TREATY'S FATE IN HANDS OF PRES. WILSON

Compromise Democrats Seek Information on Executive's Attitude.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT MADE TO QUALIFY ARTICLE 10

Leaders Lodge and Hitchcock Watch Latest Efforts for Agreement from the Side-Lines.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 5.—With another failure to ratify the peace treaty impending, democratic senators decided today to seek personal consultation with President Wilson before the decisive vote is taken. They wished to know definitely how far he would go in endorsing a compromise, and also a clear understanding of his views on the treaty as a campaign issue should another senate deadlock force it into politics.

Some democrats were understood also to wish to know what measures the president would expect congress to take to relieve the country from a war status while a decision at the polls on the treaty was awaited.

The move for such a conference, initiated long ago among some elements of the party in the senate, took definite form when Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, administration leader, sent a letter to the White House asking that the president talk over the situation with Senator Simmons of North Carolina in charge for the democratic side of the new movement to negotiate a treaty compromise.

It was indicated, however, that the appointment with Senator Simmons, if one were arranged, would be only preliminary to a conference with a committee of senators chosen to work up with him the whole treaty problem.

In conjunction with Senator Watson of Indiana, acting for the republican side, Senator Simmons has sounded out the sentiment of all senate elements, and when he goes to the White House he will be in possession of a clear understanding of what the republicans would accept. Senator Hitchcock's letter did not reach the executive offices until late in the day and he would remain in the White House tonight. It was indicated, however, that an appointment probably would be made either tomorrow or early next week.

The new negotiations have centered about article 10, the hardest nut to crack in the treaty controversy, but such progress has been made that the outcome is regarded by many senators as depending now on the verdict of the president. Democratic senators do not want to vote for a ratification which the president later would reject, nor do they want to turn down any reasonable offer of compromise unless they are certain it is unsatisfactory to him.

As the article 10 compromise problem now shapes up in the Watson-Simmons negotiations, it is understood to contemplate a reservation declaring that the United States declines to guarantee the territorial integrity of other league members by means of its army or navy, by a boycott or any other method of commercial force, or by diplomatic pressure, except when congress gives specific and affirmative authority for such a course.

MARSHALL AND EDWARDS' PETITIONS CIRCULATED

By the Associated Press. ## TEXT OF ALLIED NOTE SIMILAR TO EPITOME

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 5.—The text of the note from the French and British premiers to the Adriatic situation, to which President Wilson's reply was delivered in London today, was made public tonight by the state department. It conforms closely to the summary cable from London February 27 and emphasizes the importance attached by the premiers to the fact that Mr. Wilson had previously "expressed his willingness" to accept settlement arrived at by direct negotiations between Italy and Yugoslavia.

It has been assumed here that the president's reply will be found, on publication, probably Monday, to deal mainly with the violation of the promises that he had made in formally proposing such negotiations to the Italian and Yugoslav governments.

AMERICAN FLAG FAILS TO PROTECT THE PARTY

Hospital Controlled by People From the United States attacked — Many Pitiful Sights Described.

By the Associated Press. ADANA, Asia-Minor, Sunday, February 29.—Since the siege of Peking, foreigners have undergone no more nerve racking experience than seventeen relief workers of the American committee for relief in the near east, shut up for 22 days without outside communication in a mission compound at Marash. They were under a constant "rain" of lead while French troops, aided by Armenians battling with Turkish nationalists for possession of the city. More than half of the town was burned during the engagement and there was terrible loss of life.

The story is told in the diary of Rev. C. T. S. Crathern, a United Y. M. C. A. secretary who went through the siege and arrived at Adana on February 15.

Rev. Mr. Crathern, with Paul Snyder, Miss Helen Schultz, of Reading, Penna., a French lieutenant and two Armenians attempted to leave Marash by automobile for Antab, January 30, but were driven back to Marash by a fusillade of bullets, notwithstanding the fact Mr. Crathern displayed the American flag.

The Turks had been reported French occupation of Marash. Other Cilician cities for many weeks. Mr. Crathern reports, and Alger troops were engaged in a skirmish with Turkish bands when the American automobile appeared and fired from the Turks.

Mr. Crathern's diary says on January 21 he found Marash with its hazzars and shops closed and Turks engaged in talking in groups throughout the city.

