Garfield Avers Wilson's Settlement of Strike Detrimental to Public's Side.

FEARS COLLUSION WILL CAUSE RAISE IN PRICES

Refuses to Give Senate Committee Letter of Resignation He Sent to Wilson—Also Other Data.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Principals underlying President Wilson's plan for the settlement of the coal strike, accepted by the miners, are fundamentally wrong as a matter of government.

CHICAGO IN CABINET

While discussing with some freedom a cleavage in the cabinet, caused by strike settlement, by Senator Frothinghams, republican, New Jersey, chairman of the sub-committee on matters of the coal strike.

Opposes Commission

"My objection," Mr. Garfield said of the settlement plan, "goes to the point that the commission which understood will set up to decide wages and prices composed of three members, one to be a miner, another to be a coal operator, and the third to represent the public.

Has it been your experience with the coal industry that employees and employers might have common interest in increasing wages and costs and passing that increase on the public in prices?"

"They may have that common interest," Mr. Garfield responded, qualifying his answer by saying that he was not charging that this would be the necessary result.

"I believe," he said, "I represent the real opinion of the president in the matter." He said later, "that in it was able to see him and talk it over, but I know his mind."

Sketching the history of the strike negotiations, Dr. Garfield explained that he thought members of the cabinet were standing with him in his suggestion of a 14 per cent increase in wages, and an advisory commission to review the facts from which he derived the 14 per cent clause.

Could Not Fix Wage

"Discussing proposals which he had submitted to the cabinet, Dr. Garfield said:

I had no power under the Lever act to fix wages, but I was able to determine the determination of reasonable prices involving finally a determination of reasonable prices in the coal industry.

Where they will you on that statement?"

Senator Frothinghams asked.

"Yes, certainly in the second of the cabinet."

IGNITION SYSTEM MOST VITAL PART

Expert Gives Details on How to Get Best Results From Every Auto

At High Speed.

Every automobile owner is vitally interested in the ignition system. He wants to know not only how it is constructed, how it operates, and how to care for it, but also the fundamental advantages of certain systems. For some years past America has been discussing the battery ignition system as opposed to the magneto, and more recently Europe has been taking up this all important topic. We shall first go into the fundamentals of both systems and then take up more in detail the advantage of the two types.

An automobile engine is fired by a spark. This means that a mixture of gasoline and air drawn into the cylinder is exploded by means of the very high heat generated by a magneto or storage battery and then passed on to the spark plug. Both systems provide a source of electrical current. This current initially (at the time of actual generation) is of low voltage (pressure). This low voltage current must be transformed into one of higher voltage because it requires a high voltage current to jump the gap in the spark plug.

It is an electrical phenomenon that when one coil of a few turns of heavy wire carrying low tension current is surrounded by another coil of many turns of fine wire an interruption of the low tension circuit produces by the so-called inductance a high tension current in the coil of fine wire. The one coil (heavy wire) is called the primary; the other (fine wire) called the secondary winding. The interrupter or breaker points are in the primary circuit, so the owner can readily see why it is necessary to have the points properly adjusted for if they are not the ignition "tuning" will not be right owing to the high tension being produced at the wrong time (either too early or too late). The high tension current produced in the secondary is led to a so-called distributor arm which in turn passes the current to cables that lead to the spark plugs. The plugs being grounded in the cylinder and one end of each coil being grounded the electrical circuit is complete. Battery systems have a condenser in the primary circuit for preventing arcing at the breaker points and also for building up a current which is discharged when the breaker operates.

In the battery system the units are a battery—a coil and a so-called timer distributor. This latter unit contains the breaker plate—of course—there are the necessary wires to connect these units. The one weakness of the battery system lies in the battery for if it should become too weak or fall altogether the engine will not run at all. The owner in making tests of a battery equipped engine can test engine unit to determine where the trouble lies. It is usual to start at the plug ends. Lay the plugs (cables attached) on the cylinder head and cranks the engine by hand. If good sparks appear at the gaps then the ignition is at fault.

If the plugs do not show spark then we must trace back through the cables to the time distributor. When the switch in one position move the breaker points and see if there is slight arcing. This shows there is current at the points and that the trouble is beyond or towards the plugs. Perhaps in the distributor arm or in the contact. If there is no arcing at the points then we must go further and inspect the wiring and the battery service.

you know, Lincoln is the best. He was a man of the people who stood for the right and for the people who lost out the slightest touch of a democratic in him."

CHRISTIAN CHURCH PLANS SOCIAL HOUR

Twin Falls Residents to Provide Special Numbers for Program.

Among the services announced for today by the various churches of Twin Falls will be the Young People's Social Hour at the Christian church at 6:30 p. m. Several well known Twin Falls entertainers will appear on the program, among them being Mrs. John L. White, who will render a solo; C. M. Hecker, violin solo; Miss Banks and Miss Leagas will give readings.

Dr. A. G. Bennett of the Methodist church announces that Dr. Robert C. Edgington will occupy his pulpit at the morning service, and will deliver an address on the subject, "The Vision Beautiful." Dr. Bennett will speak in the evening on "Are You Ready for the Last Day." Special music will be provided at both services.

There will be lay services at the Ascension Episcopal church in the morning at 11 o'clock. The subject of the sermon hymn is "O Jesus, Thou Art Standing."

Rev. John Gihring will preach at the Lutheran church this morning at 10:45 o'clock. There will be Sunday school at 10 a. m. and bible class Wednesday evening.

At the Christian church the evening service will be devoted to the state of Kansas. A letter from Senator Arthur Capper will be read and the address of the evening will be delivered by Rev. C. A. Fahlgren, who will speak on "Kansas, Reforming in Which They Have Led." Rev. Moore's address during the evening service will be "Civilization's Hope—Not Strikes Nor Profit-seeking, But Christianity." Special music will be provided.

Rev. Ashley H. Brand will hold his usual services today at the Presbyterian church at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. A special musical program has been provided.

At the Sunday services of the Church of Christ, Scientist, the subject of the lesson sermon will be "God, the Preserver of Man."

HOUSE PRESIDENT WILSON GIVES CAMPAIGN ENDORSEMENT

HOUSE, Idaho, Dec. 12. President Wilson has endorsed the 1919 Red Cross Seal sale, which is now on in Idaho, under the auspices of the national Tuberculosis association and its own "Bismont" relief organization. The seals offered for sale are to provide the necessary funds for the educational and preventive campaign which will extend through 1920.

The president's endorsement and good wishes for the success of the sale is voiced in a letter to Dr. Charles J. Hartwell, managing director of the National Tuberculosis association. The letter follows:

"Allow me to express again my deep interest in the work of the National Tuberculosis association. I am very much interested to learn of the effort of the association to raise the sum of six and one-half million dollars that the state budgets may be financed for the coming year and wish to wish the very best success of the effort."

CHICAGO, Dec. 13.—Workweek developed in the corn market today largely as a result of the fact that the government crop report was construed as bullish. The close was nervous, at the same as yesterday's finish to 3.44c lower with June 1921 124 1/2 to 134 5/8 and May 1921 7-4 to 132. Oats gained 1-8c and 3-8c. In provisions, the outcome varied from 37 decline to 12c advance.

Corn traders took special notice of government figures showing an increase in the yield of corn as compared with previous official estimates. In many quarters, the record total had been expected to disclose a substantial reduction. Talk of prospective heavy sales of Canadian wheat to the United States counted also to some extent as a bullish factor. Defences which followed were due, however, more to lack of support than to any great pressure. Rallying during the last part of the session came about chiefly through weak and covering by shorts and because railroads were expected to give attention next week almost altogether to moving coal. Comparative firmness in the oats market was ascribed to scantiness of receipts and to indications of a falling off of the visible supply total on Monday. Entailing by holders of land had a depressing effect on the provision market.

NO WORD RECEIVED IF DEMPSEY WILL AGREE

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Dec. 13.—M. Decoin has not yet received a reply from Jack Kearns on his offer for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight in the Pershing stadium. Sporting circles in Paris are expectant in view of the official challenge issued by Dempsey, Carpentier's manager, to Dempsey, through the International Boxing corporation yesterday.

