Governors in Conference Will Urge Congress to appropriate $100,000,000 More for Purpose

By the Associated Press.
Salt Lake, Utah, Aug. 20.—After the war problems and a resume of 1919 legislation were the subjects discussed at the one session here today of the eleventh annual governors' conference. Twenty governors expressed their willingness to sign individually, but not as the government conference, a resolution prepared by Governor Henry J. Allen of Kansas, directed to congress, asking that the federal government make an additional appropriation of $100,000,000 for the building of roads to be expended by the states within the next five years. The resolution provides that states will be required to contribute dollar for dollar in the road building, but in states where increase of sparse population or other difficulties, road building under the proposed program becomes a burden, there may be given authority to extend a larger sum of federal money.

The governors also announced that individually they would sign a resolution prepared by Governor O. A. Larrabee of New Mexico in congress asking that the public domain of the United States, 22,000,000 acres of which are situated in the eleven arid states, be ceded to the states in which the public lands are situated.
Discussing educational legislation, Governor J. B. A. Robertson of Oklahoma declared that there is something fundamentally wrong with the common school system of the country. "The states are making the universal the base of the educational pyramid and the common school the apex, when the procedure should be vice versa," he said. "The common schools are not meeting the requirements of the people."

Wild, Spirited Flames Started Now in Forests in North Idaho

MRSOLA, Mont., Aug. 20.—Federal forest service officials of district number 1, embracing Montana and northern Idaho, announced today the fires in the forests are the most serious in the history of the district. In addition to new fires and old fires being fanned by high winds, fires started by incendiaries were reported. In the Clearwater forest a forest service telephone wire was fouled in six places, and the ends wrapped around trees. Forest officials said a crew of five fire fighters retreating from a blaze had left the forest along the route followed by the telephone line just before communication was interrupted. As a result it has been impossible to obtain information from the Clearwater forest or get calls for men which might have been sent out.

New fires were reported in many parts of the district. In the Salmon mountain district of the Hitter Root, forest fires burned uncontrolled south of the Hitter Root valley. The Whittier fires also escaped control lines.

Three lookout stations in the Selway forest of central Idaho were abandoned because of the smoke making it impossible for the lookouts to work. The blaze in the Cabinet forest was reported sweeping down Swamp creek over a 35-mile front. The Cold creek fire near St. Regis, the largest in the district, which recently was placed within control lines, again burst forth and is burning viciously. The Kootenai forest has several serious blazes.

KOREAN REFORMS WRUNG FROM JAPS

Civil Government Displaces Military Rule—Privileges of People Are Restored

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Local self-government for Korea and reforms looking toward home rule, are announced in an imperial rescript issued yesterday in Tokio and received here today at the Japanese embassy. The military government has been abolished and succeeded by a civil one. The military government, so much under criticism of late, is to be replaced by a civilian police force entirely under civilian control. A system of village and town municipal government based on popular suffrage also is to be undertaken.

Probably most important of all, from the Korean point of view, the rescript by the emperor of Japan provided that Koreans shall have the same privileges and legal rights as Japanese. Heretofore Japanese have been a privileged class.

Daron Saito, former minister of state, and one of the best known of Japanese statesmen, becomes governor general, succeeding Marshal Hasegawa. Mr. Mitsuomi, former minister of interior in the Kato cabinet, succeeds Director General Yamagata in administration.

A COMMUNITY always welcomes the establishing of an institution that fills a recognized community need; unfortunately it doesn't always manifest a lively interest in the health of such an institution after it is established.

It is one thing to establish industries; it is quite another thing to build up, develop and maintain them.

An industry can be established by the investment of capital; its development and maintenance depend upon the attitude of the public toward the enterprise and toward the product.

Likewise, the permanency of an institution depends upon the willingness of its customers to pay a sufficient price for its product to enable it to continue strong and healthy financially.

The Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Company's system of wires, furnishing the means of communication over mountains, plains and desert, is a tremendous factor in the development of the West.

Telephone service is a "home product" of every community in the mountain states, and is woven into the very warp and woof of commercial and social life. The permanency and adequacy of telephone service depend upon the same factors as are involved in the security and permanency of every other established industry.

With very, very few exceptions the people of the West recognize these principles and pursue a "live and let live" policy toward all legitimate business institutions.

HINES MAY ACT ON ADVENTURE SHIP WAGE DEMANDS SAILS FROM NOME

Shippers' Protest With President but Give Not Hint to Public of His Purpose.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Early today to settle in the ranks of railroad employees who have been demanding new wage increases were forecast today.

After a lengthy conference with the representatives of the six ship-crafts, Director General Hines went to the White House to discuss with President Wilson the problems facing the railroad administration. While no announcement was made, it was understood that the entire situation was being reviewed, including the obvious necessity for an increase in rates or another congressional appropriation to provide funds for any wage advances that may be made.

