RESERVATION WOULD REJECT PEACE TREATY

Change Proposed in Article 10 Would Make Renegotiation Necessary.

LEAGUE NOT TO BE SUPER-GOVERNMENT

Withdrawal Objection Is Another 'Bugaboo' Which Has Been Dispel'd, Asserts Wilson.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—Reading again the proposed league reservation to article 10 of the league covenant, President Wilson declared in an address here today that he would not "oblige as chief executive to regard it as a rejection of the treaty."

The president added that rejection of the treaty would mean negotiation of a separate peace with Germany, and asserted that such a negotiation could not change a single line of the peace settlement.

Recalling Japan's promise to return to China all sovereign rights in Shantung, the president said the only thing retained by the Tokyo government would be economic rights such as other nations hold. He said the United States had no right to doubt that promise. He characterized as "empty noise" the professions of friendship for China made by those who want the treaty to fail.

Turning to the league covenant, the president said the question of whether the heart of the league covenant was to be cut out soon must come to a "show-down." "It would mean the violation of the whole plan, he asserted. If the nation were to make reservations to article 10 as proposed in the senate.

No Super-Government.
One by one, said he, the other objections to the covenant had been disposed of. To all "canard" minds, he asserted, it now was apparent that the Monroe Doctrine was not affected, that there was no super-government set up and that no danger was to be feared from the "speaking parts" given to the British dominions in the league assembly. The withdrawal objection, he added, was another "bugaboo" that had been dispelled.

Thus, continued Mr. Wilson, the whole discussion had settled down upon article 10, under which the members agree to preserve an entire territorial integrity against external aggression. He declared this cut at the "up-root of war" because nearly all wars started from aggression against "those unable to defend themselves."

"The reservation read by the president was the same that he had before his audience last night at the Salt Lake City tabernacle. By its provisions the United States would assume no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity and other nations would assume no such obligation."

FRANCE WILL DEPEND UPON AN ALLIANCE

Britain and the United States, he added, were not dependent upon the league. They would come into force, and France would be protected.

During the course of Mr. Tardieu's speech, M. Barthou interrupted and demanded an immediate reply as to what situation France would be in.

placed in about the United States not ratify. He added that it was through delay he had refrained from asking this question before, and he wished now hoped that the senate would finally begin the discussion and reach by conclusion. But now this seemed hopeless, and the question must be settled immediately, as American satisfaction was distant if it occurred at all.

M. Tardieu declared that he personally was satisfied that the United States senate would ratify the treaty. M. Barthou countered, saying that he was far from satisfied, and citing the vote of 43 to 37 on Senator Lodge's motion for postponement as "a fair warning of the ultimate fate of the pact."

M. Tardieu's reply that "legally speaking" the league could exist without America's participation brought a retort from M. Barthou that what France wanted was political guarantees, not legal guarantees. He asserted that the government must face the issue immediately.

Depend On Alliances.

President Clemenceau said that the United States could reject the league of nations, yet treaties of alliance between France and Great Britain and France and the United States exist. Nevertheless, it was precisely because we felt that the league would maintain our independence that those treaties were drawn up. The league for the present has nothing to do with the Franco-British-American treaties, which constitute sufficient guarantees for France.

CLAIMS TRENANT KEEPS HIM FROM GETTING CITY WATER

A temporary injunction was issued yesterday by Judge W. A. Habeck restraining the Elite Millinery company from interfering with the installation of a city water connection in the property on West Main street owned by M. E. Hoover.

The court will hear evidence on October 3 as to whether or not the injunction should be made permanent. According to the complaint filed in the action, E. F. Wilson has violated a five-year covenant of the grantor by erecting a building on the Johnson Plumbing and Heating company. It is claimed he has refused to let Hoover have a plumber connect the building with the city water main.

LEGAL GAMBLING IS DEAD IN LEADVILLE

Devices Valued At $7000 Are Put On City Dump and Burned.

LEADVILLE, Colo., Sept. 24.—That the gambling of Leadville is a thing of the past, at least insofar as the legal phases of winning of the gambling of chance are concerned, was demonstrated here this week when gambling paraphernalia, consisting principally of roulette wheels and valued conservatively at $7,000, was carted to the city dump grounds by deputy sheriffs and there burned. The destruction of the big pile of gambling apparatus came about as the result of a court order issued following the spectacular raid conducted here on August 16.

One roulette wheel destroyed by the officers was valued at about $2,500. It was originally a single table but had been converted into a double one. The numbers on the original table were laid with mother pearl, ebony, ironwood, mahogany, teakwood and rosewood. The wheel was made of mahogany and ebony and all points and metal parts of solid silver. The ball used on the wheel was solid ivory. The addition consisted of an ordinary, cheaply constructed table with the numerals painted on heavy oil cloth. An interesting feature in connection with the particular layout was that it could be controlled by the house. The control was of the double type—that is, it could be manipulated either by the croupier or operator or by someone located in an adjacent room. Whether this feature was over used could not be determined.

Other articles destroyed in the fire included card tables, Faro tables, playing cards, poker chips and Faro boxes.

THOMAS SAYS STRIKE NEAR TO CIVIL WAR

tremists who now have the upper hand."
Having his address on his resolution which denounces strikes of violence and declares the "closed shop" to be un-American, Senator Thomas asserted that the strike was called on the threat of the refusal of Chairman Gary of the United States corporation to meet the union representatives.

