FINDS HER POSITION CHANGED

Mother of Young Girl Explains How She is Being "Mothered" by Her Daughter.

In an article in the Woman's Home Companion on "The Girl of Seventeen" this mother says:

"She is just past seventeen years of age, is sweetly pretty, innocent, refined, intelligent, talented and is blessed with an open mind, particularly receptive, just now, to all modern ideas in the way of dress fashions, social stunts, routine melodies, jazz bands, new dances and late coiffures. She is, in two words, my daughter, a lovely child of the period just arrived at the 'know it all' age, and represents the average daughter of this day, a replica of the daughters of other mothers."

"As for me, I am her mother, nevertheless to her as a housekeeper and housewife, also an admiring audience of one for this very independent young person. A few years ago I used to find these things of no account, but now, teacher and confidante, to be a bit strong, within the past year I have lost my job and have fallen from my high estate as a lender and messenger to the second in command. In fact, the tables have been completely around and where, only a short time ago, I mothered my baby girl, it is I who am now being daughtered, who am being trained to look upon life, who am a sedate mother person twice and a little more the years of my daughter, but with the eyes of youth, just seventeen, who are being skillfully and tactfully imbued, by my very own child, with the latest ideas in regard to living. I am being lovingly required, nay, sweetly compelled, to change by ideas and opinions so that they may conform to hers."

ROMANCE IN RUSKIN'S LIFE

Divergent Religious Views for Long Time Separated Him From the Woman He Loved.

In 1866 Ruskin declared his love for Rosie La Touche and told her parents of his hope to make her his wife, says Howard White, author of "Ruskin's Life." There was a great difference of views between them. Ruskin was forty-seven; Rosie was in her eighteenth year. There was some natural hesitation on the part of the parents, and it was arranged that the matter should be postponed for three years.

But when the period of probation was ended new difficulties arose. There was hesitation not only on the part of the parents, but also by Rosie, Miss La Touche was of a deeply religious nature, but her views were orthodox and she did not share the views on spiritual questions in which Ruskin increasingly believed.

Her love for him had never wavered since the days of her childhood; but she doubted if, holding the views she did, she could marry him. Both she and Ruskin suffered the deepest distress.

For a little time there was estrangement, and there is a moving entry in Ruskin's diary in the year 1870: "Last Friday about twelve o'clock at noon my mistress passed and would not speak." In the following year there was reconciliation.

The end of Ruskin's dream came in 1876. Miss La Touche's health never strong, began to fail, and she died in May of that year.

Various Kinds of Food.

A bulletin issued by the New York Museum of Natural History stated that one tribe of North American Indians regarded a mixture of pulverized ants, grasshoppers, and locusts, dried in the sun, as a relish. Another tribe preferred grasshoppers and locusts with roasted and dried corn. In Central America the eggs of three aquatic bugs are served as "cakes." In Nyassaland a paste of maggies and mosquitoes is considered a delicacy. The Mexicans manufacture a drink as strong as their wine by infusing a sugar beetle in alcohol.

Concerning Fasting.

It is impossible to stop eating and not feel the pangs of hunger, according to the Popular Science Monthly. If you have been led to believe differently by the stories of men who have undergone fasting tests, listen to the words of a professor of the University of Chicago. He found as a result of observation of man during prolonged intentional starvation that the view that hunger mechanism fails early does not hold as a general rule. The professional faster, he points out, may know the pangs of hunger in a spirit of bravado.

Indian fakirs who have been practicing the trick of fasting until the normal cravings of the body have subsided to will power are said to be able to go without food for incredible periods of time. But probably the real truth of the matter is known only to them.

Mrs. Willis—Religion.

Mrs. Willis—You don't say!

Mrs. Willis—Yes; she wanted to attend a church that has an unwarranted preacher and he wanted to attend one that has a lot of pretty girls in the choir.—Judge.

WHEAT GROWERS TO FORM ORGANIZATION

Idaho, Oregon and Washington Grain Men to Co-operate in Selling.

One of eighty meetings planned by a committee which is organizing the wheat growers of Idaho, Oregon and Washington will be held in Twin Falls on March 30. The purpose of the organization will be to enable growers to sell their grain to a better advantage. The plan is modeled after the plans adopted by the California promoters of fruit and other food stuffs for co-operative selling and distribution of their products.

The organization committee for southern Idaho, according to Mr. Elmore's announcement, will meet at Gooding, Monday, March 29. The next meetings will follow the Gooding meetings as follows: Shoshone, March 30; Nampa, March 31; Weiser, April 1; Twin Falls, March 30; American Falls, March 31; Downey, April 1; Montpelier, April 2; Blackfoot, April 3, and Heberburg, April 4.

Dates for 70 community meetings in southern Idaho will be announced shortly, Mr. Elmore said. At these meetings an effort will be made to meet as many of the wheat growers of the state as possible.

BUHL LEGION TO BUILD NEW HOME

Committee Appointed to Co-operate With Chamber of Commerce in Securing Funds.

BUHL, March 25.—At an enthusiastic meeting held here last night the Buhl Legion voted to co-operate with the chamber of commerce in the plans for the erection of a new building for the use of the legion. A committee was appointed to assist the chamber of commerce in the solicitation of funds.

Several other matters were brought up for discussion. It was announced that the legion had taken a lease for the present on the Lynch building. The new building is a regulation similar to the one recently passed by the chamber of commerce advocating the establishment of a public library from this section.

Plans were inaugurated for a legion dance about April 21. The post hopes to make this one of the most successful affairs in the history of social activities in the Buhl section.

Much discussion was had on the wearing of service uniforms by former service men. The post voted to urge former service men to discontinue this practice, since it is found that the suggestion is not carried out to meet more forceful means to obtain the discontinuance of this habit. It is against the federal laws for service men to wear the uniform except on specified occasions, such as parades.

AMERICANS IN MEXICAN SCHOOL.

Here is a sobering thought which sheds no light on our Mexican problem, but which should make any hot-headed citizen more willing to seek real light. In a little California town of 2,500 inhabitants, quite close to the Mexican border, there are no school accommodations for the children of school age. Every day the American youngsters of that town cross to Mexicali, the city on the southern side of the border, and receive their instruction in a Mexican school.

