lieutenant on the homebound trip and said something which the officer could not understand. One of the other girls explained.

"She says that her mother is dead and her father doesn't want her and you can keep her if you want to."

Only three years old and yet that little girl realized that there was a job in the world which she wanted to do.

These children, whose cases are complicated through their illness throughout the country, are in a hard line of friendly service. The parents have the greatest struggle in most cases, to provide a living for them, and when any of the children are taken to the hospital for treatment, the mother is left alone and dependent, and although the work of driving a car all day from home to house in the poorest parts of the city, over broken and worn roads, is never tiring, the members of the motor corps have never thought of stopping. UNDER AS A WOMAN at home ignorant of all things concerning her new husband, while the father and children became Americans.

"Widowed fathers" are a new problem, since the influenza epidemic robbed thousands of homes of the mother and homemaker.

Almost any woman can make a home for her children, given the dollars and cents to buy bread and butter and shoes; but it takes so much more than dollars and cents to enable a father to make a home. Women engaged in administering mother's pension funds and other forms of charity work have found that funds were fatally inadequate to solve the problem of the father left a widower with several small children.

Many men whose wives were stricken during the epidemic are hardworking, home-loving fathers, who cling to their children with a tenderness that is heartbreaking. It is our mission to find homes for the children near enough so that the father can see them every day and keep closely in touch with their little affairs. The father can often pay for the children's care. It is the extreme poverty of the father for the children that make it impossible for him to keep them at home.

The idyllic problem alone is large enough and complex enough to keep thousands of women busy. It is stated that for every American man who fell on the battlefields of Europe since our harbors were closed, there are the startling figures of the bureau of child hygiene. The war period cost 450,000, against our casualty list of 68,000.

Of every three deaths one is of a child under five years. Dr. B. Joseph Baker, director of the bureau of hygiene of the New York city board of health, frankly brands us as a nation careless of human life, and figures faster her charge on us. But the experience of the New York Diet Kitchen association (and no doubt of other kindred organizations) has been that when these facts are really brought to our consciousness helpful response is immediate. That this response falls so far short of the need can only mean that the full weight of such figures is not visualized as it should be.

If the horror of a huge cityful of little starved parent hearts who were heart-broken home to the parent heart of our great-breathed nation it would quicken to one mighty effort the determination that such things should no longer be.

Dr. Harvey Wiley, former head of the national bureau of health, says of the workers for child conservation that they are "in the very front line trenches of humanity, on duty without rest, fighting against terrific odds, but with certain of ultimate victory as the forces of the allies were against the desecrating Hun."

Can it be possible that our citizenry must have the perspective of distance? It would seem so, for no unusual difficulty was found in financing with American money five milk stations in London recently. Yet figures show that while the percentage of milk fatalities among London babies was 12 per cent, that of New York babies during the same period was 21 per cent. A speaker lately remarked that "New York needs to be three to five thousand miles from itself in order to be aroused to a sense of its crying needs."

Plenty of Opportunity.
There is plenty of work for all these mothers—and more—today. An Americanization conference of the Department of the Interior was held at Washington the other day. Americanization seems to include many activities.

"The Americanization movement is the first great activity of peace times in which everyone can participate, regardless of any other afflictions," declared C. H. Powell of Harvard university. "A community should be interested itself in Americanization should bring its resources together under a single purpose with a willingness to pool their interests for the common good."

Dr. Peter Roberts of the International Y. M. C. A. described the work of the association to help immigrants get settled in their new homes.

"Agents of the association, in previous days, were stationed in fifteen ports in Europe," he said, "and here too secretaries were employed at ports in-

PEACE DOMINATES WASHINGTON-FOURTH

Seven Pageants Given Late in the Day on the Public Building Terrace.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 4.—Return of world peace was the dominating spirit of Washington's celebration of Independence day. Pageants in which the calls of industry and other civilian occupations to returning soldiers and sailors were displayed, and a parade in which all of the nations arrayed against Germany and Austria were represented, were the features of the observance.

Seven pageants showing the calls of art, of the land, of commerce, business and professions, of the children, of labor, of liberty and to world service were given late in the day on the lawns of department and other public buildings. These pageants were marked by a great pageant band, "The Offering of Peace," which showed the peoples of the world having passed through the horrors of war, returning with courage and anticipation to the pursuits of peace.

Embassies and legations of all the allied and associated governments had seats in the parade, which moved down Pennsylvania avenue from the White House to the capitol. The newly formed nation of Czechoslovakia, Poland, Lithuania and of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes, were represented. The South American republics especially were prominent in the procession.

Members of the cabinet, other government officials and thousands of citizens tonight heard a chorus of several thousand voices sing national and patriotic songs to the accompaniment of the United States marine band from the steps of the capitol.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Green of Jerome returned to Twin Falls yesterday to attend the Elks' reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Stott of Jerome were among the out-of-town visitors to Twin Falls for the reunion.

