

RECOGNITION MAY BE TAKEN FROM MEXICO

Fall Introduces Resolution Asking Wilson to Sever Diplomatic Relations.

CLAIM CARRANZA IS FOSTERING THE REDS

Jenkins Case Put Into Background by the Situation Precipitated by New Mexican Senator.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—President Wilson today requested in a resolution introduced today in the senate to sever diplomatic relations with Mexico.

The resolution was offered by Senator Fall of New Mexico, who is chairman of a subcommittee investigating the Mexican situation, and after evidence had been found which would "astound the world."

Senator Fall boldly charged that the Mexican embassy, the consulate agents in New York and San Francisco, and the consulates along the border with the knowledge and consent of President Carranza, had been actively engaged in the spreading of Bolshevism in the United States.

Evidence, it was said, would be forthcoming to bear out the charge.

By this resolution, which was sent to the senate foreign relations committee for consideration tomorrow, the whole Mexican problem, admittedly grave in view of the refusal of the Carranza government to release Consular Agent Jenkins from the penitentiary at Puebla, will be put before congress.

Latest news from the state department calling for the immediate release of Jenkins was laid before the Mexican government on Monday. Word to this effect reached the department today, but there was no indication as to when an answer might be expected.

Recapitulation of the committee on the Fall resolution is expected, and this will put the question squarely before the senate, aroused to a high pitch by recent murders of Americans in Mexico and the treatment of the American consular agent.

While Senator Fall did not indicate the exact nature of his evidence it was said that he obtained photographic copies of correspondence which would clearly show secret operations of the Mexican president and his representative in this country.

By the Associated Press. JIAREZ, Dec. 3.—Vigorous efforts were made tonight by civil and military officials here to obtain official information regarding the reported capture of Francisco Villa, near Parral, announced today in a message received by P. W. Caballero, superintendent of the National railways of Mexico for Chihuahua, who is here on an inspection trip. Up to 7:30 o'clock no confirmation of the report had been received.

TAKE STEPS TO PREVENT ENTRANCE OF ORIENTALS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—Extension of the coast guard service to patrol all coastal and inland boundaries against the entry of undesirable aliens is not practicable, Capt. W. E. Reynolds, commandant, said today at a hearing before the House Immigration committee. The service recently obtained a number of eagle boats and submerged the engines from the navy, he said, for use particularly against the entry of Chinese and Japanese on the Pacific coast and in breaking up the opium smuggling traffic; but he recommended that the control of alien entry be placed in the hands of the coast guard. Reynolds said that the coast guard was not as efficient as it should be due to shortage of men, caused by higher wages paid by the shipping board.

LODGE'S PACT PLAN MEETS WITH SNAG

House Chairman Says His Committee Against Resolution to De-Stare Peace.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The plan of republican senate leaders to declare a state of peace by concurrent resolution of congress after the signing today in the house.

Chairman Porter of the foreign affairs committee, said his committee had no intention of reporting out such a resolution and it was indicated that house leaders supported this position. The position taken by the house republicans was said to be that repeal of the war time legislation which extends until peace is established, would be a more acceptable method of restoring normal conditions and the question of peace was one which the president and the senate, constituting the treaty-making power, should decide.

Members thought tonight that the committee probably would not take it up when it meets tomorrow for the first time in the new session.

URGE COMMUNITIES TREAT LOOSE SMUT

Field Agronomist Declares the Pest is Growing in Spring Wheat Sections

IRISH, Ida.—A plea for community treatment of loose smut in southern and eastern Idaho wheat fields is outlined by H. E. Sheehan, field agronomist for the University of Idaho extension division, in a letter to county agricultural agents.

"This smut in the spring wheat growing section, according to Mr. Sheehan, has caused a loss of from two to four per cent in the last season. The most serious losses, he reports, were in Bonneville, Jefferson, Twin Falls, Jerome, Madison, Canyon, Gooding, Minidoka and Cassia counties.

