District Forester's Report Shows Widespread Area of Conflagration.

TWO TOWNS SAVED BY BREEZE SHIFT

Yellow Pine Fire Eats Its Way Toward Payette Forest —Oregon Forests Menaced.

By the Associated Press.
MISSOULA, Mont., July 23.—A high southwest wind which developed here today in the district No. 1 of the forestry service was regarded with concern by forestry officials who have charge of the crews fighting forest fires in western Montana and northern Idaho.

District Forester Rutledge said today that 2,510 men are fighting forest fires in western Montana and northern Idaho.

Since June 10 a total of 612 fires have been reported in this territory of which about 200 have been reported in the past ten days.

Rutledge attributed 112 of the fires to lightning.

CHANGE OF WIND SAVES TOWN SPOKANE, Wash., July 23.—Fire, that for weeks has been burning in the national and privately owned forests in Montana, Idaho and Washington, again endangered today two Montana towns, St. Regis and Clark. Only sudden changes in the wind saved the towns, reports to the federal forest service headquarters stated.

With hundreds of forest fires burning the forest service officials believe a change for the better was in prospect with the predicted end of the present hot weather followed by thunder showers forecast by the weather bureau.

Fighters Lose Control.

The most dangerous fires in the district were on Gold creek, near St. Regis, and in the Crown forest, near Three Forks. The flames were close to the towns. The Gold creek control lines were lost during the high winds yesterday although the fire fighters managed to hold the eastern end. Reinforcements were sent on the fire today.

The forest service estimated 400,000 acres of land have been burned over during the present season, 250,000 acres in Montana and 150,000 acres in Idaho. The damage in Montana was estimated at $24,000,000 and in Idaho at $20,000,000. The amount of timber which has been destroyed in Montana and Idaho is estimated at 75,000,000 feet in Idaho.

The Henderson fire in the Lolo forest, burning over a front of 25 miles across through the control lines at two points early today, running a half mile up Mullan gulch and a half mile toward Nine mile. The Nigger gulch fire in the Lolo forest swept northward to the vicinity of Starke.

Fire Advanced Six Miles.

One of the worst outbreaks of the fire was reported on Higgins creek on the west fork of the Blitter Root river. The fire advanced six miles yesterday burning over many acres of timber. More men were sent to fight the Hattiesnake fire which was controlled beyond control.

Forest fires were reported also from western Washington and points in Oregon.

NEAR NATIONAL FOREST.

BOISE, Ida., July 23.—Flames of the Johnson creek forest fire, in the devastated Yellow Pine district, are ending their way toward the Payette national forest, according to information received today by C. B. Morse, assistant district forester, who with Robert A. Holley, mineral examiner, for the federal land office, is here to direct the campaign for the forest fires in southern Idaho.

The flame was reported Wednesday within a mile of the national forest boundary. It has burned over six or seven sections.

Hopes of saving any of the timber on Flatum creek have been given up, and the fire fighters will be content to hold the fire on the ridge.

ARTIST HERE TO PLAN FOR FALLS PARK

Famous Landscape Architect to Start Drafting of Scheme Immediately.

TO VISIT SITE WITH THE EXECUTIVE BOARD

Comprehensive Plan to Be Laid Before Those Inter- ested at a Later Date.

For the purpose of drawing and submitting plans for the improvement of Shoshone Falls Park and memorial, Miss Florence Yoch, widely known landscape architect is here from Los Angeles.

Today the executive board of the Memorial Association will accompany Miss Yoch to the Falls and the territory to be embraced in the improvement, following which she will devote herself to the preparations of the work which will be submitted to the board for consideration.

Confers With Miss Yoch.

Yesterday the members of the executive board met with Miss Yoch and Mrs. Cloucheck in the office of Senator M. J. Sweeley. Where the proposal in general was discussed. On her way here from Los Angeles, Miss Yoch had traversed the Columbia highway out from Portland, in order that she might be familiar with that section throughout.

Definite plans have not yet been considered. Careful inspection of the territory involved, the contour, the points from which best views are obtained, the site for the memorial, the possibility for camping grounds, swimming pool, play grounds and other recreation for a park of this character is to be made before the work of designing is undertaken.

