

AMERICA BACKBONE OF ALL UNIVERSE DECLARED WILSON IN HIS ST. LOUIS ADDRESS

Declares America's Participation in Covenant Necessary for Its Success.

OTHERWISE A MERE EUROPEAN ALLIANCE

Rejection Would Necessitate United States Becoming an Armed Camp Against Entire World.

By the Associated Press. ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 5.—The United States will be the senior partner in the financial, economic and commercial leader if she joins the family of nations, President Wilson asserted in the fourth address of his 10,000 mile tour here tonight.

"I have seen some men of amazing generosity, some that the covenant of the league of nations was an arrangement for war," said the president. "I wonder if these gentlemen commenting on the treaty have ever read it." Here the president said he would give the persons a copy and the audience should "give Senator Reed one."

"If we reject the treaty we will stand alone in the world," continued the executive. He stated that only the ignorant believed the United States could stand alone against the world.

Explains Reparation Plan. The executive explained the proposed workings of the reparation committee, saying it would be to revive world industry and that Germany paid her debt to civilization.

The president declared the burden of reconstruction must be carried by the United States would be ruined. In the event that the treaty should be rejected the treaty this country would become a virtual no-man's land in the financial world, declared the speaker. Remaining out of the league meant a large standing army, he stated, and a large standing army, which although means higher taxes, the president explained. "We warned that if this country remains out of the league and stands alone it must stand alone as a nation in arms, and if the United States intends to prey upon the world, she deserves to be from out of world interdependence."

Declaring the covenant one of arbitration and discussion, the president said the United States would be turning the matter to the men who won the war. He stated that the league was the only way to prevent war, and that if this country would not be fulfilling her pledge.

DA. Merely An Alliance. Without the United States the league would merely be an alliance between the great European powers and Japan, Mr. Wilson explained, and the dissociated party would be the United States. There could be no true league without the United States, he added. Mrs. Wilson sat near the president at the luncheon and was on the platform at the Coliseum.

During the day many bouquets were sent to her and tonight she presented them all to a local hospital.

After the evening speech the president's party motored to the railway station and went directly aboard their train. It did not leave for some time, however. It took a little distance by police lines was a crowd which repeatedly shouted to the president for a speech, but he smilingly declined.

Should Care How We Think. President Wilson in his address tonight said that the United States must get upon an occasion which is too much too nations to care how we look. We return to care how we think, and I have come here tonight to ask permission to discuss with you some of the very curious aberrations of thinking that have taken place in this country of late.

"I have sought—I think I have sought—without prejudice to understand the point of view of the men who have been opposing the treaty and the covenant of the league of nations. Many of them are men

Morion, president of the Order of Railroad Employees, before the house joint-state commerce committee.

"The plan is so preposterous," Morion added, "that it would not merit serious discussion but for the fact that the so-called Plumb plan leans toward securing the support of large number of railroad employees who have not really informed themselves as to what the plan is and as to the way in which it would actually work."

MCCUMBER BRINGS OUT "SOFT" RESERVATIONS

Would Make Article 10 Subject to Any Decision Made by the American Congress.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—President Wilson's address to the country in support of the peace treaty and league of nations evoked prompt and spirited replies today from the senate floor. Senators Borah, Idaho, and Sherman, Illinois, republicans, assailed statements by the president at Indianapolis and Columbus. On the other hand Senator McCumber, republican, North Dakota, attacked the treaty reservations adopted yesterday by the foreign relations committee and presented substitute reservations regarded as expressing favor of republican senators favoring reservations of "mild" type.

BORAH IS CRITIC

Referring to the president's statement at Indianapolis that under the league "we can mind other people's business" Senator Borah criticized the American military operations in Russia, declaring such to be a "usurpation of power without authority under the constitution and in violation of the aid of Japan's Siberian policy. Senator Sherman reiterated the president's assertion in Columbus that the international labor conference authorized by the peace treaty would be held here next month, regardless of whether the senate had ratified the treaty by that time. The president's attitude showed a "contemptuous disregard" of law, the Illinois senator said, and that the matter had been pushed to the rear benches.