Shots were heard by the workers, indicating that the threatened clash in the city had led. French officials arrested several Turkish officials, who was thought, precipitated a clash. A French soldier was killed and another French soldier wounded.

SWINGING DRESSED BEEVES ARE CAUSE OF TRAIN WRECK

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., March 6.—Dressed hives swinging from the roof of a refrigerator car are said to have caused the wreck on the Burlington railroad in the outskirts of Omaha Tuesday night, which tore up the track for a distance of nearly a half mile, and the demolishing of a dozen freight cars.

Swift Packing company recently purchased a new make of refrigerator car of gigantic build, and claimed to be able to run from Omaha to either coast without re-loading. One of the features of this car provides that the meat, generally dressed carcasses, hang clear of the floor by several feet instead of dragging. The theory was all right, but in practice, it was found, that the weight of the carcasses, swinging in unison with force sufficient to overturn the car.

It is said that the cars will have to be revised to do away with this danger. The refrigerator that turned over Tuesday night was on its maiden trial trip.

PRESIDENT SENDS ANSWER TO ENTENTE

Latest Reply on Adriatic Question Not Made Public by Executive

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 4.—President Wilson's rejoinder to the last note of the French and British premiers on the Adriatic situation was dispatched to Europe tonight.

In preparing his answer President Wilson had before him the proposals of the premiers that the United States join in seeking a settlement of the perplexing problem of the Adriatic through direct negotiations between Italy and Jugo-Slavia. The news of their proposal was taken from a statement in Mr. Wilson's previous communication that the United States would "of course" not oppose any agreement "mutually agreeable to Italy and Jugo-Slavia," as to frontiers.

It was not on the basis of contentment elsewhere at the expense of nationals of a third power.

Answer Not Revealed.
The president was invited to participate in a joint proposal to Italy and Jugo-Slavia to this effect and what answer he has made was not revealed. It was noted, however, that the summary of the premier's note cabled from London showed that even should such efforts bring results, further triangular discussions between Great Britain, France and United States in search of a way out of the difficulty were agreed to in advance. Only after such provision was made did the premier recall that should no voluntary settlement prove possible, ultimately they would feel compelled to return to the treaty of London with Italy and it proposed distribution of territory bordering on the Adriatic, to which Mr. Wilson has been steadily opposed since the terms of the peace pact were disclosed.

Much Conjecture.
In diplomatic circles here there was much conjecture as to the possible significance of announcement that the supreme council would reconvene at San Remo, Italy, for negotiations with the Serbians. It was surmised this announcement might forestall the reopening of efforts to adjust the Adriatic dispute. Some officials also were inclined to the opinion that Jugo-Slavia would welcome direct negotiations with Italy under the circumstances, whether the United States was a party to a proposal from the council to that effect or not.

In any event, it was again noted the prompt action of the premier in withdrawing the settlement proposal to which Mr. Wilson objected and the dual period of possible negotiations were taken up anew early next last note appeared to have left no door wide open for an amiable understanding, however long, a time it may take to reach it.

WEEKS TO KEEP MILLIKEN FROM PROSECUTING CASE

AUGUSTA, Maine, March 5.—A bill in equity filed in the supreme judicial court here into today by Winfield Scott Roll, of Bangor, a member of the house of representatives, asks for an injunction to restrain Governor Milliken from using the state's money in going from place to place and in employing former Justice

Jones holds three honorary letters from Washington State college where he is an undergraduate. He was awarded letters for track and basketball last spring and in football last fall. He plays the outfield on the diamond and at halfback on the gridiron.

He won the Pacific coast conference pole vaulter last year with mark slightly under 12 feet, and is declared to have bettered this record since in unofficial competition.

CHILDS FROM THE STATES WILL STAMPEDE ALASKA

JUNEAU, Alaska.—Girls from the states evidently are planning to stampede to Alaska this spring. J. L. Gray, mayor of Juneau, and several other Alaska officials this spring received letters from dozens of young ladies asking about the northern territory.

The letters came from Minnesota, Nevada, Iowa, Washington, Colorado and Canada. All the writers expressed the hope that they would be able to find work here so they could come north.

Positions by the girls included school teaching, bookkeeping, typewriting and clerking. One or two of the girls hinted at matrimony and asked for information about Alaska's "eligibles."

