UNCLE SAM'S SHIPS.

The question of selling the former German liners is only a small part of the American shipping problem. The United States will soon have 1,900 ships, with nearly one-fourth of all the world's cargo space.

There is plenty of use for them. But can the United States itself own and operate them to advantage? Very few business men think so. One big business man points out that the largest successfully managed cargo fleet in the world comprises only 120 ships.

It is urged that we are giving up as a result of experience public control of our railroads, though they are all domestic, and railroading is a sort of a natural monopoly. Why, then, try to continue as a public enterprise an industry which is the very opposite of monopoly, in which we are forced to compete with the private enterprise of all the world?

There is a logical demand that the government shall get out of the shipping business as soon as possible. Some money is sure to be lost in the process, but there will be still more loss in delay. The main thing is to avoid selling the ships too cheaply, and to see that none of them pass from American registry.

"THEM CANNONS."

A southern congressman rises in dignity and indignation on the floor of the house at Washington, and with awful solemnity and a tone of accusation in his voice he demands to know:

"What are them cannons at?"

Is he laughed down, or jeered to silence? Not he. Applause and approval are his meed, and a couple of hundred other members wag their heads in silent approbation of his desire to get that particular information.

For "them cannons" are becoming a sore point with congressmen. It is easy enough to answer the southern member's query: "Them cannons" are in France. And that is just what's wrong.

"Them cannons" are urgently needed by hundreds of congressmen in their business which, speaking more succinctly than politely, is getting renominated next summer and getting re-elected next fall. "Them cannons" may not re-elect one of them, but the continued absence of the instruments of war may defeat any number of country towns that want cannons to place inspiring upon the public square, in front of the court house, or in the park before the soldiers' monument near the town hall.

The congressmen have each and severally promised to deliver the guns; their bubble reputations may literally hang at the cannon's mouth, and they cannot make good while "them cannons" are in France.

FREEZING OUT THE PUBLIC.

One of the reasons the railroad brotherhoods and the federation of labor give for lining up to fight the new railroad bill, is a reason that most Americans will find remarkable—and menacing. They object to the principle of the public having a share in railroad settlements.

The bill provides for an adjustment board of nine members, three to represent the roads, three the employees and three the general public. Labor leaders declare that wages are a matter for the railroad employers and employees to settle between themselves. They argue that the public would be an intruder in the councils of the parties concerned.

Now, what is the "public"? Properly it is the whole 110,000,000 of us, capitalists, workmen, doctors, lawyers, merchants, farmers and all the rest—the nation, considered not governmentally, but as an aggregation of private citizens. The railroad owners and operators are a minute part of this great public. The railroad employees, even though they amount to so many as 1,900,000, are a small part of it.

And what are the railroads? A public utility—the most public utility of public utilities—utterly public in function, and vital to the welfare of the whole people.

And these two factional parts of public, then to decide for themselves, essential matters of railroad policy, affecting not only wages, but rates that everybody must pay, and the service everybody must endure, with always the possibility of a strike paralyzing the whole industry and commerce of the nation.

The labor leaders say they cannot trust the public, and so will not have the public interfering in "their business," though they were quite willing to have the public through its government, give them higher wages and shorter hours.

The public might well reply that it has greater reason to distrust the other two parties.

Are not the labor organizations inviting suspicion that what they are really after is to stack the cards against the public?

AMERICANIZATION.

The government of the United States, after three-quarters of a century of delay, has at last adopted a systematic and comprehensive Americanization plan. The United States commissioner of education has approved the plan adopted in Cleveland for work along this line, and has designated a Cleveland as special agent.

The plan recognizes that Americanization work, in the broader sense, is necessary among many who are neither of foreign birth or foreign extraction. It would reach not only those who are strangers to American ideals of government through birth, but also those whom the nation's neglect has left unfitted for the exercise of the franchise.

Four classes are designated:
 Non-English-speaking people;
 Illiterates, foreign born or native;
 Non-citizens who require aid in preparing for naturalization;
 Habitual non-voters, and voters unable to use the ballot intelligently.

The government plan contemplates enlisting the assistance of social, fraternal, women's and other organizations, as well as the development of a more directly educational system, and the work is to be national in scope.

The adoption of the Cleveland plan, or of any other plan, for real Americanization work indicates a great step forward.

SERIOUS MONKEY-SHINES.