"It not that, some other, excuse would have been resorted to," said the Colorado senator, who added that he regretted Judge Gary's refusal to talk things over with the men's representatives.

Referring to reports that 211 strikes are in progress in the country and 23 others threatened, Mr. Thomas asserted that no strikes could be successful without violence.

"The spectacle of hundreds of thousands of men engaged in such enterprises becomes almost evil eyes," he declared, "the situation practically is one of war and the innocent bystanders—the vast majority of the people—bear all the perils and burdens of this horrible situation."

"This steel strike is not a movement suddenly springing up nor suddenly conceived. It was planned before the war to occur when conditions were favorable.

"There are no grievances involved in this strike," Mr. Thomas continued, "which are not exact facts. It is stated that this is a strike for power. The leaders propose to enforce their will upon great industries so that it will lead to the closed shop."

Demands Changed Suddenly.
In Colorado, Mr. Thomas said, the men of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company were notified of a conference with the employers but were invited to confer and presented no grievances incapable of adjustment.

In the midst of the Colorado conference, he said, the men suddenly received the new demands of Secretary Fisher, of the general strike committee.

Senator Thomas said he had always defended organized labor but he would do so in no way, in no manner, to accomplish its aims by lawful means, he said, not by turning the nation topsy turvy, adding to the high cost of living, to say nothing of bloodshed and terror.

Depend of exemption in behalf of labor organizations under the anti-trust laws an urged by Senator Thomas, who declared the exemption was class legislation, and added:

"We are now enjoying some of the consequences. How do you like it, gentlemen? We have said to labor: you are above and beyond the laws; all we ask is that you vote for us." Chairman Plummerick and Secretary Foster of the strikers committee were attacked by Senator Thomas, who compared the former to the lawyer, and said "both are pitiless, lawless and autocratic, and should come under the condemnation of all honest men."

In conclusion Senator Thomas predicted the steel strike would fall in its principal object, which, he said, was "introduction of socialism into the country."

FADITIES EARLY WIN AT COLUMBIA HACES

COLUMBIA, N. Y., Sept. 24.—In a program of grand circuit events full of good stories and in several of them good strong competition, on a football field with a big crowd looking on, most of the favorites today carried off their backers, and no long shots to speak of, went over in the betting.

McGregor the Great won another good looking stake in the 212 yards eye event from his rival Macdonald. He never was in trouble.

In the Board of Trade 2:05 race there was much division of opinion about the ability of Sanzaro again to defeat Gray. Three men—the dit-head, the boy and the boy—were the favorites. Sanzaro won in straight heats, however, in three hard miles. Best time was 2:08 3-4 made in the first heat. This was the fastest mile of the meeting so far.

McGregor also won the Chamber of Commerce 2:05 trot with Don J. Lopez, who he drove for the Geers stable. Hollywood Kato was the big favorite, but also broke in three of the four heats.

The three year old trot, the Western Horseman's variety had four starters. Perhaps won't even appear after dropping the first heat to Brusloff, due to a break. Don J. also took the unfinished 2:17 pace, left over from yesterday.

GERMAN BOY MAY BE GIVEN MOTHER

Taken to Germany by Stepfather, Lad May Be Through Back to States.

PARIS, Sept. 23.—Joseph Fringer, a 13-year-old Chicago boy, who was taken to Germany in 1914 by his father, is 214, may be restored to his mother in the Illinois city, as a result of his adoption as a mascot by one of the American units at Coblenz. The boy's mother is Mrs. Emma Fringer of 33 Dearborn street, South Chicago.

He was brought by American military police the other day to the office of Captain Paul E. Peck, formerly dean of Grinnell college, Grinnell, Iowa, and now head of the home service work of the American Red Cross in Europe. Captain Peck learned that in 1916 the boy's father died and the mother remarried. Early in 1914 the stepfather, George Fringer, took the boy from Chicago to Germany.

When the war broke out, the stepfather entered the German army and was killed. For a time the boy made his home with relatives in Berlin and then drifted to Coblenz where he attached himself to one of the regiments. His guardianship, which was in writing a letter to his mother who responded immediately urging him to come back to her at once.

When the regiment left for America several unsuccessful efforts were made by his soldier friends to smuggle the boy aboard the transport, but each time he was detected and sent ashore. Finally he was sent back to Paris. The Red Cross took up the boy's case with the American Passport Bureau and he has secured proof of identity that will enable the boy to start for home and mother shortly.

WILSON AGREES TO INTERPRETATIONS

Tells Colorado Audience that Such Method Would Not Hurt the Peace Treaty.

Continued On Page Eight. PUEBLO, Colo., Sept. 25.—Declaring his fight for the peace treaty to a direct issue of acceptance or rejection, President Wilson today invited the senate to take a definite and unambiguous stand—no way—or the other. After declaring it would be his duty as chief executive to judge whether the senate's action constituted acceptance or rejection, should reservations be incorporated in the ratification, the president asked a question that he did not consider "qualified adoption" as adoption in fact. He said, however, that he saw no objection to mere interpretations.

OPERATORS CLAIM SCALE RUNS TO 1920

First Conference Between the Coal Miners and Operators at Buffalo.

By the Associated Press. BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The first response of the soft coal operators to the demands of the United Mine Workers of America for a new wage scale, effective November 1, with the alternative of a general strike on that date, will be based on the argument that the present Washington wage agreements run for the duration of the war, or until April 1, 1920, if the war is not ended by that time and that these, therefore, reason to put a new scale into effect November 1.

