

CAILLAUX TO BE SENTENCED FOR OFFENSES

Verdict Asserts He Placed Self Above His Country.

ESCAPES CONVICTION FOR HIGH TREASON

Held Ambition Above Love of France in Its Tragic Hour, Says the Senate.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, April 22.—Joseph Caillaux, former premier of France and twice minister of finance, stands tonight convicted of having placed his personal political ambition during the war higher than the interests of the country that honored him and gave him birth. Caillaux, while escaping conviction for high treason, was found to have been recklessly imprudent and very close to reasonable ambition, for such is the interpretation of the verdict of "guilty of commerce and correspondence with the enemy," which was rendered today against him by the French senate.

First Verdict of Kind.
This is the first verdict of the sort rendered in any of the allied countries since the war began—"commerce" as interpreted by the senators who were the judges, not meaning financial trading, but commerce by means of common ideas, while "correspondence" in this particular case is employed in the sense of association. The senators, entered Luxembourg palace this afternoon determined to finish the affair, which has taken up their time during the past three months. After the court had disposed of the high treason charges and that of "interference with the enemy" and had declared its own sovereignty in less than four hours, word was passed that a decision was impending and Luxembourg gardens were filled to overflowing in the neighborhood of the palace by dense crowds, and police reserves had to be called out.

Ballots Followed Quickly.
The ballots followed one another with great rapidity. The partisans of the former premier were thrilled with joy and hope when the treason charge was so promptly eliminated, confidently predicted acquittal and meant to apportion among themselves portfolios in the cabinet which Caillaux was expected to form within six months after his release.

When they attempted to have the senate refrain from establishing itself as the highest constitutional authority, with power to find the accused not guilty as charged, but guilty of a lower offense their enthusiasm waned.

Note is Denial.
At times the noise—shouts and the ringing of bells—heard within the chamber was simply deafening. The senators predicted acquittal and meant to apportion among themselves portfolios in the cabinet which Caillaux was expected to form within six months after his release. The verdict may mean a sentence of five years, banishment, or even death, but, however, be diminished to one year, according as extenuating circumstances are found. Incarceration in a fortress is another sentence, which may be pronounced tomorrow when the high court reconvenes. It was the consensus of opinion that the sentence would be light and that the 20 months which Caillaux has spent in jail and a banishment will be taken into consideration.

Attorneys Are Discomfited.
The former premier's attorneys were discomfited over the verdict and rushed in an automobile to the Neully antichamber to inform Caillaux of the verdict. The defendant had remained in the antichamber through the day's sitting.

It seems probable that Caillaux will be condemned to pay the costs of the trial amounting to more than $20,000 francs. Among those in a bill for investigation in the United States, which is one of the prominent items, M. More-Glafford, of Caillaux's counsel, saying it would reach $30,000.

HOUSE HEARS RELIEF ROW ON THE FLOOR

Partisan Debate on the Floor Comes From Soldier Bill Consideration.

LEGION HEAD FIRM ON LAND SETTLEMENT

Says Daily Allowance Bonus Will Not Satisfy Men Who Fought the Great Fight.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, April 22.—The fight against levying a sales tax to raise part of the money for soldier relief legislation was taken today to the floor of the house.

Amid applause of the democrats, Representative Henry T. Hainey, democrat, Illinois, charged that republicans "were attempting to 'buy the soldier's vote' with the promise of $12.5 a day bonus. The applause quickly shifted to the other side when Representative Thacher, republican Kansas, retorted the democratic espousal of a retroactive "bonus" profits tax was designed to 'buy' the vote."

Plan Taxes to Collect.
Meanwhile, the republican members of the ways and means committee had agreed tentatively on four forms of taxes for raising $1,500,000,000, the most the war department could accept. The first was a sales tax on goods, which the committee had accepted, though republicans doubted whether it would be eliminated as a revenue getting scheme. The three other levies were on a tax on all stock exchange transactions equal to the amount of the brokers commission, an additional "tax" on income, probably in excess of $5,000, and in increase of approximately 15 per cent on existing taxes on cigars and tobacco.

Will Postpone Action.
In the absence of a final agreement, republicans who had forced the call of a party conference for tonight, agreed in conference with the republican ways and means committee to postpone it until April 30, when the complete legislative program on soldier relief legislation is expected to be available for discussion. Final action on the revenue plans, committee men said, would be taken this week.

