German Prisoners to Be Repatriated—Clemenceau
Insists on Quick Action
Because of Election.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Jan. 9.—Tomorrow's ceremony, which definitely re-established a state of peace between the allies and Germany, putting an end to the armistice, will be divided in two parts.

The representatives of the five powers will meet first in the office of the minister of foreign affairs, Baron von Lersner, head of the German peace delegation, and Herr von Simon, who will be invited to sign in Germany's name, the protocol of November 11. They will receive, from the hands of Premier Clemenceau, a letter binding the allies to reduce the amount of materials demanded for the destruction of German war vessels at Brest.

Thirteen Powers Interested.

The second part of the ceremony will follow immediately in the clock hall. The thirteen powers which have ratified the treaty will be represented here by one delegate each. They will be driving up in motor cars following the signing of the Versailles treaty, signing of the protocol attached to the treaty, and signing of the agreement by the United States, Belgium, Great Britain, France and Germany relative to occupation of the Rhine. After the signature of these documents is completed, the will be handed to the French by officials for disposition in the archives. The records will be printed on large sheets of quarto parchment paper and the seals of each plenipotentiary will be affixed with the signatures.

Resume Diplomatic Relations.

The ratification exchange ceremony will be followed by the immediate resumption of diplomatic relations between the allies and Germany. It is considered possible that Baron von Lersner will be designated German charge d'affaires here. On Sunday, M. de Marilly will leave for Berlin to act as French charge d'affaires there.

Another immediate result of the ratification will be the repatriation of German prisoners of war.

So as to make it possible for the ceremony to be held, a technical handicap, provided over by General Lersner, and attended by Herr von Simon, worked throughout last night.

Major Harries' Work.

It was at Premier Clemenceau's request that the work was hurried to get the documents ready for Saturday morning for Monday or later. The premier desired Premier Lloyd George sign for Great Britain and Premier Mussolini sign for Italy before their departure, rather than have lesser members of the delegations affix their signatures. Premier Clemenceau also wished to have the ratification finished this week so as to devote all next week to preparation for the Versailles next Sunday.

In preparation for the allied demand for the delivery of German charged with war guilt, the allied commission, dealing with that subject met today.

Eight preliminary documents concerning the details of the enforcement of the treaty have been signed in preparation for the ratification of the Versailles compact.

Five of these are between the entente and the Germans and concern Alsace and other territories affected. The other three, between the Poles and the Germans, settle the details of the relations of these countries in the enforcement of the treaty.

Dutch Parliament Presents Memorandum to Cabinet Suggesting Return of Kaiser to Germany.

By the Associated Press.
THE HAGUE, Jan. 9.—The first chamber of the Dutch parliament has drafted and presented to the cabinet a memorandum suggesting that it is now desirable that Holland request former Emperor William of Germany to return to his own country.

In the ordinary course of parliamentary procedure, the government would answer the first chamber. The government, however, it has been learned by the correspondent, does not consider the memorandum important. It is explained that it was introduced at the suggestion of a single member during the budget debate, as a matter of formality.

As far as the correspondent has been able to learn, the present Dutch government has firmly decided that it will not surrender the former German ruler.

Former Emperor William, who has transferred most of his wood cutting activities to Doorn, where his new home is being built.

Dressed in a green hunting suit he was seen yesterday at Doorn chopping or sawing off the branches of young trees which had been felled with the purpose of perfecting a new landscape for the park of his estate.

WANTS PURSE SPLIT 75 AND 25 PER CENT

Kearns Says Arrangements May Have To Wait Until Carpenter's Contract With Cochran Expires.

By the Associated Press.
SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 9.—If Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier are matched to box for the heavy weight championship of the world it will be with the understanding that the winner take 75 per cent of the purse, according to "Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, who was here today for a conference with James W. Coffroth whose bid of $400,000 for the bout to be held at Tijuana, Lower California, has been declared acceptable by Kearns.

Reiterating his former statement that he would prefer that Dempsey fight in America and in a bout promoted by Coffroth, the manager of Dempsey said:

"The Coffroth bid of $400,000 is acceptable to us, and we see no reason why the fight could not be held at Tijuana. If it is true that Cochran, the English promoter, had Carpenter signed for a fight with Dempsey and that this agreement is effective until early in February, why, naturally, we must wait until the agreement expires if Carpenter is to appear in a bout promoted in this country by Coffroth."

As regards the other bids, two of which are higher than Coffroth made Kearns declared that the question of a few thousand dollars would not deter him from accepting the Coffroth offer.

"I want to make it plain that I consider Coffroth the most capable promoter for the fight," said Kearns. "If the fight is held, we will insist that the purse be split 75 and 25 per cent. We don't want to go abroad and fight, but if we must we will insist on a guarantee."

Coffroth said he was hourly awaiting a cable from Charles Harvey, his foreign representative, on the question of direct word from Carpenter. Kearns and Coffroth will go to Tijuana tomorrow and view the site for the proposed arena. Kearns plans to return to Los Angeles tomorrow night.

MIND BLANK OF HISTORY SINCE 1912

Cultured Englishman Knows
Nothing of His Life Since Sinking of Titanic.

SURPRISED WHEN TOLD
OF THE WORLD'S WAR

Death of Roosevelt Also Unknown to Him—Displays Unusual Knowledge of Church Music.