To Begin At Once.

The idea of the executive board is to lay out plans comprehending the improvement for a period of years, a beginning to be made at once, this to be followed year by year as funds from state appropriations and local subscriptions may be had.

It is altogether probable that when the plans have been adopted, or at least when there has been tentative

MUELLER URGES THE HUNS TO PLACATE THE BELGIANS

By the Associated Press.
WEIMAR, July 23.—Dr. Hermann Mueller, minister of foreign affairs speaking before the national assembly today, urged the carrying out of the peace treaty to the utmost while working also for its revision. He advocated the friendliest disposition towards Belgium by real sacrifices, thus being the way for an understanding with France.

"Retrospectively," said the minister, "no nation has lost so many lives or made so many sacrifices as France; therefore love expressed in practice must be our criterion."

Dr. Mueller favored non-intervention in Russia and, an effort, to promote friendly relations with Poland and Czechoslovakia, while not forgetting Germany's former allies, Bulgaria and Turkey.

The foreign minister entered a strong plea in favor of the league of nations. He declared that the German people, having discarded their militarism, must devote themselves to creating a disastrous world of their unshakable will to peace, so that the policy of alliances which precipitated the war shall be buried forever.

"We shall work best against the unhappy policy of alliances if we participate in none and thus prepare the ground for a real league of nations," he asserted.

RIOTERS FAIL TO RENEW STRUGGLE

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 23.—Streets of the national capital were patrolled again tonight by a force of cavalry, infantry and marines numbering more than 2,000 men, no prosecution being overlooked by the authorities against a renewed outbreak of the race riots which have occurred four successive nights.

Officials were hopeful that the comparative quiet which prevailed tonight, marked by only one clash resulting in the killing of one white man and the fatal wounding of another by a negro, meant that the sudden blaze of race hatred had been extinguished. The element of rain, however, which was believed to have played an important part in keeping people off the streets last night was lacking tonight.

ADMITS MURDER OF HIS NEIGHBOR

By the Associated Press.
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 23.—George Harris, a rancher of Trout creek, an isolated section of Juab county, Utah, about 150 miles southeast of here, winked into the sheriff's office at Gold Hill, Juab county today and gave himself up, admitting, according to advices reaching here from Gold Hill via Wendover, that he had shot and killed Jesse Cono, a neighborhood rancher, and James Bailey, a deputy sheriff. No details of the killing were available here. The killing is understood to have taken place Tuesday.

Earlier reports received here were to the effect that a posse had set out in search of Harris, but the later advices indicate that he, surrendered himself before they were organized. According to meager information available here, Harris and Cono are understood to have quarreled over the disposition of cattle on the Harris ranch.

AVERS A. E. F. OFFICERS PLANNING INVASION

General Dickman to Be in Charge of Southern Operations—Sailors Were in Rebel Territory.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, July 23.—The constantly increasing reports of troops by Mexican City newspapers during the last few weeks to the relations between the United States and Mexico culminated today in the issue of an extra edition by El Universal, carrying the seven-column headline, "Mexico and the United States." Underneath is a seven-column headline in smaller type, saying "United States Press Affirms Preparations Continue for Armed Intervention; General Dickman Chief of Southern Operations."

The body of the reading matter contains summaries of articles, most of them taken from New York newspapers, and sent by special correspondents or clipping bureaus, regarding recent incidents in Mexico involving Americans, such as the Choyote affair at Tampico and the reported mobilization of large armed forces along the frontier. Other stories tell of anti-Mexican cartoons appearing in American papers and of declarations with regard to Mexico made by Under-Secretary of State Polk and Major General Leander Wood. Part of the extra is given over to a story printed in the New York World discounting the intervention stories.

Mention is made of a recent report published here that officers of the American army of occupation in Central Mexico are busily studying a campaign for an invasion of Mexico. Side by side with the intervention stories from the United States are news reports, editorials and interviews with government officials regarding the Corral, Choyote and other incidents involving Americans.