MITCHELL QUITS GAME TO BECOME FARMER

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—A. Roy Mitchell, writer last year for the "National National pennant winning club, has ceased to be a ball player and become a farmer.

Mitchell was purchased by Manager William (Bill) Rodgers of the Sacramento club, of the Pacific Coast league, but has written from his home in Belmont, Texas, that he will not again appear in uniform.

A 300-acre farm is pressing in its need for attention, Mitchell's letter said.

FIGHT HIGH COST OF DYING IN BRITISH ISLES

BLACKBURN, Eng.—Steps have been taken by local carriage proprietors to defeat the "high cost of dying" in addition to conducting interments. The carriage men have combined to supply coffins. Charges by undertakers, they claim, are about 100 per cent too high.

SOCIALIST ATTORNEY PLEADS THEIR CAUSE

Assemblyman's Case to Be Given to Judiciary Committee Today

By the Associated Press.
ALBANY, N. Y., March 5.—The last word in behalf of the five socialist members of the state assembly who have been under investigation by the assembly judiciary committee, was spoken today.

"You take your chance in presenting your view to the people," said Seymour Steidman, their counsel, in concluding his summing up before the committee. "We take our feeling that the mass of intellect of the country, with all the facts before it will ultimately arrive at the correct solution. That is the faith of the socialist—the faith in ideals of Americanism—deep, solid, heartfelt. That is what we believe in. And, gentlemen, basically, that is what you believe in, and it is in that belief that we have our hopes and our just expectancy for the seeing of these assemblymen."

The investigation was adjourned until Tuesday, when Elton H. Brown, former state senator, will conclude for the prosecution and the "case will go to the committee, which, after receiving briefs, is expected to make its report during the week of March 12.

Legal phases of the proceedings were discussed minutely by Mr. Steidman. He declared that "these five assemblymen had sworn to support the constitution as such understood it," and that "the socialist party and its members did not carry an obstruction to the actual existence and execution of a war program."

He held the socialists violated no law in opposing the war or by signing pledges that they would not enlist for service and that the espionage law was an act of "national moral cowardice."

Attacking the address of Martin Canby, of committee counsel, yesterday, Mr. Steidman declared in reply to statements that he socialists were a party of "perpetual traitors," that there has been no prosecution maintained for the signing of that document, the proclamation and war program, and that if it had been treacherous some prosecution would have taken place."

PRESBYTERIANS SEEK TO UNITE FOUR BRANCHES

By the Associated Press.
ATLANTA, Ga., March 5.—Representatives of the Presbyterian church north, the Presbyterian church south, the Reformed Presbyterian church, and the United Presbyterian church failed to reach an agreement on the basic principles for the proposed union of the four branches of the church in North America at their conference here which closed today.

RAID ON SALOON CAUSES DEATH OF ONE; THREE INJURED
By the Associated Press.
RAVINE, Wis., March 5.—The death of three and three injured in the result of a raid by federal and local officers tonight on the saloon of Barney Sokat, in search of an illicit still and moonshine whiskey. Sokat was killed, and his father, a federal prohibition officer and a politician were injured, the latter shot in the arm by the saloon keeper.

A considerable amount of liquor was found in the place.

SHOE RETAILERS MUST EXPLAIN THEIR PROFITS
WASHINGTON, March 5.—The department of justice took action today to determine the margin of profits taken by shoe retailers in this city and which may develop into a nationwide investigation, Howard Pigg, special assistant to the attorney general, in charge of the price reduction campaign, would not say, however, to what extent the department planned to go in calling for the shoe dealers' business statements. The local dealers' committee will present detailed figures upon which the department will determine whether there is profiteering, Mr. Pigg said.

Local bakers also were before department officials today and were denied the right to increase the price of bread two cents a loaf.

U.S.S. NEW MEXICO

US. S. NEW MEXICO: First Electrified Battleship

THE NEW MEXICO is a most impressive fighting machine. She was built at the Brooklyn navy yard and launched in the summer of 1917. She is 624 feet over all. She weighs (displaces) 32,000 tons. She draws 30 feet of water. She has 17 feet 4 1/2 inches beam at the waterline. At full speed she can make slightly in excess of 21 knots in 14 hours. She generates 28,000 horsepower for propulsion. Her crew numbers nearly 1,200 men. She burns oil instead of coal as fuel and has a total fuel capacity of about 1,000,000 gallons.