It is a peculiar situation and one not calculated to make Americans proud. It is believed to be the only instance where children living in one nation receive their education in the schools of another. The state superintendent of public instruction see no immediate hope for a change.

This situation has no big international significance. It does not mean that Mexico has more and better school facilities than California. Far from it. But there are a lot of other equally significant events which happen on one side or the other of that troublesome border which are magnified to immense proportions in the newspapers of the United States. The lesson to be read from the open doors of the Mexicali schoolhouse is simply the need for open-mindedness and fairness in facing Mexican problems. If there are vicious bandits and narrow, selfish officials south of the Mexican border, there is also schoolhouse where American children whose own community has failed to provide for their education go daily, in perfect safety, for instruction.

ALCOHOL AND DOPE.

Before prohibition became effective, there was a widespread fear that deprivation of alcohol would lead to a more general use of habit-forming drugs. Apparently, however, there has been little if any increase in drug addictions so far. If this is the case, it seems readily accounted for by two facts. One is the greater stringency in the regulation of the narcotic drugs traffic. The other is a purely psychological fact, suggested by Dr. Alexander Lambert of New York, in a recent article in a medical magazine.

Alcohol, he points out, gained and maintained its hold on great numbers of people largely because of its social sanction. There was always a social element connected with drinking, reaching back to the remotest human history. Social ceremonies and traditions grew up around it. There might almost be said to have been a sort of social merit in drinking, so long as it was done moderately. This view was never quite swept away even by the condemnation visited on over-indulgence.

"Dope" has no such sanction. Whereas alcoholic addiction was primarily a social vice, it is frowned on by society as alcohol never was. This social scorn is merely a potent factor in deterring people from the use of drugs. Ordinarily a man could have it known that he drank moderately without losing his place in the esteem of the community. Rightly or wrongly, no man can have it known that he uses drugs without forfeiting the respect spect of his friends and neighbors. So people fear dope as they never feared booze. And although this attitude is often unfair, it is fortunate that it exists. It is society's strongest defense against one of its most insidious foes.

THE ANTI-PROHIBITION CAMPAIGN

The "wets," particularly in the east, are making a loud noise over the prohibition amendment to the constitution. They have raised, or are raising, report says, a campaign fund of $100,000,000 to fight the law, and one Chicago lawyer alone declares he has been paid $1,000,000 for his services. The money will be expended in the approaching national campaign, with the hopes of electing congressmen who will refuse to vote money for the enforcement of the law against booze. The men concerned are too wise in politics, and too well informed of public sentiment, to fight openly for the repeal of the amendment, but they hope to gain their point by crippling its enforcement.

It is quite believable that such a fund exists, and for some such purpose. But who contributed? Did the workers of the country lend their aid? No such claim is made. Or the business man? No, they didn't. Or the professional man? Not a cent. Did the wives and mothers of the nation's men add their mite? Most assuredly they did not. That hundred million came solely from the bank accounts of those who made it in the liquor business. It is only those who have money in interest in the non-enforcement of the law who have contributed to finance the effort to thwart and cripple the law.

As the campaign grows warmer you will see evidence of the judicious spending of this fund. You will find it animating newspapers and magazines in agitation against too rigid enforcement of the prohibition amendment. You will hear it in the voice of orators whose tongues it has loosened. You will see it decorating the country's billboards, adding their efforts to bamboozle the public by the creation of spacious sentiment for personal liberty. But be not taken in by any argument and paid for with the profits of distillers and liquor-dealers. In the beginning it is sophistry, and in the end it is crime.

GETTING RID OF TYPHOID.

Ten years ago the annual mortality from typhoid fever in Pittsburgh was 65 per 100,000; last year it was 6.2 per 100,000. In the same decade Columbus, O., reduced its typhoid rate from 40 to 3; Louisville, Ky., from 52.7 to 11.2; Scranton, Pa., from 31.5 to 1.3; Cleveland, O., from 15.7 to 2.4. According to the Journal of the American Medical Association the big-city honors for 1919 go to Chicago, New York and Boston, where typhoid rates now are almost negligible. The city of worst repute is Memphis, with a rate last year of 58.4. This was more than double the Memphis rate of ten years ago. Almost every other city in the country has shown an improvement comparable with the figures given above.

Nothing is more indicative of the present progress made in this country in fighting preventable disease. Particularly our cities have done well against the "filth diseases," of which typhoid is one. The improvement in this case is directly traceable to two great campaigns of enlightenment, one for purer water supply and the other for eliminating flies. Bad water and flies have always been the chief sources of typhoid infection.

Cities have shown the greatest improvement because in cities reforms spread more quickly and the water supply is more easily controlled. Country people, however, are making steady progress in protecting their wells and springs from contamination, using chloride when necessary to purify their water, and screening their houses against flies. Eventually a vacation tourist will find as much safety from this deadly disease in rural districts as he finds now in Chicago or New York.

The "System"

By GEORGE ELMER COBB

(Copyright, 1919, by the Western Newspaper Union)

"System, my son—that is the essence of all business success. Example: David Blair, democrat—his fortune. Ten years ago he was running an indifferent grain and feed business. He went into real estate, particularly subdivisions. He loaned a little money on advantageous terms—result: wealth, luxury, a safe old age."

Acton listened attentively and said nothing. From what he had heard, David Blair was a skilful, loan shark and hard master to have as a creditor. However, Acton did not venture any criticism based on hearsay. Definitely one thing he did know: Blair had a daughter, Luella, so lovely and angelic that Acton cherished her occasional smiles as if they were priceless jewels.

"Blair and I are old friends," proceeded Acton's father. "You, just out of college, hardly know what to turn your hand to. Start in by studying his ways—learn the system that has made Blair successful. He is willing to take you into his service as a sort of right hand man."

"I'm agreeable," said Acton. "When do I begin?"

"Right away, Blair is expecting you."

It was all arranged forthwith. Acton was elated over one fact only—his new connection with David Blair might bring him into favor with that austere person and make his charming daughter more accessible.

Acton had never called at the house, nor had any other young man that he knew of. He had met Luella quite incidentally in the woods. They had mutually attracted one another. Their meetings were clandestine, but there was no other way for the innocent young man, under a strain of fear of the tyrant father.