Representative Hainey, in bringing in the bill today, the fight over the means of obtaining the money, charged that "the republican millionaire steering committee" sought to "tamper with" the issue made important by the war. He charged that the republican sought by legislation to buy the soldier vote was termed an "insult" by Representative Campbell, republican, Kansas, who demanded that the democratic "proceed in order." Replying to Mr. Campbell, Mr. Hainey said he would "state facts and let the country judge."

LEGION HEAD OPPOSED.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 22.—The American legion will present "the strongest possible opposition" to any plan by congress to eliminate the land settlement, home, old and vocational training options from the legion's compensation plan, according to a statement today by Franklin D. Oiler, national commander. Mr. Oiler's statement follows:

"It has been reported that congress might possibly disregard the recommendations of the legion covering land settlement, home, old and vocational training and confine itself exclusively to the adjustment of compensation based on length of service, or the so-called cash bonus."

"Such a suggestion without question would meet with the strongest possible opposition from the American legion. The American legion has given the whole subject its most careful consideration and advanced the four-fold plan only when it was apparent that plan best meets the desires and requirements of ex-servicemen and women throughout the country."

"WE MUST NAME WILSON"—J. HAM

Says Democrats Have to Present Unflattering Advocate of League of Nations.

By the Associated Press.
WICHITA, Kan., April 22.—The country must be prepared to see the democratic convention, at San Francisco, nominate President Wilson for a third term, J. Hamilton Ham, former senator from Illinois, told Kansas democrats, gathered here in state convention tonight.

"The country must be ready," he said, "to see the convention at San Francisco put Wilson on its candidate list before the nation as a protest against the treaty of peace being turned into a pact of vengeance on nations, as license of murder of men, and contempt for the lives of men." The political issue of 1920, he said, is "peace or war," he said, "the league for world peace, or open license for world war." The candidate must be one who stands on the issue. He suggested as suitable candidates, William Randolph Hearst, for the east, or Senator James A. Reed from the west.

The faults of the present administration, he said, have been against it. President Wilson has refused to create a party administration, he declared, and has kept republicans in office. Now, he said, these "captives" of political job industry regard Wilson's generosity by illegitimate conduct and insults of slander.

700 Rebel Switchmen Return to Work in Chicago—Erie Insurgents Lose Priority.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, April 22.—Another effort to end the insurgent switchmen's strike in the Chicago area will be made tomorrow at a meeting called by John Grunau, president of the Chicago yardmen's association to "clear up the situation."

The railroad situation continued to improve today, an announcement by the general manager's association said in reporting that 605 switch engines, 80 percent of normal, were at work. They also reported that nearly 700 rebel switchmen had returned to work. Livestock receipts were reported at 1,375 cars, or 200 more than received on the corresponding day last year. In addition to Grunau, the call for the meeting of strikers was signed by directors of the United Engineers' association, the other outlaws, on behalf of Harold T. ending, president who was sent to the Wheaton jail after he refused to give bond. In calling the meeting, Grunau said he would have no recommendations to make and that "any proposition the man may propose will be voted on."

MEN HAVE PRIORITY.

NEW YORK, April 22.—Coincident with the reported decision today of several thousand strikers not to return to work, the Erie railroad tonight refused to take back 300 "insurgents" who came to the Jersey City yards in a last ditch effort to get back to work. The strikers insisted that they be given their old jobs without loss of seniority, but the road's officials held to the terms of the ultimatum and informed them their places were open to them only as individuals. Their request refused, the strikers then left the yards.

Railroad officials at various New Jersey terminals tonight declared conditions were fast becoming normal. A short fired into a crowd of strikers at a New Jersey terminal tonight, a Lehigh Valley freight train tonight in Jersey City, wounded Richard Ward, a railroad striker. He was taken to a hospital. Ward told the police the shot came from the train.

Final setback to the efforts of the outlaws to get their cases before the board was given today at the White House when Secretary Tumulty told representatives of the outlaws' association that President Wilson would not intercede in their behalf as long as they remained away from work.

FORM NATIONAL ALLIANCE.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 22.—A national alliance of striking switchmen and yardmen was formed in Washington, tonight, as a result of President Wilson's refusal to intercede.

FAMOUS SINGERS IN SONORA COMPANY

Italian Soprano-Gibbs Much Triumph in Madam Butterfly—Many Seeking Seats.