Carpentier told The Associated Press today that he was not concerned about the arrangements and was leaving for England, Monday. The general opinion in Paris is that Dempsey would not be willing to come to France, while Carpentier expressed willingness to go to America or Australia, has caused renewed enthusiasm. "I wish that the matter could be arranged as soon as possible," said Carpentier today, "so that I might go to work. I desire to depart from the old time publicity stunts. I believe that the people of both Dempsey and myself speak for themselves and I wish to get down to business and settle the matter once for all. If I am defeated I will proclaim Mr. Dempsey the greatest living fighter."

Eugene Nagels, formerly of the 21st Infantry, describes the ups and downs of a regular army career covering more than 21 years. Sergt. Nagels has just been assigned to the University of Idaho as assistant to Colonel E. C. Crisman, commandant of cadets and professor of military science and tactics. Colonel Crisman and Sergt. Nagels first soldiered together 14 years ago in the Philippines. At that time the colonel was a captain in command of H Company of the old 18th Infantry and the sergeant was an unadorned buck private. "Sergt. Nagels' long experience and his thorough knowledge of every phase of military life are expected to make him a valuable asset to the university military department."

DISTRIBUTES 550 TONS DURING WEEK

Car and a Half of Fuel Left to Start New Week, Says Minnick

City Clerk Minnick, in charge of the distribution of coal in Twin Falls and vicinity, reports 570 cards issued during the week which called for some 550 tons of fuel. Eighteen cars of coal were received by dealers during the week just past and of this amount there is a car and one half left to start the new week. Coal shipments have been coming in satisfactorily and the office has not been in Twin Falls suffered from lack of fuel.

Not only have the residents of Twin Falls been supplied but consumers from Idaho, Rock Creek and Castleford and other places have received cards from the city clerk's office. Only one complaint has been turned in over a consumer swearing a false affidavit. One person is said to have asked for and received a card when he had a sufficient quantity of coal at his home. The complaint was turned in by neighbors and City Clerk Minnick is investigating the charge. In case of a complaint being turned in, a consumer can receive a coal card if they have coal in excess of 500 pounds and cards will not be issued in advance of need.

WASHINGTON MINE WORKERS ADJOURN WITHOUT VOTE

By the Associated Press. SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 13.—Delegates of the 37 Washington state local unions of the United Mine Workers of America adjourned their conference here late today without reaching a vote on the question of returning to work in response to orders from international officers of the union. The conference will be resumed Monday, according to Robert N. Harlin, president of District 10. None of the mines will resume work Monday, he said, although he predicted a satisfactory settlement would be reached.

SINCLAIR FOUND GUILTY OF GRAND LARCENY

P. C. Sinclair, charged with grand larceny of $500 worth of seed from a Bull seed concern, was last evening found guilty by a jury in the district court. The case was concluded yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the verdict was reached shortly before 6 o'clock. Sentence will be passed by Judge W. A. Hubcock Monday. According to the evidence in the case, Sinclair was employed by the Bull seed concern, hired a Bull drayman to take seed from the establishment where he was working to another Bull seed house where he disposed of the product. Sinclair claimed that the seed belonged to a "Madford seed house" and that he was acting in an commission.

BRITISH FINISH ANOTHER MINIATURE WAR IN TURKEY

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Dec. 13.—Another miniature British war has just been concluded with the return of two columns operating to the northeast of Mosul and to the southeast of Amadia, Asiatic Turkey, after successful expeditions against the Kurds, in order, as officially stated, to punish them for the commission of outrages and murders.

The troops consisted of four battalions of Indian infantry and a Mountain battery and three companies of Americans. Their losses in engagements were slight.

Civil administration has been re-established in the district and the troops have been withdrawn.

SAVY BOY WAS NOT KIDNAPPED BY NEGROES

By the Associated Press. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 13.—After a 24-hour investigation, the police authorities of this city and Ventnor declared tonight that they had reached the conclusion that James M. Blake Jr., 8-year-old son of a wealthy Philadelphia insurance broker, was not kidnaped by negroes. They have begun a search for the boy from a fear that the boy may have been drowned.

BUILDING RECORDS BROKEN IN MIDDLE WEST STATES

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—All building records in territory north of the Ohio and east of the Missouri rivers will be broken in 1919, according to statistics made public tonight by F. W. Dodge and company, which shows that construction of $22,9,000,000 were awarded for the 11 months of the year, or $1,919,000,000 more than in the corresponding period of last year, the previous high record.

COLDEST WEATHER RECORDED IN SALT LAKE AND VICINITY

By the Associated Press. SALT LAKE, Utah, Dec. 13.—Extreme cold weather is forecast for Salt Lake City and vicinity tonight and tomorrow morning by the government weather bureau here. Early today the thermometer in Salt Lake dropped to three degrees below zero and in the far outlying districts it went down to as far as 10 below. This is the coldest December weather ever recorded here.

AVIATOR BRADLEY DIES

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Dec. 13.—Lieutenant Bradley, who was injured in the airplane accident near Caterham, Surrey, Thursday, died tonight. Lieutenant Bradley was pilot of the machine which became unmanageable when about to land after a trip from Paris. George F. Hand, president of the Marine National Club of Buffalo, N. Y., was killed in the accident.

Completely Built versus Half Built Homes Bigger Future Than Ever For Builder and Contractor

By S. J. DUNCANSON

Today, the builder of small town homes and farm houses faces America's big opportunity. Farming now is the first essential industry, and the farmer is the man with money to buy what he wants.

The city no longer attracts the country youth as the only place to make a large fortune. On the contrary, it's the city youth, with an eye to the main chance, who seeks the farm.

The "hayseed" of the funny papers has disappeared. The farmer now rides to town in his automobile, wears city clothes and a fur coat—sends his produce by motor truck—works his ground with a tractor—makes use of every modern device to increase his yearly output.

And the first thing thousands and hundreds of thousands of farmers are looking for today, is a completely built home instead of the half built home of the past. The farmer expects the builder to provide him with these city conveniences to which he has grown accustomed, through close contact with city ways. He knows the value of modern machinery. He has learned that health and increased profits are the sure results of modernizing his farm. Running water, electric light and sewage disposal systems have become as necessary to him as the roof and walls of the house, and he depends on the builder to provide him with the best.

Different Kinds of Water Supply Systems

The three best known systems of water supply are the elevated tank system, the non-storage system and the pneumatic system. The last, while a trifle more expensive, offers greater advantages than any other.

A small pump, driven either by gasoline engine or electric motor, pumps the water from cistern to water tank. At the same time, a certain percentage of air, which acts as a cushion in the tank, is pumped in automatically. As additional water enters, the air cushion is compressed, creating pressure that forces out the water when a faucet is opened.

The whole system, comprising pump and pressure tank, can be installed in a corner of the cellar, or in an adjoining out house. The constant supply of hot and cold water, is always dependable. The comfort and convenience of running water under strong pressure, and the protection it affords against fire, cannot be overestimated.

Not can the builder be too careful in the system he selects to provide this prime essential in meeting his clients' needs. On that selection hangs his reputation and the client's mind. The worst investment is one that, cheap in the beginning, grows more and more expensive as time goes on.

The ideal water supply system must be built to give years of un-failing service. It should be compact and simple, easy to install and operate, and free from delicate parts. It should be built as nearly along the lines of public utilities plants as it is possible to build it. A water supply system of this type establishes the builder's reputation and increases his business by that word-of-mouth advertising that results from the satisfaction of the user.

Electric Lighting Plants

After settling the proper water supply system the builder naturally turns to the best means of lighting house, barn, grounds and out-houses.

There are several types of electric lighting plants, the direct connected type, where generator and engine are built together, and the indirect system, where the generator is separate from the engine.

