Bolsheviki Object to Deported Reds; Seattle Grabs 700

BUT 3 OF PARTY BE ADMITTED, IS ORDER. EXILES ARE CHEERED

By the Associated Press.
TERRIJO, Jan. 19.—The bands of Bolsheviki and anarchists deported from the United States are safely across the Russian frontier tonight, but whether or all of the party will remain safe in soviet Russia is a question to be determined by the Bolsheviki.
Hardly had the last of them passed over the border than a belated telegram reached the Finnish military officials in charge of the transfer, announcing that the soviet government had decided to permit only three deportees to enter. Their names have not been made public, but those favored are believed to be Emma Goldman, Alexander Berkman and Peter Blumkin (Blinky).
The telegram is incomprehensible in view of the fact that a delegation including the wife of Maxim Gorky came out to receive the exiles and elaborate preparations had been made to welcome them.

RECEIVED WITH JOY

TERRIJO, Finnish Russian border, Jan. 19.—Understandable, headed by Alexander Berkman and Emma Goldman, deported from the United States, entered soviet Russia at 2 p. m. today. They received an enthusiastic welcome.

He represented the league in the sessions of the international labor conference in Washington last November.

With Sir Eric and Jean Monnet, the French under-secretary general, he was a member of the cabinet of the league. Under their general direction a staff of experts selected from many countries has been working on tentative plans for disarmament, protection of minorities, a court of international justice and other measures provided by the covenant. Mr. Foodick will return to law practice.

among the new-comers. They dropped their luggage, whipped off their caps as a military band played the Bolsheviki anthem and cheering wildly, opened the boxes of food and cigarettes brought from the Buford, distributing them lavishly.

Warrior Port and Beans.

Many of the men taken were released after examination at the United States immigration detention station, but many others were held, and officers said they expected at least 200 suspects would later face deportation hearings.
The 196 warrants originally issued, were directed in the most part against members of the Union of Russian Workers, an alleged radical organization, but the scope of the raid was widened and pool halls, hotels and gathering places searched for persons suspected of membership in any radical society. Local department of justice agents said tonight's clean-up was a part of a new nation-wide campaign against "reds," a number of alleged W. W. were included among those arrested.

NAVAL BOARD MAY SUMMON ADMIRAL SIMS

Charge That Department Failed to Co-operate With Allies.

ROOSEVELT ANSWERS CHARGES BY RATHOM

Leonard Wood Denies Saying Navy Was a "Floating Death Trap"—Mayo To Be Called.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Charges of Rear Admiral Sims that the navy department failed to co-operate fully with the allies during the war will be investigated by the senate sub-committee before which they were made.
"This was decided today by the full naval committee, which also authorized appointment of another sub-committee to determine if there should be an inquiry into charges by R. Rathom, former chief of the Providence (R. I.) Journal, that, with the knowledge of Secretary Daniels, many seamen have been used for most vile and nameless practices to entrap innocent men."
Will Call Sims.
Secretary Daniels announced Admiral Sims would be called on to make good his charges either before the senate or the naval board.

Simultaneously Chairman Butler of the house naval committee announced Major General Leonard Wood would be called to explain statements alleged to him that American naval vessels were "floating death traps."
General Wood explained at Fort-Land, Maine, today that "what he said was that naval ships manned by untrained crews would be death traps to battle."

Will Probe Charges

Inquiry into Admiral Sims' charges will not be started by the senate sub-committee until its present investigation of naval decoration is completed probably in ten days. That investigation was continued today, with Admiral Sims concluding his testimony. Rear Admiral Mayo, commander of the Atlantic fleet during the war, will be called tomorrow.
The full naval committee met today in executive session. Senator Pittman, democrat, sought to have the entire committee conduct the inquiry into Admiral Sims' allegations, but Senator Lodge, republican, objected on the ground that the committee was too busy. Senator Pittman then sought to have a special sub-committee appointed, but failed.

Rathom Made Charges.
The committee took up telegrams sent Senator Lodge and other members by Mr. Rathom charging immoral conditions in the navy and authorized Chairman Page to appoint a sub-committee to make a preliminary inquiry.

Mr. Rathom alleged there was a division of the naval intelligence revealed to use naval seamen to "entrap innocent men" and that as the result of "practices" to which resort was "the morale of the navy department is being rapidly destroyed." He added that "the entire blame should be at the door of Mr. Daniels" and that "we have ample evidence in proof of these assertions."

Secretary Daniels declined to comment on Mr. Rathom's charges, until he said he was more familiar with the allegations.

Receives Officers Explanation

Assistant Secretary Reynolds, by Mr. Daniels to be made with the matter asserted on board of the inquiry appointed Judge-Admiral Sims, who was to investigate methods of training officers in the navy from persons under moral and physical conditions and judicial procedure.

