WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Investigation by a senate sub-committee of awards of naval war decorations took a new angle today when Rear Admiral William S. Sims, the only witness heard so far, laid before the committee a long letter entitled "Certain naval lessons of the great war," written by him to Secretary Daniels, arranging many aspects of the navy department's conduct of the war.

Claims Lack Cooperation.
Lack of full cooperation with the commander of American naval forces overseas, the part called by Admiral Sims throughout the war, was the general criticism made, but the letter contained also a statement that just before he left for London, Admiral Sims was told "not to let the British not to pull the wool over your eyes" and that the British navy would fight the British in the Channel.

Summarizes Service's Error.
The letter declares that important as a guide in future wars that "the fault was made of the errors of policy, tactics, strategy, and administration" were committed by our navy and adds that it is for that purpose that "the most serious of these errors are summarized." That followed the recital of the officers assigned to London nearly 48 hours' notice in March 1917, and this statement regarding his instructions:

"Brief orders were delivered to me verbally in Washington. No formal instructions or statement of the navy department's plan or policy were received at London." He then told the committee that he believed the "knowing" explicit admonition "don't let the British pull the wool over your eyes. It is none of our business pulling their obscenity out of the fire. We would as soon fight the British as the Germans."

Approximately 500 water users who held stock in the Twin Falls Canal company unanimously endorsed the plan to purchase water rights in the American Falls reservoir even though the Bureau project fails to enter into the proposition at this time.

Plans Are Explained.
J. C. Whelan, general manager of the canal company and W. O. Taylor, secretary, explained the proposition proposed by the reclamation department. Following the explanation an extended discussion of the project was entered into. Portions of the proposed contract were read and their intent explained and discussed.

Cost $5.00 An Acre.
If the Bureau project fails to materialize it will cost the Twin Falls tract about $5.00 per acre of land payable in installments. The canal company officials explained that the additional water will have no effect whatever on present water rights of the Twin Falls tract either at Milner dam or in Jackson hole.

BUHL TAKES NO ACTION.
BUHL, Jan. 17.—At a well attended meeting of water users here today the matter of securing additional water rights through purchase of 100,000 acre-feet in the American Falls dam was thoroughly discussed following an explanation of the plan by a representative of the reclamation service. SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 17.—Mexico's objections to Mexicans testifying before the senate sub-committee investigating affairs in that country will result in an increased number of its executive sessions. The improbability that any effort will be made by the committee to compel any Mexican to testify, was made clear by the committee today but Mexicans will be asked to testify. In cases where the witnesses fear the results such protection as a secret guard can afford them will be offered. At least one witness today was a Mexican.

Carranza Represented.
Mexican secret service agents have appeared here in greater numbers since the hearing began and there has not been held a session at which the Mexican government was unrepresented.

Most of the testimony taken in a closed session related to robberies, outrages and oppressions inflicted upon Americans in Mexico, especially in the southern and eastern part of the country. Those testifying asked the clerk of a secret hearing in order that they might return to their holdings in Mexico.

In the opening hearings C. L. Gardner of Hot Springs, Ark., gave the details of the working of the "granja," a radical rural-labor organization that was organized during the latter part of Diaz' rule and which attained greater strength under that of Carranza.

Witnesses Atrocities.
Gardner was one of the few Americans who continued to work on the Mexican lands. He was a conductor and for a time was in the country south of Mexico City, where he witnessed atrocities by the followers of Zapata. He related to the committee instances of mounted Zapatas overtaking young women, throwing them upon their horses and riding away with them into the hills.

Superintendent of Schools.

The wonderful era of growth, development and expansion which seems just now to be opening to Twin Falls is not without its attendant problems. There is a real need for every citizen to survey carefully this entire situation which is just now looming up with the purpose of determining just what fundamental problems and issues are involved. One problem to which particular reference and consideration can well be given is that of our rapidly increasing school population. It is impossible to think of the opening period of development in our city without considering the increase in school population that will result therefrom.

1919 Normal Year.

Last year was a normal year in the history of Twin Falls. There was nothing unusual in the way of improvements and expansion. Yet, today, our schools enrolling 2863 pupils show an increase of more than 300 over a year ago. They also reveal an increase of more than 100 over two years ago. Now, in the light of these increases in normal years, what shall we predict of a year that involves a half million dollar paving program, the building of a $300,000 Elks' home, the erection of a hotel that will cost as much if not more, the improvement of rural roads to an amount at least greater than a half million dollars, and the completion of a $225,000 school building? Before attempting a prediction, consider that a modernization of weather conditions will start the construction of at least 80 residences and several business houses, what is your prediction in the matter of school enrollments for September, 1920?

1920? The whole situation involves an element of serious concern.

The office commander of the present year has just been organized. In the Bickel school there isn't a single room where it is possible to organize an entire class or grade. We are also using every one of the four rooms in the frame annex at this school, accommodating approximately 150 children. In the Lincoln school, there isn't a room that can be used for an additional class or grade. Not only do we have at this school four one-room frame buildings housing 175 children, but we are also using a small office room in which nearly 20 children are seated. Yet, in this school we have four rooms with 42 and 60 children enrolled in each. The only available space left in the Washington school is the auditorium. This school is amply able to house all of the children living in its district.

Transfer Many Children.

We have transferred to the Washington school children as we could from the Lincoln and Bickel schools in order to relieve the congested and crowded rooms in the latter buildings. We are unable to transfer more because the children live much nearer the Lincoln and Bickel than they do the Washington. It is impossible to use the auditorium at the Washington because it is not so centrally located as to relieve conditions in the Lincoln and Bickel. Nearly 700 students are enrolled in the high school. This is a gain of about 120 over last year. The high school building was planned and constructed to care for approximately 650 students. Every room in the high school building is used in providing for the large high school enrollment. The attic, the small and unsuitable science lecture room on the second floor, and the little dining room in the girls' basement are used for recitation rooms. In one instance during the day, there are two classes reciting in the same room. The present high school will not permit of any expansion or development in the program of study and work for the students. It has reached its capacity. There is absolutely no doubt that it plans will be unable to care for the increase in high school enrollment that will come with the opening of schools next September.

Forced to Leave School.

At the close of the last semester on Friday, January 9, about 25 boys and girls in the beginner's grade were unable to be promoted. Some of them failed because they entered our schools late in the year and were unable to get the sort of adjustment necessary to carry on the work. Some failed because of immaturity. Others were unable to be promoted because of such physical impairments as are involved in adenoids, diseased tonsils, and the like. It was absolutely impossible to continue these children in their school work during the second half of the school year. This was due to the fact that there was no place in the system where a first B grade for these children could be organized.

Carrying out a policy inaugurated because of crowded conditions a year ago, it was necessary to begin the efforts to withdraw these children from school and to enter them again next September. In addition to these 25 beginners who were unable to make their grade, there are probably 50 children over six years of age who are continuing in the school during the year because there was no room for them. These are the children whom it was necessary to exclude because they became six years of age after last November 1st. For several years we have always accepted in September any beginning student who was six years old on or before January 1. This year, we could accept only those pupils who were six years old before November 1. Even with the cutting down of the age limit we had an enrollment of nearly 320 beginners in seven rooms.

Can Accommodate 1,300

As soon as the addition to the high school building is completed, it will be possible to organize from 1500 to 1400 students in the enlarged building. This will take care of all who desire to do pure high school work as well as all of those students who are primarily classified as seventh and eighth grade pupils. Not only will the enlarged high school building permit of adequate and effective handling of such large enrollments, but a more modern and diversified program of study and work can be provided for the students. Whereas, it is now impossible to offer seventh and eighth grade pupils any of the many interesting and attractive vocational courses such as one ordinarily finds in a modern organized school, the enlarged building will make it possible for boys and girls from the seventh to the twelfth grade to receive a highly diversified and enriched program of vocational work. The vocational courses in our schools have always been most elementary. Our hundreds of seventh and eighth grade boys and girls have never had the advantages of them. A modern scheme of educational practice and procedure leaves a richly enriched program of vocational work for adolescent boys and girls. The department of departments of household economics and manual training in our high school have never been able to offer more than two years of work. These departments have been the type one would find in the seventh and eighth grades of a modern organized system of schools. The enlarged high school building will permit the broadening and expanding of the vocational courses on a truly modern basis.

Release Many Rooms.

The adequate housing of high school pupils, the expanding and broadening of the high school program of study and work, and the offering of opportunities for training in vocational courses to the seventh and eighth grade boys and girls are by no means the only advantages that will accrue from the enlarged high school building. Another advantage which is, indeed, a most important one is involved in the fact that the organization of the seventh and eighth grade pupils in the enlarged high school building will release 12 rooms in the elementary grade schools. These rooms will go a long way in caring for the coming increases in school population are equivalent to an elementary grade building of the size and capacity of the Washington school. The cost of erecting such a building at this time would be approximately $75,000. This reveals the imperative need of completing the addition to the high school building in order to meet the issues of enrollment involved in the coming period of city growth and expansion.

In March 1919, the board of education after a study of building needs and plans issued a call for a bond election to be held April 14, 1919. Bonds were voted in the sum of $150,000. This amount was all that could be raised on the property valuations of the district at that time.

Out of this issue of $150,000, the following approximate expenditures have been made. These expenditures have no application to the construction of the intermediate school, school by the construction of four additional rooms, $18,500.

2. Purchasing seven lots between Fifth avenue north and Sixth avenue north and facing Second north for a future building site, $11,000.