ELECTRIC DOUGH MIXER

ELECTRIC DRYER IN LAUNDRY

It's not an easy thing nowadays to get permission to examine a battleship from stem to stern and to take photographs of her interior. But representatives of one of the big concerns which are now making the New Mexico what she is were recently allowed the privilege—which has been exceedingly rare since the beginning of the great war. The following account of an inspection of the superdreadnaught at drydock in the Brooklyn navy yard is the result.

Lieut. Com. P. L. Carroll, chief engineer, turns us over to one of the junior engineers. We start with the navigating bridge and examine the various pieces of apparatus for transmitting signals to the engine room for the control of the vessel, and to half a dozen other parts of the ship, each of which has a peculiar and important function to perform. Next we begin a systematic survey of the ship, and to begin as far down into the vitals of the vessel as possible we are led through circuitous routes, down steep hallways, through narrow alleys, and down more ladders, through deck after deck until we have lost all knowledge of time and space.

We find ourselves at last on the very bottom of the ship, directly behind the rudder. A complicated mass of machinery, pistons, rods, valves and electric motors, combine to make up the steering gear engine. This machinery is operated and controlled directly from the navigating bridge by a control device. This is only one of the different methods of steering the ship. In a later compartment directly aft is what is known as the auxiliary steering gear. And here we see four large wheels connected to a shaft which when occasion demands, can be used to move the rudder by hand—which takes eight men. At this point the shaft is connected to an electric motor by the simple turn of a switch, which is operated electrically. Two other electrical units are situated in this compartment for rudder control and if all steering methods fail, a "jerry" rudder may be rigged off the stern.

Going forward along the bottom of the ship we meet presently the propeller shafts—four in number—each passing in immense propeller. These shafts extend from the motors which operate them back through the ship and out at the stern, through what are known respectively as the forward, middle and aft shafts, starboard, port, inboard and outboard shafts. Following forward along the inboard shaft we go through several compartments, each of which contains a hatchway and find ourselves in the propelling motor room. This is the section of the ship which actually drives the propellers.

The tremendous motor which moves our gaze over in looking of the power necessary to make the big shafts revolve.

The motor shafts 12 feet high from the floor and 12 feet wide. It generates 7,200 horsepower. The rest, it is located in a water-tight compartment, protected by bulkheads, and if anything should happen to it, the current may be cut off and directed to the operation of the other three propellers.

To see how the motor is controlled, reversed, started, stopped, etc., we follow the wire cables which run forward, still almost on the bottom of the ship until we come to what the engineers call the motor engine room. Here spread out before us is a switchboard containing levers, dials, test tubes, indicators and instruments for measuring electrical currents. It is the main control station of the ship containing the arteries through which courses the life blood of the vessel, the electrical current. In fact, it is often called the heart of the vessel.

Here in this compartment the electrical current received, measured and passed on to the motors which we have just left. From this station the propellers may be made to reverse, or to go at full speed ahead; two propellers may be reversed and the other two are driven ahead. Here also by combination of control may be made up. The flexibility of control made possible by this central control station constitutes one of the advantages of the system of electric drive. The captain of the ship communicates directly to this station and gives instructions concerning the control of the vessel.

Having seen how the ship is propelled, and controlled, we are naturally curious to see the source from which the tremendous energy comes. The cables from the switchboard lead us forward into another compartment where we view the machine, which generates the electrical current which turns the propellers.

This is the turbo-generator section. There are four turbo-generators consisting of a steam turbine direct, connected to a powerful generator. This generator is operated by the steam turbine and produces the current we have been seeking. Each of the turbo-generators produces 14,000 horsepower. In technical language this spot within the ship is known as the power plant.

The turbine is an essential part of this plant. It illustrates another advantage of the electric drive. A steam turbine to operate at its maximum efficiency must revolve at a relatively high speed, say 2,000 revolutions per minute. On the other hand, the propeller to be most efficient, must revolve with comparative slowness, say 200 revolutions per minute. This is because if the propellers revolved at high speed they would merely churn up the water and fail to drive the vessel ahead.

