BANDS EXPOSE RED SCHEME OF REBELLION

Documents Disclose That Steel and Coal Strikes
Were Part of Plans.

COMMUNISTS GOVERNED BY RUSSIAN COUNCIL

Federal Authorities Declare
Results Show That Time
Was "Ripe" for Big Clean-up.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Radical leaders planned to develop the recent steel and coal strikes into a general strike to overthrow the government, according to information gathered by federal agents in Friday night's wholesale roundup of members of the communist and communist labor parties. A definite program to expand the two labor disturbances for the purpose of blotting out every semblance of organized government was disclosed in evidence gathered in half a score of cities. This data, officials said, tended to prove that the nationwide raids had nipped the most menacing revolutionary plot yet unearthed.

Await Opportune Moment.
Officials indicated that both groups of radicals were only awaiting an opportune moment to carry on among other elements of the country.

Among the information disclosed as conclusive, revealed that payrolls had been loaded with agitators to be sent suddenly to every center of the support of a general strike.

During the last two weeks of the coal strike, communist agitators were discovered to have penetrated practically every mining center east of the Mississippi river. Evidence showed that in several instances where miners had voted to return to work, the communists had secured their election of distrust of the government to such an extent, it was said, that few if any miners actually got back to their jobs.

Attempts to incite the mine workers to violence, were the most bold in West Virginia, officials said, serious trouble having narrowly averted there. But all sorts of other plans were hatched and much of the data leading up to Friday's raids were gathered by secret agents circulating among the miners and coming in contact with the agitators themselves, it was disclosed.

Radicals Have "Bible Fund."
The raids also disclosed that a "bible fund" had been created by the two parties, against whom the government move was directed. Much of this money had been run into several millions, had been used for the purpose of building up adherents of the doctrine in case of a street for sedition and teaching of violence.

Proof also was said to have been obtained that in the case of agitators who had among the steel and mine workers, funds for fuel were made available in several instances frequently by the "red" agitators. These plans for organization of the workers in support of the communist cause were pictured as more complete than even a political campaign. It was evident, officials declared, that the movement was "ripe" and that settlement of the coal strike had been a key disappointment to the radical leaders.

Makes Memorandum Public.
Assistant Attorney General Garvey made public tonight the department's memorandum, submitted to the bureau of immigration upon which was based the wholesale roundup of members of the communist and communist labor parties as coming under the espionage act. This disclosed that both groups were pledged to fight any suggestion of military action by America against the Soviet Russians. Membership applications revealed that both groups were working for the control of the Russian communist council.

SAYS KAISER LOOKS TO BE MUCH OLDER

Correspondent of The Associated Press Gives Personal Picture of Appearance of Former Emperor.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, Jan. 3.—The Hagia correspondent of The Associated Press gives a rather unusual picture of the former German emperor in an article on the personal appearance of the former ruler and his future prospects.

"The Kaiser himself—the Kaiser grown much older—has been struck in his vital strength," says the correspondent. "The 'tramping' in the right arm and leg, which earlier was only just noticeable, has so increased that it is apparent at a glance and dominates his entire appearance. The Kaiser has become a very egotistical, though he is little."

Having talked with countless persons who visited the former emperor, the correspondent precedes his picture with a sharp criticism of some of the leading personalities, who afterwards tell false stories, and afterwards based on misunderstanding which circulate about the world.

He adds:
"The Kaiser's attitude is still solidly, but he appears to have grown shorter. It is noticeable how slowly he speaks in contradiction to his old habit. He lives up only when he remembers of the old days come to him. This often occurs in the middle of a conversation."

"Only pity can be felt for the Kaiser on such occasions. No one who has seen him at American and is capable of responsible impression, believes that this man, who is spiritually torn and shows it in his body, will ever play an active role in any form whatsoever. By the grinding experience of war the blow of a breakdown and worry about his future, which constantly torments him, the deeper impulse of his will is dulled."

In the opinion of the correspondent the former emperor has purchased Dogn house as proof that he has given up all thoughts of returning to Germany.

He longer expresses the wish to return to Germany, says the writer. "He believes Germany is lost. More than ever he believes he has been betrayed by his counselors and the whole people."

PRICE IS REDUCED

In order that the public may have the full benefit of the little want ads in The Chronicle, and for the purpose of enlarging this department of the paper, the price has been cut in half. Hereafter the price will be but one cent per word per insertion. 15 cents' minimum charge per insertion. However, at this price it will be impossible to book and bill these small amounts, and cash must in all cases accompany the order.

SAYS JAPAN SOON TO BE CHRISTIAN

Students Volunteer Hear Nipponese—Urged to Support League.

By the Associated Press.
DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 3.—Word pictures of conditions in all parts of the world were given the delegates to the Student volunteer movement of the foreign missions convention here today.

Paul Kanamori, one of the original members of the Kikumoto missionary band in Japan, predicted that Japan will be christianized in twenty or thirty years. Dr. W. Douglas MacKenzie, of Hartford, Conn., made a plea for young persons to go into non-christian countries, teaching their faith.

How various American commercial concerns had worked in Mexico was discussed by R. T. Sein, a Mexican. Under the subject of "America on Trial," G. Sherwood Eddy of Boston, made a plea for the adoption of the league of nations covenant.

The afternoon was occupied entirely by denominational meetings. Tonight Dr. J. H. Franklin, Boston; J. H. Oldham, of London, England, and the Rev. H. L. Swenson of Egypt spoke on "The Attraction of Hard Things."

The convention will close tomorrow night. The program for Sunday provides for the devotional services in the morning, separate meetings for men and women delegates in the afternoon, at which they will be told the opportunities of making a life work in foreign mission fields, and a meeting in the evening, for which the speakers have not been announced.

TOLEDO TAKES STEPS TO LAND TRAPSHOOTING MEET

By the Associated Press.

NITT TO MEET TIGER AND GEORGE IN PARIS

ROME, Jan. 3.—Premier Nitti left today for Paris, where he has been invited to meet Premier Lloyd George and Premier Clemenceau and possibly an American representative. It is understood an effort will be made to settle the Italian situation.

TO GIVE BIG LOANS TO REBUILD EUROPE

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Appeals of American business for aid in financing the reconstruction of Europe were answered today when the war finance corporation announced that four loans, aggregating seventeen million dollars, soon would be made to commercial interests which will employ the money in exporting needed materials to the stricken nations.

Wide difference of opinion has existed among government officials as to the advisability of extending governmental aid to manufacturing exporters. Decision of the corporation to dilute its power under the amended war finance corporation act came as no surprise, however, as Secretary Glas has taken a definite stand in favor of tendering assistance of some sort.

War finance corporation officials were reticent tonight about plans for further loans. They admitted, however, that "shelves of applications for advances" were under consideration. It was not believed that the loans would be made freely, although certainly more will be announced within the next few weeks.

TURK PLAN TO FORCE ARMENIANS INTO ISLAM

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A copy of a secret Turkish circular, dated November 28, addressed to the provincial authorities and bearing the seal of the minister of the interior, reached Washington today, entering the forcible conversion to Islam of the few non-reporter Armenians and those who have escaped massacre and death by privations and sickness.

"The non-reporter Armenians and those whose deportation has been stopped and who have returned to their homes are to be made converts to Islam," the circular says, "and such Armenians who have thus been converted may get back the property which has been confiscated from them."

"All houses of which the Armenians have been dispossessed should be conveyed to former Armenian women and girls who during the deportation period have been married to Mohammedans."

"All Armenians who have thus been converted en masse should be allowed to settle in Mohammedan villages and cities where they should not constitute more than five per cent of the Mohammedan population."

BELIEVE WILSON CAN CALM LEAGUE MEETING

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Many of the subject has convinced officials here that President Wilson may issue the call for the first meeting of the council of the league of nations without committing the United States government to participation in the league.

In accordance with that view, preliminary steps have been taken, it is understood, to permit President Wilson to comply with the requirement of the treaty that he issue the formal call.

The call will be made immediately upon publication in the official French organ of the "Proces-Verbal" proclaiming the acceptance of the ratifications of the peace treaty which is expected within a week, though not officially stated it is believed that the call by President Wilson will be issued through the secretariat of the league in London or Paris.

DANVILLE FIRE CAUSES MILLION DOLLAR LOSS

By the Associated Press.
DANVILLE, Va., Jan. 3.—Fire which threatened the destruction of a large part of the business section here tonight, was brought under control shortly after midnight after causing damage estimated at between $750,000 and $1,000,000.

Seven buildings were destroyed, including the Masonic temple, and several stores. The plant of the Danville Register and Bee adjoining the temple, was not seriously damaged. A high wind drove the flames but abated after midnight and the firemen gained control with aid from nearby towns on the way.

The origin of the fire, which started in the Johnson company's department store, is not known.