Taft Makes Efforts for Ratification

Suggests "Interpretations" That Would Satisfy the League's Opponents

LETTERS TO HAYS DISCLOSES PLANS

Former President Criticizes Both Wilson, and G. O. P. Leaders in the Senate.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 23.—A plan for "interpretations" in the sense of the word as used by the numerous times suggested by former President Taft in the hope of uniting on a middle ground enough democratic and republican senators to defeat any nullification amendment of the covenant and in the end obtain its ratification.

The suggestion has been received with earnest consideration by the group of republicans who favor the league idea and who already are at work on a definite program of interlocking reservations which they declare they have reason to believe will be accepted by the administration. Administration leaders hopeful. The administration leaders, however, unwilling to concede that any reservations will be necessary, still insist they will have the votes when the time comes to ratify the covenant as it is.

So confident are the league republicans of the success of their plan that some of them believe President Wilson will publicly accept it to smooth the way to its acceptance by the Senate. Some republican senators who have seen the president in the last few days have come away from the white house with the impression that Mr. Wilson, while not encouraging reservations if they can be avoided, might not be as active in opposing them as he would leave the league fabric unimpaired.

Suggestion Creates Sensation.

Mr. Taft's suggestion, which created a sensation in the senate because of his well known advocacy of unreserved ratification of the league, was taken to Mr. Hays, the republican national chairman. They touched upon many features of the treaty controversy and emphasized the former president's belief that only by acceptance of some reservations could the treaty be ratified.

His interpretation proposals and outlined by Mr. Taft, says he is convinced will meet the objections of a large group of republicans who favor a league. He counts 45 democratic senators as supporting the president in the treaty fight and says that should three resolutions be committed to vote against material amendments no such proposals could receive a senate majority.

Logdo Might Object.

The former president suggested to Mr. Hays that his name be withheld for the present from connection with the interpretation plan since it might antagonize some members of his party. Chairman Lodge of the foreign relations committee who is named in that connection, declined today to make any comment on the Taft letter.

Mr. Taft also has written some of the republican senators who, under the leadership of Senator McCumber, North Dakota, and McNary, Oregon, have been interested in formulating a middle course for solution of the senate situation. # FICKERT FRAMED CASE SAYS AGENT

Department of Labor Representative Says He Used Microphone to Secure Information.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 24.—Charge of labor leaders that Thomas J. Mooney was unjustly convicted for participation in the bomb outrage in San Francisco three years ago were supported in a report of John D. Denmore, special agent of the department of labor, submitted to the house today in response to a resolution demanding more information on the case.

Mr. Denmore, now director of the federal employment service, conducted a secret investigation of the case at the request of Secretary Wilson. With the aid of several immigration inspectors, he gathered his evidence, working without the knowledge of San Francisco authorities. Most of it was obtained by the use of a dictaphone placed in the office of District Attorney Fickert, prosecutor of the case.

From this evidence, Mr. Denmore drew the conclusion that Mooney did not receive full justice in his trial and that he was the victim of corporate interests in San Francisco who desired to discredit the labor union and maintain the "open shop." The prosecution was conducted without a real investigation of the crime, Mr. Denmore declared, and with deliberate intent to "frame" the labor leader.

BUILD PLANT AT THOUSAND SPRINGS

Idaho Power Company—Bald to Be Constructing Enlarging the Unit.

According to information reaching Twin Falls from an authentic source the Idaho Power company will shortly announce its plans of the construction of an initial unit of 6000 horsepower at Thousand Springs.

With this installation the company will have a capacity of around 45,000 horsepower from its various plants. It is also understood plans are being considered to connect the eastern and western lines in the state. The project of connecting the Utah Power and Light company's lines with those of the Idaho Power company has been under advisement for some time.

This union of lines will not be necessary for the Idaho company except in case of breakdown or necessary suspension for repairs, for the company will have ample power with its new units in operation.

It is most important for the Utah company, it is stated, because of the winter grief and temporary abandonment due to excessive weather in the southern part of the state. The Idaho Power company has just completed work on a new unit of 4000 horse power at the lower Salmon falls. This added capacity will supply all immediate requirements, it is announced, and relieve the pumping station, rendered idle at some points because of the unusual water shortage this season.

The work at the lower Salmon falls plant has been under way for some time, but many interferences operated to retard it. The shortage of labor and material during the war and since almost caused a suspension of work on the additional unit.

