

MEXICO HIGH COURT TAKES JENKINS CASE

Consul Goes to Capital to Confer With American Charge Over His Arrest.

SENATE COMMITTEE TO CONTINUE ITS INQUIRY

Fall Declares Wilson Has Not Indicated Intention Not to Withdraw Recognition If Necessary.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The Mexican supreme court has assumed jurisdiction over the case of American Consul, Agent William G. Jenkins.

The message gave no details other than that the transfer of the case from the Puebla state courts had been made on motion of Jenkins' personal counsel and officials indicated that developments thus far have not been such as to cause any change in the American government's position.

Officials Impatient.

No reply to that note has been received and administration officials make no effort to conceal their impatience.

In refusing the original request of the United States that Jenkins be released, the Mexican government said that the Jenkins case was in the hands of the state courts of Puebla, which had charged him with giving false evidence in connection with his kidnapping by bandits in October and his subsequent release on payment of $150,000 ransom.

Dupid Given by Hansen.

Jenkins was released from the Puchita penitentiary last Thursday on one thousand pesos bond furnished by J. Salter Hansen and the state department was informed today that he had arrived in Mexico City from Puebla to confer with Mr. Sumnerin relative to his case.

During the day members of the senate foreign relations committee conferred informally and decided that the investigation of conditions in Mexico by the senate committee should be continued both in Washington and on the border.

The telegram follows: "You're fully authorized to repeat and if necessary publish in Mexico my statement to you that although I am called an interventionist, I am positively opposed to armed intervention in Mexico except as an absolutely last resort."

SUFFICIENT COAL FOR LOCAL NEEDS

Two Carloads of Coal Remains Undisposed of When City Clerk Closes Office Last Night.

City Clerk Minnick issued 302 coal cards yesterday to consumers and disposed of six loads of coal. All applicants were supplied with necessary coal and no shortage is expected at present in the supply. Two carloads of coal were undisposed of yesterday and City Clerk Minnick stated yesterday that three more cars were expected in this morning.

With the exception of a few small users, there is enough coal in Twin Falls and vicinity to meet present needs according to an investigation conducted yesterday. The local schools and the city and county buildings have enough coal to last until spring as has the county hospital. The sugar factory reported yesterday enough fuel on hand to supply their needs until the closing down of the plant in the near future.

WOOL STEALING CASE IS STARTED

Witnesses Tell of Two Disappearances of Same Lot From Owner's Pasture

Testimony was heard yesterday in the case of Frank C. Clark, B. P. Nichols and William C. Robertson, charged with grand larceny. The story of the tracing of the wool tops first hiding place, its disappearance for the second time and its final recovery was told.

D. Archibald, foreman for Joe Douglas was the first witness to be heard for the state. He stated that the wool alleged to have been stolen by Clark, Nichols and Robertson was worth about $200. It was stolen on or about June 22 and that he and several others traced the swicon which was thought to contain the wool from the shearing corral to the place where it was first found. He said that they guarded it from Monday until Tuesday night and while out after their supper Tuesday night it disappeared the second time. The alleged robbers hauled the wool away in apparently the same swicon but a different horse and after a search of three days the wool was found again. Exhibits consisting of horse shoes and portion of a swicon were introduced by Clark, Nichols and Robertson. T. O. Timminger, who was a deputy sheriff at the time, testified substantially the same as Archibald.

Sheriff A. N. Sprague took the stand and told of the search for the men and the subsequent capture of Nichols and Robertson and of the search he made for Clark who later gave himself up.

W. P. Guthrie, E. M. Wolfe and J. P. Martin are the attorneys for the defendants, and Prosecuting Attorney Frank L. Stephan is handling the case for the state.

RHEIMS CHAMPAGNE MEN ARE CARRYING ON BUSINESS

PARIS—Despite the extraordinary difficulties in the matter of finance and transportation, the Rheims champagne shippers are carrying on their business. Five freight cars of champagne were shipped last week to South America, and a similar quantity went to Alasca Lorraine.

A Rheims correspondent writes that life in the city, to which 65,000 of its former inhabitants have now returned, remains very difficult. People are still herding together in insanitary cellars and basements, sparsely lit with oil lamps. Much evicted are those whose old homes have walls standing as far as the first floor.

Heating rigged up some sort of ceiling, they are the proud possessors of a "ground-floor house." As for wooden barracks, the price is prohibitive—they cost 50,000 francs to erect, and only "the rich" can afford them.

Public lighting is all but non-existent, and after dark men and women carry revolvers.

The American committee formed for the reconstruction of Rheims has a big task.