SINGING PRISONERS.

Imagine 500 persons gathered together in an auditorium or out of doors and singing heartily, joyfully. Nothing strange about that. Community singing has always achieved a high place in the life of many cities and small towns. It is recognized as a fine thing for everybody and a faithful, happy addition to community life.

But those 500 singers happened to be convicts in a state prison. Nevertheless, the value of community singing proved as real for them as for free citizens. The warden found the "sings" such a promoter of good conduct and vivifier of spirits that he is going to institute regular singing with a trained director.

When the first prison sings was held in this particular prison local people, theater lent its organist. The state community service sent one of its musical organizers to direct the singing. The prisoners were enthusiastic and sang at the top of their lungs. It is not at all impossible that some of those men, found in the first sing, and many more will find in future half-hours of song, the sparks of hope and joy which was needed to start them on their way to self-respect and worthy citizenship.

UNTIL THE HARVEST

Whether or not the Armenians are worth saving may be a debatable question. Whether or not the United States wants to take a mandatory over them in an attempt to set them on their feet is certainly debatable. But whether we want them to starve by hundreds and thousands, the bones of children, straining the roads over which they and their parents make their journeys back and forth in quest of food, has put one answer. The country may be luxury-lad, but it has a heart under its extravagantly woven garments.

Whether the people in Armenia and other starving countries ought to have pulled themselves together and in some miraculous way procured food and sowed it, and somehow made a living for themselves this year, is beside the question. They couldn't or thought they couldn't, and anyhow they didn't. And they are starving.

The observers who have been sur-vying the ground in Austria say that it is the most deeply suffering land in Europe. Roumania is next. Those who have come from Armenia say nothing could be worse than conditions there. Without arguing the matter as to which of these other stricken countries is worse off or more deserving, we face the fact that all these people need food and need it badly. Even in the Czech-Slovak republic, where the people have made such remarkable progress in the direction of self-support, they need 700,000 tons of cereals to carry them over until the next harvest.

Somehow, the last report seems to clinch the matter.

It is not gifts of money these people need, though perhaps such gifts might help a little. They do not wish to be pauperized. What they want is credit for food and clothing and seed and raw materials. They want us to send these things and give them long credit for them. When they are reasonably on their feet again, they expect to pay the bills.

Somehow these credits must be arranged. We do not wish, as a nation or as individuals, the odium of having asked the question of Cain. We should wish, rather, having found a wounded and starving by the roadside, to represent the Christian answer to that other question: "Who was this man's neighbor?" He that showed mercy.

JAPANESE COURAGE.

It has been said more than once lately, in public speeches, that "Japan never fights unless she has a sure thing." A fair minded editor makes the appropriate comment that Japan jumped into the world war three weeks after it started, when nobody knew how it was going to turn out, whereas the United States took nearly three years.

It may be added - that very few Americans regarded the Russo-Japanese war as a sure thing for Japan, where that almost unknown nation tackled one of the greatest world powers. It is doubtful whether the Japanese themselves could have had complete confidence in the David-Goliath contest.

Japan had enough faults, according to the occidental way of thinking, without inventing any, but it is certainly unfair to intimate that among them is a lack of courage or unwillingness to take a big chance when she considers her national welfare at stake.

RAIDS EXPOSE RED

was the enunciation of the following principles:

"We maintain that the class struggle is essentially a political struggle, that it is a struggle by the proletariat to conquer the capitalist state, whether its form be monarchial or democratic-republican, and to replace it by a governmental structure adequately adapted to the communist transformation."

Says Workers Must Organize.

"The most important means of capturing state power for the workers is the action of the masses proceeding from the places where the workers are gathered together—in the shops and factories. The use of the political machinery of the capitalist state is only secondary. The working class must organize and train itself for the capture of state power."

Federal officials deplored weaknesses in the present laws governing the procedure preliminary to deportation. It was pointed out that in most cases persons arrested as have been the radicals taken in these raids can obtain temporary freedom on bail of $1,000. There was an apparent feeling that if bail was granted some of the most dangerous of the "reds" gladly would forfeit that amount to avoid deportation. The department plans, however, to keep all under surveillance and re-arrest any who attempt to disappear.

Late figures received by Mr. Garvan showed that a total of 2,635 aliens were held with evidence which federal agents believed was sufficient to warrant deportation.

The total number of arrests was estimated at close to 4,500, although this estimate was changing almost hourly.

As more cities reported it was evidenced that the number of citizens caught in the raids would exceed expectation. Among them were many "parlor Bolsheviks" who it was admitted would have to be turned over to the state authorities. Only about 10 of the state have laws adequate to handle this class of disturbers. Mr. Garvan said.

The following cities reported arrests today in the raids as follows: Indianapolis 3; Fort Wayne, Ind., 3; Clinton, Illinois, 3; Anderson, Ind., 1;

San Francisco, 6 (additional); Winklesbarre, Ind., 4.

Hearings Begin Soon.

Deportation hearings will begin as soon as possible, Anthony Caminetti, commissioner general of immigration, stated tonight. Consideration has already been given to the question of a special ship to carry away those ordered deported, he added.

Owing to the number of cases to be heard, speedy deportation of those guilty of radical activities is an impossibility, John W. Abernethy, solicitor of the department of labor, declared tonight. About 3,000 aliens a year are deported normally, he said, and to arrange for the sailing of the Buford with 549 deportees all the other work of the bureau had to be suspended. The task of deporting over 2,000 aliens in one group, he said, would tax the bureau to the utmost.

the soviet "envoy," whose whereabouts have been a mystery for several days.

Communists to Continue Work.

Determination of the communists to continue their work for the overthrow of the government was voiced today by Harry Wintsky, secretary of the New York communist party, taken in last night's raids. He was released on his own recognizance by order of Chief Flynn and given until Tuesday to prove his citizenship.

Declaring that the communist party has no connection with the Union of Russian Workers, the socialists or anarchists, Wintsky asserted "the communist party and the communist movement will continue with increased efforts despite the nationwide raids." He added that it was "a legal party and we will take the case to the supreme court, if necessary, to determine this legality."

Organized Inquiry Boards.

Special boards of inquiry were organized at Ellis island to handle expeditiously the crowds of alien radicals shipped there, from New York and New Jersey points. By nightfall more than 300 "reds" had been corralled on the island, making a total, including old anarchistic cases, of 423 held for deportation proceedings. Among those sent there during the day were six children and 24 women.

With 700 immigrants on the island awaiting examination and more than a thousand others held on ships, the immigration force was completely swamped and was working overtime tonight in checking up the "reds" and arranging for deportation hearings. They are aided by 40 husky guards who were sent to the island today to help handle the now-comers.

Hearings Start Monday.

The first hearings will be started Monday. Deportation proceedings will be held on the island for all those arrested in New York and vicinity. Radicals arrested in other districts will be given hearings by the immigration inspectors in those districts and, when the findings of the inspectors are approved by the department of labor, they will be sent here to await deportation, it was stated.

Characterizing the latest government raids on "red" as "stupid and cruel" method of "persecuting and suppressing people," Charles Hecht, an attorney, who claims to have been retained by many of the radicals sent to Ellis island, issued a statement tonight in which he declared many of the alien radicals will leave the country as soon as possible to escape the government's "brag."

"The Miracle Man"

Here are a few of the most heart appealing scenes:

1. New York's Chinatown on a misty spring night—a halt in the seething traffic to let pass one of nature's grim jests.

Traffic policeman holding the crowd back, while The Frog, a misshapen cripple, drags himself over the car tracks. People in sight seeing 'bus look on, amazed. Chinamen, slum dwellers, and other denizens of Chinatown smiling cynically, knowing The Frog is a notorious faker. Thrillingly realistic.

2. The divy of the Day's spoils.

The Frog, The Dope, Rosie, and Tom Burke, members of the slick band of crooks, gather in a back room of a Chinatown dive to divide the day's spoils. The leering Chinese proprietor of the place spies on them through a keyhole. Rose tries to stab him with her hatpin, and Burke, rushing out, seizes the Chinaman by the throat, drops him through the opening of the staircase.

3. The miracle man makes good in a marvelous manner.

A path leading up to the Patriarch's little cottage. Villagers, sight-seers from the train, the band of Chinatown crooks at the foot of the path. The white-haired Miracle Man in the cottage door. The groveling Frog crawls up the path. He slowly unwinds himself, pretending to be cured. Suddenly a crippled boy drops his crutches to rush to the Patriarch's feet, his limbs whole! A millionaire's sister steps from her wheel chair and walks for the first time in her life. Crowd is astounded. Your audience will be, too.

4. Black hearted Tom Burke discovers love is greater than riches.

Tom and The Frog stand on top of a steep, rugged cliff overlooking the ocean, watching a small motor boat in which Rosie and King, the millionaire, are riding. He curses King and threatens him. When The Frog says, "I hope she falls for him real," Tom, beside himself, strikes him in the jaw and knocks him down.