CONVICTED MAN ON STAND FOR STATE

B. F. Nichols Tells Story of Alleged Stealing of Wool From Bengosh's Ranch.

B. F. Nichols, with W. G. Robertson, convicted of grand larceny at the last term of district court, last evening took the stand for the prosecution in the case of the state against Frank Clark. Clark is charged with having participated in the stealing of wool belonging to Joseph Bengosh on the southwest part of the county. Clark was tried at the same time as Robertson and Nichols, but while the jury found these two guilty they were unable to reach a verdict concerning the guilt of Clark.

Nichols, who was brought here from the penitentiary at Boise, was the last witness called during the day, taking the stand at 4:45. His examination will be continued today.

According to the man's testimony, he and Robertson were hired to shear sheep by the defendant at the conclusion of the season's work at the Bengosh ranch on June 18. The witness testified that he and Clark were discussing future work when one of the other made some remark about stealing the Bengoshes' wool. Nichols stated that he was not certain as to who first made the suggestion, but that before the conversation was concluded he had agreed to get as much of the wool as possible to the Clark shearing camp. Clark to pay him for his trouble and both agreeing to take equal chances.

After he and Robertson left Bengosh's, according to the witness, they made their way to a new-of ranch where they remained until night. After the coming of darkness the two men made their way back to the Bengosh corral where they loaded Robertson's wagon with as much wool as possible. They then made their way toward the Clark place, but were forced to cache the wool for the night. Robertson's team being unable to pull the load. The next night, Nichols claims, Robertson and Clark went to the cache and secured the stolen articles, returning with the load of wool in the morning.

Nichols will continue his testimony this morning. Much interest is being shown in the case by residents of the Cedar and House Creek sections.

Following is the jury selected to try the case.

COUNTY YOUNGSTERS WIN MORE HONORS

Miss Noh of Filer Host Canner At Pocatello Conference—Moore
General Pershing

Twin Falls county boys and girls, champions more than held their own at the gathering of the youthful champions of the state at Pocatello last week, according to A. L. O'Reilly, county leader who accompanied him. Miss Noh of Filer, who demonstrated the canning of meats before the home-makers convention by canning chicken, was given first place. Otto Watson, Murtaugh, won second place in competition with all the boys who were there in the judging of corn; and Donald McClain of Twin Falls won second place in the judging of potatoes. Miss Davis of Twin Falls was second in the judging of pigs, and John Owens of Twin Falls won second in judging of livestock, and third in the judging of wheat. This is by far the greatest collection of products that was won by any one county competing in this big show.

During the joint conference of the Farm Bureau and Farm Bureau Youngsters, the Twin Falls delegation took the lead, in club yells all of which were made up by Twin Falls champions and for Twin Falls county.

Miss Davis also during this convention represented Twin Falls county by giving an excellent report on his work as county and state champion in the potato growing project.

Not being satisfied in taking the lead in all of these events these young champions were the first ones to greet General Pershing on his arrival at Pocatello. Thousands of people were standing around General Pershing's train and waiting for him to make his appearance. The waiting was quite tiresome, so the Twin Falls young people stepped up to the car window and began singing their favorite club song suited to the occasion; words which were:

How do you do, General Pershing,
how do you do,
Is there anything we can help you do?
We'll stand by you like a man.

How do you do, General Pershing,
How do you do.

The general, hearing the song, came out on the platform and said, "How do you do, I will come out directly." On his second appearance he was again greeted by the Twin Falls delegation with the same song, and after he had taken a short time to the young champions they responded by singing:

Thanks to you, General Pershing,
Thanks to you,
Is there anything we can help you do?
We'll do the best we can,
We'll stand by you like a man.
Thanks to you, General Pershing,
Thanks to you.

Among the most pleasing features of the week in Pocatello was the excellent banquet given by the Twin Falls business men: Buhl Chamber of Commerce, and Pocatello Commercial Club, in honor of the young champions. The banquet was served in two parts at the Yellowstone hotel and consisted of an eight course meal and was pronounced one of the prettiest banquets that has ever been held in Pocatello. In addition to the champions from this county there were present by invitation at the banquet state club leader, W. T. McCall; assistant state club leader, Miss Z. Fay Fowler; state-wide specialist, William Keady; county superintendent, Britton Wolf; county agent, L. W. Coleman; and W. F. Alworth, who is president of the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau and the State Farm Bureau. Special menu cards were printed for the occasion and each course on the menu was named after some champion from the county.