Mr. Hines promised the shippers' leaders that he would give careful consideration to all the requests and would endeavor to reach a final decision in the near future, indicating that he will order into effect any changes in the wage scale without referring the demands to a board for investigation. All the shippers' demands were presented in the spring to the board of railway wages and working conditions, which took extensive testimony and then divided evenly for and against a raise. Delay in acting on the demands eventually resulted in the recent unauthorized strikes in many sections of the country.

Leaders of the shippers, outlining the reasons for their demands, said that they did not rest primarily on the increased cost of living, although that was a contributing factor, but were based on the proposition that the wages of railroad shippers ought to be more in line with wages for similar work in other industries. It was claimed by the union officials that the wages paid rail shippers were 10 to 20 per cent lower than those paid shippers in private industries and in shipyards and navy yards under government control. The minimum rate paid by the railroads now is 88 cents an hour, which is about 25 per cent advanced to 85 cents, an increase of 25 per cent.

Until the shippers' demands are out of the way, Mr. Hines is not taking up the demands of other classes of employees, virtually all of whom want more money.

Robert "Boss" Stevenson's Old Craft Boats Globe Trotters in Quest of Gold.

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 20.—Twenty-nine weather-bronzed explorers ballooning from every quarter of the globe and bound for some mysterious gold country of northern Siberia, left here tonight aboard the sailing schooner "Congo," on the property of Robert "Boss" Stevenson.

Fears were expressed by Nome residents before the boat left that it would not be able to get through into the Arctic because as reports received here recently said the Bering Straits were still blocked with ice.

Members of the ship's company said they were bound for some point in a vast uninhabited territory lying along the Arctic shore of Siberia between East Cape and the Lena river. They would not divulge the exact location of their destination.

The party is known as the Northern Mining and Trading company and is led by R. T. McClure, a mining engineer of Hamilton, Tex., president of the company. A. L. Johnson, another of the party, is vice president. Captain C. L. Oliver is master of the adventure ship.

With the exception of the destination there is little mystery about the expedition, McClure said while here. He asserted that the party possess certain knowledge about the country for which they are heading and are aiming to explore the section, and find what it contains. No rich gold strikes are expected, he declared. The Congo was sent back from the north this fall after landing her passengers at their destination.

RAISE VALUE OF LAND IN COUNTY

State Equalization Board Makes An Average $98.75 An Acre Increase of 25 Per Cent.

Agricultural land values in Twin Falls county have been raised 25 per cent for assessment purposes. Word that the values had been increased were received yesterday. The county assessor, J. C. Shipp, said the office of State Auditor C. H. Smith the increase was made by the state board of equalization.

Under the increase the average value of the agricultural land in the county will be $85.75, an increase of $15 as made by the assessor. This change in the land value means much more work for the county recorder's office, said Mr. Shipp yesterday, as the assessment roll includes all holders of agricultural lands must be raised.

Whether or not rate values will be increased has not yet been accurately ascertained by the county recorder. Reports have been circulating that the valuation of cities and towns would be greatly increased if the state board which is now sitting in the capital city.

High cost of living is given as the cause for the increased valuations. Recent reports from Idaho stated that three times as much money as has been used to run the state government in the past will be needed to cover the running year, because of increased cost.

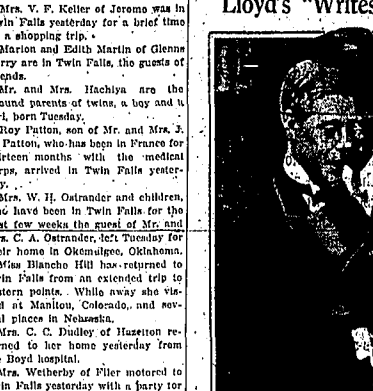

This increase in assessed values is the second event within the past two weeks showing the effect of H. C. C. on taxation. Twin Falls City Council recently increased the assessed value of city property from $15 million to $7.1 million.

Take a Glass of Salls to Flush Kidneys If Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, or asthenias, bladder and urinal troubles.

The moment your back hurts, your kidneys aren't acting right, or your bladder bothers you, get about five ounces of Salls from any apothecary, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will be the act time. This famous Salls is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithin, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acid in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder diseases.

Jud Salls cannot injure anyone, makes a delightful effervescent thirst-water drink which millions of men and women take now, and thus keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney diseases.

HINES MAY ACT ON RY WAGE DEMANDS

Discusses Problem With President, but Gives Not Hint to Public of His Purpose.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Early action to settle the threat in the ranks of railroad employees who have been demanding new wage increases were forecast today.

After a lengthy conference with the representatives of the six shop crafts, Director General Hines went to the White House to discuss with President Wilson the problems facing the railroad administration. While no announcement was made, it was understood that the entire question was under review, including the obvious necessity for an increase in rates of another congressional appropriation to provide funds for any wage advance that may be made, since the administration has been incurring a deficit every month this year due to the falling off in business and the higher cost of labor and materials.