He had to the system, within a week Acton had learned the art of the dazzling dollar. David Blair, Acton saw how they were acquired. The man had a soul of hard, impervious flint. "Delicious and tempts were mostly of the silent, waiting, class. Whenever he loomed one of his rascally pot-ages or sold one on instalments or loaned money at extortionate rates, he required and held fast to all hard interest terms and security offered. Was beside the unfortunate and oppressed, he would demand the pre-ordained day of payment."

Several times Acton was left in sole charge of the office. He hated the task, he upbraided his better self for engaging in it. He fairly withered when, one day, from an inner office, he heard the chuckling sound that he had secured a valued customer in the young man who coldly treated all the pathetic appeals of a poor woman who pleaded for another month to make up delinquent rent.

The soulless man did not know that Acton had secretly whispered to the woman that she would call up on her that evening. It was to loan her money personally and win gratitude and blessings.

It got to be so that these benevolent actions of Acton would high commend him to the community. One day he came into the office to be confronted by Blair in a hot fit of rage. The latter had heard of the secret benefactions of his employee, his treacherous perversion of the time-honored system. "You have demoralized my clientele," he charged veraciously. "You have sent one of our choicest customers into the office to be confronted by Blair in a hot fit of rage. The latter had heard of the secret benefactions of his employee, his treacherous perversion of the time-honored system."

"You have demoralized my clientele," he charged veraciously. "You have sent one of our choicest customers into the office to be confronted by Blair in a hot fit of rage. The latter had heard of the secret benefactions of his employee, his treacherous perversion of the time-honored system."

And then a strange thing happened. There was a violent, howling man whom Blair had suspected down to a point where he had lost home and pocket money, and ending with a man on a cowering, tongue at the most rascally of his temptations, this man confronted him in an empty suite. He told Blair what he thought of him, then he poured upon him and gave him the roughest of his life.

Broken, bleeding, half dead from the terrible chastisement, David Blair lay in an empty room on the bare floor of the wretched apartment. He was too weak and sore to move. From another room there was borne to his ears the conversation of a group of denizens of the underworld, as they gathered on the muddy, dingy and hopefulness of his disheveled young employee, he writhed as they berated the selfish, wicked wiles through which he, Blair, had robbed the poor and had crushed out all their happiness. He was brought to his knees by the first light in his life he saw the light.

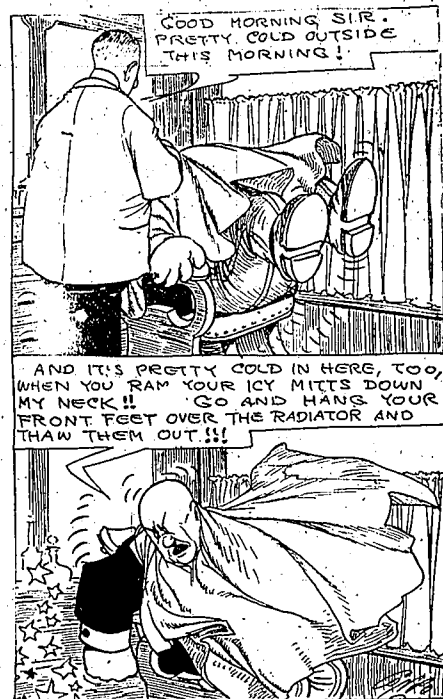

He saw it so clearly that when hours later he crept from the cheerless spot, David Blair had promised his trembling, craven soul that he would atone for all the evil he had done, and a changed man, the very next day he began the duty of reformation. And this was how the example of Acton Dwyer brought about a great reformation and it was through the same that he won his peerless bride, Luella.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

RACIAL BLENDINGS IN SYRIA

So Many Nations Have Overrun the Country That No One Race Can Claim Pre-eminence.

Syria, the region extending from the Taurus mountains to Egypt and from the desert to the great sea, is the land of the patriarchs and prophets and apostles—"the Holy Land." Its population numbers about three and one-half million of Semitic origin, speaking the Arabic language, and yet with so many races intermingled through the centuries of the various conquests and occupations that the people cannot claim any one race as their own. Greek, Roman and European crusaders, all have blended with the ancient Semitic stock to produce the Syrians of today.

In Syria was the home spot of Abraham—the Lebanon mountains, in 1520, because of the massacres the European powers insisted that these mountains be made autonomous. And since that date this little district has been a living demonstration of what the people of the land are capable of becoming.

The steep mountain sides have been terraced to a height of 4,000 feet and planted to olives, figs and vines. Taxes have been low, safety to person and property secured, good roads built and kept in repair. The people have constructed more comfortable homes and have sent their sons to schools and colleges.

The story of the achievements of the Lebanon and its sons during these 50 years of autonomy would be a thrilling narrative in itself.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull aching in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and laggard. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's uric waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach grows sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water seals and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with bicarbonate and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effective little water drink. —Adv.

MAINE DELEGATES GO UNINSTRUCTED

Senator Watson Arranges Administration for As. During War.

By the Associated Press.
BANGOR, Me., March 25.—Four delegates at large and eight district delegates were elected to the republican national convention without opposition as the state convention of the party here today. All are uninstructed. Six presidential electors also were nominated.

Resolutions were adopted approving the refusal of the United States senate to ratify the peace treaty without reservations, opposing government ownership and construction of railways, and favoring legislation that will provide the United States with an adequate merchant marine and urging the establishment of a federal budget. Construction and maintenance of national highways by the federal government was favored and the policy of maintaining a small standing army with a trained citizen reserve was endorsed.

Senator John E. Watson, of Indiana, in an address arraigned the democratic national administration; charging President Wilson with having played politics with the question of war and with having done nothing to prepare for the conflict. "We voted the money and the power to the president," he said, "and now that the war is over we demand that he return every iota of that power into the hands of the congress and the people. We do not want to continue an authority greater than that which we framed to make the world safe for democracy."

Edward W. Wheeler of Brunswick, Charles B. Carter of Auburn, George C. Weeks of Portland, and Colonel Frank M. Hume of Houlton, were elected delegates at large.