By the Associated Press.
LAMBERTVILLE, N. J., Jan. 9.—Apparently unable to recall anything except indistinct recollections of his past life and events since the sinking of the Titanic, a man of mystery who has christened himself "Dr. X," remained tonight at the rectory of Rev. J. T. Bensley here.

The stranger, who was found wandering in rags and habbling childishly near the city on December 22, is a cultured Englishman, versed in medicine and surgery, learned in research work and music. Attracted by the man's evident culture, Dr. Bensley, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, took him to his home from the city last where he was being detained.

Gives Story of Life.

"Dr. X," said in an interview tonight:

"I should say that I am a native of England—that's certain. That I attended Oxford—that's certain; that I have had church experience—that is not certain; that there is a strong presumption that my early life was spent in Mississippi."

How long he has been suffering in this manner, whence he came, and through what experiences he went before being found on the outskirts of the town "watching the sunset," the man says he cannot remember.

While being questioned by Dr. Bensley, the man pointed to a picture of President Wilson and asked who it was.

I remember when President McKinley was shot and Roosevelt became president, and then I remember that he was elected," he said.

Surprised At Death.

"Do you remember when he died?" he was asked.

"No," replied the man of mystery quizzically. "Is he dead?"

The first that the apathetic victim had heard of the war was when Dr. Bensley told him about it, and he appeared startled when he learned that Germany was a republic. He jumped out of his chair excitedly and said "what?"

"Dr. X" recalled vividly the tragedy of the sinking of the Titanic in 1912, but he is positive, however, that he was not a passenger on the vessel.

When asked if he had a wife, the stranger answered: "I have no recollection of any probably I have none."

Dr. Bensley, an Englishman and graduate of Oxford, said that he believed that "Dr. X" attended Oxford in the eighties and that he probably graduated about 1885 or 1886.

Plays Organ Well.

The first day at the rectory the man played the piano and he sat down and began to play. He was nervous, Dr. Bensley said, and moved his feet restlessly as if searching for pedal notes. When taken into the church, "Dr. X" played the organ with ease and displayed an unusual knowledge of church music, particularly Gregorian music.

One of the most vivid impressions which the memory-less man has retained is that of a large colonial house which he thinks is in Mississippi, and where he spent his childhood.

Eyes Are Baffling.

The man, who is apparently between 50 and 60 years old, has eyes of a baffling color. He describes them as being greenish yellow. They are clear and steady. He is five feet, seven inches tall, has dark brown hair streaked with grey and brushed back from his forehead. His black beard, which is also streaked with grey, is cropped in semi-Van Dyke style.

PALMER URGES CAUSE OF WOMAN SUFFRAGE

By the Associated Press.
NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 9.—Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer has written to the 12 democratic assemblymen of New Jersey requesting their influence to obtain ratification of the federal woman suffrage amendment at the January session of the state legislature. The request is similar to that recently made by Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the democratic national committee, in a letter to January H. Nugent, a state democratic leader, which Nugent refused on the ground that "woman suffrage is the greatest menace now threatening the stability of the American government and American institutions."

Louis H. Freund, one of the assemblymen-elect, declared he considered it unethical on Mr. Palmer's part "to interfere in New Jersey's affairs."

E. Headley, another, said he believed in state's rights and could not see what business Mr. Palmer had in New Jersey's affairs.

HAYS CONFIDENT WEST FAVORS REPUBLICANS

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, Colo., Jan. 9.—Before departing for Salt Lake City today on his swing across the continent in a preliminary marshalling of republican forces for the forthcoming presidential campaign, Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee, said that the west never showed more promising prospect for a sweeping victory than it does at present.

Women republican leaders who are making the cross-country trip with the national chairman, left today for California. They will stop at Salt Lake City.

State republican leaders expressed great satisfaction at the visit from the party in Colorado presented at this time. The national chairman expressed pleasure over assurance vouchsafed that the party's strength in Colorado would be kept intact.

FAVORS POOL OF BRITISH AND AMERICAN WARSHIPS

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Jan. 9.—A strong appeal in favor of pooling the British and United States navies and concentrating them to the service of the league of nations as an instrument for banishing war from the seas, will be made in the weekly article of Alfred G. Gardiner in the Daily News of tomorrow.

Mr. Gardiner declares that, through machinations in Paris, the league of nations is lost, nothing can prevent the United States from becoming the greatest naval power in the world, and that this situation would produce a feeling of anxiety in England which could easily develop into suspicion and perhaps into antagonism. There is only one way to prevent this menace, according to Mr. Gardiner.

MARTENS TO TELL HIS STORY TO THE SENATE

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Subpoenas were served tonight on L. C. A. Martens, self-styled Russian socialist ambassador to the United States and his secretary and spokesman, S. Nuriyeva, calling for their appearance at the initial hearing Monday of the senate foreign relations subcommittee, charged with an investigation of Russian propaganda in the United States. Both accepted the summons.

Martens, whom department of justice agents have been seeking with a warrant for arrest, it was said at the temporary headquarters here of the "Russian secret bureau," was served with the subpoena "at the home of a friend." The subpoena for the appearance of Nuriyeva was served at the office of the "bureau."

DEMPSEY BRANDED AS SLACKER BY LEGIONAIRES

By the Associated Press.
EL PASO, Tex., Jan. 9.—Jack Dempsey, world's champion heavy weight boxer, was charged with having "apparently skulked in hiding from the draft boards" during the late war, and Georges Carpentier, his French opponent, was made a life honorary member of the post, at a meeting of the El Paso post of the American Legion held here tonight. The local post also appropriated $75 to be turned over to Carpenter on his coming fight with Dempsey.