SMUGGLING ON INCREASE IN OCCUPIED BELAND

MAYENNE, Germany.—Smuggling is on the increase between unoccupied Germany and the occupied zones according to recent information received by the intelligence officers of the French army of occupations.—French army officers say that women have been particularly active of late and that there are nearly as many women smugglers as men.

An Abbaton woman smuggler claims to have made 60,000 marks on one deal.

The woman, when discovered, said that she had gone from Strasbourg, to Solingen, in unoccupied Germany, where she purchased 100 dozen knives at six marks each. She managed to get the knives over the Abbaton border without paying duty and afterward sold the knives for 20 francs each. Returning to Germany the woman said she exchanged her French money for marks, at 250 marks for 100 francs, the rate of exchange at that time.

An Envidable Reputation Already Won

Hundreds of dealers who drove new Cleveland Sixes from the factory in Cleveland to their home cities have written the factory expressing their admiration and confidence in the car. What they all say is summed up in this sentence from one of them, "I can look any man in the face and tell him the Cleveland is a regular automobile."

And that's what the Cleveland Six is—a regular automobile, a washouts and desert sands where other cars stall and stop.

Hundreds of Cleveland Sixes, within the past four months, have undergone long, grueling, cross country drives, with honor. They have passed over great hill drives and long mountain climbs, plowed through mud and its power and endurance have already won the Cleveland an enviable reputation. This is not surprising for skill and simplicity are built into this car by men who have contributed their genius to the building up of one of America's finest quality cars.

WILSON DISCUSSES INDUSTRY PROBLEMS

Secretary of Labor Aims that Justice Must Be Given to Both Sides in Controversy

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—There can be no permanent industrial peace that is not based on industrial justice, Secretary Wilson declared today in his annual report. Reviewing the present disturbed industrial situation, the secretary said the main had been found for regulating all the other relations of mankind and that human intelligence could not find the method of adjusting the relationship between employer and employe with justice to both.

Declaring that just as international wrongs might elicit a nation making war a necessity, so industrial wrongs might accumulate until they provoke an industrial conflict, the secretary said the stability of industrial relations rested on mutual counsel.

"Just as the peace of nations is essential by frank and friendly intercourse," he said, "so may the peace of industry be maintained by the same methods. But this intercourse can not come unless labor and capital recognize the right of collective bargaining. The public interest demands that it be universally recognized, for the primary interest of the public is in peace."

"The denial of organization is the denial of the only means of peaceable settlement that the wage earners have."

Calling attention to the present prominence of labor organizations of a revolutionary or lawless type, the secretary declared that the responsibility for them must fall upon the employer who opposes the organization and more so industrial disputes menace the public as well as the employer and employe, the secretary said, adding that the right to strike should be a means of defense and not a weapon of offense.

"The right of any man to cease working for another for any reason of lawful trade unions. More that is sufficient to himself is the basic element of human liberty," he said. "The right of any person to refuse to operate, his plant at any time he desires, is as in the exercise of a property right guaranteed by the Constitution. It does not follow that because these rights exist it is necessary to exercise them. They must nevertheless be safeguarded."

Turning to the question of the high cost of living, the secretary said, increased wages did not always bring the desired relief. Increased productivity, making more material available for wages and taking the means of increased compensation out of the profits of the employer was the only way in which the standard of living of the wage earner could be improved, he declared.

Reviewing the activities of the various bureaus of the department, the report said 254,273 aliens came to American shores during the fiscal year ending June 30, and that 245,647 of them were admitted and 8,626 excluded. The number admitted the year before was 217,353. Aliens departing during the last fiscal year numbered 216,231 as against 193,268 the year before. During the last 7 years the bureau of immigration estimated that 35 aliens left the country for every 100 admitted.

Aliens admitted during the past year were in possession of sums of money aggregating $17,837,247, an average of $112 per person.

Aliens expelled under departmental process during the year numbered 2,068, compared with 1,549 in 1918. The total number of aliens deported, including those refused admission and 34 Chinese deported under the exclusion laws, was 11,728 as against 8,916 in 1918.

"The number of admission to citizenship during the past year was larger than any preceding year, amounting to 217,353," the report said. "Leaving out of consideration the year 1918 this was a far greater number than was admitted in any two years during federal supervision. Military statistics show 123,335 aliens who acquired citizenship after they assumed the uniform of the United States."

The United States employment service at the end of the war had 350 offices with a personnel of 1,700 and an administrative force of 41 Washington of 300. During the eleven war months of 1918 the service placed 2,698,886 persons in employment out of a registration of 3,675,351.

Persons directly affected by labor disputes brought to the attention of the department during the year numbered 1,011,968, while the number of persons indirectly affected was 1,136,072. During the year the department assigned commissioners of conciliation to 1,700 cases, including 587 strikes, 1,112 disputes and threatened strikes, 63 lockouts and 17 walkouts. Of these 1,229 were adjusted, and exclusive of the 219 referred to the National War Labor Board. The commissioners failed to make settlements in 111 cases.