FAIL TO FIND TRACE OF KIDNAPPED LAD

By the Associated Press.
LEXINGTON, Ky., March 25.—Although their terms had been carried out, and $25,000 in currency wrapped in a bundle placed in a public garage in Lexington, business district, kidnapers of Paul Little, 12-year-old son of E. E. Little, capitalist, failed to put in an appearance tonight. Thirteen minutes after he had deposited the money the father of the missing boy removed the bundle which had not been touched.

The note demanding the ransom, delivered Wednesday night, a few hours after the kidnapping, ordered the money be placed in the garage can at 7:35 p. m. Thursday night.

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 25.—Although no trace of Paul Little, 11-year-old son of E. E. Little, Lexington capitalist, kidnapped Wednesday afternoon and held for ransom understood to be $25,000, has yet been found, it became known that the police are working on the theory that the lad might have been abducted by two men who are known by Mr. Little.

Reports from Louisville today that a man answering the description of the stranger last seen with Paul Little had been seen in that city were discounted by the police, who believe that the boy is being held either in or near Lexington.

Although the parents of the missing boy refuse to make public the note received Wednesday night, one of the members of the family intimated today that another note is expected from the captors within the next 24 hours. It is believed that the note will contain instructions for disposition of the ransom, which the boy's parents have expressed willingness to pay if their son is returned safely.

MORE DETAILS OF SPARTAN PLAN FOR MOVEMENT IN MAY

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, March 25.—The Munster Anzeiger gives further details of the plans for a Spartan movement in the Rhine provinces on May 1, according to a Rotterdam dispatch to the London Times. It says that a conference attended by three Russian officers decided on March 13 that the time had arrived to start a red mobilization in Germany, which had been prepared up to the smallest details.

The workers were to be armed, the government troops disarmed. An army was to be organized on the Russian plan, 100 Russian officers having been distributed in the industrial provinces for the purpose. The workers, who had already been selected as eligible for enlistment, were to plunder the munition stores and then march on Munster. Word also was to be taken and a strong red army was to guard the Rhine. The program was carried out more or less according to schedule.

AMERICAN AND ARGENTINE INTERESTS ORGANIZE BANK

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 25.—Organization of a bank in the Argentine, republic operated jointly by Argentine and the American interests to foster reciprocal banking and trade relations between the two countries, and especially to finance exports and imports, was announced here tonight. The Argentine group includes Comodoro Naon, former ambassador to the United States, and Julio Peral, president of the stock exchange, Buenos Aires.

The American group includes Brown Brothers and Company; J. and W. Seligman and Company; Columbia Trust company, New York; National Shawmut bank, Boston; Anglo and London bank, London; National Bank, San Francisco; Biltmore bank and trust company, New Orleans; Continental and Commercial National bank, Chicago; and the Guardian Savings and Trust company, Cleveland.

Dr. Manuel De Yriola, formerly minister of finance in the Argentine republic and for many years president of the Banco de la Nacion, in Buenos Aires, is understood to have accepted the presidency of the new institution.

11-YEAR-OLD GIRL IS BRUTALLY MURDERED

By the Associated Press.
STURGEONVILLE, O., March 25.—A posse of armed miners searched the woods near Adena, Jefferson county, Ohio, for the slayer of 11-year old Frances Smith, daughter of a miner, whose body was found tonight by her father about a mile and a half outside of Adena.

The girl left her home about noon to go to a drug store for medicine for her sick mother. "When she did not return a search was instituted."

The child had been strangled and most of her clothes torn from her body. Surrounding towns were notified and other posses were formed.

Authorities at Sturgeonville, a mining town near Adena, notified police of the latter city tonight that they had arrested four negro suspects in connection with the killing.

A report circulated in Adena to the effect that the negroes were being brought there and a mob of about 1,000 persons met the 11 o'clock train tonight. They searched all the coaches and held the train for half an hour, but did not find the suspects. Leaders of the mob then ordered railroad officials for a special train to Sturgeonville. The request was refused, but police reported that members of the crowd said they would go by automobile.

ESTHONIA TO EVACUATE DISPUTED TERRITORY

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, March 25.—The Latvian TO WATER USERS

The Twin Falls Canal Co. plans to begin to increase the streams for use in irrigation on the 25th of March. The splendid yields obtained last season in spite of the shortage of water reminds us that the Twin Falls farmer needs no advice in the practice of irrigation.

There are, however, many newcomers in the valley, there are many others who are entering lands and are changing farms, there are others who have sold and repurchased, no doubt all of these find a heavy demand on their time in doing much work that should have been done last fall.

To these farmers we venture to advise that the irrigation should have the first consideration.

No matter how important the work may be it should not be allowed to be the cause of permitting the irrigation stream to run idly by, as often when the work is all done and ready, an accident or break will occur and the land dried up for a time, and in irrigation "once behind always behind."

The benefit of winter snows and spring rains on the Twin Falls tract are more apparent than real as is so clearly shown in the attempts at dry-farming on the rim of the tract.

Soil organisms do not thrive in very dry soil, and most seeds that was not irrigated last fall should have from three to six inches of moisture as soon after the 15th of April as it can be feasibly applied.

The reason for these remarks and our plans to start off the irrigation season early, is based upon the report from Mr. Markham, superintendent at the Jackson Lake Reservoir, just received.

legation here announces that as a result of the conference held at Walla, Walla, between representatives of Latvia and Esthonia, concerning the border question, an agreement was signed, subject to ratification within two weeks, under which Esthonia will evacuate the accepted districts, leaving them under the control of the commander in chief of both states. The question concerning the ownership of the districts is to be submitted to arbitration.

The legation also says that the Latvian foreign minister has announced that his government intends to notify Mr. Tebitcherik, Bolshevik foreign minister in Russia, that Latvia is prepared to start peace negotiations with the Moscow government after Easter.

Made First Cash Register.

A man named Jacob Ritty, a merchant of Dayton, O., took a vacation trip to Europe. While passing through a summer, he happened one day through the engine room and noticed a device which mechanically recorded the number of revolutions of the propeller shaft. Immediately came the idea to the mind of Mr. Ritty: "Why not invent a machine that would record each coin put into the cash drawer?" When he returned home he invented the first "cash register." John H. Patterson was keeping a grocery store in a small town 50 miles from Dayton. He heard of the Ritty contrivance, sent an order for one, and that was the beginning of the first store. The machine was crude, but it interested Mr. Patterson and he saw how it could be perfected. "If it's good for my store," he argued, "why not for all stores?" Forthwith he went to Dayton, bought the Ritty interest out, and started the National Cash Register Co., which has now 1,800,000 machines and every year turns out more than 600,000 cash registers.