The banquet was prepared under the instruction and supervision of Miss Graybill of Filer, who had charge of the girls' while in Pocatello. Artistic place cards, were made by Miss Graybill. On each was a hand-painted which represented the project work that each member was following and they were required to find a place at the table by being able to recognize their work on the place cards. Following in the menu for the occasion:

- (John) Owen's Celebrated Fruit Cocktail
- Olives and Mixed Pickles
- SOUP
- Coney Island Chum Chowder
- SALAD
- (Miss) Davis Combination
- FISH
- Fried Salmon, (Miss) Noh Sauce
- ENTREE
- (Whitbread) Oliver's Bananna Fritters
- Fried Chicken, a la Graybill
- DESSERT
- (Myrtle) Meyen's Chocolate Cake
- Vanilla Ice Cream
- Coffee

Mr. O'Reilly speaks in the highest terms of the banquet, regarding the conduct and ability of the young people who went to Pocatello to represent this county. They were by far the largest delegation gathered from any county in the state.

Monday morning, January 26: At

NEED FOR PARKING GROUNDS IS URGED BY J. B. WHITE

(By J. B. WHITE.)

The city of Twin Falls should have parking grounds for tourists. Unless such be provided the business which so small item will be lost to Twin Falls almost entirely. Other towns, both large and small, hardly without exception have places in the state highway conveniently located and in a number of places that I have happened to be in the last year or so, small homes equipped so that they may do their own washing of their Accommodations like this have a tendency to make a tourist after several days of driving over rough and dusty roads, feel more at home and sometimes stay at the place for several days and possibly locating in the community.

Every one that travels by automobile touring the country has money, and spend it where they get the best accommodations.

I don't believe there is one business man in twenty in Twin Falls who utilizes or have any idea how many tourists come here from the first day of April to the first of November. In 1919 from the 20th of June to the 15th of November that being the time which I kept a count of the tourists jumping at my place, an average of eleven a day; 595 in 145 days, and my place being one one of sixteen such places. Not one, but dozens of them said to me personally, "we have driven a long distance to get to Twin Falls today, where if your camping ground."

Camping grounds? Well I am sorry to say there is no such place here. Well the traveler would say, "I will have to get rooms at a hotel for tonight." So I would start telephoning to the local hotels and not a room to be had, the clerk would say, "Well, it's dark by this time and being strangers, I don't know just what to do. Several times I was able to secure accommodations at a local hospital for the night where they would get very good accommodations. As they had said, we drove a long distance and sometimes until dark to get to a good-sized town and expected to find camping accommodations as they had in the last place they had stopped; are we going to go through another summer like this or are you going to secure a good site on the state highway and take care of them."

Further if we consider the tourist let us see what we won't have our park and parking place in some out of the way place; it should be located either east or west from the center of town; on the state highway convenient for every one. Take yourself, for instance, drive into a city the size of this and especially one laid out as Twin Falls is.

I for one think the city council and mayor should consider a site on the highway in preference to some other especially when a better tract of land, and 40 rod nearer the center of the town and at the same price and also a six-inch city water main running the full length of it. I have no land for sale on the highway and am daily interested in Twin Falls and the community, same as all others should be. As a property owner and taxpayer I want what I think the tourists are entitled to and that is a park and a camping ground on the state highway.

FARMERS DISCUSS PLAN FOR GENERAL HOCHDALES STORE

Council of the Twin Falls County Farmers' association held at the Pocatello hotel Saturday evening, Monday, January 26th, was named as the date of the next meeting of the association.

The meeting will be held in the parlors of the Presbyterian church at 7 p. m. A dinner will be served.

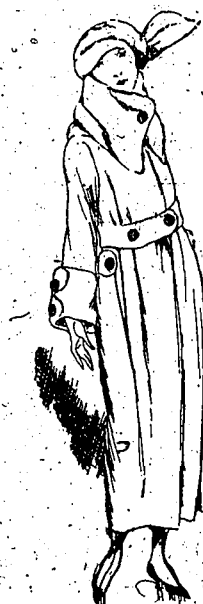

The organization of a Hochdale store in Twin Falls was suggested at the meeting of the council and it was decided to refer the question to the association at the meeting of the 26th.

THE MATRIARCHAL AGE.

"The father of a family. Pooh-pooh! He is a mere incident. It is the mother who counts, and there is no reason why she should not retain her own name in marriage. I believe all children should bear the surname of the mother."

Thus Miss Lucile Pugh described a well known New York lawyer and influential feminist, tells menfolk where they get off. She confesses a desire "to band clear-thinking women into an organization and bring about such change in society that men will be obliged to recognize the prerogative of the mother to absolute equality, if not supremacy in the home."

So we see men's finish.

Father, in fact, has never amounted to much in modern times. He may not be quite so much of a "mere incident" as the male of some other species—bees, for instance. Among bees, at least, "everybody work but father." Among human kind, since the race rose above savagery, father has generally been pretty busy hustling for a living, and according to common notion that situation is not yet changed. Father still has his uses. As for authority, however, that has long slipped from him. Why rub it in, and mock at a sex already emptied of its majesty?

Women, as is well known to thoughtful folk of either sex, have always craved power. Moreover, they have generally had it. In recent generations their usurpation has been growing ever more complete. Until recently, however, they have generally been kind and tactful enough to camouflage their status, pretending to be swayed by men. Thus they have made it easier for father, who didn't mind so much losing his authority as long as he might keep up some of the forms and traditions of authority.

