ATTORNEY REVIVES OLD TIME CHARGES

Lays Before Congress Allegations Sustained Against Railroad's Under 'Old Regime'

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—The railroad brotherhoods through their counsel, Glenn F. Plumb, today laid before the home intrusts committee their charges of corruption in the management of the railroads under private control. The charges were that many of the great railway systems had been plundered systematically by financial interests and that the railroads illegally held millions of acres of public lands.

Eighteen representative railroads of the country, the brotherhood attorney asserted, have since aggregating $450,000,000 between 1909 and 1913 as bonuses and paid millions of dollars in dividends on these bonuses. These same railroads, he further charged, "were controlled in whole or in part by the Morgan interests, the Rockefeller interests and the Gould interests."

Coupled with the charges which came just before the house committee closed its hearings on organized labor's bill for elimination of preference rights from 75- and 90-day contracts, the demand by Mr. Plumb, that congress make a thorough investigation of the matter so that the American people may know to what extent it is sought to subject them to "exploitation" under the plans proposed for future disposition of the railroads.

There was no intimation as to what course the committee might take in regard to the request for an investigation. Chairman Isaac thence indicated that to go into the charges would be like traveling over old ground, as they had been thrashed out long ago. Plumb told the committee that he either had the evidence to support every charge or knew where it could be obtained.

A. B. Garretson, former head of the order of Railway Conductors, declared with utmost frankness, that if a vote were taken today the country probably would reject his charges. He explained, however, that this would be due to general suspicion against new things, and he predicted that it would be endorsed.

and adopted in the distant future. The opinion was expressed by Mr. Garretson that there had been no fair test of government operation of railroads, because the railroads since being taken over had been operated by officials who were opposed to government ownership and wanted to demonstrate that it was not best, for the country.

With the filing of Plumb's charges, the committee concluded hearings on the plan for public ownership of the play-operations of the railroads and will take up later the plans to be offered by security holders and railway executives, both of which, labor officials testified were more radical than the plan framed by Mr. Plumb and endorsed by the brotherhoods. It probably will be a month before the committee can make a final report.

Outposts at Five Mile Intervals Along Mexican Border Put Stop to Raids.

NOGALVES, Ariz., Aug. 12.—United States infantry outposts at five-mile intervals along the Mexican border in the Nogales sub-district have almost eliminated cattle rustling from the Mexican side, according to army officers here. Outposts are located on high points along the border equipped with machine guns and Browning rifles. Between these outposts negro infantrymen patrol the border. Mexican officials are cooperating with the American army and officers have ordered all woods-hopping camps to be removed five miles from the border to prevent their being used as a screen for smuggling and the Mexican officials also promised to return to the American cattle found on the Mexican side.

CLOSE ARGUMENTS IN FORD'S CASE

Court Will Prepare Instructions to Be Presented to the Jury Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Aug. 12.—The evidence and the final argument in Henry Ford's $1,000,000 libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune are all in. The last word was spoken by Alfred Lucking, senior counsel for plaintiff today. Tomorrow Judge Tucker will formulate his instructions and Thursday he will deliver them to the jury. The final appeal on behalf of the defendants was by Attorney Elliott G. Stevenson, opposing Mr. Lucking.

The issue was squarely joined, Mr. Stevenson contending that Mr. Ford was arrested in June, 1914, when the Tribune published an article which was in fact untrue, and Mrs. Lucking asserting that there was no man in the United States after their removal from anarchy.

Mr. Stevenson read statement after statement from the Ford papers, newspaper and magazine articles, and the writings of Emma Gibson, and declared that the jury could not tell what was Goldman and which was Ford.

Mr. Lucking characterized the address of Mr. Stevenson as a powerful appeal to the passions and prejudices of the jury.

"The suit is being watched all over the continent, perhaps beyond," said Mr. Lucking, "and it calls for careful attention at your hands and every element of the extraneous has been eliminated."

"Is you must hear in a moment when you consider damages," said Mr. Lucking. The lawyer drew a distinction between "president and government."