3. Making repairs and replacements in the heating and ventilating system of the present high school building, $5,500.

Total amount, $35,000.

Leave $115,000 for Building.

These expenditures left approximately $115,000 of the issue available for the construction of the high school addition. The board decided then to proceed with plans to construct only a part of the originally proposed addition. That part of the addition fronting on Sixth avenue north was to be omitted. It was decided likewise to omit a proposed cafeteria room, swimming pool, and the auto mechanics room of the actual training department. However, before the final draft of blue prints was submitted by the architect, it was decided to call for bids on the completed addition as formerly planned. The swimming pool was included at the request of several citizens who interviewed the members of the board. The cafeteria and the manual training rooms were, however, left out. In the call for bids the contract for the entire addition including the swimming pool was let for approximately $175,000. The board decided to issue a call later for an election to vote bonds in a sum necessary to complete the proposed addition.

At the regular meeting of the board of schools again urged the board to consider the matter of including in the general construction plans the cafeteria room and the manual training room formerly included. It was shown that the elimination of these rooms would seriously hamper the organization of twenty hundred or more students of both the intermediate school and the high school.

At the regular meeting of the board on Monday evening, January 12, the board issued a call for an election on January 30, 1920, when the matter of a bond issue of $100,000 will be placed before the people of the district. This issue is about all that can be raised on the present property valuations. It will be used to complete and equip

YOUTHS CHARGED WITH ROBBERIES

Four Lads Accused of Having Taken Merchandise From Small Grocery Establishment.

Probate Judge Duvall yesterday bound four youths over to the district court on a charge of robbery. The young men are alleged to have broken into a small store on Blue Lakes Boulevard Thursday night securing a quantity of cigarettes, chewing gum and groceries. Part of the stolen goods were recovered. Deputies of the sheriff's office made the arrest yesterday morning and secured Ireland Plowry, 19; S. J. Mullerton, 20; John T. Flynn, 20, and Huron Hanson, 17.

The sheriff's office is of the belief that the arrests made yesterday will stop the robberies which have been occurring frequently of late in this city. Almost every night some store or building in town has been entered although in most cases only articles of small value were taken.

The New Figure

as designed by the arbiters of fashion is very shapely in contour, with a decided curve at the waist. Though the outer garments appear straight, the frocks really fit at the waist line.

The modeling of your figure into the new lines which after all are nature's lines enhanced will depend entirely upon the shaping of your corset; therefore it must be selected carefully.

We have many excellent corsets, but we call your particular attention in this announcement to Warner's Rust Proof, a corset designed and adapted to a figure of the average size, as here shown.

There are so many good things about Warner's corsets that we might talk on indefinitely, but we will name just two—the shape and the warranty. It is accurately designed and guaranteed not to rise, break or tear.

THE NEW TYPE CHURCH.

A good deal of stir was occasioned in religious circles about twenty years ago by the idea of what was then called the "Institutional Church." This meant the church with clubs and game rooms for the young folks and perchance a gymnasium. The idea was to give the people recreation and social uplift with church associations.

It came at a time when Puritan doctrine of pleasure were losing their hold as laws, and in many churches the young people were forced to choose between church membership and innocent fun.

A new development of this was seen in New York a year ago when a church was formally opened to all sorts of meetings, social and political as well as religious and educational. This church dropped its denominational title and became, in fact, merely a great social and democratic institution with sound moral aims.

A church in Cleveland is now preparing to follow this example with a slight difference. The original Presbyterian congregation will be the nucleus and religious services will be held on Sunday and Wednesday as usual. Otherwise, the plan is for a sort of "Social Unit" organization much like that in Cincinnati.

The development has so many splendid features, so much promise for the future of the church in the way of substituting cooperation for nagging disputes about non-essentials that one dislikes to add any criticism to the general approval.

But, in this social scheme, what becomes of the need of the human heart for the things which are purely those of the spirit? Would it be amiss to suggest that where half a dozen churches are now "competing" with each other in religious and institutional activities, five of them should join in one such great and splendid institution, and the other one remain, supported by all of them, "just a church"? That is, a room of beauty and of quiet, where one hears the Scriptures at appointed times, and which is open always for the single soul to enter, rest, and pray?

The social institutions into which these churches are merging are needed. But the need for centers of solitude, reflection and religious feeling is no less.

THE SOCIALIST LEGISLATORS

The exclusion of five socialist members from the New York legislature is a very different matter from the exclusion of Victor Berger from the United States congress. Berger was barred from congress as a convicted criminal, whose offense was particularly abhorrent because of the time and circumstances. He had been condemned for violating the espionage act in war time, and that verdict had been substantiated by congressional inquiry. The New York assemblymen appear to have been relieved that for any overt offense, but to indirectly belonging to the socialist party.

It has yet to be proved that membership in any political party in this country, even the socialist party, is a crime, or a disqualification for office. Many socialists have held office as such, in congress and in various state legislatures and city councils, and their right to do so has never been questioned. The party itself has a legal status, as is attested by the very fact of its being permitted to submit platforms and candidates in regular elections, the same as any other party.

This action of the New York legislature smacks of hysteria. The socialist party, as at present constituted, is objectionable enough, in all conscience, but it is not outlawed. How, then, can its representatives be ejected from a legislative body to which they are duly elected, unless they personally have been outlawed?

It is not the man, not the party, that is at issue. In such cases as this, the men concerned must be dealt with on their own personal records, regardless of party, unless representative government is to be abolished and constitutional rights denied.

Public men and editors all over the country have hastened to denounce such action as not only wrong but, coming at this time, exceedingly dangerous. It surely invites lawlessness and tends to foment the worst type of socialism—that which goes beyond the party declarations, and seeks to gain its ends by violence.

The men in question so far have been merely suspended, awaiting final action. Unless a better reason for expulsion exists than any yet offered, the New York legislature will do well to reconsider its action. Otherwise it is merely playing into the hands of the violent Reds.

KNIGHTHOOD.

If you happen to be a small girl or a small boy in one of the cities which has an active Anti-Tuberculosis league and you will, for five long and weary weeks diligently and faithfully

Take a bath once a week.

Brush your teeth regularly, at least twice a day;

Wash your hands before eating;

Open the windows in your bedroom;

Sleep ten hours out of every twenty-four;

you will be given the rank of squire.

If you can hold out for eight weeks, you become a knight and may wear a silver pin. If you can manage to exist without breaking the rules two weeks longer, you become a knight-baronet and may wear a gold pin to show the height of your nobility.

These rules are the recommendations of the National Tuberculosis association, and if they are followed by all children, another generation will see the white plague practically abolished in America.

Ten weeks is a long time, in childhood. What happens to the boy or girl after the ten weeks is over? Why, by that time, it is hoped, the habit is established, the desirability of cleanliness and fresh air and sleep is impressed upon the small mind, and never again will be the "knight-baronet" revert to his original careless ways.

UTILITY COMMISSIONERS PLAN USE OF NATURAL GAS

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—Plans for an intensive educational campaign in the use of natural gas by industries and domestic consumers, as a means of curtailing waste, were formulated at a conference here today of public utility commissioners, geologists, operators of gas properties and gas appliance manufacturers. Co-operation of natural gas operators in curtailing waste in the fields, estimated at 50 per cent of the gas used, and of appliance manufacturers in producing and marketing the greater use of improved gas burning appliances, to check the enormous waste in homes, was pledged by those attending the conference.

The conference appointed a committee of ten representing all interests involved, to co-operate with the interior department in carrying on the educational campaign through state and local agencies.

DESCHAPEL AND OLD TIGER ONCE IN DUEL

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 12.—The fight between M. Clemenceau and M. Deschanel for the presidency recalls that they already have met on another field—that of honor—26 years ago. Then, M. Clemenceau was neither a deputy nor a senator, he wrote an article in his newspaper, La Justice, criticizing M. Deschanel for an interpellation made against the Brisson ministry on the law against anarchists.

M. Deschanel, offended by the terms of the article, sent his seconds to M. Clemenceau, who was noted as a duellist. The men met with swords and Deschanel received a wound over the eye which was so severe that the seconds would not permit the duel to continue.

REDS RELEASED FROM ELLIS ISLAND ON BAIL

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—Forty-two men and eight women arrested in recent raids on extremists were released from Ellis island on bail today, making a total of 50 freed since Federal Judge Knox decided on Wednesday that immediate bail must be given whether or not the radicals had answered questions of immigration inspectors as to belief in the use of violence to overthrow the government.

The Liberty bonds deposited at the island totalled $48,000, representing $10,000 bail in the case of Gregory Weinstein, "chief of staff" for Soviet Ambassador Martens, and $1,000 each in the other cases. So much of the time of officials at the island was taken up today by approval of bonds and signing of bail documents that little progress was made in the examination of nearly 500 others held in deportation proceedings.

Sophomores: Helen Honnald, Violet Holderman.
Freshmen: Anna Stafford, Alice Dehn.

This committee held its first meeting at 2:30 Monday p. m. A party was planned for the first regular meeting of the whole group of girls wishing to belong, and is to be held in the high school auditorium, on Wednesday night, January 21, at 7:30. It is to be an lively and interesting party as possible, and the attendance of every high school girl is most earnestly desired. The girls attending will be charter members of the Girls' club.

The provisional committee nominated various people for the four officers of the club and the delegates to take place at the meeting on Wednesday night.

