

SIMS RECITES 'FAILURES' OF NAVY IN 1917

Gives Senate Investigators "Indisputable" Evidence of "Inefficiency."

SAYS DANIELS WOULD NOT LISTEN TO HIM

Asserts Developments Later Proved that Most of His Suggestions Were Practical.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 10.—Rear Admiral Sims gave the senate naval investigating committee today what he asserted was indisputable evidence that the navy department fell down almost completely during the first six months of the war.

Numerous messages sent by the admiral to the navy department during the early days of America's participation in the conflict and other documents were offered as proof that despite the officer's urgent and reiterated requests that every available vessel be sent to the critical area of submarine activities, the department neither followed his recommendations nor informed him of its plans and policies. Six months after the United States had entered the war, the admiral said, the department adopted many of the policies he had urged from the start.

The lack of whole-hearted American co-operation with the allies from the start, the admiral said, resulted in "devastation" of the war until November, 1918, when it could have been ended in July; needless sacrifice of 500,000 lives; expenditure of fifteen billion dollars which might have been saved, and gain of $2,500,000 tons of shipping. In the navy department he acted promptly, he asserted, the United States would have had a million instead of 500,000 soldiers in France by the time the Germans began the great drive on the western front in March 1918.

Recommendations Rejected.
Explaining that his recommendations many times were made after conferences with the allied naval commanders, Admiral Sims said, the failure of the department to keep him properly informed as to its plans and policies was a source of great embarrassment to him.

Instead most of his information regarding the American naval plans, he said, was obtained accidentally at the admiralty or through visiting armed guard officers.

Favored Convoy System.
When he advised that the convoy system proposed by the British admiralty be put into immediate operation, Admiral Sims said he received a cablegram from Secretary Daniels stating that "in regard to convoy I consider that American naval vessels having armed guards are safer when sailing independently."

Taking up the situation created by the submarine menace, the admiral said that in June 1917, he told the department the efforts then being made to curb the U-boats were not successful and the necessary action was needed "of sending all destroyers, cruisers and other craft which can reach the critical area, by themselves or be towed part way."

The Submarine Question.
The department in reply, he said, stated that the necessity of sending an anti-submarine craft which can be spared from home waters into active European waters and when such craft become available will send them, and announced "willingness to co-operate in every way" and that he would consider the question of supplying additional naval forces other than anti-submarine craft, whenever the availability of so doing is justified.

This reply, the admiral said, convinced him that the department, entirely misunderstood the situation and caused him to appeal to Ambassador Page for assistance.

In a letter to the ambassador on June 25, 1917, he made most of the assertions that brought the present investigation, re-

MONDELL OPPOSES SOLDIER RELIEF SUFF AMENDMENT PASSES W. VA. SENATE

Declares Furnishing of Funds Would Mean Panic for the Country.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 10.—A bond issue to pay adjusted compensation to former service men, Republican Leonard Mondell of Wyoming, told the house today means committed to day would "endanger a panic, and send prices ballooning." He opposed any relief legislation at this time on the ground that heavy additional taxes would be necessary whatever plan of relief was adopted.

"I don't believe we can issue bonds," Mr. Mondell said, "if they were intended for investment, they would threaten the specie basis of currency. A popular issue would have all the ill effects of an investment issue, besides inflating currency."

"Extensibility of financial relief is utterly impossible unless the people are willing to stand heavy additional taxes. A consumption tax always unpopular is the only tax which could be collected from month to month, producing revenue continuously."

Representative Swope, republican, of Kentucky urged adoption of a bill granting a year's pay to all three in the service except those who served less than two months. He estimated such a plan would require an outlay of $1,300,000,000.

The cash payment plan of the American Legion for $50 for each month of service was endorsed by Major A. R. Critchfield, infantry school, formerly at Akron, Ohio. Members of the committee challenged his statement that "former soldiers will get what they want." Representative Garner, democrat, Texas, commented that "former soldiers, if they continue to be well organized as at present, will get all their demands."

Replying to a question by Representative Kitchin, democrat, North Carolina, as to when representatives or soldiers organizations may be expected to make another request for financial aid from congress, Major Critchfield replied:

"Nobody can tell. Any body of men which thinks it can get something out of the rest of the American people will try to get all they can."

