

LEGION TO WORK FOR RECLAMATION

National Executive Committee Names Three Members to Work With Secretary Lane.

Efforts of John S. Green and Taylor Cummings of Twin Falls and other Idaho delegates to the recent caucus of the American Legion to place the organization on record as favoring appropriation for reclamation projects is bearing fruit.

Word has been received from Twin Falls from LeVerno Collier, state adjutant finance officer that in order to effectuate the resolutions of the St. Louis meeting of the American Legion endorsing the principles of land development as a means of rehabilitating returning soldiers, a committee of three members of the National executive committee will make a thorough study of the subject of reclamation of arid, swamp and other similar lands in co-operation with the secretary of the interior.

This committee includes Luke Lee, former democratic senator from Tennessee, Thomas W. Miller, former republican congressman from Arkansas, joint chairman of the legion's legislative committee, and J. P. Z. Herbert, of Massachusetts.

The aim of this committee will be to secure legislation whereby discharged soldiers and sailors may get an opportunity to establish homes and farms on lands in co-operation with the field of constructing national effort, through some broad comprehensive plan for the economic reclamation of all lands susceptible of reclamation and production.

In this connection H. T. Cory, representing Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane, appeared before the national executive committee of the American Legion to explain the provisions of the Mandell bill which he described as one step forward toward rehabilitation in the life of the country of returned veterans who need assistance. Pending the results of the study to be made by the committee of three, the American Legion will take no action on the Mandell bill, but as soon as the legion determines the best kind reclamation legislation for the returned veterans, it will take a positive stand in its favor and support its adoption.

Following in resolution which was adopted by the legion at its St. Louis meeting:

Whereas, the reclamation of arid western lands is one of the great constructive problems of immediate interest to the nation; and

Whereas, one of the questions for presenting to discharged soldiers and sailors an opportunity to establish homes and create for themselves a place in the field of constructive effort; and

Whereas, one of the purposes for which the formation of the American Legion is contemplated is to take an energetic interest in all constructive measures designed to promote the happiness and enjoyment of the people, and to actively encourage all proper movements of a general nature to assist the men of the army and navy in solving the problems of wholesome existence; and

Whereas, the department of the interior and reclamation service have been engaged in formulating and presenting to the country, broad comprehensive plans for the reclamation of arid western lands; now, therefore, be it resolved, by the caucus of delegates of the proposed American Legion, in convention assembled, in the city of St. Louis, Missouri, that we endorse the efforts heretofore made for the reclamation of western lands, and we respectfully urge upon the congress of the United States the adoption at an early date, of broad land comprehensive legislation for the reclamation of all lands susceptible of reclamation and production.

It is further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to each member of the United States and to each representative in congress.

The resolution was drafted by the Idaho delegation.

ILLNESS WILL NOT HINDER HIS TRIP

President So Far Recovered From Impairment As to Be Able to Resume Conference.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—President Wilson, who was confined to his bed yesterday was well on his way to recovery tonight even though he spent a busy day holding conference with republican senators on peace treaty subjects and with other officials. Admiral C. T. Grayson, the president's personal physician, expressed the belief tonight that although Mr. Wilson would have to exercise care for several days owing to his weakened condition, no concern need be felt.

The president upon arising this morning expressed a desire to resume his conferences with the republican senators and by noon was able to go to his study. In addition to discussing treaty subjects with Senators Culler, New York, Edge, New Jersey, and Cummins, Iowa, he received reports on last night's race riots in Washington and later sent for Secretary Baker. With Mr. Baker he conferred for a half hour on matters that might be taken by the federal authorities to all the District of Columbia government in quelling the disturbances.

At the White House it was impossible to ascertain whether the president's illness might interfere with his proposed tour of the country. As it is understood the president does not contemplate starting on his trip before August 1, it was not considered his plans would be materially affected.

Henry Ford Spends Millions to Have Suffering Caused by Great World War.

By the Associated Press.

MOHNTZMENN, Mich., July 22.—Henry Ford after six days of examination by Elliott G. Stevenson, counsel for the Chicago Tribune, defendant in the $1,000,000 libel suit, was interrogated today by his friend and personal attorney, Alfred Luckenbach.