Compers to Be Questioned Today by Senate Labor Committee—Foster Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press. Indianapolis last night were that the great steel strike, entering its fifth day might prove a prolonged struggle, for following a statement by John Fitzpatrick, director general of the strike, that the walkout could be ended immediately if the United States Steel corporation would agree to arbitrate, Robert H. Gary, directing head of the corporation gave it as his personal opinion that, because of "moral principles" involved in the struggle the directors could not do that without the opinion of the stockholders. A similar stand was taken by E. G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel company, who, replying last night to demands of his 35,000 employees, who have threatened to strike unless a general conference is held to negotiate with the steel workers' national committee. Mr. Fitzpatrick appeared in Washington before the senate labor committee, which is seeking a way to resolve the situation and make his declaration concerning the manner in which the strike could be brought to an end. Compers On Stand Today. At the close of hearing, Senator Kenyon, chairman of the committee, announced Senator Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor, would be questioned today and William Z. Foster, secretary of the strikers' national committee, tomorrow. Mr. Gary will appear next Wednesday to present the employers' side of the controversy. Developments in the zone of action yesterday were: 1. Pittsburgh district: Neither side claimed any great gains, although each contended the flow of work was gaining its way. 2. Pittsburgh district: Neither of plants showed an apparent increase of activity, but claims of employees that several thousand men had returned were stoutly denied by steel leaders. 3. Ohio district: Industry has almost completely paralyzed lost semi-skilled and unskilled workers in the Mahoning valley have called a meeting for today to vote on returning to work. 4. Buffalo: Three unions of Great Lakes Steamship workers voted for sympathetic strike. 5. Colorado district: Conference held last night at Pueblo by Colorado Fuel and Iron company to seek basis of settlement. No Serious Disorders. Yesterday was marked by absence of serious disorder. Interest was aroused by arrival in Pittsburgh of William Z. Foster, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, said to be "investigating charges of 'radicalism' against strikers and of 'intimidation' against employers.

DECLARE AGREEMENT RUNS THROUGHOUT WAR

Formal Answer to Demands to Await Presentation of Cleveland Decision by the Workers.

By the Associated Press. BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The first response of the soft coal operators to the demands of the United Mine Workers of America for a new wage scale, effective November 1, with the alternative of a general strike on that date, will be based on the argument that the present Washington wage agreements run for the duration of the war, or until April 1, 1920, if the war is not ended by that time and that these, therefore, reason to put a new scale into effect November 1.

After the president's special had pulled out of that city several minutes ahead of the others were given to sleep in the open plains about ten miles out, and the president, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and Dr. Cary P. JAPAN TO ASK CHINA TO CONFER ON SHANTUNG CASE

TOKIO, Sept. 25.—Japan is planning officially to invite China to confer on the Shantung situation after Japan has ratified the peace treaty.

THE HIGHEST PINNACLE OF FAME AND WEALTH

Those who had spoken in the debate, the premier pointed out, had criticized the details of the treaty, which must be considered accepted or rejected as a whole, whether the instrument was helpful or harmful to France. The treaty was "the emblem of possibilities" which was worth the future, raising classes of France would make it by their labor.

EFFORTS TREMENDOUS

The premier's effort was tremendous. He remained on the tribune for more than two hours. Many times he seemed to weaken, his voice becoming so low as to be almost inaudible beyond the first row of government benches. But he waved off the advice from all quarters of the chamber of "rest" and doggedly continued to display his indomitable spirit. He paced lightly over the tribune, which has been prominent in the debate, that the French language is not the official language of the treaty, saying: "It is not my fault if the English language is spoken by nearly two-thirds of the civilized world."

TO PROLONG DEBATE

The chamber's apparent determination to prolong the debate as long as possible was not deterred by the premier's request for a vote on the treaty today, for while M. Clemenceau was speaking, several deputies inscribed their names on President Decehnan's list as participants in the debate. M. Clemenceau warned the chamber that if it refused to ratify the treaty, it would make it an instrument of death to France, while if the chamber ratified the instrument, France would become imbued with its spirit, which would mean the life and restoration of the country. The debate held fair to run well into next month, unless the government forces a vote or allow the chamber to cancel the privileges of those who have expressed their intention of speaking. This the premier seemed disinclined to do.

MUCH SUGAR PURCHASED BY U. S. REFINERIES

It was announced here today.