The former is more compact, and in the hands of an experienced electrical engineer, quite satisfactory if well built. The one disadvantage, however, in connection with this type is that the engine must run at a very high speed. The latter indirect system offers opportunity for using a slow-speed engine, connected by belt to a generator, and makes it possible to locate, and remedy trouble, more readily than in the direct connected type. In selecting either type of electric lighting plant, care should be exercised that a plant large enough, not only to meet present requirements, but future requirements as well, should be selected. The conscientious builder, therefore, will rather make his selection from a line made by a competent manufacturer, many different sizes than from a concern manufacturing only one or two sizes. Too many a manufacturer makes the user's requirements in the few models he makes, rather than provide a variety of sizes in order to fit the specific needs of the buyer.

Combination Water and Light Plants

Certain manufacturers today

have solved the water supply and lighting problem, with one plant that provides both with equal efficiency—a plant that pumps water into a pressure tank, and a plant that generates electric current for the lighting of farm, house and grounds.

Naturally, in selecting such a plant, the greater wisdom lies in choosing one made by a manufacturer who furnishes complete plans. To repeat, this is the only possible way to get a plant that fits the requirements of the user, instead of making the requirements of the user fit the plant, the manufacturer happens to have on hand.

The builder or contractor will do well to bear in mind that a system should not be too automatic. The manufacturer who says his system requires no care or attention does an injustice to the builder. He would rather make a plant that requires attention, and always will. But the fewer the automatic devices attached to such a plant and the simpler its construction, the greater its efficiency and dependability at all times. Two minutes more attention a week, and twenty times the service extending over a life time.

Sewage Disposal Plants

Modern science and invention have developed a sanitary system of sewage disposal, which is perfect in operation, easy of construction, low in cost, and once installed, requires practically no attention. The principle involved is the bacterial treatment of sewage disposal.

The Triple Triple Alliance

To get from every prospective job the profits to which he is entitled, the builder today must not only recognize the importance of the Big Three—Electric Light, Running Water and Sewage Disposal—he must be thoroughly familiar with the best type of plants to provide each and all. This is his greatest opportunity. His work will stand as the best and highest grade—his reputation for Modern and up-to-date methods will take on a well-known stamp, and he will find the Triple Triple Alliance—Running Water, Electric Light and Sewage Disposal—Health, Comfort and Convenience for the client—Results, Profits and Increased Business for himself will work together with the greatest possible success.

Electric Light and Running Water From One Plant

You can now have all the convenience and comfort that come with electric light and running water in your country home no matter where you are located. One complete, compact system furnishes them both, save money on first cost, last longer, require fewer repairs than any other installation, and never fail to give perfect, uninterrupted service year in and year out. No matter how large or small your farm, there is a KEWANEE SYSTEM that exactly fits your needs.

UNION LEADERS DEVISE PROGRAM

Call On Workers to Seek Redress of Alleged Wrongs Through Political Effort.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—A declaration of principles was adopted tonight by the conference of presidents of labor unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. It calls upon all workers to seek redress of their grievances by political pressure, presumably through electoral parties, no mention is made of a labor party.

Issues which fine union labor require unity of effort if "industrial tyranny is to be avoided," the declaration said. It denounces the use of injunction proceedings in the mine strike and criticizes the "usurpation of unconstitutional authority by the judiciary."

The declaration had the approval of President Samuel Gompers, of the American Federation of Labor. Numerous resolutions were introduced and many attempts were made to change the draft without success. Radical activities were condemned by the conference and workers were urged to aid in stamping out "destructive alienism" in their own ranks. At the same time dangers to the labor cause otherwise were noted, "for powerful forces are seeking more and more to infringe upon the rights of the wage earner and deny to him the right to cease work" the declaration said.

"The pervasion and abuse of the writ of injunction was enumerated among these. The declaration urged congress to enact legislation restraining the railroads under federal control for at least two years after January 1, 1920, to permit detailed study of the situation and save the country from other increase in transportation rates." The fixing of wages on the cost of living basis was strongly disapproved. The anti-strike provisions of the Cummins bill were described as "enabling by legislation involuntary servitude."

SEN. KENYON URGES INDUSTRY COURTS

Town Solon Declares That Strikes Are a Bole of Barbarism.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Dec. 13.—Industrial courts to settle labor disputes must be provided by the government, Senator Kenyon of Iowa declared in an address before the Layton's club today. Strikes are no longer a private fight between employer and employe, he said. The American public, the third party to the consideration, does not propose, he added, to stand for strikes—a "relic of industrial barbarism."

"We must have tribunals where these matters can be settled," he asserted. "We must establish courts of mediation, conciliation and compulsory investigation and their decisions must be backed up by public opinion which will enforce them."

"Civic problems go to civic courts. Why not industrial problems to industrial courts? The government must provide some means of solving these questions. The employer who works his employes 10 and 12 hours a day in the interests of large dividends, needs as much Americanism as the Bolshevik," the senator declared. The congressman who goes to Washington for the most number of votes he can roll up also needs Americanism. "America sleeps until the eleventh hour," he continued. "But in the eleventh hour it awakens and has more potential power than army force on earth. It is time for America to wake up. We must meet the education of the Bolshevik with her own education. We must meet their purposes with ours. We must meet their speakers with ours. Education is the only thing which will accomplish this."

(Third Installment)
Archie and Quentin
Oyster Bay, May 7, 1901.

Blessed Ted:

Recently I have gone in to play with Archie and Quentin after they have gone to bed, and they have grown to expect me, jumping up, very soft and warm in their tummies, expecting me to roll them over on the bed and tickle and "grabble" in them. However, it has proved rather too exciting, and an edict has gone forth that hereafter I must play bear with them before supper, and give up the play when they have gone to bed. Today was Archie's birthday, and Quentin resented Archie's having presents while he (Quentin) had none. With the appalling frankness of three years old, he remarked with great sincerity that "it made him miserable," and when taken to task for his lack of altruistic spirit he expressed an obviously perfunctory repentance and said: "Well, boys must lend boys—things,—at any rate!"

Incidents of Home-Coming

Oyster Bay,
May 31, 1901.

Blessed Ted:

I enclose some Filipino revolutionary postage stamps. Maybe some of the boys would like them.

Have you made up your mind whether you would like to try shooting the third week in August or the last week in July, or would you rather wait until you come back when I can find out something more definite from Mr. Post?

We very much wished for you while we were at the (San Francisco) exposition. By night it was especially beautiful. Alice and I also wished that you could have been with us when we were out riding at Genesee. Major Wadsworth put me on a splendid big horse, called Triton, and sister on a thoroughbred mare. They would jump anything. It was sister's first experience, but she did splendidly and rode at any fence at which I would first put Triton. I did not try anything very high, but still some of the posts and rails were about four feet high, and it was enough to test sister's seat. Of course, all we had to do was to stick on, as the horses jumped perfectly and enjoyed it quite as much as we did. The first four or five fences that I went over I should be ashamed to say how far I bounced out of the saddle, but after a while I began to get into my seat again. It has been a good many years since I have jumped a good fence.

Mother stopped off at Albany while sister went on to Boston, and I came on here alone Tuesday afternoon. St. Gaudens, the sculptor, and Dums (Mr. Dooley) were on the train, and took lunch with us. It was great fun meeting them and I liked them both. Kermit met me in high feather, although I did not reach the house until ten o'clock and he sat by me and we exchanged anecdotes while I took my supper. Ethel had put an alarm clock under her head so as to be sure and wake up, but although it went off she continued to slumber profoundly, as did Quentin. Archie waked up sufficiently to tell me that he had found another turtle, just as small as the already existing treasure of the same kind. This morning Quentin and Black Jack have neither of them been willing to leave me for any length of time. Black Jack simply lies curled up in a chair, but as Quentin is most conversational, he has added an element of harassing difficulty to my effort to answer my accumulated correspondence.

Archie announced that he had seen "the Baltimore orioles catching fish!" This seemed to warrant investigation; but it turned out he meant barn swallows skimming the water.

President McKinley was assassinated in September, 1901, and Roosevelt immediately assumed the heavy responsibilities of office. His enemies, who thought him safely disposed of, found him in a position to wield the utmost power, but he did nothing startling at first. The Roosevelt children were naturally excited by the change in their lives and explored Washington with great interest. Not for one hour, in pony. He is a little pet, like a dog, but he plays tricks on them when they ride him.