Triumph among the song birds to appear here with the Sonora Grand Opera Company, a beautiful soprano, Lucille Pizzardi, the Italian soprano who sings the role of Madame Butterfly in Verdi's beautiful masterpiece, "Madam Butterfly." This fresh from European triumph, this prima donna comes by her wonderful voice most naturally as her mother was none other than the famous Madame Butterfly, the famous singer of two decades ago, when old timers will remember as having sung opposite the immortal Patti. It is, perhaps in Madame Butterfly that this talented artist has achieved most renown, yet the rendition of Traviata seems to be more generally popular. The coming season of Grand opera is evoking genuine enthusiasm among the prominent people of the city. The Sonora Grand Opera company carries its own grand opera orchestra, which is under the personal direction of the famous Maestro Ignacio Del Castillo.

There is an evident demand for good music and this is particularly noted as the demand for seats for the coming engagement of the Sonora Grand Opera company increases. Ten years ago the cities of the United States that would support a season of grand opera, and be a financial success could be counted on the fingers of one hand. The urban population are demanding more and better amusements and crafty impresarios and managers of the old school are nonplussed with the wonderful demand for music of the higher order. The question arises as to what we can contribute this sudden interest in good thing music. Have the movies been a factor? Or can we give credit to the popular Victrola, for of a surety the phonograph record is found today in almost every home. The wonderful Sextette from Lucia, the masterful quartette from Rigoletto, the Mbers from Traviata are as familiar today to the classes as "Everybody's Doing It," "Come On Papa" and "There will be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight." When one knows they are going to witness these wonderful operas presented by a cast of international renown, with a company of half a hundred artists, it is no wonder the public responds generously. The coming Grand Opera Season opens next Monday at the Loring and during the season they will present the following operas: Rigoletto on Monday and on Tuesday night "Madam Butterfly."

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Jolly Sals If Your Back Hurts or Headache Troubles You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally with a well known authority. Medical science has shown that the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver troubles, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorder come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jolly Sals from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of lemons and lemon juice combined with sodium and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jolly Sals is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithium-water drink, which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

Barry O'Connor wasn't exactly a lounge-lizard. During the day he was the busiest man around his father's East Side plumbing shop. At night he helped the elder O'Connor marshal the district's Democratic votes for Tammany Hall and for William Tompkins, the millionaire candidate for Mayor.

That's how he came to know Tompkins' daughter, Mary. He couldn't help liking her. She thought so much of him, he was invited to her dinner party. He didn't belong on Fifth Avenue, though, and the things he did at the dance made Mary angry.

When Barry drank too much punch and coaxed a maid to dance with him, Mary didn't listen to his protestations that the girl was his neighbor and the best dancer in the district, but ordered him from the house.

How he finally compelled her to beg his forgiveness and how the aristocratic young heiress finally gave him her love, is interestingly told in "The Prince of Avenue A." James J. Corbett, the famous ring champion, plays the part of Barry O'Connor. He demonstrates his fistic prowess in an exciting fight that brings the grand Avenue A election ball to a riotous end.

THE FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE.

"The public school is the cornerstone of American democracy," says the Philadelphia North American in an editorial which deserves to be widely read and heeded.

"It is the first line of defense of the nation, in time of war, and the fundamental safeguard of its institutions in time of peace. Adequate support of the school system is not, therefore, a mere matter of sentiment or expediency, it is an imperative demand of self-preservation."

"For the public school system is the fountain-head of nationalism, the one sure source of that patriotic democracy and unity which must be our safeguards against foreign aggression, and more vital still, against the propaganda of class war and destructive revolution."

In considering the needs of the public schools Americans are rather likely to under estimate this last aspect of the situation. And yet it is not by any means the least important. Says the North American:

"There is just one antidote for Bolshevism, and that is education—education through the public schools."

"This is not a theory; it is a fact supported by abundant evidence. During the steel strike a few months ago a survey made in the western part of Pennsylvania showed that almost without exception those men, whether foreign born or native born, who had gone through the public schools were against the leaders' program of class strife and disorder; they had imbibed democracy and Americanism in the classroom and the playground. Further investigation has shown that in most labor unions the cleavage between the radical and conservative groups is marked by the line dividing those who have attended the public schools and those who have not."

"It is from the ranks of the illiterate that the anti-American elements of disorder and class tyranny are recruited; it is from the children of affluence, who have been deprived of the broadening influence of the public schools, that the parlor Bolshevik is developed."

