

STIOUX FALLS, S. D., Jan. 10. — James W. Gerard, former U. S. ambassador to Germany and minority candidate for nomination for president at state primary March 28, in joint debate tonight with McNroe, independent Democratic candidate for nomination from Illinois, said he was convinced that he was a better man for President Wilson than McNroe, because he was "not a talking anybody" and had been "who for eight years a Democratic party organization and brought down the party power in the west talking hope."

THE FIRST VOTERS.

You may accept the word of Judge Brown, founder of the Utah State Penitentiary, the paternal court and soul of Gary of the Boy City, it is the boys who are going to decide this elec-

There are about 4,000,000 boys who will be first voters this year," he explains. "There are more first voters by many hundreds of thousands than there ever were before. Form these into a First Voters' league and you will have a potential force that will not only elect the next president, if properly organized, but will govern the country, giving us more patriotism and common sense, more purposeful leaders and saner laws than those that encumber our national life."

It seems a good deal to expect from all at once. There is no question, though, of the potential elective power of the youthful army. The subject is respectfully referred to political leaders, who thus far do not appear to have taken the boys so seriously as they used to. It is just as well, however, to add the warning of Judge Brown that this is "peculiarly a nonpartisan year." Possibly the boys will not be found so susceptible to going with party labels and enlistment in partisan activities as their fathers were the same age. Boys may not think so clearly about public affairs, but they are quicker than their elders to catch the spirit of the time; and it is always feeling rather than logic that determines the attitude toward public affairs.

It is not very likely that anybody will be able to organize any big proportion of the 4,000,000 boys by use of the old-fashioned political clap-net. It will probably take something new to appeal to them, a new outlook, an appreciation of new issues, perhaps new leaders—factors that will establish for them a connection between politics and life as they now know it.

Both sides to the treaty controversy give fair reasons by the carload, justifying their respective attitudes toward ratification of that instrument. The titans of either side daily fill columns of the press with excuses for their failure to act, and recriminations for the other side, who alone balks immediate action. The average citizen is bewildered. He has long since lost sight of the merits of the two sides, and has ceased to be able to guess, let alone decide intelligently, the case as between the contending parties. The plague of both your houses is his impatient condemnation. He has ceased to care much which side is right, or to be interested in the question of victory for his party. The treaty question has become of little importance to him, and fate concerns him only in the remotest degree. But the delay has not been without its reaching effect for evil. As a result, the high estate of popularity which the United States enjoyed abroad a year ago has been destroyed. We have scarcely a friend in all of Europe or Asia. We are damned everywhere, let the blame lie where it may. Of all the friends of a few months ago of all the eulogists of a few years, there are few so low as to do honor. From the leadership of civilization we have fallen to such depths as to command the praiseful word of but one—the Un-speakable Turk. Only the sultan still speaks of us kindly, tolerantly, and would have us the upraised sword pause in its swish-swish through Armenia whenever the despised Christian beneath its blade shall prove to be a Yankee.

INDEPENDENT DOMINIONS.

The truth about the independent representation of the British self-governing dominions in the assembly of the league of nations seems to be this—that the dominions were given such representation not at the suggestion of Great Britain, but in spite of Great Britain. They demanded it, and the British government did not dare refuse it, for fear of losing allegiance. The British government would rather do their representing for them than have them do it for themselves.

Canada, South Africa, Australia and the others are now hanging to the parent country by a slender thread. Efforts of British imperialists to form a British imperial league with an imperial parliament have failed. The British empire seems nearer dissolution today than before the war.

The solidarity displayed during the war was deceptive. The dominions went into the conflict of their own free will, and played their military and financial parts independently. As a result, they now feel more independent than ever. Canada, for example, is even demanding her own diplomatic representatives at foreign capitals. The British government will probably have to grant this demand at least with respect to Washington. And where will it end?

Certainly Canada is an independent nation in nearly all the fundamentals of nationality. If Great Britain ever seriously questions the fact, Canada will doubtless settle the point easily and quickly. Canada's natural affiliations in the future seem to be rather with the United States than with the rest of the British empire. It will be so if the United States itself treats Canada properly.