The Farming Business

DO NOT TAKE ALL AFTER ALL

Disclosed in certain sections of Tennessee and Missouri led local authorities to believe that "Australia take-all" was infesting their fields. Investigations by certain states officials the United States department of agriculture have demonstrated conclusively that the damage to Tennessee and Missouri wheat was caused by insect ravages, such as anthracnose, and rust. The take-all disease, which was first discovered in Madison county, Illinois, has not been found elsewhere except in Sangamon and Mason counties, Illinois, and Laporte, Porter, Tippecanoe and Jasper counties, Indiana. There has been some discussion of outbreaks of take-all disease in the United States, and the federal specialists report that the outbreak already located and under surveillance will not appreciably decrease the wheat crop of the current year. Leaf rust has appeared in many states, however, and is somewhat, shrewdly, the almost ideal wheat conditions early in May according to the bureau of crop estimates.

GUARD WHEAT AGAINST RATS

The greatest wheat crop ever produced in America will soon be harvested. Grain elevators will soon become veritable treasuries which allowing rats and mice will break into if they can.

Don't feed $2.25 wheat to rats and mice, says the United States department of agriculture. Traps, poison and ratproof construction will stop their raids.

The arch enemies of stored grain are dampness and rodent pests—rats and mice. An elevator with a leaky roof is only a little worse than one logging free entry to rats and mice. The present price of wheat makes a telling appeal for ratproof construction of wheat containers. Now is the time to fill rat holes with cement or build new houses, or to use other concrete or galvanized sheet iron.

Where rats and mice have plenty of food and are unmolested they multiply overwhelmingly. For example, in Australia, during the recent years, sacks of wheat stored in high piles awaiting shipment became infested by mice which riddled the sacks and destroyed a large part of the contents before preventive steps were taken. Under similar circumstances a like result would inevitably occur in this country. Where it is impracticable to provide tight containers for stored products steps should be taken immediately to trap or poison rats and mice in the general vicinity of storage buildings, and should be continued until the infestation is disposed of.

The United States department of agriculture furnishes plans and bills of materials for ratproof granaries, and in its farmers' bulletin 888 describes various methods of destroying rats and mice. These publications may be had free upon application.

PROFITS PROVIDE COMFORTS

Thousands of American home-punish comforts and luxuries for which they are indebted to the boys and girls in the families who have earned the equipment by work in home gardens and canning clubs. These clubs are organized by the department of agriculture and the state colleges, and by them boys and girls make money—and provide comfort and luxuries for their own families. Steam pressure cookers, washing machines, pianos, vacuum cleaners, kitchen cabinets, and innumerable other things which make housework easier and home life happier are bought with their profits by the club members. A 14-year-old home-canning club girl in Osceola county, Ga., bought a player-piano and new furniture for the parlor with the money she earned in canning. A girl in Frederick county, Md., furnished the kitchen in her home with modern equipment paid for with prize money awarded for her canning exhibit. Two girls in Kanawha county, Ill., repapered and painted their home with club profits. Club work encourages thrift, and gives the boys and girls an opportunity to convert some of their spare time into money.

EGG CIRCULE MARKETS AT PROFIT

The first 120 dozen netted the shippers 22 cents; the other 456 dozen netted 33 cents. The eggs sold for a total of $126.20, and egg brought home $159.13 to the producer.

RETAIL MEAT MARKETING

A series of conferences with retail meat dealers has been held by the bureau of markets of the United States department of agriculture, the plan being to collect information that will be of value to the meat trade and to consumers at large. Specialists of the bureau have already held meetings in 15 large cities, from San Francisco to New York, and have made plans to hold similar conferences in sections

GLASS OF SALTS IF YOUR KIDNEYS HURT

EM Lax Meat, If You Feel Backache or Have Bladder Trouble,

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the blood. Regular eating of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poisons, else you get a dull misery in the back or side regions; sharp pains in the back or side headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy; full of sediment; the urine is often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night. To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's uric acids waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation; Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which will cleanse men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.

BIG "EVERYBODY WINS" RACE STARTS MONDAY--ARE YOU READY?

First Count in Big Campaign Will Appear Sunday Morning and the $2000 Election Will Be Started in Earnest.

IF YOU ARE A HUSTLER GET INTO THE RACE

It Costs Nothing to Participate and You Positively Cannot Lose if You Try--Big Commission on All Subscriptions to Non-Winning Active Participants

is that you take advantage of it now. Go after the automobile and go after it strong. Make up your mind that you are going to win this stop for nothing.

If you are alive, wake up to the opportunity. Give a little spare time to this event. Come to the office and talk it over--and you can WIN AN AUTOMOBILE IN THE NEXT FEW DAYS.

The work is not hard. You do not have to possess a college education to win one of the awards. What it requires is constant plugging, hammering away steadily for the next few days.

To You Who Have Entered

Now that you have entered the campaign, what are you going to do to insure its being YOUR prize campaign? You have gone into it with a definite object in view--to win one of the highest prizes.