SPEAKS ONLY TRIFLY

In presenting his proposed substitute resolution of ratification Senator McCumber spoke only briefly. In lieu of the committee reservation to article 10 of the league covenant, he proposed a reservation in which that specific article be required to make territorial guarantees effective and that failure of congress to act as proposed by article 10 should not be considered a violation of the covenant.

SALVATION ARMY'S FUTURE OUTLINED

Evangelist Booth Tells What Great Humanitarian Organization Hopes to Accomplish.

(By Evangeline Booth.)

The Salvation Army emerges from the past years ago the organization came out of the "Boer war"—the loyal and devoted friend of the fighting man. That was our first experience on a battlefield. Today thousands of men all over this country know they can count on us in hours of great human need. I think the whole world understands this now.

Important changes are coming to the Salvation Army and they will be changes for the better. The peacetime of the old-fashioned, "crude" method of soliciting money on the street corners and the collecting of funds in a good innovation. The broadening and deepening of our work is good. The future, however, will see no changes in the mighty movement rocks upon which the foundation stands.

No different methods of pulling financial support will ever gain us away from the poor, for we are of the poor. Our calling and our service is that of the poor-for-the-poor.

And this is the part and all of the future as far as the great underlying principles of the Salvation Army are concerned. Always we have worked with a "streak in the morning" course. Bonaparte once called it the way to test courage. To us it has meant simply honest service to men and women twenty-four hours of every day.

Destitution, neglect, disappointment, pain, those are the things that it takes high courage to meet. It is here and now that men and women need help. This is the "zero hour" of human agony, that God has called upon us to minister to and relieve. My first name in His name and for His sake, we accept the great responsibility.

In planning the program of work for the year ahead for expansion lies in the service we offer rather than in the machinery of the organization itself. Rendering an account of our stewardship, we have only one thought in mind, "the man who is down, but never out." After all he is the one who counts first.

We have tried to solve our problem of living by a formula less complicated than the problem itself: "What does it profit a man to investigate his 'background' and judge his case accordingly? It is in the gutter and hunger? If a man is hungry on Wednesday, the Army has discovered it is better for body and soul to feed him on Wednesday rather than wait for the proper committee to meet on Friday and give the 'case' due consideration.

The war is over and the siege lifted—a new play based on a theme as old as the glacial hills. It is a theme that has to do with the happiness of

IF BACK HURTS USE SALTS FOR KIDNEYS

Fat Meat If Kidneys Feel Like Lead Or Bladder Bothers

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, also we have backache and dull headache in the kidney region, severe headache, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of milder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get-out-and-four ounces of Jad Salts in any good drug store here, into a teaspoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

LOOKING AHEAD

There is satisfaction in forgetfulness of present day ills. High prices of this and that commodity harass with recurring aggravation, but there is compensation to the meditative mind.

Look-ahead.

We are a producing section. Demand is heavy and growing heavier for everything we grow in this splendid country. We can adjust ourselves to high prices for what we buy if we are assured a stable and profitable market for that which we produce.

Moreover, we are growing in population, growing in wealth, growing in stability. To the west of us, and linking the Twin Falls project with the great Bruneau tract lies the tract of land long known as the West End project, now known by the name of the Roseworth Ranch, which it surrounds.

This tract of land, eight thousand acres of beautiful laying sagebrush ground, deep soil, is to be thrown open at a very early day. The dream of years is to come true. Water is to be supplied through an irrigation system now practically completed, and finding its water supply from Cedar creek, House creek, Devil Creek and Deadwood creek. These last two streams are turned into the channel above a great dam on Cedar creek, where storage is provided for vastly more acreage than is included in the segregation, for the Roseworth project is to take advantage of experience. Less land will be sold than there is water for. Later, if there be found water for more land, additional acreage will be taken in.