5. Inside the motor boat, grounded on a sand bar in the sea.

Rosie, who has never known men whose desires were not masters of their souls, watches King in a half-frightened manner, not knowing whether or not she loves him. He seizes her in his arms, is about to kiss her, but suddenly steps away and prepares to swim ashore to secure help for the stranded boat.

6. Burke's mad love for Rosie asserts itself in the old way.

In the patriarch's cottage he grimly awaits her return from her all-night stay in the motor boat with King. She appears, and he opens a torrent of abuse. Suddenly, mad with desire and anger, he seizes her and kisses her forcibly again and again. The Frog and The Dope fight to get in to stop him. The Patriarch enters and Burke lets her go.

BUHL DISTRICT TO REJECT FEDERAL AID

Temporary Meeting Urges Commissioners to Continue Original Plans

BUHL, Jan. 3.—At a mass meeting of 200 taxpayers of the west end held here today a resolution was adopted calling for the continuation of original plans for road work in the district which is practically a refusal of federal aid in the work. The resolution also called for the calling of a bond issue to meet possible unforeseen expenses in finishing the road work underway.

The meeting also heard the report of Commissioner Molander and children who have been returned from Idaho where they had been attending school concerning the highway.

At the close of their report they were given a vote of confidence. It was learned from the report of the commissioners that in order for the Buhl highway district to get federal aid the district would have to abandon the original plan of grading roads of the district and provide for hard surface on the state highway.

To do this would take all the money in the treasury leaving none for outlying districts. The federal government would not aid in the building of gravelled roads because of the fact that they will not bear heavy traffic for an indefinite period as will a hard surfaced roadway.

Commissioner Molander stated that there was about $34,000 available money from the state and government to spend on the state highway in the Buhl district.

provided the district will put up $11,000 on the 4 and 6-10 miles of bituminous surface. To do this would put a stop to all construction on other roads unless another bond issue is floated, according to the commissioner.

He also stated that if the Buhl district did not accept the $34,000 state and federal aid there would be enough money left to complete the three and one-half miles east of Buhl and three miles west of Buhl, according to original specifications.

If this plan is followed there would be about $42,000 from the original bond issue to spend on other roads in the district which will probably complete the work laid out in the call of election. It will leave no funds however to surface the six miles of state highway in the Buhl highway district.

The mass meeting was presided over by E. A. Little with J. W. Tanner acting as secretary. Among those prominent in the discussion were: Clara Brown, B. C. Davis, F. W. Fisher, F. L. Atkins, M. Koppelman and I. B. Snider.

BUHL HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Work is again in progress after one week of Christmas vacation. In spite of the fact that a "row" fell by the wayside, those who did not return are intent on harder study.

The Monday morning session was opened with an interesting talk by Superintendent Allen. This added new zeal and encouragement to the students.

The work on the girls' basketball team is progressing favorably. Miss June Smithwick has consented to coach the team until a regular coach can be secured.

Nineteen girls were out to practice Monday evening. Coach Lackey announced that the senior basketball boys will meet the other classmen again on Friday afternoon. The boys have been practicing hard for this, their second game.

Much interest is being taken on both sides. A good game is assured. The rest of the school is enjoying a good joke on the seniors. They had plotted to take a vacation on New Year's day, as school was to be in session that week. But, contrary to their contemplation, Superintendent Allen announced on Wednesday morning that there would be no school on New Year's day.

Consequently their plans were foiled. H. W. Barry gave us a highly interesting talk on Wednesday morning. His subject was "The Publication of a Newspaper."

The work of the high school annual, Excelsior, is coming on apace. The editors of the various departments are hard at work and feel assured that our first annual will be successful.

Miss Bow was absent from school Monday on account of illness. Miss Gannon substituted.

Several of the members of the Alumni returned to their various schools, after spending the Christmas holidays in Buhl. Among those were: Chas. Blackford, Bernice Harding, Glendora Childs, Roland Harding, Oscar Johnson, Harry Hartwell, Leon Taylor and Eleanor Paris.

Since Miss Hillebrand's marriage, Miss Fletcher is acting as librarian. Miss Bow has taken her assembly period.

Rev. M. M. Van Patten is assisting in our English department until a regular teacher can be secured.

HEREFORD BREEDERS TO MEET IN BUHL

BUHL, Jan. 3.—The Buhl chamber of commerce has received assurance of the holding of the first annual sale of the Southern Idaho Hereford Breeders association in Buhl during the middle of March.

This sale is to be the first of many pure blood sales to be held in Buhl the coming year and the local chamber of commerce is planning on entertaining the visitors and arranging other details in order to make the sales a complete success.

The Southern Idaho Hereford Breeders association was formed last year and has for its officers H. B. Deardorf of Malta, president; Walter Blanchard of Buhl, vice president, and A. G. Shades of Churchill, secretary.

MRS. POWER INJURED.

Mrs. W. A. Power was painfully injured Friday evening when she slipped on the ice in front of her home at 628 South Main and sprained her arm and inflicting bruises on other parts of her body. She was reported to be somewhat improved last night but unable to be out.

ALIENISTS TELL WHY THEY BELIEVE NEW IS INSANE

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—Two more alienists testified for the defense today in the trial of Harry New, alleged murderer of his fiancée, Freda Lesser, giving opinions that New was insane when he shot the young woman near here last July.

They were Dr. E. B. Hoag and Dr. E. O. Sawyer. The latter was under cross-examination when court adjourned until Monday morning.

Dr. Hoag referred to New as "a constitutional inferior" and also described him as a "psychopathic personality," a "man with paranoiac symptoms" and a "foible-minded person with the brain of a child of 12 years or less."

Under cross-examination by Thomas L. Woolwine, district attorney, the witness said that assuming the theory of the prosecution to be correct, New's killing of Miss Lesser was not necessarily the act of an insane man.

Woolwine stated the theory to be that New had killed the girl deliberately because she would not agree to the performance of a criminal operation with her after he had urged her to that course, following his refusal to marry her.

Woolwine asked Dr. Hoag if he did not consider it strange that if New was insane, Miss Lesser an intelligent young woman, had not ascertained from the nature of a close association of some months. The witness said he did not know Miss Lesser, but ordinarily he should expect an intelligent girl in such circumstances to learn of New's mental unsoundness.

ONE KILLED; 35 INJURED IN RAILROAD WRECK

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Jan. 3.—One man was killed and 35 injured when Chicago Great Western passenger train No. 3 was wrecked early today near Wyeth, Mo., 22 miles north of here.

E. J. McGrath, a section foreman of the railroad from Alton, Minn., who died this afternoon in a hospital, was the only fatality. Others are in a serious condition and it is expected that Mrs. Ruth Jackson, a negro, 1206 Cherry street, Des Moines, Iowa, will not live.

The wreck was caused by a broken rail, railroad officials said. The train came from Minneapolis to Kansas City and was due to arrive in St. Joseph at 6:02 o'clock this morning. The derailment occurred near a trestle crossing the 102 river. The locomotive, the baggage car and a day coach passed the broken rail in safety and crossed the trestle. The remainder of the cars left the rails.

The day coaches rolled down the embankment and the sleeping cars piled up along the right of way in the rear. A day coach crowded with passengers turned completely over.

BANK DEPOSITS $2,510,910.

Deposits of the Twin Falls Bank & Trust company at the time of the last call in November were $2,510,910.50 instead of $2,150,910.50, according to announcement by officials of the bank yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Summers returned to Twin Falls yesterday forenoon for a short business and shopping trip.

Miss Blanche Hill is leaving today for Iowa where she will spend a month visiting at the home of relatives and friends.

wheat, which later developments proved to be a mis-statement. The complaint says the plaintiff was damaged to the extent of $828 as a result of the failure of the crop to be of sufficient amount because of the presence of the oats.

Grain

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—Corn—underwent a setback in value today owing largely to belief that the crop movement would be on a broader scale next week. Prices closed unsettled, 1-2 to 1-1/2¢ not lower, with January 134 5-8 to 134 7-8 and May 131 5-8 to 131 3-4. Oats lost 1-4 to 1-1/2¢. In provisions, the outcome was seven cents to 25¢ advance.

At first, the corn market showed an upward tendency as a result of better weather and of continued scantiness of receipts. Later, however, values began to respond to predictions of rising temperature and to advice that cars were more plentiful in parts of Illinois and Iowa. Bearish sentiment due to the inference that rural shipments would therefore increase, was further emphasized by a falling off in export demands for oats. In this connection, gossip was current that the seaboard was re-selling to the west oats which had been purchased for Europe. Under such circumstances, week-end covering by shorts failed to rally the corn market to any great extent.