Now, however, all this alleviating illusion is to be swept away. Poor father is to be put under, once and for all, and made to acknowledge his servitude. The patriarchal age is ended. The matriarchal age begins.

GOOD OLD 1914.

Along comes a man who wants merely the 1914 dollar. He is W. F. Burke, a western postal employee, who, in a hearing before a joint congressional committee last week, asked that postoffice people be paid "in as good a dollar as in 1914."

Mr. Burke is an unconscious jester, although the grim desperation of his own and his fellows' condition lends a pathetic earnestness to his plea. To ask for a 1914 dollar today is tantamount to making a casual request for the moon, or to asking, in the manner of one requesting you to pass the butter, please, for a million dollars a year in your pay envelope.

Why stop at the 1914 dollar? Why not be broad-visioned, large-minded about it? These are days of tremendous things, of lofty conceptions, of paltry accomplishment. Why not a 1914 country, a 1914 job, a 1914 landlord, a 1914 grocery bill, a 1914 suit of clothes? Why not the 1914 calms and the 1914 joys? Why a 1914 dollar and not a 1914 world, while you are at it?

Nineteen hundred and fourteen! Ah, those were the days, and those were the dollars—though few people appreciated either at the time.

CONQUERING SCOTLAND.

The world has acclaimed but few men as conquerors of all time. Schoolboys have learned with awe and recited with gusto the life stories of Napoleon and Caesar and Alexander the Great. They have longed to emulate them, but world conquerors are few, and the years are many.

But all the heroes of song and story may yet pale into insignificance before the rising illumination of Ernest Hurst Cherrington of Ohio, who sallies forth to conquer the world for prohibition. A dry world is Mr. Cherrington's aim, and the stars in their course seem to sing a propitious song as they swing full circle over this hero's head.

Mr. Cherrington sets himself a mighty task. He isn't going to waste time in mopping up little puddles of wetness here and there. He picks the wettest spots upon the map, whole lands where whiskey seems to rival the rainfall, lands where alcohol is not so much a luxury as a national institution. This Napoleon sets forth to dry up Scotland as his initial step. A hero of gigantic proportions would be justified if he made Scotland the scene of his last battle with the great enemy.

"Scotch" will come to have new and strange meanings when Cherrington gets his sponge into action. This land of Burns will be a model for a poet in a new strain, one whose "whistle" will need no wetting to lure the melody.

A brave man, this Cherrington, and a hard-headed people, these Scotch. It'll be a braw fight, we've thinkin' when they a' get thegither for the bit tussle.

THE POSTAL PEGASUS.

Pegasus, the winged steed on which poets aforesaid were fabled to ride, was presumably of one-horsepower. Imagine 800 Pegasuses—or Pegasi, if you prefer—hitched to an aerial car. All the poets in America might conceivably ride in that car—and probably will, in a manner of speaking. For the postoffice department has arranged to equip the air-mail service from New York to Chicago with several of them, each capable of carry 1,500 pounds of mail.

It is hard to grasp the wonder of these fliers, each weighing five tons with its cargo and crew, having a wing spread of 70 feet, standing 14 feet from the ground when at rest, driven by two Liberty motors at a speed of 115 miles an hour, and being almost independent of wind and weather. Each of them will take the place of a railroad mail car on the New York-Cleveland-Chicago route.

Who now will say that air mail is not practical? And we are only at the beginning.

RADICALISM AND HYSTERIA.

There has been a vast deal of excitement over a class of trouble-makers who may possibly constitute as much as five per cent of our population, but are probably less than one per cent.

Is that little handful or reds going to put over a "revolution?" How? Where? When?

Malifactors of any type must be punished. But this is a time not for hysteria. It is a time for calm, stern dignity.

There is no red crisis at Washington. There is no conspiracy at Cataline, menacing the public. Frenzied philippics are uncalled for.

There are only little groups of criminals here and there who must be got after and punished or deported as criminals, and there are false doctrines which must be fought by a calm, intelligent, educational propaganda lest they become really dangerous.

Greek and Turkish forces have had a touch of everlasting peace in Asia-Minor. The casualties were heavy.

Conan Doyle thinks there is alcohol in the other world. Tut, tut, man. You mean spirits.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

ASSERT BROTHER MURDERED McNUTT

Missing Will McDonald Credited Victim's 'Sail' With 'Hammer' in Sister's Defense, Say Witnesses.

By the Associated Press.

SHOKANE Wash., Jan. 19.—WILL McDonald, elder brother of Ted, Marie, and Fay McDonald on trial in superior court here on a charge of first degree murder in connection with the death of W. H. McNutt, was declared by each of the three defendants to have done the killing. They took the stand in their own behalf.

