Successes of Bolshevism in Russia Disconcerting to English Officials.

PERKIA AND INDIA MAY BE THE NEXT ATTACKED

Soviet Command Formidable Forces-Polish Fear Extension of Their Efforts to the West.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Jan. 15.—Before peace with Germany is a week old, the British public has been brought up sharply against the possibility of another war.

This is inevitably connected in the public mind with the semi-official statement published last night in London regarding the threatening situation in the middle east as a result of Bolshevik military successes.

By their victories the Bolsheviks have obtained a command of enormous supplies of food, raw materials, coal and rolling stock and other means of transport of which they formerly were in need.

Speculation is active in the European capitals as to what will be the next move of the Bolsheviks. It is regarded as certain that, flushed with success, they will not be content with their present conquests.

The semi-official statement issued at London today says a long semi-official statement dealing with near eastern affairs.

SITUATION IS SERIOUS. LONDON, Jan. 15.—Within the past few months, says a long semi-official statement dealing with near eastern affairs, Great Britain may be faced with a serious Bolshevik situation in the near east.

Like-wise, real occupation of Trans-Caspia gives the Caucasus a base for operations against Persia and extending to India with the cooperation of Afghanistan.

ANOTHER STEP TAKEN TOWARD RATIFICATION

Informal Conference Between Leading Men in Both Parties Discuss Plan.

HITCHCOCK AND LODGE TAKE PART IN MEETING

Bryan Gives His Views to Republicans in Senate—Outlines Plan to Take Pact Out of Politics.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—At a bipartisan "round table" conference of senate leaders held today formal negotiations toward a compromise on ratifications to a peace treaty were inaugurated. While no agreements were reached at the meeting which was participated in by four republicans and five democrats prominent in recent informal negotiations, and which lasted two hours, another meeting will be held at 10 o'clock in morning. It is expected that there was renewed hope of a compromise.

The conference in which Republican Leader Lodge and Senator Hitchcock, administration leader, were leaders, followed the unsuccessful attempt of democratic senators at a party caucus to elect a leader to succeed the late Senator Martin of Virginia. After two attempts to break a tie vote of 19 to 18 on Senator Hitchcock and Senator Underwood of Alabama, the caucus failed. The caucus adjourned subject to the election of the two senators. Another caucus is planned after Carter Glass, senator-elect from Virginia, an Underwood supporter, takes his seat, but the result still remains in doubt because of the position of Senator Smith of Georgia, who withheld his vote today and took no sides for or against either Mr. Hitchcock or Mr. Underwood.

Another development today in the treaty situation was a visit to the capitol of William J. Bryan.

Mr. Bryan meets Republicans, the former secretary of state conferred with several republicans as well as democratic senators, urging an immediate compromise on the reservations and ratification of the treaty. He also advocated his plan of withdrawal of democratic participation in voting on the treaty if congressional negotiations should fail, suggesting that the democrats decline to vote and permit the republicans to ratify the treaty alone and accept sole responsibility.

The conference between the democratic and republican leaders was characterized by Senator Lodge as "the first practical step" in the compromise negotiations. In addition to Senators Lodge and Hitchcock, the conference were Senator New of Indiana, Leonard of Wisconsin, and Kollogg of Minnesota, republicans, and Senators McKellar of Tennessee, Simpson of North Carolina, Walsh of Montana and Owen of Oklahoma, democrats. Both delegations were chosen informally and were said to be without specific authority to act for their respective sides, but leaders hope that subsequent negotiations will result in a compromise which will muster two-thirds vote necessary to ratification.

The Senate reservations were the basis of a discussion at the conference. While 52 formal suggestions in writing for their modification were presented by the democrats, various suggestions were made by the republicans and these, Senator Lodge said, were taken under advisement by the democrats. Before the suggestions were concluded, it is expected that the deaths of compromise proposals brought forth.

HERRMANN CONFIDENT NEW AGREEMENT IS POSSIBLE

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—August Herermann, chairman of the National baseball commission, addressed the club owners of the American association in annual session today and asked them to have representation at the joint meeting of the major and minor league committees next February 11. Chairman Herermann said he believed a solution would be found for the resumption of relations between the majors and minor leagues.

After re-electing Thomas J. Hekey, president for a three year term at an increased salary, the league set a player limit, the club owners adjourned until tomorrow when the schedule for the 1920 season will be taken up. Indications were that the club owners would adopt a schedule of 154 games, starting the season on April 14, the date of the major league opening.