Soldiers relief also came up in the senate, where opponents of such legislation outnumbered those advocating it.

SUFF AMENDMENT PASSES W. VA. SENATE

Declares Furnishing of Funds Would Mean Panic for the Country.

By the Associated Press.
CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 10.—West Virginia ratified the suffrage constitutional amendment late today. The vote of Senator Jesse Bloch, who hurried here from California, broke the senate deadlock. The house previously had adopted the resolution.

The final vote on the Anthony amendment was taken at 2:15 o'clock in the senate after one of the most dramatic sessions ever witnessed in either house of the legislature. For several hours suffrage leaders and their opponents fought in a series of gains and definite advantages. Each step by either party was hotly contested and anti-suffrage forces determined to effect their opponents' victory in keeping the legislature in session and the suffragists confident of gaining a majority to ratify, by the vote of Senator Bloch, who had rushed across the continent for the occasion.

Crowded galleries were kept in order with difficulty as each phase of the battle apparently swung in favor of one side or the other. At first, occupants of the galleries took more interest in Senator Bloch, who was regarded as a considerable sensation by the West Virginians. Shortly, however, interest in the senator was thrown into the background due to issues featuring the contest.

These included the action of the senate in declaring vacant the seat of Senator A. R. Montgomery, depriving him of the vote, which would have defeated ratification and the taking up and adopting of the ratification resolution of the lower house, with-

WILL STOP LOANS TO ALLIED NATIONS

Treasury Department Says Sufficient Funds Have Been Granted.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 10.—Announcement by Secretary Hamilton today that no further loans would be made to the allies was believed tonight to indicate the adoption by the treasury of the policy favored by the debtor nations of deferring interest payments for the next three years or more.

Under authority granted by congress to extend $100,000,000 credits to the allied nations, the treasury has made loans amounting to $9,659,834,445. Secretary Hamilton said that the treasury of the credits authorized would not be granted and it was thought sufficient advances had been made.

Discussing the question, treasury officials said that in view of the exchange situation and the unsettled economic condition of the European nations during the reconstruction period, it would be advisable to postpone them to postpone interest payments for at least three years. Then, it is believed, they would be in a position to meet their obligations.

With the interest on the loans computed at five per cent, the total due the United States today is about $170,000,000, an enormous sum for the war-weary nations to pay at present. If interest is postponed to long term obligations, the interest on the payments thus deferred will amount to only $23,000,000 yearly, which can be paid and the benefit of the debtor nations maintained.

Treasury officials are working on recommendations to submit to congress as to the extent to be foregone if deferred payments are permitted. It has been suggested that the interest on the interest be charged off but the proposal has met with strong opposition in congress.

America's chief debtors are Great Britain with $4,277,000,000; France, $3,047,371,777; and Italy $1,621,338,386. Germany's debt is $343,444,000 and Russia's is $187,725,750. China, Japan, Greece, Cuba, Czechoslovakia and Liberia are the other countries listed on the books of the treasury.

ALBANIA PLEADS FOR MODIFIED AGREEMENT

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Modification in favor of Albania of the joint agreement of December 2, between the United States, France and Great Britain on the Adriatic question, is asked of President Wilson in a cable from the Albanian premier, Nishan Beutina, made public today by C. L. Chokez, Albanian representative here.

The Albanian premier requested that the privilege of constructing a railroad across northern Albania granted Yugoslavia by the agreement be withdrawn and construction of the route left solely to Albania. Yugoslavia has asked to be allowed free traffic over the line.

Protests against the provisions of the same agreement assigning Valona to Italy and Argirocastro to Greece, also are made.

ULSTER COUNCIL VOTES FOR OWN PARLIAMENT

BELFAST, March 10.—The Ulster council today decided in favor of the six Ulster counties being controlled by the Ulster parliament, should the new home rule bill be accepted. The council declined to accept any responsibility in regard to the bill, and it is understood will make no attempt to defeat it.