LETTERS SHOW WIDE RANGE OF THOUGHTS

Colonel Roosevelt Disclosed Various Side of Character in His Epistles.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Delving into the name of 150,000 letters which Theodore Roosevelt wrote during his public career, such Bucklin Whipple, the editor of Scribner's Magazine, brings to light a number of "items" in the intimate correspondence between the former president of the United States and Mr. George Otis Trevelyan, Bart., of St. English anatomy and what without the great American enjoyed a rare friendship covering 20 years. Mr. Bishop's paper, the second of the series, entitled "Roosevelt and Trevelyan," reveals the many-sided Roosevelt as far as his letters are concerned. His warm sympathy for authors and his broad and profound knowledge of ancient and modern literature. Even amid the cares of the presidency, Mr. Roosevelt, it is shown, maintained a regular correspondence with leaders of literary and intellectual life both in this country and Europe. In St. George Trevelyan, a nephew of the historian Macaulay, he found a man singularly responsive to his own intellectual tastes and interests. The correspondence began when he was governor of New York and continued until a few months before Mr. Roosevelt's death. "I certainly would not be willing to hold the presidency at the cost of failing to do things which make the real reason why I care to hold it at all," he wrote to Sir George on May 29, 1904. "I had much rather be president for three years and a half than a figurehead for seven years and a half. I think I can truthfully say that I now have to my credit a sum of substantial achievement—and rest must take care of itself." Trevelyan, in 1929, Trevelyan had sent Governor Roosevelt a copy of the first part of his history, "The American Revolution," which made a deep impression on its recipient and which he praised for "its interest, delightful humor, absolute fairness and and expanse of narrative," an opinion which "was shared" by Senator Lodge and Elihu Root, both of whom later joined with Roosevelt in buying a silver loving cup and sending it to Sir George as a token of their appreciation. Roosevelt, his biographer says, was always on the alert for writers of only "even moderate fame" and encouraging them with frequent letters and invitations to visit him at the White House or Oyster Bay. The books that made the present happy career—a remarkable range, history, fiction, philosophy, travel, zoology, ornithology, anthropology, religion and art and he said they were his read and digestion he could get in no other way, "and even on horse back." Statements and apothegms characteristically Rooseveltian abound in this collection of letters. Some of them are here reproduced for the first time in any newspaper: "A great few people owe it to itself and to mankind not to sink into helplessness before the powers of evil." "Unfortunately for us, small men do most of the historic teaching in the world. The great historians have had the scientific spirit, able to unravel and weigh the facts." "The presidential office tends to put a premium upon a man's keeping out of trouble rather than upon his accomplishing results. The shortest is way and to vote with his back to the fence." "I do not think the average American multi-millionaire a very high type and I do not much admire him, on the whole our people are, spiritually as well as materially, on the average better and not worse off than they were 100 years ago." "Each man knows where his own shoe pinches. I have had a most vivid realization of what it must have meant to Abraham Lincoln, in the midst of the heart-breaking activities of the Civil War, to have to take up his toes trying to satisfy candidates for postmaster." "There are numerous and grave evils incident to free government, but after all it is still and done I cannot imagine any real man being willing to live under any other system." "Benedict Arnold! What a base web was spun through the worst of his wild daring. He was at least a Lucifer, that child of thunder and lover of the battle's hottest heat."

"The more I read Carlyle the more heary grow my contempt for his brilliant definition of humor." "I have never understood public men who get nervous about assassination. (Written shortly after the attack upon his life in Milwaukee in 1912.) For the last 11 years I have of course understood that I might at any time be shot and probably would be shot some time. I think I have come off uncommonly well. I cannot understand any serious-minded public man not being so absorbed in the great and vital questions with which he has to deal as to exclude thoughts of assassination. It was not a question of courage." "Colonel Roosevelt, in what was probably one of his latest letters to Sir George in 1918, referred to the fact that his four sons and a son-in-law were fighting for the allies. "After referring to them in terms of affection and that he would not for anything 'have them anywhere else,' he concluded: 'I fear we would welcome their return home, each with an arm of a leg off, so that they could feel that they had played their part manfully—and yet we could have them back.'"

BEET SUGAR WILL RELIEVE SHORTAGE

Rationing Can Be Eliminated by November 15, Says Food Administration Chairman.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—Temp rary relief from the sugar shortage that has resulted in retailers raising their customers in some instances to one pound at a time, is in sight with the coming on the market of the western beet sugar crop, according to Henry H. Hopp, chairman of the food administration's sugar distributing committee and president of the United States Sugar Manufacturers' association, which met today. "Rationing" could be eliminated by November 15, he believes. But unless the government took some further action to control the sugar market next year might see prices soaring to 15 cents or even 20 cents a pound to the consumer. The shortage this year probably would be accentuated next year, he said. While the manufacturers were in session the United States District Attorney Charles F. Cline telegraphed Attorney General Palmer, urging that the endeavor to have the sugar equalization board take charge of the 1919 sugar crop at once. A serious shortage was threatened unless some action to be taken, Mr. Cline said with references planning to export large quantities. Mr. Hopp pointed to the world shortage caused by the war which stopped production in the best raising areas of Europe, as the prime cause of the present shortage.

MISSOULA, Mont., Sept. 24.—Squirrel caches of pine cones are sought each year by foresters in Montana in gathering cones for planting purposes. The work this year will begin about October 15. Some times a single squirrel's cache will yield as high as 15 or 20 bushels, though usually the yield is about five bushels. The squirrels store the cones in damp places to prevent drying and the seeds falling out. About 100 pounds of Douglas fir seed and 25 pounds of larch seed will be gathered this year.

JAPANESE FLOCK TO UNITED STATES

Witness Claims That Number Coming Into This Country Exceeds Those Entitled to Do So.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—Japan was charged with "harsh violations" of the commonly-termed gentleman's agreement with this country by V. R. McClatchy of Sacramento, Cal., and Miller Freeman of Seattle, today before the house immigration committee. Testifying in connection with the committee's consideration of the bill which would permit a certain percentage of the nationals of a country to enter the United States each year, both McClatchy and Mr. Freeman said that Japanese control of many industries in Washington, Oregon, California and Colorado was being entangled through violations of the agreement which forbids the entry of Japanese laborers, both skilled and unskilled into the United States.