No Carey act project has ever been perfected and thrown open more completely equipped than this. The works will have been completed for the delivery of water the first spring following the opening. Land may be cultivated the first year.

This will add to the acreage of the great territory under water in south Idaho, and put the community in condition to welcome the construction crews for the vast Bruneau project. And this project seems to be well assured. If the Secretary of the Interior approves fillings made, work will begin yet this fall.

So, let's look ahead. See the future for the great country bordering the Snake river from the government Minidoka project, through to the west line of the Bruneau tract. The world knows no other such a tract of irrigated land, and the world has no such productive farms.

We can bear with the ills of present days, if we but take counsel with ourselves, look about us and see what lies ahead. Five years or more of large construction, followed by a population which will be practically half the entire state of Idaho, on lands no equalled anywhere.

Indeed, it's worth while sometimes, when troubles beset, to look ahead.

THE HIGH COST OF BEAUTY

The hour seems to have arrived. The price pirates have gone too far. They have attacked beauty.

District Attorney Lewis of Kings county, New York, has had the matter brought to his attention officially.

"May I suggest," writes a sufferer, "that you investigate the beauty parlors which are charging exorbitant prices in order to beautify the women of Brooklyn. This is a necessity of life, and the cost must not be excessive."

Inquiry discloses that whereas in Manhattan a lady may get a facial massage for $2.50, a shampoo for $1 and her nails manicured for 75 cents the beauty specialists of Brooklyn charge the queens and princesses and duchesses of the borough approximately fifty per cent more. Also it is said that the Brooklyn artists say there is no prospect of their charges being decreased but, on the other hand, they may have to increase them.

Mr. Lewis has abandoned all other work in order that he may devote all his attention to this most important case. He says he never was more surprised in his life than when the complaint was spread before him. He never until that moment had supposed Brooklyn ladies had need of beautifying and he was startled when he was informed how many beauty parlors there were in Brooklyn. He was not willing, he said, to believe these establishments depended on Brooklyn for their support, but was inclined to the idea they got their patronage from New York en-route to, or from Coney Island or other plebian places which Brooklyn ignores.

Mr. Lewis' remarks have stirred the maids and matrons of Manhattan to wrath. They declare the Brooklyn beauty parlor schedule of rates is extremely moderate considering the amount of labor and material necessary to make a Brooklynite beautiful.

This dispute with Manhattan will not divert Lewis from the main issue. He fully agrees with the complainant that beauty is a necessity of life, and the cost to beauty the belles of Brooklyn must not be excessive. He is collecting data about the wholesale and retail price of rouge, the various lip stick preparations, the bella donna compounds for eye brightening, nose powders, puffs, hand mirrors and the scores of other things without which the modern maid could not make herself up as no Venus of any other age attempted.

Incidentally he has some figures on the price of soap and some homely literature on the virtues of that article.

AROUND THE CIRCLE

Times change, we say, yet the problems and the perplexities of our age are strangely akin to those of generations long since turned to dust.

Old wars were followed by famines and food costs went up after the Napoleonic wars and at the close of the American civil war.

Profiteering, under the name of "forestalling," was made punishable by death in the fourteenth century.

And once had a controlling hand in the management of industry through the guilds of the middle ages.

Industrialism has brought about an approach to a condition which many students insist parallels the feudal state.

The pestilential flu, as an accompaniment of war, was only a revival of the partnership between war and plague.

And no matter how well we finally manage, civilization will have its troubles centuries hence.

Discontent and change are themselves as old as men; the freeful being who came out of a tree to live in a cave, out of a cave to occupy a hut, out of a hut into a cabin, out of a cabin into a house, out of a house into apartment hotels and skyscrapers and who now goes back at least as far as the hut in his vacation dreams!

About all the average man knows of Shantung is that nice $7.50 and $10 shirts come from there.

In this league of nations debate the people may do all the listening and none of the voting.