Strong recommendations for the reviving and continuing of the working men's service, which was instituted during the war to investigate the working conditions and to certify standards for their improvement, were made by the secretary.

He also urged legislation for the continuation of the U. S. training service. "It is believed," he said, "that increased skill on the part of the workers, and its consequent stimulus towards greater production, is even more important in peace than in war."

Hattered, crippled, black and blue. Every man of each football crew. Is glad the season's work is through.

From an aim from lamp to lamp. The experts big to find the change.

While speaking of post season games, why not one between Connie Mack's Athletics and the Baldwin Wallace college football team of Berea, Ohio? The Mack's finished in the American league cellar and the B.W. football team has been beaten harder and often than any grid outfit that had the courage to leave the clubhouse during the hectic fall of 1919.

They've had their backs to the wall all season.

The grays must be thin at the old man's home, Jess Willard, Jack Johnson, Chas. and Frank Moran are attempting comebacks.

Jess writes Tex Rickard that he is training for a hayter fall than he took the last time.

Carl Morris, and Jack Johnson clashing in the arena will be as spectacular as a football game between two old alumni teams.

The greatest football season in history is at an end. Baseball fanatics will now inject a little jazz into the winter league.

Fight fans still are in the ark as to Bob Martin's aircraft. All Hib has done so far is hit the other fellow.

With the other fellow always going down that isn't doing much to uplift the game—excepting for himself.

Syracuse gave thanks its team had no more games scheduled with the western "bushers."

UPSETS EXTENDED TO ROPED ARENA

Moran and Chip, Old-Timers, Spring Surprise by Defeating Coming Youngsters

When Kid Gleason said "the best team lost," he probably meant what "looked like the best team" lost. It has been thus throughout the sport season of 1919 and continuing on up through the eleventh hour.

The win of Jack Dempsey over Willard; the triumph of White Sox over Cleveland, New York and Detroit; the triumph of Babe over Ottavio; the triumph of Hoosier over White Sox; and the triumph of senior over football teams over the big fellows—all might be classed as upsets since a majority of observers in the sport world had expected just the opposite in results.

And now that the football season is over the upsets have been taken over as a part of the boxing game, that probably accounting for the unusual interest being taken in all the ring shows.

First comes Johnny Noye of St. Paul and scores an unexpected win over the sensational Low-Tender of Philadelphia. The upset took place in New York where the critics credited Noye with giving the easterner a hard doubling.

So when Noye started out the fans sat up and looked interested. Noye stopped off in Cleveland to loose up against Cal Delaney, who was not considered a real top notcher. And Noye took a beating. He said he had an off night and continued on to Philadelphia to meet Tender in his home town. Tender knocked him out in two rounds.

"Consider the case of Frank Moran and Homer Smith. Homer is a native of Michigan and had been winning in every start. It was believed he was headed straight for a match with Barney Moran, a veteran, took his measure in the third round.

And then the sensational Martin Burke of New Orleans—he had to quit George Chip in the tenth round at New Orleans. He claimed a broken rib caused him such pain he could not continue.

The old fellows like Chip and Moran are starting to show a few more kind of shaps and it seems that both veterans are as fit as the proverbial fiddle. Moran appeared to be in the pink when he polished Smith off at Detroit. The old-time cunning was there and he hit hard with straight and hook. Chip, though not a real heavy weight, is little lighter than Barney Moran, and he probably know too much for the youngsters.

The fast traveling Noye, Smith and Burke must now start all over if they hope to prosper in the light game.

A knockout defeat is a hard thing to live down but you've got to give these three fellows credit for trying and their willingness to meet really tough opponents.

The hearing was called as a result of a proposal made by Vilhelm Ekman, explorer, that the government develop herds of reindeer and musk oxen on the northern wastes. Wool and meat from the animals could be raised for the outside world markets, Stefansson claims.

NATIONALISM

Weary and heartsick over the sacrifices and losses of the war; disgusted with the self-seeking meannesses of European nations, including some of our former allies as well as our war-time foes, the people of America are undergoing a spasm of reaction against all international effort. They seek to wash their hands and clear their skirts of all contact with foreign affairs. Sickened, not to say disillusioned, as a result of the disclosures of the year since combat ceased, they want to revert to their former idols, to withdraw into themselves, to let Europe alone. They hear gladly the gospel of nationalism, and would look internationalism out as a thing unwise, if not immoral.