The league voted to discontinue the practice of raising a players fund next season by setting aside a cent from each admission. This plan raised $10,000 last season and the amount was divided among the teams in the order finished. But the club owners decided that instead of stimulating the players' interest in the club, it had no apparent effect.

BLAMES HYPHENS FOR PEACE TREATY FAILURE

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Charging that "hyphenated and un-American influences" have dominated the senate in its consideration of the peace treaty and the league of nations covenant, Secretary Daniels, in an address tonight at the Hofstadter society dinner here, declared the nation faces the danger of having the fate of the covenant decided, not upon considerations of merit, but through "fear of a foreign control in the vote." Voting a plea for an expression of solid, independent Americanism in the determination of all political issues, Mr. Daniels asserted that re-appearance of "hyphenated politics" where the league covenant was laid before the senate was the first time "since the armistice was signed."

"It did not emerge" the secretary continued, "until it was coaxed out by men who wave the flag, sing 'America,' and whisper to supposed dis-

THE PROPOSED SEDITION LAW.

The New York World, which, though not divinely inspired, has never had its patriotism questioned, sounds a warning against the bill pending in the house of representatives dealing with sedition and treason.

"With such a law in force," protests the World, "political controversy as always carried on this country, labor strikes as usually conducted, challenging of laws believed to be unconstitutional, and heated disputes between vociferous individuals may easily be brought under the drag-net clauses. We have here definitions of treason unknown to the constitution. Riot, assault and battery and disorderly conduct are set down as sedition, and contempt of court is made a felony. Assemblages, speech and press, no longer guaranteed, are habitually subject to a raid. In every instance all that is necessary to establish these weird proceedings in an allegation that somebody is attempting to overthrow the government, by violence—crime contemplated, not crime accomplished.

"It is probably the most amazing combination of proscription and tyranny ever presented to a free people in the form of a statute."

The attorney general has long complained that there is not on the federal statute books any law empowering the government to deal adequately with cases of treason and sedition. The public, like the attorney-general, would like to have a law "with teeth in it" to punish any citizen really undertaking the violent overthrow of his government. But if this bill is half as bad as the World represents it, it will bear careful study.

This country wants no "proscription," and rather have laws too mild to punish all the guilty than laws that would result in the arbitrary limitation of freedom and might mean the wholesale arrest and punishment of innocent citizens at the whim of over-zealous authorities.

The nation has fought and suffered too much in the cause of liberty to subject itself to any form of autocratic tyranny. Let the public look into this matter, and let congress in any action it takes to strengthen the hands of the department of justice, know exactly what it is doing.

THE DOVER PATROL.

A sum amounting to about $30,000 has been sent to the navy department of this government by an English committee, for the erection of an appropriate memorial to perpetuate the memory of the Dover patrol and the part it played in safeguarding the coast of Britain and clearing the English channel of submarines.

Both the American naval air forces and the sea forces contributed conspicuously to this service. It is from truly grateful British hearts that this fund comes, having been raised by popular subscription.

The memorial will take the form of a large monolith erected near the entrance of New York harbor, where it will be plainly visible to all incoming and outgoing ships.

In these days of sharp divisions on international questions, such mute testimonials of mutual feeling play a most important part, for they serve to keep fresh in the hearts of mankind the spirit of unity.

METRIC SYSTEM NOT WANTED.

The American Society of Mechanical Engineers has been trying to find out whether the adoption of the metric system of weights and measures in place of our present variegated systems would really benefit the United States. The metric system is of course a more-logical and simple system than the ones we now use. Also the metric system is used in a great many of the countries with which American merchants trade. It is, however, not so universally in use as many enthusiastic advocates insist. In South America, for instance, in several countries where compulsory metric laws were adopted and the metric system was recognized and used officially, the people have continued to use the old measures.

It would seem that the firms dealing commercially with foreign countries in which metric weights and measures are commonly used would be the ones chiefly advocating our change to that system. The engineers' society sent out questionnaires to 1,445 exporters asking their opinion on the subject. Of those questioned, 82.2 per cent reported that they have no need whatever for the metric system; 11.2 per cent are using it only slightly; 2 per cent are using it considerably; 1.1 per cent use it extensively; only 0.4 per cent use it exclusively. Three and one-tenth per cent made no reply.