"This disease," said Mr. Sheehan, "is becoming worse each year. Generally farmers do not know the difference between the treatment for this and the burnt or stinking smut so common in the winter wheat sections. The copper sulphate (blue stone) or formaldehyde treatment will not control the loose smut. The hot water treatment is necessary. Infection takes place at flowering time. The spores blow about the field and lodge in the glumes, start growing and penetrate the forming grains. After threshing, these infected grains cannot be distinguished from the sound grains.

When these grains are planted the next spring the smut grows up with the plant and produces only a smutty head.

"A contact poison will not control this disease. The hot water treatment is necessary and this treatment we do not believe safe to recommend to farmers. Community treating, overseen by one who understands the work is the only satisfactory method for this purpose.

"It is, therefore, planned to arrange for this work in the counties most seriously affected. Treating would be done just before seeding time, treating only sufficient seed for each individual to plant a small plot, the seed which is to be used for the general field the following spring."

PRIDE OF OPINION.

Pride of opinion should not be permitted to warp the course of a community. Pride of opinion may do that very thing.

A great many of us have for years been of the opinion that there should be no recreation for folks on Sundays. We were shocked when we came into the great west to find that people mowed their lawns on Sunday, that church deacons not only fished but hunted on Sundays, and that in other ways there was wide difference of opinion as to what constituted a day of rest.

Automobile riding on Sundays, when fruit is bought from the rancher, as well as joy rides and other diversions are foreign to the old strict observance of the Lord's day. The writer of this, when a lad, was not even permitted to whistle on Sundays.

What a change has come over the great majority.

Are people less religious? Hardly. The old-fashioned conception of a day of rest is gone. Now what is rest for one is work for another. In certain cities which balk at movies on Sundays, baseball flourishes on the first day of the week, and the sons of the church leaders practice their football tactics without objection. Churchmen fish and hunt on Sundays.

Is this wrong? The man weary from brain fatigue needs rest on Sundays. If this is his best form of rest, can it be said that he has transgressed?

Those who work at physical labor need rest of the muscle on the Lord's day. If they find it at the movies, who is there to deny them? Shall officers of churches, who themselves fish and hunt and ride in automobiles on Sundays, say to the man who works with his hands, and to the bubbling youth of the community, you cannot enjoy your movie on the Lord's day? Can you say that?

YOUR UNCLE TOM'S CABIN

Persons who pawn their old clothes every morning to pay for a week-end of drinking, now go to the stores to buy new clothes with the good wages drawn on Saturday.

Says one representative of the three balls: 'My business has fallen off more than half inside of three months. It is due to the prohibition law. When drink was sold freely we had an average of at least 100 pledges a week. Today we have less than half, with the number showing a weekly decline. All other brokers in the city report a similar condition.

'We think that if the country actually goes dry in January we will have to go out of business. We are not planning to renew our licenses.

Probably fewer tears will be shed over the passing of the pawnbroker than over any of the other institutions which prohibition is making unnecessary. A few more people turned to active, productive occupations is far from a sad event.

ADVANCING COSTS.

Readers of newspapers may prepare themselves for sharp advances in subscription prices very soon, unless relief is afforded from present advancing prices of print papers.

Publishers are endeavoring to maintain their old prices, and are in many instances absorbing a heavy loss in an effort to hold on till some reaction may come. However, instead of reaction, there has come sharp increases, due to the fact that consumption is actually exceeding production. Within the past thirty days paper quotations have advanced heavily. The increase over the Prices of last bought supplies in the Chronicle office are so heavy that it would add to our total costs nearly ten dollars per day. This same condition holds good with all publishers. Newspapers which have supplies of paper on hand are hoping for a reduction by the time they must enter the market; but since paper must be bought in advance in order that there may always be a supply on hand it begins to look as though subscribers will have to pay more for their newspaper reading matter throughout America.

THE QUITTING HABIT.

A Chicago newspaper prints an entertaining account of the convention held in that city by the new Labor party. It seems to have been one long series of withdrawals.

When the resolutions committee proposed to denounce prohibition, a set of dry delegates withdrew and went home. When the majority showed itself in favor of the nationalization of land, the farmer representatives withdrew. When the soviet form of government was urged, another set of delegates withdrew, and when the League of Nations came up still another set started for home.