THE TEACHING OF CIVICS.

There is one branch of study which should have the most careful consideration in normal schools. It is the fitting of teachers of all grades for teaching civics and an understanding and respect for the laws and government of this country.

Up to the present day the teaching of civics has been confined to high school and college courses almost entirely. Yet recent developments have shown how necessary it is that teaching on these subjects should begin earlier than that.

Seventy-five per cent of the children who enter the public schools never reach the high schools and it is among these children after they leave school that the pernicious doctrines which destroy governments find their fairest field.

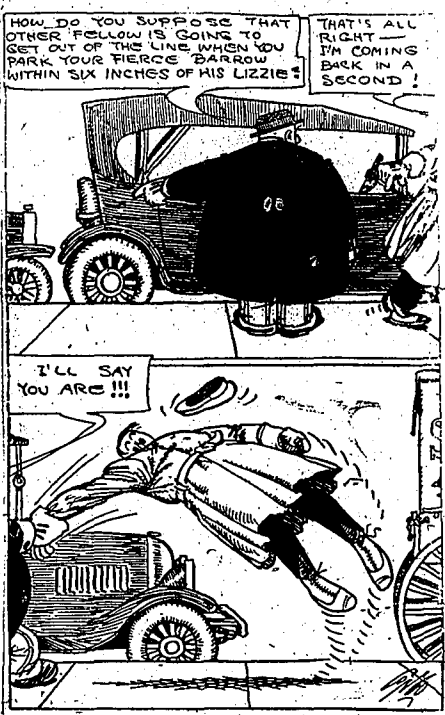

There should be the highest and most stringent requirements as to the loyalty and soundness of the teachers' position in the matter of government and law, and there should be in every normal cause a provision for training teachers to present these subjects interestingly and intelligently from the lower to the higher grades.

"Give me the first ten years of a child's life, and I care not who has him afterwards" said one great authority on education. The importance of these first ten years in the formation of civic ideals must not be overlooked by the educative body, and their direction should be under those only who are qualified by principle and training to handle so delicate a task.

The say illiterate immigrants are swarming to Ellis Island again. That doesn't matter much, provided they're not swarming through as they used to.

Well, the holiday bills are nearly paid, and now you can start on your income tax.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

JOHNSON ATTACKS HIS OPPONENTS

Declares Wray and Lowden Spending Wads of Money in South Dakota.

MITCHELL, S. D., March 2.—Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California tonight opened fire upon his leading opponents for the republican nomination for the presidency, charging that the expenditure of money in the South Dakota primary is such as has seldom been seen in any campaign in any state.

"It is obvious," said the senator, "that this state has become a tremendous battle ground of the wealth and power, and financial resources of my two leading opponents."

"Billion in any state has such an extravagant expenditure of money in a primary campaign. I cannot compete with them in this kind of contest. It may be their good fortune and my misfortune that they can expend in all directions enormous sums of money and that I cannot. I have back of me no great corporation, no trust, no powerful financial interests. In this commonwealth I am pitting whatever of ability, of courage, of energy and of character God has given me against the wealth, the influence and the power of organized politics and organized big business in politics. I am depending here, as ever in my political contests, upon the home living, God fearing, free patriotic citizenship, the intemperate mass who make this country great and insure its future destiny."

In discussing the problems of the high cost of living, for which he declared, no man has discovered a panacea, Senator Johnson denounced the profiteer as a traitor.

"I cannot cure the high cost of living," he said. "You cannot cure it. But we can run the scale scientifically from the original producer to the ultimate consumer, and when we ascertain where the profiteering is we will take the profiteer and treat him as he ought to be punished. Perhaps then we can stop something of the high cost of living."

The senator said "it was impossible to bury the American flag and make the American people walk over its grave without becoming an issue in this American campaign."

"I do not care what politicians may assert," he continued, "the issue is here right now, and the issue will be with the American people until they themselves decide it. Why should not American men and women decide whether the American youth shall police the world or fight for boundary lines in Europe and Asia? Who else shall decide when our blood is to be devoted to quarrels not our own?"

The senator said he had no objection to make for talking about the league of nations.

