

TESTIMONY STARTS IN MURDER CASE

Witnesses of Killing of Van Ripper by Grosvenor Tell Story of Altercation

Testimony of the two leading witnesses for the state, R. L. Lough and W. H. Werner, followed the drawing of a jury yesterday in the district court in the case of William T. Grosvenor charged with slaying in the second degree.

The selection of the jury opened the entire forenoon and it was not until after the noon recess that testimony was heard. The afternoon session opened with the exclusion of witnesses from the courtroom. The examination of witnesses was completed by the prosecuting attorney, E. J. Stephens, who then turned to the case by W. H. Green, A. W. Ostrow, W. P. Guthrie and James B. DeLoach. The testimony of R. L. Lough and W. H. Werner was practically the same and cross examination failed to bring their story into line with one another. Werner stated that he had made a mistake in an immediate detail during the preliminary hearing before Judge O. P. Davall.

The substance of the testimony of Lough and Werner was that the night of the murder a group of men, of whom Stephens was the leader, marched the miles southward from the ranch. Mr. Lough (and the defendant) Grosvenor arrived at the headgate and almost simultaneously the witnesses testified. In a conversation which followed Werner called attention to the fact that the stream of water running down the Van Ripper ditch appeared to be considerably smaller than that coming through the headgate. Whereupon, Grosvenor made an investigation of the ditch below the headgate and found that there was a hole in the bottom of it and the water was running out.

Van Ripper opposed the attention of the jury about this time and according to the attention of the jury, according to Werner and Lough. Some discussion followed as to whether some of the farms in the neighborhood had been favored in the distribution of water. Van Ripper investigated the hole in the ditch and after giving to the jury his opinion that it had been sealed with water. To which Grosvenor replied, "I don't think I know that, you have." The witness stated Van Ripper then said, "You're a liar," and Grosvenor struck him on the head with a wood hook.

Van Ripper and the ground and later rose to his feet and walked to the ditch and was taken home.

The jury drawn to try the case is composed of J. W. Hedgump, S. M. McEgerton, G. W. Rice, F. C. Hooper, G. M. Ware, Morgan G. Hoop, George E. Bryant, Charles R. Kired, Fred E. Evans, E. D. Brown, Frank McFarquhar and T. H. Irwin.

ISSUES BULLETIN UPON POULTRY

Prof. Moore, Well Known Here, Tells of the Work Accomplished in Idaho

DOING, Idaho.—Poultry husbandry in Idaho, a 176 page booklet by Prof. Moore, poultry husbandman of the extension division of the University of Idaho, has just been issued by the extension division. This bulletin, the issuance of which has been in prospect for a considerable time, is in such demand among the farm people of the state, an account of the poultry work being carried on practically in every county.

"Omnivore and soil," "Secrets of Marketing," "Fowls, Turkeys, Geese and Ducks," "Hatching and Breeding," "Feeding," "Housing," "Judging for Egg Production," and "Diseases," are the chapter headings. There also is a section strongly urging farmers to keep financial records of their poultry production, so that they may not underestimate its profitableness.

"Poultry raising is a profitable business for Idaho farmers, as a part of their diversified farming," says the bulletin. "With due attention to breeding, feeding, housing and care, it will yield handsome returns on the time and capital invested. Idaho producers probably not more than 40 per cent of the cases and 'feed' consumed in the state, and therefore are not to exceed 12 cents in the unit—that, more than supply their own market. There is, therefore, plenty of opportunity for great increase of production. The Idaho climate is ideal for poultry raising; the soil conditions are good; the feed supply is of the best and building material is abundant.

The description of methods of culturing out non-laying hens, given in the bulletin, is the system outlined by the American Association of Instructors and Investigators in Poultry Husbandry.

Mr. Moore says the backbone of the poultry industry, is the egg business. Eggs, he says, represent about two-thirds of the value of the poultry production of the United States.

"Study of the heavier poultry-producing sections of Idaho are somewhat remote from the larger centers of production," says the section on marketing. "In such sections, marketing is more or less a problem. Farmers can meet this problem, however, by being very particular about the quality of their stock. The quality of the poultry they raise on the market. Any farmer who is producing a crop of eggs per week can, with proper care, market them successfully, even though it may be necessary for him to ship several hundred miles.

"The cover of the bulletin carries a picture of a 'poultry' a little 'White' flock, that in one year yield 22 pounds of eggs, although she herself weighed only 3 1/2 pounds. Inside the cover is a picture of her basket of eggs.

After 14 years of experimenting an Illinois mechanic has produced a bit that does stars, crosses, hexagons, triangles and holes of several other shapes as well as wood.

WOOD ENDORSED FOR NOMINATION

South Dakota Republicans Go on Record as Favoring Military Man for President.

By the Associated Press. PIERRE, S. D., Dec. 2.—(Special.) Leonard Wood was endorsed as president of the United States early tonight by the republican state convention after a spirited struggle in which Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois came out second best. While republicans were meeting in one legislative chamber or the other, the democratic state convention in the opposite chamber endorsed President Wilson for a third term by an unanimous vote.