It may sound funny, but it is tragic, because it represents a vicious tendency that seems epidemic in the United States just now.

There was the big industrial conference called by President Wilson. It seemed to be making real progress toward the solution of some of the big labor problems. When the labor group withdrew and so broke up the conference.

It has been the same with attempted settlements of the coal strike. Every time the parties concerned get together, one group or the other leaves in high dudgeon with nothing accomplished.

It was the same with the treaty in the Senate. All this withdrawing is on display in our newspapers.

They get together and stay together until they have made a concession they arrive at a agreeable compromise.

Killing said something when he announced that 'There are four-and-twenty ways of composing tribal lays, and every single one of them is right.' There must be at least 100 different makes of automobiles in this country, and every single one of them is demonstrably the best, as anybody can see for himself by reading the ads.

Reports just made public by the federal reserve districts indicate that the American people are enjoying greater prosperity than ever before in history and that there is no inclination on the part of the public to curtail purchases. Thus, efforts to reduce the H. C. L. end in failure.

The world is full of industrial troubles because people lack the necessaries of life, and people lack the necessaries of life because the world is full of industrial troubles.

COAL MINER HEADS HALED BEFORE COURT

Government Charges Lewis and Others with Contempt of Court

STRIKE BENEFITS PAID BY SOME LOCALS CLAIM

Assistant Attorney General Outlines Attitude Assumed by His Department in Cases of Violations

By the Associated Press. IN ANAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 3.—The United States government today again issued orders for the seizure of $60,000,000 in strike benefits of the coal miners of this country.

Information charging criminal violation of court orders was filed in the United States district court here today by the national and district officers of the United Mine Workers, named in the seizure injunction issued immediately after the strike, and called upon to require their appearance tomorrow the charges were issued today. It is alleged that all of the officers have refused to keep the strike in conformity with the terms of the injunction.

Attorney General J. E. A. Hooper, in a letter to the United States district court here today, outlined the attitude assumed by his department in cases of violation of court orders.

Mr. Hooper stated that the government would not tolerate any further violation of court orders, and that the government would proceed on this theory, regardless of whether officers are guilty of some specific act of encouragement of the strike.

Government Patent.

"The government waited patiently while the conference was going on in Washington, hoping that some plan for averting the impending disaster consequent on the shortage of fuel, would be evolved. After the conference closed the government directed the operators to reopen their mines and advance wages 14 per cent. The government again waited patiently for some action on the part of the miners looking toward resumption of work. The officials not only failed to make any effort to bring about an end to the strike but numerous statements to the Associated Press and newspapers, encouraged its continuance.

SAYS U. S. CONSUL IS NOT IMMUNE

Medina, Sub-Secretary for Mexico, Iterates in Address "Case of Inquiry"

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—The Mexican embassy public tonight in a dispatch from Mexico, Sub-Secretary of Foreign Affairs, reiterating that American Consul Agents are not exempt from the jurisdiction of Mexican courts by his official position.

The message from Medina follows: "For your information and publication, I quote statement issued to the press: 'I deem it convenient to inform public that the American Consul Agent of the United States in the city of Mexico, Mexico, is not exempt from the jurisdiction of Mexican courts on the fact of being a Consul Agent. As a Consul Agent, the Consul Agent does not confer immunity upon him. As a Consul Agent, the Consul Agent does not enjoy more immunities than those provided in the Treaty or those granted them by the laws of the country in which they are acting as Consul Agents. The Treaty of Commerce and Consular Rights concluded with the United States on February 22, 1824, contains no provision in this regard, but declared in favor of the provisions of the treaty of Amity and Commerce concluded with that power in April, 1821, which, not having been denounced by either of the parties, must be regarded as being still in force. This latter treaty in its Article 27, provides that Consul Agents do not acquire any immunity in their favor in relation to their official duties. That article hereafter as circumstances will require, may be amended by the respective governments and by agreement of the respective authorities. The Consul Agent, therefore, is not a special agent by which the Consul Agents of the United States may be distinguished from the Consul Agents of other countries. The situation of Consul Agents in Mexico, now in force, in its Article 21 and 22, reads textually as follows: 'Article 21. Excepting the functions, privileges and immunities established in this law, the Consul Agents in their capacity as private individuals shall be subject in all their causes, business, acts and private affairs, other civil or criminal mercantile or cases pertaining to political rights, to the same laws, statutes, regulations and authorities, as the other individuals residing in the country.' 'Article 22. Therefore, through common offenses and misdemeanors, committed and punished by the laws, they shall be tried in accordance with the provisions of the laws which apply to regular citizens, but for strictly official functions or for merely irregular and irregular behavior for which charges, the government shall draw their respective responsibility from the respective government the reason for such action.'