"When President Wilson asks Congress for legislation he is not the government," when Congress passes that legislation and it becomes law, and the president puts it into execution, he is the government," said the advocate. He pointed out that in arguing against increasing the national guard in 1916, Mr. Ford was opposing President Wilson but not the government.

The Ford lawyer took up the question of the right of a citizen to comment on the acts of the government, and asserted that the right existed with regard to comment on views but not comment on activities.

The speaker insisted that it was the "pro-Germanism" of the Tribune which led it to advocate intervention in Mexico, and that the attack on Mr. Ford was due to a malicious resentment of his opposition. He emphasized that while the newspapers paid the employees while they were with the national guard on the border, it did not do so in the war against Germany.

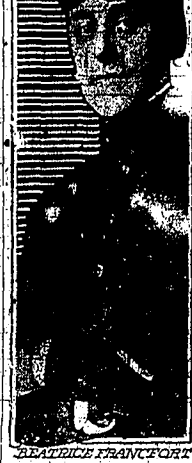

"The Tribune was not interested in the great war; it opposed it to the last," said Mr. Lucking.

FINDS HUNAL GROUND FOR FOAMING ANCIENT TRIBE OF ISLANDS

PRESENT, Ariz., Aug. 12.—That the Spane Creek mesa, 16 miles east of Grand Canyon, was the burial ground of an ancient tribe of dwarfs is the opinion of H. Loomis, prospector, who says he recently discovered portions of a native skeleton there.

In the old graves the prospector found a cupful of turquoise and small pieces of ancient pottery, some of which have been sent to the University of Arizona and the committee at the Smithsonian institution.

All the bones found were deemed a diminutive race, Loomis said.

APRICOTS CLIMB TO $100 PER TON

Export Demand From Packers Is Cause of Unprecedented Prices for Fruit.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 12.—One hundred dollars a ton—fifty cents a pound. That is the price to which apricots in southern California have climbed this season. As a result, the crop in this section of the state will return to growers more than $75,000,000. Never before in the history of the industry has the fruit reached these prices.

The rapid rise in the market value of the fruit is due to the post-war demand of foreign nations, according to the growers. Prior to the war, apricots sold in the Los Angeles market at approximately $20 a ton for the highest grade fruit. Hundreds of tons of fruit were available and growers suffered heavy losses.

SCENIC RAILROAD IS TO BE NO MORE

Famous Denver, Boulder & Western Will Tear Up Its Tracks—Was Switzerland Trail.

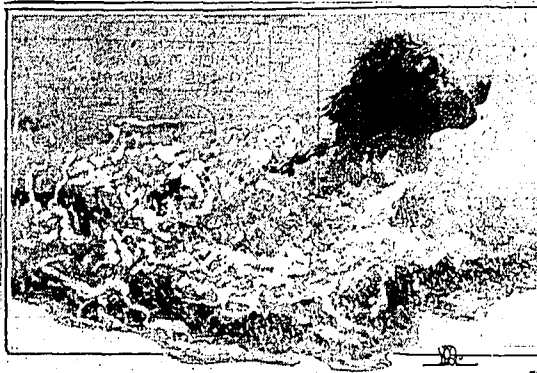

By the Associated Press.
BOULDER, Colo., Aug. 12.—The "Switzerland Trail of America" has reached its last milestone. By order of the state public utilities commission, the Denver, Boulder and Western railway company, whose tracks traverse some of the most impressive mountain districts in the United States will be ordered to discontinue service at midnight, September 15, 1919.

Despite recently increased rates, the road has suffered a deficit of $8007 during the first five months of the current year. Rapid development of motor truck transportation and automobile tours have worked against the success of the enterprise.

From the beginning of the history of the road and that of its predecessors, failure has hovered over the project. Cloudburys which washed out the bed, miscalculation regarding the volume of ore shipments and irreconcilable competition are factors in its doom.

The railroad has 46 miles of track and employs 36 men.

THE REST-PERIOD

The National Industrial Conference board reports that "rest periods" are really more restful than most people suppose. They say, "reducing the number of hours worked per day does not appear so efficacious in avoiding the diminution of working capacity as introducing a 10 or 15 minute pause during the middle of the forenoon."