POTATO BREAKFAST MENU PROMISES SPLENDID FEAST

Potatoes "meatless," baked or mashed, potatoes large or small, potato salad, or potatoes any other way you want them are to feature the potato breakfast to be held in the big school auditorium tonight. But in addition to all kinds of potatoes there will be lots of jellies and jams and goodies brought from the homes of the women of the Twentieth Century club. In fact the chairman of the menu committee says that he doesn't think that the table will be even able to utter the proverbial groans under the weight of home-made delicacies. Table decorations will be in keeping with the nature of the feast.

The entertainment committee has promised a surprise program and all that is known about it is that it is to be one round of fun. The potato breakfast of other years has been featured by speakers of note from about the state who have spoken on more or less serious topics, but tonight's program will be by home talent and will be anything but serious.

The number of tickets sold yesterday gives assurance that all of the 200 seats available will be sold before breakfast time this evening. Remaining tickets are on sale at the Majestic pharmacy and at the chamber of commerce.

The American Legion has charge of the entertainment and in addition to the surprise "stunt" which have been arranged, there will be a male quartet. M. J. Sweeley is to be the principal speaker of the evening. Dinner will be served promptly at 7 o'clock.

DELAY VOTE ON ARTICLE 10 WHEN LEADERS LOSE CONTROL OF SITUATION

SAYS AIR SERVICE TO BE FIRST IN ACTION

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The air service will be the first arm of defense to come into active operation in future wars, Major General Charles P. Mencher, director of the army air service, told members of the Society of Automobile Engineers at their dinner tonight, given in connection with the National Aeronautical show.

"The relative size of our air force and that of our enemy," General Mencher said, "and the number of machines that it will be possible to put into operation immediately after the war begins will determine the character of the preliminary phase of the war."

It is entirely possible that one helicopter may have enough aircraft of sufficient size and range of action to drop enough explosives and steadily know on the centers of government, production and military strength to end the war almost before it has begun.

Certainly it would be possible to hamper and delay the embarkation and transportation of any expedition, any force long enough to enable the other belligerent to make a considerable preparation. In this connection, it should be remembered that the new highway and that we will have much less time than formerly to prepare to repel an invasion. The advent of aircraft has very materially shortened this time."

DALRYMPLE ISSUES A DEFI TO OPPONENTS

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Major A. V. Dalrymple, federal prohibition officer for the central states, today issued a statement in which he defied "public officials" who, he said, by their actions, hindered the enforcement of prohibition and stated that no orders were received from Washington prohibiting officials from making arrests and seizing liquor without warrants.

"We know what rights we have and we intend to enforce the law," said the major. "I helped draft the prohibition enforcement act. If the district attorney refuses to prosecute our cases, we will file suits with which we will win."

Several days ago, at the instance of District Attorney Byrne, four persons arrested without warrants by Major Dalrymple's men were released and the cases dismissed, because the "arrests were declared null" without due process of law."

TURKEY HARD PROBLEM FOR PEACE CONFERENCE

LONDON, March 10.—The peace conference spent the day in trying to work out the details of military and naval plans in connection with Turkey giving particular attention to Armenia. Admiral Beatty, Winston Spencer Churchill, secretary for war, and others were called to give their opinions. Premier Venizelos of Greece was also present and again insisted that the allies should take the sternest measures against the Sultan.

The general plan of action was not changed, however, but as a result of the conference it became known today that the military domination at Constantinople is likely to take the form of allied military control of certain Turkish governmental activities, among them probably the war department.

The conference was careful to make clear that this does not mean the taking over of the Turkish government at the start and would not in the future. If Turkey shows an inclination to abide by the terms of the armistice and cease massacres.

YOUTH, ALLEGED EMBROIDERER, GIVEN A STIFF SENTENCE

HELENA, Mont., March 10.—Charles Stevens, 19-year-old bank messenger, convicted of the theft of $400.00 last November, was sentenced here in district court today to the maximum penalty of 7 to 14 years in the state penitentiary. The boy protested his innocence when asked if he had any statement to make.

Compromise Factions Cause Tangle by Efforts for 11th Hour Agreement.

MORE DEMOCRATS READY TO DESERT PRESIDENT

Debate on Disputed Issue Proceeds With Chamber Practically Deserted During Conference.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 10.—The peace treaty compromise negotiations entered a period of fevered uncertainty today as the time approached for final senate action on article ten.