With America apparently determined upon nationalism, Europe finds itself left to follow its own bent; and there, too, it is discovered that all the big nations are adopting the policies of self nationalism, which means simply that every nation is minding its own business. That trait, commendable in individuals, becomes an ostrich policy of head-hiding when practiced by nations.

Nationalism means one thing in America, quite another in Europe, and still a third in Asia. It all depends upon the aspirations of the people concerned.

The gospel of nationalism, like any other propoganda, may be a good or an evil thing, according to the ends sought, the means adopted to achieve them and the identity of the interests which impel its promulgation.

To the American nationalism means taking care of our own, both in people and resources. It is an elemental patriotism, wholly subjective; Americans would work for America in America, but they intend no offense to any other nation.

The nationalism that in America is a commendable and virtuous patriotism becomes, across the sea, a vicious junkerism. A world-wide nationalistic movement means renewed jealousies and new wars.

It means that Germany, intent upon what it conceives to be the best interests of its people and their future growth and prosperity, may overrun the new and struggling republic of Poland; may cement commercial bonds with successful Bolshevism in Russia.

Nationalism would let Bolshevism triumph not only in Russia, but throughout Europe.

Nationalism may let Armenia starve and permit Turkey to brandish unheeded the dripping sword.

Nationalism may mean that Germany need never pay the war indemnity; she never will, of course, unless the allies will circumvent any move in that direction.

Nationalism will result in a new orgy of greed in Europe, of aggrandizement in Asia or in Africa.

Nationalism, while it flourishes in the small countries, means the throttling of the weak by the strong, the triumph of might over right and the restoration of power to the hands of kaisers, czars and potentates.

For some of these results America, if she be bound to blind nationalism, may be responsible, and in all of them she is certain to be concerned.

IMPORTED LUXURIES

In the September, 1918, the duty collected in the New York custom house on dressed furs was $8,030. In September, 1919, the duty collected on dressed furs was $517,532. In September of last year imported beads paid a duty of $145,544; in September of this year, $952,630. For ostrich feathers the figures are—last September, $772,773; this September, $410,801. For pearls—last September, $123,547; this September, $654,312. For cut diamonds, last September, $494,221; this September, $6,644,744. Silk veilings—last September, $82,398; this September, $372,048. So it goes, through a long list of articles classed as "luxuries."

Some of these increases represent a natural response to the demand which foreign dealers could not supply last year on account of the war. But most of it is due to the sudden craze for luxuries in this country. The figures would be still more impressive if they were obtainable for October and November. The demand has been growing right along, in spite of high prices, industrial troubles and everything else.

It may be argued that people with money have a right to spend it for whatever they like. Perhaps they have. Still, the situation today is at least unfortunate. Increased imports are highly desirable; but the imports most needed are standard commodities to supplement our own domestic store—not costly things that the nation could easily do without. And indirectly all the expenditure for luxuries is bad in many ways. Weak souls everywhere are tempted beyond their means. It sets false standards of life, false standards of prices, false standards of goods!

When merchants find people so ready to pay big money for unnecessary things, what wonder that they jack up prices on ordinary commodities? Foolish persons come to prefer the flimsy or merely elegant to the substantial, and manufacturers are no longer given the proper incentive to produce honest goods.

SIMPLE ZONING RULE

City zoning to prevent business encroachment on residential sections is gaining in popularity. Where a city is already well built up it is more difficult to put the plan into operation but it is not impossible.

Detroit now has a city plan commission investigating residential, commercial and industrial needs. This commission hopes to present a comprehensive zoning program next spring. In the meantime it has put into operation a wise temporary provision for the protection of valued home sections. This order provides that when 60 per cent or more of the frontage in any particular block is used exclusively for residential purposes, it shall be deemed a residential district and commercial or industrial buildings or uses shall be banned. This seems to be a simple and ready means of checking the first small commercial inroads upon resident streets. It is a more permanent protection than the placing of building restrictions which are in effect when certain lovely homes are built, but which expire eventually and let in the business block, store or factory.

The recognition, rapidly becoming general, of the fact that a city need not be ugly if the inhabitants are willing to do the necessary planning to make it beautiful, is a hopeful sign. It is such recognition which is speeding up the spread of city planning and zoning programs all over the country.

There will be less candy this Christmas, and less frosting on the cake. Thus many a juvenile tummy-ache will be avoided. But without tummy-aches how are Willie and Susie going to be sure that they had a good time?

A division of Serbian fighters is now on the job to discourage any further patriotism in the way of poetic license.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

When you wake up with headache and dull aching in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with headache and dull aching in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overflows the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and lousy. When your kidneys get sluggish and slow you may realize them like you have your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, also you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get clogged, water-salts and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

AMERICAN FARMER LEADS THE WORLD

Produces Greatest Individual Amount of Crops, Says Secretary

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—The American farmer leads the world in individual production of crops, Secretary Houston of the department of agriculture, asserted today in his annual report.