This week's most horrible suggestion—"Do your Christmas shopping early."

Anyway, there's one thing to rejoice over. The flu has flown.

CONVOKE RADICALS IN BIG CONVENTION

National Socialist Party Wants Intern. Congress to Be Held in America

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Steps for the calling of an international socialist congress to unite the radical forces of the world were taken today at the closing session of the convention of the national socialist party. The plan is to hold the congress at the earliest date practicable in either New York or Chicago. The question was presented to the convention in the report of the committee on international relations which declared that the Bern international socialist congress had ceased to function and that the Moscow congress was not international. Under the terms of the resolution adopted the German majority socialists and the factions of the party in other countries which declined to open the world war would be barred from participating in the new international socialist congress.

J. Louis Engdahl of Chicago submitted a minority committee report which was a more specific recommendation of the Russian soviet congress held at Moscow, but it was rejected after a stormy debate.

The convention gave its qualified endorsement of the Plumb plan for the nationalization of railroads, objection being made to the suggestion of including the railroads and the limited representation of classified employes on the board to manage the transportation lines.

Another resolution adopted after a long and necessary change in federal and state constitutions to permit the election of all candidates to congress and general assemblies by industrial trade groups instead of by territorial districts, in accordance with the Russian soviet plan.

Other resolutions adopted included: A protest against universal military training.

A demand for the immediate repeal of the federal espionage law.

A protest against this country becoming involved in a war with Mexico.

Providing for the calling of a Pan-American socialist congress.

A protest against the deportation of radicals from the United States.

Opposition to any limitation of immigration into the United States.

The party elected the following national executive committee:

T. Holms, Milwaukee; William Bryant, St. Louis; Willham H. Henry, Indianapolis; John Hagel, Oklahoma City; George E. Popper, Boston; O. C. Wilson, Chicago, and James O'Neil, New York City.

Congressman Albert Victor L. Berger, Milwaukee, who has been a member of the national executive committee since the organization of the party, declined to be a candidate for re-election.

The new communist labor party of America convention adjourned after electing the following national executive committee:

J. E. Katterfeld, St. Louis; Alexander Blinn, Cleveland; Jack Carney, Duluth; Max T. Dacht, California; and Edward Lindgren, New York City. The headquarters of the new party will be at Cleveland.

The communist party convention also adjourned after electing officials. Its headquarters will be either in New York or Chicago.

By the Associated Press. OMAHA, Sept. 5.—Gordon W. Watles, federal food administrator for Nebraska, returned from a vacation today and declared a complete lack of faith in the government plan for lowering the cost of living through action by the food administration.

He charged that the railroad brotherhood, the president, congress and the attorney general "had passed the buck to the food administration, which has no authority law to support its order." Further, he declared he had no sympathy with a general strike which will tend to injure the prosperity of the country. He pointed out the production of foodstuffs. "Nevertheless," he said, "he will undertake to comply with the government 'insofar as possible.'"

This telegram was received by Sheriff Sprague from Robert D. Carter, marshal of Baltimore. Mr. Carter stated he would write details here.

Immediately following the telegram Sheriff Sprague sent a message to the Pinkerton agency. This telegram follows: "Acknowledge receipt of telegram September 4, and letter to E. H. Robinson, Marshal of Police, Baltimore, says they will try McGinnis there. Would like to try him here. Has he any of Robinson jewelry?"

SIBERIA IS HAVEN FOR THE PROFITERS

No Speculator Will Consider Less Than 100 Per Cent Profit, Often Wants 1000 Per Cent.

OMSK, Siberia, Sept. 5.—Profiteering has reached its apex as "a flood of" throughout central and western Siberia. Wholesale no-profiters are satisfied with less than 100 per cent profit and often averages as much as 1,000 per cent out of the highest cost of merchandise, according to stories coming in here.