Incidentally it became known Mr. Ford has not ceased in his efforts to promote world peace. He will send a newspaper correspondent with President Wilson to report the latter's speeches in support of the League of Nations, and will distribute the correspondent's stories to a list of papers which have been taking the report of his news bureau on the present suit.

It appeared that Mr. Ford pays little attention to his income or what he does with it. He was building the great Ford hospital in Detroit when the United States entered the war, and it is now operated by the government.

"What did that hospital cost you?" asked Mr. Luckenbach.

"I don't know."

"It cost a couple of millions any way, didn't it?"

"Yes, more than that I think; three or four millions perhaps," said Mr. Ford. He exhibited a smile for the first time since the trial was called to attention. It, but said he does not know exactly what it was costing him, mentioned as to war work in the Ford factories. Mr. Ford said all of them were devoted to some form of war work. He added that he dropped everything else and gave his full time to supervising this work.

In the course of the examination, Mr. Luckenbach received as many "I don't know's" and "I don't remember's" and had Mr. Stevenson. Mr. Ford was admittedly eager to get away, for there was an immediate vacation in prospect for him with Thomas A. Edison and John Burroughs, the naturalist, as companions.

Public Needs and Public Obligations

THE ability of a public utility to serve the public depends upon the attitude of the community toward the utility.

The first appearance of a needed utility in a community is always cordially welcomed. It is recognized not only as fulfilling a decided want, but also as an evidence of the general progress and prosperity of the community.

It is only as the recognition of the utility finds expression in the willingness to grant to the enterprise revenues adequate to meet its honest requirements under efficient management, so long will the utility be able to serve the public best and fully.

There must be mutual understanding and mutual confidence, between the public and the private enterprise, can build permanent success. When a public utility has no faith in nor respect for the public, the public obligation is to create a public utility that will be able to serve.

It is only as the public economic laws and conditions under which it operates. The permanency and efficiency of service depend upon the same factors as are the stability and permanency of every other established business. The recognition of each other's needs and mutual willingness to meet them will insure adequate and efficient service to the public and financial security to the Company.

Deposed Head of Hungarian Soviet Government Says Peace Will Be But Temporary.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, July 22.—Bela Kun, deposed head of the Hungarian soviet government, is quoted in an interview by the Reuters correspondent at Budapest under date of July 18 as saying that he was convinced a world revolution was inevitable, but in the meantime Hungary was willing to make peace with what he termed the capitalist nations.

"There has been much talk about an entente ultimatum to Hungary, but none has been received," he said, "and I don't think it ever will be." He added that, however, the soviet government is prepared to adopt a courageous policy.

"The Hungarian government will never admit that the entente has a right to interfere in Hungary's internal or democratic affairs. The new government has nothing to do with Hungary."

Reports Received in Twin Falls Indicate Large Amount of Beet Cereals.

Reports received in Twin Falls indicate that the sugar production throughout the country this year will be above the average. The report from the bureau of crop estimation forecast a production of about 1,108,000 short tons or about 73,500 more tons than the average of the preceding six years during which time the total of the two crops of beet and cane sugar has slightly exceeded 1,000,000 tons every year except in 1914-15.

The best sugar forecast for this year is higher than the record crop of 1913-14 by nearly 75,000 tons and is above the average of the preceding six years by about 100,000 tons, but the cane sugar crop of this year is forecast at only 159,000 tons, compared with which is the average of about 254,000 tons of the preceding six years. During many years the cane sugar crop of only 1915-16 has been lower and of only 1912-13 has been nearly as small. The low prospects of this year's crop, at the date of July 1, are due to a wet, cool spring and to a somewhat lower average. In recent years cane sugar has usually been about one-quarter of the total of cane and beet sugar produced in contiguous United States, but this year the prospect is that it will be only about one-seventh.

The area planted to sugar beets this year is the largest on record and, it is estimated, reaches 330,000 acres, or 200,700 acres more than last year, and 83,800 acres more than the largest previous area in 1917. The production of the crop July 1, was low on account of adverse weather conditions.