The nominations are: President, Iris Guthrie, Loyce Lue, Marian Farrar, Priscilla Munson and Marie Loece. Vice president: Georgia McMaster, Hazel Smith, Lois Maylor, Maurine Miller and Zuma Shoenberger. Secretary: Irene Hall, Dorothy Irwin, Irene Warner, Hazel Hartford and Marjorie Baker. Treasurer: Louise McMartin, Dorothy Kenworthy, Alma Baker, Constance White and Ida Laird.

To make this organization more stable and of more importance in the community, Miss Holgate made a special effort to see and talk with women outside of the school, and gained the interest and approval of a number of women who promised to stand back of the girls and their efforts. Some of these women will be selected by the girls to act as an advisory council.

Both Charles and Willard Kaufman are graduates of the University of Illinois where they were popular fraternity men.

SIMS ATTACKS NAVY RECORD DURING WAR

delay, but without producing the desired result."

The navy department was repeatedly told, the letter said, that it was a matter of simple arithmetical calculation to determine that the allies must lose the war if the rate of ship loss continued.

Failed to Aid Allies.

"For some reason, which has never been explained," Admiral Sims wrote, "the navy department during at least the first six months of the war, failed to put in actual practice a wholehearted policy of cooperation with the allies—a policy required for winning the war with the least possible delay."

The letter charged that not until July 1917 did the navy department take a policy of naval cooperation with the allies.

"As usual in such cases," it continued, "the policy was academically sound, but that it was not carried out or was not understood by the department, is shown by the fact that for ten months after its receipt it was simply recommending an increase of force—and trying to convince the department that the war was in the east Atlantic, that the United States naval front was off the European coast and not off the United States coast."

Sims Embarrassed.

Admiral Sims' letter declared that he was much embarrassed in his relations with other allied commanders by reason of the fact that although, after an allied naval conference, it was recommended on July 21, 1917, that four coal burning American battleships be sent to guard the English channel against German cruiser raids, these were long delayed before the request was even acknowledged, and finally was refused. In the following November, the letter said, the chief of naval operations arrived in Europe with Colonel House's mission and immediately thereafter called for instructions to send the battleships. Two to six months could have been saved, Admiral Sims declared, if he could have appeared in person daily in Washington, as little attention was paid to his cable recommendations. The recommendations of the navy department's representative based upon conferences with the allied commanders, should have been accepted and immediately acted upon, the letter said, and characterized the navy department's policy in this respect as a violation of the fundamental principles of warfare which continued throughout the war.

Asks for Recommendations.

Secretary Daniels made public today without comment, a general order issued December 23, calling upon all persons in the naval service to give suggestions and recommendations for improving the methods used by the navy in the prosecution of operations and in the supply of men and materials.

There are 9 specific points on which recommendations were asked to be submitted to the secretary before April 1, of this year, and number 8 follows:

"Cooperation of the navy department with the allies, in connection both with the operation of the naval forces and with material matters."

Admiral Sims' letter was dated January 7, after the issuance of this order.

PAN-AMERICANS PUT PEP INTO MEETINGS

Discussions Substituted for Ponderous Speeches At Big Financial Gathering.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Live discussion among delegates rather than ponderous addresses was characteristic of the second Pan-American financial conference. This decision was made at an organization meeting held today and was regarded by the high officials of the Pan-American government as present as a big step toward putting ginger into the deliberations. Its object, it was said, was to get rid of the chain of ideas which leads to solution of problems, instead of purely academic presentation of views by designated speakers.

The meeting held at the close of a luncheon tendered the guests in the Pan-American Union building after they had been presided by Secretary Lansing, was itself more like a gathering of corporation directors than a formal diplomatic affair. A spirit of personal goodwill and international cooperation was evident, of which notice was taken by Secretary Glass, the luncheon host.

"I am sure," he said, welcoming the visitors from 21 republics, "that your deliberations will not only strengthen the ties of sentiment, but the bonds of material interest between the republics."

After Mr. Glass was called away by official business, Dr. Luis Toledo Pizarro, minister of foreign affairs of Guatemala, presided.

Secretary Glass was elected unanimously president of the conference. Dr. Fernando C. Fuenfria, minister of finance, Peru, issued a statement after lunch, expressing the opinion that the question of transportation was the most important problem before the conference. This applied, he said, to internal railway development as well as to the establishment of regular and adequate shipping lines, because ships now dry sometimes kept waiting at ports for weeks to receive cargoes. Citing what his country was doing to develop transportation, Dr. Fuenfria said Peru had set aside the tax on tobacco, a government monopoly amounting to 4,000,000 dollars a year, to build a railway which will connect the Peruvian section of the great Pan-American railroad.

The selection of Dr. L. S. Rowe, head of the state department Latin American division, to be secretary general of the conference was affirmed.

Fourteen Years of Fair Dealing Have Built This Business

Fourteen years ago the Salladay Hardware Company opened its doors in Twin Falls. At that time the city was but a hope, the community but an experiment.

Fourteen years of fair dealing; fourteen years of honest merchandising; fourteen years of growth we have had.

And now, on the fourteenth anniversary, the old firm has dissolved, Mr. F. W. Wilkison retiring, and L. E. Salladay taking entire ownership and control of the business, which has been builded under the Salladay name and guarantee.

Looking ahead, we see with confidence the future growth of the community just as in our vision fourteen years ago we saw the hope which has now been materialized. And by the same fair methods of merchandising we hope to build further in the public confidence and to merit further our share of the public patronage.

Grain

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—Notwithstanding that announcement of resumption of trade with Russia aroused much more interest on the exchange today than any other subject, the event had little if any effect on prices. Fluctuations were of an ordinary weak-and-sort, with the close in the corn market firm, 3/4c to 1/2c not higher. May $1.32 1/2 to $1.33 and July $1.31 1/2 to $1.32 1/2. Oats finished unchanged to 1/4c up and provisions varying from 55c decline to a rise of 2 cents.

At first, small orders to sell kept coming into the corn crowd with non-persistence and there was a disposition in various quarters to ascribe them to the Russian news. This theory, however, had no good evidence to back it up and was not borne out by the later course of the market. The early weakness was more generally associated with a continuation of recent bearish sentiment and with fresh breaks in the value of hogs. As usual on Saturday, a rally which took place in the last hour appeared to be due chiefly to routine adjustment of open trades.

Oats were ruled by the changes in corn. Business was almost entirely local.

Provisions sympathized with hog market depression. Besides, cash demand was slow, and warehouse stocks increasing.

START PLANS FOR DEMOCRAT MEETING

Cummings Says Party Will Conduct Campaign Without Regard to Group Interests.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The democratic party will conduct its presidential campaign without regard to group interests, Homer S. Cummings, chairman of the democratic national committee, declared today. Mr. Cummings, here to attend a meeting of the committee on arrangements for the San Francisco convention, so stated when asked whether the party intended to undertake any propaganda to overcome the reported decision of certain Irish and other elements opposed to ratification of the peace treaty in its present form.

"We are going to consider the treaty and other issues as Americans," he asserted, "I am unalterably opposed to considering this question in any other way. Personally, I believe racial objections to the peace treaty are more noise than anything else. Those who are shouting the loudest haven't been strong for us anyway."

Mr. Cummings pointed to the fact that the national committee had endorsed the peace treaty as submitted by the president and was standing pat on that issue. Those who believed that the treaty was inimical to the political aspirations of the Irish people were wrong, he said. The treaty and the league of nations, he declared, would be a real benefit to all the small nations.

Chairman Cummings announced that so many misstatements had been made as to the democratic campaign for funds that he would issue a formal statement soon, reply to them.

"I feel that the chairman of the national committee should not enter into a personal controversy," he said, "but the criticism against us has become almost libelous and I feel compelled to issue a formal reply and make our position clear."

The only business transacted by the committee on arrangements was appointment of six sub-committees to handle various phases of the convention plans. No other meeting of the full committee is expected until about June 1 when both the national committee and the arrangements committee will assemble in San Francisco to make the final convention plans. The temporary chairman probably will be named then.

Women were represented on the committee of arrangements today for the first time in the party's history, according to party leaders, in the persons of Mrs. George Bush of Chicago, chairman of the women's bureau of the national committee, and Miss Mary E. Foy of Los Angeles.

The committee agreed to provide hotel rooms free of charge to members of the national committee and associate members while at the convention, but they will be required to pay for their meals and railroad transportation, as in the past. Following is the list of sub-committees, the first-named being chairman in each case:

NINE MOURN PASSING OF BOOZE; LAND IN JAIL

The passing of John Barleycorn is still being mourned by his many followers, and last night, nine residents of Twin Falls, overcome by their grief and the effects of a "near relative" of the late lamented, were arrested by Officers Ham and Austin of the local police force.

The mourners, not content with grieving in silence, insisted upon a more noisy demonstration, with the result that the cold bars of the county jail will greet them this morning. Officer Hag said last night after the late lamented, were arrested by Officers Ham and Austin of the local police force.

ANDERSON WINS SUIT WITH TWIN FALLS AUTO COMPANY

H. O. Anderson, defendant in an action brought against him in the probate court by the Twin Falls Automobile company, was given a verdict by Probate Judge Duvall Friday. The auto company sued to recover $22.50 which it is alleged were due on a note. The defendant introduced evidence disclosing that he had given a check to the plaintiffs which the defendants claimed covered on account the note. The plaintiff moved the check was just to cover the account Judge Duvall held with the defendant's contention.

HOLDS FOR DEFENDANT.