He bucked Ethel over his head the other day.

Your father will tell you that these are pictures of the unpolished stone period.

Give my love to your mother. Your father's friend,
THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

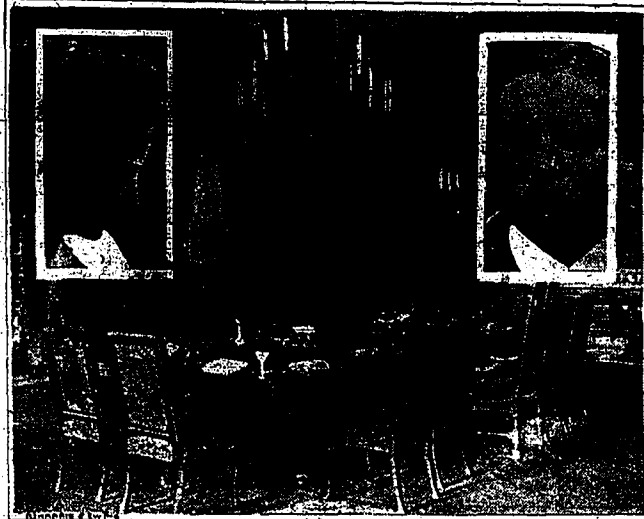

Uncle Remus and White House Pets

(To Joel Chandler Harris)

White House,

June 9, 1902.

My Dear Mr. Harris:

Thanksgiving, 1902. "We dined in the new state dining room. Mother looked just as pretty as a picture."

the midst of his new duties, did the president lose his intimate touch with all the dreams and whims of childhood.

The president not only sent "picture letters" to his own children, but a special one to Miss Sarah Schuyler Butler, daughter of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, who had written to him a little note of congratulation on his first birthday in the White House.

White House,
November 3, 1901.

Dear Little Miss Sarah:

I liked your birthday note very much and my children say I should draw you two pictures in return.

We have a large blue macaw—Quentin calls him a polly-parrot—who lives in the greenhouse, and is very friendly, but makes queer noises. He eats potatoes, bread and coffee grains.

The children have a very cunning

Your letter was a great relief to Kermit, who always becomes personally interested in his favorite author, and who has been much worried by your sickness. He would be more than delighted with a copy of "Daddy Jake." Alice has it already, but Kermit eagerly wishes it.

Last night Mrs. Roosevelt and I were sitting out on the porch at the back of the White House, and were talking of you and wishing you could be sitting there with us. It is delightful at all times, but I think especially so after dark. The monument stands up distinct but not quite earthly at night, and at this season the air is sweet with the jasmine and honeysuckle.

All the younger children are at present absorbed in various pets, perhaps the foremost of which is a puppy of the most orthodox puppy type. Then there is Jack, the terrier, and Sailor Boy, the Chesapeake Bay dog; and Eli, the most gorgeous macaw, with a bill that I think could bite through boiler plate, who crawls all over Ted, and whom I view with dark suspicion; and Jonathan, the pie-bald rat, of most friendly and affectionate nature, who also crawls all over everybody; and the flying squirrel, and two kangaroo rats; not to speak of Archie's pony, Algonquin, who is the most absolute pet of them all.

Mrs. Roosevelt and I have, I think, read all your stories to the children, and some of them over and over again.

The Dog "Gem"

White House,
October 13, 1902.

Blessed Kermit:

I am delighted at all the accounts I receive of how you are doing at Groton. You seem to be enjoying yourself and are getting on well. I need not tell you to do your best to cultivate ability for concentrating your thought on whatever work you are given to do—you will need it in Latin especially. Who plays opposite you at end? Do you find you can get down well under the ball to tackle the full-back? How are you tackling?

Mother is going to present Gem to Uncle Will. She told him she did not think he was a good dog for the city; and therefore she gives him to Uncle Will to keep in the city. Uncle Will's emotion at such self-denying generosity almost overcame him. Gem is really a very nice, small bow-wow, but Mother found that in this case possession was less attractive than pursuit. When she takes him out walking he carries her along as if she was a Roman chariot. She thinks that Uncle Will or Eda can anchor him. Yesterday she and Ethel held him and got burrs out of his hair. It was a lively time for all three.

Thanksgiving in the White House

White House,
November 28, 1902.

Darling Kermit:

Yesterday was Thanksgiving, and we all went out riding, looking as we started a good deal like the Cumberbach family. Archie on his beloved pony, and Ethel on Yagenka, went off with Mr. Proctor to the hunt. Mother rode Jocko Rort, Ted a first class cavalry horse, I rode Renowa, and with us went Senator Lodge, Uncle Douglas, Cousin John Elliott, Mr. Bob Fergie and General Wood. We had a three-hours' scamper, which was really great fun.

Yesterday I met Bozie for the first time since he came to Washington and he almost wiggled himself into a fit, he was so over-joyed at renewing acquaintance. To see Jack and Tom Quartz play together is as amusing as it can be. We have never had a more cunning kitten than Tom Quartz. I have just had to descend with severity upon Quentin because he put the unfortunate Tom into the bath tub and then turned on the water. He didn't really mean harm.

Last evening besides our own entire family party, all the Lodges, and their connections, came to dinner. We dined in the new state dining room and we drank the health of you and all the rest of both families that were present. After dinner we cleared away the table and danced. Mother looked just as pretty as a picture and she waltz with her. Mrs. Roosevelt danced the night.

VALVE-IN-HEAD IS 26 YEARS OF AGE

Bulck Engine Plant Was First Used in Marine Motor Engines in 1893.

Back in 1893 when Bulck was building marine motors of the valve-in-head type internal combustion motors were "built" in very small quantities, and as there was little in the way of established precedent to follow, theory dominated practice in almost every branch of motor engineering.

In consequence during the years that followed, the engineers bused themselves in experimenting with different types of design in an effort to overcome the difficulties that are always encountered when new and complicated mechanisms are built for the public use.

A few years later when the possibilities of the motor car began to be dimly realized, and when Bulck activities were being directed to the development of motor cars, Walter L. Marr cast his lot with Bulck.

Unlike many of the designers of that time, Mr. Marr believed in sticking to the one type until he had really proven to his own satisfaction that the theories which appeared to him to be correct were either right or wrong.

Mr. Marr was a staunch advocate of the valve-in-head type, because of its simplicity which was backed by all that was then known of thermal efficiency and formed a more logical basis for development work than the other types.

After a time he was joined by E. A. Waters. These two men have been designing Bulck cars for years and are without question the leading authorities on valve-in-head motor construction in the automotive engineering fraternity.

Together they have experimented with practically every known type of internal combustion motor, and the small engineering laboratory in which they first started to work has now grown to far greater proportions than those of the whole Bulck factory at that time.

The development work is still going on and the possibilities of the valve-in-head design have not yet been exhausted. In Mr. Marr's opinion there is no possible means of telling when perfection in this type of motor has been reached.

"The point is," he said, "that each succeeding year finds a number of improvements in the Bulck valve-in-head motor. This is because of the ceaseless research work we are carrying on. The Bulck motors in the cars we are now building are the best motors we know how to build today. Yet I have no doubt that the coming years will bring about other improvements because the field is such an inexhaustible one in which to work that for years we have found some means each season of making our motors more powerful, durable and economical.

A good many years ago we thought there would never be any better type of electric light than the old carbon filament lamp. But we know better now. And we thought the same thing about sewing machines and phonographs and steam engines, and reapers and a thousand other manufactured products.

"I think this illustrates the folly of claiming that any product is the last word in design or construction.

"The only guide we have, we who live in the present, is just a comparison with similar products now being marketed.

"Our engineering laboratories are equipped with every kind of scientific apparatus for making accurate comparisons as far as different types of motor car units are concerned, and from the results of our tests we are satisfied that there is no other motor built that can equal the Bulck valve-in-head motor in power, economy and general all around efficiency.