Working for an agreement senators on the sides of the chamber confounded the plans of their party leaders and threw the senate into such a tangle that it tacitly was agreed to delay a vote for several days in the hope that all elements might be more certain of their ground.

The hopes of the compromise advocates collapsed and were revived hourly as the day negotiations proceeded in private conferences, while debate on the floor dragged on without apparent interest or effect. Tonight the conference continued, with some senators hopeful and some hopeless of the outcome, but with no one confident of what might happen.

Boatloads of Start Trouble.
It was the treaty's irreconcilable republican opponents who started the trouble by remonstrating in a militant way against the decision of some of their party leaders to accept a modified draft of the republican reservation to article ten. So effective were their representations that the leaders decided not to offer the new resolution at all.

This determination sent some of the mild reservation republicans on the warpath and produced confusion also on the democratic side, where senators had hoped for several days to line up votes for the republican substitute. Caught in a crossfire from reservation republicans and reservation democrats the leaders withheld their final decision but indicated that they probably would present the substitute if assured of enough democratic decisions to adopt it.

Disseverment Now Pronounced.
Meaningless disagreement among the democrats became more pronounced partly as a result of a meeting in the office of Senator Owen, democrat, Oklahoma, at which a number of democratic senators are understood to have expressed disapproval of the course of their party leaders and to have promised to support the movement to break away from President Wilson and accept the best compromise they could get.

Among some republican advocates of compromise it was declared tonight that 32 democratic votes could be mustered for article ten substitute. While virtually no support for the movement to break away from President Wilson and accept the best compromise they could get.

Among some republican advocates of compromise it was declared tonight that 32 democratic votes could be mustered for article ten substitute. While virtually no support for the movement to break away from President Wilson and accept the best compromise they could get.

Countering the efforts of the democratic reservationists Senator Eli H. Rusk of Nebraska, the administration leader, spent a busy day in conference with the republican reservationists. He held to his prediction that compromise movement would succeed. He conceded that a large number of democrats would vote with the republicans.

TWIN FALLS MAN BUYS JEROME HOTEL

P. O. Bethune, Well Known Shee-
man Purchases North Side Inn.

JEROME, March 10.—Sale of the North Side Inn, the most prominent building in Jerome, to P. O. Bethune of Twin Falls, was announced here today by M. C. Stott of the Federal Abstract and Insurance company. The property, which was owned by the North Side Investment company, is said to have brought between $60,000 and $70,000. Included in the property sold was all equipment and furnishings.

Plans for the enlargement of the hotel are already being made by the new owner. The hotel has been inadequate to meet the demands made on it for a long period. It is said Mr. Bethune's plans call for extensive improvements.

The North Side Inn was built here shortly after the opening of the town site. It is a model of architecture, occupying a half block in the center of the city, the building has always been an attraction for visitors.

The hotel has 40 rooms and a large dining room as well as a big lobby. For some time it has been under the management of B. E. Shepherd, but it is anticipated that a new manager will be appointed as Mr. Shepherd wishes to devote his entire time to the management of the land and water company.

Mr. Bethune already is much interested in the north side. He is one of the best known sheepmen in the state of Idaho.

ONE DEFENDANT PLEADS OWN CASE

Court Allows Helme to Testify as He Pleases—Both Sides Kick.

By the Associated Press.
GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 10. Except for such points as may be developed on the cross examination of Paul King, the defense today closed its case in the Newberry election conspiracy trial. Only a brief rebuttal is in prospect for the government and Judge Sessions took the chance that the long case was "drawing" approaching its end so far as proof was concerned.

King's illness will in all probability prevent a session of the trial tomorrow. The end of the defense was marked by an unusual situation. The James W. Helme, a defendant, testified for himself without assistance of counsel.

The man whom the Newberry counsel have said was "worked" to go against Henry Ford in the democratic primary, had first government and then defense counsel at their feet objecting to his testimony. At times both sides were up at arms, Mr. Dalley and W. H. Elchorn, special assistant attorney general, and James O. Murfin, and George F. Nichols of the defense, put their heads together, examined an exhibit offered by Helme and unanimously objected.

