OXYGEN FAILS WHEN HE REACHES 36,000 FEET

Dayton Citizens Thought a Meteor Was Coming—Schroeder Tells His Experiences

By the Associated Press. DAYTON, O., Feb. 27.—An airplane carrying Major R. W. Schroeder, chief test pilot at McCook field today, fell over the miles after reaching an altitude of 36,000 feet, said to be 5,400 feet higher than the world's record.

Tonight the major is in a hospital suffering from shock and temporary partial blindness. Instruments on the machine indicate that it fell more than five miles in two minutes. While still 2,500 feet above the ground, the airplane righted itself and glided to a graceful landing. When the plane settled, attendants who rushed toward it, found Major Schroeder sitting erect in the machine apparently lifeless.

Thought It Meteor For a brief time residents of Dayton were sure a meteor had appeared in the sky. They had mistaken the trail of vapor escaping from the machine as it sped downward for a "star" in the heavens.

Major Schroeder lost consciousness when his machine had reached a height recorded by instruments as 36,000, or 5,400 feet higher than the world's record established by Roland Holph, last summer.

His senses returned and his eyes opened shut in a temperature said to have been 67 degrees below zero. Schroeder regained partial consciousness when 5,000 feet above the earth in time to right his machine and prevent it from crashing to the ground out of control.

Temporarily Blind Major Schroeder was temporarily blinded and his limbs were numb. He was suffering from the effects of lack of oxygen. When nearly seven miles above the earth, his oxygen tanks became exhausted and it was this which robbed him of consciousness, causing the fall.

Instruments Tell Story

The instruments on his machine recorded the best story of the experiences of the aviator in his flight to beat the record of Roland Holph, and bring first honors to the air forces of the United States army. The thermometer registered a temperature of 55 degrees below zero outside, or 67 degrees below zero inside. Altitude figures from the barograph reading indicated a height of 36,000 feet and when calibrated by Captain Harrison W. Flickinger, showed an official altitude of 36,000 feet, a new high world's record and a variation of less than 1,000 feet.

The mark set by Major Schroeder again gives him the record which he won from his July 30, 1918, flight with an official altitude of 30,000 feet and later increased in a second flight to 31,000 feet. It also breaks the record of Adjutant Casale, a French pilot, who was credited with an official record of 29,187 feet.

Major Schroeder's first altitude record was made at Dayton, September 18, 1918, when he flew a Bristol fighting machine to an altitude of 29,800 feet.

Battles Sovereign Cold Leaving the field at 10:46 o'clock this morning, Major Schroeder headed for two hours and five minutes against chilling air currents and in a bitter cold atmosphere until he reached an altitude of 36,000 feet.

Riding alone, almost seven miles above the earth in a polar climate and against a wind which blew encountered—his machine at 100 miles an hour—Major Schroeder's fall was 5,400 feet by foot to drive his machine higher.

Officers of the field say his machine must have fallen into a fall spin, or otherwise his plane would have continued on Page Five.

I. W. W. SECRETARY GOES ON THE STAND

Smith Claims Attack First Made On Hall by the Soldiers

By the Associated Press.

MONTESANO, Wash., Feb. 27.—A defense version of what happened just before the shooting at Centralla, Wash., during an armistice day parade, in which four former soldiers were killed, was given here today at the trial of 10 Industrial Workers of the World on charge of murder.

Britt Smith, secretary of the Central local of the I. W. W., and one of the defendants, was on the witness stand most of the day. Prior to calling Smith, George F. Vandiver, of counsel for the defense, announced he would attempt to prove that Warren O. Grimm, with whose murder the defendants specifically are charged, was killed while committing an overt act and that he was a party to a conspiracy to raid the I. W. W. hall.

Smith testified that he and some of the other defendants were in the hall while the parade was in progress and that there had been talk among them of "protecting the hall against a mob."

Asked to describe what then occurred the witness said:

"The first thing I saw were soldiers at the window. Then one of them kicked in the door. Then shots rang off. I went to the back of the hall to get my gun from the desk. When I got it, I found the men had gone around to try to get in at the side door. The shooting in the hall was from the crowd. I didn't see who shot."

He added that he did not use his gun but dropped it as he ran out the back door.

On cross examination of Smith the prosecution "devoted" much attention to a statement he had given during a statement examination that the Arnold hotel, across the street from the I. W. W. hall, would be a "good place" from which to protect the hall. Smith said he did not suggest that anyone go there, but had mentioned to Loren Roberts, another defendant, that "hoodlums" and "soldiers would make a bad play if they tried to raid the hall, if any men with guns were stationed in the Arnold." He added that he wanted Roberts to "use his own judgment." Smith said the first shot he saw or heard was fired by a man in uniform in the street in front of the hall.

Efforts of the defense to offer emergency relief to an alleged conspiracy to raid the hall were blocked by a ruling of the court to the effect that an overt act on the part of Warren Grimm must first be proved.

GENERAL WALKOUT IS ORDERED ON FRENCH R.R.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Saturday, Feb. 26.—An order was sent out during the night by the executive committee of the National Federation of Railwaymen for a general strike of all rail men on all roads in France, according to information reaching the Petit Parisien.

The order for a general strike seems to have been the outcome of nocturnal deliberations of the committee in which the executive committee of the National Federation of Railwaymen had confined itself to legislation with Premier Millerand, decided his arbitration suggestion was impracticable and last night again approached the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean company in the person of General Manager Margo, who reported his refusal to reinstate Campanelli, whose discharge by the railroad company for absence from duty to attend a union meeting caused the walkout.

The strike situation this morning is somewhat confused. It is understood that the National Federation of Railwaymen which had confined itself to legislation with Premier Millerand, decided his arbitration suggestion was impracticable and last night again approached the Paris, Lyons and Mediterranean company in the person of General Manager Margo, who reported his refusal to reinstate Campanelli, whose discharge by the railroad company for absence from duty to attend a union meeting caused the walkout.

IRON-RIVER, Mich., Feb. 27.—The government investigation of the Iron River whiskey rebellion, which began here today by George F. Cummerow, special investigator of the department of justice, with the taking of testimony of Martin McDonough, prosecuting attorney of Iron county, officers and citizens of the county, and Chicago newspapermen, will be completed tomorrow, Mr. Cummerow announced tonight.

Iron River citizens were disappointed today when Mr. Cummerow rejected requests for an open hearing. There was even no stenographer present.

PACKER DISRUPTION DENIED IS ENTERED

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Disruption of the packers from all business not directly related to the packing of meat was denied by the federal government through signature by Chief Justice McCreary in the District of Columbia supreme court of a decree filed by Attorney General Palmer with the court, denying the packers.

The decree, which must be carried out within two years, affects 1,000 packers and is a landmark in the history of the industry. It is the first time that the federal government has taken such action against the packers.