Of course this is true within limits. Brief rest periods could not overcome the ill effects of intense effort put forth over an unduly prolonged period. Nor could a 15-minute rest period in the forenoon completely compensate for working through an abnormally long day.

On the whole, however, it is true that a brief rest taken in time gives just the necessary strength to relieve the strain of the working day. This is particularly true of monotonous processes. Whether the rest period is used simply for a few minutes of quiet thought, or whether it is spent in exercise, in chatting with fellow workers in eating a light lunch of a sandwich, a glass of milk or a piece of milk chocolate, it has its effect in relaxing the strain on muscles or eyes. It sends the worker back to his task remarkably refreshed and enables him to finish the day wholesomely tired instead of wholly exhausted.

This is a fact which some wise housekeepers have discovered for themselves and which teachers have used effectively in a two or three-minute relaxation in the school room. Brain workers need it as well as physical laborers. Employees need not fear the introduction of the rest period, for it is not intended as a substitute for a working day of sane length. Employers in general will find it not an upsetter of routine but an actual increaser of output.

KILLING KINDNESS

Autoists are supposed to be very good natured individuals, always glad to help some one in distress and generally inclined to give weary pedestrians a "lift" along the way. But either they are becoming hardened to the joys of motoring or there are some who do not live up to their reputation for courtesy, for complaints are sometimes heard of ungrateful autoists.

One woman, living near a favorite motor thoroughfare, says that she has always until lately been glad to help automobilists who have had difficulties near her home. But she has begun to feel that her kindness is wasted.

A driver came to her house one evening and asked for a pair of pliers. She loaned them readily. The man took them out to his car, repaired the faulty part and drove off with the pliers. Another time an auto party stopped for lack of gasoline. They called upon the woman and asked if she had any. She handed out a large jug containing the necessary "gas." In this case gasoline and jug both followed the way of the pliers. The party drove off without even offering to pay for the material they appropriated.

Another party came into her yard for sticks of wood to help in jacking up their car. She allowed them to take cord wood from a neat pile by her kitchen door. When the repairs were completed the party drove on, leaving the sticks scattered near the roadway.

Perhaps this woman has been unfortunate in her experiences. Nevertheless these true stories are worth meditating upon. Too many people are inclined to abuse kindness and to accept favors without the gratitude and courtesy which are so easy to give and so pleasant to receive.

FOOLS AND THEIR MONEY

Three people who hoped to get something for as little as possible bought a farm from a New Jersey man. They bought it because he told them the spirit of Captain Kidd had appeared to him and informed him that there was a quantity of treasure buried in a certain spot, which spot he pointed out to his customers.

Of course when the poor, credulous fools had paid their money and dug up the entire farm they found no trace of doubloons or any other treasure.

Now they have brought suit in the courts against the man, and what he did not get from them the lawyers will.

These things will go on happening while people are people; but it does seem as if, after the course of centuries, even the fools would learn their folly.

Any article sold for what is apparently an absurdly low cost, any investment which promises an unusually high rate of interest, any exchange whereby one person seems to give an unprecedented value for what he receives is to be regarded with suspicion.

There are open to everybody safe, legitimate avenues for investment and saving. The wise man will cling to these. But for the protection of the fool, there must be stiffer laws, sterner punishments for the cheat and the seller of bad securities.

KEEPING THEM ON THE FARM

It was feared in many quarters that farmer boys who have been in service in army or navy would not return to the farm. Before the war the movement away from the farm had become one of our national problems. It looked as if the sudden and complete breakaway from farm work to military service covering a period covering a period anywhere from a few months to two years' duration, would make the farm even less attractive. Such is not the case, however, according to recent reports.

Colonel Arthur Woods, assistant to the secretary of war and head of the government's employment work for returned soldiers and sailors, has made some interesting statements on this subject. He says that 98.2 per cent of service men brought up on farms are returning to them immediately upon their discharge. Of the other 1.8 per cent, more than half are physically disabled and unfit for heavy outdoor work.