Now electricity acts as a connecting link between this high-speed turbine and the low-speed motor which drives the propellers. Mechanical gears, which in the turbine driven vessel have been used to reduce the turbine speed down to a suitable propeller speed, are entirely eliminated, and the necessary reduction accomplished by simple electrical means. Moreover the operating units of vital importance are each housed in separate water-tight compartments. In addition the machinery is grouped very close to the center of the ship so far as possible away from the sides.

The possibility of so grouping the machinery," says an officer, "affords a greater protection of the apparatus from shell fire, grounding and collision. We might say that this feature, plus the flexibility of control and the ability to cut off defective or damaged apparatus, constitutes one of the essential superiorities of electric drive.

To follow the power route to its source, we must go still further forward to a point called ships. Here are nine huge steam boilers, arranged three in a compartment. They store up the steam under a pressure of 250 pounds to the square inch and deliver it to the turbines. The New Mexico burns oil instead of coal.

This electrical propulsion equipment of the New Mexico may be briefly summarized as follows: Nine steam boilers deliver steam to two turbines. The two turbines operate two generators. The two generators produce electrical current. The electrical current is fed through copper cables to a central station where it is distributed and passed on to four big motors. Each of the four motors turns a propeller and thus the ship is driven through the water.

The current which the two turbo-generators produce is used entirely in the actual propulsion of the vessel. The New Mexico must have additional electrical energy with which to operate scores of auxiliary apparatus.

For instance, electric motors operate the 12-inch and 14-inch guns, blowers which supply the ventilation of the ship, electric fans, telephones, heaters, pumps, refrigerating machinery, wireless apparatus, kitchen appliances, laundry equipment, etc., to say nothing of the lighting system. Moreover, electric motors also operate the boat cranes and the deck winches. There are scores of storage batteries which stand ready to keep the electric lights going should the main lighting system fail. It has been estimated that there are aboard the New Mexico no less than 50 electric motors.

Where does the current come from to operate these, we ask. It comes from six auxiliary turbo-generator sets and we find two of them well up toward the bow of the vessel, still on the same level as the boiler room from which we have just emerged. This turbo-generator, and the others similar to it, are responsible for the wonderful applications of electricity which we will make the acquaintance of as we go upward through the New Mexico. There are four separate decks between the bottom of the ship and the main deck.

All the baking is done electrically—electric motors operate the dough mixers, and dough kneaders, while the loaves are baked in electrically heated ovens. Next we visit the electric laundry with its many ingenious machines electrically driven. Electricity also plays its part in other places, such as the crew's library, reading room and recreation quarters; the barber shop; the sick bay, with its up-to-date operating room; Capt. A. L. Willard's quarters, the officers' wardrooms, etc.

The New Mexico has 12 14-inch guns and many of smaller caliber, including a battery of anti-aircraft guns. The larger caliber guns, three in each of four turrets, are operated by electricity. The turrets are revolved and the guns elevated by electric means. Ammunition hoists run electrically and there are electric gun loaders, while even the big guns are fired by electrical means, but the smaller caliber guns are generally operated by hand.

In examining into the control of these great batteries of destruction, we come to one of the most interesting spots on the ship—the conning tower. Navy regulations designed to withhold important matters of military design, forbid us from obtaining a picture of the conning tower. But it is permissible to describe it briefly. The conning tower is a well-shielded shaft extending perpendicularly through the ship from top to bottom with ladders running up and down the sides and convenient methods of transmitting instructions by means of indicators and telephones. During an action the vessel's commanding officer usually stations himself in this tower which is also known as one of several fire-control stations and transmits instructions.

Up on one of the masts we encounter one of the big 22-inch searchlight electric units which we saw for miles in the darkness. The current for the operation of the searchlight comes from one of the turbo-generators heretofore described.

Is the electrical propulsion of marine vessels opening up an entirely new era of scientific advancement and will the day come when the seven seas will be dotted with electric ships? So far as our own navy is concerned, Secretary Daniels expressed the essence of the idea when he said:

"I think this country has cause to be proud of this achievement in engineering, not alone because of the pronounced success in this particular instance (referring to the New Mexico); but because of the assurance it gives us of the superiority of our capital ships to those of foreign countries."

"The New Mexico is the first and only dreadnaught of any nation to have electrically operated propelling machinery," continued Secretary Daniels. "On this account she has been an object of surpassing interest to the officers of our own navy and to those of foreign navies as well, and to electrical engineers in general."