To do this, it is not enough to enter your name as a candidate and then sit with folded hands waiting for your friends to subscribe in your favor. That would be one of the longest waits you ever had. It would be longer than completely understanding the significance of this Independence day than this campaign is an opportunity for those who have lived in France; and workers, not waiters. For the former, who have sympathized and suffered it is an opportunity to get within a with her people. Few can know better how something that can be done usually be obtained only by months of her devotion to the cause of civilization--toll. Have you found it altogether easy to save $1726 for some luxury that you wished?

Well, now you do not have to save and deny yourself to obtain one of the most serviceable cars on the market.

Who Will Win?

The persons who make the best use of their time between now and the end of the campaign (just a few short weeks) are the ones who will rejoice next month. Do you realize that it is but a short time away? Can't you see that there is no time for hesitation or delay? The person who hasn't a car this season must jump right into the campaign today and hustle with the brightest and best of the candidates.

How Votes Count.

Right now, then, is the logical time for candidates to get busy. The start is the big thing and once the race is under way, a candidate soon realizes how easy it is to gather votes. The nomination coupon alone is worth 2000 votes and 5000 more are given with the first six months' subscription. Suppose a candidate sends a letter to his friends, to his many friends and emerges with a six months' subscription or renewal to the Chronicle. With the nomination blank he or she would be started in the election with 11,000 votes. The little coupon printed in the Chronicle each day also contains tremendous possibilities.

The first list of names and the first count will be published Sunday. Make sure that YOUR name is on the list by sending in your nomination coupon--TODAY! Don't hesitate longer--DO IT NOW.

By calling at election headquarters at the Chronicle office, much valuable information can be obtained. If you can't call in person, use the telephone. The number is 245.

But don't wait--start NOW.

PARIS IS SCENE OF BIG CELEBRATION

Marshal Foch Is Among Those Particcipating in Observance of American's Natal Day.

PARIS, July 4--A gala performance of "Faust" at the opera, with Marshal Foch and General Pershing as the specially honored guests, concluded the notable joint French and American celebration of the Fourth of July. The day opened with an early morning review commemorating France's participation in the American revolution and the celebration afforded varied entertainment for the thousands of American soldiers marking time in Paris while awaiting transportation home-ward.

There was even a real wild west parade down the Champs Elysees and through the Place da la Concorde, given by an American army circus showing in Paris. The cowboys, girls and Indians, riding gaily to the music of a wild west band, proved a far greater attraction to the French than the brilliant military spectacle.

Popcorn, peanuts, lemonade and lemonades were offered in abundance by the various service canteens, and the soldiers were displaying badges of the American colors everywhere. The weather man, however, did not offer sufficient heat to make it a typical American celebration and speed up the well known and recess. The sky was overcast the entire day.

The tremendous ovation given Marshal Foch at the American Chamber of Commerce luncheon and his response to persistent demands for a speech was one of the most pleasant features of the celebration.

Marshal Foch was seated beside General Pershing at the luncheon. The address of General Pershing was supposed to conclude the program, but the four hundred diners, including all the prominent members of the American colony, the British ambassador, and nearly all the South American diplomats, rose and insistently demanded a speech from Marshal Foch.

The marshal spoke of the hearty cooperation of the French and American troops, and the common ideals of the two peoples, and proposed a toast to "The Victorious American Armies," which he drank after touching glasses with General Pershing. The applause continued for many minutes.

Later in the afternoon there was a letter of great Franco-American fraternalism at the Paris city hall in honor of General Pershing. Rear Admiral Harry B. Knapp, commanding the American fleet in Europe, and other officers and their staffs. There was much music and patriotic speeches and Premier Clemenceau presented General Pershing with a souvenir symbolizing France's gratitude to West Point, where the sovereign will eventually find a place.

The day was appropriately wound up with a series of banquets.

A round of gajettes was provided for American soldiers and sailors who found open house at the Y. M. C. A. and other centers.

Following is the text of General Pershing's speech at the chamber of commerce luncheon today:

"Few Americans can more fully and

...In the Indian relay race, the rider who won was Ralph Farrow, riding for Jim White, while Tom Johnson rode the horse winning the third prize.

...In the Indian pony race Ralph Farrow rode White Horse, winning second place, while George Washington rode the MacCay horse.

...In addition to the above, the bucking mules, the trick and fancy riding, the bucking steers, the barrel race, the maverick race, and the cowboy novelty race all aroused much interest and enthusiasm.

...Owing to confusion occasioned by changing of riders in the first day's program, Mrs. Sherry rode in place of Mrs. Parson, who was given credit for riding really done by Mrs. Sherry. A. Neylan was likewise given credit for winning, where credit should have gone to Chester Parson.

...The Indian relay race (figures will be given on the bucking-contents and relay races at the close of the program tomorrow until which time the judges made no formal announcements.