SAYS DOOR TO COMPROMISE NOT CLOSED

Friends of Peace Pact Continue Efforts to Secure
Its Ratification.

TREATY'S FOES DECLARE
MATTER CAMPAIGN ISSUE

Harvard President Joins
Others Seeking Compromise—Bryan Leaves for Lincoln.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The fortunes of the treaty of Versailles became even more unsettled today when, on top of President Wilson's Jackson day pronouncement for taking the question to the people in the political campaign, and William J. Bryan's opposition to such a course, democratic and republican friends of the treaty in the senate renewed determinedly their effort to secure a compromise ratification.

Compromise Is Possible.

Senator Hitchcock, Nebraska, the leading democratic leader, said he did not regard the president's declaration as an effort to cut off any reason for compromise and predicted ratification before the campaign was under way. The mild reservation group of republicans took much the same view, and the group of democrats who have been urgent in their demand for a compromise declared their position unchanged.

Discussion of compromise reservations accordingly went forward as actively as before, a conference being arranged on the republican side to take up in detail the set of reservations submitted recently by Senator Kendrick of Wyoming and other democrats. It was said a counter proposal might be drawn up within a few days and all of the parties to the negotiations seemed hopeful that an agreement ultimately would be reached.

Predict No Agreement.

Among the treaty's irreconcilable foes, however, the president's stand and statement that night of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican senate leader, that he would "most cordially welcome" the treaty as a political issue, were hailed as having definitely put the question into the campaign. This group consistently has predicted failure for the compromise. "In addition, as they were more positive today than ever that there would be no agreement."

In announcing that the compromise plans would go ahead, Senator Hitchcock said that of course the democrats could not agree to any compromise vitally impairing the treaty, and that there would be endeavor to work out such reservations as the president could accept. Some other democrats were not so emphatic on that point, declaring privately that they would take the best compromise that they could get and then put the responsibility straight up to the White House.

Print Bryan's Speech.

The speech of Mr. Bryan at the Jackson day banquet here, which in addition to opposing any effort to carry the treaty into the campaign, advocated a speedy compromise, was put into the senate record today by Senator McCormick, republican of Illinois, after the president's letter announcing his stand had been presented by Senator Hitchcock. Senator McCormick, representative of Illinois, "be printed in just a position, in view of reports that they are agreed on the treaty."

Only on one other occasion during the day was a mention on the floor of the senate of the treaty or the Jackson day developments. That was when Senator Walsh of Idaho, a republican, introduced a resolution demanding a letter from President Wilson regarding asking that the democrats be willing to compromise on the treaty. It was an attempt to force a ratification of the treaty. Mr. Bryan, who was in the audience, was seen to smile.

WHO SHALL DENY THEM?

Our streets are thronged with people Sunday afternoons. They are restless. They crave amusement of some sort. They are asking that the movies be opened to them.

Shall those who step into their automobiles and ride out to their pleasures; or those who take their rods or their guns in quest of fowl or fish; or those who attend ball games, or who find other pleasures, deny to these people the right to the movie? If not these, then who shall deny them?

The problem is here. It can not be solved by standing still. Continuance of present conditions means continuance of the problem. Shall a part of us determine how the whole of us shall spend our Sundays? Shall those of us who own automobiles say that it is all right to gad about all day Sunday, burning gasoline and honking our disregard of everyone, but that there shall be no tolerance of those who would sit quietly at a movie show to while away the afternoon?

Let us be frank with ourselves. The radicalism of today is the result of the effort to regulate the "other fellow."

LENDING A HAND.

There is encouragement in the words of the head of one of the great secret societies uttered a few days ago. In Ogden, the supreme chancellor of the Knights of Pythias urged the membership of this great order to unusual effort against Reds in general, and I. W. W. and Bolshevism in particular.

The order Knights of Pythias is purely American. It springs from the strain and the chaos of the days of our war of the rebellion. Its mission was to heal the breach; to instill a broad love of country and a boundless patriotism and brotherly love. As the order has succeeded, it has grown. North and south, east and west, its votaries are patriots and its preaching is patriotism.

Significant, therefore, is the utterance of its head, the supreme chancellor, in denunciation of those red horrors which menace our liberties and threaten our institutions. This grand old order stands today where it has stood through all the days since it came to comfort and to bless.

WHERE MATERIALISM FAILS

The present plight of Europe in general, and France in particular, is a striking demonstration of the bankruptcy of the diplomacy of materialism, the fruition of the machinations of practical men and methods against the idealists and idealism at the peace table in Versailles. Likewise it is an argument for the League of Nations that should be potent, and would be effective if America could bring coherence to its ideas and make articulate its dreams.

The recent visit of Premier Clemenceau to London discloses the failure of France's after-the-war diplomacy. So far as she is concerned the war has been fought in vain. Her enemy is prostrate, of course, but so is she; and besides, she is deprived of the succor and support of Russia, her one great ally of ante-bellum days. Her very military successes themselves contain the germs of reprisals, as such successes always do. French diplomatists fought idealism in the peace conference and forced upon the world the makeshift that has split at least this country's counsels in two.

A League of Nations and a striving for righteousness were not to France's liking; she must have hard and fast alliances and old-fashioned balance of power. On paper she got them; but with America threatening to desert her, and England lukewarm toward committing herself to future wars, the victory of France leaves but a bitter taste in the mouths of the French.