When the unanticipated and unprecedented water shortage developed, however, the company decided to push the unit, in completion without any consideration of cost or effort in cooperation with the farmers, who had sent up a call for more necessary assistance.

General Pershing said three days ago that he was among the hardest characters in the American expeditionary forces.

The prisoners, as far as the records showed, were held because of absence without leave last year from their military units and a cablegram from General Pershing sent three days ago from Paris declared "some of these men were among the hardest characters in the American expeditionary forces."

General Pershing's cablegram disclosed the conviction against four officers at Nelson farm number two and its adjoining stockade. Two of the officers, it said, were imprisoned for being found guilty by court martial.

Conviction of four other officers was disclosed by reports of Brigadier General Edward A. Kruger, acting judge advocate general.

TAFT MAKES EFFORTS FOR RATIFICATION

Mr. Taft's declaration "altogether false" published reports that the president had formulated the provision. The statement continued that Mr. Wilson had "acted all the influence he was at liberty to exercise to secure the ratification" to arrange giving control of the peninsula to Japan.

A Matter of Expediency.

The president's statement was accepted as presiding any likelihood that Mr. Wilson would defend the Shantung provision except on the ground of expediency.

The two letters to Mr. Hays, copies of which were received here today, do outline definitely the six interpretations suggested by Mr. Taft, but they are referred to having been contained in a previous unpublished communication. These six interpretations are understood to be substantially as follows:

One. That upon two years' notice the United States would be entitled to be a member of the league without having the league pass upon whether she had fulfilled all her obligations under the covenant.

Two. That self-governed colonies and dominions could not be represented on the league council at the same time with the mother government, or be included in any of those clauses where the parties to the dispute are excluded from its settlement.

Three. That the functioning of the council under article 10 shall be advisory only and that each member shall be left free to determine questions of war in its own way, the decision of the United States resting with congress.

Control Own Affairs.

Four. That differences between the nations regarding immigration, the tariff and other domestic questions shall not be left to the league for settlement.

Five. That the Monroe doctrine is to be reserved for administration by the United States.

Six. That the United States reserves the right to withdraw unconditionally at the end of ten years or at least to terminate then her obligations under article ten.

These interpretations, Mr. Taft wrote, could be made without weakening the covenant. The argument of independent senators against inclusion of any such provisions in the ratification has been, however, that any qualifications at all would necessitate negotiation with the other nations and encourage them to adopt reservations.

Taft Suggests Interpretations.

A program of interpretations to be included in senate ratification of the peace treaty in order to insure support of the republicans favorable to a league idea is suggested in letters from former President Taft to Will H. Hays, republican national chairman, copies of which are in the hands of some of the republican senators.

"The letters suggest six 'interpretations' covering the right of withdrawal, limiting the representation of dominions and colonies, reserving the prerogative of congress to declare war under article 10, controlling national control over domestic laws, defining the Monroe doctrine, and reserving the right to terminate obligations under article 10 at the end of ten years."

Will Assure Ratification.

Mr. Taft writes that these interpretations would not weaken the league covenant but would, he believed, assure ratification. He suggested that he should not appear publicly at this time.

Mr. Taft's Letter.

The letters follow:

"My Dear Mr. Hays:

"In what I said yesterday I did not go over the various interpretations and reservations, because I thought that in our previous correspondence they were sufficiently explained. I think it wise, now that I have formulated them after a good deal of thought, to take up my reasons in detail for suggesting them."

Speaking generally, I wish to emphasize my conviction that the United States senate might well ratify the present treaty, without any reservations or interpretations. I am confident that the actual operation of the treaty after ratification would bring about exactly the same results which would be attained by the acceptance of these interpretations and reservations, but it seems to me to be the part of wisdom to recognize the existence of personal, partisan and political differences of opinion in order to achieve real peace and stability between the President and the senate.