Will McDonald, also charged with first degree murder, has not been apprehended.

According to the story told by the three defendants Will McDonald became involved in a fight with McNutt when he burst into the apartments of his sister, Marie, in a local lodging house last June 22 and found McNutt beating the woman. When McNutt drew a blade Will struck him on the head with a hammer, it was declared.

He then took the body away, and when arrived at their rooms later he was sent to the McNutt farm near Scotia, Wash., about 40 miles from this city to seek his brother and persuade him to consent to calling in the police, it was testified. However, according to Ted's story, his brother demurred, saying it was too late, as he had "buried the body."

McNutt's body was found some months after his disappearance, in a shallow grave on his farm near Scotia, in the ownership of which the McDonalds were interested with him.

The skin of the human palm has been found to be a very delicate and effective strop for razor edges.

The railroads are indispensable to our economic life, and railway securities are the very heart of most investments in large and small, public and private, by individuals and by institutions.
WOODROW WILSON

THE war could not have been won without railroads. Transport—by rail and sea—is an indispensable arm of national defence.

Carrying capacity, from the wheat fields and the mines and the steel mills to the front lines in France, was the measure of our power in war.

And it is the measure of our power in peace.

Industrial expansion—increasing national prosperity—greater world trade—are vitally dependent on railroad growth.

The limit to the productive power of this country is the limit set by railroad capacity to haul the products of our industry.

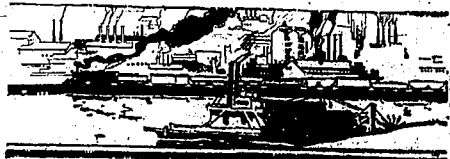

The amount of freight carried on American rails doubled from 1897 to 1905—since that year it has doubled again.

It will double still again.

To haul this rapidly growing traffic the country must have more railroads—more cars and engines—more tracks and terminals.

Sound national legislation, broad-visioned public regulation will encourage the expansion of railroads, without which the nation cannot grow.

PROSPECTOR GO TO JARBIDGE, NEV.

Two Old Timers, Attracted by Geological Report, Abandon Alaska for this Section.

George Alkire and Frank Steadlin, two old time prospectors, came in yesterday, enroute to the Jarbidge camp. Both men, outfitted here, and will start through today for the camp. Alkire and Steadlin have been prospecting for years in all parts of the country. Both were in Alaska last summer, in the Kuskowin country, but following the report of the geological survey showing the recoveries made on the Guggenheim property in the Jarbidge district, they decided to spend the season in the new district. They came through from Seattle, where they wintered. They had not thought it possible to get through to Jarbidge, but came to get as near as Alkire discovered a good property in the Cobalt country, which he sold to a syndicate for a round sum. That was silver, and he has been in search of a gold producer ever since. He has been partially successful in Alaska, but feels that there will be quite an excitement at Jarbidge this year, and he wants to be of those of the first rush.

SMALLPOX SCARE CLOSES HIGH SCHOOL IN PORTLAND

By the Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Jan. 19.—Because one alleged case of smallpox was found today in Washington high school here, the 1400 students and teachers were sent home and the building closed for fumigation by order of the city health officer, who then ordered that all teachers and students must submit to vaccination or else remain away from the school for 21 days. Several hundred students at once presented themselves for vaccination. By order of Dr. Purbish a warrant was today issued for arrest of William Thum, who is charged with failing to report a case of smallpox in his home.

OLD PILOT SCHOONER GOES TO ALASKA FOR SERVICE

By the Associated Press.
PORTLAND, Jan. 19.—The historic pilot schooner Joseph Pulitzer, once in service off New York harbor and later off the Columbia river, was today placed on dry dock here for outfitting preparatory to being sent to Alaska, where she is to be used in inter-port trade by private parties who have purchased her. The Joseph Pulitzer was built as a sailing vessel in 1884 and after years of service by pilots off the port of New York was brought around Cape Horn and used similarly off the Columbia river. A few years ago she was equipped with gasoline engines.

As a result of the world war, only a dozen throners remain in Europe.

94 hours and 21 minutes, driving time, as the American Automobile Association officials stopped it twice before the fifty hour period could be completed because rain and sleet made the track too dangerous to continue the run. In the first test the car covered 1,790 miles and in the second 1,042 miles. On the third it ran for the full fifty hour period.

"Another new mark was set by a standard Essex touring car in Essex when it covered 1,061 miles in 24 hours over frozen, dirty roads. At Grand Rapids, Mich., another Essex established a new record for the run to Mackinaw City, when it made the round trip, 521 miles, in 21 hours without stopping the engine. Then in the famous 'Run-of-the-World' contest at San Bernardino, a standard Essex won first place in its class, climbing eight miles to an elevation of nearly 5,000 feet in 19 minutes and 4 seconds.