The national army of men drafted from every walk in life, shaken up together and treated with absolute equality proved a tremendous democratizing influence. It has done a great deal to make the young men of the country understand each other. But the public schools do more of this. They do it more thoroughly and through the most impressive years.

Or rather, they do it when and where the public support and enthusiasm for them and for their work is adequate to let them fulfill their proper function.

THE DESTRUCTIVE STRIKE

The railroad strike has at least served as a notable example of what a small industrial disturbance can do to our complex modern life. Its results have been enormously out of proportion to its apparent size and importance.

The strikers have been comparatively few in number—a few thousand in Chicago and other places scattered over the country. There were hardly more than 50,000 men involved directly at any time. But before the strike had lasted two weeks, it had thrown out of work hundreds of thousands in other lines of employment, crippled the activities of millions and threatened nearly half the people in the United States with a fuel and food famine. The whole vast system of industry and commerce was disorganized, a nation's productive power and earning power were greatly reduced, and its health, even its life, was imperilled.

It is a convincing demonstration of how the varied activities of modern society are bound together, and how dependent the industries are on each other. No industry stands alone any more. Every industry fills a definite place in the economic machinery, and owes a duty toward the other industries and toward the great complexity of interests known as "society." This is especially true of so strategic an industry as the railroads. They serve as vital a purpose in the economic scheme as the human heart serves in the physiological scheme. When the heart stops pumping blood, the body perishes. When railroad men stop moving freight, the economic body of the nation perishes.

Common sense as well as common humanity insists that no group of citizens shall be permitted to interfere thus with the vital processes of national existence—that no small minority shall be allowed to wreak such damage on the majority, no matter what the grievance may be. Strikes in a great public service industry like the railroads are intolerable. It is a difficult thing to stop them without interfering with certain fundamental human rights on the part of employees; but a way must be found, and will be found. If it proves impossible to solve the problem by mutual agreement, there will have to be an absolute fiat. The rights of majorities are paramount.

THE IMMIGRATION ISSUE.

On at least one point the American Legion and the American Federation of Labor have a common ground for agreement. They are both in favor of further restriction upon immigration. Both of them, in fact, are now opposed to any immigration whatever, the federation of labor for a period of "at least two years after peace has been declared," and the American Legion for a general suspension until aliens now in this country can be Americanized.

This ground of agreement is likely to prove more of a binding agency than the passive holding of the same view might generally be thought capable of producing. For there is to be strong opposition. It comes from the Inter-Racial council, an organization headed by Coleman Du Pont and embracing some 350 industrial concerns which want plenty of labor at reasonable cost. The council will urge upon congress the elimination of the literacy test in order that the bars may be let down to meet the labor shortage in this country, which the council estimates at 5,000,000 men.

So here is a clearly drawn battle-line—more immigration versus no immigration. It would make a pretty fight if it should come to a show-down. But congress is not likely to embarrass itself in an open row. This is a poor year for the Inter-Racial council to come asking congress for any such little favor as cutting off its own head.

Don't scorn the once lowly spud. Potatoes are now worth more per bushel than wheat.

It was resolution that won the war—but a different kind of resolution from the one now pending in congress.

Look at the tent caterpillar, what a snap he has! No living quarters that he chooses are ever too high for him.

Spring has come back again, but nobody has the confidence in it that was felt a few weeks ago.

A cheering thought—some of the old hats in the attic are back in style again.

The railroad strike is another attempt of small minorities to govern majorities.

COMMUNICATED.

To the Editor of The Chronicle:
 Ever since a recent visit to Gaudin I have intended to write out my impressions on our state institution there.
 It was my intention to make two visits to the school, and I was intensely interested, and gratified as well, that as a state we have at least one institution conducted along lines as satisfactory as is this. No intention of a visit from some thirty days ago, so I am in Gaudin for a few days, and I have not been out of the school in many days. We were cordially welcomed, and taken to our school room after another, where I found a most interesting collection of books and papers.
 The blind children always sadden me, but there is nothing about them, not "see the deaf and dumb. These little fingers of the blind, are there even, but "shut out," seem the only power to apply to the little dwellers in their countless, valueless, world, where no creeping blindly from under a log, no song of bird or leaf ever penetrates. To teach them requires more patience than any other work in the world; to open a window in the little souls is a marvelous achievement. Only a sympathetic, cheerful person is fitted for this labor.
 In the person of Superintendent

Taylor and his wife, those children have found not only teachers, but father, mother and friends. The very way in which look at the children, and the way the children look of them, tells the whole story.