Judge Duvall yesterday held for the defendant in the case of Marshall Wells company against E. E. Patrick, in which the plaintiff sued on an account alleged due. The defendant introduced receipts showing that he had paid the alleged account.

DEATH WINS RACE WITH AIRPLANE

Aviator Carrying Vital Serum Forced to Land—Pinned From Washington, May Save Girl.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Death won a double victory in a grim race with an express train and a government mail airplane today when two or more members of the Paul Delbano family, poisoned from eating poison, died in Fordham hospital, owing to the late arrival of the special serum physicians, however, hope to save the life of the only surviving member of the family of seven, a 10-year-old girl, with serum received from Washington.

Another package of serum, which was being rushed eastward from Chicago by mail airplane, failed to arrive, the machine having been disabled and forced to land at Black Oak, Ind. The fluid was reported to have been transferred to a mail train and is expected to arrive early tomorrow, and it not been for delays caused by storms it is believed that the serum brought by train from Washington would have arrived in time to save the life of Angelo Delbano, who died last night before the fluid could be administered.

His brother, Dominick, who also died, received one injection and rallied slightly. His illness, however, was too far advanced and he lived but two hours after being treated.

An injection was made in the arm of Conchetta Delbano, 10 years old, a daughter of Paul Delbano, who is also critically ill, having eaten one of the poisoned olives. She has a chance for recovery, physicians said.

The serum, which arrived tonight, was obtained in Washington, where it was being used for experiments by the United States bureau of animal industry.

The members of the family who have already died from the olive poisoning are Paul Delbano, his wife, their two sons, Antonio and Dominick, and two brothers of Paul Delbano, Angelo and Dominick.

Health Commissioner Copeland announced tonight that he had traced the poisoned olives to the East Side store. The olives originally came from California, he said. There were 48 cases in the shipment but it was learned that part of them had been consumed without harmful results.

Under the terms of the agreement Mr. Wilkison takes the Idaho theater building, while Mr. Salladay will retain all other holdings, including a 50-foot lot and building on Main street adjoining the Rogerson hotel. The Salladay Hardware company first established headquarters near the old land office on Main street. Later the establishment was moved to the First National bank building, where it remained until that structure was remodeled three years ago when the business was moved to its present location.

CHARGED WITH BURGLARY.

Deputies of the sheriff's office arrested two young men yesterday for stealing a battery from the rear of Miss Rogers' car, and an arraignment before Judge Duvall Monday.

PLANS ON USE OF PLANE TO VISIT PROPERTIES

NOGALES, Ariz., Jan. 17.—J. Fred Williams, a mining operator of Sonora, has petitioned the Mexican government to allow him to use an airplane in going from Torres station, on the line of the South Pacific of Mexico, to Sahuaripa, where he has mining properties. Yaqui Indians are operating over the region which mining men must cross to get to their holdings, and it has been suggested that airplanes could be used as a means of escaping the danger of being molested by the redskins.

How to Guarantee Spring Delivery of Hudson and Essex Open Models

No Large Money Outlay Required. Make Your Choice Now. We Will Store It For You and Insure You Against Disappointment

In the light of the year just closed, it is not conjecture to assert that a shortage of Hudson and Essex cars is sure to recur this Spring.

More than 22,000 Essex cars were sold in the past twelve months. The factory capacity was increased time after time. Beginning with a daily production of 30 cars, it reached 125 cars daily.

Yet we were never able to overtake advance orders.

A similar condition was true with respect to Hudson.

You remember how scores waited in vain for delivery. Perhaps you were among those disappointed.

Practically our entire quota of both Hudson and Essex cars were sold weeks ahead. Few were able to get delivery who had not placed their orders ahead.

Settle the Delivery Worry Now.

This year we have arranged a special plan to guarantee you delivery, during the acute spring rush of orders.

It will require no large outlay of money. You can place your order now. We will have your car ready for you on the day you want it.

Thus you dispose of all concern about getting your Hudson or Essex when you want it. It will be a source of satisfaction to know you are insured against having to accept some less wanted car, when the season for open types crowds the market with more buyers than we can supply.

If your preference is for a light car what choice equals the Essex?

It represents a new, unexpected value. It brings to the light car field such quality and fine performance as was hitherto found only among large costly cars.

Note the Quality of the Essex

If speed is your requirement see if the Essex does not meet it. Where luxury and finish are demanded compare the Essex with any car.

It is needless to speak of the Hudson. All know what it has done. Its records, which prove supremacy throughout the range of performance, are confirmed by the satisfaction that more than 80,000 owners know in their Super-Sixes.

The supply of Hudsons and of Essex has never been sufficient for the demand.

You can only insure yourself against disappointment in getting either of these popular cars, by placing your order under the convenient plan we have set forth above.

Theodore Roosevelt's Letters to His Children

Edited by Joseph Bucklin Bishop

COPYRIGHT, 1919 BY CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS.

(Eighth Installment.)

Vice-Mother of the Children.

Nov. 15, 1903.
White House,

Dear Kermit:

Didn't I tell you about Hector, Brier and Sailor Boy (dogs) when I saw them on election day? They were in excellent health, lying around the door of Seaman's house, which they had evidently adopted as their own. Sailor Boy and Brier were exceedingly affectionate; Hector kindly, but uninterested.

Mother has gone off for nine days, and as usual I am acting as vice-mother. Archie and Quentin are really too cunning for anything. Each night I spend about three-quarters of an hour reading to them. I first of all read some book like Algonquin Indian Tales, or the poetry of Scott or Macaulay. Once I read them Jim Bludsoe, which perfectly enthralled them and made Quentin ask me at least a hundred questions, including one as to whether the colored boy did not find sitting on the safety valve hot. I have also been reading to them each evening from the Bible. It has been the story of Saul, David and Jonathan. They have been so interested that several times I have had to read them more than one chapter. Quentin usually jiggles up and down while he repeats it. Each finally got one hymn perfect, whereupon in accordance with previous instructions from Mother I presented each of them with a five-cent piece. Yesterday (Saturday) I took both of them and Ethel, together with the three elder Garfield boys, for a long scramble down Rock Creek. We really had great fun.

Quentin's Sixth Birthday.

White House,
Nov. 19, 1903.

Dear Kermit:

I was much pleased at your being chosen captain of the Seventh. I had not expected it. I rather suspect that you will be behind in your studies this month. If so, try to make up next month, and keep above the middle of the class if you can. I am interested in what you tell me about the Galahads, and I shall want to talk to you about them when you come on.

Mother is back with Aunt Emily, who looks very well. It is so nice to have her. As for mother, she makes the house feel like a home again, instead of like a temporary dwelling.

Leo is as cunning as ever. Pinckney went to see Allan yesterday and said he found him "as busy as a bee in a tar barrel," and evidently owning all the trainer's house. He is not yet quite fit to come back here.

Today is Quentin's birthday. He has a cold so he has got the birthday cake, with the six candles, and his birthday ice cream, in the nursery, with Ethel, Archie, mother, Aunt Emily, myself, Mame and Georgette as admiring guests and onlookers.

A President's Poor Protection.

White House,
Nov. 28, 1903.

Dear Kermit:

It was very sad at Uncle Gracie's funeral; and yet lovely, too in a way for not only all his old friends had turned out, but all of the people connected with the institutions for which he had worked during so many years also came. There were a good many of the older boys and employees from the Newsboys' Lodging House and the Orthopaedic Dispensary, etc. Uncle Jimmy possessed a singularly loving and affectionate nature, and I never knew any one who in doing good was more careful to do unostentatiously. I had no idea how much he had done. Mother with her usual thoughtfulness had kept him steadily in mind while I have been governor and president; and I now find he appreciated her very much, her constant remembrances in having him on to visit us on different occasions. It was a lesson to me, for I should probably never have thought of it myself; and, of course, when one does not do what one ought to, the excuse that one erred from thoughtlessness instead of wrong purpose is of small avail.

The police arrangements at the church were exasperating to a degree. There were fully five hundred policemen in the streets round about, just as if there was danger of an attack by a ferocious mob; and yet though they had throngs of policemen inside, too, an elderly harmless crank got inside about during the German emperor's funeral. Inasmuch what we needed was not protection against a mob, but a sharp lookout for cranks, the arrangement ought by rights to have been for fifty policemen outside and two or three good detectives inside. I felt like a fool with the policemen in solemn and purposeless lines around about; and then I felt half exasperated and half amused when I found that they were utterly hopeless to prevent a crank from getting inside after all.

P. S.—I enclose two original poems by Nick and Archie. They refer to a bit of unhappy advice I gave them, because of which I fell into richly merited disgrace with mother. Nick has been spending three days or so with Archie, and I suggested that they should explore the White House in the mink of midnight. They did in white sheets, and, like little jacks, barefooted. Send me back the poems.

Ted's Sprained Ankle.

White House,
Nov. 28, 1903.

Dear Ted:

If I were you I should certainly get the best ankle support possible. You do not want to find next fall that Webb beats you for end because your ankle gives out and his does not. If I were in your place, if it were necessary, I should put the ankle in plaster for the next three weeks, or for as long as the doctor thinks it needful, rather than run any risk of this. At any rate, I would consult him and wear whatever he thinks is the right thing.

I wonder if you are old enough yet to care for good history of the American Revolution. If so, I think I shall give you mine by Sir George Trevelyan; although it is by an Englishman. I really think it on the whole the best account I have read. If I give it to you you must be very careful of it, because he sent it to me himself.