TROTZY TELLS OF HIS PLANS FOR WORKERS

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Leon Trotsky, minister of war of soviet Russia, addressing the third Russian congress held in Moscow January 25 last, outlined the Bolshevik plan for converting the red army into an army of labor, according to reports of his speech reaching here.

Referring to the work of the red army, Trotsky said:

"They (the soldiers) have learned under the very hardest conditions to load hundreds of thousands of organized masses and have led peasants into battle. They will be trained officers. There is still one way open to the reorganization of national economy—the way of uniting the army and labor and changing the military detachments of the army into detachments of a labor army."

"Many in the army have already accomplished their military task but they can not be demobilized as yet. Now that they have been released from their military duties they must fight against economic ruin and against hunger; they must work to obtain fuel, heat and other heat-producing products; they must take part in building, in clearing the lines of snow, in repairing roads, building sheds, spinning cloth, etc."

"We have already organized several of these armies and they have been allotted their tasks. One army must obtain foodstuffs for the workers of the districts in which it was formerly stationed and it also will cut wood, get it to the railways and repair engines. Another army will work on the laying down of railway lines for the transport of fuel oil. A third labor army will be used to repair agricultural implements and machines and in the spring will take part in the working of the land."

SUFFRAGE ACTION IN OKLAHOMA IS CLOUDED

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Feb. 27.—Whether Oklahoma has ratified the federal woman suffrage amendment or whether it will be submitted to referendum was in doubt tonight.

After the senate late today had passed a house resolution ratifying the amendment, but had eliminated the emergency clause it carried, and sent it back to the house for concurrence, Governor J. B. A. Robertson announced that ratification had been completed and that the measure only awaited his signature to become effective.

On the other hand, anti-suffrage leaders declared that under the state constitution, no measure without an emergency clause could become operative until ninety days after the governor signed it. They contended that if petitions for a referendum were filed in time to carry the 90 day period expires the legislative act will be halted until the measure is passed upon by the voters.

Governor Robertson contended there is no way the measure might be voted upon in a referendum.

Whether the measure now will become law, the senate amendment eliminating the emergency clause, and what the effect will be if it does not was being speculated upon tonight.

The legislative program calls for adjournment tomorrow evening.

PENNILESS OVERSEAS MAN TURNS ROBBER; GIVEN AID

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 27.—Halpin Durber, former overseas man, was penniless and hungry last night, so he fared forth with a revolver he had captured from a German officer, and attempted to hold up a hotel clerk. He lost his nerve, however, and was captured. Today he told his story in court, was dismissed, and a $10 collection taken up for him in the courtroom. He would not touch the money. He had arranged to have the judge take his revolver with the understanding that the $10 was a loan and the revolver his security.

ATTORNEY SWANN OBJECTS TO GIRLS SEEKING LOCAL COLONY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The quest for "local colonies" and night court "atmosphere" of seven Yassar girls who came here to see a film last night, New York "handicapped" was "banned" from the city. Attorney Swann, who opposed the visit of the girls and refused to assist them, it was learned tonight.

Charges of disorderly conduct and the girls' refusal to be interviewed in the night court, which was held in the city of New York, were the basis of the ban.

SENATE TALKS OLD ISSUE; NO ACTION TAKEN

Irreconcilable Opponents to Peace Pact Take Up Time Confabbing

TREATY AS CAMPAIGN TOPIC AGAIN LOOMING

Opponents Declared to Be Divided if Republican Convention Should Approve Reservations

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The senate talked without acting today in consideration of the peace treaty.

As on yesterday, most of the time went to the irreconcilable opponents of ratification, Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, one of the irreconcilable group, making a four hour speech in denunciation of the treaty provisions affecting Egypt and the treatment accorded the Egyptian delegates to Versailles.

But Little Discussion.

Only a brief period, just before adjournment was there any discussion of the pending reservation, which deals with deletion of domestic questions under the league. Adoption of the reservation in its original form, as advocated by Senator Smith, Democrat, Georgia, who argued that the substitute presented by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, the administration leader, would amount to amendment of the treaty.

While the debate was in progress the leaders on both sides made separate criticisms of the attitude of democratic senators toward acceptance of the crucial article ten reservation in the form it went through last November. With the result that both claimed to be gaining strength. Among the republicans it was charged that the more democratic votes would be needed to insure ratification, but the administration senators asserted ratification would fall by a wide margin unless the republican article ten reservation were modified.

Fuel Out Sentiment.

The democratic leaders also are understood to have felt out sentiment among the irreconcilables, particularly with a view to the probable political consequences if ratification on the basis of the republican reservations again were blocked by democratic votes. Such a result, it generally is conceded, would throw the whole question into the campaign, and some democratic senators are said to be anxious to learn how far the irreconcilable republicans would go in their opposition should the republican national convention declare for ratification with reservations.

On this question, it was declared, divided counsels were found among the irreconcilables. Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, has said openly that he would carry the fight for rejection to the people after the convention. Others of the group, however, are said to favor accepting the decision of the convention, while even Mr. Borah has been indefinite in the suggestions he has made with regard to the possible formation of a third party.

COURT TAKES SCIENTIST MOTION UNDER ADJUDICATION

By the Associated Press.

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Judge Crosby of the supreme court, after hearing arguments by counsel for the Christian Science church litigation today took under advisement a motion by counsel for the directors of the church that Frederic Dodge, as master in the suits, be directed to hear further evidence before filing his report. The evidence, which the directors wish to introduce, is the testimony of John V. Duffin, a witness for the church, who was called by the directors to compel him to resign from the church as a member of their board. No action was taken by Judge Crosby on a motion by counsel for the directors that the time of the hearing be extended to March 1, the church's counsel asking for a continuance of the hearing.

WANTS ITALY AND SLAVS TO SETTLE ISSUE

Premiers in Latest Note Declared to Favor Discarding All Other Agreements

TREATY OF LONDON IS BARRED BY PRESIDENT

France, England and America May Have to Again Try to Devise Agreeable Settlement

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The invitation of the British and French premiers to President Wilson to join them in a formal proposal to the Italian and Yugoslav governments to negotiate a new Adriatic settlement on the basis of the withdrawal of all previous agreements caused no surprise in official Washington.

Note Before President.

The note, which was received today at the state department, is now before the president and his reply is expected to be made within a few days. Meanwhile, officials are conferring from any discussion of it of the president's probable course.

It was pointed out, however, that while adhering to the agreement of December 8, the president in his last reply to the premiers had said that "he would, of course, make no objection to a settlement mutually agreeable to Italy and Yugoslavia," provided that such an agreement is not made at the expense of the nationalities of a third power.

Can Settle Our Troubles.