Oats like corn were weak except at the start. Selling was led by a prominent speculator who unloaded about one million bushels.

Higher quotations on hogs gave firmness to provisions. Demand though was light. Offerings lacked volume, too, despite weakness of grain.

WILSON WILL NOT PURCHASE CUBAN SUGAR

Announces Decision Not to Exercise His Power Under McNary Bill.

SUPPLY FOR 1920 IS SUFFICIENT, BELIEF

Licensing Will Be Used, if Necessary, to Curb Profiteering—Makes Extensive Statement on Bill.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—President Wilson has decided not to exercise powers conferred in the McNary sugar control bill authorizing purchase and distribution of the Cuban sugar crop, according to a statement issued tonight at the White House.

Sugar Supply Sufficient.

In a long statement announcing the president's decision, the declaration is made that apparently the available sugar supply is sufficient for American needs, "even on the present unusually large basis of consumption," and notice is given that the power of price control through the licensing system, authorized by the bill, will be invoked if necessary in co-operation with the department of justice. Figures attached show that the estimated 1919 consumption in the United States was slightly more than 1,600,000 tons, of which normally only 1,000,000 tons was domestic production. As the Cuban crop is unusually large at 1,800,000 tons, of which the allies, however, because of limited purchasing power, will take about 1,250,000 tons, and as the estimated Louisiana, western beet, Hawaiian and Porto Rican production will reach 1,000,000 tons, the statement foresees a sufficient supply for American needs.

Per Capita Jumps.
The American per capita consumption of sugar, the statement said, had risen from 35 pounds in 1886 to an average of 55 pounds during the 1914-1916 period, and to 92 pounds for 1919.

When the question of purchasing the Cuban crop first came up in August only one member of the sugar board dissented from the conclusion that the Cuban crop should not be purchased unless the board's powers of control were made effective, requiring congressional action, the statement said. The president had reached no conclusion when he was taken ill during his western trip. Early in October the sugar board recommended to a senate committee the purchase of the 1920 Cuban crop, the board then feeling that its contracts with both producers and refiners could be renewed. Congress did not act, the statement adds, until December 20.

Conditions have so changed that the members of the board feel that action by it under the McNary act does not offer a way to securing a regular supply at a reasonable price, the statement said. There is no contract with western beet sugar or Louisiana cane producers for the 1920 crop and by October 15 the contract of the board applied only to the remainder of the Cuban 1919 crop, the statement said.

"One of the elements which helped materially to make the board's action for the 1919 crop effective no longer exists," it continues. "The board was able to deal with the unified Cuban selling agency for the 1919 crop and to secure and control the entire crop. Now there is no person or committee authorized to sell the balance of the 1920 Cuban crop."

Would Mean Competition.
If the board now went into the Cuban market, the statement said, it would be able to buy individual lots in competition with private buyers and with a tendency to increase the price. The statement points out that under the McNary act control of domestic sugar would end July 30 and adds that should the sugar board succeed in purchasing Cuban sugar for delivery throughout the year it would be in the position of "trying to maintain a uniform reasonable price over the country with no control whatsoever over large quantities of sugar from Hawaii and Porto Rico, which come in mainly after June 30, and over the new Louisiana cane and western beet sugar."

"This too," the statement said, "at the time of the year when, if at all, absolute control of all sugars by the board would be essential."

DANIELS CALLS FOR AID TO REPORT HIS HEROISM

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Secretary Daniels issued a call to the civilian naval service tonight designed to bring out his information as to acts of heroism or distinctive service by officers or men during the war which would justify the awarding of decorations. The call was in the form of an "all navy" message to be displayed at all stations and on all ships.

It calls attention to the fact that the board of awards of medals is to be reconstituted January 5 and asks all persons in the service to send full statements "regarding any service involving courage or distinction rendered in the world war that such service may be properly recognized."

BRYAN ONCE MORE TALKS SILVER ISSUE

Says Chief Talk Against Bi-Metallic Is Gone.—Not Sufficient Gold to Supply Demand.

William Jennings Bryan has written this story on the silver situation, especially for readers of the Chronicle. He says the theory of silver from the time when a fight was waged, 20 years prior to 1896, for the recoinstitution of silver to the present date, when the large demand for base money brings silver to the front again.

By William Jennings Bryan.
The fight, waged for 20 years prior to 1896 for the recoinstitution of silver, was fought upon the world, by falling prices. Three international conferences were held during that period to devise some means of escape from the bankruptcy that then threatened the debtors of all lands, and through them business in general.

Even in 1896 the Republican party pledged itself to international bimetallicism, and one of the first official acts of President McKinley was the appointment of a commission to solicit the co-operation of the leading nations of Europe in opening the mints to the white metal.

Former Vice President Stevenson and Senator Wolcott of Colorado, were members of this commission and the latter, speaking in the United States senate, charged that the failure of the commission was due to the fact that Secretary Ogle of the treasury department, was making speeches in favor of the gold standard, while the commission was appealing to Europe for aid in the re-establishment of the double standard.

The general objection raised by the financiers to bimetallicism, whether independent of international, was that it is difficult to maintain an even parity between the two metals, but this argument was conclusively answered by international bimetallicism, who contended that a joint agreement between nations would reduce the fluctuations to a fraction so small as to create no disturbance to business, and they pointed out that a continual rise in the value of the dollar was more injurious to the world than any slight variation in the relative value of the metal under bimetallicism could possibly be.

The theoretical objections to the double standard, however, had but little influence compared with the practical objection raised by Great Britain's opposition. Being the great creditor nation of the world, Great Britain threw her influence on the side of a rising dollar, her financiers being short sighted enough to imagine that she could permanently prosper by a policy that did injury to other nations. And it was injustice to compel debtors to pay in a dollar that constantly appreciated because of legislation that gave to gold a monopoly of the privilege of mintage.

Conditions are now entirely changed. An abundant currency has been secured from other sources, but while the debtor class is no longer suffering from a rising dollar and falling prices, as it was prior to 1896, the chief argument against silver coinage has disappeared and new arguments bring a demand for bimetallicism from the very classes that previously opposed it.

Now that the bullion in a silver dollar is worth more on the market than the bullion in a gold dollar (a situation produced, not by legislation but in spite of it), we hear no more of the "dumping ground" hue and cry or of the "melting pot test."

The silver dollar is no longer a "cheap dollar." It is the gold dollar that is cheap. If we may borrow the phraseology employed by the financiers 25 years ago:

And, just as the objections to silver are being silenced by the unprecedented demand for that metal, the world awakens to a need for base money so great that gold will not supply it, and the situation is made still more acute by the fact that we have absorbed much more than our per capita share of the gold coin of the world.

During and since the war the volume of paper money has been swollen to fabulous amounts and no assumption of specie payments can be thought of without a very large increase in the quantity of standard money. Gold is a fair weather friend. To use a familiar phrase, often applied to individuals, it is "invaluable in peace and invaluable in war." It goes into hiding when it is most needed. If it had silver for a companion it would be more bold, but gold and silver together might not have been sufficient to meet all demands made upon them during the conflict through which we have just passed. Bimetallicism would furnish another advantage, namely, a stability in exchange between the east and west. Under bimetallicism debts can be paid at a fixed ratio in either metal, and business can be carried on without violent fluctuations in the charge for exchange. No one can now doubt our ability to maintain bimetallicism independently of the act of other nations. But bimetallicism would give us such an advantage in trading with the two halves of the world that the commercial nations would soon be compelled to join us.

Great Britain, no longer in control of the credits of the world, may find it to her interest to propose international bimetallicism and such a proposition, coming from such a source, would doubtless find the rest of the world willing to accept international bimetallicism. If our nation rejected such an offer, the very commercial interests that clamored for a gold standard a quarter of a century ago would clamor as loudly for a financial system that would give them an equal chance with Europe in the contest for oriental trade.

China's development would be impossible on a gold basis, and China is a growing factor that cannot be ignored by those who plan for the future.

CHICAGO SHERIFF WILL HAVE ANOTHER "DEATH SHOW"

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—Another "death show" will be staged in the county jail next Friday, Sheriff Peters announced today. For the second time within a week more than 200 prisoners will be forced to witness a hanging when Arthur Haenel, convicted of murder, will be hanged.

A storm of criticism arose as the result of the Battle Durango hanging Friday while 200 prisoners covered in their cells in plain view of the death trap. Sheriff Peters said it was a great moral lesson for the prisoners and that all but one promised to lead better lives.

The Durango hanging was carried out by Sheriff Peters against the request of Governor Lowden.

WILL RUN FOR GOVERNOR.

By the Associated Press.
DECATUR, Neb., Jan. 3.—Adam McMillen, former state senator from this county, tonight announced himself a candidate for the republican nomination for governor, and paid the filing fee to have his name entered by the secretary of state on the April primary ballot.