"It has taken us a long time to develop the Bulck motor, to its present state of efficiency, and it should be remembered that through all those years we have concentrated on the valve-in-head type. It has not been a hit-or-miss proposition with us, or a shifting from one type to another but a steady development with a definite principle of design, as the central point.

Concurrent with the development of the car along the lines mentioned above by Mr. Marr have been the steady increase in Bulck popularity among motorists and the equally steady growth of the factory itself. And these two big facts have been made possible only through the satisfaction that Bulck cars have given to Bulck owners. The Bulck valve-in-head motor has literally performed its way into the lasting favor of owners in all parts of the world.

Season after season finds Bulck owners—repeating their order—Bulck models with new Bulcks, and the loyalty of Bulck owners has had its continued effect in bringing new Bulck owners into the fold every year.

It is literally true that for a great many years it has never been possible to build enough Bulck cars to supply the demand in spite of the fact that every single year the manufacturing facilities have been greatly increased. Intelligent buyers usually recognize as a mark of quality the trade name of a builder who has earned the reputation for making a product superior to other products of a similar nature, and in the motor world, Bulck valve-in-head is that mark of quality because it stands for a correct principle of design developed to an unusually high degree.

ARMY STORES HIT PROFITEER IS CLAIM

Consumers Save $24,000,000 in Food Sales by Government Since November 24.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—It is estimated that the 26 government stores, opened to dispose of army surplus food, have saved the people about $24,000,000.

Up to November 24 they had sold direct to consumers $12,822,305 worth of food and through other channels distributed another $12,000,000 worth. It was estimated the prices were 50 per cent below the retail levels.

To date the stores are all running, but some of them may close within a month and they may all be closed within two months, as the supplies will so diminish that it will not pay to continue them. Bacon, cherries, crackers, corned beef, hash, in small cans, hard substitutes, pears, milk, potatoes, pineapples, raisins, rice, soups, soups, beef, tongue, and dried beans are already exhausted.

The biggest demand was for canned fruits, corn, beans and bacon. The left-over food will be large cans of corned beef, roast beef, tomatoes, hard bread, large packages of oatmeal and dehydrated vegetables. There are still plenty of canned tomatoes, and considerable bean, peas and corn, that the people can buy.

In many localities other goods have been held down. The government had a taste of how the packers try to stifle competition. The government was selling 12-pound cans of bacon at $4.15. In Buffalo the packers put similar cans on sale at $5.50. The packers cut the price again, but only by the government dropped the price to $2.75 a can, lower than the packers were able to go.

He is merciless to those lacking the aggressive spirit.

DISCOUNTS STORY OF END OF WORLD

Scientists Believe that No Untoward Conditions Obtain as Result of Phenomenon.

On December 17 there will be a conjunction of all the planets, the earth included, excepted. Science has been called on to interpret the event and explain just what the effect of it will be on the earth.

A league of planets, all pulling in unison, is nothing new. Such groupings are constantly forming and also breaking as the planets pursue their separate paths about the sun. The only startling thing about these conjunctions is their unusual compactness—all the planets except the earth will be included in it.

According to the theories advanced by some astronomers such a league of worlds, all pulling together on one spot on the sun may render the sun unstable and liable to erupt great clouds of flame. It is a well known fact that towers of fire frequently shoot up from the sun for hundreds of miles. If such a burst should touch the earth we undoubtedly would be consumed. But the happy part of it is that no such explosion ever came near reaching the earth, although it is possible that its heat affected our climate a little.

A perhaps more reasonable expectation is that the league of planets may affect the sun's magnetism and radiating power. The sun has been active of late. Its surface is torn by storms and great quantities of electricity have been shot out. Some of it has reached the earth, where it produced brilliant aurorae in the sky.

Sun spots do not affect the earth's climate to a noticeable degree when they persist for a long time. They make the entire earth about 5 per cent cooler and increase the proportion of ultra violet light coming to us. The rays of blue and ultraviolet light are harsh. These are in the morning sky. The planets, by the chemical rays that produce the now fast nearing the line they are Milling effect of sunlight on low or hold on that date. You can see the gammas. Some people are affected by clearly in the east before dawn. The ultra-violet light. On cold, raw days first of the string is Jupiter, then the blue sky is filled with the rays comes the star Regulus, then Saturn of this light and those who are susceptible often suffer.

The league of planets may possibly cause an increase in the quantity of the ultra-violet light the earth receives whole phenomenon. but at most it will not be much.

This about exhausts the possible things that the great conjunction may do to the earth. To any that the world is coming to an end because of it is the wildest and silliest exaggeration. The conjunction will be a fine sight after a crank is turned.

A Chalmers Starts and Runs as well in December as in June

SO many cars run well in June, and not in December. Most prefer the warm weather. A Chalmers starts on a cold day almost instantly on account of its Hot Spot and Ram's-horn, and runs velvety "on all six," with no visible vibration.

Hot Spot vaporizes the raw gas "to a fine cloud," warms it up, and Ram's-horn dispatches it evenly, quickly, scientifically to all six cylinders.

They render a magnificent service in overcoming vibration, which is the origin of 90% of the troubles in a motor car.

BRITISH MAINTAIN WAR TIME RULES

Sugar and Butter Still Rationed—The Living Problems Are Not Yet Solved.

LONDON — The end of one year of peace finds the United Kingdom still working under many of the war-time restrictions affecting ordinary living conditions, although large numbers of the orders have been rescinded and others have been modified.

So far as butter is concerned, only sugar and food are now rationed. The regulations regarding the amount of meat which might be purchased were removed only a few days ago, about one year after the close of the war. The consumption of liquor, however, is being held down rigidly under the old rules. Necessities still rationed, which vitally concern the home, include coal, gas and electricity. The shortage of fuel has been causing considerable hardship to both the individual and to industry.

The ministry of food has found it advisable to continue the maximum prices, both wholesale and retail, that it fixed for a considerable number of necessities.

Apart from the matter of food and fuel the board of trade is maintaining control of the exportation and the importation of a long list of articles. The ban has been removed from some goods, but this has been mainly in the case of things importation of which has been forbidden and which the country found itself short of.

Removal of restrictions on most of the food necessities has not solved the living problems of the masses, however. There is still a great shortage of many things, and moreover, prices, which went down last summer, have now mounted to about where they were at the signing of the armistice.

The increase is attributed partly to the world scarcity of necessities, and partly to the augmented demand from the recently belligerent countries, and partly to inflated currency and adverse foreign exchange. The last named have had a pronounced influence on prices and it is the belief of economic experts that food cannot become very much cheaper until these are adjusted, even though there is an increase in production.

The butter ration is placed at one and one-half ounces for each person per week. This refers to the imported products only, there being no restriction on the use of home made butter. As a matter of fact, virtually no butter is being made in the United Kingdom these days, so that the consumer has to depend upon margarine and foreign butter.

The reason there is so little home produced butter on the market is that the retail price, approximately sixty cents a pound, bears on relation to the actual cost of butter to the farmer. This month farmers can sell milk at 64 cents a gallon, and it takes two and a half gallons of milk to produce one pound of butter. If English butter were selling at its true economic value it would be about $1.24 a pound.

Until recently the sugar ration was twelve ounces for each person per week, but, owing to the shortage this allowance has been decreased to eight ounces, and is expected to remain at that mark for many months. The amount allowed to the confectionery and sweet trades has been reduced by 25 per cent and a further reduction is expected with this new year.

Butchers' meat was rationed until a few days ago, each person being allowed forty cents' worth per week. In consequence of the receipt recently of a large supply of mutton and lamb from Australia and New Zealand it was found possible to remove all rationing restrictions and the Food Ministry has expressed the hope that people will relieve the food situation by eating more meat, which is welcome advice for England.

Despite the small ration, only about 80 per cent of the meat allowance was being demanded by tickle-holders each week. This was due either to a change of habits since the beginning of the war or to the high cost. Whenever a butcher had a balance of meat left over at the week-end he was permitted to sell it to anyone of his customers, irrespective of whether they had already had their ration or not. In this way some people were able to exceed the amount provided for by their permits.