This does not alter the fact of the shortage in farm labor. There were not enough farm workers before the war. Today, with vastly increased need for food production, more labor than ever before is wanted on the farms. It would not be amiss for a large number of city-bred discharged service men to try farm work for awhile. It would give them the outdoor life the army has made them crave and would help to solve a big production problem.

PROHIBITION TROUBLES

The alcoholic ward of the Philadelphia general hospital has been closed—no patients look at the middle of July.

"Look at the poor doctors, thrown out of jobs by prohibition!" comments one paper.

No sympathy is needed. The county jails throughout the country are finding it necessary to hire janitors because there are no more drunks to work out their fines by doing the janitor work. If the doctors can't find anything else to do, they might get jobs as jail janitors.

TO TRY MANY FOR BUDAPEST CRIMES

Hesperis (Hesperis) in Berlin that Bela Kun had Much Money Walled Up in His Home.

By the Associated Press.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 12.—A special dispatch to the National Zeitung from Budapest, says that 21 people's communistic, 52 workmen's councilors and 156 terrorists who have been arrested, charged with crime, will be tried shortly.

The newspaper says that 18,000 crowns were found walled up in the home of Bela Kun, the former dictator and that the hastily abandoned plunder of the late Tibor Samuely, comprising of seven great cases and a roll of valuable Persian carpets and gold and silverware, including silver plate from the collection of Archduke Frederick, was found concealed in a convent in Odenburg.

During the Hohenzollern reign of terror, the National Zeitung's correspondent asserts, 656 persons are said to have been executed. For three executions the revolutionary tribunal declared to carry responsibility for only 24, the others being laid to the account of Rathenau, and his associates. As a result of these executions the communists, especially in the provinces are being hurried and man-handled or worse. Premier Friedrich announces the creation of a state court to punish communist crimes.

THROUGH CHEER AT SIGHT OF PRINCE

ST. JOHN'S, Aug. 12.—The Prince of Wales was accorded an enthusiastic reception upon his arrival here at noon today. Everywhere cheering crowds greeted him and he was welcomed by provinces and city officials at every turn from the water front to parliament.

The prince held the cornerstone of the Methodist Episcopal colleges new structure.

At the steps of parliament he presented his waving memento to 35 horses who acted in recuing the survivors of the wrecked liner Florio off Cape Race last year.

The prince later inspected both houses of parliament, and sat in the lordship officers' chair.

Later he played a round of golf at the country club.

MANY WISH TO BE AT CARNEGIE RITES

Arrangements for Services Over Body of Late Iron Master Are Mattered.

By the Associated Press. L'RONOX, Minn., Aug. 12.—The number of those who will hear the funeral rites over the body of Andrew Carnegie at 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning will be greater than was expected. It was originally planned to have those at the service limited closely, but since the death of the one great iron master, word has been received from more and more of his close associates and the list of those expected has gradually expanded.

Rev. Dr. William Plerson Merrill, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church of New York, of which Mr. Carnegie is a member, will officiate, assisted by Rev. Benson Wyman, pastor of the Lenox Congregational church.

The plans for the removal of Tarrytown, N. Y., have been withheld as it is the wish of the family that the transfer be made with as little publicity as possible. There were few callers today at Shadow Brook.

Great Britain Buys. Great Britain, the intension found, has come "to consider the dominance of the air as at least of equal importance with that of the sea and is frankly and avowedly planning a definite policy of aerial development to that end."

Navy Man Disagrees. The air department proposed in the report was not approved by the entire membership of the mission, Captain Muttin, the navy representative, expressing the opinion in an accompanying memorandum that the question was left open pending further investigation.

The department, as outlined by the report, would consist of a civilian secretary-for-air, a civilian assistant secretary in charge of management and operation of the government, five or more divisional heads acting as chiefs of sub-departments, and an advisory air council.

Establishment and mapping of flying fields in strategic locations suitable for military use. Equipment of all flying routes and fields at national expense with signaling and communication systems. Development of a meteorological service to aid flyers. Creation either at government expense or by private enterprise under government regulation of training facilities.

French Editor Declares That Europe Is Now Like a Bunch of Indians.