Mr. Hines promised the shopmen's leaders that he would give careful consideration to all the facts presented and would endeavor to reach a final decision in the near future, indicating that he will order into effect any changes in the wage scale without referring the demands to a board for investigation. The shopmen's demands were presented in the spring to the board of railway wages and working conditions, which took extensive testimony and then decided evenly for and against a rate. Delay in acting on the demands eventually resulted in the recent unauthorized strikes in many sections of the country.

Leaders of the shopmen, outlining the reasons for their demands, said that they did not rest primarily on the increased cost of living, although that was a contributing factor, but were based on the proposition that the wages of railroad shopmen ought to be more in line with wages for similar work in other industries. It was claimed by the union officials that the wages paid railroad shopmen are materially lower than those paid shopmen in private industries and in shipyards and navy yards under government control. The minimum rate paid by the railroads now is 68 cents an hour, which is asked to be advanced to 85 cents, an increase of 25 per cent.

Until the shopmen's demands are out of the way, Mr. Hines is not taking up the demands of other classes of employes, virtually all of whom want more money.

ADVENTURE SHIP SAILS FROM NOME

Robert Louis Stevenson's Old Craft Bears Globe Traders in Quest of Gold.

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 20.—Twenty-nine weather bronzed explorers hauling from every quarter of the globe and bound for some mysterious gold country of northern Siberia, left here tonight aboard the sailing schooner Casa, once the property of Robert Louis Stevenson.

They were expressed by Nome residents before the boat left that it would not be able to get through into the Arctic ocean as reports received here recently said the Bering Straits were still blocked with ice.

Members of the ship's company said they were bound for some point in a vast uncharted territory lying along the Arctic shore of Siberia between East Cape and the Lena river. They would not divulge the exact location of their destination.

The party is known as the Northern Mining and Trading company and is led by E. L. McGirk, a mining engineer of Hamilton, Tex., president of the company. A. L. Johnson, master of the party, is vice president. Captain C. L. Oliver is master of the adventure ship.

With the exception of the destination there is little mystery about the expedition, McGirk said while here. He asserted that the party possess certain knowledge about the country for which they are heading and are aiming to explore the section and find what it contains. No rich gold strikes are expected, he declared.

The Casa may be sent back from the north this fall after landing her passengers at their destination.

The superintendent of schools very kindly requests people who have rooms to rent to get in touch with his office as soon as possible. In a great many instances, teachers desire to room together in order to lessen the cost of living. The people of the community are very earnestly requested to do everything possible in the matter of having the teachers lodged in comfortable rooms in private homes. RAISE VALUE OF LAND IN COUNTY

State Equalization Board Reports Cultural Average $66.75 An Acre Increase of 23 Per Cent.

Agricultural land values in Twin Falls county have been raised 23 per cent by the state equalization board.

Word that the state had been increased were received yesterday by County Treasurer C. C. Sleight from the office of State Auditor Call.

The increase in the average value of agricultural land in Twin Falls county will be $66.75 an acre instead of $52.40 as the assessor.

This change in the land value increases has not yet been accepted by the assessor's office, said Mr. Sleight yesterday, as the assessment roll against all holders of agricultural lands must be raised.

Whether or not city values will be increased has not yet been accepted by the assessor's office, said Mr. Sleight yesterday, as the assessment roll against all holders of agricultural lands must be raised.

High cost of living is given as the cause for the increased valuation. Recent reports from Boise stated the three times as much money as has been used to run the state government in the past will be needed for the ensuing year, because of increased costs.

This increase in assessed values is said to be the second event within the past two weeks showing the effect of H. C. C. on taxation. Twin Falls City Council recently increased the amount levied from 15 mills to 27 1/2 mills.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salt to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority because the ure acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked, get sluggish; clog up and cause a sort of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region, rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, cold stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts, your kidneys aren't acting right, or bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jod Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in glass of water before breakfast for five days and your kidneys will be set free. This famous salt is made from the acids of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acid in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder distress.

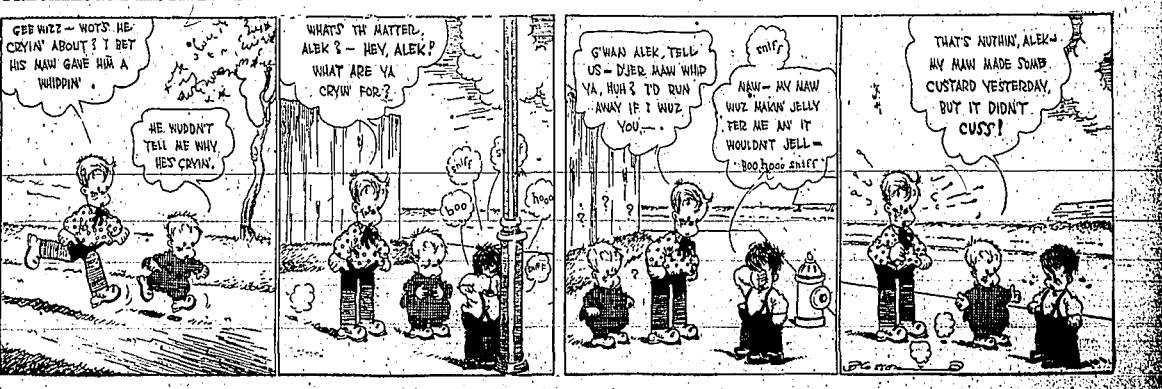

Jod Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which millions of men and women take now; and that keeps the kidneys and urinary tract clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

UNIVERSAL PHYSICAL TRAINING

In the Red Cross Magazine Charles K. Taylor, a sergeant in the 102nd engineers, 4th division, reports some of the views expressed by his comrades at an officers' training school in France.