A little more idealism in the conference at Versailles, a little more give and a commensurate lessening of grab, and the whole world could have been rallied to France's side, cemented to her in bonds of idealistic friendship for ages to come.

BEN FRANKLIN.

This month marks the 214th anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin. And this is a good time to renew acquaintance with old Ben, who was greater even as moral philosopher than as statesman.

In a period of extravagance and spiritual restlessness, Ben Franklin's voice has the welcome and helpful sound of a good parent's voice to a troubled child.

When he was still a young man, Franklin wrote a set of principles whereby to discipline his life. And, he kept books on himself, giving himself a black mark whenever he failed to live up to his own rules. He aimed to have a clean page every day.

Franklin's personal principles, as set forth in his autobiography, were:

Resolution: Resolve to perform what you ought; perform without fail what you resolve.

Frugality: Make no expense but to do good to others or yourself; waste nothing.

Industry: Lose no time; be always employed in something useful; cut off all unnecessary actions.

Sincerity: Use no hurtful deceit; think innocently and justly, and, if you speak, speak accordingly.

Justice: Wrong none by doing injuries, or omitting the benefits that are your duty.

Moderation: Forbear resenting injuries as much as you think they deserve; avoid extremes.

Tranquility: Be not disturbed at trifles or at accidents common or unavoidable.

Humility: Imitate Jesus and Socrates. These make pretty good basic principles for the reconstruction of which so much is said and so little done. There can be solid national reconstruction only on a strong foundation of individual self-discipline and responsibility.

NOT POWER, BUT SERVICE

Paderewski, forced to relinquish his place of honor as prime minister of Poland, refuses to desert his native land in these days of peril. Removed from the head of the cabinet, he takes a seat in the national Diet, where he sits with peasant representatives as a member of the national democratic party.

Thus is his loyalty shown. Again he proves that it was love of country and not lust for power that carried him into the seats of the mighty. He who has stood with the captains and the kings, seats himself humbly among the peasantry, hoping that thus he may be permitted but to serve his country inconspicuously.

Service he may and undoubtedly will be able to give, for the world stands greatly in need of men in these days of upheaval and reconstruction. But that he will be granted the boon of escaping the limelight is beyond belief. The great pianist must remember that "Where Macgregor sits, there is the head of the table."

Every disabled soldier who received one of those additional compensation checks will agree that they were provided by a Sweet bill.

SACRIFICED PROFITS TO HELP WIN WAR

Congressional Investigators Told That Many Concerns Lost Money During Conflict.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—A story of how American capitalists spent vast sums without expectation of return or profit to aid the government in its efforts to supply explosives for the war was told today to members of the house committee on expenditures in the war department. Incidentally, it developed that the same men had put at the service of their country valuable secrets learned from the Germans for the extraction of nitrogen from the air. The committee met to open an investigation into the expenditures of $84,000,000 for two nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals, Ala.

Frank S. Washburn, president of the American Cyanamid company, which built one of the plants at Muscle Shoals, informed the committee that the company had made no profit in over $52,000,000 worth of war work it had done for the government. The plant cost the government $22,000,000, had produced 1,500 tons of ammonium nitrate when the armistice was signed and then ceased operating.

"It was inconceivable to me," said Mr. Washburn, "that during the war some men of affairs should be enabled by the government to make large profits and others should give their services for one dollar a year or risk their lives at the front. The American Cyanamid company did not want any profit out of its war work. As a matter of fact it had none."

Government officials insisted that he had paid a fee of $1,500,000. When we receive this fee we must pay $5 per cent of its taxation. It has not been feasible for the government to repay us for our entire expenditure. We contributed our entire expense in the services of a staff of experts to the government. We had to reimburse families of men injured in the work. "There has been a general belief that the American Cyanamid company made a large profit; so I felt the fact and accomplishment with us, and founding character in relation to constructive work as the destruction in France was astounding, compared with other war destruction."

for Lincoln, Neb., where he will speak Monday. He will deliver an address in New York January 18. So far as was learned, he did not conform with democratic leaders here before his departure.

The cabinet met today, but if the members discussed the split between the president and Mr. Bryan on the treaty issue, or Mr. Wilson's stand, they would not admit it. Democratic leaders did not attempt, however, to minimize the effect that the split might have, both at the convention and at the polls in November, if it should be carried that far.

State Republican Leaders Divide Over Assembly's Refusal to Seat Five.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—State republican leaders held informal conference today on the assembly's summary suspension of its socialist members and the resultant probable effect on the state electorate. Meanwhile the five suspended assemblymen made plans for a bitter fight for reinstatement.

J. Henry Walters, republican leader of Connecticut, Speaker T. C. Sweet, Simon L. Adler, republican leader of the assembly and Attorney General Charles D. Newton, discussed the subject with men prominent in the party, but comment was reserved. It was intimated tonight that they had considerably opposition to the assembly's action in dealing with its socialist members.

The executive committee of the socialist party of New York issued a statement today demanding that the assembly immediately revoke its action, which it denounced as a direct affront to the voters of the state, disfranchising American citizens. The resolution that for reinstatement will be championed by the socialist lawyers they can hire, it was announced. Propaganda will form a large part of a campaign to turn the assembly's action into a boomtown, and compel reinstatement through public opinion, it was said. Charles Delmonico, one of the suspended assemblymen, declared today under emphasis had been placed on the "manifesto of the socialist party," adopted at the national convention in Chicago.