"The Japanese government is issuing passports under anything but the heading of labor," declared Freeman, adding that violation of the agreement was obvious for soon after the immigrants landed they could be found at work on farms and elsewhere along the Pacific coast.

Both witnesses urged, exclusion of the Japanese, asserting their admission is creating an economic menace of the entire country.

In California, Mr. McClatchy said, the Japanese produce 90 per cent of the strawberry and canning tomatoes; 80 per cent of the onions, papayas, tomatoes, celery lettuce and cut flowers; 55 per cent of the cabbage and seeds; 40 per cent of the potatoes; 30 per cent of the beans and 10 per cent of the grapes, fruit and rice. He cited Japanese authorities to support his statement and added that the tuna and sardine fisheries in the southern part of the state also were falling into control.

In Oregon, McClatchy said, half of the Hood river valley apple crop is under Japanese control, while in Colorado, the Rocky Mountain crop is 45 per cent Japanese controlled. In Seattle, Mr. Freeman related that hotels, groceries, garages, truck gardening and miscellaneous "small businesses are fast coming under their domination.

American merchants are unable to compete with the Japanese, the witnesses declared, because of the foreigners' low standards of living, long hours of industry and close cooperation among themselves, together with the financial support of their home government.

Since 1909 the Japanese population in this country has increased six fold, Mr. McClatchy asserted, while the Chinese under the two-act law have increased one-half to two times in number.

Chicago's White Sox were in splendid form when I saw them play.

Kid Gleason was dead sure of his team. The team was sure of itself.

Chief Sam Williams showed up strong in the pitching.

So strong was the self-confidence and assurance of the members that the air about them was confidence inspiring.

Philadelphia's Reds who will meet the Chicagoans in a nine game series were also in top notch condition, when I saw them in Cincinnati.

Slim Sallee was in good trim, good enough to meet the White Sox in the series' first game.

And there were at least five other good pitchers.

They're a pretty well matched set of battlers for champs. It's nearly an even bet.

But I'm betting on the White Sox, instinctively, I guess.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us—look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only you men and women were induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddily complexions instead of the thousands of "nervous wrecks," "run-downs," "brain fags" and pessimists we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-checked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of hot hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, "sour elements," sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headaches, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds and, particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often are urged to obtain a quarter of a pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb, purifies to contain the blood while the pores in the thirty feet of

CALIFORNIA FIRES CAUSE BIG LOSSES

Troops From Camp Kearney Sent Into One Place to Aid in Fighting Blazes.

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 25.—Forest fires raged in four different sections of California today, adding to the big losses in money and timber that have been experienced since the beginning of the fire season, up until midnight.

The fire which had virtually surrounded Placerville for three days, was reported to be under control to Santa Cruz county and the Angeles national forest in southern California were the two biggest fires reported. The Angeles-forest fire was said to be burning over 10,000 acres, but the fire in the Redwood park was said to be threatening the destruction of that place. Soldiers from Camp Kearney were ordered placed at the disposal of the forest service in fighting the Angeles forest fire.

Two thousand feet of the Southern Pacific company's snow sheds in Placer county were reported by the forest service to have burned today, and the fire there was said to be uncontrolled.

Trains going from and coming to San Francisco over the Sierra were held up until midnight.

The fire which had virtually surrounded Placerville for three days, was reported to be under control to

BLIGHTED POPULATIONS.

The war, people say, is over. But the results of the war are not yet realized. They go far beyond the material devastation, the loss of life and the wreckage of bodies. The Germans, by their great blow at civilization, have done something to the minds of the nations they fought.

Consider the people of Lille, as described by Philip Gibbs, the war correspondent. One of the finest pieces of writing turned out during the war was Gibbs' account of the joy in Lille when the British entered it, after the armistice last November. The people then, forgetting their hardships, were wild with enthusiasm. They seemed brimming over with hope and new energy. But it seems to have been only a temporary outburst. They had suffered too much and too long. They could not hold that spiritual pitch.

Their great factories are idle, because the machinery stolen by the Germans has not yet been returned, and poor transport in France prevents them getting raw material. But there are other causes for idleness, physical and mental.

"Lille is a city of sick children, many of whom are suffering from consumption, rickets and all manner of diseases as the heritage of four years of undernourishment."

There is a whole generation stunted and crippled. And what of the heritage that generation will leave to the next? More than that:

"The mind of the people is sick. The war seems to have changed the man who fought in it or suffered in it. They demand higher wages or will not work at all. They look out for any way of pleasure and have no thrift. There are crimes of violence in dark streets at night. In Lille, as in Amiens, there is much drunkenness. There is no revival of normal life; and there the blessed word 'reconstruction' spoken in Paris as a magic word, a word of power, is only a fetish and will-o'-the-wisp."

So the blight of an evil Prussian war has fallen upon the soul of a people formerly noted for sobriety, thrift and industry. So it has fallen upon people by millions, in many nations. Who can reckon the sum of it, or see the end of it?

And who, seeing such bitter fruits of international rivalry and competitive armament, can tolerate the continuance of the old system.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT.

With the enactment of the law to make federal prohibition effective, one of the hardest tasks of law enforcement that ever fell to the lot of a public official devolves upon Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue.

It seems odd that congress should have given the job to this particular department which has heretofore been purely a revenue-collecting agency, and whose relations to the liquor traffic might be supposed to have terminated with the ending of that traffic. Mr. Roper protested vigorously, but without effect. He has therefore announced that, if he must enforce that law, he is going to do it thoroughly.