The result was anticipated from every point of view and confirmed the judgment of all who were in any way concerned in its design and adoption. There was not the slightest mishap with any part of it, everything worked to perfection, and the crew was so enthusiastic over the performance of the machinery as it is the department proud in the possession of such a masterpiece.

"When we entered into contract for the machinery we stipulated that, in addition to being capable of developing the maximum power, she should also give an economy at cruising speed very much superior to that obtainable with the turbine installations previously used. This stringent requirement was also met. As a matter of fact, the New Mexico will steam at ten knots on less fuel than the best turbine-driven ship that preceded her."

"Anyways, electrical engineers are now turning their attention to the adoption of similar principles to the driving of merchant ships and to large passenger vessels."

PLEBISCITES OFFER CHANCES FOR BRIDES

Interest in Schleswig Gives Chances for Crooked Work.

COPENHAGEN. — No election in history has offered so stupendous a bribe to voters as do the Schleswig plebiscites, any Copenhagen observers. These plebiscites are to decide whether a great part of Schleswig is to remain German territory or be returned to Denmark. Denmark's interest in the outcome of the election in the three zones rose to fever heat on the approach of the date for the plebiscite in the first zone, the strip nearest Denmark. This was won by the Danes by a vote of three to one.

Immense interest centers in the result of the plebiscites soon to be held in the second zone of which Flensburg is the chief city and there the fight is fiercest. Despite the fact that the city is preponderantly German, only about one-tenth of the people are Danish, but the Danes are by no means deterred.

Owing to the depreciation of the German mark its value now is infinitesimal as compared to the Danish krone. It is asserted that if the election goes Danish with the resultant accession of Danish currency, property in Flensburg will be worth 15 times the present price.

No less weighty is the effect upon the citizenship of the inhabitants. A government official told the Associated Press correspondent that Denmark would not discriminate in Schleswig between Danes and "converted" Germans; that if the Danes won the plebiscite the Germans automatically became Danish citizens. Thus they would not have to phare in paying Germany's enormous debt.

But there are many Danes who fear to recover Flensburg if there is any chance of the contest turning on a question of the selfish interest of a small element of the electorate. The government official was at a loss to look as he discussed the possibility.

"We want Flensburg," he said, "but not against the real sentiments. We must not have in Denmark a German irredeemable."

Stanford tennis men, has announced that he will enter two teams to represent Stanford in the Pacific coast tennis club series which is to begin March 5.

HAD CHRONIC BRONCHITIS FOR TWENTY-SIX YEARS NOW WELL AND HAPPY THIS IS WORTH READING

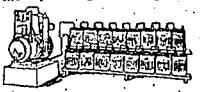

The experience of Mr. E. J. Toupali, 1438 Rose street, LaCrosse, Wisconsin, is chiefly remarkable on account of the length of time he was afflicted.

He writes: "I have been suffering with chronic bronchitis for twenty-six years and every winter I would catch cold and become so hoarse I could not speak for six or eight weeks. I could get only temporary relief."

"This winter I was taken with Grip and was in awful shape. A fellow workman advised me to take PE-RU-NA. By the time I had used three-fourths of a bottle, the hoarseness was gone, also that tired feeling. I am on my second bottle. Hereafter, I shall be well on constantly in my house. It is the best medicine ever put up for the purpose."

For any disease due to tartrach or catarrh of the throat, PE-RU-NA is equally dependable. Coughs, colds, catarrh of the head, stomach trouble, constipation, rheumatism, Tetter in the back, skin and limbs, bloating, belching gas, indigestion, catarrh of the large and small intestines, are some of the troubles for which PE-RU-NA is especially recommended.

PE-RU-NA can be purchased anywhere in either tablet or liquid form.

Grain

CHICAGO, March 5.—Wheat—Developed in the corn market today owing more or less to the fact that contrary to predictions, the blizzard had not proved serious. Prices closed weak, 7-8 to 12 1-2 and July 135 1-2 to 135 5-8. Oats lost 7-8 to 1-4 and provisions 12 to 4c.

At first the corn market displayed a tendency to soar with sterling and as a result of lightness of receipts. Advice however in indicating that the news about the blizzard was altogether disproportionate to the facts, put the bulls at a considerable disadvantage. Besides, May delivery showed a rise of 14 cents a bushel compared with last week's minimum. A great many holders appeared to deem the opportunity to realize profits. With buying power limited because of the elimination of much of the short interest on yesterday's bulge, the market sagged during most of the session and finished near the lowest point reached.