WILLARD CLEARED OF PROFITEERING

Ex-Champion Charged With Selling Cordwood At Excessive Prices Is Exonerated.
By the Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 3.—Joe Willard, former heavyweight champion, was cleared of charges of profiteering in the sale of cordwood and was discharged by United States Commissioner O. Q. Claflin, in Kansas City, Kan., today, without any witnesses for the defense being heard. It had been charged that Willard had violated provisions of the Lever act in charging an excessive price for cordwood cut from his farm near Topeka, Kansas.

Witnesses for the government testified that Willard had at first set a price of $5 a cord "in the stump" for the wood, but when told that was too high had directed the Topeka city commissioners to go ahead and take the wood anyhow. Witnesses quoted Willard as telling them if needy persons were found who could not pay for the wood, to deliver it anyhow. As a result, it was brought out at the hearing, nine of the 71 cords sold from the Willard farm were given away.

"We not only gave away nine cords, but we haven't paid any of the bills yet," testified J. E. Wilson, a member of the Topeka fair price commission. "Willard hasn't received any pay and we don't know yet how much he will get."

Commissioner Claflin discharged Willard before the defense offered any testimony. Willard himself did not take the stand.

Fine Metals Have Given Maxwell its Rank

THE very substance of which a car is made denotes its quality, and the use of fine and strong metals in the Maxwell has won it many, many friends.

It was necessary to make the Maxwell chassis of the very best materials. For its great mission was to transport—in an extremely economical way—as great a passenger load over the same road and at the same speed as the larger and heavier cars.

Thus it was obvious that the Maxwell had to be light. And to make it light the quality metals were used.

Metallurgists, the men who have made the study of metals a science, say that it compares favorably pound for pound with the highest priced cars the world has produced.

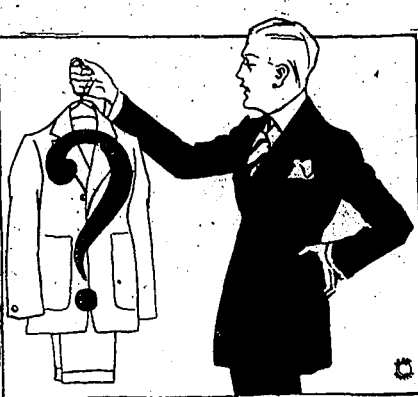

But you need not be a metallurgist to discover this "inner goodness" in a Maxwell. Three months will tell; six months will tell you more.

Otherwise Maxwell in five short years would never have grown from a production of 5,000 a year to 100,000 a year.

300,000 Maxwells on the highways of the world today answer most any question you can ask about this great car. Price, $285 f. o. b. Detroit.

Theodore Roosevelt's Letters to His Children

Edited by

Joseph Bucklin Bishop

COPYRIGHT, 1919 BY CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS.

(SIXTH INSTALMENT)

How many busy fathers, with a boy away at school, would spare the time to enter in detail into a question of football? Theodore Roosevelt, with world affairs of pressing importance in his charge, gave as much serious attention to his son's ambitions in athletics as he would to a congressional deadlock. Always full of fun, and taking both the presidency and fatherhood with zest and heartiness, he realized fully the gravity of both jobs.

Proper Place for Sports

White House,
October 4, 1903.

Dear Ted:

In spite of the "Hurry! Hurry" on the outside of your envelope, I did not like to act until I had consulted Mother and thought the matter over; and to be frank with you, old fellow, I am by no means sure that I am doing right now. If it were not that I feel you will be so bitterly disappointed, I would strongly advocate your acquiescing in the decision to leave you off the second squad this year. I am proud of your pluck, and I greatly admire football—though it was not a game I was ever able to play myself, my qualities resembling Kermit's rather than yours. But the very things that make it a good game make it a rough game, and there is always the chance of your being laid up. Now, I should not in the least object to your being laid up for a season if you were striving for something worth while, to get on the Groton school team, for instance, or on your class team when you entered Harvard—for of course I don't think you will have the weight to entice you to try for the varsity. But I am by no means sure that it is worth your while to run the risk of being laid up for the sake of playing in the second squad when you are a fourth former, instead of when you are a fifth former. I do not know that the risk is balanced by the reward. However, I have told the Rector that as you feel so strongly about it, I think that the chance of your damaging yourself in body is outweighed by the possibility of bitterness of spirit if you could not play. Understand me, I should think mighty little of you if you permitted chagrin to make you bitter on some point where it was evidently right for you to suffer the chagrin. But in this case I am uncertain; and I shall give you the benefit of the doubt. If, however, the coaches at any time come to the conclusion that you ought to be in the second squad, why you must come off without grumbling.

I am delighted to have you play football. I believe in rough, manly sports. But I do not believe in them if they degenerate into the sole end of any one's existence. I don't want you to sacrifice standing well in your studies to any over-athleticism; and I need not tell you that character counts for a great deal more than either intellect or body in winning success in life. Athletic proficiency is a mighty good servant, and like so many other good servants, a mighty bad master. Did you ever read Phin's letter to Trojan, in which he speaks of its being advisable to keep the Greeks absorbed in athletics because it distracted their minds from all serious pursuits, including soldiering, and prevented their ever being dangerous to the Romans? I have not a doubt that the British officers in the Boer war had their efficiency partly reduced because they had sacrificed their legitimate duties to an inordinate and ridiculous love of sports. A man must develop his physical prowess up to a certain point; but after he has reached that point there are other things that count more. In my regiment nine-tenths of the men were better horsemen than I was, and probably two-thirds of them better shots than I was, while on the average they were certainly harder and more enduring. Yet after I had had them a very short while they all knew, and I knew, too, that nobody else could command them as I could. I am glad you should play football; I am glad that you should box; I am glad that you should ride ing, not only with knaves, but with the well-meaning, foolish people, educated and uneducated, who by their unwisdom give the knaves their chance.

A President at Play (To Miss Emily T. Carow.)

Oyster Bay,
August 16, 1903.

Archie and Nick continue inseparable. I wish you could have seen them the other day, after one of the picnics, walking solemnly up, jointly carrying a basket, and each with a captured turtle in his disengaged hand. Archie is a most warm-hearted, loving, cunning little goose. Quentin, a merry soul, has now become entirely one of the children, and joins heartily in all their plays, including the romps in the old

He was delighted with Wyoming, and, as always, was extremely nice to the children.

The other day all the children gave amusing amateur theatricals, gotten up by Lorraine and Ted. The acting was upon Laura Roosevelt's tennis court. All the children were most cunning, especially Quentin as Cupid, in the scantiest of pink muslin tights and bodice. Ted and Lorraine, who were respectively George Washington and Cleopatra, really carried off the play. At the end all the cast joined hands in a song and dance, the final verse being devoted especially to me. I love all these children and have great fun with them, and I am touched by the way in which they feel that I am their special friend, champion and companion.

Today all, young and old, from the three houses went with us to service on the great battleship Kearsarge—for the fleet is here to be inspected by me tomorrow. It was an impressive sight, one which I think the children will not soon forget. Most of the boys afterward went to lunch with the wretched Secretary Moody on the Dolphin. Ted had the younger ones very much on his mind, and when he got back said they had been altogether too much like a March Hare tea-party as Archie, Nicholas and Oliver were not alive to the dignity of the occasion.

The Roosevelt boys grew up true chips of the old block. They were encouraged by their father in every manly sport. If ever a father and sons were pals, it was true of the Roosevelts. Imagine the pride of Ted, now himself a national figure, embarking on his first real hunting trip, and carrying his father's rifle!

A Preaching Letter

White House, October 2, 1903.

Dear Kermit:

I was very glad to get your letter. Am glad you are playing football. I should be very sorry to see either you or Ted devoting most of your time to athletics, and I haven't got any special ambition to see you shine overmuch in athletics at college, at least (if you go there), because I think it tends to take up too much time; but I do like to feel that you are manly and able to hold would rather have a boy of mine stand high in his studies than high in athletics, but I would a great deal rather have him show true manliness of character than show either intellectual or physical prowess; and I believe you and Ted both bid fair to develop just such character.

There! You will think this is a dreadfully preaching letter! I suppose I have a natural tendency to preach just at present because I am overwhelmed with my work. I enjoy being President and I like to do the work and have my hand on the lever. But it is very worrying and puzzling, and I have to make up my mind to accept every kind of attack and misrepresentation. It is a great comfort to me to read the life and letters of Abraham Lincoln. I am more and more impressed every day, not only with the man's wonderful power and sagacity, but with his literally endless patience, and at the same time his unflinching resolution.

"It is a great comfort to me to read the life and letters of Abraham Lincoln," wrote President Roosevelt to Kermit during the days of fighting strain.

and shoot and walk and row as well as you do. I should be very sorry if you did not go into these things. But don't ever get into the frame of mind which regards these things as constituting the end to which all your energies must be devoted, or even the major portion of your energies.