THE TAIL AND THE DOG

There seems to be going on an odd reversal of opinion with regard to the peace treaty proper and the League of Nations convention incorporated in it.

There is little more talk heard about separating the covenant from the treaty and considering each on its own merits without regard to the other.

And standing together, they seem to assume a new relation to each other. Instead of the covenant being an appendage to the main treaty it almost begins to appear that the treaty is an appendage to the covenant.

The attention is put with striking clearness by one of the New York newspapers. Pointing out the obvious imperfections of the settlement, it says:

"What saves it, what substantiates its safe and reasonable interpretation in accordance with the needs of justice, is the League of Nations, which is the instrument through which the peace is to be executed and the tribunal through which it is to be constructed and applied."

President Wilson himself seemed to take this position in his address to congress. His faith in the German treaty as it stands is obviously based not on any confidence in the explicit provisions made by the Paris conference, so much as in the handling of them by a permanent international executive body succeeding the peace conference.

It would be absurd, of course, to expect a treaty of such complexity and of such severity with regard to the Central Powers to administer itself. But the emphasis now placed on the league as the administrative power provided to execute the treaty, and also as the judicial tribunal to determine its application in any questionable case, is something new.

Formerly the League of Nations was thought of by many as merely the tail of the peace dog. Now it looks as if the tail may wag the dog.

MOTOR DRIVERS

An English expert divided motor drivers into three classes, good, indifferent and bad. To the ordinary pedestrian there seem to be only two classes; good and bad.

Probably the indifferent driver is the one who does not really run over his victim, but only scares him to death by coming so near and stopping so short that death itself would be less of a shock.

There are certain things essential to driving a machine if it is to be done with the best results to the machine itself and the least harm to human beings:

- First—The driver must know his machine.
Second—He must drive with consideration for other drivers and pedestrians.
Third—He must observe traffic rules.

The man who does these things is a good driver, and if he falls in any of them he is a poor driver.

THE ARMORED BANK

The world is now to be made safe for plutocracy, too—if that ill-served term applies properly to banking institutions. And the process is fast reaching the same end point as in the late war. Bank robbery, the home of American finance, are to be executed by the plutocrats and their hired force of machine guns.

bling an army "tank," placed partly within the bank and partly outside, so that it can deal with robbers either coming or going. The cage has four-inch loopholes, and back of those loopholes are placed machine guns and rifles, with plenty of ammunition and men to handle them.

This may seem like an extreme measure. It is accepted as reasonable enough in the walls of Chicago, where desperadoes flourish more than in most cities. It may soon be adopted in other communities, if the recent run of successful bank robberies continues.

GOOD CUSTOMERS

The war savings committee of one of the middle-western states has a few things to say about good customers:

"When the town is flush with money, almost any customer is a good customer. But when the wheels stop, business can be done only with the man who has cash or credit.

"The man who has something saved is the only good customer when times are dull. If a man did not save when times were easy, he cannot be a good credit risk.

"The woman who is a good customer can be recognized the minute she comes into a store.

"If she knows how to buy, she knows how to save. If she knows the value of goods, she knows the value of credit. If she respects what she owns, she respects what she owes.

"Business is done for cash or credit; the other thing is charity.

"Credit comes to an end when a man can't pay his bills. Cash buys, but stops when a man can't pay money."

No one with decent pride or self-respect wants to be the object of charity, yet judged by these standards the number of charitable cases in the buying world today is enormous.

Thrift alone will make the individual out of the charity class to the good customer class and keep him there.

SEEK ORIGIN OF BLAZE IN BIG DIRIGIBLE

Two Men Held Pending Investigation by the Grand Jury.

STATES ATTORNEY TO PUSH PROSECUTIONS

Divers Theories Advanced Give Officials No Leads—Disaster First of Its Kind

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, July 22.—A grand jury investigation of the fire and explosion that destroyed the Goodyear tire and rubber company's dirigible airship which fell through the roof of the Illinois Trust and Savings bank killing 12 persons and injuring 28 others yesterday, will be made, according to information at the criminal court building today. Prosecution is certain according to assistant state's attorney John M. Lowery.