Generally Judge Sessions allowed Helme to follow his own idea as to what to swear to and once when an exhibit was admitted over objection by Mr. Dalley and then not read despite Mr. Murfin's argument that it should be the court said: "Mr. Helme is running this testimony."

Helme emphasized statements that he had no dealings with the Newberry campaign committee, believed that his candidacy was desired by democrats and had no knowledge that Newberry supporters had wanted him in the race.

SELLING BLUE SKY.

Twin Falls is being canvassed for the purpose of selling blue sky. Nothing new in this? Perhaps not.

Twin Falls county is prosperous. It attracts the peddlers of worthless securities. Our farmers, bought heavily of liberty bonds, just as did our business men. The penalty is a barrage from the field guns of promoters.

Our people have been patient. They have been liberal. They have been easy. They have bought chairs. They have bought oil lands and even worthless newspaper stock. But they balk and they should balk, at present efforts to induce them to invest their money in "holding" stock predicated upon hope for a railroad to begin somewhere and end somewhere else.

Really, they fear that in the end they may be found "holding" the bag.

The community knows full well the needs of a railway. And the community will go its full length for a movement which will bring a new outlet to the coast.

But the community is hardly ready for such a shearing as that proposed. The scheme has not even the virtue of cleverness.

THE WOMAN AND HER ACCOUNTS.

Whether she be forced out into the world to earn her living, or remain within the confines of her home all her days, it is inevitable that every woman will have to handle money at some time. The practical and economical administration of her home as well as the necessities of business, life demand that she shall understand the keeping of accounts and be accurate in the four fundamental processes of arithmetic. Education which fails to prepare women for this contingency fails in a grave essential.

Recently in a western state a woman who had the position of postmistress in a small town was arrested on a charge of embezzlement, and given a suspended sentence pending investigation. When the investigation was made it proved that the trouble was not deliberate, but a poor system of keeping her accounts. She was technically guilty of embezzlement because she had diverted federal funds to her own private use, but she did not even know that she had done so, until her financial reports made authorities higher up suspicious.

A pardon has been recommended by the postal authorities and will be granted by the president without delay. This will relieve the woman from penal servitude and rehabilitate her in the eyes of her fellow townspeople. But nothing will ever wipe out the personal humiliation nor the dread lest the taint of suspicion may cling to her.

She is a good woman, with a family dependent upon her for support. But how can she conduct any business if she cannot keep accounts correctly? Yet she is no different from thousands of her sex.

Better training for all girls and women in the simpler forms of business and the handling of financial affairs is one of the needs of the day.

One college graduate makes $10,000 a year in a tea room. Another receives $6,000 a year for running the college dining room; more than any professor on the faculty is getting. More money in food for the body than in food for the mind. Here is food for thought.

BOYHOOD LOYALTY.

Jack Corcoran is one of The Chronicle carrier boys—a ruddy-faced, happy boy. Jack eats candy, quarrels with other lads, mows lawns in summer, and in other ways departs himself like other American boys.

Two weeks ago Jack broke his wrist. As would be done with other boys, his parents called in the family physician, the fracture was reduced, and Jack was released from the grip of restraint with his arm in a sling, and splints and a cast about his wrist.

THEN JACK THOUGHT OF HIS SUBSCRIBERS.

He must get a substitute to carry his route, or else his subscribers would go without their papers.

But there was no substitute available. And Jack, his arm in a sling and wrapped in splints, left his bed in the early day and delivered his papers to his subscribers, so that there might be no disappointment.

The manager of The Chronicle did not know of the situation until yesterday. Jack never whimpered. He made no complaint. He saw only his obligation and his responsibility. He had no snb. He never missed a day, nor his customers a paper.

What a lesson here for the shirker, the agitator, the promoter of short hours and reduced production. What a lesson in manhood from a boy. What a hope, too, for the future, when we know that America is producing youth with such fidelity and honor.

THE FORTY-SIX.

A big dream is about to be staged in Leipzig, Germany. The eyes of the world will be on it. Forty-six German officers, accused of war crimes, are to be tried before a German court. Fifteen of them are indicted by Belgium, 12 by France, seven by Great Britain, four by Italy and four by Poland.