Reports of Officials Disclose Use of Lands in Minidoka Reserve.

Over 2,000,000 sheep and and nearly 150,000 cattle will graze on the national forest ranges of the Intermountain region this summer. These stocks will run off a gross revenue in beef and mutton to their owners of fall of over $27,000,000, according to the estimates of the forest service officials.

In return for the summer use of the forest ranges in this region the stockmen pay into the U. S. Treasury annually approximately $700,000.

On the Minidoka forest, which is the forest used by local people, there was grazed during the season of 1918, the following:

22,217 cattle and 1,718 horses.

This stock was divided among 422 permittees, and the average permit was 11 head.

There were 71 permittees grazing a average of 270 head of sheep or 75-76 head for the forest.

In addition there were approximately 352 head of domestic cattle and horses grazed on the forest, free.

In exchange of private lands, within the forest, there were permits issued.

TO TRAIN CHILDISH MIND

Parents Can Do Much to Assist Development During the First Six Years of Life.

What definite means can the home adopt for the best development of the child in the first six years of his life? First, with regard to the things which surround the child—furniture, toys, books, toys, clothes and the like.

In the room in which the child spends most of his time, the furniture ought to be plain enough so that he can do no great harm in playing freely about. A small kindergarten chair and table to work on are almost indispensable in the child's room. A good blackboard should be hung securely on the wall, for from the hour he can toddle the child will delight in chalk markings, and these even then will have value because of the muscle development afforded the arm and hand.

The pictures on the wall in the child's room ought to be distinctly for him, and hung low enough so that he may take them down and handle them whenever he chooses. Every child likes color and delights in the "story picture," the picture which has a story connected with it.

The child may be taught to discriminate between his own things and those belonging to others by being allowed to visit the family living room where mother's and father's books and their pictures and furniture are used with care and caution. In this way it will also be possible to lead him gradually into an appreciation of the adult's standard of art in pictures, music and literature.

BELOVED OF NEW YORKERS

Washington Square, Gothamites Claim, Is Without Its Equal in the World for "Atmosphere"

Here, say the New York men of aesthetic faces and the women of soulful eyes, we have what our lives have long sought. Trafalgar square hasn't got it. The Place de la Concorde is too French, the parks and esplanades of Rio can't come close. But here, in charming quiet old Washington square, we have atmosphere.

Here, says the Philistine, is a nice place to flop while I read the comics in this morning's paper. In the corner is a comfortable bench over which the shade of a full-grown impish street-tree stretches. And there is a kid who will shine my shoes for a nickel.

Here, says the weary one, is a place where the cops might let me alone. Not much chance for a handout, but I might steal a smooze over there by the fountain. Ah, pleasant grass, pretty flowers.

Here, says the mother, is a pretty good place to leave the kids while I sneak down to the avenue for a yard or two of cotton. Now, mind, don't stir from this bench. Mike, give the baby his bottle if he gets to crying. Here, says the visitor, is the Washington arch. How interesting! It must weigh several tons at least. Now will some one tell me how I got to Cooper Union from here?

CHICAGO, March 25.—Pronounced weakness developed in the corn market today owing to a good deal of rumors that a maximum limit on trading allowance for any one interest, would again be put into force. The close was nervous. 1-7-8 to 1-12-14 and July 148 5-8 to 148 3-4. Oats lost 1-2 to 2 1-2 3-8 and provisions 35¢ to $1.45.

Grain was current that 200,000 bushels would be restored as the greatest amount which the exchange rules would permit any single concern to have open in current trades on the corn market. For some weeks past there has been no maximum limit on the corn market that would not only result in speculation on the bull side but would also result in a speculative number of ears which have been devoted to wheat, would be used for carrying corn. Sharp declines in the value of huge loads of wheat to work the corn market in the last part of the day. Earlier, the market had secured transient gains chiefly as a result of gossip that no basis had been found for any presentation of grain traders.

Oats merely paralleled the action of corn. Provisions were depressed by breaks in the hog market.

KEEP COOL AND KEEP WELL

Some Points of Importance to Be Remembered When an Epidemic is Threatening Public Health.

At its worst any epidemic takes but a relatively small toll of the population, and as a rule the majority of people are resistant to the assaults of the worst disease germs, including influenza. If they but take ordinary care of themselves. This is important, as to prevention or as to treatment, our simple fact that everybody will not follow the normal life he has led, eat those things that are suited to his system, things he has always eaten with reasonable good health, rest and sleep as usual and avoid overfatigue while carrying on his work, also as usual, he will escape the possibility. There is no excuse for any panic. Above all, the individual should remember that the first and last rule is to keep cool and keep well. For the man who will keep cool and keep well, and the man who keeps well and has all his faculties about him will keep cool. This is no time for official or public or collective hysteria.—Philadelphian Public Ledger.

TRI-STAKE MEET IS PLEASANT AFFAIR

Members of Oakley, Raft River and Twin Falls L. D. S. Churches Have Social Time.

An afternoon and evening of musical, dramatic, athletic and dancing was enjoyed by a large number of local and visiting members at the L. D. S. Tri-Stake meet here yesterday.

Choruses of 16 voices representing Oakley churches competed in the afternoon. The decision was given to Twin Falls with the score of points being 58 to 53. The singing was exceptionally good and the choruses were highly complimented by Professor Powell.

There was no dramatic contest on account of sickness of some who were to have participated, but the Oakley delegation put on its own dramatic as a part of the day's entertainment.

In the first basketball game of the afternoon the Cassia Juniors put it over the Raft River Juniors by a score of 42 to 15, and in the second game the Twin Falls Seniors piled up a 62 to 18 score on the Raft River Seniors. The evening games resulted in another victory of the Cassia Juniors over the Twin Falls Juniors, score 27 to 16. Cassia Seniors also won from the Twin Falls Seniors 33 to 24.

At the dance hall in the evening the competing choruses joined in singing some of the songs and during the afternoon. Officers and contestants of the three stakes, 66 in number, were entertained at a six o'clock dinner at the city cafe. The dance was well attended.