One firm whose foreign trade has been the most important part of its business for 15 years wrote:

"Our experience touches practically every country in the world. The lines of goods we sell abroad are quite varied, embracing internal combustion engines; steam power and centrifugal pumps; electrical dynamos and motors; railway supplies and windmills. We are sending our goods to countries where the metric system is used, but we have not seen any necessity whatever for abandoning the English standard of weights and measures."

A company manufacturing cutting tools, one which has been in the export trade for 70 years, wrote, "our business is nine-tenths with foreign countries. We have no need whatever to use the metric system in our business."

In view of this complete indifference to the metric system among exporters, it does not seem likely that enough people will care about the change to try to effect it very soon. Granting the simplicity and reasonableness of the metric system, still its advocates are not making much headway with their reform.

HOARDING FURNITURE.

A man who claims his is the oddest job in a whole city-full does nothing but explore old attics, cellars and storage places searching for antiques.

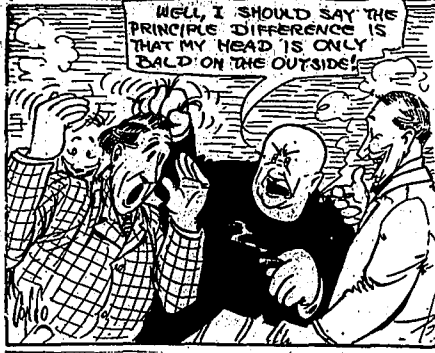

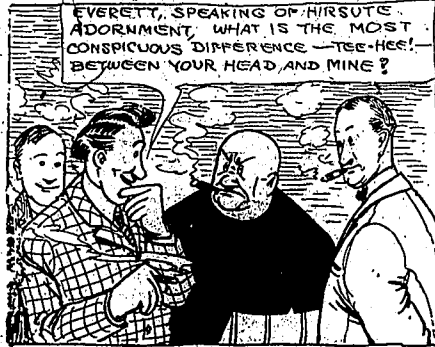

It is a question whether this man should be out of a job or retained by general subscription as a public benefactor. Perhaps the latter, since he rescues the unused and puts it where it will be useful once more.

There is today a great shortage of household furniture, and the prices consequently are very high. Yet if every piece which is stored away in attic or cellar or barn loft, because its owners can neither bear to part with it nor to use it, were given necessary repairs and refinishing and brought forth be furniture enough to meet all lacks in this. The hoarder of such belongings deserves country and go far toward refurbishing the devastated homes of Europe, while the effect upon prices would be more salutary.

There is no virtue in the storing away of unused furniture or household goods. The hoarder of such belongings deserves little more from his country than the hoarder of sugar or meat, and he makes himself vastly more trouble. Rid the attic and the cellar of the selfish load of years. It's one way to help relieve a world shortage.

Sims may have declined a medal, but he didn't decline to meddle.

Coal Miner Operator Testifies Miners Will Not Give Up to Agreements.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—With an opinion of 10th mine and coal mine operators in the central competitive price committee, the coal miners' representative committee adjourned today on Monday, taking under advisement statements and statistical reports which had been filed in connection with arguments during the four days of discussion.

Paul H. Penna, of the Indiana Coal Operators' Association, stated the operators' statement on the coal miners' 22 years of collective bargaining in the coal industry, he said, but now the operators are convinced that the mine workers are irresponsible as an association and will not keep the wage contracts which they make. Penna formally withdrew the commission, in behalf of his associates to consider methods of making the wage awards enforceable, even to the extent of recommending legislation.

Penna, together with Ralph Crews, attorney for the coal operators, took the position that the increased wage demand was the only serious item of the miners' 30-hour week, Penna said, was "almost criminal."

treaty questions. Senator Underwood, immediately after the caucus, announced that regardless of the final result Senator Hitchcock would continue to handle the treaty for the minority with his loyal support. Senator Simmons, a Hitchcock supporter, also stated that the Nebraska senator would continue in charge of the treaty on the domestic side.

After his conference with senators, Mr. Bryan in a newspaper interview emphasized his belief that a large majority of the American people desire immediate ratification. Prompt action, he said, would accomplish these two results:

First, it would take the question out of politics and permit both parties to turn their attention to "very important domestic issues."

Second, an agreement would permit ratification by a larger majority than in any other way and that would give the greatest possible weight to our action and influence abroad.

He previously expressed suspicion that the democrats of the senate would hold their votes and let the republicans ratify the treaty with their reservations. Mr. Bryan said they should only by a last resort if compromise negotiations failed.