Dreadnaughts and Cruisers Attraction for Curious People of Southern California.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Aug. 12. Still the center of attraction, the new Pacific fleet, lying in Los Angeles harbor, was visited on the fourth day of its stay by many thousands of residents of Los Angeles and inland southern California. Many of the visitors were "repeaters." They had been here before and like the fleet so well that they had to come again. On their first visit they had inspected a dreadnaught and had come, again to see a destroyer and vice versa, in order to become thoroughly familiar with the different types of vessels which will guard the west coast.

LODGE SPEECH UPSETS USUAL SENATE RULES

enough" Republicans then could be lined up to insure success of the movement, the democratic leaders give assent. Go-Along Miller. The uproar in the senate chamber followed an equally tumultuous session of the foreign relations committee, at which David Hunter Miller, legal adviser to the league of nations commission, was vigorously questioned by republican senators about the genesis of the league covenant and the meaning of some of its provisions. Clashes over the manner of questioning the witness resulted repeatedly in intervention by the chamber to restore order.

SWEEPSTAKES

Answers were objected to several times by republican members as evasive. On some of the questions he reserved judgment.

It was the opinion of committee members, however, that Mr. Miller would not be recalled and that no further witnesses would be asked to come before the committee in its consideration of the treaty. Some members want to ask that Colonel House, who will be in Europe, be called to answer questions about the league, but the general expectation is that the proposal will be abandoned because too great a delay would result.

MAJORITY LOOP

The republican senators who have agreed on a reservation program are anxious that the treaty be disposed of at the earliest possible moment, and it is believed they will try to impress that sentiment at the forthcoming conferences with Senator Lodge and others.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, greyned and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home, we are getting the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyn's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply wash your hair with it 2 or 3 times with a comb and draw through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and what delights the ladies with Wyn's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that it beautifies naturally darkening the hair after a few applications. It also produces that soft and lustrous appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, with the fact that while I am a citizen of

HURL CHARGES AT MINISTERS; URGE ECONOMY

Extravagance of Government Alleged in Commons by Opposition.

CHURCHILL DEFENDS; RETRENCHMENT ASSURED

Utilization of Aviation Reduced Costs of African Struggle, Says Gen. Seely.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—In the house of commons tonight the ministers had to listen to strong criticism of the extravagance of the government in the matter of armaments, but Winston Churchill, secretary for war, in a general defense of the government, said he was able to promise considerable retrenchment in this direction. His speech betrayed that the government was trying as far as possible to meet the popular demands for greater economy.

Major General J. E. B. Seely, under secretary for air, in the course of his speech, made the point that the efficient air force had saved the country millions in money and thousands in lives this year in connection with the troubles in Afghanistan and Egypt, where campaigns were carried out at slight cost as compared to the heavy cost in money and life in similar campaigns conducted by Lord Roberts and Wodey.

The Rt. Honorable George Lansbury, liberal, challenged the government to say what it considered the peace time strength of the air force likely to be, and when the colossal expenditure on military aviation abroad would cease. He declared the government had lost the confidence of the country by the huge expenditure in every government department.

Mr. Churchill, in defense of the policy, said that through its government it was beginning to retain control over expenditure. The latter, however, was still dependent upon military commitments abroad, the policy continued, but already it had been agreed with France that by the end of October the British forces on the Rhine may be reduced to a single brigade, including an air force of a single squadron.

The delayed peace with Turkey and Bulgaria had the opposition in Mesopotamia prevented the introduction of large forces, while the Irish-English was strongly opposed to reducing the Irish garrison.

"The government is making earnest inquiries whether it is not possible by the free employment of armaments and swift tanks and a judicious arrangement of railways and airplanes to greatly reduce our armies in these regions," Mr. Churchill declared. "It was hopeful that it might be possible to reduce the costly British forces by half."

Mr. Safeguard Army. Mr. Churchill said he believed that four or five years hence it would be found the best course for the armed forces of the crown would be to aim at scientific efficiency in quality, rather than at mere numbers or instant readiness for action. He fully agreed with the course that reduction in the cost of armaments was the first need. Great Britain had to face, but declared that he would not be responsible for the maintenance of the army during the years which followed immediately on the war, or for any policy which denied the air force a permanent, effective and independent state of existence.