These traders, many of them smugglers, who, taking advantage of the shortage of everything except the products of the country, the unstable value of the ruble and the difficulties of transportation, continue to get through with a few pairs of shoes, particularly ladies' shoes, a few bolts of silk or dress goods, a few cases of canned fruits, or, in fact, any foreign-made product whatsoever, reap rich harvests.

Before a regular express service was inaugurated the many special trains coming up from Vladivostok and Harbin were the targets of the speculators. By connivance with the porters and unknown to the other occupants, nearly every special brought in its complement of merchandise stowed away under berths and in obscure corners, to be handed over upon arrival at some designated point.

The Red Cross has had its difficulties multiplying to the design of the going from time to time. On one occasion, it is related, a Red Cross representative in Irkutsk was approached with an offer of a hundred pair of shoes as a gift for the good of the cause. In due time they arrived, from Dairen, but in place of 100 pairs there were 1,000. They had passed the customs free of charge, being consigned to the Red Cross, and it was the owner's expectation that the extra 900 would be returned to him. They were all bundled off to Dairen.

The speculators' day will have gone, however, it is said, as soon as the traffic is readjusted upon the international committee management and legitimate commerce is resumed. Many of the abuses have already been corrected through closer government inspection at the frontiers, but in spite of all efforts to check it, the speculation evil still persists.

CAMBRIAS CATHEDRAL CAMPANILE IS SAVED

CAMBRIAS, France, Sept. 5.—The beautiful campanile of the Cambria cathedral, with one of its corner columns badly breached by shells, condemned to destruction by the engineering corps of the army as a menace to public safety, was to have been brought down yesterday by dynamite. It was saved from immediate destruction by an eleven hour intervention on the part of friends of art. The campanile will be taken down stone by stone, the material being classified and laid aside to be put in place again when the cathedral is restored.

PROMISES CABLE ACROSS THE PACIFIC

Line to Run From San Francisco By Midway Island to Tokyo.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Sept. 5.—George G. Ward, vice president of the Commercial Cable company, who has been in London arranging for the manufacture of the laying of a second cable from San Francisco across the Pacific informed the Associated Press today that negotiations had reached a point where a second cable was virtually assured direct from San Francisco by way of Midway Island to the mainland of Japan.

Mr. Ward said: "It is a matter of great importance to the American and Japanese governments, as well as to the business interests of both countries, that Japan should cooperate by giving early consent to the landing and operation of this cable so that its manufacture may be commenced as soon as practicable."

"The cable company does not intend to ask a guarantee or financial assistance from either the American or Japanese governments; it merely asks landing rights suitable for working and maintaining a second cable with the utmost efficiency. Cable manufacturers state that gutta-percha and other materials for the manufacture of submarine cables are limited in amount and other cables have been ordered in the past four years for various parts of the world." Hence, it is of the greatest importance that Japan give immediate consent in order that the company may proceed.

Still another cable line across the Pacific is being planned, as was shown in Tokio advices of July 25, stating the prominent Japanese business man had decided to form a company capitalized at approximately $12,000,000 for the laying of a cable between the United States and Japan. It was expected, it was said, that the enterprise also would be supported by business men of the United States.

STEEL MATHLAND DESIGNS AS HEAD OVERSEAS TRADE

LONDON, Sept. 5.—Sir Arthur Steel-Mathland, head of the department of Overseas trade, has reached his position, protesting that he has consistently been hung up by the by-bits political nature of the department.

The department of overseas trade is a comparatively new project of the government having been created especially to provide neutral ground on which the foreign office and the board of trade might cooperate to further British trade interests. Responsibility to two masters is partly blamed for the difficulties Sir Arthur encountered.

COLOGNE, Sept. 5.—A British army chaplain celebrated mass recently in the great Cologne cathedral at the altar of the relics of the Magi, the skulls of the three who men who came from the East to visit the newly born Savior at Bethlehem. A number of American officers and men from the Coblenz area attended the service and were permitted to view the relics.