Geneva: Capital of the League of Nations

THE LAKE SHORE

GENEVA, Switzerland, is to be capital of the League of Nations—if there is a league of nations. It seems rather an appropriate selection. The city is cosmopolitan and has historical, literary and philosophical traditions in keeping with the purpose of the league. Switzerland has preserved its neutrality in a way to be above suspicion. And finally the Swiss Confederation is in itself a sort of League of Nations. From the practical viewpoint the city of Geneva is attractive, not too large, and centrally located for many of the members of the league.

In fact, the enthusiasts say that considering Geneva's past, its long history full of struggles and suffering through which it won its freedom, it would appear that from all time this city has been predestined to become the capital of the intangible kingdom of all free peoples, united to defend, not only their rights and liberty, but also the rights and liberty of others.

The requirements for a location stipulated fifteen hundred meters along the edge of the lake, enclosing large properties; a port for hydroplanes; facing the Alps and having access by land and water. Within the walls of the small territorial district of Geneva, amid the country adorned with parks and decked with gardens, several estates were available to the representatives of the different nations.

The suburb of Gentilly, about four miles out from the town, perhaps the more readily fulfills these conditions. Gentilly, one of the oldest villages, was a part of the bishop of Geneva's property. In 1325 it became the property of the republic and is included in the land that the Bernese took from the duke of Savoy. An unusually beautiful spot, looking down upon the lake from the town, it has been a chosen place for the Genevaans.

In the tenth century the noblemen replaced the country house of their forefathers by beautiful estates; gardens were laid out and planted. Two of these estates with the houses intact, rendered all the more beautiful by the passing of time, with accurate and venerable woods, were first chosen. The Caux de Gentilly belongs to the family de Saussure and the de Pourtales estate. The Pourtales estate adjoining was added; it is occupied by a large modern house called the Chateau Rouge. On the other side is the property of Edward Neville, the Egyptianist, temporary president of the International Congress. The Caux de Gentilly, which belonged to the estate of the naturalist and philosopher Charles Bonnet, were also secured. Incidentally, one of the eighteenth century houses on the Bonnet property was taken apart by stone to Geneva and skillfully reconstructed. Crowning this long hilltop with its gentle slopes is a plateau inclined toward the Jura mountains, the crest line which fills the horizon.

This presents a magnificent panorama for a distance of over a mile along the lake shore, and a mile and a half inland, half of the township of Gentilly, bounded on the north by the Versaille river and on the south by a road and crossed by the Geneva-Saionne railroad and the route to Lausanne.

The most ancient of these estates, and the most symmetrical, is the Caux de Gentilly. It was built by Ami Lullin, theologian, professor and collector of rare manuscripts. Blondel, the great French architect, drew the plans. In 1723 he planned the gardens and park. This house became the property of the naturalist, Horace Bonnet de Saussure, who married the granddaughter of Ami Lullin. De Saussure's house adjoined that of the uncle, Charles Bonnet. De Saussure, filled with a passionate love for the high Alps, the outline of which he gazed at every day, went exploring, climbing Mont Blanc, writing his "Voyages dans les Alpes" (1779-1789). His daughter, who became Madame Necker de Saussure, grew up in this delightful atmosphere. Charles Bonnet continued to carry on his study of nature, and when he lost his sight gave up his time to philosophical problems, strengthening his scholars' belief in an after life. Hailig used to come from Bern to work with him. Learned men and scholars came from all parts of Europe to visit them.

In this way the small circle of Gentilly, passionately interested in scientific culture and Christian philosophy, became a European center in direct opposition to the one at Bern, where Voltaire derided the austere atmosphere of Geneva and tried his best to destroy it.

After the death of Charles Bonnet his property returned to the de Rive family, which was connected with Madame de Staël (1770-1817). Her house is near Gentilly, and certainly came often on fine summer days to sit on the terrace of the philosopher and writer.

The de Pourtales house was built about 1750 by Jean Louis Saladin, a diplomat of Geneva attached to the court of Louis XV, who as a mark of appreciation gave him his full-length portrait in oils. The de Saladin house is on a height and commands a wide view of the lake. It is to be seen in the center of two broad avenues with its simple gray front, its semicircular outbuildings, all magnificent by location. Beyond the fields that slope gently are the trees of the Caux de Gentilly, the rare oaks that Ami Lullin had collected at a great cost, chestnuts that were brought from Lyons in carts, immense vistas of foliage, wonderful tree architecture including the old French garden.

Along the walks where two scholars meditated, around that house of pure lines, the meeting place of so many distinguished men, a breath of European thought seems to float in the Geneva atmosphere, say the enthusiasts. An intimate communion seems to unite all these grand and simple houses to the grand old trees, the gentle distant slopes which appear the Alps, the long, clear stretch of lake. To all this vista, at the same time so big and so complete that it would seem impossible to destroy this incomparable harmony—certainly these houses and historical grounds will remain as they are and the new buildings will be erected behind on the plateau.

Geneva is an old, old city. Its origin is lost in antiquity, but it was of sufficient importance in Caesar's time to be mentioned in his "Commentaries." It was, early the seat of a bishopric. It was one of the capitals of the Burgundians. In the sixth century it passed to the Franks. In the eleventh century it became incorporated with the German empire. About that time the temporal power was added to the spiritual power of the bishops. The dukes of Savoy began to encroach on the temporal power and at the same time the burgesses took a hand in affairs. The struggle between the dukes of Savoy and the citizens ended in favor of the latter in the early days of the sixteenth century. Geneva is the capital of the canton of Geneva. It contains possibly 60,000 people—a little over 100,000 with its suburbs—and the canton has a population of about 135,000. There are 22 cantons, with a total population of about 3,500,000.