Under the Richards state primary law, the county delegations cast their vote on the basis of their voting strength at the last state election and a majority was necessary to inform or nominate. Wood received 21,533 votes from the republicans, majority and Lowden got 14,412. The necessary majority was 25,558.

The republican convention was turned into a turbulent session late today when one faction halted a roll call on presidential indorsement and urged that the county delegations withhold their vote on that question. After this move was defeated, the supporters of this plan who were classed as anti-Wood delegates, swung their strength to Lowden.

The republicans then quickly indorsed Gov. Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts for the vice presidential nomination. Coolidge received a heavy majority. A few scattering votes were cast for Theodore Roosevelt, Senator William Johnson and Henry Allan of Illinois.

Gov. Peter Norbeck was nominated for United States senator by the republican party to oppose Senator Ed S. Johnson, who was nominated by the democrats. Both conventions then took up the work of nominating congressional and state tickets.

The only other presidential possibility mentioned at the democratic convention was William O. McArdon. After President Wilson was indorsed a delegate moved that the convention indorse McArdon in the event that President Wilson decides not to be re-elected. The motion was ruled out of order.

The democrats spent most of the afternoon discussing their platform and particularly the labor plank. The republicans adopted their platform in the forenoon. The keynote of the democratic platform was permanent peace—under the league of nations. The main item of the republican platform was Americanism.

Both parties indorsed the league of nations. The democrats unreservedly indorsed President Wilson and his administration and the league of nations covenant without amendments or reservations. The republicans condemned the administration, but indorsed the covenant without amendment but with reservations which will tend to safeguard the integrity of the nation and preserve the Monroe doctrine.

At the afternoon session of the republican convention an address was delivered by Mrs. Ruth B. Whipple of Pierre, who was the first woman voter and delegate in the state to win over a convention majority. In the forenoon, the convention rejected a convention plank which provided that male and female inmates of the state industrial school at Plankinton, be segregated, but following a plea in behalf of the plank in the afternoon by Mrs. Whipple, the convention adopted it.

Another plank, also indorsed by the women, who approved the construction of a state reformatory for convicts between 15 and 25 years old, was adopted.

The opening nomination speech for Wood was made by Peter Dougherty of Westminster. A score of endorsing addresses followed. E. B. Cash of Bonesteel, nominated Lowden. Several of the Lowden supporters declared they were returned soldiers and asserted that sentiment in the army, particularly in the ranks, indicated that a majority of ex-service men opposed a military man for president.

Wood supporters reviewed his record in the army and made an appeal upon his activities since the armistice, in directing movements to protect large sections of the country from consequences arising from industrial unrest. The Lowden delegates dwelt chiefly upon declarations that Lowden was an executive of broader capabilities than Wood.

Although United States Senator Moses Poindester of Washington, an avowed candidate for president, was in the city, his name was not mentioned on the floor of the convention. Poindester's lieutenant declared that he will be an independent candidate for party indorsement at the state primaries in March. The candidacy of Hilary Johnson was indirectly referred to by a delegate, but Johnson's name was not placed before the convention. After the republicans nominated Governor Norbeck for the United States senate, the convention took a recess until night.

The democratic convention indorsed Vice President Marshall for a third term if he is a candidate. Governor L. J. Frasier of North Dakota, was indorsed by the Non-Partisan league convention tonight as a candidate for president. Senator Robert M. La Follette was suggested as a candidate for vice president, but the convention decided not to take action on vice president. Tom Aron of Perkins county was nominated for United States senator and Mark P. Bates of Letcher, was nominated for governor. The democrats tonight, nominated the following congressional and state tickets: Congress: First district, Ralph B.

IMPATIENT WITH MEXICO'S TACTICS

Carranza Show Different Attitude When British Citizen Is Put Under Arrest

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—With much impatience the state department today awaited word from Mexico City of the release of Consul Agent Jenkins from the penitentiary at Puebla in response to this government's second sharp note to Carranza. The department tonight had not been advised of the note's delivery, but officials said it probably was presented during the night.

The expected prompt action by the Carranza administration in accordance to the "request" of the United States. The note was forwarded early Sunday and a delayed dispatch from the Mexican capital said the Mexican foreign office announced late last night that it had been received. Errors in cable transmission were said to have delayed its presentation.

A new incident on the general Mexican kidnapping situation was given today in a report of the capture of Norman Rowe, a British subject, by rebels at Lacatlan, who held him for ransom, but who quickly released him at the instance of the Carranza administration, without payment of ransom.

Great Britain never recognized the Carranza regime in Mexico. The British vice consul at Zacatecas promptly notified the Mexican authorities and reported the kidnapping to the British consulate general at Mexico City. Representatives were quickly made to the Mexican government and within a few hours the machinery, including the military, was seeking to rescue Rowe.

The kidnapping took place at Fresnillo, a large mining camp at Zacatecas, and in reporting the liberation and return of Rowe to his native place consul said:

"The government troops and the state authorities secured all the gangs in effecting the liberty of Rowe and as a matter of justice this should be stated as everything is due to the efficiency with which the authorities moved in the matter."