The sale of the "black market" is still restricted in quantity and the strength of both beer and whiskey is much below the pre-war average. As a result, it is said, there has been an increase in sobriety. Whiskey is at present about thirty per cent under proof. Alcohol's drinks can only be purchased between noon and 2.30 p. m., and between 5 and 10 o'clock at night.

The food ministry still fixes wholesale prices for a number of other commodities and the ministry is the actual purchaser and distributor of cheese, bacon, ham, lard, dried fruits, bread, butter, cocoa-powder, condensed milk and canned fish.

Fixing of the maximum price, it may be noted, does not prevent the sale of goods for a sum below that amount, and in many cases food stuffs are being sold much below the limit fixed by law.

The ministry is believed to be the largest in the world. Its annual expenditure is about $1,000,000,000. The object of the department is not to make a profit, but in transactions of this magnitude it is impossible to make both sides of the account balance.

FAMOUS ELK HERD IS FACING EXTERMINATION

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.—The famous elk herd in Yellowstone park, numbering 30,000 animals, faces extinction because of the heaviest snowfall in 40 years and the heavy slaughter of the animals in Montana, where they have been driven in search of food, according to Robert S. Yerd, executive secretary of the National Parks association. Five thousand animals already have been killed by hunters outside the park and their carcasses shipped to market in the present hunting season, which does not close until Christmas eve, Mr. Yerd said.

The National Parks association is conducting a campaign for the elk preservation and Mr. Yerd declared that starvation faces the animals left unless large quantities of hay, for which no appropriation is at present available, can be distributed in their feeding grounds. The almost unprecedented heavy snowfall has cut off the usual food supplies.

Those who persist in mixing him up with the builder of American bunk-along are too lazy to give their tongue the extra quirk.

Seven clubs in the National League would have deported the whole collection of Reds six months ago.

MEXICO CITY IS QUIET AFTER DARK

Business of Every Sort Stops at Seven o'clock—All Quiet Until Theaters Let Out.

MEXICO CITY — Mexico City is a quiet place after dark. Business of every sort stops promptly at 7 o'clock at night when the doors are closed and heavy steel curtains are drawn over the entire front of the building. Avenida Francisco Madero, the main thoroughfare, dimly lighted at the best, looks like a blind alley after 8 o'clock and is unvisited for a few minutes only when, shortly after midnight, the theater crowds hurry home. There is but little after theater life here. Saturday night offers an exception for live cafes are open then for dancing and drinking with foreign dignitaries for the most part the patrons. The human ovals of the United States who turn night into day will find it difficult to believe that Mexico City which has a population approximating 1,000,000, has no all night restaurants and that after 2 o'clock in the morning it is next to impossible to buy so much as a cup of coffee. The "open day and night" cafe is unknown here and early risers or late retirers face the alternative of carrying a pocket lunch or of finding one of the two out door lunch stands that enter to that distinctive class of night workmen, the newspaper printers. These two "publitas" as they are called, consist merely of make shift tents which cover a few boards serving as tables and chairs. They open for business at 3 o'clock a. m., and by 7 o'clock are hatted down. Here one may buy coffee, tamales, tortillas and meat highly flavored with chili. Mexico City is not what might be termed a "good restaurant town." Although the capital of a republic it is not as well supplied with places to eat as New York which has only about twenty-fifth the population. The commercial lunch is almost unknown here for the reason that all business closes from one o'clock to three o'clock p. m., and everyone that has a home goes to it for the midday meal which is the heaviest of the day.

"JAMES" LICK BATHS CLOSED FOREVER — SAN FRANCISCO — The James Lick Baths, famous San Francisco landmark, have closed forever. These baths, erected at a net cost of $101,000 in 1889 when the lodging houses and hotels of the city did not have adequate bathing facilities for their guests, gradually decreased in value until they were taken over to satisfy a $44,000 mortgage. The baths were built by James Lick, who brought $30,000 in Spanish doubloons to California, in 1847, and made himself a millionaire by purchasing land in and about the settlement from which San Francisco grew.

BREAKS PLAY PART ON GRIDIRON NOW

Ohio Lost Contest to Illinois When Gate Entered into Place Kicks. Other Examples.

By Fred Turbyville. They're stalling baseball's stuff for use on the gridiron. They're now talking about the "breaks" in the game, and they are right, too. More games have been won and lost through "breaks" than ever before in gridiron history. In almost every important game there has been a break that has turned victory into defeat. Causes are numerous. Getting down to the cause is not so difficult. The forward pass and many tries for field goals made many breaks. In one of the greatest games of the year—the Illinois Ohio battle for the western championship—there were breaks—two of them. In that game Illinois apparently had clinched victory with its touch down in the first period. The teams were evenly matched, and after one dashing run down the field by Sternaman of Illinois, there was no scoring until in the second half. And then, with defeat staring them in the face and the hearts of the Ohio State crowd mightily heavy, Chick Harley made good on a forward pass. It was a long one and into a corner of the goal. "They had missed pass after pass. No one thought this one would succeed. There was no one on hand to take it. But from somewhere a crimson warrior tore loose and raced madly toward the falling ball. He got it. Ohio scored a touchdown on the next play and then kicked a goal, putting them into the lead one point. They then appeared certain winners for the time was getting short and the teams resumed their death grip in the center of the field. They might have gotten by with a victory but they tried a place kick from almost the middle of the field. Here came another break. The kick was blocked and the ball rolled for yards and yards back of the Ohio team. It must have bounced and rolled for 20 yards. An Illinois player finally fell on it and the next minute Fletcher kicked a field goal and thus was up.

There were also breaks in the Yale-Princeton and the Yale-Harvard battles. They counted. The breaks went to Pittsburgh against West Virginia. The breaks went to West Virginia against Princeton. Many of the breaks have been made by the team because in the new ball, but it seems more noticeable in football, where for years and years the spectators have been accustomed to seeing the team advance physical. It is the one fastest and most perfect of the following series—often occurring in all lines, with its games. The game ends by a large margin, as the availing getting trickier year by year. "breaks" are going to come, for or against the ones taking chances. This largely has been responsible for the many upsets in football this fall. The same probably will be true of the season of 1920. Football is a changed game.

ROAD WORK EUNDS. An important report, which possesses peculiar interest for all motorists, regarding good road progress during the present year, has just been made by the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States department of agriculture. It shows that for 1919 the expenditures for hard surface highways established a new record, in ways far as the department's road program is concerned, the total amount being $128,000,000. The indications are that the one fastest and most perfect of the following series—often occurring in all lines, with its games. ### UNLIMITED WATER SUPPLY:

These lands have recently been included under the irrigation system of the Franklin County Irrigation District No. 1, which obtains its water supply from the Columbia river, the second largest river in the United States.

PRODUCTION:

These lands equal in fertility the choicest lands of the Yakima valley or of those of any other irrigation project of the continent. Throughout the district eight tons of alfalfa to the acre is the rule with four unfailing crops. Fruits and vegetables of every variety known to this latitude grow in abundance. The farmers of the district are almost uniformly successful. In recent years one season's crop has often been sufficient to pay the price of this land.

LOCATION AND CLIMATE:

The district is bounded on two sides by the Columbia and Snake rivers and lies opposite the mouth of the Yakima river. It is commonly known as the Three Rivers country. No land offered lies

PRICES AND TERMS:

Prices range from $45 to $125 per acre. Their value is easily equal to or greater than irrigated lands that are selling at prices ranging from $200 to $300 per acre. The low prices offered are made solely to obtain rapid settlement. No land will be sold except to those who will improve and put it in crop. To such buyers terms can be made ranging from one-fifth to one-tenth of the purchase price per annum.

All lands will be open to settlement on December 20, 1919, but selections may be made prior to that date and will be accepted in order of application.

more than three miles from the Columbia river. The land is approximately 350 feet above sea level, which is the main cause of the mild winters, and long growing seasons, which prevail as evidenced by the four regular cuttings of alfalfa, and the fruits and vegetables which, with those of the immediately surrounding district, are the earliest for this latitude on the American continent.