PRODUCERS TO FIGHT SPREAD OF WALK-OUT

an appeal to all actors to join the walk-out.

Although members of the Actors Equity association are appearing at at least three other theaters, the management of these houses said they had not been involved.

The first announcement came from the Cort theater after William Courtney sent a note to the effect that he would not appear tonight. The second principal to refuse to appear was Grant Mitchell who had been appearing at Cohen's Grand.

In anticipation of a possible strike by the members of the company at the Woods theater, Manager S. J. Rosenthal thought had his attorney prepare a petition for an injunction to be filed in court tomorrow morning against the company of the Actors Equity association and members of the company. The petition as prepared would seek to restrain them from "breaking the contract with the complainant."

None of the companies at theaters other than the Cort and Cohen's appeared to have been crippled.

Prior to the receipt of the telegram from the actors' headquarters in New York, all programmed actors appearing here had received a message from H. H. Southern of New York, who represents the actors from the Actors Equity association, asking if they would join him and others in forming a new actors' organization "for maintaining the dignity and bettering the conditions of the American theatre."

LEAGUE MEETING TO BE WELL ATTENDED

Much Interest Being Manifested in Thursday Gathering—Starts at 8:30 For Next Year's Convention.

Interest in the American Legion meeting which will be held Thursday evening at Park hall is manifest among service men of the entire surrounding country.

Many matters of importance are to be decided at the meeting in addition to the forming of a permanent organization. The Twin Falls post hopes to make the next state meeting of the Idaho organization one that will long be remembered throughout the state as a successful gathering.

Members of the old company "19" are receiving special invitation to be present at the meeting. The 66th depot brigade, of which company 19 was a part, sent a representative to Park at the first meeting of the organization.

A draft of a constitution and by-laws will be presented to the meeting following which there will be an election of officers.

The meeting will convene at 8 o'clock.

DENKINE MAKES STRONG ADVANCE

Two Crack Bolshevik Regiments Are Completely Shattered in Split of Stubborn Resistance.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—General Denkin's advance is continuing along the greater part of the southern Russian front amidst considerable Bolshevik resistance, the war office announced tonight, Kamishin, which was taken on July 25, yielded 11,000 prisoners, 40 guns, 150 machine guns and an immense amount of war material. It was added.

Two crack Bolshevik regiments were completely shattered. Denkin's cavalry, pushing outward toward the Urbach-Astrakhan railroad, have effected a junction with the Urals caucuses who form the left wing of the Kolchak army near Lake Udon, says the statement.

"There is now a united anti-Bolshevik front along the whole of east and south Russia from the northern Urals to the northwest corner of the Black sea, and only 500 miles separate Denkin from the Rumanian army."

"Further south, along the middle Danube, a Bolshevik force has been routed east of Kremenchuk, with the loss of a thousand prisoners. When Poltava was taken the Bolsheviks lost 137 railroad engines, two armored trains, 1,200 cars, 20 guns and much ammunition. The population of the liberated cities display the greatest enthusiasm over the Bolshevik defeat."

DANIELS ABOARD FOR PEARL HARBOR

STREET RAILWAYS IN SERIOUS SHAPE

Motor Vehicle Competition and Rising Costs Certain to Add to the Condition.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Whisper today before the federal electric railways commission were in agreement that the financial situation of the companies was serious and probably would grow worse because of rising costs and motor vehicle competition.

Remedies suggested ranged from the proposal of Mayor Cousins of Detroit for municipal ownership and operation of urban lines to suggestions by state utility commissioners that revenue be increased. The companies were represented by those of Michigan, Connecticut and Rhode Island.

P. P. Ingram of Detroit, a retired manufacturer, suggested public ownership of the street car plants, a non-profit "charge" and absorption of any operating deficit by taxation of the land values accrued by the street.