The boys were pretty solidly against universal military training. They knew exactly why, too. They said it destroys regularity, destroys individual initiative; it is an artificial discipline, allowable only when men impose it on themselves for the sake of a great object, such as winning war. They were rather down on too much "preparedness for war" in spite of the fact that the nation unprepared was to be caught at a big disadvantage.

As Sergeant Taylor reports their belief, was worth while to make a sacrifice to gain the racial characteristics of the Anglo-Saxons and those sharing and adopting their ideas." And besides, the army is the greatest individual resource and initiative would win the war in the end, anyway.

It was different with universal physical training. Experts have said that the high percentage of men who were found by the physical examinations to be "unfit" could be greatly reduced if physical education is undertaken in time. The proper time is not when the boys have reached the military age, but when they are entering school. Furthermore, the soldiers were full of "silly and ineffectual class calisthenics." They wanted real exercise, developing the body and adapted to individual needs of pupils. They believed that the physical and economic value of reducing the percentage of physically unfit would more than repay the cost of such a system.

Physical training appeared to them better than military training because it could be undertaken at so much earlier an age. It is usually comes far too late to do good, and it takes only those who are ready in fairly good shape.

All this is pretty much what the average American thinks. If he wants any kind of military training he wants the emphasis to be on the body and mind development, and not on that of militarism. Americans in general realize the great value of physical education for everybody.

A Consumers' league in France has lowered prices 20 per cent by simply printing facts about prices and values. Maybe the same thing can be done in this country. Consumers heretofore have been at a disadvantage because they didn't know the facts, and so could be bluffed and bulldozed by paying exorbitant prices.

A Boston grand jury soberly announces the principal reason why shoes are so high is that the public buys so many of them. As usual, it's the consumer's fault. Progress, in behalf of the nation, might begin by the packers, tanners, shoe manufacturers, jobbers, wholesalers and retailers.

There is too much oil being poured on Mexican waters—in Tampico and elsewhere. And these efforts of the oil interests have precisely the opposite effect to what is usually expected. They invite not only a peace treaty but war.

THE VICIOUS CIRCLE

Nothing could better illustrate the wrong way to go about remedying present economic evils than the program of the United Mine Workers of America, as outlined by some of their representatives.

It is said that the miners, most of whom are engaged in the coal industry, are going to ask for a wage increase of about 50 per cent, making probably $8 a day or more, and along with it a reduction of working time to six hours a day and five days a week. That would mean about $50 a week for 30 hours' work.

Thirty hours' work, if divided as usual among six days, would mean five hours a day.

It may be granted that miners ought to be well paid for the time they put in, because their work is hard, disagreeable and dangerous. But when the demand for a big wage increase is coupled with the demand for a big reduction of working time, the absurdity of it ought to be apparent to anyone familiar with present economic conditions.

We might leave out of consideration the insistent fact that the world needs coal, as it needs all other commodities and that any industry which deliberately does anything to curtail production is shirking its duty and refusing to play its part in the general rehabilitation of the world. Considering the matter purely from the standpoint of the miners themselves, we are likely to find the plan operating in a vicious circle which defeats its own aims.

The miners, working shorter hours, naturally produce less coal. That makes coal dearer for everybody. Obtaining higher wages, they add still more to the cost of coal. Everybody else, having to pay more for coal, has to charge more for his own services or output. Thus everything the miners themselves buy will soon cost them more. If everybody else put into effect this plan of the miners, we should simply have everybody doing less work, creating less wealth, and at the same time getting more money—and prices going up and up and up, so that even the high pay would buy less than usual, because there would be less to buy. It would make money more and more worthless—counters of continually shrinking value.

There is really only one way to restore comfortable living conditions. It is to increase production of all the necessities of life. Then, if profiteering is, generally speaking, curbed, prices and wages will pretty well take care of themselves.

ROUGH SIDE OUTSIDE.

In the future marching shoes or field shoes, made with the rough side of the leather on the outside, will be issued by the war department to the troops of the national guard. It seems that the army shoes heretofore provided for the guard have proved so desirable that they are worn in civil life by those lucky enough to be entitled to them. Then when a military call comes, the shoes are not likely to be in first-class condition for service.

Uncle Sam, generous as he is about many things, thinks it necessary to suppress that generous impulse to supply the guardsmen with shoes for everyday wear. So he plans to discourage the wearing of his official shoes to the office and on the farm and but to play golf and one place and another.