P. S.—The Bond parrot for mother has turned up; it is a most meritorious parrot, very friendly and quite a remarkable talker.

In December, 1903, President Roosevelt delivered his message on the Panama canal which brought down upon him a storm of censure—and insured the successful completion of the great waterway by the United States. After 57 years of strife and inefficiency in the canal zone, "something was doing." So much for open history. At almost the same time foreign powers were threatening Venezuela. Germany was the boldest among them. President Roosevelt forced the kaiser to arbitrate his trouble with the South American republic by threatening to send the American fleet to uphold the Monroe doctrine. In other words, this country was on the verge of war. Read of a Christmas in the Roosevelt home, and sense the greatest man who could, in O. Henry's words, "turn to a child the heart of a child," no matter storms raged about him.

The Supreme Christmas Joy.

White House, Dec. 26, 1903.
(To his sister, Mrs. Douglas Robinson.)
We had a delightful Christmas yesterday—just such a Christmas thirty or forty years ago we used to have under father's and mother's supervision in 20th street and 57th street. At seven all the children came in to open the big, bulgy stockings in our bed; Kermit's terrier, Allan, a most friendly little dog adding to the children's delight by occupying the middle of the bed. From Alice to Quentin, each child was absorbed in his or her stocking, and Edith managed to get the most wonderful stocking toys. Bob was in looking on; and Aunt Emily, of course. Then, after breakfast we formed up and went into the library, where bigger toys were on separate tables for the children. I wonder if there can come in life a thrill of greater exaltation and rapture than that which comes to one between the ages of say six to fourteen, when the library door is thrown open and you walk in to see all the gifts, like a materialized fairyland, arrayed on your special table?

A Day With a Juggler.

White House, Jan. 18, 1904.

Dear Kermit:

Thursday and Friday there was a great deal of snow on the ground, and the weather was cold, so that Mother and I had two delightful rides up Rock Creek. The horses were clipped and fresh, and we were able to let them go along at a gallop, while the country was wonderfully beautiful.

Today, after lunch, Mother took Ethel, Archie and Quentin, each with a friend, to see some most wonderful juggling and sleight of hand tricks by Kellar. I went along and was a much interested as any of the children, though I had come back to my work in the office before it was half thru. At one period Ethel gave up her ring for one of the tricks. It was mixed with the rings of five other girls, and then all six rings were apparently pounded up, and put into a pistol and shot into a collection of boxes, where five of them were subsequently found, each tied around a rose. Ethel's, however, had disappeared, and he made believe that it had vanished, but at the end of the next trick a remarkable bottle, out of which many different liquids had been poured, suddenly developed a delightful white guinea pig, squirming and kicking and looking exactly like Admiral Dewey, with around its neck Ethel's ring, tied by a pink ribbon. Then it was wrapped up in a paper, handed to Ethel; and when Ethel opened it, behold, there was no guinea pig, but a bunch of roses with a ring.

Root and Taft.

White House, Feb. 6, 1904.

Dear Ted:

I was glad to hear that you were to be confirmed.

Secretary Root left on Monday and Gov. Taft took his place. I have missed and shall miss Root dreadfully. He has been the baldest, most generous and most disinterested friend and adviser that any president could hope to have; and immediately after leaving he rendered me a great service by a speech at the Union League Club, in which he said in most effective fashion the very things I should have liked him to say; and his words, moreover, carried weight as the words of no other man at this time addressing such an audience could have done. Taft is a splendid fellow will be an aid and comfort in every way. But, as mother says, he is too much like me to be able to give me as good advice as Mr. Root was able to do because of the very differences of character between us.

If after fully thinking the matter over you remain firmly convinced that you want to go into the army, well and good. I shall rather beg sorry for your decision, because I have great confidence in you and I believe that in civil life you could probably win in the end a greater prize than will be open to you if you go into the army—though, of course a man can do well in the army. I know perfectly well that you will have hard times in civil life. Probably most young fellows when they have graduated from college, or from their post-graduate course, if they take any, feel pretty dismal for the first few years. In ordinary cases it at first seems as if their efforts were not leading anywhere, as if the pressure around the foot of the ladder was too great to permit of getting up to the top. But I have faith in your energy, your perseverance, your ability, and your power to force yourself to the front when you have once found out and taken your line. However, you and I and mother will take the whole matter over when you come back here on Easter.

White House, April 9, 1904.

Dear Ted:

I am very glad I have been doing this Japanese wrestling, but when I am through with it this time I am not at all sure I shall ever try it again while I am so busy with other work as I am now. Often by the time I get to 5 o'clock in the afternoon I will begin feeling like a stewed owl, after an eight hours' grapple with senators, congressmen, etc., then I find the wrestling a trifle too vehement for mere rest. My right ankle and my left wrist and one thumb and both toes are swollen sufficient to more or less impair their usefulness, and I am well mottled with bruises elsewhere. Still I have made good progress, and since you left they have taught me three new throws that are perfect corks.

OFFERS ADVICE ON WINTER DRIVING

Butick Sales Director Ascribes Observance of Road Rules Will Simplify Trying Conditions.

"The practice of most Buick owners is to drive all the year round and for this reason Buick cars have been equipped with every cold-weather or convenience necessary to perfect driving comfort. But there are some misconceptions as to which not all drivers are familiar, but the observance of which will often simplify driving even under the most trying conditions," says E. B. Wilson, director of sales of the Buick Motor Car Company.

"When driving in snow and sleet, and even in heavy rain, it is of course necessary to have the side curtains closed, for comfort. In this case, vision through the windshield is often seriously obstructed by snow or rain on the glass. There are some patent windshield cleaners on the market that assist greatly in overcoming this condition, but if your car does not happen to be equipped with one of them, you can get around the difficulty by adjusting the windshield.
Leave the lower half entirely closed and adjust the upper half so that it slants out enough to give you a clear vision between the upper and lower glass—on an inch or two will suffice.

"When the streets are slippery, the safest practice is to use the three chains, particularly on the rear wheels.
But should you use driving without them, be careful how you handle the brakes. Never apply the brakes suddenly under these conditions. The best method is to keep your foot off the clutch pedal, leaving the clutch in engagement, and then when you wish to apply the brakes, take your foot off the throttle, close the hand throttle entirely and apply the brake gradually. This causes the motor to help you slow down and keeps the pressure perfectly equalized on both rear wheels. Do not apply the power suddenly on slippery streets. Open the throttle gradually.

"If you happen to drive down hill,
you can use the motor as a brake
by shifting into second or first speed on steeper grades than close the throttle. You will naturally find use for the brake if you follow this method.
"When the road is slippery, summer or winter, always drive at such speed that you stop with reasonable quickness without the danger of skidding. You have always got a figure on "the other fellow" and you never suddenly turning into a main thoroughfare from the side street, or a careless pedestrian who steps into your path from behind a car or other object beside the curb, will make it necessary for you to act quickly to prevent accident; and you can do this if you have your car perfectly under control.

"It is more important to be able to stop your car than to start it, and the careful driver will be guided by this rule.

"We solicit all Buick owners to observe the traffic rules to the letter.
They are founded on good common sense in most cases, as are the rules governing "courtesy of the road."
Know the streets and roads in your locality that have the "right of way"

DESMCHAMPS CLAIMS HE HAS RECEIVED NO DEFINITE OFFERS

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—M. Deschamps, manager for Georges Arpent, today said he had received nothing definite with regard to an offer for a fight between Carpenter and Jack Dempsey.
He added that so long as he was bound under contract to C. B. Cochran, the English promoter, he could give no reply to the propositions he had received. Among those he mentioned were those of the Rickard for $200,000 for Carpenter.
"I am under the impression," said Deschamps, "that the match will be fought in America for the sole reason that I do not believe Dempsey will agree to fight in our country." Carpentier would prefer to fight in France, for a much smaller purse not only on account of the climate, but through friendship for the organizers and because of the benefit that would accrue to France. Carpenter would be willing to sacrifice half of his pursue to bring ten or fifteen million francs to France.

FOX BAINES ANTE IN BIDS FOR CHAMPIONSHIP FIGHT

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—Jack

today announced receipt of a new bid from William Fox of New York for a Dempsey-Carpenter fight. Fox of-

"RAINBOW" SUGAR WHOLESOME PRODUCT

"Rainbow" sugar is harmless and not inferior to other brands, and the practice of the refiners does not violate the law so long as no receipt at concomitance is attempted, according to a report of the department of agriculture. The colored product, used ordinarily in confections only, has been on the retail market as a result of the sugar shortage.

BUYS SAFE FOR SUGAR

At least the inevitable has happened. Sugar has become so valuable that thieves would rather have it than diamonds, and Dickerson Iron, Pa., is resorting to drastic means to retain it.

When J. F. Black opened his general store he discovered that his last five pounds of the precious saccharine was missing. Four worth $200 was also taken, but Mr. Black is not worrying so much about that. He strategically hid himself to the hardware store, where he purchased a safe. He says he is expecting a small consignment of sugar and wants to make sure when he opens up it will still be where he put it.

NEWTON WILL TRY CASE OF SOCIALISTS ALONE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Attorney General Charles Newton indicated tonight that he may try without the aid of outside counsel the case of the five suspended socialist assemblymen. After prolonged conferences today with Speaker Sweet, Deputy Attorney General Samuel A. Berger and State Senator Lusk, the attorney general announced tonight that no decision had been reached in regard to employing special counsel. He denied emphatically reports that Ellis or William D.
Guthrie had been approached.
At a meeting of the Cleveland democracy here tonight a resolution was unanimously adopted protesting against the suspension of the socialists as an "infringement upon the liberties of all the people."