If the premier's proposal is accepted by the president, Italy and Yugoslavia will have their first opportunity to undertake a settlement between themselves. Officials would not voice their opinions as to the probabilities of such success of such direct negotiations.

There is such a wide divergence between the territorial aspirations of the two countries, however, that it was regarded as almost certain that such negotiations to be successful would consume many months.

In the view of some officials here the time required to reach an agreement would be immaterial as compared with the lasting benefits to be derived from a satisfactory settlement. In fact, it is known that some high officials are of the opinion that delay might be advisable as they believe the natural operation of economic laws will serve to eliminate the troublesome problem resulting from d'Annunzio's seizure of Fiume.

What appeared to be at least a semi-official summary of the premier's note was received in press dispatches from London only a short time after the official text had reached the state department and before it had been laid before the president.

Expect to Make Note Public.

The state department already had taken up with London the question of making the note public, and it was assumed that it would be given out after the president had studied it. The other exchanges were made public yesterday, but it developed during the day that the British government was planning to give to the press the premier's note, along with the note sent to the cabinet, the premier's declaration, December 8, with the Italian and Yugoslav governments, which was not sent to the American government.

The British note, which was sent to the American government, was a formal proposal to the Italian and Yugoslav governments to negotiate a new Adriatic settlement on the basis of the withdrawal of all previous agreements caused no surprise in official Washington.

CAR PLUNGES OVER CLEAR LAKES GRADE

John Ami Suffers Wrenched Back—His Automobile Is a Total Wreck

TUHL, Feb. 27.—John Ami, a shepherd, barely escaped serious injury Wednesday evening when a car he was driving went over the Clear Lake grade. Ami suffered a wrenched back and a few minor cuts.

Ami jumped from the car as it plunged over the canyon, to which he attributed his escape from more serious injury. The car went to the bottom of the canyon, 100 feet below the grade, and was a total wreck.

The accident happened when Ami started to drive the car, which was owned by a local garage, to Tuhl. Not understanding the gear shift, the car shot backwards instead of forward. Ami had driven a car belonging to Tony Walters to the scene of the accident. This car became stalled and a garage mechanic came to place. The mechanic was to take the Walters car in and started to get into the seat when he heard a crashing noise. Looking around, he saw that Ami and the garage car were going down the bank. This is the second accident on Clear Lakes grade this week. M. J. Ekins suffered injuries that have confined him to his bed since last Sunday.

FIRE DOES DAMAGE TO NEW J. E. POHLMAN HOME

The recently completed home of J. E. Pohlman in Blue Lakes addition, was partially destroyed yesterday, when fire that originated from some defective wiring broke out in the upper part of the house and burned its way through the roof.

According to report of the fire department, Mrs. Pohlman, who was in the house at the time of the fire, seemed to be unaware of anything unusual, but the alarm was sent in by a neighbor, Mrs. J. L. McE, who saw the flames as they broke from the roof.

The home furnishings were all saved by the prompt work of Homer Danekelke, foreman on the sewer line under construction in the Blue Lakes addition, who upon discovering the fire as he was passing the house, immediately summoned the men at work on the ditch and put them to removing the furniture at once.

Damage resulting from the fire will not exceed $3000, according to W. R. Worrell, chief of the fire department, and it is understood that there was $2500 insurance carried on the house.

The Catholic Woman's League will have on sale today at the home of Mrs. C. H. Burton, 25, delicious home-made cakes. Telephone your order to 102-W.

ROPER TO RESIGN AS COMMISSIONER

Head of Internal Revenue Announces
He Will Return to Private Life

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Daniel C. Roper, commissioner of internal revenue, has informed government officials of his intention to resign shortly. Although his formal resignation had not been received tonight at the White House, the matter of his successor is understood to be under consideration.

Beyond the fact that he plans to return to private life, no information as to the future plans of Mr. Roper was available here tonight as the commissioner was absent from the city. The resignation, however, it was ascertained, will not become effective for several weeks. Mr. Roper having consented to remain at the head of the revenue bureau until after income tax returns for the past year have been filed and the collection of such taxes, the first installment of which is due March 15, is well under way.

In returning to private life, Mr. Roper will end a long public career as the administrator of the greatest tax collection agency ever organized, which last year gathered approximately $5,000,000,000 in government revenue. He became commissioner of internal revenue in September, 1917, just as the war emergency caused abnormal increases in federal taxes and necessitated the expansion of the bureau from a small peace time affair, concerned chiefly with imports on alcohol and tobacco, into a tremendous machine reaching into the pockets of millions of citizens for increased income taxes and into the

MUST BE A ROYAL WELCOME FOR THE BOYS.

Before very long Twin Falls will entertain delegations from all the American Legion Posts in the state in a meeting. Arrangements are now being made by the members of Twin Falls Post for such entertainment.

The people of Twin Falls will be hosts for the days of this convention of the soldier boys of the state. These boys will be here at our invitation. They come for work; for the purpose of solving some problems as they find for solution. They will perform their labors in their own way and to their own satisfaction.

But they will have hours outside of those employed in work. They will have opportunity for visit to our points of interest. They will have chance to meet our people.

As our guests, they are entitled to such hospitality the community can afford. As our soldier boys, they are entitled to a feast of the fatted calf.

Twin Falls knows how to entertain. Twin Falls people know how to make guests welcome. Twin Falls knows the way to extend the glad hand.

But Twin Falls is busy. Let us not be too busy.

Let's give the boys the best we have.

Let's have a meeting of the membership of the Chamber of Commerce to make plans for entertaining these boys.

OPTIMISM.

The optimist is a handy fellow with a smile. He spreads it around regardless. And it catches and like when one casts a stone in a pool, the waves recede in circles until they are out of sight. So one smile breeds another and they go on and on until they "buck up" against the rocky shore of a pessimist, and there they stop.

Optimism is an asset in humans that is sure to refine the pure gold of commerce or of contentment, or both. Be one. He takes the most hopeful view, but looks on the brightest side. He says that whatever occurs is right and good. His opposite, the pessimist, is a moving Mr. Gloom, a grouch whose personality resents the rain, the sunshine, the clouds and the cold. Nothing suits.

But everything is fine to the optimist. The rain that dampens the pessimist's ardor puts life into vegetation. The sun that dazzles the eyes of the pessimist is a gift of God to the optimist. And he laughs and smiles his way through the world, communicating the kindly trait of optimism to all with whom he comes in contact. Optimism is a swell disease and the world ought to have more of it.

The air program may have been a record of ignorance and dickering, waste and extravagance. The senate's hot-air program is like that.

Pure religion and undefined is the kind that will keep you from using swear words when you observe the antics of the senate.

Europe's politicians would have Uncle Sam pledge advance approval of any deal that they may decide to put across.