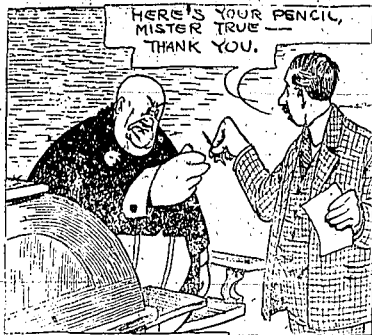

The shoes made with the rough side of the leather out are said to be far from beautiful, but extremely practical for military service. And Uncle figures that his nephews will not wear them unless it is necessary to do so on military duty.

This is doubtless a thrifty thought. But if rough-side-out-side shoes should suddenly become stylish, what would Uncle do then?

There are some things more expensive than food. Ostrich feathers are selling wholesale at $100 a pound.

The longer the peace treaty debate drags on, the better the profiteers like it.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE "JAZZY" TIME IS PROMISED AT HOP

Chairman Harry Bennett Has Secured Good Orchestra—Many Members Are Joining the Hop.

"We have a 'jazzy' orchestra and we are going to have a 'jazzy' time," declared Harry Bennett, who is chairman of the committee making arrangements for the American Legion dance at the Lavering pavilion next Friday evening.

Mr. Bennett with the other members of the committee in charge of the affair are working overtime to make the coming hop the equal of the best one in every way. Members of the American Legion made for themselves a number of hosts when they gave the previous dance and it is their hope to keep up this reputation in the coming affair.

One of the features that is making a hit is that members of the legion are to be admitted free to the affair. The membership committee, consisting of Carl H. Ong, Ray Brown and Bert Soble, have been busy seeking members of his old outfit while the others are working on prospects. It is anticipated that the membership committee will secure a large number at the dance Friday night.

on the people and contributes in tremendous measure to the oppressively high cost of living. In the race of that showing who could conscientiously will to perpetuate government control of the railroads.

Not Well Considered.

"I cannot believe the brotherhood have thoroughly considered the consequences that would follow government ownership of that they have proceeded to exercise this great power. Their present program is wholly at variance with the character of their organizations and with their long and honorable history."

To add the cost of the railroads to the governments debt, Mr. Herrick said, would mean the government borrowing power, deplete further government securities and increase the rate at which the government can borrow. He pointed out that the war had added $20,000,000,000 to the public debt in two years and that the annual interest charge alone is now almost equal to the whole annual expense of the national government before the war. "To buy the railroads and double the national debt would be exceedingly unwise," said Mr. Herrick. "It would simply multiply the principal and interest which the people must pay."

Uncertainty Results.

"Uncertainty in business will not cease until the railroad problem is solved," asserted Mr. Herrick. "Every delay means tremendous loss to the country. All the billions of wealth owned by the people of the United States are to go forward or backward, dependent upon the legislation which is just ahead. A mistake will threaten the whole financial structure."

Mr. Herrick said that he believed the best plan yet presented for solving the railroad question was that presented to congress by the National Association of Owners of Railroad Securities. This plan, he said, provides for a fixed percentage return to the roads and that where a road makes a profit in excess of 6 per cent the excess shall be divided between the government, the employees and the stockholders. In his opinion this plan provided all interests—the public, the shippers, employees, and owners.

"The time for experiments has passed," said Mr. Herrick. "The government has followed facts and function the 'know-nothing' line as far as legislation and politics and devised a practical plan for the business-like management of our great vehicles of commerce giving men of experience and vision a chance to avert the calamities. Radical experimentation is unthinkable."

ARREST IS MADE

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—One arrest was made today and a conference of state prosecutors from 19 Illinois cities and counties with District Attorney Cline was held relative to cooperation in prosecuting hoodlums and profiteers in the government's campaign against the high cost of living.

George W. Sheehan, president of the Central Sugar company, of which several officials were put under charges of profiteering in Pittsburgh recently, was arrested today on a similar charge. He was released on bonds of $5,000. It is charged that Sheehan's firm bought a quantity of sugar for $5.50 a hundred pounds and sold it to another company for $12.75.

District Attorney Cline refused to discuss the plans being evolved in the meeting with the county prosecutors. Sales of government foodstuffs continued in the department stores and through postal stations. More than 2,000,000 army blankets are on sale at the army quartermaster's depot.

Certainly look as if Pal Moore, American bantam, was a few shades (to freer) when this picture of him and the English flyweight, Jimmy Wilde, was taken. It was snapped after the fighters had gone two-thirds of distance and Wilde is preparing to lead with his left. Wilde's face shows evidence of having undergone a great strain.

However, from the fact that he was far from being in perfect physical condition, Sullivan suffering from the effects of gonorrhoea and unable to take heavy maintenance, he played the entire 26 holes with but an occasional sip of orange juice and the effects of the strain and heat began to show on the final nine holes.