The situation which confronts us now in reference to the ratification of the treaty is one created by very serious mistakes of policy committed by Mr. Wilson. The partisan character of the administration during the war, together with his appeal to his countrymen to elect a democratic congress in November, 1918, created a condition of personal and political antagonism toward him among republican leaders, which was shared by a majority of the American people. This was shown in the results of the election. Notwithstanding this, Mr. Wilson persisted in continuing the same partisan exclusion of republicans in dealing with the highly important matter of settling the results of the war. He selected a commission in which the republicans had no representation and in which there were no prominent Americans of any real experience and leadership of public opinion. With such a commission, his unusual course in going abroad himself, as president, greatly emphasized the personal element in the framing of the treaty and intensified the general tendency to suppose anything that he might bring home because of his apparent wish to dictate the policy of the world and to monopolize the credit for it.

Wilson Is Responsible.

I feel that some of the defects of the league of nations was due to him. I am confident that he prevented the adoption of the plan of the league to enforce peace in respect to an international court and the settlement of justifiable questions.

"It was for a time advised in the English plan, but was studiously omitted from the very satisfactory American plan. His proficacy against certain is well known. Article 16, I think is due to him primarily, because it is merely the embodiment of the last of his foolish whims. While it came from his suggestion, however, it suited the demands of the French, in fact."

It went, and I believe it to be now the heart of the league in tending to unite the forces of the world in police duty to suppress wars of conquest.

May Amend Covenant.

The power of amendment contained within the terms of the league, offers full opportunity to remedy the defects of the league with reference to the international court and in other respects the great point which supporters of the league of nations now should seek is the establishment of a basis upon which through amendment the league can be perfected. It is absolutely necessary to retain article 10 in order to stabilize the world. The fluid condition of the region of the war threatens the stability of the world, and it needs the united force of the world to restore a normal condition of self-maintenance. In my judgment, therefore, it would be most unfortunate if the cautious influence of article 10 may not be retained, in the crucial decade through which the world is to pass.

Hostility Arouse Criticism.

The attitude of hostility toward the president has aroused criticism and opposition which might have been avoided had he taken with him such a man as Mr. Root and two representatives of the foreign relations committee in the senate. The criticisms thus aroused have altered the complexion of a number of republican senators and have endangered the ratification of the league by two-thirds of the senate.

Mr. Wilson's influence with his democratic supporters in the senate will secure perhaps 45 votes. Nineteen republicans votes are needed, and the question is, how they can be secured. I don't think they can be secured except by relieving their consciences through reserving interpretations of the league of such a character that they are likely to be accepted without further negotiation and conference and delay, by the other nations who dictated the peace. After consideration, 22 1/2; medium weight, fatigued and of the appropriate size of the subject. I have formulated these interpretations and reservations, with the hope that they will suggest a basis of agreement between the democrats and sufficient republicans to ratify the treaty and secure in the inevitable benefit.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

of a league of nations which will be the foundation for growth and development into a new era in our international relations.

Disagree With Borah

The attempt of such men as Senator Borah, Senator Johnson, Senator Sherman and others to defeat the treaty, and the deliberate exaggeration of the Shantung feature of the treaty do not, I think, indicate the attitude of the majority of the republican party in the senate, and I do not think that any attention should be paid to the suggestion that the treaty be amended in its provisions with reference to the re-arrangement of the map of the region of the war.

To repeat, I am strongly in favor of ratifying the treaty as it is. Were I in the senate, I would not hesitate to vote for it, but the situation may require concession to secure ratification, and I suggest what I have already said to you, a copy of which I enclose, as something that will secure a useful league of nations, which may be improved and which at the same time may satisfy the genuine objections of the republican friends of the league in the senate.

Purpose of Interpretations.

Coming now to specific interpretations, it seems to me that the first, achieves all that the draftsmen of the withdrawal clause intended, and as thus interpreted relieves that clause from a possible construction by which the actual withdrawal on two years' notice might be greatly hindered through the claims of the other members of the league.

The second interpretation has to do with the presence in the league, as members, of self-governing dominions or colonies of a home government, also a member. Certainly in a small body like that of the council, it would be unfair to have a home government represented and also one of its dominions or colonies, and I cannot think it was the intention of the framers of the covenant that this might happen. I am not bound to say that such a result is not excluded by the present language of the covenant in article 10 and article 4; nor does the language of article 15 necessarily exclude from the tribunal to recommend a settlement of a dispute, a home government where one of its dominions or colonies is a party, nor does it necessarily exclude a dominion or colony from such tribunal where the home government may be a party; yet,

Exclusions Are Intentional.