Yes, I am going to speak at Groton on prize day. I felt that while I was President, and while you and Kermit were at Groton I wanted to come up there and see you, and the Rector wished me to speak, and so I am very glad to accept.

By the way, I am working hard to get Renown accustomed to automobiles. He is such a handful now when he meets them that I seriously mind encountering them when Mother is along. Of course I do not care if I am alone, or with another man, but I am uneasy all the time when I am out with Mother. Yesterday I tried Bleistein over the hurdles at Chevy Chase. The first one was new, high and stiff, and the old rascal never rose six inches, going slap through it. I took him at it again and he went over all right.

I am very busy now, facing the usual endless worry and discouragement and trying to keep steadily in mind that I must not only be as resolute as Abraham Lincoln in seeking to achieve decent ends, but as patient as, uncomplaining and as even-tempered as, deal barn. When Ethel had her birthday, the one entertainment for which she stipulated was that I should take part in and supervise a romp in the old barn, to which all the Roosevelt children, Ensign Hamner of the Sylph, Bob Ferguson and Aleck Russell were to come. Of course I had not the heart to refuse; but really it seems, to put it mildly, rather odd for a stout, elderly president to be bouncing over hay-ricks in a wild effort to get to goal before an active midge of a competitor, aged nine years. However, it was really great fun.

One of our recent picnics was an innovation, due to Edith. We went in carriages or on horseback, to Jane's Hill, some eight miles distant. The view was lovely and there was a delightful old farmhouse half a mile away where we left our horses. Speck (German ambassador, Count Speck von Sternberg), rode with Edith and me, looking more like Hans Christian Anderson's little tin soldier than ever. His papers as ambassador had finally come and so he had turned up at Oyster Bay, together with the acting secretary of state, to present them. He appeared in what was really a very striking costume, that of a hussar. As soon as the ceremony was over, I told him to put on civilized raiment, which he did, and he spent a couple of days with me. We chopped and shot, and rode together.

FRENCH CONFIDENCE HAS BEEN REVIVED

The Result of Recent Election Makes the People More Optimistic of the Future.

PARIS, Dec. 27.—France will begin the new year with far greater confidence than the last. This is in spite of formidable handicaps such as the balance of trade running at a deficit at the rate of about 1,500,000,000 francs a month, a depreciation of the exchange value of the franc and the consequent difficulty of procuring the raw materials and machines urgently needed for reconstruction.

France's renewed confidence is derived directly from the result of the recent elections. These elections, here as having definitely stabilized internal politics, ended all danger of revolutionary agitation for some time to come and brought about a better attitude by capital and labor toward the immense effort before France.

Money is forthcoming for investments in anything that promises stability. While investments in short-term treasury bonds are continuing at the rate of nearly two billion francs a month, there is plenty of money for industrial and commercial enterprise and long-term loans. The four billion franc loan to provide immediate resources for indemnifying victims of the invasion was over subscribed before the official opening of the subscription. Important banks and industrial companies have lately increased their capital to an aggregate of nearly five hundred billion francs.

Transactions on the Paris bourse, which still are confined to cash deals, have exceeded on certain days records of pre-war trading when futures entered largely into the totals. The upward movement of all industries which began before the signature of the treaty at Versailles has been unshaken by successive liquidations. This is regarded by keen observers as a sure sign of economic recovery.

Employers say the labor situation is improved and that the last strike developed symptoms that the workers themselves were becoming weary of long continued disturbances of business industry and transportation. And they see a tendency against frivolous strikes and an indication that only real grievances will induce the wage earners to quit work hereafter.

De-centralization of capital and industry is seen in the establishing of textile industries in Normandy to replace those in the occupied territory destroyed by the war. This movement has been greatly extended by development of water power in the region of the Alps and the center and south of France. Industrial leaders say that no particular region of industry and declare that this scattering will prove beneficial and result in a more equable recovery of all parts of the country.

Powerful financial groups are at the head of a movement to transfer important industries from the coal regions to south eastern France where water power soon will be available. Other groups are being formed to develop manufacturing centers near the coast so as to reduce the cost of the transportation of raw materials. Industrial leaders say that this activity on the part of capital, supported by the recovery of labor from what has been characterized as a wave of "inactivity," gives a healthy tone to the situation.

Instability of the exchange value of the franc is regarded as one of the weakest points in the French conditions. It is pointed out that France cannot pay twice over at present high prices for the supplies she needs and that is what the present low value of the franc means. The French government is now studying a complete revaluation of her financial policy with a view to making such provisions to meet her obligations as will give the greatest stability both at home and abroad.

Details of the new financial policy are as yet not disclosed but it is understood that it comprises, firstly, a large interior loan to take up all short term bonds and floating debt; and, secondly, important increases in all taxes to bridge the revenues up to the annual budget estimated to require twenty billion to twenty-five billion francs. It is not expected that any internal financial arrangement can exert more than a moral influence on the value of the franc abroad and this may be said to be the object of the greatest anxiety in official circles.

The building trades do not show any disposition to undertake important work while obliged to pay three times the normal prices for materials. The result is that reconstruction work is being held up, although considerable progress is reported from some sections of the invaded regions. This progress, although encouraging, is not regarded by business men as sufficient to warrant the expectation that France will be enabled at an early date to resume exportations on a scale sufficient to materially effect the exchange rates. The French still are counting on some sort of international arrangement that will increase the value of the franc.

"With capital and labor both ready to do their bit," said Raoul Peret, chairman of the appropriation committee of the chamber of deputies, to the Associated Press, "all that remains to enable us to get firmly on our feet is for the world to give our money something like an equal show in all markets." French observers regard it as extremely important that France shall be enabled to purchase raw materials on an equitable basis. They say this is shown by the fact that before the war three-fifths of her exported goods were manufactured objects and that this proportion must be increased in the future to make up for the loss of the market for the wines and spirits in America and in Russia which formerly constituted the important share of the total of French exports.

Revenue from tourists which was a potent aid toward maintaining the equilibrium of the franc until the war has not yet given the expected help. Indications are seen of an influx of foreign visitors early in the new year but present disposition in official circles seem to be not to wait for its development but to take measures to improve all needs independently of this source of income.

Economists and financiers who have weighed all the elements of the situation, admit that France still is in a most difficult situation but see indications of great improvement before the end of another year.

DUTCH WOMEN TO FIGHT FOR RIGHTS

Several Great Organizations Are Formed for Improvement of Conditions.

THE HAGUE — The ideals and the ideas of Dutch women, for centuries confined to children, kitchen and the church, have undergone a change and the daughters of the land of windmills and canals are making a strong fight for their rights.

Several great organizations have been formed for the improvement of the conditions of women. With the revision of the Dutch constitution last year, women obtained full suffrage and the result is that now there are women in nearly every town council.

Realizing, however, that the possession of the vote alone does not decide the lot of women, the promoters of the movement are now seeking to bring about changes in the laws and regulations which show discrimination against the sex economically and socially.

"According to the Dutch law," said Mrs. Wijnandts Frankena, one of the leaders of the women's movement, "the father has practically all the say" about the education of the children. He decides as to their future, consents to their marriages and may send them wherever he likes. Of course, this is of no importance whatever in a good marriage, where the father and mother together debate about such things, but this power of the father may be easily abused. I know of several cases in which the father deliberately took a child away and hid it from his mother, without the latter being able to do anything against this course, as the law was on the side of the father.

"Another thorn in the flesh of the Dutch woman is that she must promise obedience to her husband in the vow of marriage. Now, please don't think that these women are averse to rule and order. They only want to be the equals of their husbands, not their housekeepers.

"As things are now, a Dutch woman has to suffer almost anything from a tyrannical husband and nothing short of adultery or bodily ill usage can rid her of his despotism.

"One of the greatest obstacles these women leaders have to overcome is the conservatism of the old fashioned women who, especially in the rural districts, form a great part of the population.

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

During all the years the Ford Model T One Ton Truck has been on the market, we have never had one complaint of rear axle trouble. We have had no complaints of motor trouble. As the motor and the rear axle are the vital fundamentals in a motor truck, we have the right to conclude that the Ford One Ton Truck has not only met the demands of business, but has done so in a satisfactory and economic way. There is no other evidence so convincing as that which comes from long practical experience. Ford One Ton Trucks are serving along all industrial and commercial lines. You will find them everywhere. If these statements were not facts, the demand for the Ford One Ton Truck would not be as large as it is, because people are not buying trucks which do not give service. Coupled with the dependability of the Ford One Ton Truck in all classes of usage, comes the economy in operation and maintenance. On the farm, in factory delivery, for the merchant, manufacturer, and contractor, in these days of modern business methods, this worm-drive One Ton Ford Truck has become an actual necessity. ## CHINS UP TO THE SAFETY RAZOR QUEEN

What's Ya Goin' to Do in the Line of Blade
—Jane Carroll is Ready to Supply It.