The players made but few mistakes during the morning play. White Evans missed three putts which he could have fairly expected to hole, he sank three long ones to make up. He only used 21 putts during the morning round, five less than an average of two putts to a green. In the afternoon he used 31 putts. Outmet had 22 putts in the morning and 28 in the afternoon. Outmet had the better of 19 tee shots and Evans 17. They were all even when it came to approach, each being nearer the cup 15 times. Evans found himself in 11 traps and Outmet placed his ball in 5.

Robert T. Jones Jr., of Atlanta, played close to par golf with Robert Gardner, and defeated the Chicago player 5 and 4.

The pairings for tomorrow: Jones vs. Knepper; Hofner vs. Fowner; Thompson vs. Heron; Outmet vs. Platt.

SPORT JAZZ

BY RAZZ BERRY

New York won two games while Cincinnati only had one game to win. This results New York to gain a long half game on the Reds.

The distance between the two teams now is 61-2 games.

New York has 34 regular games, exclusive of postponed contests to play before the close of the season, while Cincinnati has 28 regular contests.

This will approximate the number of games the two teams will probably play due to the usual postponements that come at the close of the year.

Moran can lose 14 of the remaining 28 games and still win the pennant if New York fails to win 25 of the remaining games that the Giants have to play.

While such a thing is almost improbable it is not impossible.

Yet Clancy has a nifty score, hold on first place in the National and the White Sox in the league. It looks like the Sox at this angle—yet Detroit is playing mighty good ball these days and Jennings might be luckier on the last trip away from home than Gleason.

Anyway—it's almost a cinch that the big series will be in the west this year.

The orifice on the whale's ear is scarcely perceptible, yet it is said that a ship crossing the track half a mile distant will cause it to dive instantly.

OUTMET WINNER IN RECORD GOLF GAME

Battle of 45 Holes With Amazing Victory One-Up Over Chick Evans

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20.—Francis Outmet, demonstrated again today that he is one of the greatest golfers ever developed in this country, by defeating Charles Evans, one up, on the home hole of the Oakmont country club in the second round of the Annual Amateur Championship tournament. Playing the game with the same stroke and nerve that gave him international fame in 1914, when he won the open from Jay and Vardon, England's most famous professionals, the Woodland Club representative playing from Auburndale, Mass., fought throughout the entire day against the skill and stamina of the Edgewater club star of Chicago and eventually achieved victory with a score of 10 and 11, while Evans had a score of 11 and 10.

His defeat of the holdover amateur and open champion of 1914 came one hour and 15 minutes after the start of the match which was the closest and most brilliant ever witnessed in a similar tournament. All even at the end of the forenoon 18 holes, the eastern and western rivals renewed their duel in the afternoon and for a short period it appeared as though Outmet was to outplay almost the entire day, but he weakened at the end of the third nine holes and Evans was quick to take advantage of the situation. After being three down at one time succeeded in squaring the score at the 18th hole on the 36th hole. The next was narrow in three.

The gallery was the largest that ever witnessed a nine-hole tournament match in this country, was absolutely silent as the pair teed up for the home hole. Chick Evans drove first and Outmet followed, both receiving fair drives. Evans' second landed in a deep pit to the right of the green while Evans was just on the edge of the rough some forty feet from the pin. When Outmet stepped down into the pit he was out of sight of a large part of the spectators and a great shout of applause sprang up from the gallery when he pitched the ball from a cloud of sand to within four feet of the flag.

Evans' mistake shot rolled fully 12 feet past the cup. The double birdie-holder's putt fell short of the hole by three feet. Outmet followed with a gentle tap of his ball which rolled leisurely to the lip of the cup, and then for the fraction of a second and then struck the cup. The spectators, including one of the most remarkable matches in the history of American golf.

Not all of the story of the day's golf goes to Outmet for the manner in which Evans fought and for the victory is shown by the fact that there was but a difference of one hole and one stroke at the end of one of the hardest matches ever played in an amateur championship. Outmet finished with a total stroke score of 150 and Evans with 161, while the medal winning score on Monday was 158. The comeback of the Woodland expert was all the more impressive.

MULLEN IS MOSES FOR FANS WHO RALLY ROUND TOTEM POLE

SEATTLE, Aug. 20.—Charley Mullen, who has been picked to lead the Seattle team out of the cellar wilderness of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, was favorably received here by pitching the Mariners to victory in his first series, Seattle taking five out of the eight games with Portland. Mullen is 30 years of age, the youngest manager in the league. He is a Seattle boy, having attended high school and the University of Washington here. While in school his diamond work attracted Comiskey's attention and he went to the big league without going through the minors. During the war Mullen won a lieutenant's commission in the army. "Harmony is Mullen's watch word. 'If I can get the boys to fighting and fighting together we will finish somewhere else than in last place,' he said when he took over" out Comiskey's job as manager.

OPEN MOVE IS MADE SEEKING COMPROMISE

Senator Pittman Submits Plan for Agreement on the Treaty Pact.

OVERTURE MEETS NO WARMTH IN SENATE

Measure Provides Reservations in Separate Resolution for Submission to Other Signatories.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The open move for a compromise in the League of nations fight came from administration quarters today embodied in a proposal that the senate adopt interpretive reservations, but that they be kept apart from the actual ratification of the treaty.