Luis Cabrera, secretary of the treasury under Carranza known to be a brotherly anti-American and whose brother is governor of the state of Puebla where the Jenkins kidnapping took place, has taken an active part in the Mexican government's prosecution of the case against Jenkins, according to advices received today. In a statement prepared for the press of Mexico City, Cabrera said that Jenkins might be "liberated" or "held" but that the American government "now prefers to act him free by means of threats."

"It is inexplicable," Cabrera was quoted as saying "that the American government should have requested the immediate release of Jenkins even before the court decision was rendered. The United States government is seeking to have Jenkins declared innocent even before the investigation of the case is completed. And if the intentions of another government in purely administrative matters cannot be accepted how can foreign imposition be permitted to hurry a final solution in a case which is of the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts."

WILSON'S MESSAGE READ AT MEETING

All Phases of Task Assigned to the Industrial Meeting Discussed by Assembled Members

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—President Wilson's message to congress with its suggestions on the labor problem, was read today before the second industrial conference convened in formulating a program to harmonize relations between capital and labor.

Continuing its deliberations behind closed doors, the conference discussed all phases of the task assigned to it for more than six hours today. Plans for a permanent system of mediation or arbitration of labor disputes, as suggested by the president, were considered. Immigration, the place of alien workers in American industry, cost of living, admissible pay and hours of work, also occupied the attention of the delegates without an attempt being made to put any of the suggestions into final shape.

Stanley King of Boston, spokesman for the conference, said the discussion without stenographic record probably would continue through the week after which preparation of a report would be undertaken.

A committee composed of Secretary Wilson, Herbert Hoover, former Attorney General, Gregory and Julius Rosenwald, conferred with Secretary Pinney at the White House concerning an appropriation to meet the expenses of the conference. They were asked to prepare a budget.

CROUSE SHOT WHILE ROBBING TEXAS BANK

Report Received That Man, Wanted Here Is Dead—Wife Wants Insurance Money

Felix Crouse, who has been wanted by the local sheriff's office for a long time on a charge of robbing and several thousands of dollars of money belonging to his wife, has been killed in Texas, according to a letter received by a Twin Falls insurance man. The letter, which is purported to be from the wife of Crouse, states that Crouse, in company with two other men, were caught in the act of robbing a Texas bank. During the getaway Crouse was shot and killed by a sheriff, his two companions escaping. The writer of the letter is insurance policy. The local insurance man is investigating the matter.

According to the county records Crouse came to this country several years ago. With his wife he purchased a home, which was mysteriously destroyed by fire and on which the insurance was collected. An automobile was purchased on time and Crouse is said to have spent several thousands of dollars belonging to his wife. Finally becoming tired of his marital relations Crouse disappeared one night with the automobile, considerable money and a woman who at that time was working here. Mrs. Crouse left the city this last spring and until this letter was received nothing has been heard of either of them.

VOLUNTEERS MINE FIRST CAR OF COAL

Coalwater, Kan., Gets First Assignment From Strip Mines of the State

PITTSBURGH, Kan., Dec. 2.—Kansas got a first hold in the coal mining business today.

Toward stormy southwest tonight the first car of coal mined by volunteer workers in the strip pits of the Picher field. It was lifted out of the Picher field after a day's effort by the volunteers. The car is expected to be followed by other cars destined for sections where the famine is most acute.

The first batch of the pits was first sold and at the bottom were teachous patches of ice and uncovered pools of water. It was a day that ordinarily would have brought a halt to the mining operations.

The first contingent of volunteer miners, which arrived yesterday, augmented today by the arrival of 600 additional men. Officials announced they would be put to work tomorrow. It is believed, however, that applications, said he expected to have a majority of the steam shovels in the district working full time tomorrow or Thursday.

Distribution of the coal mined in the strip pits by the volunteers will be made through the agency of the state. Kansas, governor and others who the coal is sent, Governor Henry J. Allen announced today. It will be billed directly to the buyers and will be sold by them to domestic consumers.

The governor is how to confer with Adjutant General Charles E. Martin and Colonel P. M. Robinson, both of Kansas, who are in charge of the state troops here. Kansas gardeners continued to guard the strip pits today while the federal troops remained

Maxwell is but another name for Quality

THE goodness, the efficiency, the quality in previous Maxwells created a demand for the current Maxwell which 100,000 cars (the number now being built) cannot satisfy.

This shows a rare liking for Maxwell; and the appreciation that every dollar devoted to its manufacture has been wisely expended.

Think what the making of 100,000 axles means, the making of 100,000 frames, 100,000 engines, 100,000 clutches, and 100,000 transmissions.

Think of the great saving that comes with the purchase of so many materials.

Consider the accuracy that follows as one after another of 100,000 axles is constructed. Consider the vast ease of capital it requires to turn them out—300 a day.

Estimate the confidence the Maxwell executives had in the Post-War model to rest the future of the Maxwell name on a year's production like 100,000.

They knew; 300,000 previous Maxwells had told them; the public was their judge.

You can look for high engine efficiency, or merely comfort, or long mileage, on gas and tires, or improvements the war developed, or style, or value—you'll find it in the Post-War Maxwell.