While countries such as Belgium, under intensive farming, set a higher acreage yield, he said, taking both acreage and yield per acre into account, the American agricultural producer two and a half times as much as the Belgian and German rivals, 2.3 times as much as the British farmer, 3.2 times as much as the French, and more than six times as much as the Italian.

The result of this and of the American farmer's work is shown in the 1919 American crop production, placed at three times greater in value than the average annual output during the five year period preceding the European war.

The aggregate value of all crops this year is placed at $16,878,000,000 as compared to $14,222,000,000 in 1918, and an average of $6,829,000,000 during the five year period.

Live stock on farms this year was valued at $8,830,000,000 as against $8,284,000,000 in 1918.

The average yield for all crops for the decade ending in 1918 is about 10 per cent greater than for the average for the decade ending with 1890, the report said. The average rate of increase for the past 25 years is about one half of one per cent a year.

Estimates in the report put the 1919 wheat production at 218,477,000 bushels and corn at 2,910,250,000 bushels. Cotton is expected to reach 10,656,000 bales and tobacco about 1,816,655,000 pounds.

The farmers of the nation in 1919 planted an acreage in leading cereals greater by 25,000,000 than the previous annual average which, it is estimated, will yield $25,000,000 more than the previous average. Mr. Houston said of work on the farms during the year increased the number of milch cows over 1914 by 2,700,000, of other cattle by 8,500,000, of swine by 16,700,000, of horses and mules by 1,000,000, and a total of 28,900,000.

The planting operations of the year began before the fighting ceased and the call was still for more wheat. The department suggested a maximum fall acreage of 47,200,000 acres, an increase of 12 per cent over 1918. There was actually planted 45,241,000, the largest acreage in the nation's history.

The spring wheat acreage was 22,897,000, while the winter and spring plantings combined amounted to 71,854,000 acres, or 7,200,000 more than the preceding record.

It is estimated that the yield will exceed that of 1918 by 1,000,000 bushels and will be the nation's second year and the twenty over which a number of California and northwest radical suspects are being taken to New York for deportation. Edward White, commissioner of immigration said here output of commodities by cultivating today.

unaged tillable land estimated at more than 60 per cent of the total, the report states. Expansion is limited, however, by the supply of capital and labor.

No step to promote farmers' co-operative associations along the right line should be omitted, the secretary said. It is estimated that these organizations market annually approximately $1,600,000,000 worth of commodities.

Included in Mr. Houston's recommendations were the following:

- The building up, primarily under state law, of a system of personal credit unions, for farmers whose financial status and operations make it difficult to secure accommodations through the ordinary channels;
- expansion of facilities for aiding in marketing, especially extension of the market news and food products inspection services; continuation of federal participation in road building through an appropriation of $100,000 for each of the next four years; regulation and control of the stock yards and packing houses; federal legislation to protect the consumer against adulterated foods and fertilizers; increased state support for rural schools and more definite instruction as to rural problems and conditions; legislation to improve rural sanitary conditions and provide hospital and medical facilities.

Uncle Sam, M.D.

A daily health column conducted by the United States Public Health Service. BY DIRECTION OF RUPERT BLUE Surgeon-General, U. S. Public Health Service

Neglecting Teeth is Dangerous

An investigation made by the U. S. Public Health Service in connection with its studies of rural school children showed that 49.3 per cent had defective teeth, 21.2 per cent had two or more missing teeth, and only 18.3 per cent had dental attention.

Over 14 per cent never used a tooth brush, 58.2 per cent used one occasionally and only 27.4 per cent used one daily.

Defective teeth reduce physical efficiency.

Dirty, suppurative, septic toothed mouths are responsible for many cases of heart disease, rheumatism, and other chronic infections.

The children are not responsible for the neglected state of their teeth.

The ignorant and careless parent is to blame for this condition—a condition which hampers mental and physical growth and puts a permanent handicap on our future citizens.

School teachers can and are doing much to inculcate the habits of personal cleanliness into the rural school child, but this will fail of the highest accomplishment unless parents cooperate heartily and continuously. This is a duty which we owe to our children.

Out of 320,170 school children examined in the city of New York 194,207, or 58.8 per cent, suffered from decayed teeth. This exceeded the sum total of all the cases noted by nearly 10,000. Defective teeth impair general health and impede school progress.

Diseases of the digestive tract, tuberculosis and various other diseases frequently are preceded by diseased conditions in the mouth.

There is a direct relationship between dental development and mental development, and it is absolutely essential to school in schools that children's teeth be maintained in a healthy condition.