TRANSPORTATION AND MARKETS:

Three transcontinental railway systems serve Franklin County Irrigation District No. 1. At its center and within four miles of the most remote acre we offer for settlement is the division point of the Northern Pacific railway. The district is traversed by the Yellowstone trail and the Evergreen highway as well as the Inland Empire and Central Washington highways. The Columbia river is navigable to the sea. Such are the transportation facilities. No other irrigation district in the country has such advantages. The district is seven hours from Portland, Tacoma and Seattle and five hours from Spokane, with many through trains daily.

EX-ANARCHIST HAS CHURCH IN CHICAGO

Dr. Reittman Inside Men Need Bible, Jail Physician Provides Confessional for Guilty.

CHICAGO — Dr. Ben L. Reittman has over his desk, holding a well worn Bible in his hand. "Now we exhort you, brethren, warn you that are unruly, comfort the feeble minded, support the weak, be patient toward all men." "The nation and I—5-14.

"That is my text for tomorrow," he said, looking up. "Won't you come up and hear me?" It was not the Ben Reittman, anarchist, I. W. W., pal of Emma Goldman, advocate of free love and birth control. It was Ben L. Reittman, minister of the gospel, talking.

Dr. Reittman has founded a church in the Bush Temple at Chicago avenue and North Clark street not far from "death corner" in the old Sullivan Black Hand district and within driving distance of the hotbed of radicalism. For want of a better name he calls his church "The New Church."

"My church is not an experiment," he explained. "It is a conviction. I believe I can do my fellowmen some good."

"What is a new church?" he was asked. "Why not join one of the churches already established?" "Everybody knows my record. And besides, the present denominational churches do not appeal to the men who really need religious expression the most."

Dr. Reittman recruits his Sunday evening congregations by means of postal cards. His announcement explained that the "New Church" will make a sincere endeavor to promulgate a religion that is founded upon modern psychology, economics and man's needs. If you are interested in progress, education and the endeavor to build a better world, come to us."

"For every man is religious in his more sober moments," he said. "I know the young radicals say religion is bunk, but men of mature years—men who have a wife and children— and have known their love, don't feel that way down in their hearts. And men in great trouble, who feel the need of comfort, don't turn to Karl

Mark or Shakespeare for that comfort. They go to the Bible. "No man ever commits a crime without it later bothering his mind. I know for I have lived in jails and other places with criminals and have heard them talk. They want to relieve their minds. That's why I have established the confessional in the 'New Church.'"

CONVINCED OF AID FROM ADVERTISING

Kentucky Dealer Used Newspaper Space Freely—Sales Largely Increased.

How one bit of newspaper publicity was largely responsible for the direct sale of thirteen fine automobiles should be convincing enough proof for anyone, to the force of the daily newspaper of today.

The latest person to be convinced is W. M. Phillips, dealer for the Franklin car, at Lexington, Ky. Recently Mr. Phillips decided that he would drive a car from the factory to Lexington. Then he hit upon a novel idea. He invited a Lexington newspaper man to accompany him as an official observer, ran large sized advertisements in the papers announcing that he was to try for an economy record for the 776.3 miles, and started out.

Each day of the run, the newspaper man, as official observer, telegraphed the day's mileage back to Lexington, and the newspapers carried the telegram as the report of the day's progress. The series of ads quickly got motorists to talking, and when the Franklin rolled up a mileage of 36.8 miles to every gallon of ordinary commercial gasoline, the lot was transferred to action.

As a direct result, Mr. Phillips had to put his automobile away and start taking orders about as soon as he stepped out of his car. He has just concluded a week in which he sold more cars than ever before during a similar period, taking orders for thirteen Franklin cars in six days.

LUXURY RULES IN JUNGLE CAMP

Elephant Hunters Face Perils, But Live High, Says Correspondent in Africa.

By Edward M. Thiery.

Staff Correspondent with Smithsonian Universal Expedition. IN CAMP, Kinkelboach, South Africa—Visiting the Ador Bush to get a close-up view of Major Pretorius exterminating the wild elephant survivors of South Africa was the Smithsonian African expedition's initiation to camp life.

The sudden transition was the very strangest part of it—a quick step from jungle and civilization into a thorn jungle teeming with man killing wild elephants. Our week of it had all the elements of a chapter of fiction—camp life that was no vacation time play, but the serious business of facing wild elephants in their jungle home; the novelty of native gun headsmen, porters and askari (guards) that go with the picturesque safari (caravan) of Central African trekking; the chills and thrills of hunting the raging, trampling mammoths, the discomforts of an actual scarcity of water, and an unprecedented menut of almost exclusively elephant meat which, by the way, is delicious.

It's bizarre, but, paradoxically, one does not really rough it in Africa, jungle or no jungle.

The English sportsman traveling on the Dark Continent has set the style. He takes with him all the comforts of home, practically everything except the garden hose and the family lawn mower.

Pictures Major Pretorius, redoubtable hunter and fighter, one day risking a terrible death hunting wild elephants in the thorn bush, and the next day sitting in a steamer chair outside his tent dictating to a pretty stenographer. Even in between, elephant hunts the major is writing a book.

Every morning a Kafir boy brought us coffee to drink in bed. He came with a girl and a long drawn intention of the word "Bka-a-aa," which really means liquor but is broadly applied by natives to any sort of drink.

To the natives every white man is "baas," meaning "boss." After they saw Raven with his hat off they called him the "fat baas." Dr. Schant was the "fat baas" and I was the "thin baas"—with a world of respect in the word.

When the centenary of the arrival of the first missionaries is celebrated at Kailua, Kona, next year there will be a singing competition staged by chorists from the island of Hawaii. The annual inter-island chorists' contests became famous some years ago, and there have been none held since 1916, when the Molokai singers won first place.

MANY YOUNG PUGS NOW IN LIMELIGHT

None-Dead Class Showing Signs of Awakening with Burke, Martin and Topper Active.

People the reverse suffered by Martin Burke of New Orleans in his bout with George Chip recently, the somewhat young animal, for heavyweight bouts still should be considered in the running along with the other young giants, Bob Martin, Jack Burke and Bob Topper. Indeed the heavyweight class never looked better than it does today. The youngsters are coming on with a rush and while it may be many months before one is ready to swap punches with Dempsey the champion, there is hope and lots of it. The young heroes of today are a much classier lot than the crop of white hopes who went after Jack Johnson's crown. Morris, Willard, Paddock, Paltor, McMahon, and Flynn, didn't show the early cats that the big boys today are showing.

The army had a lot to do with bringing them out. Particularly in the case with Jack Burke, Bob Martin and Bob Topper. They're army camp products. They can hit. A lot of the old timers are still trying—trying to earn a living in the ring. But none of them has a chance for the title held by Dempsey. It must be one of the heavier heavyweights. Martin-Burke is one of the frankness of modern day mitt specialists. The ring fans see a remarkable resemblance to old Bob Fitzsimmons in the kid. He is frolicked and bronch-kneed, long of arms and body and is apt very heavy. He is six foot tall and weighs 175, but he will take on more weight. His reach is 79 and one-half inches.

Burke was Dempsey's sparring partner. He is using many of the Dempsey ring tactics.

When he weighed but 154 he won the amateur middleweight and heavy weight titles of the Amateur Athletic union. He is only 22 years old.

VACCINE FOR COLDS POPULAR IN ENGLAND

LONDON — It has been estimated that the annual expense of cold in England is $250,000,000. Dr. Davis Thomson asserts that six or eight different species of microbes cause colds. Vaccines against all of these bacteria are being administered. A single treatment confers immunity for about two months.

MODERATE FREIGHT EMBARGO TO ALL WYOMING POINTS

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 12. —Moderation of the freight embargo to Wyoming points because of the snow blockade in that state was announced here today by officials of the Union Pacific railroad. Livestock and perishables destined to Wyoming points now will be received in addition to the coal.