To this end he asks for the cooperation of all federal, state, municipal and other public officials, down to the smallest town constable, and for the moral support of the public; without which there can be no hope of success. He has started to build up a strong force of agents to report violations and collect evidence. The work will be carried on in conjunction with the department of justice. A joint appropriation of $3,500,000 has been provided for that purpose. The chief burden, however, is assumed by the internal revenue department.

Thus far there has been little attempt at enforcement. The law has operated chiefly through the acquiescence of liquor manufacturers and dealers and the natural law-abiding tendency of the American public. There has been of late, however, a growing tendency to disregard the law. Laxity cannot be tolerated. It is necessary for the nation's self-respect if for no deeper reason, to carry out its provisions in the spirit and letter. This the government will try to do, and all good citizens should help as best they can.

THE PRIZE ROOSTER.

He was only a rooster, but what a rooster! He was as big as a good sized bulldog, and his feathers shone in the afternoon sun. On the outside of his cage were a blue ribbon from the Ohio State fair and another blue ribbon from the Lorain County fair, and the judges were just awarding him a third blue ribbon from the Cuyahoga County fair.

He was a Buff Orpington sent by one of the members of the boys' and girls' poultry club. More than this, he was only one of many animals conspicuous for points and beauty exhibited at one county fair by the various children's clubs of the vicinity. One boy took the prize from the class open to all exhibitors for the number of eggs from one hen, and the money in crease on his investment.

Nobody can visit the county fairs this year and not be impressed by the size and beauty of the children's exhibits, nor fail to realize how stimulating an effect this public recognition will have upon their further efforts, and what an influence this club idea is having in keeping boys and girls happy and interested on the farms.

HARMFUL IN RESULTS.

On the seventeenth of this month the Ohio federation of farm bureaus, at a meeting at Columbus, adopted a resolution against the movement to shorten hours of labor. It expressed the belief that reducing the hours of the working day is "bad in precedent and will be harmful in results."

If there is any class of worker who might be expected to long for a shorter day it is the farmer, whose work is never done. Perhaps it is because the farmer sees in his work how quickly any relaxation of effort is followed by a falling off in production, that he is opposed to undue shortening of the working day.

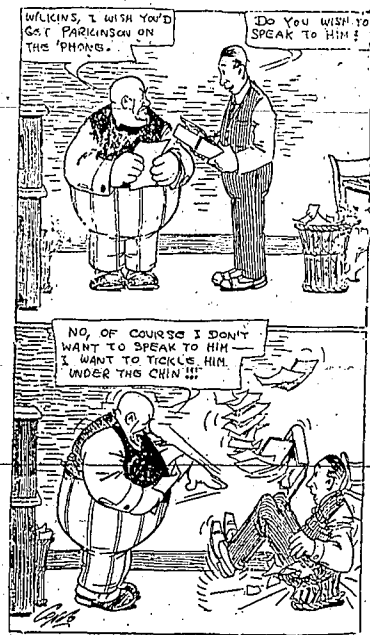

This action of the farm bureaus is particularly interesting in view of the demand of many workers not only for a shorter day, but a shorter week, and also in view of a headline over a foreign dispatch. The latter reads: "Germans Working 14 Hours Daily in Race for Big World Trade."

No one in this country wishes to urge a 14-hour day. It has been proved conclusively that such a day is too fatiguing for best results. Whether or not in the end the eight-hour day will also prove to be too long, it is certainly not too long in the present emergency when increased production of every commodity is so greatly needed. Workers in every branch of industry should give thoughtful attention to the farmers' protest.

If one half the world doesn't know how the other half lives, it can get the movie habit and find out.

Maximilian Harding says the Germans think the former crown prince pretty. That's nothing. They thought the kaiser a strategist.

BASEBALL SPORTS BOXING

BASEBALL NEARLY 100 YEARS OLD

Game Still Existence As "Round-Ball" In Thirteenth Century

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—With the coming of the world's series baseball takes a paramount place in the thoughts of many persons. The word "baseball" as a designation for the national pastime came in existence in the thirteenth of the last century, according to historians, and is the evolution of the name "round-ball" which later became "gobball" because the game was played on town meetings.

There are two schools of thought on the origin of the game of baseball. Some claim that the game is the evolution of the old English game of "rounders," while others claim in their writings that the sport is of strictly American origin. Writers of the first group say the game of "rounders" can be traced to the Netherlands, and in turn to Egypt, even going as far as to suggest that the Sphinx may have been the first umpire.

Those who favor the idea that the game originated with Americans, by Americans and for Americans are in the majority, however, and to Alexander J. Cartwright, a New York man, the credit for originating the game as now played is given by many writers.

In 1842, it is written, Cartwright broke in on a game of "one-old-cat" in which a gang of New York boys were playing on the Murray Hill grounds and with a stick scratched a diamond in the dust, telling the boys this was the game they should play and suggesting a player for each has three "bases" in the outfield, a pitcher as a catcher. In the early days when the game resembled cricket and any ball hit by the batter was "foul" the catcher had a scout to assist him.

The game as suggested by Cartwright took form quickly and on September 23, 1845, the Knickerbocker club in New York was formed, having the honor of being the first baseball club, according to historical writers of the game. The first record of the new game was played between the Knickerbocker club and another New York team on the Elysian Fields, Hoboken, N. J. The New York team won 23 to 1. The first tabulated score ever kept of the game, historical record, was that printed in the New York Clipper July 16, 1853.