The Romans made themselves masters of the country in the first century B. C. Their dominion lasted about four centuries. A succession of masters followed. When it became a part of the German (Holy Roman) empire in the eleventh century it was a hodgepodge of petty states ruled by dukes, counts, bishops and abbots, together with little city-states. The beginning of the confederation of cantons was in the thirteenth century.

In 1276 Rudolph of Hapsburg, Holy Roman emperor, secured control of the duchy of Austria and threatened the liberties of the Swiss. To resist his aggressions the three forest cantons of Uri, Schwyz and Unterwalden in 1291 entered into a league. In the fourteenth century two other cantons joined. The house of Hapsburg found the mountainous intractable. At the close of the middle ages the connection of Switzerland with the German empire came virtually to an end. The confederation was enlarged by fresh accessions. In the sixteenth century, as stated, Geneva shook off the authority of the dukes of Savoy and of the bishops. After the reformation in the place of Westphalia (1648) Switzerland was formally declared independent of the German empire. In 1798 the French occupied the country and established the Helvetic republic. In 1803 Napoleon restored the cantonal confederation and new cantons were added. The Congress of Vienna in 1815 decreed the perpetual neutrality of Switzerland.

Geneva, of course, at once suggests noted men and famous events—John Calvin, Rousseau and others; the Geneva convention, the Alabama claims, etc.

Modern Geneva is an exceedingly attractive city. It is beautifully situated at the southwest end of Lake Geneva, which here narrows and pours out into the Rhone, which is shortly joined by the Arve. The Rhone is crossed by three bridges which join the old town on the left bank, with the principal residence quarter of the foreign colony on the right bank. There are many fine structures of interest. The Collège de St. Antoine, founded by Calvin, has nearly 2,000 students, over half of whom are devoted to the fine arts and sciences. The Collège of St. Peter is a Byzantine in character and is said to have been built in 1124. The botanical gardens are interesting. There are several museums, including the Musée Rath; the Fol museum, with collections of Greek, Roman and Etruscan antiquities; the Musée de la ville, devoted to the fine arts; and the Museum of Natural History, containing the Saussure's geological collection. The Ile Jean Jacques Roussau attracts many visitors. Tourists are shown the house of Calvin, on whom the possibly chief historical fame of the city rests.

Lake Geneva is one of the beauty spots of the world. It is about 45 miles long and is eight miles wide at its place of greatest width. Its northern and western shores afford striking views of Mount Blanc and its chain. The lake is very deep and a beautiful dark blue.

New boulevards encircle Geneva; they are laid out along the flanks of the old fortifications which were demolished in 1851. Handsome villas crown the surrounding heights. Altogether the town seldom visits a more attractive city and one more interesting historically.

APPROVE BUDGET OF CHURCH CAMPAIGN

Evangelistic Work To Be Extended Into One in Both American and Foreign Fields.

By the Associated Press.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 9.—The budget of the inter-church world movement to be used in co-ordinating the energies of the Protestant denominations for the evangelization of the world, was approved today at the conference of 1,400 church leaders.

The budget calls for the expenditure of $1,350,000,000 in the next five years. It provides for evangelistic work in America and the foreign field, proper financing of hospitals and homes, liberal awards to struggling colleges, wages to both ministers and missionaries.

Three hundred and twenty millions are to be expended in 1920. Presbyterians and Methodists joined in protesting the original selection of the period between April 21 and May 2, as the time for the vote to raise this year's quota. Dr. Nolan R. Best, a Presbyterian, complained that these dates would conflict with the Presbyterians' "every member" canvass and moved that the drive be deferred to February 16-27, 1921.

Dr. David C. Downey of New York, a Methodist, called attention to the declaration of the Methodist leaders that followers of that faith should participate in no other drives until after Methodism's centenary fund of $112,000,000 is completed. Dr. Downey said the world surveys of the inter-church world movement which it was proposed to use as a basis for the $120,000,000 drive are "incomplete and inadequate."

After considerable discussion, the administration plan to have the campaign next year, was adopted. Methodists and Presbyterians asserted that they could not be participating bodies without first gaining consent of the ruling bodies of their denominations.

A substitute plan proposed that the general fund be apportioned on the basis of actual collections made by the denominations. When a fight seemed imminent the question was referred to the general committee to be appointed later.

GOOD ADVOCATES BUDGET SYSTEM

Chairman of Appropriations Committee Declares Government to Cost $5,200,000,000 for Year.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The estimated requirements of the United States government, not including anything for the railroad administration for the next fiscal year, were placed at $5,200,000,000 by Congressman James W. Good of Iowa, chairman of the house committee on appropriations. He made the statement tonight before the House Finance Committee's association in an address advocating a budget system.

"The sum, he said, represented a per capita tax of $47, and to collect even a much smaller sum the hand of the tax gatherer would fall heavily on many people. He charged many government departments with extravagance and deplored the lack of "real business acumen" in others.

"No press bureau budget plan, nor the British budget system will answer," he said for the need of an American budget code. The tax payers were becoming more insistent for government fiscal efficiency.