Tradition says that the Emperor Hlender procured the bones and took them to Constantinople, whence they were removed to Milan. In 1164 they were presented by Frederick Barbarossa to Archbishop Reinold von Hassel who brought them to Cologne. At first they were kept in the chapel of the Magi, the central chapel of the seven chapels the choir, but since the war they have been put away in the cathedral treasury, near the organ.

The bones are kept in a golden reliquary, a costly specimen of Romanesque craftsmanship in the form of a hassel, said to have been made about 1200 A. D. In the Coblenz confessions three crowns are represented, having suggested the design.

FORTY HUSKIES OUT FOR FOOTBALL TEAM

Keen Competition Displayed for Places Nafziger May Be Able to Have Two Full Teams

More than forty huskies reported to Coach Nafziger last evening for fourth workout of the present football season. The high school youngsters are already showing keen competition in the fight for places. The team will be lighter this year than in the past according to Coach Nafziger, but will be faster. Present indications point to a team of twenty-two men with two men of practically equal ability for each place. With this class of men to work with the coach can be in shape to give everything in this part of the country a run for every game played. Pending a further resume of the situation the coach will make plans for the kind of game that he will put up. Work-outs will be held five nights a week at the new grounds near the Lincoln building.

Hart realizes this and has worked his head off to save the game here. Two weeks ago Frankback pitched for the Twin Falls outfit against Bull. DECLARES GERMANY ENDANGERS POLES

Premier Declares Huns and Bolsheviks Are Working Hand in Hand Against His Country.

To the Associated Press.
PARIS, France, Sept. 4.—Germany defeated on the west, has turned to the east where it is waging a battle with the hope of achieving the victory she could not win on the other front. Ignace Jan Paderewski, Polish premier, declared today in the Associated Press which discussed the conditions. M. Paderewski will appear before the supreme council of the peace conference tomorrow, to discuss the critical situation in Trechna and Silesia.

"In upper Silesia, east Prussia, Lithuania, along the Bolshevik front, in the vicinity of Minsk and along the Ukrainian front Polish armies are forced to face armed enemies," he continued. "These enemies are not Germans, they are aided by Germans, who are urging the Bolsheviks forward in every way to embarrass Poland. Our new government with limited supplies and little clothing for the army, from the situation deplorable."

"Until the German treaty is ratified we cannot get the foreign troops necessary to stabilize the situation and hold the provinces in sections of ceded territory. In the meantime Polish workmen are being beaten, abused and killed by German troops in Silesia. The Poles are eager to rush into Silesia to avenge the wrongs inflicted on our countrymen and it is difficult to restrain our people."

"In the Baltic states of Russia the Germans are fomenting disorder and lending assistance to the Bolsheviks. On all sides we are forced to face the new war that Germany is waging against the allied cause. She is determined to conquer Russia in any coat and is making every effort to hamper us in our battle against disorder. German propaganda are twisting every claim between our troops and the Bolsheviks into Jewish pogroms."

"We are unable to defend ourselves against these calamities. We are too busy shooting at our enemies with rifles to fight the underground campaign which is being conducted in America and throughout the civilized world."

"Our people have retained blind faith in I always greatly regretted—that will be kept up the high cost of which immediately to advance four or five billion dollars for the rehabilitation of credit and industry on the other side of the water, and I must say that I learned nothing in Paris which would lead me to doubt that conclusion. And I think the statement of the aim is a reasonable and conservative statement."

ments of Bolshevism no far but there is a host to our endeavor. We hope for a speedy ratification of the peace treaty.

HEAVY HORSES STILL SCARCE

While there is a surplus of light horses on the farms of the United States, there is still a notable deficiency in heavy, draft horse. This is because of the United States department of agriculture. Last year, they say, there was a tremendous decrease in mares bred, but during the spring of 1919 a very large percentage of mares were bred, which in expectation leads to a more plentiful supply of heavy horses of the better type.