Uncle Sam's Marlous Town

By Robert H. Moulton

IN WASHINGTON the United States government is trying an interesting sociological and domestic experiment which includes among other things the question whether or not 1,800 women can live together in perfect harmony. So far the answer is in the affirmative, although in the beginning there was just a little doubt as to the complete success of the experiment. However, as this year in the future was due to the fact that a more man was made general manager of the plan, and as this same individual has since been thrown out, big and big, there now seems small danger that things will not work out just as they were intended to.

The subject of Uncle Sam's unique experiment is his war workers, and the plan is the somewhat isolated solution of housing them, a problem which has not of late been so much eliminated by any means. For warwork is not yet done, and war workers in Washington are still too numerous for adequate handling by Washington's private housing facilities. As a matter of fact, war workers come and then as in the days of the war, and each week the statistics show an increase. For every 1,000 war workers that leave, 1,200 seem to come to take their place and to further augment the government payroll.

This is said to be the first time an attempt has been made to house so many women together in a dormitory system. Men have lived in barracks since time immemorial, but it has always been admitted that men are simple things to handle and that the female of the species is more deadly than the male. At any rate Uncle Sam, having conquered insurmountable problems during the war, has had the courage to set himself up as housekeeper for 1,800 young and unattached women.

He is even more than housekeeper, for he has assumed the additional duties of chaperon, and the fact that he allows the young women to have company in the parlor until 7 p. m. would seem to indicate that he is a very lenient one. As a matter of fact, he even allows his wards to return until that time or less, which is not without explanation or excuse. But that is the dead line, and if Margaret of the Army, or Alice of the Navy expects to be out later than 11 o'clock she must give a reason for her absence. If this reason is accepted her name is put on the night list and given to the watchman on duty, to whom she reports when she returns.

Uncle Sam's girl war workers receive from $1,200 to $1,400 a year. Of course that sounds like a lot of money for a girl in the home town, but when the girls arrived in Washington they discovered the highest war prices in the country prevailing in the capital, and found that it took every penny they made merely to exist. Real comfort and convenience was out of the question in the private rooming houses. Four girls in one room paying $15 a month each, or $60 for the lot, was not unusual. Of course, under such circumstances they had to wait their turn for most everything: to get into the bathroom, comb their hair, unhook their clothes from the single clothes hook, and so on.

For their meals they just "ate around." They waited on the corner and saw car after car go by filled for the last inch. When they finally succeeded in getting a precarious foothold on a car step, they rode for thirty minutes jammed into a solid mass of humanity. Then they sought a breakfast place downtown. If they went to an order restaurant and succeeded in getting a table, the waitress or waitresses were so rushed that often it was another thirty minutes before the girls could be served. If they went to a cafeteria they waited in a line for a chance to serve themselves. Exhausted and disgruntled, they would arrive at their desks at near 9 o'clock as late and the facilities of the city of Washington permitted. At lunch it was the same old wait, and at dinner, after a day of pounding typewriter keys, or working over columns of statistics, or filing letters, or filling out cards, they stood in line again to wait their turn. And when at last they reached their rooms, crawled into their cot beds, and found themselves sinking into forgetful slumber, they were almost sure to be awakened by the return from the movies or some other entertainment of one or more of their partners in misery.

Something had to be done. So a housing committee was appointed, and when Uncle Sam announced that he had the courage to undertake the construction of a real dormitory system to be inhabited wholly by women it was agreed that the experiment was an epoch-making one.

President Wilson himself paused in the midst of his war-making to tour Washington and personally select the site upon which this "marlous town" was to rise. He looked all over the available open spaces in and about the park system of the capital, and after due deliberation decided to place the dormitories for the war workers on the plaza which connects the Capitol and the Union station. And there they stand today, two groups of buildings containing twelve dormitories in each group. In the center of each group is an administration building where the general manager has his office. Here all business is conducted, here is the registration desk and the general post office.

The buildings are long, low, dark gray stucco, three stories high. They are in groups of three, forming the central building of each group has a recessed entrance porch flanked by five arches, and flanked by tall, round windows, with a small veranda on top. These central buildings contain reception rooms and writing rooms for the use of the girls. These rooms are spacious and airy, and in entering one is impressed with the general atmosphere of refinement and comfort that prevails. The furniture is wicker and mahogany. A photograph of the government and the girls supply the room. Some of the dormitories have pianos. These were purchased by the girls themselves, a collection bag being taken up among them to raise the money.

There are two dining rooms, one in each group of dormitories, located in the administration buildings. The dining halls are large and attractive, having something of the air of a summer resort, with a seating capacity of 600. There are 100 tables in each room, with six seats at every table. The girls are served by waitresses, and sufficient number has been provided to offer that every waitress shall have only two tables to wait upon.

The bedrooms are comfortable and sanitary in every respect. Each of the single rooms is furnished with a writing table, cedar chest, which is under the bed; closet with separate compartments above for hats, caps, and laundry with hot and cold running water. A few of the rooms are double in case two girls wish to live together. These are provided with two beds, two dressers, two closets, two cedar chests in fact, two everything. All the linen and towels are furnished by the government, as is a reasonable amount of maid service. In each dormitory there is a telephone, and in every room there is a call bell. A signal system has been arranged and posted, and each room can be communicated with in this manner. Some of the signals are: One bell, rise; two bells, come to office; three bells, enter waiting; four bells, answer phone in hall. A bathroom containing one large tub and one shower bath is in every corridor.

One of the most thoughtful things Uncle Sam did when he erected these dormitories was to provide a washroom in the basement of each building, where the girls can launder small things and press their clothes. These rooms are fitted with wash basins having hot and cold running water, the latest type of ironing boards and electric iron, and up-to-date laundry, however, is maintained and run by the government where they launder at cost for the girls. Each building has a trunk room in the basement to avoid the necessity of keeping trunks in bedrooms.

VILLA REPORTED TO HAVE LEFT CHIHUAHUA

By the Associated Press.
BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Jan. 15.—Confirmed reports were received here tonight that Francisco Villa, with an unknown number of followers, had left Chihuahua, crossed the state of Coahuila and Northern Nuevo Leon into Tamaulipas and is now threatening to cut the Mexican National railway between the cities of Matamoros and Monterrey. The reports came to department of justice agents.

If the report is true, it will be the first time Villa personally has ventured into Tamaulipas and department of justice agents believe his purpose may be to join forces with Juan Andres Almanza, who for some time has commanded a band of rebels in the western part of that state.

War Junk Made Useful

The sale by the war department of more than $225,000,000 worth of surplus material at a price representing about 88 per cent of the original cost shows remarkable public economy. It is easy enough to buy war supplies, but a decidedly different matter to dispose of them advantageously under peace conditions. As it is, unused munitions of a certain kind must necessarily represent a total waste, but copper and brass material, chemicals, oil, lumber, commissary supplies, etc., remain merchantable, and mean a substantial reduction of the country's enormous war bill.

The sale of hand grenades for conversion into dipole savings banks illustrates the curious uses to which war materials may be put. The millions of brass cartridge cases may meet some demand as art novelties. The news that a steamship has brought a cargo of German bayonets to Wales for fabrication into knives, forks and spoons reveals the infinite

AUTOS INCREASE VALUES OF LAND

Local Man Declares Suburban Property Is in Greater Demand Than Ever Before.

"Automobiles are notable for increasing the value of land," says Mr. Smith of the W. E. Smith Motor Co., local dealer in Chevrolet passenger and commercial cars. "They have done this by making all land more accessible—more profitable. They have eliminated distances and brought city and country closer. Suburban property is in far greater demand than before the days of automobile transportation. Formerly the advantages of life outside of the cities were limited to the efficiency of railway connections. Now the automobile owner is independent of every other conveyance. The inconvenience of family shopping and getting about generally, no longer exists—in any season. "The early use of automobiles demonstrated the inadequacy of our road system. In the few years that motor cars have been recognized utilities, good roads have spread in all directions. They now form one of the most valuable assets of the nation. Together with the automobile they link all parts of the country. "In the farming areas the effects of automobiles is particularly notable. They have made farm life more attractive, and farm property more profitable. Passenger cars and trucks shorten the farmer's day. Their all around utility on the farm itself saves time and labor and results in increased production and more profits. "It no longer makes a difference to the farmer whether a railroad is near his property or not. His route to market is no longer dependent on steel rails, nor the limited capacity of his team. The automobile makes every town, within a radius of twenty miles or more, both a convenient market and source of supply. "As farms have become more convenient, more productive and more profitable through the utility of the automobile, their value has increased. And that the farmer appreciates this service is proved by the fact that more than half of the cars in the United States are owned in the agricultural districts."