Meets No Response.

The overture met with no immediate success on the republican side. In the chamber, senators of the republican reservation group declaring they could not recede from their position that to be effective the reservations must go into the ratification itself.

Senator Pittman of Nevada, a democratic member of the foreign relations committee, presented the compromise proposal in the form of a resolution embodying in effect the four reservations agreed on by seven republican senators and declaring them to constitute the senate's understanding of disputed points in the covenant.

Meets John Treaty.

In the republican bloc, however, it is expressly provided that the reservations "be made a part of the treaty by the instrument of ratification," a proviso which Senator McNary of Oregon and others of the group of seven republicans said they considered absolutely necessary if enough republican votes are to be gained to secure ratification of the treaty.

Would Submit Resolution.

To overcome this objection, Senator Pittman proposed in a speech in the senate that the resolution be adopted at once and submitted to the other powers who will be represented on the league council. A general debate developed during which Senator Borah, republican, Utah, and others took exception with President Wilson's distinction between moral and legal obligations under the covenant as expressed in yesterday's White House conference between the president and the foreign relations committee.

Reservations Are Firm.

Leaders of the McNary group, nevertheless, insisted they had information that in the end their plan would have democratic support.

An attack on the Shantung provision of the treaty was made in the senate by Senator McCormick, republican, Illinois, who asserted that by accepting the provision the United States would become a party to one of the most outrageous exhibitions of "hypocrisy and violence" in the world's history.

Firm on Shantung.

The Shantung proviso was under consideration before the foreign relations committee, which was told by Dr. J. C. Ferguson, secretary to the Chinese president, that China expected American acceptance of the settlement as a deviation from the traditional policy of American friendship to the Chinese government and people. Dr. Ferguson, however, during the debate to a discussion of the moral and legal obligations assumed under article ten of the covenant, by which the members agree to prosecute one another's territorial integrity against external aggression. The article, Mr. Pittman asserted, had no legal force because it "doesn't carry the essence of a contract."

Boqui Senais Again.

"You couldn't take it into a court of law," he said, "and find any means by which it could be enforced except by the consequence of the parties affected." "But when Senator Borah brought up France," replied Senator Borah, "it seems to me that under article ten we would have been obligated to go at once to the Pacific." "The matter would have been laid before congress," said Senator Pittman, "and congress would have had to decide whether we would act. In my judgment congress would have decided we should act and it would have been a 'do-or-die' case."

"I agree with that, but still congress would have had no real discretion. It would have been compelled to act if it were going to carry out its contract," returned Mr. Borah.

PITTMAN OFFERS RESERVATIONS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Four reservations on the league of nations covenant are embodied in a separate resolution prepared today by Senator Pittman, of Nevada, a democratic member of the foreign relations committee, for introduction in the senate.

Senator Pittman said the resolution was in line with the suggestion made to the foreign relations committee yesterday by President Wilson that if reservations are to be made they should be embodied in a separate resolution and not in the resolution of ratification which might make new negotiations necessary.

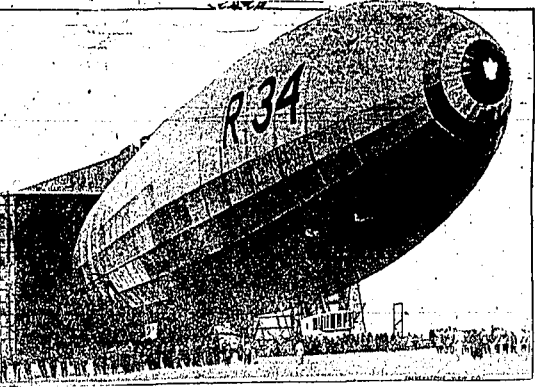

In an address supporting his resolution, Senator Pittman declared the president by suggesting such a resolution, had offered a compromise which it appeared might lead to early ratification of the treaty. The resolution, he said, might easily be submitted to the other governments for their approval if there were any doubt whether it would be effective.

"The resolution of ratification admittedly becomes a part of the treaty," said Senator Pittman. "Under the decision of the supreme court of the United States the language of the resolution of ratification is considered with the body of the treaty."

"Every party to the treaty has the right to determine for itself whether or not language added to the treaty changes the substance of the contract. We do not know whether Germany would accept our construction or not."

We do know that Germany is longing for an opportunity to attach to the treaty hundreds of reservations which she urged upon the peace conference and which were denied. It is conclusively evident that the inclusion of reservations in the resolution of ratification would long delay peace, and it might result in the abandonment of the league of nations."

Senator Pittman said that in his resolution he had conformed as nearly as practicable to the reservations drawn by the McNary reservation group. "I believe there are forty-six democratic senators," he said, "who will support a separate resolution such as I have suggested and I am convinced that if those on the other side who have been supporting reservations to be contained in the resolution of ratification and who I know to be adversely in favor of the league of nations, will join with us, the ratification will soon be accomplished."