Announcement in Pittsburgh that a former middle-weight champion pugilist has been newly equipped with monkey glands, and "can feel the effects," is causing a stir in pugilistic circles all over the country. The former champion is said to be planning a come-back in the prize ring.

The announcement has its humorous as well as its serious aspect. The future of the fighter will be watched with interest, not only by the medical fraternity and the sporting world, but by the ordinary newspaper-reading citizen as well. If a has been in the fighting game can come back and give a good account of himself in the ring, then, indeed, may we begin to believe that encroaching age has been halted in its tracks and death backed off into a remote corner of the problematical future. Monkey glands will be at a premium and we'll all stand in line to be equipped for our second youth.

But we will be interested in the pugilist's first battle. We'll watch interestedly to see whether in the clinches he takes to hanging onto his opponent's neck, or thinks it part of the game to seize a handful of hair. Monkey-shines are not at a premium in the prize ring.

MITCHELL WHIPS EDWARDS

CHAMPION OF AUSTRALIA

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 26.—Little Mitchell, Milwaukee, tonight scored a technical knockout over Lew Edwards, lightweight champion of Australia, at the start of the seventh session of a 10-round, no-decision contest. Mitchell floured the Australian for a nine count in the second and sixth rounds and tipped him over for a count of two in the third.

The Milwaukee boy had the better of every round. He felt the Australian out in the first session easily winning the honors. In the second, Mitchell planted a right to Edwards' jaw flooring him for nine seconds and almost blazed the Australian's left eye. Edwards was groggy throughout the third session and Mitchell appeared merely flustered. Edwards showed his best efforts in the fourth but did no damage. Mitchell rocked Edwards especially in the fifth with rights and lefts and had his opponent groggy at the bell. The Milwaukee boy toyed with Edwards in the sixth after knocking him down for nine seconds early in the session. Edwards was groggy and when the bell summoned him for the seventh round his seconds announced that the Australian had enough. Mitchell weighed 134 1-4 and Edwards 132 pounds.

COMUNIAN MAKES HARD TRIP TO SAVE MAN'S LIFE

WHITHALL, Mont.—If Hat Chamberlain, a trapper, who lies seriously ill here of pneumonia, recovers, he will have to thank for his life the luck of two friends who floundered with him in a litter, through 30 miles of almost impassable drifts to get him to medical attendance.

Chamberlain was taken ill while trapping in Big Whittell park. Dr. C. Spock and Jack Sanguin, his companion determined he must be taken to a doctor. They arranged a litter and set out carrying the man and leading their horses. By carrying Chamberlain much of the distance and using a sled where the drifts permitted, they reached medical aid with Chamberlain still alive.

REDUCE NUMBER OF ARMY OFFICERS

Sharpest Cut Provided for Aviation in Reorganization Bill.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Eight thousand fewer army officers than would for by the war department are provided by the house army reorganization bill formally presented today by Chairman Kahn of the military affairs committee. Resolutions to the number of officers were made in every branch of service, but the sharpest cut was for the aviation service, which received only 1,514 of the 4,500 asked for. In all, the department sought 26,179 officers and the house committee granted 18,720.

None of the various plans offered to the committee for reorganizing the army was adopted by the committee. Instead the committee report as submitted by Mr. Kahn pointed out the national defense act of 1916 was law being a revision of the old one.

"Extensive as are the changes made," said Mr. Kahn's report, "they alter in no material aspect the military system established by the national defense act, but merely those changes in details which the lapse of time and the experience of the war have shown to be necessary."

"The military establishment will remain as now determined by law, consisting of a comparatively small regular army of professional soldiers, backed by a large reserve of citizens, officers and an organized national guard, subject to considerable federal supervision and liable in time of war to be drafted into the army for general military service."

Perhaps the most notable change which it has been proposed to introduce into the regular army is the principle of flexibility of organization, the report added, declaring the provision giving the president the right to outline the tactical formation will enable "the army to keep pace with changing conditions."

No mention to universal training is made in the report, but Chairman Kahn announced he expected to appoint tomorrow the sub-committee which will investigate all questions of a training scheme and frame the subject bill to be submitted on this subject. The committee, to be composed of seven members, will include a majority of supporters of universal training.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT IS DEFEATED IN COMMONS

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 25.—The government was defeated in the house of commons tonight on a private member's motion, calling for a large increase in the pensions to all policemen retired prior to April, 1919, in order to meet the increased cost of living. The motion, which was strongly supported, was carried by a vote of 122 to 57, although opposed by the government.