I have no doubt that both of these exclusions were intended by the framers of the covenant. Nor is there any express description of the function to be performed by the council or assembly under article 15 so as to require that it should act judicially and according to international law or equity and justice. I have no doubt that it was intended that the language of the covenant should obstruct the function of the duties of the council or assembly under article 15 and therefore that the language I have introduced in the second interpretation is merely giving expression to that which ought to be inferred as the intention of the framers of the covenant. I may say that it supplies that which Mr. Root forcibly represented as a defect of the covenant.

The third interpretation is an exact legal construction of the effect of article 10, and I do not see how any of the signatory powers can object to it. The conclusions in respect to the function of congress under this article is the necessary result of the distribution of power under the constitution, to which none of the associate members of the league can object.

Merely to Satisfy.

The fourth interpretation is a mere statement of international law and the proper construction of the seventh paragraph of article 15, which is fully inserted to satisfy criticism of that paragraph, based on the unfounded assumption that some tribunal of the league will be found which will declare issues in respect to immigration or the tariff to be something other than a question of democratic policy. If we all authorized show, immigration and tariff subjected by treaties are purely democratic questions, then it cannot injure the league to say that which is undoubtedly a maxim of international law.

Defines Monroe Doctrine.

The fifth interpretation defines the Monroe doctrine. As the expression "Monroe doctrine" is used in article 21, and as the United States is the author of the doctrine and has maintained it for 96 years, it is fairly within the limit of an interpretation for the league to state what the doctrine has been and to be in the history of its development to the present day. As the time has come for its world recognition, and there has also come for the definition, and I believe the language used correctly states what we have a right to claim it to be and all that we have the right to claim it to be.

Wants Longer Time.

These interpretations, it seems to me, reasonably answer all the reasonable or sincere criticisms made against the league except as they are met by the single reservation to article 10. Mr. Root, in his letter to you, proposed the operation of article 10 be limited to five years when the settlement of the war should be re-examined with the view to the further operation of the article after a re-consultation. Influenced by some direct information that I have received, the attitude of France in respect to article 10, I am confident the period of five years is not long enough for the stabilization and does not offer the security which France eagerly seeks. I think, therefore, that the cautious influence of the league would be greatly strengthened by lengthening this period from five to ten years.

I venture to think that my suggestions are not amendments, but only interpretations or actions authorized by the league itself. I don't think they will weaken in any substantial way

PRINCETON STAR TO COACH AT IDAHO

Will Help Hecstomer in His Campaign of Winning More Championships to Moscow.

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, July 23.—The appointment of Ralph F. Hutchinson, former Princeton star and mentor, as assistant coach for the University of Idaho, is the first step in starting the university team on another championship series according to W. C. Hecstomer, physical director of the university. Hutchinson will begin work with the university squads about September 15, when the fall quarter opens.

Hutchinson, well known to easterners as one of the greatest quarterbacks in Princeton's football history, and who has a wide experience as coach, has been located at Washington and Jefferson college during the last year.

Although Hutchinson did not graduate from Princeton, he was a member of the class of 1902 and played on two championship teams. In 1909 he was a member of the Princeton eleven of goals and thus end the championship over Yale and is said to have been largely responsible for the victory.

After coaching at Texas, City, New Mexico and turning out excellent records of punny scrippets, he took the job at Washington and Jefferson where he has been working ever since. He will take charge of the football and track work here this winter.

WHEN THE HAM IS COOKED AT HOME (By Diddy Bye)

By these days when ready prepared meats have reached "um" extravagant prices...

Boiled ham, bought by the pound, costs from 60 to 75 cents, while a smoked ham, to be cooked at home, can be bought at from 25 to 40 cents a pound.

After removing the ham the modern economical housewife will strain carefully the water in which it cooked and store it in jars for flavoring soups and cooked vegetables.

For a baked ham, remove the outside skin of the boiled ham and stick the fatty surface with whole cloves, 1-2 inch apart, over the whole surface.