AMERICA BACKBONE OF ALL UNIVERSE—WILSON

Whoso judgment of a patriotic feeling I have been accustomed to admire and respect. And yet I must admit to you my fellow countrymen, that it is very hard for me to believe that they have followed the line of thinking to its logical and disastrous conclusion, because when you reflect upon their position to be other than we ought to reject this treaty altogether or that we ought to change it in such a way as will make it necessary to reopen negotiations with Germany and reconsider the sections of the peace, in many essential particulars.

"We cannot do the latter alone, and other nations will not join us in doing it. The only alternative is to reject the peace and to do what some of our fellow countrymen have been advising us to do: stand alone in the world."

No Nation Can Stand Alone.

"I want to point out to you that only those who are ignorant of the world can believe that any nation even so great a nation as the United States, can stand alone and play a dominant part in the history of mankind."

"I suppose that most of you realize that it is going to be very difficult for the other nations that were engaged in this war to get financially on their feet again. I dare say you read the other day the statement of Mr. Herbert Hoover's opinion, an opinion which I always greatly regretted—that will be kept up the high cost of which immediately to advance four or five billion dollars for the rehabilitation of credit and industry on the other side of the water, and I must say that I learned nothing in Paris which would lead me to doubt that conclusion. And I think the statement of the aim is a reasonable and conservative statement."

Would Be Confined to U. S.

"If the world is going bankrupt, if the industry of the rest of the world is going to be interrupted, our market is confined to the United States and trade will be impossible except within our own borders. If we are to save our market and rehabilitate our own industry, we must first stabilize the situation of the world and rehabilitate the markets of the world."

"Germany can't pay for this war unless her industries are revived and the treaty of peace sets up a great commission known as the reparations commission, in which it was intended that there should be a member from the United States as well as from other countries, and the business of this commission will be in part to see that the industries of the United States are not left in a state of ruin by the great debt which she owes to civilization."

"That reparations commission can determine the current date, the conditions of credit, of international credit, it can determine how much the German government is to pay, where it is going to pay and how it is going to pay for it, and if we must save ourselves, contribute to the financial rehabilitation of the world then without being members of this committee we must put our money in the hands of those who want to get the markets that belong to us."

"That is what these gentlemen call playing a lone hand. It is playing a lone hand, it is playing a lone hand that is frozen out. We must contribute to money in order that Germany may pay the great debt which she owes to civilization. That reparations commission can determine the current date, the conditions of credit, of international credit, it can determine how much the German government is to pay, where it is going to pay and how it is going to pay for it, and if we must save ourselves, contribute to the financial rehabilitation of the world then without being members of this committee we must put our money in the hands of those who want to get the markets that belong to us."

no far as the expense is concerned if we are to keep up the high cost of living and enjoy the other luxuries that we have recently enjoyed."

"But what is more serious, we have to have the sort of organization which is the only kind of organization that can handle armies of the sort that we may see what means of the German government that has been destroyed by fellow citizens, but it was the only sort of government that could handle an armed nation. You can't handle an armed nation by vote. You can't handle an armed nation if it is democratic because democracies don't go to war that way. You have got to have concentrated, military organization of government to run a nation of that sort."

Must Use Secret Agencies.

"And you can't watch other nations with your unaided eyes. You have got to watch them by secret agencies planted everywhere. And let me point to this, my fellow citizens, I not only did not know it until we got into this war, but I did not believe it until I was told that it was true. Germany was not the only country that maintained a secret service. Every country in Europe maintained it because they had to be ready for Germany's spring upon them and the only difference between the German secret service and the other secret services was that the German secret service found out more than the others did."

"Under the league plan the financial leadership will be ours; the industrial supremacy will be ours, the commercial advantage will be ours, and the other countries of the world will look to us, and, as I say, are looking to us, for leadership and attraction."

"Very well, then, if I am to compete with the critics of this league, and of this treaty, as a selfish American, may I want to get in and get in as quick as I can. I want to be inside and know how the thing is run and help to run it, so that you have the alternative: armed isolation or peaceful partnership."