The public health service recommends that a good tooth brush be included in the list of Christmas presents for every American child and that its use be made a part of the daily training.

If this recommendation is carried out the United States will have more healthy children this year than last, and their chances of growing up into useful, healthy men and women will be increased.

GIVE DETAILS OF WALLACE DEATH

American Oil Company's Employee Shot in 'Back' by Mexican Soldier, Is Report.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—James Wallace, the American who was killed by a Mexican soldier at Tampico on November 26, was shot through the head from behind, according to the Tampico Tribune, an English newspaper, under date of November 29, which reached Washington today. The paper also states that Wallace was a pipe line crew foreman, a position that carries responsibility in the American oil fields.

After reading the newspaper, officials here were inclined to discredit the official report of the Mexican embassy that Wallace was intoxicated at the time he was killed.

The Tampico Tribune report says "Wednesday morning at a little after 8 o'clock James Wallace, foreman of the pipe line crew for the Cia Mexicana de Petroleo 'el Aguila,' while riding on horseback from the central part of El Potrero camp to the tank farm was shot from behind and instantly killed, according to information obtained at the Aguila company's offices.

"Nobody was with Wallace at the time of the shooting and up to the present time no witnesses have been found and no motive is known for the deed. Some men heard the shot fired and on going to investigate found Wallace lying dead on the ground with a bullet wound in the back of the head, penetrating through and coming out right under the lower lip."

FRENCH THEATER GOERS DISAPPOINTED; NO DUEL

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Dec. 8.—The appointment in its story for the theatrical world, Alphonse Franck, manager of the Gymnase Theatre and Ernest Charles, a dramatic critic, will not fight a duel. Franck had weakly objected to an article written by Charles and had his second wait upon scraps of the critic.

Charles always has proclaimed himself as being opposed to duelling. When the four scenarios met today it was agreed that Charles' criticisms were addressed to Franck as manager of the theatre and not against the manager personally.

SEATTLE GIRL SAYS PRAYER FOR CARLISLE

Reqs. Him Not to Molest Her in Letter Sent to Chubby—Must Have Stopped Supplication.

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Here's a new wrinkle in the bandit game. Miss letters have been received, supposedly from Carlisle, but here is one written to him. It was mailed in Seattle to "Bill Carlisle, Cheyenne, Wyo.," and the addressee not being available here, finally found its way to the Tribune.

Written by a woman, the letter asks the outlaw not to rob her when she passes through Wyoming, as she needs her money. She says she has been praying for him.

With the capture of the bandit, the theory has been advanced that the girl must have gotten through this state unharmed, and that consequently she has stopped praying. As soon as she did so Carlisle's luck changed.

The letter follows:

"Seattle, Wash., Nov. 29.—Dear Bill: This is a long guess but it has been a long time on the way and it seems pretty sure. You needn't get angry because I am no more afraid within bounds than you are. I don't want to bound you, but I do want your splendid capabilities for God. Now please don't swear. I have been praying and I am going to continue to pray. I think that is the reason you have been kept 'right side up.' Do you think this letter is something of an enigma? I may be writing to a stranger, but I think I am writing to you. Some one told me today you had turned against some one else. If you are you face a bitter looking. Can't you see that the strongest suffer most? I am glad now it is over that I suffered. I am stronger and better for it.

"I expect to go over the U. P. to home in a few weeks. My position here is anything but satisfactory. Now please don't rob me, for I will need my money to live on after I get back east, as they call it here—I am teaching here as usual everywhere.

"I may be wrong, of course, but I know you so well and Whitney 5311 is so like the 'Bill Carlisle' of today and the boy of 1905. He didn't seem improbable that they should be the same."

"Don't think that God isn't caring for you and your life and please don't rail at Him. He is the best friend you have. May God be with you—

"I shall not sign my whole name for fear this will fall into stranger's hands."

"C. E. V. O."

The first part of this sounds disconnected and strange. It was because I was groping for words.

TOWNS ARE WITHOUT COAL WHILE BLIZZARD RAGES

By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 8.—With spots of snow practically without coal, the southwest tonight was in the grip of a gathering blizzard. Missouri, Kansas, parts of Oklahoma and Texas, as well as eastern Colorado and Nebraska temperatures were said to be falling rapidly.

Strong north winds and snow were forecast throughout Kansas, eastern Colorado and Nebraska.

Severe suffering among livestock is expected as the pasturage in many counties is buried under a covering of ice.

No relief from the blizzard is promised by the weather bureau, which predicts that temperatures will continue to fall and that by tomorrow morning the thermometer will have gone below zero in some localities.

—a municipal system of Franklin County, Wash.