"An appeal could be made to the country," he continued, "to reverse, in the league of nations, any action taken by the senate and to authorize reservation of any provision which is objectionable to 24 months' delay. The democratic party could make a much more successful fight before the people for authority to ratify than it can for authority to retain provisions, if it must share responsibility with the republicans for 24 months' delay."

Put Republicans on Defensive.

"I believe we can put the republican party on the defensive by proposing an immediate compromise, if compromise is possible, and, second, by throwing the responsibility on the republicans for immediate action if compromise is impossible."

Asked whether he believed the president would approve a compromise out of reservations, Mr. Bryan answered:

"I do not know that anybody is authorized to say what the president will do. And, in my opinion, it is fair to ask in advance what he will accept, or for him to suggest changes that would put him where he might be accused of a breach of faith."

DECREES CIDERS WITHIN DRY LAW

Fruit Juices Unlawful If Contain More Than One-Half of One Per Cent Alcohol.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—In one of the broadest constructions yet placed on provisions of the act for enforcement of constitutional prohibition, Prohibition Commissioner Kromer said that fruit juices and ciders contain more than one half of one per cent alcohol. The commissioner's interpretation of the law, was set forth today in a memorandum charging prohibition directors and inspectors with the added duty of examining the alcoholic content of such beverages.

The drastic regulation goes into effect with constitutional prohibition January 16. Violation of it carries the same penalties as for the manufacture or sale of stronger liquors.

Officials in discussing the ruling asserted that such a step could not be taken under war time prohibition nor was it enforceable under the prohibition laws of most of the states. H. H. Coffey, the bureau of internal revenue has held fast to the policy of assessing taxes against fruit and liquor containing more than one half of one per cent alcohol, but actually, the regulation could not be applied to ciders and fruit juices because of the technical language of the law, it was said.

Strict enforcement of the regulation will hold liquor dealers in fruit juices and ciders in which alcoholic content increases even while in storage. The department does not intend, however, to issue all beverages thus produced, officials said, but a "watchful eye" would be kept on these manufacturers and dealers. National organizations will receive no excuse for violation of the regulation, it was declared.

Should women be put on trial for their faults?

Should women be put on trial for their faults? And should they be tried by men? Are their so-called weaknesses due to the mediocre demands of men? Do women know how to stick to ideals that are not social assets? What is the type of girl that invariably becomes an old maid? Women put a premium on virtue? These are a few of the questions that are discussed and answered in a tremendously stimulating article called "Supply and Demand." Every woman in America owes it to herself to read it.

URGE LEGISLATION TO STOP LYNCHING

J. W. W. and German Agents Are Accused of Fostering Riots by Colored People. By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Bureaucratic federal legislation to prevent lynchings and race riots was urged at the initial hearing today of a senate judiciary sub-committee...

Senator Curtis, republican, Kansas, author of the resolution, presented to the sub-committee a copy of a report of the department of justice showing the activity of racial agitators among negroes in various cities where rioting has occurred and describing the manner in which these agitators have conducted a propaganda among negroes to arouse unrest.

The report outlined an article by A. Blossom, secretary of the I. W. W. local at Paterson, N. J., textile workers, designed to arouse negroes. This article, the report said, was printed in the office of the Gary, Ind., Post, at the expense of Linn A. B. Gale of Mexico City, who the report said, was believed to be a German agent.

"It seems to me," said Senator Curtis, in presenting the report, "that there is a very strong reason why the federal government should take hold of this question and make a thorough investigation of it and into the activity of the radical element in this country in working up race riots." U. S. Branton, a white attorney of Little Rock, Ark., who said his son narrowly escaped lynching during the recent race riots in that state, argued in favor of federal legislation, declaring the federal constitution guarantees all citizens an impartial trial which mob rule denies. He declared, however, that the recent troubles in Arkansas was not due to radical agitators, but to the system of postage which he alleged, prevailed in Arkansas. "The conditions that exist there are such as to demand the attention of the federal government," Branton said.

James Welch Johnson, a former United States consul in Nianguah, but now field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told the committee that there recently had been suggestions that the United States intervene in Mexico because about six Americans had been killed, while during the same period 35 negroes had been lynched in this country.

CLAIMS WOOL HAS NOT BEEN ADVANCED

Dr. McClure Declares No Grounds Exist for Raise in Clothing Prices.