Two Under Arrest. John Boettner, pilot of the airship, whose parachute saved him, and W. C. Young, chief of the company's aeronautical forces, remains in the custody of the state's attorney, pending the result of the coroner's inquest which seeks to disclose the cause of the fire and fix responsibility for the accident.

Several versions of a possible cause of the flames have been given but no one connected with the Goodyear company has yet assumed to my what did originate the flames. The company is sending officials and a corps of workers to investigate.

World Stop Experiments. "The thing most needed to prevent a repetition of such affairs, said State Attorney Hoyle in a statement, is legislation by the general assemblies and city councils of large cities preventing experimental flights over cities."

A statement from Harry A. Berger, local counsel for the company, said: "The facts do not constitute a crime. It was an unfortunate accident due to unavoidable causes.

Every individual connected with the ship, whether pilot, mechanic, sign engineer, were skilled and experienced men and the best available, in this country."

Several balloons were suspended from the gas bag and friction of those smaller bags was a possible cause of the fire, according to Harry Wacker of Cleveland, a mechanic, who escaped death along with Pilot Boettner, and one other occupant of the airship. Only two companions were killed.

Eight Only Theories. Eight theories as to the cause of the explosion and destruction by fire of the dirigible machine were elicited at the first session of the coroner's jury yesterday.

The cause of the disaster seemed as far from disclosure as at the moment when flames spouted along the gas bag, as it soared above Chicago's sky scrapers before plunging down through the roof of a great bank spreading fatal flames among employees.

Authorities Pursue Problem. Authorities, however, were apparently determined to place responsibility on some one. Assistant State's Attorney James Lowry declared prosecution was certain to follow the inquiry probably on grounds of criminal negligence and carelessness.

At least four theories for the start of the fire were heard today. Pilot John Boettner, who has been held in custody, told the state's attorney that spontaneous combustion probably was the cause.

W. C. Young, chief of the aeronautical forces of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company, owner of the dirigible, suggested burning oil from the motor cylinders.

Leutenant Thomas Atkinson, purchasing agent for the motor-transporth corp. E. R. A., who is inclined to believe a leaky valve was responsible and that auto-electricity caused combustion.

Six Exhaust Were Open. Assistant State's Attorney Hoyle asked the chief of police to take into custody two officials of the local office of the Goodyear company for questioning. Seventeen persons, most of them mechanics of the company's forces, were questioned last night and today and answers for the request. Pilot Boettner to Talk.

The first session of the coroner's inquest was marked by the refusal of Pilot Boettner, and his chief, Mr. Young, to testify. Their refusal was on the advice of counsel representing the company.

While local officials asserted responsibility for the accident was to be fixed on some one, no evidence developed to show the company had any fault to answer for the request.

Leutenant Atkinson testified that Goodyear company's balloons have an excellent reputation in the army. The lieutenant testified he never had heard of rotary engines being used in dirigibles. "I understand it was in the nature of an experiment," he added.

Philadelphia avenue between the white house and the capitol practically was clear of crowds as darkness fell. In the portion about Fifteenth and Ninth streets, several one of the negro districts of the southwest end, there were crowds of white civilians, but marines stationed a few yards apart kept them moving.

The police reported a number of posters signed by negro ministers and members of their race to stay within their homes and to preserve order. It appeared about the city.

The sheriff of Prince Georges county, Maryland, adjoining the District of Columbia, reported that a large crowd of negroes had gathered in Hyattsville just across the district line, and were moving toward Washington. The district authorities dispatched troops and motorcycle police to the district line.

HUNS HELPED WIN ST. MICHEL DRIVE

Gave Information That Led to Quick Silencing of German Batteries.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 22.—Another version of how the American army was aided by two mysterious German prisoners of war who arrived here yesterday from Germany was outlined tonight from a non-commissioned officer, formerly attached to the intelligence branch of first army staff.