The importance of the drama is out of all proportion to the crimes, and the fate of those forty-six men. They are picked as special criminals, out of the list of 900 prepared by the Allies. The German government protested handing those 900 offenders over to the Allies for punishment, in accordance with the terms of the treaty, and asked for the privilege of trying them herself. Her contention was that they could not receive a fair trial only in Germany. The Allies agreed, and now the world is to see whether Germany is honest in the matter.

It is a new test of German sincerity. That particular German commodity is not rated very high of late. German faith has fallen lower than German marks. It remains to be seen whether Germany is early a moral bankrupt.

Is Germany able to punish its conspicuous war criminals for their offenses against the laws of humanity and the laws of nations? Does Germany want to punish them? Is Germany able and willing to enforce justice against Germans for the satisfaction of non-Germans? On the answer of these questions will be determined very largely the Allies' future attitude toward Germany, the strictness or lenity with which the peace treaty will be interpreted and enforced, and the moral status that Germany will assume from now on in the eyes of mankind.

These 46 cases will not be weak cases, of course. The Allies do not mean to give Germany any pretext for acquitting this test batch of criminals if they can help it. Against every one of them will be a mass of documentary evidence which the Allies regard as sufficient to convict them in any honest court of justice. This evidence will all be furnished to the German government for the use of the prosecution. Then the Allies will stand back and watch the proceedings, cynically for the most part, yet hoping almost against hope that Germany will rise to the occasion and vindicate herself by punishing these conspicuous enemies of civilization. She could render herself no better service.

GOODING TO HAVE CIRCUS OF FLYERS

High Barker to Make Trial Flight—Reaches Elevation of 4000 Feet.

Gooding is to have a flying circus on Friday afternoon, March 12, at the temporary grounds northwest of the city, which are at present being prepared for the event. The circus will mark the beginning of aviation in Gooding.

It is anticipated that Twin Falls will have a similar event at a not distant date, probably at the time of The Chronicle's automobile show.

High Barker made the first airplane flight in the history of Gooding on Wednesday noon. Starting from the Bliss highway with a Curtiss machine he made a practice flight and was up 24 minutes and attained a height of 4000 feet. While over the city he gave an exhibition of his skill in handling the machine by performing several acrobatic stunts. On landing he reported that the machine behaved well and that the air was free from pockets. The cold above 4000 feet was intense and when he alighted several pieces of ice were found on the plane. He believes that it will be possible to make an elevation of 5000 feet in this altitude.

'LITTLE ARMY' MEN BADLY OUTVOTED

Three Efforts to Reduce Standing Forces to 100,000 Men

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 10.—Plans of "little army" men to reduce military expenses were rejected today by the house, which approved a peace time establishment of 299,000 enlisted men and 17,820 officers, after rejecting three proposals for a smaller force. The decision, though not final, was reached by a 2 to 1 vote, leading supporters of the army reorganization bill to believe that they eventually settled the peace time program.

In addition to authorizing a regular army 100,000 stronger than provided by the national defense act of 1916, the house also accepted a session of the world war by adopting the principle of permitting the federal organization of the army to be prescribed by the president instead of by law. Likewise, it approved of making separate corps of the air service, the chemical warfare service, and the finance department, but refused to divorce the transportation and the construction services from the quartermaster department.

Representative Jont of Alabama, ranking democratic member of the military committee, opened the attack for a smaller army. His amendment to fix the minimum strength at 224,000 men and 11,200 officers was defeated, 79 to 25, and soon after Representative Jones, democrat of Texas, sought to fix the force at 205,000 men but failed, 55 to 22. Representative Harrell, republican of Oklahoma, renewed the attack, proposing to cut the army to 150,000 men. He was beaten with a record vote.

After making a speedy getaway in outlining the future military policy, the house engaged in long debate over details, indicating that the bill would not be passed before the end of the week.