INVESTIGATE PACIFIC COAST SHIPPING DEALS

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Department of justice officials tonight admitted an investigation of "financial transactions in Pacific coast shipbuilding had been ordered, but declined to indicate the nature of the evidence. Officials of the shipping board, likewise, were silent. The investigation, it was recalled, was instigated by former Chairman Hurley of the shipping board. Information which came out piecemeal here tended to show that at least seven large shipbuilding corporations were involved in the alleged fraud. Their identity was not disclosed and probably will not be until federal indictments have been obtained and executed. TREATY ALONE FORGES AHEAD NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Advocates of ratification of the peace treaty without amendment or reservation, forged ahead today in the intercollegiate referendum. More than 100,000 votes have been counted, most by the students and faculties of 475 colleges and universities. Of these, 45,269 were cast in favor of unreserved ratification, and 55,304 favored ratification by compromise. The remaining vote was divided between 23,577 supporters of the ladies reservations and 11,699 voters who did not wish the treaty ratified in any form. On request from Washington, the intercollegiate treaty referendum committee, which is tabulating the results here, telegraphed the result today to Senator Lodge and Senator Hitchcock. The final vote will probably be made public tomorrow night. REPULSE HEAVY ATTACK. The FRANKLIN TOURING CAR

The Greatest Road Car in America

New York to Boston and return (458.8 miles) in 12 hours, 5 minutes—
Indianapolis to Syracuse and beyond (332.6 miles) in 22½ hours—
Cincinnati to Cleveland and return (556 miles) in 15 hours, 45 minutes—
Boston to Syracuse and return (693 miles) in 24 hours, 20 minutes, with a woman driving—
New York to Montreal (398 miles) in 9 hours, 59 minutes—
Waterloo, Iowa, non-stop, dirt road record (865.4 miles) in 24 hours.

THE demonstrations of the roadability of the Franklin Car that have taken place all over the country are intended merely to call attention to this Franklin advantage—not to prove it. Its daily performance in the hands of its owners is doing that.

Yet the consistency with which Franklin Cars are making and breaking road records from point to point is significant to most motorists, for the cars used are stock models and differ in no way from the average Franklin.

Why Franklin Averages Fast Time

The above performances are feats only made possible by Franklin principles of light weight, flexibility, and correct balance. They make riding comfortable and handling easy and safe under all conditions. Rough stretches and sharp turns therefore do not slow the Franklin up as they do other cars.

And with heavy, rigid weight eliminated, delays due to tire accidents are almost unknown. These six runs mentioned produced only one puncture and no blowouts. In daily use the average is better: three punctures in the life of a complete set of tires—12,500 miles.

No Cooling Trouble Delays

Important in the making of these records is Franklin direct air cooling (no water to boil or freeze). Leaky radiators and over-heating never halt the Franklin.

Particularly of late, motorists are hearing much about light weight without seeing its results demonstrated. We shall be glad to show you, on the scales and on the road, what genuine light weight is and what it does.

IDAHO

"MONEY-SAVING" DEVICES ARE USUALLY WORTHLESS

"This is an era of catch-penny affairs. The market is flooded with schemes and contrivances hoidly advertised to change the face of conditions that are supposed to exist," says E. F. Strong, general sales manager of the Buick Motor Company. "Fraudulent stock issues have to some extent been suppressed. Yet, the ancient gold-brick game exists under a new disguise. A man has but to make something herald it as a great money-saving device and reap in the profits before the public finds that this 'revolutionary invention' is worthless."

"Automobile owners have not been neglected by these get-rich-quick inventors. Numerous devices and appliances have followed in the wake of successful products in much the same manner that wild-cat mining and oil stock appeared after original enterprises proved profitable. Every attempt is made to place the indication or appliance in the same class as the product, which with wide distribution apparently offers opportunity for many sales. However, the success of the endeavor depends of the credulity of the prospective buyer and the affair usually disappears in a short time."

"In this light, it is well to bear in mind that most of the so-called revolutionary affairs on the market have at some time been submitted to motor car manufacturers for their consideration. When the new method is found practical and of value, it is purchased from the inventor and is designed to work in harmony with the car as a whole. When it is found without advantage or of no practical value in improving performance, making for more power or comfort, it is discarded. Later, perhaps, it falls into the hands of a promoter and is introduced to the owner as 'the most remarkable invention in automotive history' or in similar glowing and meaningless terms."

"The only safe procedure to follow in the installation of accessories or devices is to consult the Buick Motor Company, its branches and authorized dealers. We maintain a highly organized technical department, the purpose of which is to solve the problems and answer the questions that naturally confront the owner from time to time."

"This department is constantly in touch with Buick dealers everywhere. We advise every Buick owner to keep in contact with his dealer, especially to consult him in the matter of equipping Buick cars with extra appliances."

In the first place, if these devices are not incorporated in the car as it leaves the Buick factory, the owner may be assured that the appliances are, as a rule, of no value in increasing the present Buick performance and durability. And when they are of no value in this regard, the owner is not only encumbering his car but throwing away his money."

"The Buick Motor Company, as well as other car manufacturers is constantly in search of devices that will actually improve the value of its product. As nearly perfect as the Buick valve-in-head motor is through research, it is constantly being carried on in an effort to find ways of making our motor powerful, durable and economical. Not only are our engineers and designers working out improvements of their own, but in our laboratories where every kind of scientific apparatus is available, they are ever busy testing devices and appliances outside interests have submitted to them. In other words, nothing is left undone by Buick engineers that might lead to the manufacture of better motor cars. And in solving problems of motor performance from year to year rests the secret of Buick success in maintaining the lead each season. Hence, 'When better automobiles are built Buick will build them.'"

SUN'S RAYS AS WAR WEAPONS.

Alplanes, "roosting" 15,000 to 20,000 feet in the air, will, through the use of powerful lenses, destroy ammunition dumps and entire cities 75 to 100 miles away without firing a shot or dropping a bomb, declared Captain Eddie Richenbacher of Columbus, O., America's ace of aces in the war with Germany, while before the house committee on accounts in Washington.

Captain Richenbacher noted that by the use of lenses it will be possible to set fire to the object which the aviator wishes to destroy, just as it is possible to set fire to paper or wood under the magnifying glass held in the rays of the sun.

"Future wars will be won or lost in the air," Captain Richenbacher observed. "That is true just because just such devices as I have mentioned will be brought into play."

ZION: Rival of Yosemite

By John Dickinson Sherman

Jack Lait wrote a characteristic appreciation of Zion canon for a railroad administration booklet. In which he said:

"Zion canon is an epic, written by Mother Nature in her most ecstatic humor. Illustrated by Creation in its most majestic manifestations, published by God Almighty as an inspiration to all mankind. Zion canon is the most beautiful spot on this continent. I think I have seen all the famed show-places that the evolution of the earth's formation has made. And of them all Zion to me stands first, stands alone."

Zion has the double charm of form and color, and is hard to say which is the more appealing. The entrance to the canon is spectacular and impressive. The course up the Rio Virgin is tortuous and the variation of view and of formation of the lofty walls is great. At the end of six or seven miles of canon the wall narrows to the stream. What there is beyond is practically unknown. From the plateau above the visitor may look down thousands of feet into the painted canon with its river. From the river bank he may look up thousands of feet with a cliffing view at every turn of the canon.

The entrance to the canon is most impressive. To the west rises the West Temple (7,630 feet), flanked by the Towers of the Virgin. The guardian to the east is the East Temple (7,000), flanked by the Watchman (6,350) and Bridge Mountain (6,450). Then come the Striped Wall on the west side and the Brown Wall on the east side, topped respectively by the Three Patriarchs and the Mountain of the Sun. Extraordinary features of the wall formation include El Gobernador, the Great Organ and the Temple of Sinawava.

The visitor finally comes to a point where the canon is more than 2,000 feet deep and the walls so nearly touch that the rocks up to see so. The walls are practically vertical and parallel and warp in and out, thus cutting off the blue above.

Here is revealed the secret of the Making of Zion, as is pointed out by Dr. G. K. Gilbert of the United States geological survey. This canon is an example of downward erosion by sand-bearing water, which acts like the marble saw. The cut is not entirely vertical, because the current has carried the cutting sand to one side or the other, and the cut undulates both in its vertical and horizontal sections.

The focus about the canon walls are extraordinary. And the colors are even more striking. The famous Vermilion Cliff of the Painted Desert here coincides with the White Cliff and we see a thousand feet of white superimposed on two thousand feet of red. But this startling combination is but the beginning of a veritable riot of color. The Vermilion Cliff rests on the Painted Desert stratum—350 feet of a deeper red set off by purple and mauve shades. Below this is a hundred feet of brown and gray conglomerate. The crowning touch is the coloring of the upper summits of the White Cliff. Here there are in places several hundred feet of varicolored shales and limestones whose seepage fantastically stains the glistening white. In consequence of the meeting of these many colors, Zion is as gorgeous as a bazaar scene, and sunrise and sunset produce unbelievable effects.

For example, take the West Temple. From a foundation of mingled reds, yellows, browns, WASHER cleanses the clothes by suction and pressure so applied to the pieces that the dirt is literally forced out of the fabric.

A great natural vacuum is created by the motion of the clothes and water in the tub over the 'apex'. This insures the perfect cleansing of the very fiber of the goods.

The APEX ELECTRIC WASHER will wash clothes cleaner with less work, in less time, at less expense and with less wear than any other method ever devised or used.

TODAY LAW AND ORDER SUNDAY

Members to Urge All to Assist in Making Nation Really Dry.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Uncle Sam has been legally "dry" now for 34 years. Prohibition in its nationwide aspect has fallen upon the country, gently, it is reported by federal revenue stockholders and the knowledge of the accessibility of Cuba where a man may quench any kind of a thirst and still be within the law. Meanwhile drug stores and candy emporiums are reported doing an increased business where a "wink" at a soda fountain nowadays carries no more suggestion of a "kick" than a dash of ginger.