By Beatrice Jackson.
NEW YORK — Jane Carroll is going to hold in the hollow of her razor blade the shaves of a masculine world. She has just been appointed general manager of the American Safety Razor Export corporation, and the big organization, including three of the best known brands of safety razors, will be under her feminine control.

"But what do women know about safety razors?" I asked Miss Carroll. "How did you ever select this business?"
"It isn't because it's a safety razor," she replied, "it's export—and that's what I specialize in. I began my career by selling advertising. I had my own advertising agency, but the war came. I gave it up and became promotion manager of the foreign trade department of the American Express company."
"My job is to see to it that in the future a man can go into a shop anywhere in the world from Hong Kong and South Africa to London and Paris—and get the kind of safety razor blade he wants."

The new G. M. is a woman of a woman who desires to produce, and charming personality, vibrant and not consume alone.
"But all women could not be business women," I ventured.
"No, no," she replied, "the large majority are 'home women.' They have home duties and obligations, and in fulfilling them they are still contributing their share and more. But there are the women who have no family duties, and they are the business women who are producing today."
"Some turn to business because financial reverses in the home have made it compulsory, and others because they enjoy it. They like to feel that they are doing something, and like to see the results of their work."
"I love it—work to me is fun."
"At first I did feel that my position with a safety razor corporation seemed a little strange, but I have since learned that there is a woman manager of a man's garment concern."

"Just what is your opinion of the modern business woman?" I asked.
"I think she is remarkably 'well-dressed,' she replied, "her mind, level headed and far thinking. The League of Advertising Women of New York is full of these women. There is no contention, everything is order, efficiency and brings results. That's what we are all after—results."

CAN'T FIND SERVICE MEN
Nearly one-third of the former service men who were injured by the bureau of war risk insurance, cannot be reached by mail at their old home addresses, as shown by the letters returned to the bureau as undeliverable. This fact shows the transition following the demobilization of our forces. The problem confronting the bureau is to find these men and bring home to them the importance of insurance reimbursement, as many soldiers upon discharge from the service, dropped their insurance.

John J. O'Brien, a soldier, wrote to the bureau of war risk insurance about his insurance; he gave no serial or certificate numbers, but said he could be identified by the fact that the beneficiary, his wife, was named Mary A. The research workers at the bureau found in the files the name of 176 men listed as John J. O'Brien, the wives of fifty of whom bore the name of Mary A. O'Brien.

Franklin Established as America's Greatest Road Car by Succession of Cross Country Runs.

The FRANKLIN CAR

Waterloo 865.4 Miles in 24 hours

New York to Montreal, 398 Miles, in 9 Hrs. 59 Min.

The quickest scheduled train journey now possible between New York City and Montreal, Canada, is 12 hours. A stock model Franklin Touring Car made the 398 miles in 9 hours, 59 minutes running time on November 11th, setting a new touring record and equalling from New York to Albany the non-stop time of the Wolverine Express, 3 hours 20 minutes. Five hours of the trip were through rain, sleet, snow, ice, and a gale that at times blew 40 miles an hour.

The return trip (401 miles) was made in 11 hours and 10 minutes running time. The total elapsed time for the round trip was 24 hours 10 minutes, including time out for eating, replenishing fuel and oil for customs inspections. No spare tires or tubes were carried. No tire chains were needed. No mechanical troubles developed.

The same driver, Mr. J. W. Banks, drove all the way. Mr. H. P. Merchant of the B. F. Goodrich Tire Company and Mr. J. R. Getty of "Motor" were observers; Mr. L. A. Miller, passenger.

New York-Boston Round Trip, 458.8 Miles, in 12 Hrs. 5 Min.

On September 29th Mr. Banks drove a Franklin Touring Car from New York to Boston and back in 12 hours and 5 minutes, establishing what was then a road touring record of 458.8 miles at 38 miles an hour. He drove entirely at night without relief. No spare tires were carried, there were no tire accidents and the fuel average was 16 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

Yosemite

This year's Yosemite Run was won by Stanley S. Turner of Los Angeles in the Franklin Car. The Franklin took all three first prizes.

MT. WASHINGTON

P. E. Frost, of Portland, Me., included the climbing of Mt. Washington without a stop as part of a non-stop low speed run of 98.3 miles. Climbing the mountain without a stop is a record.

Every little while a Franklin Car in some section of the country sets a new road record or makes a clean sweep of an economy or reliability event. Recently Franklin drivers have made numerous 24-hour runs and long distance trips which prove that the Franklin Car is unsurpassed at piling up large mileage in a day's driving—over average highways or over all dirt roads. Here are the records—

865.4 miles in 24 hours—R. H. Cramer, Waterloo, Ia.
832.6 miles in 24 hours—W. H. Diddel, Indianapolis, Ind.
808.9 miles in 24 hours—P. A. Probst, Indianapolis, Ind.
746.1 miles in 24 hours—J. H. Mahlon, Indianapolis, Ind.
729.5 miles in 24 hours—J. T. Pescha, Duluth, Minn.
725.2 miles in 24 hours—L. W. Sootin, Indianapolis, Ind.
693 miles in 24 hours—Mrs. R. C. Reed, Boston, Mass.

Making time in a Franklin does not consist of spurts of 60 to 70 miles an hour over every straight stretch of good road, alternating with long stretches of annoying slowness over roads not so favorable.

The secret of the Franklin Car's ability to make faster average time over long distances than any other car is simply that the power of the Franklin Car is not handicapped by heavy weight or rigidity and their attendant dangers, driving strain and discomfort. The light weight and flexibly built Franklin holds the roads at all speeds, hugs the turns, smooths out the rough stretches and is practically never held up by tire accidents.

GOODING, IDAHO

Boston to Syracuse and Back, Driven by Woman in 24 Hours' Time

A new mark for women drivers was set when Mrs. Ralph G. Reed recently drove 693 miles in 24 hours and 20 minutes elapsed time. The route lay between Boston and Syracuse and return and required twice passing through the congested traffic districts of those cities. Mrs. Reed believes that a heavy storm through which she had to drive for a hundred miles prevented her making even better time.

Indianapolis

Reels Off 832.6 Miles in a Day

W. H. Diddel, of Indianapolis, a non-professional driver, recently established a record for his section of the country for a 24-hour road run by covering 832.6 miles of road in 22 1/2 hours' actual running time. The trip was made in a stock model Franklin Touring Car, without ballast, shock absorbers, or any change from regular equipment. Mr. Diddel was accompanied by two official observers, but drove all the way himself.

A new 24-hour dirt road record was set when Ralph H. Cramer, of Waterloo, Ia., recently drove a Franklin stock car 865.4 miles in the actual driving time of 23 hours and 4 minutes. He drove the entire distance himself over ordinary dirt roads without a second's relief, beating the former record of J. T. Pescha, of Duluth, who covered 729.5 miles in a Franklin.

DETAILS OF THE RECORD

Total Running Time	23 hours 4 min.
Total Time for Fuel, Chassis, Tires, etc.	56 minutes
Total Time Consumed	24 hours 0 min.
Total Mileage on Dry Roads	757 miles
Total Mileage on Mud Roads	108.4 miles
Total Miles Run	865.4 miles
Miles Per Hour Average Dry Roads	38.9 miles
Miles Per Hour Average Mud Roads	25.7 miles
Grand Total Average Per Hour	37.5 miles

Cincinnati to Cleveland and Back, Twice Across Ohio, in 15 Hrs. 45 min.

A motoring sensation was created in the state of Ohio when Cliff Leuders, without stopping the engine of his Franklin Touring Car, reduced the touring time from Cincinnati to Cleveland and back. He covered the 553 miles in 15 hours and 45 minutes of actual running. The odds were 4 to 1 that the previously announced time of 17 hours could not be made.

Covering this route at any speed is thought by Ohio motorists to be a severe test of any motor vehicle, so bad are the roads. Yet the Franklin averaged over 35 miles an hour. Rain which froze on the riders and turned into a blinding snowstorm added to the difficulties.

Observers, Mr. Robert Beiler, Automobile Editor, Cincinnati Enquirer; Mr. Richard Powell.

No mechanical adjustments of any nature were necessary during the trip. And the mileage of the last twelve hours was as big as that of the first twelve hours, indicating that the driver felt little or none of the fatigue ordinarily to be expected.
Two other Indianapolis motorists, likewise driving Franklins, also exceeded the former distance record. That too, had been established by a Franklin Car.

GIVES REASON FOR 'LADIES AGREEMENT'

Tells Japanese Why They Should Keep Out the "Picture Brides."