TARDIEU ATTACKS WILSON'S LETTER

Declares France Should Be Censured For Its Attitude Since Armistice.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, March 10.—Andre Tardieu, who was a member of France's delegation in the peace conference said today regarding President Wilson's letter to Senator Hitchcock:

"French public opinion will be in accord with that of the government that the reproach of imperialism cannot apply to France. It is not upon the peace treaty that such a reproach can be based. The treaty was signed and ratified by President Wilson himself, in solidarity with the heads of the other governments. In the response addressed by them on June 16, 1919, to Count von Brockdorff-Rantzau, head of the German peace delegation, 'That was a capital document,' said M. Tardieu, who continued: 'But this is the situation. First, we asked that part of the league of nations create an organized armed force as an essential condition of disarmament in the different countries. Our proposition was rejected three different times. 'Second: The United States promised us their guarantee in case of unprovoked attack, as well by the treaty of Versailles as by the special treaty between them and us, and neither of these treaties is ratified. 'Third: The treaty of Versailles imposed upon the allies and associated powers a certain number of common military duties—occupation of the left bank of the Rhine, Schleswig, Jutland, Allenstein, Marienburg, Upper Silesia and Teschen. Excepting a few thousand Americans on the Rhine, it is French troops which carry out these duties alone, or nearly alone. The treaty was to be executed by several. We are executing it alone. 'Fourth: The negotiations in Paris had in view participation by all the allied and associated powers in the occupation of mandated territories. Here, again, the United States disappeared, and to protect the population against massacres in Constantinople, Anatolia, Armenia and Cilicia, it was again France that was called upon. 'Therefore, I repeat, it is unjust to accuse us of imperialism. No one in the discourse of the American navy, our army, like the American navy, what circumstances require it to be and it is not France that created these circumstances. It is the debate going on for months in the United States over ratification of the peace treaty that has been the cause of our attitude with respect for President Wilson, but I think that in his last letter to Senator Hitchcock he has been unjust to France."

RAILROAD WAGE MEETING TEMPORARILY SUSPENDED

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Negotiations between the railroad executive committee and the union representatives on railroad labor's wage demands were suspended temporarily tonight. The first session found neither side ready and adjournment was taken after brief discussion. The date for resumption of the conference was left to the executive committee. It was indicated the second meeting would not be held before Friday.

Members of the executive committee were understood to have pressed for a decision on the question of permanent headquarters for the board. They preferred either Chicago or New York. Union leaders opposed this, however, and the question was laid aside for future consideration.

ROBBER ROBS ROBB, A ROBBER, OF HIS LOOT

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The unethical practice of a robber who specialized in robbing robbers provided the underworld with a choice moral today when a jury in general session convicted John P. Collins of grand larceny. This robber apparently knew that Frederick P. Robb, another robber, had in his apartment $5,000 and a $126 gold watch he had stolen from an express car in Philadelphia. He called on Robb, the testimony showed, displayed a badge, announced he was a member of the police department's mercantile squad and demanded Robb's loot. He got it. Robb, who was convicted of this express theft was brought here to testify against Collins, who will be sentenced March 16.

LIQUOR SMUGGLING ENDS IN A SHOOTING SCRAPE

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The first shooting in a series of disturbances along New York's waterfront over liquor smuggling occurred tonight when a negro longshoreman was slightly wounded by a custom guard who alleged the negro was attempting to escape from a pier with whisky taken from the steamer Marro Castle, recently arrived from Havana. A policeman caught the fleeing negro, but finding no liquor in his possession, arrested William Rutan, the out amending the senate rules, one week after the senate's vote defeating its own resolution on the same subject. Halls and corridors in the state house were thronged with spectators including hundreds of women, many of whom wore yellow flowers as well as men, as a token of their allegiance to the suffrage cause. Each senator had brought to his desk as many chairs as could be crowded about it, the majority being occupied by women. A few minutes after adjournment hundreds of men and women started a demonstration in the corridors, many of them having concealed in their coats their persons. Those without the horns added to the din by cheering and whistling.

Dr. A. K. Cutler, formerly of Austin, Texas, has been assigned by the state department of agriculture, as inspector of tubercular cattle and has been assigned to the Twin Falls district to replace a Federal inspector who was withdrawn from this field as a result of the federal government's retrenchment in this work in Idaho. When word was forwarded here that the government would discontinue its tubercular testing in this county protests were filed by the bureau of agriculture of the chamber of commerce and by local farming organizations. Later a request was made to the state to take up this work and the employment of Dr. Cutler is the answer to this request.