According to this "non-com" the two prisoners, who were brought here under the name of Alfred Schult and Alvin Grother obtained a sum of money from the United States government and were housed and fed with the enlisted men at field headquarters. Wearing German uniforms, they used to mingle with prisoners captured by the Americans awaiting transportation to the rear and after conversing with these prisoners were able to inform American officers whether information obtained from them was reliable or not.

This "non-com" said it was during the St. Michel drive that Schult first aided in an American offensive.

"He was a draughtman and his map by his head was astounding," said the "non-com." "When he went into the St. Michel drive Schult kept memory the location of the four most troublesome German batteries which were guarding the outer circle of enemy defenses. He will tell me the exact date on these guns that our artillery put them completely out of commission before the drive was fully under way."

COMING ON OWN REQUEST. WASHINGTON, July 22.—Two German prisoners brought to New York yesterday on an army transport Alfred Schult, a lance corporal of the 28th Infantry regiment, and Alvin Grother, an aviator, the war department explained tonight, "were sent to the United States at their request for the purpose of making available to this country. Both were used during the final part of the war and afterward volunteered to assist the officer in charge of prisoners and documents of the first army with his work."

They will be kept in confinement as prisoners of war for the present, the statement said. "Their final disposition naturally depends upon the ratification of that part of the peace treaty with Germany relating to the repatriation of prisoners of war."

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Keep Her Locks Dark, Glossy, Beautiful.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair, is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we grow in an age when a young girl's entrance in the greatest advantage.

Nowadays though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the muss mixing at home's part. All drug stores sell the ready-made preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply massage your scalp or a soft brush with it, and then wash your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the lazes with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces a soft and lustrous appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready to use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

THE TIME IS SHORT

Hustle is the key that will unlock the treasure chest so filled with magnificent prizes, by far the most valuable and attractive ever offered by any newspaper in this section of the state in recognition of enterprise and action. Never before has there been such a glittering array of gifts presented as in the great Chronicle campaign, and never was there such tremendous battles waged to win them. Present indications point to a hair-breadth finish; and, while it is certain that the winning votes will run very high, it is also reasonably sure that the grand capital prize will be won by a very narrow margin. Count your votes; count the other fellow's votes, and then go out and hustle for more votes—always more votes. It would be better to win the prize you most desire by a million more than enough, than to get left by a few hundred thousand.

IT'S ANYBODY'S RACE IN THE CHRONICLE'S "EVERYBODY WINS" DRIVE FOR VOTES

Intense though suppressed excitement prevails among the candidates in The Chronicle's interesting voting campaign as each realizes that he or she is within reach of the prizes worth nearly two thousand dollars, all to be won or lost during these next few days, depending to a very great extent upon the manner in which the voters turned in while the big votes are allowed, terminating at 10 o'clock next Saturday night, August 2nd.

At the present writing it is "anybody's race." So close are the hand-icappers running that any of them can clinch that $125 prize in the shortest time that remains. And the fact that it is so even and the contestants securely so evenly matched makes the battle all the more interesting.

An announced in the beginning, the "second period" of the campaign closes one week from Saturday night at ten p. m. After that remains but one more week of the entire campaign. These few days that are left will undoubtedly be well taken advantage of by the real hustlers for they hold within themselves either the banner of victory of the sting of defeat.

PROBE RECORD OF INACTION OF CARRANZA

Ambassador to Mexico Points Out Crimes as Yet Unpunished.

HOLDS CONDITIONS TO BE IMPROVING

No Leadership in Sight Capable of Building a Substantial Government.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Although about fifty American citizens have been killed or outraged in Mexico since 1917, not a single arrest or conviction is known to have resulted, Henry B. Fletcher, United States ambassador to Mexico, today told the house rules committee in a hearing on the resolution proposing appointment of a congressional committee to investigate relations between the two countries. The ambassador also told before the committee a report compiled by the state department in response to a Senate resolution, showing that since the close of the Ihuas regime, about 250 attacks of a serious nature have been made on American citizens in Mexico. Substitution is growing.

Relations between the two countries, however, Mr. Fletcher said, had improved during the last three years. He added that there was a "wonderful substitution" in the Carranza race in all the sections which the government controls.