"The difficulty is that some of our friends are willing that Europe shall decide this issue, while we insist that American must decide it," he asserted.

He said that he would go to any length to prevent war, and that he favored an international forum to fix international opinion, but that he would never subscribe to a pact which binds American boys to go to the four quarters of the globe to settle foreign disputes.

PLANS MATURING FOR CONVENTION

American Legion Committee Makes Progress In Its Work of Preparing to Handle Visitors.

Twin Falls Post American Legion will anxiously strive to make the state convention held here on April 7, 8 and 9, one long to be remembered by those in attendance. This is evidenced by reports of the committee in charge of the preparations.

Yesterday noon the committee met at a local cafe at which each sub-committee made a report of the progress made since the committee were organized a week ago. Each committee reported it had been working overtime in its efforts to devise the best possible plans for the entertainment of the visitors.

The finance committee reported that it had held a meeting last Monday with a citizens committee consisting of R. J. Ostrander, J. M. Maxwell, C. N. Beatty, J. L. Russell and L. L. Brockbridge to make plans for the securing of funds.

Chairman Taylor Cummings of the finance committee reported that the citizens committee would do all possible to secure any amount of funds needed to handle the convention.

The citizens committee also urged that the reunion of the 14th field artillery band, plans for which had been abandoned when the convention was advanced to April, be held. Immediately following this suggestion plans to hold this reunion were revised. If it is held it will be one of the biggest features of the convention and the famous band will provide music for several functions.

Entertainment to be provided will be one of the best obtainable. It is anticipated that there will be a large number of women present at the convention. Some will come as delegates while a large number of the visitors are expected to bring their wives or other women relatives. Ample provision will be made to care for these visitors.

While it is expected that there will be at least 500 visitors here, arrangements will be made to provide room for all who attend.

Another feature of the gathering will be the publication of a convention number of the Post Bulletin. The publicity committee is co-operating with the executive committee and the publishers of the paper, and the editor, in the plans for this issue. It is planned to have the issue contain the history of the state legion from its inception to the time of the present convention, to carry a story of Idaho and its possibilities, and other matters that will make it a feature issue.

The general committee at the meeting of the legion last evening on its progress. These reports heartily approved the plans as they are being carried out.

At the legion meeting last evening decision was reached to have an entertainment at the next gathering March 16. This meeting is expected to be one of the largest in the history of the post.

CADDOCK THROWS BEST. FRANCE HAS TO OFFER

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 2.—Earl Caddock of Anita, Iowa, former heavyweight wrestling champion, threw Salvador Chavaler, the French expert, with a head scissor and arm lock in 58 minutes and 11 seconds at Madison Square Garden here tonight. Chavaler weighed 200 pounds, 14 more than his opponent.

The Frenchman was the aggressor during the greater part of the first half. He was in difficulty twice later but each time his defeat was delayed when the men went off the mat and, under agreement, assumed erect positions.

Six minutes before the finish Caddock obtained a head scissor and tried to pin his opponent with an arm lock. Chavaler wriggled out, but only to fall victim to the same hold.

GRAFTERS INGENUOUS ADVERTISING USERS

Vigilance Committee of Associated Advertisers Disclose Schemes Used On Unwary.

NEW YORK.—Ingenious use of advertising schemes by "get-rich-quick" men are being run down by the National Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World, which keeps a corps of men at its work almost constantly. Richard H. Lee, special counsel of the committee, who supervises the work, tells many stories of confidence men and the methods used to con and convert them.

One man, he says, formed a league of automobile users. The league listed a price list of accessories, a catalogued list of accessories, a manufacturer to make them. When a member ordered an article, another was substituted and a circular letter explained that because of the great demand, the factory was behind in its orders. In some cases the substitute was attributed to the carelessness of the object desired. The substitute was a cheap affair, made for the head of the league but the membership was satisfied, temporarily at least, by the explanation that while the price was higher than that ordered, the league would not let it to him for the same sum.

This man built up a good reputation by means of "preferred" customers, whom Mr. Lee describes as "plumbers" who humored him further the designs of the confidence man. A group of these men was established in each town where the league did business.