The home secretary, Edward Shortt, in behalf of the government, said the increase would cost 50,000,000 pounds sterling and would be followed by similar demands from other government pensioners.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Unless William J. "If my efforts in this matter result in the adoption by either or both parties of a definite policy," he added, "I will be contented, and I will feel certain that in such event the majorities of the people of this nation will compel the prohibition of the full portion of personal liberty and self-determination that we all desire, deserve and demand."

ASK BIDS FOR 27.5 MILES OF HIGHWAY

Direct to Let Approximately $475,000 Worth of Work March 15.

Call for bids for approximately 27.5 miles of roads in the Twin Falls highway district was issued yesterday by the officials of the highway district. The roadwork will cost approximately $475,000, according to estimates of Engineer W. L. Kimbly. The bids will be opened on March 15.

According to the notices 12.25 miles of the road work will be let in one contract in the vicinity of Hansen, 15.3 miles, while 15.3 miles will be in the vicinity of Twin Falls. The proposed roads will lead north, south, east and west from these places to connect with the state highway, bid for construction of which will be let by the state.

The call for bids specifies bituminous macadam pavement. There will be approximately 28,000 feet of excavation to be made in the vicinity of the district, while 35,200 cubic yards of this work is required in the vicinity of Twin Falls.

The specifications do not call for any bridges for the Hansen and Kimbly contract, but do call for two 75-foot spans in the vicinity of Twin Falls. Both contracts call for roads to the Hansen bridge.

It is anticipated that the contracts will be let at the date set and that work will begin immediately.

The construction of these roads will be under way during the time of the Chronicle's big automobile show. It will be a demonstration of the possibility of the automobile industry in this section for on the completion of these many miles of highway there will be added demands for automobiles. The plans of construction of the road is expected to be an attraction to the outsiders who will be here to attend the big show. Twin Falls highway district has the most comprehensive plan for road building of any in the state and when construction work has actually started it is expected that great interest will be displayed in the work here.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. This suffering is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is non-toxic, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever. It is a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble. Adv.

WOMEN SELECTED BY N. Y. DEMOCRATS

Two Delegates and Two Alternates From Fair Sex—Discuss Prohibition

By the Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 26.—New York state democrats, through their delegates assembled in unofficial convention here today, selected the delegates-at-large and the alternates-at-large to the democratic national convention at San Francisco, adopted a party platform, and, by resolution, instructed the delegation at San Francisco to vote as a unit on all matters.

The delegates-at-large are Governor Alfred E. Smith and Miss Elizabeth Marbury of New York, Miss Harriet May Mills of Syracuse and Louis Decker of Buffalo.

The alternates are Edward Riegmann, Brooklyn; Mrs. Maurice Connolly, Queens county; Winifred A. Huppuch, Washington county; and Nettie M. Hewitt, Jefferson county.

There was only one flurry during the three hours the delegates were in session. This came when Mayor J. J. Lamm of Schenectady endeavored to substitute for a platform plank calling for repeal of the federal prohibition amendment, a plank recommending an amendment to the federal constitution providing that hereafter all federal amendments be submitted to direct vote of the people for ratification. After considerable fervid oratory, the Lamm amendment was defeated as a substitute for the repeal plank, but immediately afterwards, on motion of another delegate, it was added as a separate plank.

The platform declared that the democratic party of the nation had enacted more constructive and progressive laws "in half a dozen years than the republican party in half a century," demanded immediate ratification of the peace treaty, endorsed the administration of Governor Smith, congratulated President Wilson on his steady recovery of health, opposed restrictions upon free speech and declared in favor of repealing the federal prohibition amendment.

The prohibition plank, which Mayor Lamm unsuccessfully sought to have eliminated, follows:

"We are unalterably opposed to prohibition by federal amendment. We believe it to be an unreasonable interference with the rights of the states guaranteed by the constitution. We feel that the recent enactment was the imposition of the idea of an active minority against the wishes of the

First Indication of Political Split

The Missouri delegation to the National American Woman Suffrage association convention in Chicago won applause by its appearance, headed by the republican, elephant and the democratic donkey. This was taken as the first indication of the fact that the women's party has split into political parties.