The principle of Senator Pittman's resolution declaring "that the senate, in ratifying the treaty of peace with Germany has done so with the understanding that the meaning and purpose of this instrument is as follows:"

Right reservations there are expressed, covering domestic questions, the right of congress to decide questions of peace or war, an unconditional right of withdrawal, the Monroe doctrine, the understanding that Japan will withdraw speedily from Shantung, the rapid reduction of armaments, just treatment of subject nationalities and a stipulation that the league shall interfere in internal revolution or boundaries only in exceptional circumstances.

ist was asked, "that you have positive information that the body of Mr. Hitchcock was found at the reservoir?"

No—Not Positive.

"Oh, no, I haven't positive information that the body of Mr. Hitchcock was found, but I am positive that a body was taken from a manhole at the filter plant. A mail carrier who lives at the Justman farm, I don't know his name—was told by the driver for the Continental Oil company that an employee of the city water company had told him that this body had been found. The city water company was hurrying to town when he told this story to the Continental Oil company driver. The city water employee told several people before the matter was launched up."

"The chief of police was just here wanting to know where I got my information," I told him, "I want to see the people who are keeping this matter quiet prosecuted. The chief declared he was out to the water plant and that he hadn't seen anybody, and I asked him what time he was out there and he said 8 o'clock. I told him he hadn't gotten out there soon enough, that the body had been spotted away before he got there. The body was discovered before the chief got there."

"Then," continued Dr. Jones, "Crosby, the paint man, said that his wife, in fact, I told him, I want to see the people who are keeping this matter quiet prosecuted. The chief declared he was out to the water plant and that he hadn't seen anybody, and I asked him what time he was out there and he said 8 o'clock. I told him he hadn't gotten out there soon enough, that the body had been spotted away before he got there. The body was discovered before the chief got there."

"The captain told the mate and the mate told the crew: 'The crew! told me, so I know it must be true.' The Chronicle's city editor reported Dr. Jones' story to the editor. Steps were immediately taken to find the man carrier who Dr. Jones gave an authority for this story."

"This young man, Parham by name, came to The Chronicle office."

The Captain Told the Mate.

"Dr. Jones says that you told him that a driver of the grey team for the Continental Oil company had told you that an employee of the city water department had told him that one body of a man had been found at the filter plant."

"No, not quite that," said the young man. "I told the doctor that as I was passing the driver of the Continental Oil company wagon the other morning that I asked what was the chance to get a drink of gasoline and the driver of the wagon told me that I might just as well drink gasoline as water for an employee of the canal company told him that they had found the body."

Dr. Jones was then called up by the editor of The Chronicle, but was not so positive as to the truth of the story.

The Busby Story.

Efforts to run down the story of the two boys were then made.

While Hance, manager of the Lincoln Produce company was reached by telephone.

"Mr. Hance, a report is being circulated that two kids securing water from your establishment were informed that citizens generally should buy that water for a doctor who had helped lay out the body of Hitchcock had reported to your office the fact. Is this story true?"

"It is not," replied Mr. Hance. "Did a doctor call you up?" was asked.

"Yes, Dr. Jones, the dentist, called up and expressed his opinion that the body had been found."

"Do you believe the story?"

"I certainly do not."

Dr. Jones was again interviewed. He was told of the story that had started from the visit of the boys to the Lincoln Produce company."

"Dr. Jones have you any stock in the Lincoln Produce company?" he was asked.

"I have not."

"Or in any other company that is selling water?"

"Not in any company whatever."

"Did you tell the Lincoln Produce company that you thought that the body was found and that the matter was being covered up by the city officials?"

Nothing of the kind.

"I told them nothing of the kind. I told them I wanted some water and they told me I would have to furnish the bottle as they had no idea such a thing as this was coming up or they would have put in a supply, but that they didn't want to put $200 or $400 in bottles at this time."

Dr. Jones then stated that he was on the trace of some evidence, but "I'll not tell you or anyone else anything about it until I have proven it to be a fact."

Another story that was freely circulated was that J. C. Wheelon had stated it to be a fact that the body was found. Mr. Wheelon is manager of the canal company.

He was called on the phone by The Chronicle.

"Have you stated that it is a positive fact that the body of Mr. Hitch-mond was found at the reservoir?" he was asked.—If in the paper.

"Only as a rumor."

"Who gave you the office?"

"One of the men in the office."

"So he had read it in the paper that they were going to bury the body of the man that was found in the canal?"

"Did you see it in the paper?"

"I believe I did—I believe I saw something in the News that the body of the man was to be buried."

Face Bureau File.

Presenting Attorney Frank Stephen was asked last evening if he knew whether or not the authority for the rumor. If ever discovered, could be prosecuted for criminal libel. Attorney Stephen declared that he was not certain but would look up the law on the matter and that if the party in question he would attempt to have him punished. Sheriff A. N. Sprague declared that his office will make every effort to find the author of the story and will prosecute him when found.