"My life has been a poem," says D'Annunzio. Lately mostly nonsense verses.

John Barleycorn is not dead, as reported. He is wintering in Cuba.

THE AUTOMOBILE SHOW.

Last year throngs were attracted to Twin Falls by the Elks' Round Up. The show won popular approval, and the people of Twin Falls made merry with the crowds within her gates, to the delight of the jolly Elks.

This year the big event will be an Automobile Show, handled by the Chronicle.

The show bids fair to break all records for crowds. Moreover, the visitors will come from all over the state, for it is the only big automobile show to be held in Idaho this year, and therefore assumes proportions of a state event.

Our good roads program will then be manifest to visitors. The old story about the bad roads in the Twin Falls country will be forgotten. Tourists will know the vast sums being spent. They will see the work in progress. They will learn the way to our beauty spots, and they will come again and again.

For a full week, Twin Falls will be jammed with people. They will come mostly by automobile. Yet many will come by train. Bureaus will be established for the registration of rooms for rent, so that the crowds may be cared for. The great Magel garage building, two floors 125x125 each, will be filled with exhibits. At night there will be free shows inside the walls, and music all the while. Maybe the young folks will enjoy something in the form of Mardi Gras dances up and down the wide aisles among the exhibits after ten o'clock at night. Maybe there will be talks by prominent men on the good roads plans of the state. Maybe other interesting things will be shown by the program. It surely will be the greatest show ever pulled off in Idaho. The Chronicle guarantees this much.

FIUME FACTS.

If the United States is going to enter the League of Nations, and assume the obligation that membership entails, the United States naturally has an interest in seeing that the new Europe created out of the war is started off as consistently as possible with the principles on which the league is based. We don't want to undertake to uphold any more injustices than we can help and we don't want to buy into any ready-made wars.

This reasoning has direct application to Fiume, whose problem would have been settled to the country's satisfaction and Europe's safety long ago if it had not been for D'Annunzio's crazy exploit and the mingled weakness and ambition of the Italian government.

The cloud of smoke, raised anew has made many people forget some of the plainest fact about Fiume. It is just as well to recall them.

Italy did not go to war for Fiume. Italy did not fight at all for Fiume. Fiume was no part of "Italia Irredenta." She did not ask for it in the pact of London, in which her allies would doubtless have conceded in if requested. Apparently Italy did not even think of Fiume until after the armistice was signed. Then, when it was evident that Austria-Hungary had collapsed, Italian imperialism awoke with a shout, and Italy tried to grab all she could out of the ruins, regardless of the principles she had adhered to while the struggle was uncertain.

With this growing hunger for territory came envy of the new-born Jugo-Slav nation. Foreseeing a possible rival in the future, Italy has deliberately schemed to stifle Jugo-Slavia in its infancy by taking its only available seaboard and harbor, which Italy does not need at all, and thus stifling her commerce. This is not only unjust; it is certain, if permitted, to make a bitter enemy of a neighbor who should be a friend, and to sow the seed of future war.

You can love the under-dog without approving his methods of getting from under.

Whatever politicians may think, America has learned to think of her jobs in terms of Hoover.

Woman Who Devised Magnetized Screwdriver Calls It Her Most Valued Helper.

"I magnetized a screwdriver by holding it close to a dynamo for a few minutes, nearly two years ago, and it is still my most valued helper, when it is necessary for me to do repair work on my car," writes Edith Webb, in the Electrical Experimenter.

"It is a great help when working around the car to have this magnetized screwdriver to pick up screws and small pieces of the machinery which fall down beside, out of my reach. In setting the wheels, it is inevitable; simply pick up the screw by touching the head with the magnetized screwdriver, and it may instantly be set in place with only one hand. It does away entirely with the annoyance of the screw slipping away and getting lost, and it is a great help. I always carry it in the tool box, and find the other fellow appreciates it when I find him having car troubles on some lonely bit of road."

Magazine, Syringe.

Among war inventions that probably will prove valuable in peace time is a magazine hypodermic syringe that may be used 20 times without re-filling. Obviously its chief merit is that of convenience when physicians and surgeons are working under fire and in the midst of danger where refilling of syringes entails difficulty and retards operations.

The instrument is supplied with a platinum needle which permits sterilization in a flame. The cap that protects it, when not in use, is kept filled with boiling alcohol. When large numbers of persons are being inoculated with typhoid serum, for instance, an instrument such as the magazine syringe evidently saves much time.

Roosevelt at Panama.

President Roosevelt visited Panama in 1901, and it was the first time a president of the United States found it "advisable to step on territory not beneath the flag of the United States." The custom was that the president should not leave the country during his term of office, but there is no law about it. President Roosevelt went to Panama on this occasion to visit and inspect the site of the Panama canal. He did not visit Europe during his term of office, but at its close on returning from his hunting trip in Africa.

TWIN FALLS LEGION WINS FROM COMETS

Put in Line For the State Championship by a 31-30 Victory

The basketball contest here last night was the "Battle of Waterloo" for the Rupert "Comets" when they met the Twin Falls Post basketball five on the local floor. Their attack was effectively checked by a score of 37 to 10, favoring the local "slum gladiators."

This victory will set the Twin Falls Legion in line for probable state championship as they and the Mountain Home team have given Rupert her only defeats so far this season.

The local lineup was: Neumann, forward; McCain, forward; Ikard, center; Hubbard, guard; Lavender, guard; Bennett, substitute for Ikard; and Klossner, substitute for McCain. Rupert players were: Scott and Goodman, forwards; Van Epler, center; Brown and Scofield, guards; and Spidell and Koller, substitutes.

Hunger Helps Diabetics.

During the course of the world war, the blockade and unfavorable internal conditions were gradually cutting down the rations of the central empires. It was frequently noted in German newspapers that, at all events, the food shortage had some redeeming features, chief of which was its beneficial effects upon sufferers from diabetes.

In corroboration of this assertion, now comes Professor Rosenfeld of Breslau with an article in a recent number of the Zentralblatt für Innere Medizin, showing how the number of deaths from diabetes was reduced during the war. In Berlin such deaths in 1918 totaled 177 against 204 in 1917, 331 in 1916, 383 in 1915, 467 in 1914 and 400 in 1913; in Munich they were 77, 73, 82, 101, 104 and 105 for the same years, and in Breslau they were 51, 72, 113, 115 and 100.

Cut Metal With Smooth Disk.

Not so very long ago the discovery was made that metals could be saved easier and quicker with rapidly revolving smooth disks of steel than with toothed circular saws. It was found that the cutting was done by the heat generated by the friction of the edge of the disk against the metal. The metal is melted at the point of contact while the steel of the disk, being cooled by the air, does not reach the melting point. The disks need no sharpening and do not wear out so quickly as the toothed saws heretofore used for cutting metal. The faster the disk revolves, the greater the amount of heat generated and the quicker the job.—Popular Science Monthly.