SMOKING IS ACQUIRED BY BOYS IN HARVARD

BOSTON — Only 132 of the 512 members of the 1919 freshman class in Harvard smoked. Twenty-four of these are pipe smokers, forty-three prefer cigars and five cigars. Practically all upper classmen smoke, and Physical Director William H. Green says that it is almost impossible to attend Harvard without learning to smoke.

SAYS WEIGHT IS IMPORTANT ITEM

Local Automobile Dealer Declares It Adds to the Expense After Purchase of Car.

"Unnecessary weight in any automobile costs the owner a tremendous amount of unnecessary expense," says W. E. Smith, of the W. E. Smith Motor company, local dealer in Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars. "In addition to the original cost of the extra weight, take for instance the three chief items of motor car expense—repairs, gasoline and tires. For the first of these the excessive toll which the heavy car owner has to pay is due to the extra strain that excessive weight places on the motor, gears, transmission and other vital parts.

"In view of the fact that lighter cars run almost twice the number of miles to each gallon of gas—the extravagance in fuel expenditures is apparent.

"But the greatest expense of all is tires. The lighter the car the less tires cost in the first place, the less burden they bear the longer they wear.

"On these three items alone motorists driving heavy cars are spending an enormous surplus.

"Eight certainly is not essential to comfort. Flexibility has proved its superiority when it comes to easy riding qualities. Still a car does not want to be too light. The happy medium is desirable.

"Extra pounds do not add anything to appearance. The predominant car of today is the clean cut car of no bulk—the car of right weight. "Extra weight detracts from rather than adds to the utility of the automobile. The ever increasing majority of lighter weight cars everywhere are demonstrating their greater convenience and efficiency for all around service."

"LOST" GOLD MINE IS REDISCOVERED

Northern Idaho Property Causes the Death of One of Its Original Discoverers.

SPOKANE, Wash.—The "lost" gold mine of the upper Salmon river district of Idaho, source for years of mysterious wealth of its discoverers and cause of the death of one of them, and the object of a 20 years' fruitless search by their "legatee" has been rediscovered, according to a report reaching here.

For many years two prospectors, named Hughes and Swan went every spring on a mysterious journey into the hills of central Idaho, and every fall returned with quantities of raw gold which made them the envy of every miner to whose ears word of their great good fortune had come. So skillful, however, were they in eluding the pursuit upon their journeys that the identity and secret of their location of the treasure laden quartz veins remained their own.

Then one fall Hughes, perhaps as a result of his summer's work in the mine, fell sick, and Swan, his partner, left alone the next spring on the annual pilgrimage to the source of their wealth. Traveling along again he elected to permit, but was not so fortunate on his return journey, for he was waylaid, murdered and robbed of his summer's toil in the hidden mine.

That was the last, until a few days ago, of the rich spoils removed from the famous mine. Hughes, jealously guarding the secret of the hidden wealth, against the day when he should recover his health and continue its exploitation, died at length in poverty in this city.

Shortly before he died, however, he endeavored to give his gold secret to C. H. Roff, a former Spokane policeman who had befriended him. With his falling strength he drew a crude map of its location, as nearly as he could remember it, and gave it to Roff, with instructions for finding the treasure.

Practically every summer since then Roff has spent in a fruitless search for the lost mine. For twenty years he has continued his quest, but so inaccurate was the map that he never succeeded. Roff's last hunt for the mine was made last summer.

The mine has been located, according to a report from Lewiston, Idaho, by two Jensen brothers, of that city. It is declared to be on a tributary canyon of Ramsey creek, in the upper Salmon river district of central Idaho. The ledge proper is declared to be from four to six feet wide, with a rich streak of quartz in which the gold is easily visible to the naked eye.

ALL RUSSIANS ARE FACING A DEFICIT

Expect Government to Cost 18 Billion Rubles with Only Four Billion Available.

OMSK — The All Russian government faces a certain deficit of 14,000,000,000 rubles for the current year, according to an estimate made by Finance Minister De Hoyer. This may easily amount to seventeen billion because of contingencies which it is impossible to forecast.

The total revenues for the year, as computed at four billion rubles at the outside. Expenditures will total 18,200,000,000.

In a recent analysis of the financial status before the budget and finance committee of the government, De Hoyer outlined the budget for 1919. Ordinary revenues, according to calculations made by various departments, should give 1,019,000,000 rubles he said, but the total is likely to be reduced to not over 3,000,000,000 by the loss of the Perm and Orenburg districts and by restriction of the sale of spirits in the war zone.

Ordinary expenditures he estimated at 3,413,000,000 rubles of which only about 3,000,000,000 represents interest on and payment of government debts. Extraordinary expenses connected with the war, pensions, subsidies, etc., for the first six months were 93,000,000 rubles and it was estimated that for the second 6 months this item might increase to 100,000,000. As a matter of fact, the business of caring for refugees, which was included under this head, has already run the total expenditure to 400,000,000 rubles for the second half year.

The total direct expenses for the first half year on account of the civil war was 3,863,000,000 rubles. As for the second half, during July, August and September, the army cost the government over 5,000,000,000 rubles.

This in Siberia, Mr. De Hoyer pointed out, is approximately 29 per cent of the government's expenditures is covered by its revenues. The remaining 30 per cent is represented by paper currency issues.

The remedy is threefold, the minister said; to cut down expenses; to increase revenues; to regulate currency circulation and if possible to obtain loans abroad. "It is difficult," he continued, to help matters at the present time by cutting down military expense. This he thought might be done later and when it became possible to ascertain the actual number of men fighting at the front.

"We must increase the income tax and establish taxation for the professions, such as lawyers, doctors, architects," he said. "Property and industrial taxes must be increased. Plaintiffs should not have their taxes increased since the gains would be more than negated by the discontent that would necessarily be created.

"We must encourage gold mining. Real estate taxes in towns need re-valuation and customs duty should be increased. Goods must be divided into three classes, indispensable, useful, and needless, and must be taxed on an average, two, five and ten per cent, respectively.

"Taxes on wine, spirits, kerosene, tobacco, tea, etc., should increase to keep pace with depreciation of the ruble. Government monopoly of salt, if sales should be continued. This alone gave 300,000,000 rubles revenue last year. It may be possible to tax salt."

POISONOUS GASES TO BE USED ON SAFE CHAMBERS

PORTLAND — An apparatus that gives considerable variety to the safe burglar's work, enemy is reported to have been invented here. It is simple, and consists of a vital containing poison gases within a safe, prepared and timed to explode upon the violent opening of the safe and scattering the poisonous fumes about so thoroughly and quickly as to overcome the burglar.

The new invention is not of the killing variety, but is said to be a combination of "tear gas" and of an asphyxiating gas. The idea came from the use of poisonous gases in the recent war.

THE FRANKLIN SEDAN

Considering its fitness to perform every enclosed car function and its disregard of climate, weather and roads, the Franklin Sedan stands today as the only all-purpose car built.

Light Weight and Flexible, it enables you to motor all day with ease over any road. Free from hammer and pound, jolt and jar, it does not fatigue rider or driver. It is easy to control and safe. It is cool and comfortable in summer, free from annoying toe-board heat, perfectly ventilated. It is warm in winter and gives instant protection whenever needed.

Direct Air Cooled, it causes no anxiety as to heat or cold. It carries no water to boil or freeze. Easy rolling, quickly responsive to the brake, yielding to the roads, it converts most power into miles, does not slide and slip and does not grind or hammer tires. The result is a nation-wide economy to owners of

20 miles to the gallon of gasoline
12,500 miles to the set of tires
50% slower yearly depreciation

And the Franklin Sedan leads in original sedan features. The Wide Observation Windows, the two Wide Doors which mean convenience and accessibility, and the V-shaped Slanting Windshield, secure an unequalled breadth of vision. Together with the sloping French-style Hood, they give outward distinction in addition to these obvious practical advantages.

Unless you are convinced that you have already obtained the utmost in motoring satisfaction, you will want a demonstration of this exceptional car. We will gladly show its performance over any road you say.