UNLIMITED WATER SUPPLY:

These lands have recently been included under the irrigation system of the Franklin County Irrigation District No. 1, which obtains its water supply from the Columbia river, the second largest river in the United States.

PRODUCTION:

These lands equal in fertility the choicest lands of the Yakima valley or of those of any other irrigation project of the continent. Throughout the district eight tons of alfalfa to the acre is the rule with four unyielding crops. Fruits and vegetables of every variety known to this latitude grow in abundance. The farmers of the district are almost uniformly successful. In recent years one season's crop has often been sufficient to pay the price of this land.

LOCATION AND CLIMATE:

The district is bounded on two sides by the Columbia and Snake rivers and lies opposite the mouth of the Yakima river. It is commonly known as the Three Rivers country. No land offered lies

PRICES AND TERMS:

Prices range from $45 to $125 per acre. Their value is easily equal to or greater than irrigated lands that are selling at prices ranging from $200 to $300 per acre. The low prices offered are made solely to obtain rapid settlement. No land will be sold except to those who will improve and put it in crop. To such buyers terms can be made ranging from one-fifth to one-tenth of the purchase price per annum.

All lands will be open to settlement on December 20, 1919, but selections may be made prior to that date and will be accepted in order of application.

more than three miles from the Columbia river. The land is approximately 350 feet above sea level, which is the main cause of the mild winters, and long growing seasons, which prevail as evidenced by the four regular cuttings of alfalfa, and the fruits and vegetables which, with those of the immediately surrounding district, are the earliest for this latitude on the American continent.

TRANSPORTATION AND MARKETS:

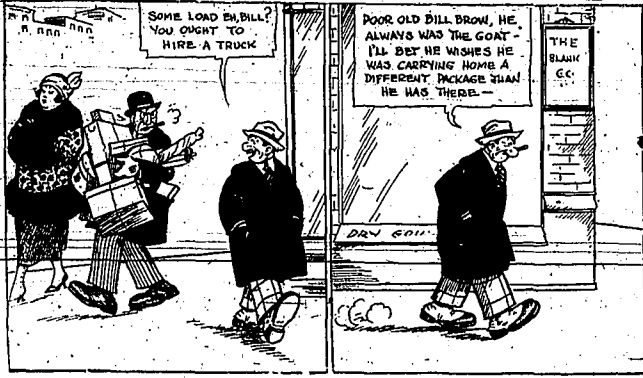

Three transcontinental railway systems serve Franklin County Irrigation District No. 1. At its center and within four miles of the most remote acre we offer for settlement is the division point of the Northern Pacific railway. The district is traversed by the Yellowstone trail and the Evergreen highway as well as the Inland Empire and Central Washington highways. The Columbia river is navigable to the sea. Such are the transportation facilities. No other irrigation district in the country has such advantages. The district is seven hours from Portland, Tacoma and Seattle and five hours from Spokane, with many through trains daily.

DISTILLERS HOPES ARE DASHED BY NO DECISION

By the Associated Press. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 8.—Kentucky distillers, who had prepared to take a sporting chance on the federal supreme court's deciding the war-time prohibition law unconstitutional and lifting the ban on sale of booze, appeared plainly perturbed tonight as to what would be their future course following the failure of the court today to announce a decision. Every precaution apparently had been made for the greater shipment of whiskey from the state ever known and had gone so far as to include holding of 1600 freight cars in or near Louisville to carry away the liquor.

AUTOMOBILE THIEVES ARE THRIVING IN SALT LAKE

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 8.—More automobiles are stolen in Salt Lake by "joy riders" than in any other city of its size in the world, according to W. D. Rihel, secretary of the Utah State Automobile Association. Poor enforcement of the law passed by the late Utah legislature, making the stealing of an automobile, even by juveniles, a felony, Mr. Rihel says, is largely responsible for the number of machines stolen. He urges strict enforcement of the law and cooperation by all civic authorities as the one method to curb the stealing of automobiles here.

Opposition has arisen in certain quarters to the erection of a memorial building.

OFFICER CHARGED WITH BRUTALITIES

Military Policeman Charged With Suffering While in Charge At La Mans.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Dec. 9.—Another court martial involving charges of brutal treatment accorded members of the American expeditionary force, at which the evidence is expected to culminate even the sensational story of the trial of Lieutenant "Red" Smith, will begin tomorrow at Governors Island.

A special investigation of the charges was ordered by Secretary of War Baker and the case was handled by Major General Frank McIntyre, assistant chief of staff. More than 100 witnesses are expected to testify from France and virtually all states in the union, and officers directing the prosecution estimated today that not less than $25,000 had been expended.