Further was referred to Dean T. M. Briggs, Dean Briggs does not let the final word rest with the committee, which just only a statement regarding the situation. "If the provision that if the Consul Agent should have established any jurisdiction or made request that such trip should not be made, it would be cancelled. CARPENTIER MEETS JOE BECKETT TODAY

Fight to Decide Championship of Europe—Whether May Meet Dempsey

By the Associated Press.
 LONDON, Dec. 3.—Joe Beckett and Georges Carpentier will meet at a 20-round bout at the National Boxing Club tomorrow night to decide the heavyweight championship of Europe. Carpentier, a Frenchman, at present holds the title. The fight is expected to begin at 9:15 o'clock.

Incidentally, the fight may also be an opportunity for Jack Dempsey to make a comeback for the heavyweight championship of the world. Beckett, who is an English champion, will have an advantage of 11 pounds in weight over Carpentier, weighing at about 184 pounds. Also, this reach is two inches longer than that of his French opponent. Otherwise, the contestants will be virtually equal in regard to age, height and strength.

While the fighting is regarded as a fight, Carpentier is credited as being the more scientific, because of his greater boxing skill. Both men are said to be in perfect condition.

Beckett, however, through his victory in the fight, has secured the European championship of Great Britain, Frank Goddard and Eddie McGeary, the American fighter, who last September he knocked out on the 17th round of a 20-round contest.

Carpentier has been fighting for several years and has held the French and middleweight championships in addition to the crown of champion of the world. He twice has knocked out Humphries Wells. He is also credited with a victory over George Smith of America in a fight in the city of London. Wells, the American heavyweights, outpointed Carpentier in a bout in Paris.

GLASS URGES THE REVISION OF TAXES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3.—(Special.)—The revenue laws, so as to place a heavier burden of tax on the normal income were urged by Secretary Glass in his annual report to congress. GROSVENOR ON STAND IN HIS OWN BEHALF

Claims That He Struck Van Riper While Fearing Bodily Harm to Himself.

BOTHWELL OUTLINES CASE FOR THE DEFENSE

Motion For Directed Verdict Overruled After State Finishes Its Testimony.

Widow on the Stand.

After Judge Babcock had overruled the motion of the defendant for a directed verdict and after the prosecution had rested its case, Judge James R. Bothwell outlined the defense.

Judge Bothwell in his opening statement said that Grosvenor would prove that he struck Van Riper in self-defense. This directly outlined the defense to be presented by the attorneys for Grosvenor.

Grosvenor was the first witness called by the defense in the afternoon. His story on direct examination was practically the same as told by the eye-witnesses during Tuesday's hearing with the exception that he claimed Van Riper assaulted him with a rock.

Parrot-Bodily Harm.