An illustration, Mr. Lee cites the case of one of the most prominent surgeons in an Ohio city who was persuaded to join the league. He bought a "fix" which an agent obtained from a local dealer of "stock" bonds, right track and then laid out the proper time had elapsed for shipment from headquarters. The doctor was delighted. In a few days the agent dropped around to see him and asked how the fix was holding up. On inspection the agent found an imitation of a fix, and related upon receiving the fix with a new one also bought at the usual retail price. He left the supposedly defective fix, saying that the doctor could use it as a "spare," and refused further payment.

"If you really feel so grateful doctor," he said, "write the Old Man a letter about it and tell him how you feel."

The letter was used for advertising purposes. Not only, but many companies brought suit against the league, without success, for the defendant would put his "preferred" customers, all men of unquestioned reputation, on the stand, and the case would be dismissed.

This man reduced another letter writer to a delusion. He dictated a set of circular letters answering every conceivable sort of question pertaining to his business, indexed them and often planned the greater part of his clerical force.

Mr. Lee told one amusing story. A customer complained that a ship part was missing from a shipment. The inexperienced girl who answered the complaint looked up "goods" in the index and followed it down until she found the word "lost." She then sent out a circular letter saying that the league always took the greatest care to see that there was no shortage in shipments, and if the consignee "would shake up the excelsior in the bottom of the box" he would undoubtedly find the missing object.

After Mr. Lee's plan, the vigilance committee obtained conviction and sent the head of the league to prison.

Another man formed a company ostensibly to build tractors, using the name of Ford, for Henry Ford was at that time said to be contemplating marketing a tractor. The swindler picked up a telephone book, ran down the list of Ford's and found a number. He called on this man and told him that he had been highly recommended and that he wanted him to superintend the construction of the first machine. The swindler had an easy time at high pay for a few weeks, dropping in on the head of the company to make suggestions once in a while. When the first tractor was nearing completion, the swindler told him that his work had been so valuable that it had been decided to name the machine for him, and got him to sign a paper permitting this use. When this paper was signed, he soon disappeared from the payroll, and the stock selling began. The vigilance committee also obtained the conviction of this man.

Another bogus company, formed in Akron, in the heart of the tire industry, sold its stock chiefly to people in that city, through the power of advertisement although only one of the purchasers could have ascertained that the factory which was situated within 20 miles.

Mr. Lee tells of visiting a man now in prison, whom he describes as the country's foremost swindler. He asked for another "international confidence man" who had been associated with the first and learned that they had come to a correspondence.

"But you know that he had a money time?" Mr. Lee asked.

"How could he, after the money I stole from him?" was the rejoinder. Mr. Lee laughed, and the man exclaimed:

"Can it be possible that fellow wasn't on the level with me?"

LOWER PASSENGER RATES ADVOCATED

Eric President Asserts Public Would Be Better Satisfied.

NEW YORK, March 7.—A plea for lower passenger rates and a readjustment of freight rates to provide "equitable" distribution of revenue from commodity tariffs was made today by P. B. Underwood, president of the Erie railroad, in a statement concerning regulation of private control of the railroads. He predicted one of the first benefits to be noticed by the public will be more efficient service.

"I am opposed to 'class freight rates,'" Mr. Underwood said, "and to higher passenger fares. In fact, I believe passenger fares should be reduced to two cents a mile, except for certain lines serving a limited territory and upon which there are peculiar conditions. The railroads and the public in time will come to understand that these great enterprises can best prosper when the public has the benefit and protected by commodity freight rates."

"The passenger fare is a direct tax on the people. Commodity freight rates to the individual means almost nothing. For instance, a man doesn't worry particularly if he has paid six cents freight on his overcoat, but if he is compelled to pay five or six dollars more than he formerly did for a trip back to his old home, he thinks he is being "robbed." Commodity freight rates impose the least tax on the things in greatest use and the higher tax on commodity of comparatively limited use. There is a certain amount of raw material manufactured in an eastern city. On a trip to the Pacific coast I priced the same in various cities and I found them selling for the same price in San Francisco as in the city of manufacture. What difference does the freight rate make in that case to the consumer? However, I think the increased passenger fares to the Pacific coast make considerable difference."