The defendant is Captain Karl W. Detzer, former newspaper editor at Fort Wayne, Ind., who while attached to the 50th military police company, had charged under the provost marshal of all criminal investigations in the Le Mans area, the largest American concentration center in France, through which more than 1,000,000 soldiers passed en route to the front by various methods of torture he sought to extract confessions from prisoners, or der that he might win favor in the eyes of his superiors by the number of convictions he obtained.

At the close of Detzer's court martial, it is planned to place on trial on S. Miles of Pittsburg, a member of John E. Madden, Kentucky horseman, Sergeant P. L. Hoyt, who is alleged to have aided and abetted Detzer; and Madden was said by members of the judge advocates department to be a doctor in France. He has not yet been arrested.

Members of which Detzer and his subordinates were charged with the duty of writing "confessions from the prisoners resulted, it is alleged, in sending many men to the hospital for a period of several weeks. Officers of the judge advocates department admitted that many of the men either had to handle their own excrement, or after with long criminal records.

The methods are said to have included orders to stand at attention for 36 hours, 10 minutes on and five minutes off; withholding food and drink from prisoners until they acknowledged their "guilt"; pulling prisoners by their feet by the hair, striking them in the face and threatening them with platoon.

It is also charged that once Detzer compelled Detzer to make a confession of the 110th machine gun battalion, to swallow a lighted cigarette which he was smoking against orders.

In other cases 25 specifications under charges of assault and conduct unbecoming an officer and general charges.

If convicted on all counts, Major William P. Kelly of New York, judge advocate, declared he faced the maximum sentence of life imprisonment.

The offenses which Detzer is charged are alleged to have been committed over a period of several months, beginning last February.

The detail for the court comprises: Colonels William H. Alleyre, William T. Wilder, Samuel C. Jones, John J. Bond and Robert S. Knox; and Majors William A. Carleton and Robert E. Rutherford, Jr.

Assisting Major Kelly in handling the case for the prosecution are Captains Robert E. Hunney and John M. Weir. Counsel for the defense are Lieutenant Thomas L. McFerrin and the New York law firm of Feibler, Campbell and Barnhart, of which Newton W. Gillett, former vice governor general of the Philippines, is a member.

G.O.P. FAVORS WINDY CITY FOR MEETING

St. Louis Delegation Acknowledges Uphill Fight in Effort to Get National Convention.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9.—Although Chicago admittedly was the favorite tonight for the 1920 convention city which will be made here tomorrow by the national committee, boosters for St. Louis still were making a determined campaign and were asserting that they had a fighting chance to win.

The hope of St. Louis was placed in conference with committee members which extended far into the night and were expected to be resumed tomorrow morning. Friday the backers of the Missouri city admitted they had an uphill fight, but they claimed gains during the day and evening from the Chicago supporters.

So confident were the proponents of Chicago that some of them predicted the claims of St. Louis would never be laid formally before the committee. The suggestion got a prompt negation, however, from the St. Louis partisans, who declared emphatically that they would carry their fight to a final showdown.

Meantime discussion as to the date of the convention, which also will be fixed by the committee tomorrow, centered about Tuesday, June 8. The custom of convening the convention Wednesday, it was predicted by the leaders, would be changed in order to provide a longer week.

With the arrival today of the last of those who are to attend the meetings, conferences over presidential possibilities greatly multiplied until the claims of upwards of a dozen potential candidates were being presented.

Particular candidates were the friends of Major General Leonard Wood and Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois, who brought to Washington working organizations to further the interests of their respective candidates. Boosters for Senators James P. Watson of Indiana, and Warren G. Harding of Ohio, also got actively into the arena, with those to bring other candidates were busy feeling out the sentiment of the committeemen and their guests.

FIRE DAMAGES O. K. LIVERY BARN

Third Wave of Day Results in $2000 Loss—Sufficient Water, Says Chief.

The O. K. livery barns were partially destroyed by fire yesterday morning and damage amounting to approximately $2000 resulted. The fire was discovered by Chief Worrall at about 10 o'clock and only after difficulty was it entirely extinguished. According to the fire chief the fire probably originated in the former office of the barn which was being used as living quarters.

Chief O. K. barn fire was the third alarm responded to by the local fire department during yesterday morning. At 4 a. m. a small blaze was discovered in the Self Blacksmith shop, originating in a pile of coke. It burned a small hole through the walls of the building but only damages amounting to $20 resulted before the firemen arrived on the scene. Shortly after this blaze an alarm came in from 421 Seventh avenue east, but occupants of the building had the fire out before the department arrived.

Chief Worrall reported last night that there was more than enough water to fight the fires. Four lines of hose could have been used without responding to the aid of the fire engine declared the chief, and after the burning fires were extinguished there was no noticeable decrease in the pressure of the water mains.