Grosvenor said that he was in great fear of bodily injury from the hands of Van Riper, who he claimed had a reputation for a violent temper and character. He stated that Van Riper would provoke a quarrel and run an opponent away and that he had been the aggressor in several cases. Upon cross-examination it developed that Grosvenor knew no business among Van Riper had participated in any form of encounter, but it was brought out that Van Riper had at one time gone to the home of A. W. Johnson, whose wife was in a delicate condition, called Johnson out and challenged him to fight, which he refused to do. Grosvenor stated that he had the fear on the reputation of Van Riper and upon the fact that Van Riper was supposed to have used harsh and abusive language towards several persons as well as himself. Grosvenor denied that he made the statement, "You can't call me a liar," as claimed by the state witness. He is a certain one of the eye-witnesses testified at one time that Grosvenor did not make the statement, but later said that he did. Grosvenor stated that he had the wood hook in his hand at the time of the affair and seeing Van Riper draw back his arm as if to throw a rock at him, he took a step forward and struck him (Van Riper) over the head with the wood hook. Grosvenor also said that at the time of the meeting he was afraid Van Riper would assault him.

Widow on the Stand.

During the morning session of the court the state continued introduction of testimony. Mrs. E. J. Van Riper, widow of Van Riper, took the stand and told in detail of the return of Van Riper to his home and described his condition at that time. Dr. George Jennings told of Van Riper's condition at the time he arrived at the hospital and of the preparation made for an operation. The wound he described as a forked fracture on the left side of the head and said that it was necessary to open the scalp in order to ascertain the condition of the wound. He described the operation in which a laceration of bone was removed and said that large clots of blood were forced out by the pressure of the hand. The arteries beneath were tied in two places. After the operation Dr. Jennings stated that the condition of Van Riper improved which was attributed to the fact that the pressure on the brain was relieved.

State Rests Its Case.

Several other witnesses were called, including Miss Mary Reynolds, physician of the hospital, who told of the operation and effect and the details of Van Riper's condition up to the time of his death on July 3. The state then rested its case and motion was made by the attorneys for the defendant for a directed verdict which was overruled by Judge Babcock. Following the testimony of Grosvenor in the afternoon hearing, several witnesses were called by the state to testify to the reputation of the defendant. It is expected that testimony will be completed in the case today and argument by counsel may be heard in an afternoon.

Members of the committee said there existed a complete understanding with the government. They also made slight reference to the resolution which Mexico was not altogether clear on, but it was said that republicans would vote almost solidly for it, and that they would have some democrats as supporters.

Senator Shields of Tennessee, a member of the foreign relations committee, speaking from the floor when the resolution was offered, declared "the United States had had occasion to declare war against Mexico for less than five years."

When word reached the house that there might soon be an open rupture with Mexico, members said it had long been expected and there were reports that republicans in the house would vote for the resolution when it goes there for action.

After a conference late today with Secretary Lansing, Senator Hitchcock, acting democratic leader, said he did not know what the attitude of the democrats would be, although he indicated that the resolution in its present form might be opposed because the committee had not proposed withdrawing recognition under similar circumstances.

All of the information the government now has on Mexico will be at the disposal of the foreign relations committee tomorrow, it was said.

About the time dispatches from the border were received here with reports that Villa had captured the Mexican embassy, it was said that he was giving out a statement, and there was a rush to get it. The statement contained a dispatch from Hilaro Medina, sub-secretary of foreign affairs, celebrating that Jenkins was not immune from arrest because of his official connection with this government. The embassy had nothing to say about the proposal to ask the president to hand Ambassador Bonillas his passport.

Jenkins Case Sidetracked. The new Mexican development, coming after a week of impatient waiting by the state department, temporarily relegated the Jenkins case to a place of minor importance, but it was his arrest that mainly brought about the latest upturn. Reports yesterday from Mexico City that a British subject seized by hands had been quickly released on deposit of the British authorities, did not serve to quiet the feeling in official circles, especially as everybody recalled that Great Britain never had recognized the Carranza government.

There were other reports that Carranza had assumed a defiant attitude and was not disposed to accede to the American request for the immediate surrender of Jenkins. The personal part Carranza is alleged to have taken in the discontinuation of Bolshetev propaganda and the active part recognition had had in his own government are viewed with grave concern, and back of all by the great mass of information concerning the murder of scores of Americans and other brutal acts in recent days.

There was much discussion among senators and representatives as to what would happen in event the Fall resolution was passed and ignored by the president.

While declining to express their views on the subject, some members indicated that it might force even more drastic steps by congress.