Visiting delegations were appreciative of appreciation for the good time and general treatment given them by the Twin Falls people.

ORDER SLOWLY EMERGES FROM HUN CONFUSION

Fifteen minutes later, an outgoing Naumburg train was stopped by a sound of cavalry and a lorry with machine guns, busily setting out to clear up that band. Further on, the overtook several soldiers bringing in two captive workmen whose hands were pinioned behind their backs.

Disorders in Weimar. Considerable fighting has occurred at Naumburg where the strikers entrenched themselves in the fortress from which they were dislodged only after the garrison had been reinforced by troops from Weimar. Historical old Weimar itself did not escape the disorders. Several workmen were killed, but there was no property damage. All is quiet there now.

The large number of troops at Erfurt prevented an outbreak there. When the patrol in the outskirts of Erfurt halted The Associated Press car for an inspection of credentials, a Prussian officer, observing a small American flag on the radiator, exclaimed: "You are in Germany now, not in America." He picked up the flag and handed it to the chauffeur and stalked angrily away.

Owing to the non-appearance of the newspapers, the workmen in some districts, and even residents, of the large towns, are woefully ignorant of the developments since Kapp's defeat on Berlin; many are even unaware of Kapp's abdication.

Although almost every industrial town in Saxony has returned to work, there is a small number of strikers, and it is not yet known whether the strikers will return to work or not. The strikers are still in the hands of the police. The workmen were surrounded and cornered in a quarter near the center of the town.

The police troops were thrown on the buildings where the strikers had taken refuge, but with the exception of three houses and a few others in the line of the machine gun fire the strikers did little damage. There were about 100 strikers in the town.

WENT IS BOMBARD. COBLENZ, March 25. Went is being bombarded today by artillery. The Reichswehr troops were forced to the confidence of holding out there, although it had been expected that the town was destined to be surrendered.

DIECKMANN is in the hands of the Reds. The red line extends from Friedrichsfeld, 5 kilometers north of Diepholze, through Durselen to the direction of Munster.

The Krupp works at Essen are reported to be manufacturing ammunition for the Reds.

The military situation in the Ruhr region is said to be favorable to the Reds. Additional government troops are arriving north of Coesfeld. In Thuringia the revolt is extending to the Harz mountains.

IRON WORKERS END STRIKE. JAMALPUR, British India, March 25.—The strike of the iron workers at Tatta, which has been in progress for some time, has been settled.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

TO HELP INSTITUTE BURLEY ELKS LODGE

Twin Falls to Be Represented 300 Strong at Metropolitan of Cass County.

More than 300 strong, Twin Falls lodge B. P. O. E. will go to Burley to institute the new Elk lodge in the metropolitan of Cass county.

The date for the ceremony has not been definitely fixed, but tentative arrangements have been made for April 16. Last night a committee on arrangements was named, with Harry Maxwell as chairman. The committee will meet in a day or two when determination will be reached as to the means for conveyance, following which a campaign will be made for members to make the trip. General opinion inclines to a special train, although many of the members will make the trip by automobile.

From expressions heard, there will be no trouble in securing the desired 300 members for the trip. North side members will be on hand for the occasion, which will be memorable in Idaho Elkdom.

The work will be interpreted by a selected team, to which not only Twin Falls but Pocatello and probably Boise lodge will contribute members. The full work, with trimmings, will be put on, and the charter members given all that they are entitled to.

Out-of-town members are expected to get in touch with Mr. Maxwell, as they are arranged for their transportation and entertainment may be made. Not since Twin Falls lodge was instituted has there been such a function for the Best People on Earth, and plans will go forward with an enthusiasm which will stimulate interest in the organization as a whole.

Last night Twin Falls lodge initiated the following new members: G. E. Duke, M. L. Powell, H. A. Heitler, J. W. LaMonte, W. W. Nielsen, Robert Brown, Jr.

WOOD ASSURED OF SOUTH DAKOTA VOTE

Gerald Wood in Democratic List—McIntosh to Make Race for Governor.

By the Associated Press.

STON FALLS, S. D., March 25.—With 222 scattered and mostly isolated precincts unreported, returns from Tuesday's primary election in that state tonight, yielded the following vote for candidates for republican presidential endorsement: Wood, 23,352; Lowden, 25,741; Johnson, 23,534. Senator Miles Pollock, who was an independent candidate for endorsement, received a small vote. His incomplete total was slightly less than 1,000.

Three-fourths of the precincts to report are on the prairie, or in the lead lands, west of the Missouri river. The total republican vote of the missing precincts at the 1916 election—when women did not vote—was about 4,500.

Democratic returns became available today for the first time since the polls closed on Tuesday evening. Scattering reports on presidential endorsement showed a very small vote and majority of from 2 to 1 to 10 to 1 were reported for James W. McInnes of New York over James D. Moore of Maywood, Ills. In this county, Gerald received 256 votes and Moore polled 61. The county's republican vote was slightly more than 2,000.

Edison county (Mitchell) gave Gerald 110 votes and Moore 12. The republican vote was 2,000. Returns from four-fifths of the state for the republican senatorial nomination gave Norbeck 28,164; Hanes, 22,128. For governor, McInnes received 27,556 and Richards 18,271. Representative Charles Chapman of Sioux Falls, republican, was re-elected. W. C. Cook, Sioux Falls publisher, was re-elected republican national committeeman.

Under the Richards primary law, party candidates for presidential endorsement receiving pluralities, shall be supported by the 10 delegates to the national convention for at least three weeks.

SIXTY of 64 counties were heard from. The missing counties have 58 precincts and a republican vote of about 1,200. Returns from the 60 counties show that Wood carried or was leading in 29, Lowden was ahead in 17, and Johnson had pluralities in 14. Several counties which reported today gave pluralities to Lowden but the six Black Hills counties went heavily for Wood.

Munich county, including Sioux Falls, which has the largest county population, was carried by Johnson by 100 votes. One Sioux Falls precinct supported Wood and the other was for Lowden. Wood carried Sioux Falls by 77 votes.

CLYNE AND BARNES DO NOT CONFER ON CORN DELIVERIES

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Julius H. Barnes, head of the United States grain corporation, spent three hours here today, but had no conference with District Attorney Charles Clyne, who had said he wanted to talk with Mr. Barnes regarding the alleged holding back of May corn deliveries.