"Displaying qualities never before known in any other car than the Hudson Super Six, those who knew the inside story watched the brilliant series of victories of the Essex on the speedway, dirt tracks, hill climbs, economy and endurance tests with amazement. 'Why does no one else claim it?' they asked.

"The answer came in the announcement just made through national magazine advertising mediums with the explanation that the builders of the Essex were so sure of the sheer worth that they wanted to see it make its way unaided by other endorsements.

"The supreme courage of absolute conviction," says one motoring magazine in connection with the announcement.

ATEST AMERICAN SECURING BUYERS AT BIG PUBLIC SALES

If you have attended many public sales, on the Twin Falls tract, you have noticed there is a great deal of difference in the spirit of the crowd. Sometimes the bidding will be eager and snappy; other times it will drag and the sale will part of year out. Have you thought of this? You have if you expect to put on a sale. Results depend upon the sort of crowd out. It is not the curious who make good bidders.

How was the crowd brought out? You don't leave your rig in the middle of the road and go to a fence post to read a sale bill, do you? Then don't expect the other fellow to do it.

Put an advertisement in the newspaper, then regardless of the weather, the fellow you want to reach reads your announcement while seated at his fireplace.

If he is a prospective buyer you'll have him at your sale. One extra buyer often pays the entire expense of the sale, and it's a poor advertisement that won't pull that buyer.

An advertisement in The Chronicle reaches the people you are after.

Bills may be a necessity, but the advertisement is the thing that does the business.

Don't think of having a sale without using advertising space in The Chronicle.

Market News

Live Stock

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The professional short international controlled during the greater part of today's very unsteady stock market, mainly on account of the continued lack of public interest.

Much of the day's news was of a hopeful tenor, the only adverse development, further delay on the part of the United States supreme court in the much discussed MacCumber stock dividend case, being of a negative character. Call money relaxed vis-à-vis, falling from 8 per cent at the opening to 6 per cent at mid-day.

Stocks were strong at the opening and steady at the close, but between the 'trend' was mostly reactionary. A few leaders of the class registered extreme losses of two to eight points, largely retrieved at the end. High-priced oil and affiliated issues made substantial rallies. Sales 775,000 shares.

Bonds were dull and featureless in the main, but the Liberty group denoted further pressure. Total sales, par value, were $13,550,000. Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

GREASERS RIP OLD GLORY IN MAD DELIRIUM

Dr. Hunter Recounts Flight of Americans From Riotous Mexicans.

BRITISH COLORS SAVE PEOPLE FROM STATES

Newspapers Inflamm Public by Publishing Reports That Border Cities Had Fallen—Mob Raids Consulate.

By the Associated Press.
SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 19.—After describing one outrage after another, which he said he had witnessed, Dr. John Hunter, an American physician of Nogales, told the senate subcommittee investigating the Mexican situation today he never had known of a Mexican being punished for killing an American in Mexico. "There has been no safety for American life or property in Mexico since 1910," he said. "I have known a lot of Mexicans in that time, and I do not know one—and I know Carranza—whose oath I would accept."

He said British Reports.
Dr. Hunter was at Guadalajara when the Americans occupied Vera Cruz. His account of the flight of the Americans from there was accepted as additional evidence of the higher regard held by Mexicans for British and German representatives. It was the British consul who afforded protection to the Americans at Guadalajara and a German clerk at another town who effected the release of Americans held by Mexican soldiers by declaring himself a German consular officer, he said.

Ward Kills Three.
J. D. Ward, now a farmer in Texas, gave the first instance in the committee's record of an American scoring on the Mexicans. Ward shot three and got back to the United States without being hurt. He was living on a fruit farm with his wife in 1915, he testified. One night he was visited by soldiers, led by one identified as a non-commissioned officer in Carranza's army. They had been there before and tried to extort money. That night, Ward said, he gave the leader some, but not enough to satisfy him and he and his men tried to force their way through the door.

Battles With Holdups.
"I had told my wife to get under the bed," he testified. "I had made up my mind I would have to fight. At the door came in a man and he said, 'The others began firing and continued their efforts to enter. I had estimated that there were not more than eight or ten in the back ground when the controversy began. Pretty soon another came in sight and I let him have it. I told him to get out. I managed to make the outlines of another man and I got him.'"

The attacking party withdrew and the remainder of the night was spent by Mr. and Mrs. Ward in hiding under their farm.

Held Negro's Home.
It developed next day, he said, that Mexicans on their way to his house had raided that of an American negro, brutally attacking the man's wife. A Cherokee Indian, Odia Jacks, who was a member of the Blues, testified he had been held 19 days and ordered shot by Carranza's soldiers. He said he was a Yagui Indian and a spy of Villa Jacks in the Blue Buffs. His testimony was corroborative of others who have told of outrages and oppressions. His escape was an indirect result of his enforced practice of violence.