"With one breath," said the speaker, "the secretary of labor asks for $14,500,000 to establish employment agencies throughout the country to help our unemployed find jobs, while in another he voices his approval of the plan of the commissioner of immigration to bring into the United States 100,000 laborers from Porto Rico and Mexico to supply a labor shortage."

"On the same day that the attorney general is men starting a great crusade against buying anything except the actual necessities for immediate needs, we see the secretary of agriculture advising and urging the state highway commission to buy all kinds of material and machinery for road construction and store it for future use."

"We behold" the treasury department urging congress to accept a general donation by patriotic citizens of a southern city of 5000 acres of land on which to build a hospital, and when a generous appropriation is made by congress to build this hospital we see this same department letting a contract to some of these same patriotic citizens who donated the land. This is not all, the construction is left at just double the amount.

which the treasury department estimated it would cost to have the same improvements made by letting out the work to sub-contractors.

"We hear all of the negative departments in the executive branch announcing the header of all the necessities of life and threatening to throw him in jail, while at the same time we behold the secretary of war, the greatest hoarder in all the world, refusing to dispose of his hoarded stock until accompanied by congress."

COMPLETE ORGANIZATION OF 'NEBRASKA REFLEX'

The men are subject only to call by the governor and are to be equipped with rifles and machine guns which have been assigned to them by the war department.

NAME NEW BASEBALL HEAD FEBRUARY 11

Successor to Hermann Must Be Powerful Leader Asserts Heydler.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Selection of a chairman of the National baseball commission to succeed August Hermann, who tendered his resignation yesterday, probably will be made at the joint session of the two major leagues to be held here February 11. John A. Heydler, president of the National league announced tonight.

The committees of the two major leagues appointed a year ago to select a man for the commission chairmanship are expected to present their recommendation at the joint session, he said.

"The man chosen to head the commission should be powerful, fearless and independent enough to reach out after any player, club owner or official in baseball who either by action, association or speech brings the game under suspicion or disrepute," Mr. Heydler said.

"Herrmann was a good man for baseball, but the time has arrived for a change. The game demands it. The men interested in the sport realized it and are determined to make progress. Baseball must be kept clean and the man who heads the commission will have the responsibility of seeing that it is done. Gambling must and will be stopped."

President Heydler, and Dan Johnson, president of the American league, will depart tomorrow for Louisiana to draw up the tentative 1920 schedules. They will combine a hunting and fishing trip with the schedule making.

Four baseball meetings will be held here, during the second week of February, Heydler said. The National and American leagues will hold separate meetings February 10 and 11, and the following day will go into joint session.

Later the club owners of the two leagues will meet with a committee from the minor leagues to discuss the advisability of framing up a new national agreement.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 9.—Abandonment of the headquarters of the party of Cleveland under any central organization, closing of the party's offices and discontinuance of the official weekly publication were announced today simultaneously with announcement by the department of justice of three indictments against radicals charged with being identified with the party.

Discontinuance of the organization was decided upon because of the heavy expense incurred in bonding members held for deportation and in defending members in courts, party leaders declared.

BRITISH RAILROAD WORKERS OBSCURE

Reject Government's Offer of Compromise in Spite of Pleas of Leaders.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Jan. 9.—The Union of Railway Workers at a conference today rejected the terms offered by the government in settlement of the wage demands of the workers. Nevertheless, there is no deadlock between the union heads and the government and no prospect at present of a strike.

The conference will be assembled again tomorrow in the hope of resolving the government's reply regarding proposals for a back to work for soldiers plan. There were no negotiations with government officials tonight.

The hope this evening seemed to be that the government might announce tomorrow whether it is willing to resume negotiations with the railwaymen. No official statement concerning the grounds for the objections of the railwaymen has been issued, but according to good information they were that the minimum should be based on the highest pay, that there should be no sliding scale, and that the new rates should be retroactive to August.

The worst feature of the situation from the industrial viewpoint is the ease of both the employers and the railwaymen, the men and the file of whom have declined to follow the advice of their union leaders. It is possible, therefore, in the face of this situation, that the government will refuse to reopen negotiations on the ground that under these conditions they would be useless.

There were rumors today that J. H. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, who favored acceptance of the government's terms, had threatened to resign. These were without foundation. It is considered likely that Mr. Thomas may go to Paris by airplane to consult with Premier Lloyd George.

One reason assigned for the rejection of the government's proposals is said to be that the men argued that the considerable increase in freight charges recently announced it would be possible to pay the men the wages demanded.

WALLACE SAYS AUSTRIA IN NEED OF FOODSTUFFS

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Jan. 9.—Baron Peter Eich, off, head of the Austrian mission in Paris, called on Hugh G. Wallace, the American ambassador today. After hearing a report on the situation in Austria, Mr. Wallace said he was deeply impressed by the necessity of immediate action to save the country from starvation.

Ambassador Wallace expressed the hope that some action might be taken by the United States to give prompt relief as he saw no prospects for relief in time to save the country in any other quarter.

CLAIM CALIFORNIA MILK ASSOCIATION IS MONOPOLY

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 9.—Yankee to bring suit in the name of the state of California for the dissolution and forfeiture of charters of the Associated Dairymen of California and its affiliated corporations was granted today by Attorney General U. CHAMBER SECURES PERMANENT HOME

Five Room Suite in Boyd Building To Be Used by Civic Organization.

Permanent headquarters were secured for the Twin Falls chamber of commerce yesterday morning, when President Asher B. Wilson and Secretary Wright closed a deal with Dr. Boyd for a suite of rooms in the Boyd building.