Mayor Cousins, however, contended that only by sociological treatment of the matter could any real approach be made toward furnishing the public with "comfortable and decent transportation. For the present, the Detroit mayor said, he favored municipal ownership and operation at a reasonable rate of fare, but said ultimately he might gladly come to believe that the street car lines should be as free as the highways and maintained at public expense as are the highways.

Most of the state commission representatives who testified favored cooperative control over the trolley lines by municipalities and state commission, the latter having review powers."

MAKE PLEA FOR A WORLD REVOLUTION

Secret Spartan Circular Urges People to Make a General Study of Bolshevism.

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, Monday, Aug. 12.—A plan to overthrow the present government and further world revolution is contained in a secret Spartan circular to "its allies" and "disgraced" chiefs. The document, which was captured by the "general bureau" for the study of Bolshevism," begins by regretting that the government signed the peace treaty, the recovery delaying the inevitable crisis.

The document sets forth a concrete plan, the first step of which would hasten an internal German crisis by tampering with the home guards, which are declared to be less reliable than formerly. The circular urges the Spartans to endeavor to agitate among the soldiers by leaflets and verbally. The returned men, the document says, can already be counted as won for revolution.

The postal workers are depressed, according to the circular, which goes on to say that the program with regard to the peasants is complete. The capture of the peasants is declared to be important.

CONDEMNNS PLAN TO PROSECUTE KAISER

Italian Commission Declared Such a Move Is Poor Politics—Will Sign Treaty.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, Aug. 12.—Deputy Stoppato, a leading member of the parliamentary commission which is studying the peace treaty, in an interview today condemned the treaty's provision for the punishment of those responsible for the war and trial of the former German emperor as a mistake opposed to all the rules of modern judicial procedure.

"I certainly do not defend the Kaiser, who is more than a criminal, but his trial would be a mistake from the political viewpoint," Stoppato said. "There certainly should be obtained a guarantee of international safety against further troubles, but this will not be found in the trial of the Kaiser."

"How can we speak of penal trial against a sovereign, without considering the constitution of his country and the thought and will of his people. Was he the exclusive cause of everything that was the executor of the people's will. In his trial, accusers and judge would be the same. It would be impossible to secure an impartial and impartial judge among his prosecutors. A judge must be sought among the neutrals who would be unwilling to assume the responsibility of presiding over the court."

"If there is nothing about international morality in the international code of law, there exist a treaty which establishes punishments for violation of treaties."

"If Holland will protect her neutrality and international faith she will then charge against the Kaiser."

"If an extradition law existing in these provisions for the extradition of one accused of the same crime as those charged against his Kaiser. "This attitude does not mean that we are not going to ratify the treaty. We accept all the points of the German treaty without any change in the original draft. We simply wish to feel that we have published our view on this important matter, in which a mistake might be committed."

"THE CRISIS"

Directed by Colin Campbell, Who Made "The Spies."

"The Crisis" will fascinate and thrill you because: It portrays a human Lincoln. Heretofore the film-makers have taken the newer and broader drama of the screen have been mere historical figureheads. Says Thomas A. Edison: "In 'The Crisis' we have the Titanic drama of Lincoln, his actions, his characteristics preserved for posterity in moving pictures in a manner so true to life that it recalls to my mind the Great Emancipator as I knew him."

POINTS OF NOTE

A delicate and beautiful romance, involving North and South in the border city of St. Louis, is told. The play follows closely the novel, which has had a great popular success, and has now taken its place among the classics of American fiction.

The slave market of old St. Louis is reproduced, with an auction sale of human chattels in progress.

Lincoln and Douglas debate the fiery question that finally set the country in a blaze of Civil war: "Can the people of a United States territory, in any lawful way, against the wish of any citizen of the United States, exclude slavery from its limits prior to the formation of a state constitution?"

The forelorn campaign of the winter, with its chute party of the backwoods, is shown, culminating in the Battle of Appomattox, Lincoln.

Fort Sumter is bombarded, and the American flag falls for the first time before the hostile fire of an internal enemy.

A nation rushes to arms at the call of a raw-boned humorist, who is destined to become the sublime man of sorrow.