"Can my sane man hesitate as to the choice, and can I say, as I say, a question, which is the way of peace?"

What Of Other Arrangements.

"I have heard some men say with an amusing ignorance that the covenant of the league of nations was an arrangement for war. Very well. The other arrangement, what would it be? An arrangement for peace, for kindness, for cooperation? Would everybody hearken us to their markets?"

"I cannot bring my crudity up to that point. I have reached years of discretion. And I have not some young man who knows a great deal more than some very old man."

"And what is the meaning? It is that the covenant of the league of nations is a covenant of arbitration and discussion."

"Has anybody ever told you that before? I dare say that everybody who has heard about this discussion Article 10."

"Well, there are twenty-five other articles in it and all of them are about something else."

Is Not a Quitter.

"They discuss how soon and how quick you can get out of it. Well, I am not a quitter for one. We can get out just as soon as we want to but we don't want to get out just as soon as we get in."

"And then they talk about the Monroe doctrine, when it expressly says that nothing in that instrument shall be construed as affecting in any way the validity of the Monroe doctrine. It says so in its own words. And all the other things they talk about draw your attention from the essential matter."

The essential matter is this: Every member of the league—and it will include all the fighting nations of the world except Germany, provided that they will never go to war without first submitting the questions at issue to arbitration and absolutely abiding by the decision of the arbitrators. Or, if they are not willing to submit to arbitration, submit it to discussion by the council of the league, that they will give the council of the league six months in which to consider it, and that if they do not like the opinion of the council, they will wait three months after the opinion is rendered before going to war."

Follow Both Parties.

"This afternoon a book I had forgotten all about, one of the campaign books of the last political campaign was put in my hands, and I found in that book the platform of the two parties, and in both these platforms they advocated just such an arrangement as the league of nations. When I was on the other side of the world I did not know that I was taking—obeying orders from both parties. But I was."

"Now I want you to understand my fellow citizens that I didn't leave Washington and come out on this trip because I doubted what was going to happen. I didn't. For one thing, I have wanted to have the pleasure of leaving Washington and for another thing I wanted to have the very much greater pleasure of feeling the inspiration that I would get from you. Things got very lonely in Washington some time. The real voice of the people of America come time enough faint and distant. In that strange city you hear bullets until you wish that both parties were smothered in their own gas."

"This nation went into the war to see it through to the end and the end has not come yet. This is the beginning not of the war but of the process, which, are going to render war like this impossible. There are not other processes than these that are proposed in this great treaty. It is a great treaty, it is a treaty of justice."

What's America's Choice.

"We are in the presence, therefore, of the most solemn choice that this people was ever called upon to make. That choice is nothing less than this: Shall America retain her place as the people of the world, and she has added to mankind at her birth; we have come to redeem the world by giving it liberty and justice. Now, we are called upon before the tribunal of mankind to redeem that immortal pledge."

 GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Sept. 5.—Harry J. Hiles, one of the most extensive stock raisers in western Nebraska, today purchased of local dealers five airplanes—one for his personal use in riding over his ranches and another larger one for the use of his family. Hiles engaged an experienced aviator to teach himself and family how to fly.

 —for preserving

Equal parts of Crimson Rambler Syrup and sugar make a thick, rich syrup for preserving.

Here is a good recipe for preserving Wild Blackberries. You will find that preserves put up the "Crimson Rambler Way" will crystallize or "candy" in the jar.

Wild Blackberry Jam
 Take one gallon of berries, thoroughly pick over and wash. Place in preserving kettle and pour over one pint of water. Cook until soft, being careful not to burn. Strain through woolen spoon, break fruit and press thru wire sieve into zinc jar, avoiding tin. Stir pulp thoroughly, take one cupful, put into small jar which has been prepared with Crimson Rambler Syrup and one pint of sugar. Bring to boil and cook rapidly 15 minutes, shake kettle during time to prevent sticking. When it begins to jelly it is done.