By the Associated Press. SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 14.—The statement of H. R. King of Seattle, in an address before the National Retail Clothiers' association at Chicago yesterday, that cloth prices will advance from 25 to 40 per cent, partly because of higher wool prices was characterized as "absurd" by Dr. S. W. McClure, secretary of the National Wool Growers' association here today. Mr. King said before the Chicago meeting that cloth prices had increased from $1.14 a pound in 1914 to $4.10 a pound now.

"The truth of the matter is that wool is no higher in Boston, the wool market of the country today than it was 30 days ago," Dr. McClure declared. "The highest price yet paid for clean scoured wool in Boston is around $2.10 per pound and that is for the very finest grade. Ordinary three-eighths blood wool, which is the class out of which suitors uniforms were made and which is really the most useful wool in the world for clothing purposes, is selling today in Boston at from $1.30 to $1.40 per pound scoured. This wool has not advanced in the last 90 days."

"To manufacture a suit of man's clothing, suitable for the average sized individual and made of medium winter-weight goods, requires about 62 ounces of wool, which wool can be bought in Boston today at $5.25. Thus, on a basis of the present prices, the total amount of wool in an average man's suit can be bought for $5.25 and this is on the presumption that the suit is made of all wool. Such suits at this retail today at from $60 to $75. If one were to use the very finest wool grown in the manufacture of this suit, not more than $7 worth of wool could be used.

"The price of wool has not been responsible for the advance in the price of clothing and even at present wool values, the wool required to manufacture a suit represents less than 10 per cent of the price at which such suit is retail.

"There may be some reason for advancing the price of clothing," Dr. McClure asserted, "but it cannot be blamed on the price of wool."

WANT BIG FORCE TO GUARD LIQUOR

Large Amount of Booze Stolen From Government Warehouses, Declares Commissioner Kreamer.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Employment of a force of 2,500 watchmen to guard 65,000,000 gallons of liquor held in government bonded warehouses is planned by the internal revenue bureau to protect the liquor against theft. Prohibition Commissioner Kreamer today told the house appropriations committee. He asked that congress make $2000,000 available immediately for establishing the guard.

No plan for the disposition of the liquor has been determined on by the bureau, Mr. Kreamer told the committee, adding that the permissive withdrawal after constitutional prohibition becomes effective would be so few as to not pay the expense for maintaining the guard.

"Congress has requested, may be asked to solve the problem of disposing of the liquor, and commission suggested its concentration in a few places. Such a plan of concentration, Mr. Kreamer said, is being considered by the bureau officials. Seventy-five thefts have been reported from the warehouses in the last few months, despite iron doors and bars, the commissioner said. Without a large increase in the present force at the warehouses, Mr. Kreamer said, large quantities would be released by theft and distributed and consumed in defiance of law. Distillers who own the liquor were said by the commissioner, to be pressing the bureau for an increased guard because they are compelled under their bond to pay $6.40 a gallon for warehouse, and thefts come within this provision.

Commissioner Kreamer, in telling the committee of plans for action later in the week when the constitutional prohibition amendment becomes effective, said a force of 1,400 agents for enforcing the law had been organized. This force will be a dual organization, he said, most of the agents being raiders and detectives, with the other portion forming the branch of the bureau to have charge of pernicious liquors.

Most of the force, it was said, would be centered in the east, especially, expecting to need fewer men in the western prohibition states.

SOLONS DISAGREE OVER ATTORNEY

Chair of Council of Aid in Propaganda Investigation Causes Rupture Among Senators.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—Authority granted by the senate to the foreign relations sub-committee, to employ counsel to aid it in investigating Turpin propaganda developed strong disagreement today among committee members as to the choice of an attorney. While Senators Moses, New Hampshire, chairman, and Senator Knox, Pennsylvania, favored the selection of Archibald Stegeman; attorney for the New York legislature committee investigating radical activity, Senator Borah served notice that he would quit the committee if Stegeman was chosen. Senator Moses said that Stegeman was suggested by Senator Knox, who has known him from boyhood, and added that Stegeman would be particularly valuable to the committee in view of the information he had gained, through his connection with the Lusk committee of the New York legislature. Senator Borah declared himself opposed to employment of any counsel, as there are four lawyers on the committee, and particularly objected to Stegeman, saying he did not want to transfer the Lusk investigation to the senate. Protest against the appointment of Stegenson also was made by E. P. Jennings, a machinery manufacturer of Lehighton, Penna., who declared "Stegenson himself should be investigated and probably will be after I have furnished the committee information in my possession."