Oil and Helium in Canada.

Canadian commercial enterprise is again before the British public in the form of two announcements, the first being that exploitation of the oil fields of Western Canada on a large scale is in contemplation.

The second announcement refers to the discovery in large quantities in Western Canada of helium, the lightest known gas after hydrogen, which is more suitable than the latter for filling airship envelopes, as it is non-inflammable and nonexplosive.

Trade With Nicaragua.

Declared exports to the United States from Bluefields, Nicaragua, amounted to $285,722 in 1918, an increase of $1,280,452 compared with the value of the 1917 exports. Bananas were the chief article of export, the value of those shipped being $1,161,600 in 1918, a large increase over the 1917 shipments of $500,000.

lapsed when he regained consciousness and righted it after the descent of more than five miles.

The sudden change in the air pressure from less than three pounds at 24,000 feet to 14.7 pounds at sea level, crushed the gasoline tanks on his plane and caused them to collapse, besides jolting Major Schroeder to his senses.

Modern inventions, unthought of before the war, made not only Major Schroeder's voyage possible, but also enabled him to return with an accurate scientific record of the flight. His machine was equipped with a Moss super-charger and was the same as used August 2, 1919, when he broke the world's speed record for high altitude by flying 137 miles an hour at a height of 18,400 feet.

Proves Liberty Motor

The Moss super-charger is a device composed of a gas turbine and centrifugal air compressor. The turbine derives its power from the gas which exhausts from the Liberty motor. The power generated by the gas turbine is used to operate the air compressor at about 22,000 revolutions per minute, and the air so compressed is fed to the carburetor at the same pressure as the air at sea level.

Thus the Liberty motor, delivered full 400-horsepower, even though at high altitudes. Major Schroeder was dressed heavier than any polar explorer. He literally was wrapped in flexible electric heaters. His flying suit was lined with the fur of Chinese Manchurian dogs and between the fur and outer lining flexible electric heat units, connected by silk covered wires with the dynamo of the engine, heated the entire outfit.

Captain Harrison W. Fickinger, chief calibration officer of McCook field, said Major Schroeder's record would be first seen by war department officials at Washington and later to officials of the Aero Club of America. The Aero Club of America, recognized by the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, will be asked to certify the record to the world.

Schroeder Tells Story

Between periods of unconsciousness Major Schroeder tonight in the army post hospital related his battle-fog life above the clouds.

"I was thinking of nothing but that I wanted to attain a height of 40,000 feet when suddenly the oxygen stopped flowing. Then, all at once, it seemed as though a terrible explosion took place within my head. My eyes hurt and I could not open them. I realized I was falling."

"I guess I held hard on the stick, for I knew I must straighten out for a glide. The plane seemed to rise easily. I opened my eyes, but could see nothing of the ground. I closed my eyes tightly and again opened them, seeing that I was over Wilbur Wright field close to the hangars. I couldn't land there."

"I tilted my machine for a climb, intending to make sure of a good altitude and then jump for it with my parachute. But at that instant McCook field came into view. I guess I just became an automaton and came down all right."

Major Schroeder announced his intention of making another attempt to reach an altitude of 40,000 feet.

SAYS WILSON IS RIGHT.

LONDON, Fe. 27.—The Westminster Gazette this afternoon, discussing the Adriatic situation, says:

"There is little reason why the note should not have been published as written and received. A delicate situation between the allies and the United States has arisen, but it cannot be made worse by open discussions."

The newspaper declares that President Wilson is right. In the way he looks at the Adriatic question, it asserts that the difficulty between the allies and the United States is that "Mr. Wilson accepts no responsibility for the treaty of London, which was rendered out of date owing to the breakup of Austria-Hungary and to which he was not a party."

"The treaty of Versailles and the French alliance treaty," the newspaper continues, "would involve America, if accepted without reservation, in an obligation to maintain frontier settlements which he (President Wilson), considers in this case to be inequitable. That is his difficulty. The difficulty of the allies is that they do not know whether America in any case will accept any obligation of this kind at all. The deadlock is quite as much due to the holding up of the treaty in the senate as to any inherent difficulty on the Adriatic question itself."

BASIC PRINCIPLE IS FAITH

Whole Child Character Built on It, According to Writer in Mother's Magazine.

A man never marries the woman he jokes about, and never jokes about the woman he marries. If women followed the same rule, marriages would be the easier. And if wives worried less about the unborn and used more reason about the children that are born, a single generation would revolutionize society.

The boys of today are Fathers in the Making. The kind of fathers they turn out to be will depend, entirely upon the influences that form their characters as children.

I have said the man's faith in woman is stronger than woman's faith in man. Do not forget that truth. But even when faith falls out of the window, love may remain.

Keep this distinction between love and faith clearly before you, because the foundation of the home, and the basis upon which child character is built, is faith.

First, there is the faith of the husband and wife, each in the other.

Second, there is the faith of the child in the mother.

Third, the faith of the child in the father.

Fourth, the faith of parents in the child.

Fifth, the faith of the child in the true principles of life, and its duties and rights as a human being.

These five elementary influences determine the character, and in the absence of one or of more, greater, usual by parents, the moving impulses of the individual all through life.—John, H. Lee Lockwood, in Mother's Magazine.

EXPLAINS NATURE OF THIRST

Doctor Cannon of Harvard University Shows Where Popular Conception Has Been Wrong.

The popular conception of thirst, according to a well-known medical journal, is a loose-jointed contrivance of the body, a condition in which the entire organism suffers, but Dr. W. B. Cannon of Harvard university, considers it a purely local phenomenon.

"According to him, the pre-eminent factor is the relative drying of the mucosa of the mouth and pharynx. This may result either from excessive use of the passage for breathing, as in prolonged speaking or singing, or it may be caused by deficient salivary secretion. The latter, according to Cannon, represents true thirst, depending on the fact that the salivary glands, which keep the buccal and pharyngeal mucosa moist, require water for their action."

The salivary glands occupy a strategic position in relation to a surface that tends to become dry by the passage of air over it. "Thus," Cannon emphasizes, "the diminishing action of the salivary glands becomes a delicate indicator of the bodily demand for fluid."

A Chance Acquaintance

By T. B. ALDERSON

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western News, Inc., Dallas)

Dale Morton felt that he had done a good month's work and had earned a few days' vacation. He had been sent on a mission of looking up the rights of his employer, a city merchant, to an estate. In his pocket was a mass of notes and copies of documents sufficient to prove a title—on addition to the already ample resources of John Wylie. There was a small outside interest. Morton had the name of its possessor. The hunting up of this person could come later, he decided.