Cancellation of export sales had a depressing influence on the oats market. Furthermore, domestic shipping demand was poor.

Provisions weakened with grain. Stockyard interests were said to have turned to the selling side despite the strength of sterling and of the hog market.

PROTESTANTS WILL MAKE "WHITE LIST" OF MOVIES

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Reform of moving pictures is planned by the Presbyterian board of temperance and moral welfare, which announced today that a "white list" of approved pictures would be issued from time to time in an effort to condemn pictures characterized as menace to child welfare and a cause of juvenile delinquency.

The Rev. Walter A. Hendricks of Farmington, Va., has been appointed to take charge of this work. "We do not intend to crusade wildly against motion pictures," said Dr. Charles Scanlon, general secretary of the Presbyterian board. "They are an established force and our aim will be to make them more powerful for good, and by a campaign of education and actively remove their evil features and tendencies."

PLANS COMPLETED FOR ST. DENIS SHOW

Elks Promise City Real Treat in Entertainment on March 15.

Plans for the presentation here on March 15 of the Ruth St. Denis Concert Dancers have been completed. The dancers will appear under the auspices of the local lodge of Elks.

The company consists of nine beautiful dancing girls, Edith Rhodes, dramatic tenor, and Pauline Lawrence, pianist.

It is said that the presentation is one of the most notable that has ever been brought to Twin Falls. The costumes and light effects have been skillfully worked out and the show is said to combine a perfect balance of song and dance.

The committee in charge of the preparations are working hard to make the affair a success.

MACPHERSON SAYS IRISH AIR IS CONTINUOUS REVOLT

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, March 5.—Jan MacPherson, chief secretary for Ireland, defending the Irish administration in the house of commons last night said: "It is obvious we are up against a tremendously dangerous situation in Ireland." He added that the Sinn Féin had at least 200,000 men prepared to commit murder at any hour of the day or night.

Secretary MacPherson asserted he had received letters from loyalists in the west and south of Ireland begging the government to take steps to get them out of the country. The Easter rebellion of 1916 had not been stamped out, he said, and had left behind it a spirit of more malignant and revolutionary than Ireland had ever known before.

out of military jurisdiction Grover Bergdoll, Seattle, Philadelphia charged with desertion from the army in evading the draft law, and his court martial will be resumed tomorrow on Governor's Island.

In dismissing Bergdoll's motion, made in connection with a writ of habeas corpus, Judge Hand said that it seemed an "absurdity of merit as any I have ever encountered."

Harry Webster, counsel for Bergdoll, immediately announced he would carry the case to the United States supreme court and demand for his client the right of a civil trial by jury.

MEETING OF GOLD COIN IS CAUSE OF IMPRISONMENT

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, March 5.—Six months imprisonment was the sentence pronounced upon the six men who have been on trial charged with melting gold coin. The gold they had in their possession, amounting to more than 115,000 sovereigns, was ordered forfeited. Included in the group are Harry Lewis, a barrister, and Shure and Chamberlain, diamond merchants.

It has been brought out at the trial that the accused withdrew from the bank of England during 1919 gold weighing eighteen hundredweight. During December alone, it was charged, they disposed of gold worth 9,100 pounds sterling.

Twin Falls 45, Jerome 18.
Gooding 42, Heyburn 16.
Burley 28, Twin Falls 2d 9.
Twin Falls 41, Rupert 26.

Twin Falls, Burley and Gooding in the leading municipalities in the basketball tournament started here yesterday afternoon. The local team with two victories heads the list while the other two, with a victory apiece, also have a perfect percentage.

The games were hard fought, although some of the scores would not indicate this.

Rupert was the first team to win a victory, defeating the Idaho team by a score of 53 to 13. Idaho was the first to score, but was unable to hold it lead more than a few seconds.

Jerome fought hard against the Twin Falls first team, but was defeated by the score of 45 to 18 by the playing of Taylor and King. Twin Falls made 23 of its points in the first half.

Gooding had a comparative easy time with Heyburn.

Burley, the favorite of the tournament, played only one match, defeating Twin Falls 2nd by a score of 28 to 9, in a game in which they were not forced to extend themselves.