Meanwhile the churches and other organizations are celebrating the final triumph of prohibition after a "campaign" which, they say, lasted 278 years. Next Monday, the army of clergymen in Greater New York will meet annually for a union meeting and who represent nearly every sect and crowd—Jewish, Catholic and Protestant—will gather here and listen to addresses by Federal Prohibition Commissioner Kramer, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, and other notables in the "dry" fight. Similar jubilee meetings, it is said, will be held in other parts of the country. Tomorrow will be the "Law and Order Sunday."

At these meetings various speakers are expected to touch upon some of the historical dates of the anti-liquor movement in America, which had its inception in Maryland in 1642 when the colony passed a law "punishing drunkenness by a fine of 200 pounds of tobacco." Other curious events in the struggle to give John Barleycorn the count may be recalled as follows:

Pennsylvania colony in 1644 made it legal to sell liquor to Indians as well as whites, but a few years later Connecticut and Rhode Island penalized rum selling to the redskins by imposing heavy fines. In 1650 Connecticut passed a law forbidding "selling for more than half an hour at a time." Four years later Massachusetts fined tavern keepers twenty shillings for catering to a drunken man. Maryland in 1658 voted to put any person found drunk "in the stocks for six hours." Virginia decided "a common drunkard" was any person who had been intoxicated three times.

Even the clergy in Virginia sometimes looked too long upon the wine when it was red. It became so bad that the assembly passed a law "prohibiting ministers from giving themselves to excess in drinking, or riots or in playing at unlawful games." New Jersey decided in 1668 that no person should be permitted to drink "after 9 p. m." Massachusetts two years later posted drunkenness names in public houses. The Quakers of Pennsylvania and New Jersey in 1696 declared against intemperance. New Hampshire in 1700 forbade inn-keeping from permitting "townspeople remaining in their house on Saturday night or Sunday."

Trade in liquor with the Indians, meanwhile, grew rapidly. It caused Maryland colony in 1715 to prohibit selling of more than one gallon of liquor a day to any Indian under penalty of 2,000 pounds of tobacco. In 1757 the Georgia colony forbade the granting of a license to sell liquor to any person "capable of gaining a livelihood by honest labor." Pennsylvania Quakers in 1760 endeavored to abolish the use of liquor at funerals.

Dr. Benjamin Rush, perhaps the greatest American medical authority of a century and a quarter ago, in 1785 issued his celebrated essay dealing with the effects of alcohol on the body and mind. Four years later the first "temperance society" in the country was organized by 200 farmers in Litchfield county, Conn. In 1794 the "Whiskey Rebellion" in opposition to the tax on distilled liquors broke out in western Pennsylvania and was suppressed by the military. In 1802 congress passed a law enabling the president to "take steps to prevent the traffic in liquor with the Indians."

The Sober Society, founded in Alton, N. J., in 1805, was the next step toward prohibition, the forerunner of numerous organizations founded later for dethroning King Alcohol. Not many years afterwards the American Society for the Promotion of Temperance was organized in Boston.

LARGES' AUTOMOBILE MEN TO CAUTION

Slippery Streets are Dangerous If Drivers Fail to Exercise Good Judgment.

"Slippery streets will cause many automobile accidents these days unless drivers use an extra amount of care and precaution," said Mr. Davis of the Gordon-Davis Auto Co., local Allen car dealers. "By observing a few simple provisions of the 'do' and 'don't' lists, the accidents that would ordinarily happen will be kept to a minimum."

According to Mr. Davis, a little extra care and less speed are small things to ask of a driver when human safety is at stake. But the car drivers are not the only ones to be careful. Pedestrians should exert as much care. No driver of an automobile wants to cause any pedestrian injury or inconvenience. In many cases the driver is directly blameless, but an accident reflects upon him none the less.

"Motorists should drive slowly, especially through congested districts and keep the car under control at all times," warns Mr. Davis. "Signals to designate contemplated change of direction should be given 50 feet before making the turn."

"Pedestrians should cross the streets only at intersections and should take a look up and down the street for moving autos. They should not try to read a paper while crossing nor step down off the curb and then look back."

"Breaks are the most important part of the motor car during these slippery days. Tire chains are a safe practice, especially on rear wheels. But when a car is driven without them care must be taken in the use of breaks. They should never be suddenly applied. The best method is to keep the foot off the clutch pedal, leaving the clutch engaged, and apply the break gradually. If the brakes are quickly applied the car will invariably skid on a wet pavement."

OLIVES PRODUCE STRANGE MALADY; TWO ARE DEAD

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Two persons have died and three others, all in the same family, are in the hospital tonight and are not expected to live as a result of eating olives which produced a strange malady.

Mrs. Marie Daidene and her son, Donald, 15 years old, after eating the fruit both lost their sight and then were suffocated through paralysis of the breathing muscles, dying four days apart. A medical examiner said tonight that six persons had died recently in Detroit from poisoning due to the same cause.

TEXAS REPUBLICANS TO HAVE BIG CAMPAIGN FUND

By the Associated Press.
HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 15.—That the republicans of Texas are expecting to show much more strength than usual in the coming state and national election, was declared to have been verified in the enthusiasm shown in the meeting here today of the republican state executive committee. It was decided to raise a campaign fund of $500,000, most of which, it was declared, will be spent in the campaign in Texas.

TREASURY RECEIPTS GROW.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—An increase of nearly $500,000,000 in treasury receipts over 1918 was shown in the treasurer's report to congress for the fiscal year 1919. The ordinary receipts were $464,608,852.46 and the ordinary disbursements $15,365,741.76. The general stock of money in the United States at the close of the fiscal year was $7,618,789,000, an increase of $77,714,705. The money in circulation increased in volume by $186,602,549 and amounted to $5,760,239,073.

WAR RISK BUREAU EARNINGS.

per cent. of the total expense of the bureau for the year 1919, the director reports. The disbursements of the bureau were $249,500,000, including $101,128,000 paid as allowances to families of soldiers and sailors, and $43,798,000 as insurance. Receipts for premiums were $172,557,715. Congress appropriated $126,183,500.

SURPLUS WAR STOCKS SOLD FOR 86 PER CENT OF COST

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Between 82 and 90 cents on the dollar has been realized by the government during the last year on the sale of surplus army stocks held in the United States at the close of the war, according to the report of Assistant Secretary of War Crowell. The amount received from the sale of surplus stocks sold in this country was $476,771,474, exclusive of stocks valued at $61,986,421 transferred to other departments. PEW CASUALTIES AMONG U. S. FLEETS DURING WAR

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Revised figures from the war department show that there were but 688 casualties among American aviators in Europe during the war. Among this number 491 were among aviators of the A. E. F. and the remaining among aviators on duty with the British, French and Italian armies. The casualties are classified as follows: Killed in combat, 208; prisoners, 145; wounded in action, 132; killed in action, 41; missing in action, 49; injured in accident, 25; interned, 2.

BIRD PUZZLES WOODMEN.

Martin Scheldorn of Danville, N. Y., a recently returned overseas service man, went shooting pheasants the other day. He came home with a large bird which he shot on the wing, thinking it a pheasant.

Its coloring is beautiful, the great wings lined with white and gray feathers, measuring 42 inches from tip to tip. The tail is of brown feathers with a breast of cream and brown mottled, the back a dark gray and white. Its curved beak and huge talons look like those of a young eagle, but the older hunters here think it is an unusually large hen hawk. The bird was shot in a swale on the Ossian hills.

U. S. LIGHTHOUSE SERVICE.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States lighthouse service now maintains aids to navigation on the coasts of all territory under the jurisdiction of the United States except Panama and the Philippines. These latter coasts are under the care of the army. In all there 4,780 statute miles of coast line, including some interior river channels, where navigation is under the care of the service.

ARMY SHIPPING REPORT.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Up to the last week of December the army returned to the United States shipping board and to the navy vessels totaling 3,964,260 tons. Most of the shipping was used by the war department for overseas service, goes back to the shipping board for commercial service.

You Can Always Tell a Chalmers By Its Uninterrupted Ease of Action

WHETHER you have ever driven a present day Chalmers or not there is one thing about it you cannot help but observe: its uninterrupted ease of action.

Drive alongside of one in traffic or follow one in a country road and you will note a silence, a smoothness, an ease, an effortless action that will command your attention.

This high efficiency in a Chalmers is due to a lack of vibration.

The crank shaft, piston, and connecting rods are balanced, both in motion and static, to the fraction of an ounce.

To make doubly sure

Hot Spot vaporizes the raw gasoline into a "cloud" and Ram-ohm furnishes each cylinder with an equal and even "charge."

The result is there are no uneven explosions.

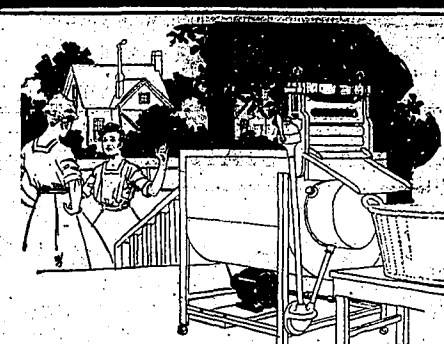

This evenness makes for high efficiency in the Chalmers engine and provides an action that gives a new comfort, a new satisfaction, a new sense of security in a motor car.

Also it means not only better performance but more regular performance, as vibration is the source of most trouble.

Borrow a friend's Chalmers for a few miles, and you, too, will say it is one of the few great cars of the world.