It was at the pleasant little town of Grassmere that he got off the train, put up at its hotel and settled down to a few days' sojourn. The next day affected his destiny more than he had ever anticipated and held him at Grassmere for over a week. Morton was lifting a set of coolers and shades at the riverside at the edge of a pretty stretch of the woods next day, when a juvenile hawk arrested his attention.

"Oh, it's broke! Oh, Cousin Kate! My slingshot is all gone to pieces!" was a fearful-fellow cry came into view.

"What's the trouble, sonny?" inquired Morton, and he had held up a wreck represented by two battered suspender ends, a crocheted stick and a dangling strip of leather.

"Don't cry," advised Morton soothingly. "Maybe it can be fixed."

It was many a year since Morton had possessed a like boyish contrivance, but he set his inventive genius at work. The crocheted stick was intact and his wallet was surrounded by two heavy elastic bands. In a fifty he had adjusted these to the stick, the piece of leather was set in place, and he was fairly dandy with delight as he was handed the finished article.

"Oh, ain't it just dandy!" he exclaimed. "Why, it beats Nat Root's sling all to nothing!"

"I hope you won't use it to annoy the birds," observed Morton.

"No, no, no—just for fun! Just for targets. Slingshot—look, just look!"

The lad was twenty feet away digging for munitions in a heap of pebbles. The girl drew back shyly and gazed at him. It was a brief casual conversation and he was sorry when they reached a house at the edge of the wood and he raised his hat in adieu.

Morton took the self-same ramble the following day, to come upon his young friend with a paper target tacked to a tree upon which he was trying his skill. Morton tried a few chances, slung himself. Then he caught sight of a sitting form in the garden of the house and the boy called out: "Oh, Cousin Catherine! Here is the same gentleman who was so kind to me yesterday. Maybe he'd like a bouquet of our flowers."

"If you care for them at all, I will be glad to give you our choicest," she said, rushing to the fence.

Dale Morton went back to his hotel with a nosegay made up of the prettiest flowers in Kate's garden. He had lingered among the roses and lilacs for a full hour, and had come away delighting his pretty hostess a veritable queen of loveliness and grace.

"The mischief!" he chattered as he reached his room at the hotel and stood rooted with dismay. During his absence some one had entered the room and had gone away with his wallet, carelessly left on a bureau.

"I've lost my money, but it held the papers he had been at such pains and expense to secure and he felt the loss of them to be a serious matter."

Morton at once wrote to his employer, telling of the theft and asking for instructions. He hoped that the same might involve a man going over the ground he had already covered, for that would keep him in the district at least where he would be in proximity of his peerless Kate. It would take at least two days to receive a reply to his letter. He made a new sling and took it to Ned. The following evening he strolled past the house that held his destiny. Just as he passed the gate, excited and white-faced, Ned came rushing around the corner of the house.

"Oh, say!" he gasped. "I've killed somebody! The folks are all away and as I was crossing the lot to go over to Nat Root's house, I saw a man prying up one of our side walks. I sprang up my slingshot to hit the side of his house to scare him away. The stone must have hit him instead, for he fell flat."

"We must look into this," said Morton and entered the yard. A man with blood trickling down his face was blindly staggering to his feet. He held the slingshot and looked on. Morton led him to the street just as a village watchman came along. It was a fortunate action, for upon searching the man, Morton's wallet and the stolen papers were found upon him.

Of course after all this excitement Morton had to remain in town. The house until the family had returned, and amid the explanations that ensued he learned that Kate was Kate Knowlton. And Kate Knowlton was the girl with Morton's employer in the estate he had been looking up, and quite naturally, being completely in love with her before he left Grassmere, the devoted lover asked her to become Mrs. Morton.

NON-PARTISAN ATTEND HIRSHAM JOHNSON MEETING

By the Associated Press.

HIRSHAM, N. D., Feb. 27.—"The Americanian I believe in would hold this republic inviolate against the will of European and Asiatic diplomacy," declared Senator Hiram Y. Johnson of California, speaking here tonight in behalf of his presidential campaign. "It would refuse to make the republic subordinate to any junta of diplomats sitting in Geneva or elsewhere."

Representatives of many of the State political factions intermingled at the meeting at the city's auditorium. Political observers noted particularly large representations from two principal factions, members of the Non-Partisan league and members of the following: of Attorney General William Langer, who has been speaking against the state Non-Partisan league administration. Mr. Langer served on Senator Johnson's entertainment committee tonight.

EDUCATORS ATTACK CHICAGO POLITICIANS

Refuse to Consider Illinois City For Convention Because of Treatment of Chinkey

CLEVELAND, Feb. 22.—With the election of officers of the department of superintendence, the selection of Washington as next year's convention city and the adoption of resolutions favoring the passage by congress of the Smith-Towner bill, providing for a secretary of education in the president's cabinet, and an annual federal school appropriation of $100,000,000 for salaries and school activities, and other resolutions, the National Educational association convention practically closed today.

St. Louis, Kansas City, San Francisco, Cleveland and Chicago extended invitations for next year's convention. On motion of Superintendent Henry Snyder of Jersey City, the delegates voted to withdraw Chicago from the list "until the disgrace accorded Superintendent C. E. Chadbey by the Chicago Board of Education be rescinded." Chadbey was shown of his executive powers when the board which elected him was removed and a new board appointed.

In a bitter debate the progressive element in the department of superintendence succeeded in securing for next year a more democratic method of electing officers. A resolution by Superintendent Fred Hunter, Oakland, Cal., that new officers be chosen by the delegates instead of by the nominating committee was defeated. A motion by Durand Springer of Ann Arbor, Mich., providing for a primary system of nomination of officers at next year's convention by ballot, was adopted.

A final ballot is to be voted on at the final session, shall contain the names of the two candidates receiving the highest number of votes on the primary ballot.

LITHUANIAN TROOPS IN KOVNO MEETING FOR BACK PAY

WARSAW, Thurs., Feb. 26.—Lithuanian troops mutinied in Kovno in February 21, according to the Polish government news agency, besieging the parliament building for 24 hours to enforce demands for back pay. The railway station and other parts of the city were subjected to artillery fire day and night.

The soldiers meanwhile continually fired upon the parliament and other government buildings with rifles and machine guns. Royal troops finally suppressed the mutiny.

Report attributes the mutiny to Bolshevism. It is said the Lithuanian politicians are now more favorable toward reaching an understanding with Poland for resistance to Bolshevism.

Advices received in London on Wednesday reported that a mutiny among the troops at Kovno had been quickly suppressed. The situation was then normal, the advices added.

DEMPESEY INDICTED AS DRAFT EVADER

Letter to Wife Asking for Affidavit Results in Grand Jury's Action.