The public is going to benefit under private control, he continued, through the reawakening of keen competition among the railroads. The individual responsibility of railroads, he said, will be enhanced.

"TO OBTAIN GLORIOUS DEAD."

"TO BE ONLY INSCRIPTION." LONDON.—It has been decided that the words "To Our Glorious Dead" will be the only inscription appearing on the cenotaph soon to be permanently reconstructed in Whitehall, because it is a monument to men of various creeds and denominations who died for the empire and are buried elsewhere. Members of the British cabinet decided that a purely "Christian inscription" would not be appropriate.

PEACE BATTLE DRAWS NEAR TO ITS END

Two More Reservations Sustained in Plan to Force Treaty Into Campaign.

MORE DEMOCRATS HAVE DESERTED PRESIDENT

Republicans Attach Significance to Vote on Monroe Doctrine Qualifications
—Shantung Today.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 2.—Two more of the reservation reservations to the peace treaty, one of them affecting the bitterly debated Monroe doctrine provisions were readopted in the senate today without change and by greater majorities than they commanded when originally presented last November.

Gets Democratic Support.
The Monroe doctrine reservation, which senators have been told is scarcely less objectionable to President Wilson than that relating to article 10, got the support of 15 democrats and won by a vote of 58 to 22 after a substitute drafted by one democratic leaders had been rejected.
The vote on the republican proposal was 55 to 24 in November when only nine democrats supported it.

Little Doubt Had.
The other reservation acted on asserts the full jurisdiction of the United States over purely domestic questions and was adopted 56 to 26, with 14 democrats helping to make up the majority. In November, it got the votes of only eleven democrats and was adopted 59 to 36.

On the Monroe doctrine reservation several democrats who did not vote for adoption in November swung over to the republicans on today's roll call.
They were Senators Beckham, Kentucky; Fletcher, Florida; Pittman and Henderson, Nevada; King, Utah; Smith, Georgia; and Myers, Montana.
Their defection on this issue was declared by the republicans to be a significant development in view of recent intimations regarding democratic senators that the president had suggested to the republicans and attributed to conversations as particularly objectionable.

Two Break Over.
On the democratic side, the vote was presented today by Senator Dill of Nebraska, the party leader, the vote was strictly on party lines except for Senators Reed, Missouri, and Shields, Tennessee, who voted with the republicans in opposition.
The domestic reservation, a reservation drawn over to its support five democrats who had voted for it in November, Senators Aldrich, Arizona; Pittman and Henderson, Nevada; Myers, Montana; and Smith, Georgia, were the proponents who declared that the treaty substitute which was rejected in a solid republican lineup, was ingenuity by Senators Reed and Shields.
Tomorrow the senate is to consider the Shantung reservation, which the leaders hoped that a vote may be taken promptly.

SCHOOL BOARD BUYS LOTS IN MURTAUGH

Site for Future Building Is Purchased In Eastern Part of City.

Purchase of 12, fifty-foot lots, comprising the south half of block 3, Murtaugh addition, has been made by the Twin Falls district school board for use as a school building site. Announcement of the confirmation of the sale was made yesterday. The deal has been pending for several weeks.

The site which is located on Elizabeth boulevard, is practically equally distant from the Washington and Rucker schools and will form the fourth point of the quadrangle of the schools of the city. The Lincoln school occupies an analogous position in the northern part of the city.

The lots are located in the vicinity of a rapidly growing section. It is said that the price paid by the school board is low. It is anticipated that this purchase will result in building activity which is already brisk in this section being further accelerated.

"GOOD" ORDER CAUSES THE DOWNFALL OF SERVICE MAN

According to testimony given in city police court yesterday by a man who was arrested at a local pool room for being under the influence of alcohol and generally disturbing the peace, "good" order is to be had in Twin Falls.

This gentleman stated that he had only three glasses inside of him when he was ready to fight a "bux" war, which statement was substantiated by evidence submitted by Chief of Police Taylor, who arrested him.