Although declining to express an opinion as to the policy, either past or future, of this country towards Mexico, the ambassador in effect opposed congressional action by members of the committee looking to withdrawal of the United States recognition of Carranza government. Such a step, he said, would only increase the existing unfriendly feeling of Mexicans and would not be in keeping with the policy accompanied by other action in the way of assistance, bring about the establishment of a more stable government.

EMPHATIC "NO" IS GIVEN TO WILSON

Senate Committee Refuses to Give Approval to Treaty Appointing of Commissioner.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 22.—An emphatic negative was returned by the senate foreign relations committee today to President Wilson's request that it approve presidential appointment of an American representative of international reparations commission without awaiting ratification of the peace treaty.

While the president was renewing talks with republican senators at the white house, and the senate was beginning another day of speech-making on the treaty the committee adopted a resolution declaring "no power exists" to execute provisions of the treaty in advance of its ratification. This was interpreted not only as refusing assent to the appointment, but as declaring the president would exceed his authority should he act independently.

Avail President's Action.
What the president might do in view of the committee action had not been decided. The most of his advisers predicted there would be no appointment for the present. In making his request the president had declared it essential to American business interests that the nation be represented on the commission, which will have charge of the reparations program to be demanded of Germany.

The resolution was presented by Senator Knox, republican, Pennsylvania, and was substituted by an 8 to 7 vote for another expressing no opinion as to the president's power to act. In making the substitution the committee divided along party lines except that Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, voted with the democrats in the negative.

Moses is Unhappy.
Later, in the senate, the floor Moses of New Hampshire, a republican member of the committee, pointed out the reparations committee would continue until 1921 and would exercise drastic powers. In that connection Chairman Lodge suggested that his powers even might extend to arresting acts of war against Germany, but which Germany agreed beforehand should not be so considered.

The republicans who saw President Wilson during the day were Senators Hodge, New Jersey; Calder, New York; and Cummins, Iowa. The conference are understood to have followed the general lines of those of last week, the president answering many questions about the Versailles negotiations, especially with regard to article 10 and Bismarck.

Senator Calder asked the president what would be his attitude toward the suggestion that the United States limit its obligations under article 10 to 1921, and the president is understood to have replied that such a course would not be in keeping with the nation's duty in the re-establishment of peace.

HOUSE PASSES DRY BILL BY VOTE 3 TO 1

Exactly One Hundred Members Hold Out Against Its Passage.

DRASTIC PROVISIONS CAUSE SPECULATION

Pou, an Ardent Prohibitionist, Opposes the Act as Too Severe to Be Enforced.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(By a vote of nearly 3 to 1, the house wry of talk on prohibition today passed a bill for its enforce- ment, with provisions and penalties so drastic as to bring from the men who framed it the prediction that it would forever suppress the liquor traffic on American soil.

Few Stand Opposed.
Exactly 100 members—52 democrats and 48 republicans—refused to support it. Against the even hand-icapped prohibitionists, putting up a solid front to the very last, polled 287 votes, and just as the result was announced a little girl in the gallery, too young to know what it was all about, found over the railing and waved its tiny American flag. It was not a signal for that, but the house broke into an applause, the galleries, only half filled, meanwhile looking on in silence.

Senate May Amend.
A broad attack spread over the faces of the prohibition leaders, for their work in the house was ended and the measure was ready to be sent to the senate, where many of its restrictions may be modified or "amended out." The "talk" rumor persisted that all of this legislative effort might end on the shoal of a presidential veto, although the general view was that it would be signed and passed.

Last Effort Fails.
Before the house put the bill on its passage, one final but feeble hand was reached forth to strike it down and the bill in its plume a braver and wiser liberal rose. This took the form of a three-paragraph bill by Representative Igoe, democrat, Missouri, introduced some days ago, and offered today in the form of a motion to reconsider, which meant his substitution for the general enforcement measure, of the house now fit. But the house did not. Mr. Igoe's motion was defeated 255 to 13, and this vote analyzed meant that at least 287 members who favored a more liberal bill, took the more drastic one later when there was no other choice.