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 22.—William Harrison (Jack) Dempsey, heavyweight champion of the world, and his manager, Jack Kearns, were indicted by the federal grand jury here today on a charge that they conspired to have Dempsey evade the selective draft. A second indictment against Dempsey charged actual evasion of the draft.

Warrants were sworn out for their arrest and their bonds fixed at $1,000 each. The conspiracy charge provides for a maximum penalty of two years in the penitentiary and $2,000 fine and the evasion charge one year in prison.

The indictment followed weeks of investigation conducted by E. M. Blanford, chief of the department of justice bureau of investigation, and Colonel C. W. Thomas, assistant United States district attorney here. The investigation was prompted by public charges by Maxine Dempsey, divorced wife of the pugilist, that she had been compelled to attest Dempsey's claims for exemption.

Subsequently Mrs. Dempsey presented an affidavit to Colonel Thomas in which she retracted the charges, saying they had been caused by plague against Dempsey. This affidavit figured in the grand jury inquiry. Mrs. Dempsey, Frank Spillman, a representative of a company in which Dempsey is interested, a number of characters prominent throughout state sport circles and executives of the draft board which exempted Dempsey appeared before the jury.

Federal officials said they were advised that Dempsey and Kearns would arrive here tomorrow to surrender themselves. Dempsey was charged with having falsely sworn that his father, mother, widowed sister and her two children were dependent on him, that he had contributed $20 a month each to their support during the year 1917 and that they were receiving support from no other source.

Dempsey's statement to the draft board, that his wife had lived with him for 18 months previous to his appearance before the board, and that his parents and widowed sister had made their home with him for four years were false, according to the indictment.

"Say, dear, if I ask you would you, if I wanted you to, swear to an affidavit that I was supporting you (see)," Dempsey wrote his wife, Maxine Dempsey, in August, 1917, the indictment asserted.

RAILWAY EXECUTIVES APPROVE R. R. BILL

Key Measures Will Succeed I Carriers Gain Sufficient Credit.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Approval of the railroad bill now awaiting action by the president was expressed at a meeting here today of executive representatives of approximately 90 per cent of the country's railways, who discussed the provisions of the bill in connection with the resumption of the ownership of the railroads. The statement issued at the close of the meeting the executives predicted that the proposed legislation would be successful of the credit of the carriers is made sufficient to enable them to perform their public duties. The executives also stated that the railways are approximately five years behind in operating equipment as a whole, and that the credit must first be established before the carriers could begin the task of overhauling their equipment. It was estimated that the roads are three years behind in equipment, and two years behind in locomotives, one year behind in freight cars and two years behind in passenger cars.

With the resumption of private control and under the provision of the bill every railway connected with the operation of the railways is required, the statement said. Railroad administration officials have been preparing for the complete reorganization of the great railway organization into the body which will act as the regulating agency. The bill would require the railways to submit a plan of reorganization to the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the delivery of their pay checks tomorrow night. All railroad staffs tomorrow night will turn over their work to the new corporation officials in the respective regions. Officers, however, will continue to carry on the operations of the railways in the interim, and transfer of funds will be made. Mr. Hines, however, will have numerous appointments to deal with after he comes to direct control of the lines. A score of labor organizations have unhesitatingly

TO OPEN S. A. WORK HERE ON SATURDAY

Various Organizations to Combine to Obtain Budget of $3500.

Fixing the date for the formal opening of the Salvation Army work here for next Saturday, and approving an expense budget of $3,500 for the ensuing eight months, the advisory board last night named a committee of five to invite a similar committee from each of the War Mothers, the American Legion and the General Trades body to take charge of the campaign that date for the raising of the budget.

Forces of Army workers will be brought to Twin Falls for the opening, which will not only carry through the evening of that day, but will carry over till the following day, Sunday, after which the local corps will hold its regular street and hall meetings. The campaign for the raising of the budget will be made in the afternoon. It will be a dollar campaign, the offering of each individual being limited to that amount. Details of the arrangements will be perfected at a meeting of the several committees Sunday afternoon at the Elks' rooms. Ensign and Mrs. Nation will be present, and the representative of the advisory board, the War Mothers, the American Legion and the General Trades body. Officers of the various organizations will be asked to name their members of the committee to day, so that they may be ready for action Sunday afternoon.

The budget to be raised covers all the expenses of the little corps of Salvation Army workers for the eight months beginning March 8, including the purchase of household goods, the cost of operation and incidental expenses of the organization. The sum is so modest that the committee was really astounded, and felt that no trouble would be found in raising the sum by small subscriptions, the campaign to be handled by those organizations which are particularly fond of the Army and its work.

ALLIES MAY WANT TO KNOW
Likely to Ask for Facts, Concerning Condition of the Famous German War Chest.

In the days before the war the castle of Spantau, some eight miles north-west of Berlin, was famous as the official repository of the German war chest. In the Julius tower of the castle was stored some 120,000,000 marks in gold, the money being part of the war indemnity paid by France in 1871. There it was kept "for the purpose of being used in case of war." What happened to this gold reserve in 1914 is not known, but an interesting allusion is thrown on the great treasure chest by the account which has just come to hand from Berlin describing how some 20,000,000 ltr was recently abstracted from the vaults at Spantau during the disturbances which followed the signing of the armistice. The money, which was part of the amount hurriedly removed from Roumania when that country was evacuated, was lodged in the citadel "because there was no room for it in the Julius tower." Now, what the outside world is interested to know is: Was this Roumanian money crowded out of the Julius tower because the Julius tower was already filled to overflowing with specie? To be sure it was a large sum that claimed admission, no less than 200,000,000 ltr, but any one who knows the Julius tower knows that it is a large place.

CHRISTIANS IN DANGER UNDER TURKISH RULE IS CLAIM

By the Associated Press.
BOSTON, Feb. 27.—Dr. James L. Barton, chairman of the Near East relief committee, who recently returned from eight months relief work in Turkey, in a statement tonight commenting on reference to the Turkish situation made by President Lloyd George in the British house of lords, said that there could be "no safety for Christians under Turkish rule."

"Mr. Lloyd George is reported as saying, in defense of leaving the Turk in Constantinople, Constantinople, Anatolia and parts of Armenia, said Dr. Barton, 'that any decree authorizing persecution of Christians would be signed under the menace of British, French and Italian guns.' He claims that the Armenians would be spared from such persecutions with the Turks in Constantinople under the menace of allied guns than if they were in Asia-Minor."

WILL TEST LEVER ACT AMENDMENT IN COURT

By the Associated Press.
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 27.—At the request of Attorney General Palmer, the U. S. Cohen Grocer company, a local wholesale firm, today was re-inducted into the federal grand jury on a charge of profiting to test the constitutionality of an amendment to the Lever food control act.