The contest was played on July 5 of that year between the Knickerbocker and Gotham teams. In the early days runs were called "aces" and a team had to make 21 to have enough to win. Little one of the early set of rules, copies of which have been preserved, says that all players "must be impartial and observe the time for the commencing of the game." This provision was necessary because in those days no bases on balls were possible and it was not uncommon for the pitcher to throw for half an hour before the batter decided to strike.

Very few changes in the basic principles of the game as set forth in the original 20 rules, made in 1845, have been made. In rule two of the original set it is provided that "before the commencement of the game the president shall appoint an umpire who shall keep the game by a book and note all the violations of the rules" and "seventeen" states that there shall be no appeal from the umpire's decision in case of a dispute. In 1848 a rule making it necessary for a player to be "batted out" was added to the original code and at this time sliding in the bases made its appearance. Other changes were made from time to time making the principles of the game the same as they stand today.

Beginning with the Knickerbocker and Gotham clubs other organizations sprung into being and a pioneer convention of baseball clubs was held in May, 1857. The next year 25 clubs sent delegates to New York and "The National Association of Baseball Players" was formed. In the late fifties the game spread to Boston, Portland, Maine, took up the pastime in 1859, and Buffalo and Rochester, N. Y., followed. Chicago started the game in 1856 and two years later was playing match games with Milwaukee.

When the game spread to San Francisco in 1852 it developed into a wild sport. Professional gamblers who feasted the Pacific coast towns in the early days let heavily on the game, according to historical accounts, and the "seventeen" in the habit of shooting off revolvers when a fielder was about to catch the ball.

Records show that New Orleans took the Civil war and a city so hot sport temporarily left the soldiers in the camps played and writers say the war had a great deal to do with the spread of the sport over the entire country.

In 1861 the Savannah team, accompanied by 700 men and voters went to Charleston to fight for the championship of the south. It is chronicled.

Harvard university combined with the town boys in 1865 and organized the first college baseball team. Later Tufts and Yale followed. In 1865 and 1865 the "Athletic" of Brooklyn won all their games and held undisputed title until 1866 when the Philadelphia Athletics stepped in and handed the champions a defeat.

The two teams played before a crowd estimated at 30,000 on October 1, 1866, and the Athletics won 21 to 12.

It was considered a disgrace to take money for playing in the early days, but in 1866 three members of the Brooklyn team were paid $10 a week for playing. This, according to historians, was the turning point in the game toward professionalism. The first professional team is credited to Rockford, Ill., where Al G. Spalding organized the "Base Ball" team. Harry Wright, who went to Philadelphia in 1867 from the Washington Nationals, writers give the credit for importing non-residence players for his team.

The 1871 professional, amateur and semi-professional clubs had sprung up all over the country and baseball truly became the national sport. In 1875 the "Association of Baseball Players" expelled the Chicago club for refusing to play a return game. The Boston, Boston, Boston, Boston and McVey and some other Boston players jumped to Chicago. The Spalding revolution is given as the reason for the formation of the National League in 1876.

The newly formed National League and for rivals the International Association and in 1900 the American League which stands today as the only rival.

OH TAXES KEEP UP THE CARIBBEAN GOVERNMENT

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—For the first time the government has obtained official figures showing the extent to which the petroleum industry supports the government of Mexico by payment of taxes. From President Carranza's statement in his recent message to the Mexican congress, a copy of which has been received here, it is disclosed that the petroleum companies pay 10 per cent of the total revenue received by Mexico from all sources of taxation, more than is received from taxes on all metals. Mexico's total revenue was more than 137,000,000 pesos, of which petroleum paid more than 13,000,000. Carranza stated that the petroleum revenue also was four million pesos more than it was a year ago.

FACTIONS ARE LINGERING ON TREATY FIGHT

Indications that Attitude of Doubtful Senators Will Be Made Known Shortly.

JOHNSON TO RESUME HIS TRIP TO COAST

Ashurst, Democrat of Arizona Announces that He Stands for the Pact Without Change.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—While the German peace treaty received only brief consideration in the senate today outside developments indicated that the factions were lining up for the real fight over the league of nations covenant.

The outstanding feature of the day was the announcement by Senator Johnson, republican, California, that he would leave tomorrow for the Pacific coast to keep his attack on the treaty which, was accepted to mean finally that his proposed amendment to equalize the volume of power of the United States and Great Britain would not be called for weeks hence.

Ashurst for Treaty.

Next in public interest was the news that Senator Ashurst, democrat of Arizona, had telegraphed President Wilson that he would vote for ratification of the treaty, believing he could render the country and the world a great service by accepting it as it is without amendment or reservation. This statement was considered particularly reassuring by democratic leaders because of persistent reports that he would oppose the pact in its present form.

Next before adjournment Senator Leavell, republican, Wisconsin, made his position clear by stating that he would not vote to ratify the treaty if under article 10 of the United States was obligated to send troops abroad to preserve the territorial integrity of members of the league.

Senator New, republican, Indiana and Senator Smith, democrat of Maryland, divided the debate of the day, the former attacking the treaty and the latter defending it and urging its speedy ratification. But there was no applause, the galleries evidently taking to heart the previous warning of the vice president that this would result in rejection of those violating the standing rule of the senate.