He said he had a quantity of medicines and the Mexicans holding him must know their men were compelled him to treat them. His supply ran low and he was given permission to go to "Tehuacan" for more. There, through assistance of the American consul, he returned to America.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan. 19.—It was under the British flag that Americans in Mexico at the time Vera Cruz was occupied by Americans were given a refuge, Dr. John Hunter today told the senate subcommittee investigating the Mexican situation. He said he was in Guadalajara at the time.

The newspapers, Dr. Hunter said, published stories that Mexicans already had captured all the American towns on the border, except El Paso and that the Mexican prisoners at Fort Bliss, who had killed 500 American soldiers, were marching on that town.

This "news" so excited the Mexicans, the witness said, that they were abouting advice to each other to kill every American in Mexico. Escape from Guadalajara to the port of Mazatlan was graphically described.

Jered at and threatened by the crowds at every station, the fugitives were forced to witness at one place the desecration of the American flag. Men and boys brought it to the side of the train and after sweeping it over the ground tore it into strips. These were burned and thrown the ashes through the car windows on the train.

The escape from Mazatlan was made on a German ship. Mexican mobs had raided the American consulate there also. Dr. Hunter said that "big black horns" had been painted on a picture of Wilson that hung there. Numerous instances of raids, murders and outrages were given by Dr. Hunter.

Consul de la Mata at San Antonio has received instructions to publish a statement that any Mexican testifying before the committee will be declared a traitor.

SHEEP MEN OPEN ANNUAL MEETING

Hagenbarth Reviews Work of Year at Woolgrowers' Convention—McClure Resigns.

By the Associated Press.
SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 19.—Passage of a resolution urging the department of commerce to investigate misrepresentation in the sale of clothing and to prosecute the offenders in a vigorous manner was urged by President F. J. Hagenbarth before the 200 delegates in attendance at the opening sessions of the fifty-fifth annual convention of the National Wool Growers' association here today.

"Wool growers should lend all influence and energy to suppress the robbery of the public by those manufacturers and dealers who foist on them all-wool goods which are woolen in name only," President Hagenbarth declared.

Acting Governor Harden Bennett welcomed the delegates on behalf of the state, and this was responded to by Dr. J. M. Wilson of Douglas, Wyo. The annual address of President Hagenbarth was read after the word of welcome.

Secretary Thomas H. W. McClure, in the reading of his annual report, said approximately $18,000 has been spent by the association during 1918 and that there was a cash surplus of near $4,000 on hand.

The resignation of Dr. McClure as secretary of the association was officially announced at the opening session by President Hagenbarth. His successor will be elected the last day of the convention.

Speakers at today's session were J. L. Heller of Chicago, assistant secretary of the association on the subject "Whetting Our Appetite for Lamb;" Will C. Barnes, United States forest service, Washington, D. C., on "Our National Forestry;" and Cato Bell, commissioner of Indian affairs, on "Wool Growing on Indian Reservations."

Tonight the delegates attended a string of boxing events staged under the auspices of the local American legion. A 16-round bout between Frankie Murphy, Denver, lightweight, and Pat Gilbert of Salt Lake, headlined the card.

COUNCIL TO AID IN WAR ON INFLUENZA

Agrees to Cooperate With State and Red Cross—Discusses Aviation Field.

City council last evening voted to aid the Twin Falls chapter Red Cross and state officials in enforcing any quarantine necessary against Spanish influenza. This action was taken following the receipt of a letter from E. M. Laubach, state bacteriologist, warning that the disease had again made its appearance in Idaho and that every precaution should be taken to prevent its spread.

There have been reports in some cases of influenza in Twin Falls, but it is not yet epidemic. The Red Cross has been designated as the agency through which the state will make quarantine regulations effective.

Need of including an aviation field in any city park that may be authorized here was urged upon council by representatives of the chamber of commerce. C. D. Thomas, chairman of the bureau of parks, presented to council a report from his bureau combined with one by the bureau of civic affairs, urging that the St. John Skinner place northeast of Twin Falls be purchased for parking purposes. In its report it was stated that the Skinner place had an ideal spot that could be used as an aviation field. Newell S. Wright, secretary of the chamber of commerce, stated that Twin Falls should make plans immediately to provide a landing field for commercial airplanes as well as government mail planes.

Mayor Eldridge declared that he had been informed by an aviator that a landing place should not be near any city park because of the danger to patrons of the park. Mr. Thomas answered that the five acres on the Skinner place was segregated from the rest of the unimproved park by an irrigation ditch and could be fenced so as to prevent spectators from running onto the field.

The matter was laid over to the next meeting when some action will probably be taken looking toward an election to vote on a bond issue to provide funds to finance the purchase of the tract.

A resolution was adopted by council granting permission to the Twin Falls lodge of Elks to use 15 feet of the alley way to construct cork bunkers for the new building now being constructed. Council retained its right to revoke this permit at any time.