The new quarters embraces part of the old Commercial club quarters, and opens directly from the head of the stairway from Main street.

There are five rooms in the suite, all well lighted and suited for the purposes of organization. There will be equipment only for the transaction of the business of the organization; no lounging rooms or places for the entertainment of guests, but facilities for the transaction of business.

Linoleum is being placed upon the floors, decorators are at work upon the walls, and within the next few days the newly-formed organization will be established in its quarters.

Already there are in the hands of the secretary for answer more than 200 inquiries which have come in and which relate to all sorts of topics, and all sorts of enterprises. There has never been in the history of Twin Falls a time when so many people were seeking locations here, and there has never been a time when there was greater need for a chamber of commerce to handle the negotiations and answer the inquiries arising from this demand.

CLAIMS "FRAME-UP" IN MALLER ARREST

Member of Trade Commission Hinted Packers Involved in "Red" Halls.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Charges that arrests of federal trade commission employees made in the recent department of justice campaign against "red" have been the result of "frame ups" designed to build the theory that the commission is a hot bed of Bolshevism, were made today by W. B. Colver, of that body before the senate agriculture committee. Colver left the impression that the larger Chicago packing concerns had conspired in some degree to obtain that result, and involving C. A. K. Martens, self-styled "ambassador" for the Russian soviet republic, and S. Nourieva, Martens secretary, in his account of instances to prove the point.

Colver likewise voiced a vigorous demand for legislation to regulate the industry, need of which was proved, he said, by the recent agreement between the packers and the department of justice in settlement of anti-trust proceedings.

To this testimony, the commissioner added, a critical analysis of statements and motives of witnesses who have opposed packer regulation during the prolonged hearings of the agriculture committee on the Kenyon and Kendrick bills last year, concluding with the assertion that in the meat industry "competition is continuing to lessen and monopoly to increase even though we exhaust the powers of present federal laws intended to restrain it."

The first instance, the commissioner said, of the "frame up" had resulted in the arrest of Rafael Mallen, a former clerk for the trade commission, in raids directed last week at Chicago by the department of justice. H. J. C. Clayburgh, head of the secret service at Chicago, and his assistant, "a man named Harry," Colver said, both of whom have since resigned, were responsible and Harry now was a "special agent" for Swift and Company. Mallen later was released.

Johann Ohl, another employee of the commission, Colver said, was arrested in Washington this week, while on a visit to St. Norbert, having been pointed out to police officers at Marquette, who in being sought out by the secret service. Reading an alleged claim of Nourieva and Martens that purchase of large meat supplies from an unnamed Chicago packer had been arranged with the object of getting it into Russia through the allied blockade, Colver said he considered this contention before the committee as the social representatives "significant" as it concerned Ohl's arrest, especially since the latter had been taken into custody when he came to see Nourieva in answer to a specific telephone call.

By acclamation President Walker was empowered to appoint a committee of four, representing the northern, southern, eastern and western divisions of the association to confer with a committee of the Royal and Ancient Golf club of St. Andrews, Scotland, on the question of uniformity of rules. No dates were mentioned for the national amateur, open or women's tournaments but it was announced that none of them would conflict with that of the British open championship, which is to be played for in England next June.

MEXICAN WARNING HELD INADEQUATE

Water On Passports Not Sufficient—Carranza Soldiers Suspected of Murder.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Warnings of local authorities, disregard of which reports to the Mexican interior department declared resulted in the killing of E. J. Honey and Earl Holes, Americans in the Tampico region several days ago amounted in the opinion of officials here to nothing more than the waiver which all Americans are compelled to sign before they can obtain a Mexican visa for the Tampico region on their passports.

This waiver, by which the persons signing agree that no claims in case of harm or death shall be brought by his heirs or employers, has never been recognized by the state department. Accordingly, officials hold today that Mexico, in order to give a satisfactory reply to the inquiry from this government as to the deaths of the two men, must prove that they received specific warnings other than those contained in the waiver.

Information reaching the state department today was that the wound sustained by Holes in the foot was made by a Mauser bullet. Carranza soldiers are known to be the only Mexicans in that region armed with Mausers, officials said. Advises given out by Mexico City, that the two Americans were mistaken for smugglers of munitions to Manuel Plaza, the rebel chief, was discredited by officials of the department, who said that it would be impossible for a vessel to land arms at the point stated in the advice as that territory is in entire control of the Carranza forces. Officials also noted a significant fact that Miguel Sierra, the Mexican, who was with the two Americans when they were murdered, escaped without injury.

MEXICAN CHARGED WITH MURDER BY TEXANS

By the Associated Press.
GEORGETOWN, Tex., Jan. 9.—The Williamson county grand jury today returned three indictments against Juan Chaballa, a Mexican, charging the murder with an act of a Mexican tenant farmer, his wife and daughter, on December 15 last, at Jarvis, Texas. Trial of the first case was set for January 15.

County officials recently announced that Chaballa, who was taken into custody a few hours after the crime was discovered, had confessed and had given sobriety as his motive. The announcement was made in view of reports published in Mexico that the slayer had not been apprehended.

The newspaper Excelsior of Mexico City, on January 1, declared that four Mexicans recently had been killed in Texas as a result of "hatred aroused and fomented by a certain class of American newspapers." The newspaper referred to the killing with an axe of a Mexican family of three and the sheriff and judge had declared that they were unable to discover the slayer.