RENDER FRENCH OPERA

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The Chicago Opera company tonight gave the first American performance of "Aphrodite," a French opera, based on Pierre Louys' romance, with music by Camille Erlanger and libretto by Louis de Gramont. Mary Garden appeared as "Chryseis," a courtesan of Egypt and Edward Johnson, the American tenor, took the part of Demetrius. A feature of the performance was an oriental ballet arranged by Andre Pavlov and Sergio Oukrainsky.

ALPS HAD THEIR REVENGE

Famous Airman, Who Had Defied Great Mountains at Last, Meets His Death There.

For of the men who have given their lives to the air, have met a more impressive end than the handsome, gold-haired young Captain Natielli. He was the favorite pilot during the war of Maj. Gabriele d'Annunzio, the Italian poet who became one of the greatest aviators.

Natielli evidently had motor trouble when right over the Alps. With extraordinary skill he landed his machine on a glacier 9,000 feet high. Getting out of it unhurt, he started to climb down the mountain side. A snowstorm soon set in around him, but on he plodded through the mounding drifts towards the little village of Bourg St. Moritz. In the valley below. For a while day at least he stumbled forward, without food and pierced by the bitter cold.

Then, when he was 200 yards from a mountain hut, and within sight of the Alpine village, his strength gave out and he sank down into the snow. His courage urged him to another effort; the snow was found with the marks of his struggles to rise again. But he could do no more, and there, two days later, a passing peasant found the gallant young Italian pilot lying with his head on his arm as if asleep, half-covered by the snow, and without a bruise on his body.

So did the Alps which he had conquered revenge themselves upon Natielli, who had escaped death in 140 raids over the enemy lines in war.

EASY TO IMPROVE MEMORY

Whole Secret Is to Concentrate the Mind Entirely on the One Thing in Hand.

People of poor memory are generally inattentive and fail to concentrate. Systems like Pelmanism help to good memory in that they focus the mind on the thing at hand. Dreamers read, and for the life of them cannot tell what the last sentence was, unless it was stated to them which they vividly remembered having them out of their dream, and then it is fixed for good; thus showing that memory is conditioned on attention and concentration. To cure this requires heroic treatment. Make it a religious resolve to attend only to the thing in hand. If it is reading, concentrate on the book so thoroughly that every sentence takes clearly defined meaning in the mind. One cannot think of something else and at the same time understand and remember what he is reading. The result is the same of memory in its excessive dreaming, abstraction, inattention. It can be done by persistent, patient, long-continued effort.

Getting Acquainted With America.

"The United States has been getting the greatest advertising during the last two years that any nation has ever received, and the results of this should be reaped in foreign trade, just as any merchant obtained custom from an advertising campaign."

Since the beginning of the war there has been a steady stream of foreign visitors to the United States, headed by men of prominence in their respective countries. They have visited the shipyards, the steel mills, the camps and the industrial cities, and they have seen the miles of fertile farm lands and gained a new conception of the vastness of America and its ability to put over big things on a big scale. A convention of the League of Nations in Washington will add still more to this world knowledge of America's resources. The chief thing now to be sought is the holding of the advantage gained.—Forbes Magazine.

Big Brother Movement.

The "Big Brother" movement was started in 1904 by Ernest K. Cantler, in New York city. Since that time the work has been taken up in over 100 cities. There is a staff of paid workers, supplemented by volunteers—lawyers, physicians, merchants, etc. The object is to shut the cause of the boy's troubles, whether it be truancy, stealing, etc., running away from home, etc. Then with the co-operation of parents, through the medium of the "Big Brothers," an effort is made to build up within the boy a sense of honor and good citizenship. The headquarters are at 200 Fifth avenue, New York city.

Discharging a Cook.

One result of the bolshevist law that persons who are employed cannot be removed arbitrarily is instanced by the Bulletin Russa, published by the League for the Emancipation of Russia at Lausanne, Switzerland. It declares that at Smolensk a butcher had a cook whom he wished to discharge. She refused to leave her place and he was unable to turn her out. On the advice of a bolshevist friend the butcher made his case and immediately afterward directed her. As a divorced woman she was legally compelled to leave the premises.

Prevalence of Deafness.

The last census showed that there are in the United States 8,257 persons who are totally deaf. Dr. Wendell C. Phillips of New York told the Philadelphia College of Physicians recently that in New York city there are at least 100,000 persons more or less incapacitated as a result of partial deafness, and of these probably 80 per cent are of the working class.

Within a short time I will announce to the public my future plans which will be in keeping with the wonderful progress and growth of the best little city in the west.

NEBRASKA NON-PARTISANS TO ENTER CONGRESSIONAL RACE

By the Associated Press.
LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 27.—Following an all-day conference of members of the Non-Partisan league of Nebraska, announcement was made tonight by A. Borenson, the league's attorney, that it has been decided to enter the congressional contest, and that conventions will be held in the third, fifth and sixth districts March 9, at which candidates will be endorsed for nomination. These candidates will be members of the republican party. It was stated by Mr. Borenson, no action was taken as to endorsements in the first, second and fourth districts.

HUNGARIAN MAKE ATTACK ON HUMANITARIAN HUNGERS

PARIS, Feb. 27.—The Hungarian peace-delegation has sent to the supreme allied council meeting in London a strongly worded note calling attention to the "arbitrary action of the Roumanian military authorities in Transylvania." They demand this question to be given immediate attention.

MUNIS MINEERS STRIKE.

HUNTERS, Feb. 27.—The miners in the Mont district have struck, protesting against the new bread prices and asking for higher wages. They urge the government to confiscate foodstuffs and re-establish the rationing system. A general strike is threatened.

Many Have Ruined Health.

"The greater proportion of people are fast food eaters and their way of living makes them sick," says a bulletin of the Indiana state board of health. "The people of America are only 50 per cent efficient as a result of ill health and disease. Apparently our population is 100,000,000; actually it is only 50,000,000. This is the result of wrong feeding, wrong housing, poor and insufficient water drinking; alcohol, coffee and nicotine addiction, and our awful and absurd use of drugs and patent medicines."

Hawaiians Dying Out.

According to Prof. Vaughan MacGregor of the College of Hawaii, the Hawaiian race is rapidly becoming extinct. This disappearance of "one of the finest physical types known in the history of the human race" is due to intermarriage with white men of all classes, plagues, measles, leprosy, tuberculosis, pneumonia and the most terrible of blood diseases, none of these having been known in Hawaii before the advent of the white man.

Electric Lighting.

There are 8,000,000 homes in this country lighted by electricity and 2,000,000 homes in other means. A few homes in the latter class are wired, but are not connected to any electric service. It is estimated that in the homes lighted by electricity there are 125,000,000 sockets containing unimproved incandescent lamps containing carbon lamps and 11,000,000 empty sockets.