Idaho lost to Twin Falls in the second game of the evening's contest. Gooding and Burley will meet in the first match today, while the best team, probably Burley, will be given a chance to put Twin Falls out of the running.

The tournament will close tonight with a match between the winners of the morning contest.

Twin Falls wrestlers kept the fans interested during the intermissions. Day threw Hoag in eighteen minutes in the 155 lb. match. Swartz and George, 135 pounds, went twelve minutes to a draw. Rydych and Swartz spent four minutes in which neither succeeded in getting a throw. Clifford threw lost a match to Cecil Goh.

Six men of Boise high school who have been coached by Nick Collins, manager of the Boise Athletic club, will meet Hoag, Irwin, Nicholson, Day, Reynolds and Rydych of Twin Falls at a nine date. These men represent variations in weight from 105 to 170 lbs.

SOLDIER RELIEF BILL DIVISION CONTINUES

Rank and File Association Makes Attack on Private Soldiers' Legion.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 5.—Efforts of the house ways and means committee to formulate a soldier relief program were again complicated today by conflicting views of witnesses and injection of the rivalries between various former soldier organizations into the hearing.

The committee devoted much time to listening to a controversy between S. Lovenheim, chairman of the Rank and File association, and Marvin Gates Sperry, national president of the Private Soldiers and Sailors legion. Lovenheim, answering a question of Representative Kitchin, democrat, North Carolina, concerning "phony rumors" that Lovenheim was a socialist and a communist retorted that Sperry "is controlled by Henry B. Martin."

Martin, who was present, told the committee he had no interest in the organization Sperry represented but advised him on certain legislative measures.

Lovenheim's suggestion was that every man who had served be paid one dollar a day with a minimum of $180, and that of Sperry was that a flat bonus of $500 be granted.

Ninety per cent of the former service men favor some plan of financial relief. Richard Seelye Jones of Washington, D. C., editor of a service newspaper, told the committee. He insisted that more than 60 per cent of those in the military and naval services were unorganized. It was difficult, he said, to test "the pulse of the discharged veterans through spokesmen of organizations." Posts of the American legion and other organizations in the midwest, he said, favored the proposed land bill, adding that former soldiers would be the last citizen to precipitate a financial panic if that might be the result of granting a bonus.

"The feeling among ex-soldiers," Jones added, "is that they should be given at least one dollar a day." Those who worked in shipyards and aviation plants."

Sperry's advocacy of the granting of a flat bonus of $500 to every one who had served was accompanied by a sharp criticism of the suggestion of Lovenheim, which he referred to as a "slipping dollar-a-day."

date change in the cipher, was contradicted by the deposition of former President McNamee, whom Mr. Coney gave as his authority for the charge. Chairman Huggins, accordingly, gave an examination of witnesses who apparently taking his cue from the displeasure several times expressed openly by some of the senators at the tone adopted by the accused counsel. Calliaux has borne up well during the trial and shows less signs of fatigue than many of the senators.

AVIATION REPORT TO BE DEBATED TODAY

Democrats Claim Move Is an "Assinine Performance" of G. O. P. Committee.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 5.—By a strict party vote, the house tonight adopted a rule providing for four hours debate tomorrow on the report recently submitted by the aviation investigation committee after Representative Pou, democrat, North Carolina, had characterized it as "an assinine performance" put over by the republican steering committee.

Representative Garrett, democrat, Tennessee, brought a force from the democratic side of the chamber by explaining that "this was a rule providing that the house do nothing tomorrow and meet an hour ahead of time to begin."

Mr. Pou charged that republicans were driven to vote for the rule by the steering committee so as to get the talk before the country for campaign purposes.

Mr. Garrett said that in the attack which would be made tomorrow on Secretary Baker it was well to remember that "if the secretary of war had been half as inefficient in making war as the republican party was in making peace, American soldiers would still be in battle."

Chairman Campbell of the rules committee called for a vote and the rule was adopted 145 to 115.

TO PREVENT U. S. IMPORTS.

By the Associated Press.
COPENHAGEN, Denmark, March 5.—A bill designed to prevent all American imports into Denmark unless sanctioned by the financial council was introduced today in the Folketing by the minister of commerce. He described the measure as urgently necessary to prevent further decline in exchange.