Few Changes Recorded.
There were no unexpected reversals in the individual vote. Representative Husted, republican, New York, who voted as a member of the Judiciary Committee to report out the bill, was recorded against it, while Representative Closson, republican, Wisconsin, who signed the minority report, was recorded for it. Representative Pou, democrat, North Carolina, an ardent prohibitionist, voted against the bill after having pointed out that the law so severe as not to permit a farmer's wife to make a bottle of blackberry wine for her own use, never could be enforced.

INCREASE SPEED OF THE PACIFIC FLEET

With a Breach Panama July 25 When First Dreadnaught Will Pass Through Canal.

—Every two-year subscription (new or renewal) to The Chronicle, providing name is turned in before the close of the "second period" terminating Saturday night, August 2nd.

Ten such subscriptions would entitle you to 320,000 votes, and would also entitle you to 250,000 extra special club votes, making a grand total of 570,000 votes. Therefore, ten such subscriptions, or approximately its equivalent in shorter term orders, would mean over HALF A MILLION VOTES.

Haven't you got ten friends who would like to see you the owner of a two-year subscription to The Chronicle, only 125 toward winning that beautiful Prize automobile, valued at $125, which is to be given away week after week?

Surely you have. Try it and see.

ADBOARD FLAGSHIP U. S. S. NEW MEXICO, Monday, July 23.—

Admiral Rodman has issued orders to increase the speed of the Pacific fleet so that it will arrive at Panama on the morning of July 25, when the first dreadnaught in the history of the navy will negotiate the canal.

The fleet was off Cape Canaveral, Fla. grandly, sailing, steaming, southward for San Salvador.

Admiral Rodman intends to present to the people of the Pacific coast for their inspection a highly efficient fleet of personal and one that will compare favorably with any one he developed in the past half century. With this purpose of this run is to make passage as well as the opportunity to drift the crew in every phase of ship life.

How to Jump into First Place.

On each 2-year subscription to The Chronicle or approximately its equivalent in shorter term orders, 40,000 votes are allowed—providing same is received at the campaign department before 10 o'clock next Monday night, July 23.

Then, in addition to that, 50,000 SPECIAL EXTRA votes are allowed on every "club" of $24.00 turned in.

Therefore, two 2-year subscriptions (amounting to $24.00 in business) means 130,000 votes.

It can readily be seen by glancing at the vote totals below that just a few such subscriptions for any candidate would furnish a new leader in the race; in fact, an ENTIRELY NEW CANDIDATE what at this time has no votes at all, could, by a little enthusiastic action on the part of themselves and friends, climb to the top of the list and thereby acquire the leadership for the big prize automobile.

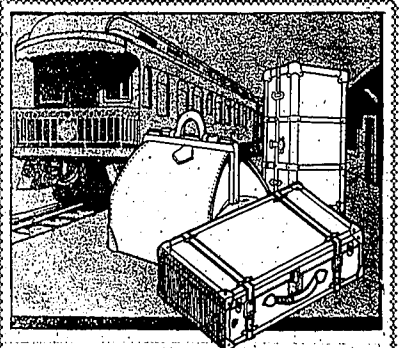

And, when one takes into consideration the value of the prizes to be awarded and the short time the competition is in force, they are well worth any effort they might take to secure.

and put the dreadnaughts, though was selected to command the sixth battle squadron of the British fleet, the high state of efficiency that marked the work of the sixth battle squadron of the New Mexico, "as is as good as which has proved the value of keeping divisions intact and making few changes as possible."

MAKES WINDWARD PASSAGE.
ADBOARD FLAGSHIP U. S. S. NEW MEXICO, July 22.—The Pacific fleet, on its way to the west coast, will make the Windward passage tonight, swinging northward toward it, Admiral Rodman's fleet crossed the trail of Columbus off San Salvador early today.

The fleet proceeds in single-column formation as it negotiates the passage of the Bahama channels. The weather continues fine and officers and crew are pleased with prospects of a warm welcome when they arrive on the Pacific coast. More than 500 of the crew on Admiral Rodman's flagship recently declined an opportunity to leave the service in order to make this trip. It was announced tonight.