Mr. Clyne had intended to get from Mr. Barnes his reasons for the alleged commandeering of 70 per cent of the grain cars of the country for the shipment of wheat and flour. It had been charged that many of these shipments were useless and made solely to keep cars from being used to bring corn to market.

Local officials of the grain corporation notified Mr. Clyne that Mr. Barnes found it necessary to return at noon to New York, and that he found it impossible to confer with Mr. Clyne during his stay in Chicago.

COX SAYS SENATE KILLED PEACE PACT

Accuses "Partisan Conspiracy" to Blame for "Junking" of Treaty.

CHICAGO, March 25.—Speaking tonight before the House, a club, a democratic organization, on the subject of "good faith in government," Governor James M. Cox, of Ohio, democratic candidate for the presidential nomination, charged defeat of the peace treaty to a senatorial partisan conspiracy and advocated "junking" most of our institutions devoted to war.

The governor also conveyed alleged hysteria over so-called Bolshevism and urged protection against running to any extreme. He advocated repeal of the excess profits tax and abolition of federal income taxes and in their stead the levying of a small tax on the volume of business done. Such a tax, he declared, "would neither tend to create excessive prices or be a burdensome matter of collection."

Discussing the senate's failure to ratify the treaty, Governor Cox said: "Upon that body will, descend either condemnation or approval because its responsibility cannot be easily denied for the state of affairs world wide."

Though charges and counter charges have been made, the governor said, it is easy to recall "the bad faith exhibited early in the controversy. A dissembling group of senators violated every precedent maintained throughout the years in an effort to vent personal spleen and political spite."

The excess profits tax which he advocated be repealed, was declared to be "a considerable factor in the high cost of living."

Approximately half of the four billion dollars required to operate the government, he said, could be obtained from a tax of from one to one and one-half per cent on the volume of business done by any concern. Such a tax, he said, "would be neither a tax, nor a duty, nor an excess price."

KOLCHAK FORCES DESERT TO REDS

Former Officer in Anti-Bolsheviks Forces Tells of Trotsky's Subterfuge.

NEW YORK—How an army of 50,000 Kolchak troops "melted away" by desertion to the Bolsheviks, following a speech made to prisoners of war by Leon Trotsky, in Omsk, Siberia, two days after the city's evacuation by the all-Russian forces was told here by Major-General I. Thord-Gray, a former officer of the British, Canadian and all-Russian armies, who returned from Vladivostok.

Trotsky, he said, addressing the prisoners as "comrades," said they would be welcomed by the red army if they came to join. "Captives officers," he said, who wanted to return to Kolchak would be given safe escort and 2,000 rubles each. A number of the prisoners accepted this offer and, returning to their own lines, told what Trotsky had done. Within two weeks, General Thord-Gray said, Kolchak had practically no army and a few months later was executed.

General Thord-Gray went to Siberia with a Canadian expedition and was taken prisoner by the Bolsheviks when they captured Vladivostok. Before leaving, two attempts, he said, were made to assassinate him.

Toward the last, he said, the Bolshevik troops showed better morale than Kolchak's men. They also had one machine gun for every 20 men, he said, whereas the Kolchak army had only three for every battalion, almost 600 men. During the retreat of the Kolchak army, a 2,000-mile retirement, they were driven before machine guns, but seldom before rifle fire. General Sukharoff, the all-Russian war minister and chief of staff, he said, "lost the army at Omsk without a fight."

SEE INCREASED PRODUCTION OF MANY COMMODITIES

WASHINGTON—Steering increased production a means of restoring normal business and price conditions the chamber of commerce of the United States, it is announced, will make its eighth annual meeting to be held in Atlantic City April 27 to 29, an increased production convention.

Every topic will be considered from that viewpoint. The relation of government to production will be first taken up and under that heading will be considered anti-trust legislation and taxation. Business of every kind is declared to be keenly interested in taxation, especially excess profits taxes. Another feature of the problem to be discussed will be the part of government, the farmer and the business man in increasing farm production. Secretary of Agriculture Meredith will speak for the government. The relation of labor to production will be represented by the American Federation of Labor and the employers by a business man. There will be a group of meetings for each of several great divisions of industry.

Strike That Failed.
Labor strikes were frequent even in the earliest recorded days. An ancient strike occurred in Egypt under the reign of Cheops, several hundred years before the Christian era. While the great pyramid erected in honor of that monarch was in course of construction it is stated that 50,000 workmen refused to continue their labors. They were dissatisfied with the food furnished to them, which was insufficient in quantity and poor in quality. Argument proving useless on the part of the contractors, soldiers were ordered to drive the strikers back to work, and many thousands of them were cut in pieces, while those who could escape fled. The others were compelled to resume their labor.

Dogs in Roumania.
Each nation looks upon the dog in a different way, but the dogs of war and the dogs of peace (of a pastoral and agricultural people like the Roumanians) are beyond doubt the intellectual of their kind. A little farther east, but even sometimes held in fear, and an old Roumanian prayer runs thus: "From the dog, the snake, the scorpion, and whatever is hateful, may Verodach preserve us." On the other hand, on some of the wonderful bas-reliefs of that period, our forefathers have been gratified to find "quarantined" and their names written thereon to this day: "The man ran and barked." "The little dog, his face." "The soldier of his own." But here in Roumania "Shayer" the wolf, "the friend of sheep," became a less disinterested path in exchange.

ALASKA SEEKS A SOLUTION OF THE NATIVE PROBLEM

JUNEAU, Alaska—Alaska's "native problem" can be solved without trouble if the natives are given school books before they are given ballots, according to Louis F. Paul, Juneau, secretary of the Alaska Native Brotherhood, an organization of northern Indians.

"Give the Indians good schools and moral pride will put them at the head of their classes," he said.

PROHIBITIONISTS LOOK OVER ISSUES

Decision Not Yet Reached Whether or Not to Enter the Coming Campaign.

CHICAGO—Whether the prohibition party will nominate a candidate for the presidency and take an active part in the coming presidential campaign depends upon the attitude of the major parties toward the strict enforcement of prohibition, says Virgil G. Hinshaw of this city, chairman of the party.