In the house of representatives King republican of Illinois introduced a resolution proposing the support of the body for the senators "admitting non-Americans." The resolution

FARMERS WATCH BEAN HARVESTER

Great Interest Displayed in Exhibition Being Made by Harris

Farmers of the tract who are interested in bean growing are watching with unusual interest the demonstrations of the Harris combined bean harvester being conducted on the J. H. Morris farm near Curry. On this farm Quincy Feater has grown a very fine crop of beans. There have been thousands in rows which the combined harvester is handling at a speed which is extremely interesting to those who grow beans.

Yesterday large numbers of farmers visited the field to watch the demonstration, which is the first to be made on the tract.

The Harris combine was made to suit the conditions found in the bean fields of California. There the beans after being cut are rickled by the use of a side delivery rack. Then, after they are dry, the harvester gathers them from the ground, they are separated and the filled sacks are dropped along the rows. The straw from the beans may be either spread over the ground or saved in piles, as desired by the grower.

On this tract, because of the absence of side delivery racks, the beans were thrown in rows by forks.

The California method of harvesting not only saves a larger percentage of beans, but the use of the side delivery rack saves much expense of labor in shattering the vines, and also saves the planting and the labor of hauling to the separator.

The increase each year of the bean acreage on the tract has resulted in no time study for an outfit of harvesting which will save a larger percentage of the beans and at the same time reduce the expense of labor. The experiments with the methods and machines used in the California tract is therefore being watched very closely by farmers generally.

The demonstrations are being conducted under direction of J. W. Hearup, who represents the Harris people in this territory.

FARMERS WATCH BEAN HARVESTER

Col., and as far north as Rosemount, Mont. The first game is to be played here with Colorado College, October 11.

Veterans, who it is expected will form the backbone of this year's team include: Thomas, Norman, Winder, Yarrick, Fisher, Lee, Prouse, Vandel Peterson, Charles McGill and Bill Gardner, who made an excellent showing recently with the Olympic club at San Francisco against the Yerkes High Naval training station.

STRIKE MAY RESULT IN A STALEMATE

The "workers' committee" the men would not have walked out. Fitzpatrick said, but an agreement for a conference now would not result in the men returning to work.

CAN NOT NEGOTIATE

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—After being shown an Associated Press dispatch quoting J. Fitzpatrick, director general of the steel strike, as saying the walkout would end immediately if the United States Steel corporation would arbitrate differences, Elbert H. Gary, directing head of the corporation, declared in a statement tonight, speaking for himself, that he believed the board of directors "cannot negotiate or confer with Mr. Fitzpatrick or his associates."

UNSKILLED WOULD GO BACK

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 25.—What appears to be the first move in an effort to bring about resumption of the operations in the steel plants of the Mahoning valley, where 44,000 men are out of work, he made tomorrow when a number of employers are scheduled to be held by semi-skilled and unskilled laborers to consider action on returning to work.

At strike headquarters it is believed that the manufacturers are back of the movement and that the unions have absolutely no contact with them. On the other hand, the manufacturers disclaim any responsibility for or knowledge of the proposed meeting, insisting that if such meetings are planned the men themselves did the planning.

ANOTHER VICTIM CLAIMED

FAIRFIELD, Pa., Sept. 25.—Determination of the local authorities to stop the practice of shooting at the mills here resulted in the killing of a man suspected of being one of the instigators by a member of the state police. The man was Nick Grogan or Orta. He was employed in the Sharon Steel Hoop plant until the steel strike began. His brother, Tom, was injured by a bullet, and another man was badly battered by a state policeman for resisting arrest.

SEAMEN WOULD STRIKE

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 25.—Three unions of the Great Lakes steamship workers have voted unanimously to empower their respective executive committees to call a strike in sympathy with the steel and iron workers. It was announced today. The date of the strike will be decided at a joint meeting of the executive committees, to be held in Cleveland within a few days.

It is said the combined membership of the unions is 1,000 men.

HACH CHARGED WITH DISPLAY OF SHOT GUN

Complaint was filed and warrant issued yesterday for the arrest of Frank Hach, Hach, who is a farmer residing near Castleford, is charged with having exhibited a shotgun in a dangerous manner. It is understood that the complaint is an outgrowth of the shot fired early this week at William Mitchell, when he was removing rock protrusion in a ditch, placed for diverting water from the canal.

UTAH TEAM TO PLAY OVER MUCH TERRITORY

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Sept. 25.—When registration begins tomorrow at the University of Utah, Thomas Fitzpatrick's football coach will be lining up the squad from which the 1919 team will be developed.

The season's schedule will carry the Utah team, as far east as Fort Collins, Colo., as far west as Los An-

FILER SERVICE MEN TO ORGANIZE POST TONIGHT

Former service men of Filer and vicinity propose to organize a Filer post of the American Legion tonight. The meeting is called for 8 o'clock this evening in the office of Munyon and Son.

Several members of the recently organized Twin Falls post, including Arthur Albrecht, 1914-1917 member, will attend the Filer meeting and will cooperate with Earl Munyon, James Shinn and William Detweiler in starting the second Twin Falls county post.

All honorably discharged men who served in the World War in either the army or navy or marine corps are eligible to membership, whether they be civilians or privates, said Mr. Shinn last evening. Continuing he said:

"Those interested in the organization of the post are desirous that all men in the Filer district be present at the initial meeting tonight and assist in securing a charter, the election of officers, and the probably adoption of by-laws."

The dinner at the Lavering Pavilion will be changed to run Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights.—Adv.