RECLAMATION DISCOURAGED BY MONDELL

Republican Leader Says War Bills Too Large to Make Other Appropriations.

APPEAL MADE TO GIVE STATES PUBLIC LAND

Davis Announces Delegation Will Remain in Capital to Draft Measure From Pending Bills.

By the Associated Press.
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Governors and other representatives of western states asking congress for an appropriation of $250,000,000 for land reclamation, were given slight hope by Representative Mondell of Wyoming, republican leader of the house, today, of having their requests granted. The coming fiscal year will be a critical one growing out of war financing, Mr. Mondell said, and present estimates of expenditures must be reduced at least a billion dollars if the credit of the government is preserved.

Facing a Deficit.
 The government is facing a deficit of three billion dollars next year, Mr. Mondell said, without taking into account an extra $80,000,000 added by the Sweet bill, increasing compensation for disabled soldiers, or considering possible expenditures for bonuses or increased pay for the army and navy. Mr. Mondell is expressing regret that more money was not available for reclamation, promised that he would attempt after the period of war financing was over, to obtain an adequate appropriation.

Mr. Mondell's remarks closed a hearing before the joint congressional committee on public lands, during which Governor Larrazolo of New Mexico, asked that all public lands be added back to the states for development. Other speakers, however, pointed out that the question of the cession of public lands was a separate one from the request for a federal appropriation to aid in reclaiming the arid lands of the west.

Would Curtail Measures.
 Governor Davis of Idaho, chairman of the executive committee of the western delegation, announced that an executive committee was drafting a bill with a view to correlating measures now before congress and that the committee would remain in Washington as long as their presence was needed. The delegation will assemble Saturday before a joint meeting of the republican steering committee of the senate and house and later before the ways and means committee.

WATER POWER BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Measure Adopted by House Last July Now Goes to Conference.

By the Associated Press.
 WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—By a vote of nearly three to one the senate today passed the water power development bill, different in some respects from the measure adopted by the house in July, but following in a general way the same general plan that has been before congress in one form or another for the last decade.

Five republicans and 13 democrats voted against it, while Senator Nelson, republican, Minnesota, who was in charge of the fight for passage and who had done his best to get it passed before congress in one form or another for the last decade.

Just before the final vote was taken the senate reconsidered its former action and restored an amendment which would limit the government's share of the cost of water power projects to 25 cents per horsepower developed. Senator Leavort, republican, Wisconsin, who opposed the amendment, declared it was a concession to special interests and expressed the opinion that it was calculated to invite presidential veto.

Motion by Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, to reconsider the vote on an amendment by Senator Nugent, democrat, Idaho, affecting power development on land held by Indians, brought about a two hour discussion. Senator Nugent proposed that no bill be passed by authorized within an Indian reservation except by and with consent of the council of the tribe.

Senator Walsh, in opposing it, held that the government was the guardian of the Indian.

"Old time graft charged in the election of United States senators by legislatures of the states," Senator Walsh declared, "would not be a circumstance in what would happen if that council were based on the question of water power license."

Senator Walsh explained that in making this statement, he meant no reflection on the Indians, but that they would be subject to all sorts of graft invitations by special interests.

STAGE LONG WAKE FOR OLD MAN BOOZE

New York Restaurants Run Wide Open While Awaiting Advent of Constitutional Prohibition.

By the Associated Press.
 NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A 36-hour wake for John Barleycorn began in New York hotels and restaurants at 6 o'clock tonight, the apparent intention of the mourners being to consume as much non-prohibition liquid as possible before the stroke of midnight tomorrow. In many white light resorts the proprietors took a chance on prohibition enforcers looking the other way and there was little difficulty for the bibulously inclined to get what they wanted—provided they paid the price. There were plenty willing to pay it, too, who never flinched at $2 a quart for champagne, high balls at $1.12 and ordinary whiskey 75 cents a drink of ungenerous proportions.

Indications late tonight were that daybreak would find the wake "going strong." In several of the popular restaurants coffins were borne into the dining rooms at midnight to the accompaniment of funeral dirges. With the advent of prohibition came the announcement that another of New York's famous restaurants, Monquin's downtown establishment, would close its doors Saturday night. "Dining has become a lost art," sorrowfully remarked the proprietor.

Inspired by the hope that springs eternal Brooklyn saloonkeepers announced that in the near future the law may be repealed and that, therefore, they would keep their places open and sell "soft stuff."