There has been considerable speculation among political observers as to whether the prohibition party would or would not continue its political activity now that prohibition has become a constitutional enactment. Questions have been asked whether the prohibition party leaders would feel that the party's object had been attained and the time at hand when prohibitionists might return or become affiliated with one or the other of the major parties.

Chairman Hinshaw believes the battle is not over; that the fight for enforcement of prohibition is still to be won.

"Our organization," he declares, "will continue as long as the alcoholic serpent continues to wound its toll." Concerning the party's attitude in the presidential campaign, Mr. Hinshaw said its policies to be enunciated in its national convention at Lincoln, Neb., July 12, would depend entirely upon the action taken at the conventions of the major parties.

"If the major parties fail to come out emphatically for strict enforcement of existing dry laws we will certainly run a prohibition candidate for president," said Mr. Hinshaw.

"Of course, it is up to the convention whether we will or will not run one anyway. But if the major parties fail to enforce not only the 18th amendment, but existing prohibition laws as well, I believe there will be break-ups that will bring many of their voters and their big men to our side."

As to the party's probable action concerning lesser candidates, it is said that it "will seek the election of representatives in congress, governors, members of legislatures, and others who are charged with the enforcement of the dry laws."

Ernest H. Cherrington of Westerville, Ohio, declared that the Anti-Saloon league, of which he is secretary will work to defeat candidates who are avowedly opposed to prohibition enforcement.

HONOLULU, T. H.—The Commercial Pacific cable company's cable ship Restorer, nearly lost twelve of her crew when she was repairing the broken cable at Midway island, west of here, recently.

ENGINEERS ENFORCE ALL SPECIFICATIONS

Supervise of Making Important Parts, Nearly All of Which Are Produced in Maxwell Plants.

"The Maxwell is a car built one-thousandth of an inch fine," said E. S. Johnson, who recently visited the great plant in Detroit. The word "fine" has many meanings, but applied to a car it may mean that the car looks fine or it may mean that the car is built fine. The public usually makes up its mind about the former and knows little about the latter. It is no more elchm of the advertising department that the Maxwell is built to very fine limits. It is the actual standard specified by the engineering department by which all of the thousands of component parts of the car are judged before they are allowed to enter production. The most expensive and modern machinery and the most scientific methods of production are not alone responsible for the accuracy attained in the manufacture of the Maxwell. The workmen and inspectors play an important part as they maintain a standard of their own which is not governed by the micrometers or delicate gauges. No part ever gets by them that they would not want in their own car. "It is this spirit combined with the latest manufacturing facilities that makes it possible to maintain such a high standard."

Another factor in the production of the Maxwell which makes it possible for the company to control absolutely totally all of the important parts of the car is the fact that practically all of the important parts of the car are made in Maxwell factories. This is a big advantage over most cars which have to depend upon outside companies to produce the vital parts of the car.

The rear axle is made almost entirely at the Oakland avenue plant, any part of which can be interchanged with any other like part and it will fit exactly. The ring gear for drive gear, which is probably the most important part of the axle takes thirty-one operations, not including the various inspections before it can qualify as "1-1000 of an inch fine."

"The drive gear is first handled on a blank disc. It is placed in a Gleason gear planer, the most accurate on the market, where it is machined to within 10-1,000 of an inch of the desired fineness. The process is repeated on different sets of machines until it arrives at the 5-10,000 mark. At this point in its manufacture it is copper plated so that when it is finally sent to the heat treat only the working parts will be case hardened. The rest of the gear retaining its toughness which gives it exceptional strength. After the copper plating it is machined to the final requirement and is sent to the heat treating department. Other gears are treated in the same manner."

The inspection of the gears is perhaps the most important part of the work in the machine shop. Gauges from Switzerland are used for this purpose. The tool and inspection departments carefully set these instruments to the desired point and then test them with wax so that no workman can change or disturb them. If the gears pass this inspection and there is still any question about them they are taken to the silent room for the final inspection.

The silent room is, as its name implies, built of heavy timber, heavy felt and paper lining so that all sound is excluded. The gears are set on heavy gear test machines milled with a master planer and the power applied. A twenty-ton brake is attached so that the greatest possible strain is placed on the gears during the tests to the prescribed 1-1,000 of an inch in the gears are passed on to the heat treatment.

The heat treatment department smells and feels like a blacksmith shop and looks like a bakery. The walls are lined with oil furnaces sputtering and blowing their intense fiery breath over huge pans of water. Some of the furnaces are used to carbonize the steel pans, some to toughen the inner flanges or core of the gears and shafts, and others are used to raise the temperature of the parts to the proper point where they are placed in the larger furnaces. Large oil and water tanks placed near the furnaces are used to chill the heated steel at the proper time.

After a part has passed through the carbonizing furnaces it is chilled and then reheated until case hardened, and again heated so that the core acquires the proper toughness. The proper heaters and molten lead vats are used to attain the various heats specified. The heat in the larger oil furnaces is regulated by a pyro-meter. The heat in the furnaces creates an electric current between two wires of different metal. The resistance thus created is measured by a meter graduated into degrees of Fahrenheit. It is possible by this system to ascertain the heat of any furnace at any time.

CALIFORNIANS SEEK TO INVESTIGATE SOUTH AMERICA

SAN FRANCISCO, California.—Congressmen have been asked by the Citizens League of California to use their efforts to have part of the $100,000 appropriated by congress for investigation of trade development possibilities with Latin America expended in a campaign to induce South American countries to lower their tariffs on California canned goods.

Existing tariffs make it practically impossible for American foodstuffs, particularly canned goods, to enter South American markets, according to the citizens' league, leaving lumber the only commodity that can be exported in any quantity from the Pacific coast to South America.

On the other hand, the citizens point out, 62 per cent of the imports from South America during 1918 entered this country free of all duty.

SEEK INFORMATION ON MEX.

BERKELEY, Cal.—The California Farm Bureau Federation is mailing to all its members a questionnaire on the Asiatic and Mexican immigration questions as they affect the farmers of the state.

It is not the intention to present a petition as the result of this voting, but merely to compile accurate information as to the opinion of the federation members in order that this information may be given in case the opinion of the California farmers is initiated.

The questionnaire also asks the opinion of farmers concerning the challenge saving law.