TOKIO — The following is the full text of the address of General Charles H. Sherrill of New York, ex-minister to Argentina, at the dinner of the American-Japan society, November 19, when he urged the conclusion of a "ladies agreement" as a supplement to the "gentlemen's agreement" regulating Japanese immigration to the United States.

"I doubt if any other friend of Japan, who after reading of it for years, finally visited your hospitable land, was ever so surprised by what he saw as I. In many respects your country shows the visitor an entirely different face from its photographs. He loses interest in religion finds on every hand a sincere devotion manifested at countless temples and shrines by an obviously devoted people. He who believes that art has lost its hold upon you, sees the flower exhibitions at displays of flower arrangements, in the numerous gardens everywhere under cultivation, a few of the many refutations of that slander. The foreigners hear that because of your climate you are an irritable, quarrelsome race, but never have I seen a land where children and elderly folk are made so happy, nor where a smile goes so far.

"You lead the world in deft arrangement of flowers. You assemble into one vase different types of flowers, the tall and the short, the stiff and the bending, or the brightly colored with others of duller hue, but so intelligently are they combined that together they are more effective than when seen separately. Here lies a pregnant thought for him who seeks a way to closer sympathy between such contrasting peoples as you and ourselves. Let us frankly recognize the inequalities between our civilization and then instead of criticizing each other, strive to balance these inequalities as you do those of flowers. Japanese friends tell me that Americans who speak here so misunderstand your psychology as to make their speeches mere oratorical sweetmeats, dishes of insincere compliments. My high opinion of Japanese commonness, so marked a trait among you, emboldens me, who occupy no official position and speak only for myself, an individual admirer of Japan, to comment frankly on the unfortunate misunderstanding, now obvious to any reader of your newspapers or ours.

"It is a great pity that today the American sentiments of 1905 are altered, and he who pretends otherwise is no true champion of a better and lasting friendship between us. I have recently come from a three months' study of these misunderstandings in California, and shall venture to suggest to ameliorate the situation. The "Gentlemen's agreement" was a wise diplomatic device, which recognized that "friendship" is the basis of the United States set up a competition between our labor and the Japanese laborers who accept less money and longer hours, than our men. It also recognized that this economic undercutting of the American laborer was arousing friction and you wisely undertook to check it. In your millions of frugal, industrious laborers your great power to conquer the markets of the world. But every rose has a thorn, and your ability to live cheaper and work longer than occidentals is the thorn told by American labor.

when your rose is transplanted in California. Believe me, gentlemen, the problem surrounding Japanese immigration into America is an economic and not a racial one. Here is a proof.

"When I was in California some years ago, so bitter was the feeling there against the cheaper living Chinese labor that it was not safe for a Chinaman to walk alone at night in certain quarters of San Francisco. They then called it racial antipathy, and not economic friction, but since Chinese immigration has become suspended and therefore the economic friction removed, Chinese have become popular in California. There is no province of Japan where there are 150,000 Chinese to 25,000 Japanese, as today there are 110,000 Japanese to 25,000 Americans in Hawaii, and you are quite right to thus protect your labor from under-cutting. There is no province of Japan where foreign labor is increasing by birth or otherwise in far greater proportion than the Japanese, and yet that is true of the Japanese foreign labor in California. Your protection of Japanese labor against Chinese or Korean competition leads me to my promised suggestion. My investigations convince me that beyond doubt the Japanese government has loyally lived up to both the spirit and the letter of the "gentlemen's agreement." But that the agreement ought to be supplemented by a "ladies agreement" because the loyal adherence of your government to the "gentlemen's agreement" is being offset by the numerous "picture brides" going from Japan to Japanese laborers in America. Their coming imperils our relations more than you realize and for reasons difficult for you to understand.

"All you see in this 'picture bride' system is a proper desire of your men abroad to get wives from home. You are accustomed to marriages being arranged by parents or friends and therefore cannot grasp how the 'picture bride system' surprises and jars upon our people. It isn't a question of right or wrong, but an affront to a long-prevailing custom of our country, where we are so greatly attached to free matrimonial choice by both parties themselves as you are to your reverence for your ancestors. Neither of us really understand how strongly the other feels in these regards. Furthermore, you do not realize perhaps that since these 'picture brides' are imported by Japanese laborers, they assist their husbands, thus becoming laborers themselves and thus offsetting the loyalty of your government to the "gentlemen's agreement." And, besides, they bear many more children than do the wives of their American neighbors, thus constantly reminding them of the increasing proportion of Japanese to Americans in Hawaii, which brings us right back to the economic competition again. A "ladies agreement," limiting the number of laborers' wives going to America, would restore the situation to the wise basis reached by the "gentlemen's agreement." The lack of a "ladies agreement" permits the economic friction to increase, with a certain result that none of us cares to contemplate.

"Let me close by referring to the greatest surprise Japan has given me. When I left home I believed that a democracy was the best form of government for any people, but I have learned here that your ancient system is as wise for you as is ours for us. Every nation develops tendencies needing correction. In such a case we have to wait for public opinion to demand correction, but with you it is only necessary for the imperial government to issue an order. I follow a Tokugawa Shogun in 1433 and 1656 forbade Japanese participation in the ocean navigation and this interdiction lasted for two and a quarter centuries but suddenly a wharfed edict corrected this state of affairs and a merchant marine promptly spring into existence which is now the wonder of the world. Therefore, just as heartily as I cry long live the greatest republic, which I love with all my heart, I express my respectful admiration for the ancient and honored imperial government of Japan."

AFTER "JOY WALKERS"

The pedestrian who through carelessness or defiance to the motor car and motor truck operator causes the confusion at any point to choose disregarding the rules to cross only at intersections, is going to be in a bad way in New York city. An ordinance is being framed providing for a penalty to be imposed on Joy Walkers, all of whom will be subject to a fine of $10, ten days in jail or both. The proposed ordinance has the backing of the motor truck owners as well as the possessors of passenger cars. In the event the ordinance is passed by the board of aldermen no person may traverse a street, avenue or highway except at a regular street crossing or at designated points in the center of the blocks which are more than 400 feet in length.

STICKS TO FIRST LOVE

How one man sticks to his first love in motor cars despite everything designers have done to improve later models is the story of Dr. F. R. McGraw of Carnegie, Pa. Dr. McGraw bought a Franklin automobile in 1910. He has run it for more than 300,000 miles and has so much confidence in its ability to stand up for a long time that he has practically decided to buy a new body for the remaining mileage. He is advertising for an enclosed type of body to substitute for the open type he now drives. The car still runs like a top.

PLAN COMBINATION SALE

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 1.—Sale of sugar or other food staples only with other merchandise in "combination sales" was declared today illegal by United States District Attorney Kano. Prosecutions will be begun, the district attorney said, on evidence submitted of any combination sale after today.

Do You Know Hudson

But Through Sheer Merit Alone Essex Made Its Thirty Million Dollar Sales Record

Builds the Essex?

Essex success has not been accidental. No one doubts its right to the position it holds.

On the Cincinnati Speedway, a stock chassis Essex set the world 50-hour endurance mark, of 3037 miles, under American Automobile Association supervision. Another stock Essex holds the unequalled 24-hour road mark of 1061 miles.

But how many know why Essex in its first year revealed qualities more mature, more evident of the influence of long experience, than is commonly found in cars even in their third and fourth year.

You will recall the Essex was announced one year ago without one word as to the identity of its builders. Not a claim was made for its performance.

You were asked to go look at it, take a ride and form your own opinion. The Essex was required to speak for itself.

Now that it has established itself, it is revealed why Essex has all the qualities of cars of long development.

Was Designed by Hudson Engineers

They conceived it as they developed the Super-Six. All they learned about endurance, they incorporated in the Essex.

They gave to the Essex the power that has made it famous in all quarters. Its speed is the result of what had been learned in making the Super-Six winner of all worth while speed records.

The Essex can never be all that the Super-Six is for they are totally different types.

But the Essex does bring quality and performance to a class field that was unknown.

The former owners of large costly cars that have adopted the Essex have not been Hudson users. They have come from other cars, cars that fall short of the Super-Six in all particulars save size and cost.

The Essex appeals to such users because of its nimbleness. They like the way its performance compares with that of the Super-Six. You can see this on every hand. The two cars in any community that are most prominent because of their performance ability are the Hudson Super-Six and the Essex.

Essex Did Not Need Hudson's Endorsement

Think of the advantages Essex has had. What ordinarily would have required years to perfect was made possible in the very first model.

That is why 20,000 are now running, why more than $30,000,000.00 was paid for Essex cars in ten months.

You have not needed the Hudson endorsement to understand Essex performance.

Essex has won its own way. Hudson gave it full benefit of the experience of its engineers and the ability of its manufacturing organization. Its name was not needed.

Now Hudson takes the same pride in acknowledging its kinship to Essex that a father might in speaking of his son who on his own account had made good.