Following a short altercation with the proprietor of a local pool hall, the man was arrested. The pool hall was immediately surrounded with a poorly armed mob which did no damage but which caused the proprietor to return the wallop.

The man's name was not ascertained, but it is said he is an executive man and is unable to work as his ankles are affected by rheumatism.
He said that his wife was employed at a local laundry and that he has been receiving aid from the Red Cross. He was released on his promise to stay away from "trouble."

FAVOR LIQUOR LICENSE.

RUTLAND, Vt., March 2.—The complete victory from a majority of the fourteen Vermont counties late tonight indicated that more than 100 of the state's 218 towns voted "yes" today on the liquor license question.

LEGION WILL AID SALVATION ARMY

Twenty Ex-Servicemen to Canvass City Friday for Organization's Budget.

Maturing plans give promise of a royal opening of the work of the Salvation Army in Twin Falls. Col. Scott, enroute to his home in Seattle from a visit to Chicago, stopped over yesterday for final touches to the arrangements. Last night he met members of the advisory board in the Ferris hotel, and later visited the American Legion boys in their meeting, where arrangements were perfected for the canvass of the residence district by former service men.

Twenty ex-servicemen, members of the local post, will canvass the residence district of the city Friday afternoon, seeking donations for the Army budget fund which is to meet expenses for the ensuing eight months. In the meantime, those desiring to send checks should forward them to H. B. Grant, treasurer of the local organization, care the First National bank.

Saturday and Sunday will be opening days for the Army. The famous Salvation Army band will be on hand from home, and the corps of officers will come from that city as well as from Pocatello, Idaho Falls and other points. It will be a gay day. The War Mothers of Twin Falls will conduct a sale of Salvation Army doughnuts Saturday afternoon and evening, the purpose being to raise the entire budget, $3,500, in the canvass by the legionnaires and the sale of doughnuts.

Saturday evening there will be street meetings, followed by meetings in the parish hall. Sunday afternoon and evening there will be both street meetings and meetings in parish hall.
Thus will the formal opening be held, yet history has already been made by the little band of workers already here. They have proven their worth by work such day they have been in Twin Falls.

TO INVESTIGATE REMOVAL OF REAR ADMIRAL FLETCHER

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 2.—Investigation by a court of inquiry of the circumstances of Rear Admiral William D. Fletcher's removal from command of American naval forces at Brest by Admiral Sims in October, 1917, was ordered today by Secretary Daniels. The court will convene in Washington Monday. The day before the opening of the investigation by the senate naval committee of Admiral Sims' criticism of naval policy just preceding and during the war.

Rear Admiral Fletcher was promptly detached from command at Brest following the spreading of the transport Anilles on a return trip to the United States. Representations by Admiral Sims at the time that Fletcher was "so unsatisfactory in initiative and judgment that he should no longer be entrusted with the great command" will form the subject of the inquiry as ordered by Mr. Daniels.

NIBLACK IS CALLED INTO NAVY HEARING

Admiral Made Party of Interest in Vice Case At Newport.

By the Associated Press.

NEWPORT, R. I., March 2.—Rear Admiral A. P. Niblack, chief of the department of naval intelligence, was called into today on motion of Judge Advocate Hyneman to the bar of par-the involved in naval inquiry in alleged improper practices by naval vice inspectors in this district. Earlier in the session Secretary Daniels and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt of the navy department had been made interested parties.

The further "cross-examination" of Rear Admiral De Wolf Perry, of the Episcopal diocese of Rhode Island, Lieutenant E. M. Hudson, another party in interest, was permitted to question the witness.

Lieutenant Hudson asked the witness whether he believed a certain portion of the testimony given at the trial of Rear Admiral Neale Kent, which resulted in Mr. Kent's acquittal of vice charges. The testimony

The bishop responded that he did not believe it.

Rear Admiral Niblack was said to have been present at an interview between Bishop Perry and Secretary Daniels in Washington, when the bishop complained against conditions in the Newport district. According to the testimony, Secretary Daniels referred Bishop Perry to the rear admiral who was made familiar with the case and who is alleged to have declared that he was having the "investigation investigated."