A contract was entered into between a Denver concern and council extending the time of purchase and payment for water meters to be installed by Twin Falls.

PUREBREDS BRING MANY HIGH PRICES

First Ten Short-horns Offered Sold at Average of $1592.50—Boys Purchase Cattle.

With the first ten animals brought into the sales ring bringing an average price of $1592.50, the first day of the fourth annual sale of the Twin Falls North and South side Short-horn breeders' association of southern Idaho proved to be a complete success. Prices paid during the day ranged from $175 to $2300. This later price was paid by Willard McMasters to C. A. McMasters for imported Swina Minn, a roan cow calving on January 16, 1918. The cow was bred by Olive Bohrens of England. Her son was Broadheads Commodore, one of the famous animals belonging to Lord Fitzharding's herd. Lord Fitzharding's is one of England's leading Short-horn breeders.

Graceful Rosebud and Village Victor brought the next highest price, $1250 for each animal. Leland Brothers bought the former, a roan cow calving in September, 1918. This cow was bred by Carpenter & Ross of Mansfield, Ohio. The animal was the property of C. A. McMasters until sold to Leland Brothers.

Village Victor was purchased from McMasters by J. O. Hayden. This bull was calving in March, 1918. His sire was Village Beau, the famous herd bull of the Hoply stock ranch, Atlanta, Iowa.

One of the features of the sale was the entrance of the farm boys and juniors club into the lists. The juniors purchased four animals, paying $210, $240, $280 and $305 respectively, for each animal. The club is being backed by the Idaho State bank which is making loans to the club members.

Other purchases made at the auction follow:

Avondale, Secret by L. L. Breckonridge, $1450; Lillian Archer, by W. M. Worthington, $1300; Queen Bea, 4th, by Leland Bros., $1175; Maplewood Violet by E. E. Corey, $1000; roan bull calf, by E. M. Cunningham, $550; Belle Creek by E. O. Walters, $1250.

C. C. Roqua, H. H. Schildman, L. Fowler, Henry Beck, W. F. Jones and Ball and Anderson also made purchases.

on from $175 to $450 for animals of

The sale will be continued today.

Steps were taken last evening at the annual banquet of the association to provide a permanent sales pavilion in the county. A committee of five was appointed to consider the proposition. The banquet was one of the features of the day. There were 15 present following the meal several speeches were made on the Short-horn industry.

Judge E. A. Walters presided as toastmaster. J. A. Oatford of Piler, now planner Short-horn breeder of the tract was the first speaker. Other speakers included J. A. Markel, L. W. Coleman, A. L. O'Reilly, W. A. Fallon, Asher B. Wilson, Fred B. Reed, H. H. Schildman and Frank Thompson.

A resolution was adopted thanking the banks of the county for their interest in the efforts of the farm boys and juniors to secure pure bred stock.

EXPECT TO LET ROAD CONTRACTS FEB. 1

State Officials Preparing to Start Work on Twin Falls and Piler Highways.

State officials contemplate letting contracts for the Twin Falls and Piler sections of the state highway by February 1, according to information received by the Twin Falls highway board from Colonel Olson, state engineer. Federal aid for these projects have been assured.

Immediately following the awarding of these contracts the Twin Falls highway district will make plans to call for bids for other road work contemplated under the bond issue voted last spring. There are a large number of feeder roads to be constructed, many of them asphaltic concrete, some macadam and others gravelled.

The highway's crusher plant has been running for the past week. Considerable adjustments have to be made before the plant will be in final running order. Bids, when first put on are tight, but as the machinery is run these bids stretch and it is necessary to cut out pieces to tighten them. This adjustment itself will take several days, but it is anticipated that adjustments will have been made within the coming week and that the plant will soon be in good running order.

PREPARE TO START PAVING WORK HERE

Mixing Machines On Road—Will Have Plants Close to the Crusher.

Steps are already being taken by the Warren Construction company for commencing work on the Twin Falls paving project. Two 10-ton mixing machines have been shipped from other points to Twin Falls and are expected to arrive here within a short time.

Officials of the Twin Falls highway district have been requested to make arrangements for securing railroad rails and ties for a short spur that the Warren concern will construct from the district's crushing plant to its mixing plants.

The material will be put a short distance from the crusher. After the mixing has been done the material will be brought to Twin Falls by trucks.

It is anticipated that it will take six months to finish the job of paving. It is understood that several sub-contracts will be let by the Warren people. A representative of the Heinicke Construction company recently went to Portland to confer with officials of the Warren company concerning some of these contracts. Several local contractors are also planning to bid on sub-contracts.

TAKE PRELIMINARY STEPS TO FORM POST GLEE CLUB

At a meeting held last evening at the Elks' temple preliminary steps were taken toward the formation of a Glee Club by the Twin Falls post American Legion. Preliminary plans were made. Definite action will be taken at a meeting next Monday evening.