To one who for many years stood close to institutions for women and children, and who has seen the atrocious inefficiency of a man who had never observed one, the mere sight of such procedure, our Gaudin institution is a positive joy.

We were in the dining room at dinner hour, where all was orderly in a way that showed it was not "company manners" the children were assuming. We saw no waiting any thing but gentleness, and firmness, under that roof.

The food was such as our own children have, well prepared and served, and the kitchen with its piles of snowy white fresh from the oven was clean and sanitary; the domestic science room where the children cooked, was similar to that of any school.

The work done in the manual training department is wonderful. Think of trying to teach a child to cut an art, when it is impossible to teach him. Everything will compare favorably with our high school work in this department.

Case work, conferences and clinics, library tables, desks, etc., were there in various styles of finish. I wish it were possible for women to turn all the attention which they devote to public affairs, toward electing men at the helm in our respective states who would never stoop to play political games by crippling our state institutions with "misfits." It is done continually, and the words of the state who can not defend themselves, suffer when few realize it, and even go down to death and disgrace. It would take volumes to tell the injustice and results of present day methods along this line. Certainly our state is to be congratulated on an excellent institution and the methods in use here.

MRS. KENNEDY PACKARD.

CLAIM SCRUB DAIRY COWS BROUGHT HERE

Farm Bureau Officials Charge That Diseased and Imperfect Animals Picked on Farmer.

Charges that imperfect dairy cattle are being sold at auction in this county were made yesterday by officials of the farm bureau. It is claimed that these animals have injured udders and that they were picked up in back yards for the purpose of selling at public auction.

In speaking of the charges a farm bureau official said: "About eight years ago when I became a druggist on the market, southern Idaho and especially Twin Falls county became what is known as a great dairy country. Large yields of cream, food and a good climate for dairy cattle was advanced as the reason why this should become a great dairy center. Farmers became interested and word went abroad that dairy cows were wanted at good prices throughout this county. The speculation here became busy. Hundreds of cattle were bought out of the stock yards and the districts of the dairy world. They were shipped to Twin Falls county and we witnessed the spectacle of non-producers of dairy milk being unloaded on us at public auction, at prices which would have condemned good breeds. What was the result? First, tuberculosis became scattered over the district, as well as other diseases; second, farmers found themselves loaded at four prices with cases that would not pay for their feed bills but alone produce a profit. Naturally they became disgusted and it became agreed that the dairy business was one of long hours and no profits.

"Later there came the unloading and cleaning up process. The poor and diseased cows were disposed of and Twin Falls county prospered."

"Now the price of dairy products has again caused a demand for dairy cattle and prices are high. Once more this county is being flooded with cattle labeled as dairy cows, but which are in reality culms."

FIRST OF SEEDLESS ORANGES

Fruit That Is Now So Much Prized Was Brought to This County From Brazil.

In 1872 United States consul to Bahia (Brazil), W. F. Hudson, was told by the natives that 99 miles inland, up the Amazon, were strange orange trees bearing fruit without seeds. Accordingly he sent natives after tree shoots and some of the fruit.

The shoots were packed in moss and clay and sent to Washington. They were set out by the agricultural department, but attracted little attention until the next year, when Horatio Tibbets of Riverside, Cal., took the surviving four shoots to his home and planted them. "One died and another was eaten up by a crow. At the end of five years the two surviving trees bore 10 handsome seedless oranges. Next year the oranges were even better, and the trees bore about a box of the fruit.

From that time on the cultivation of the seedless oranges about Riverside progressed rapidly. As there were no seeds to raise the trees from it, it was found necessary to graft buds of the seedless trees into seedling trees. Riverside has grown from a small village to a town of 15,000 people devoted to the cultivation of navel oranges. It is the greatest orange producing locality in the world. The two original trees were fenced about and carefully guarded lest harm should come to them, and they are now enjoying a green old age.

PROCCURE OIL FROM BIRDS

Inhabitants of the Island of St. Kilda Are Especially Favored in Respect of Light.

The price of coal oil is a matter of no interest to the inhabitants of the island of St. Kilda, a favorite haunt of that untamed old man, the "Puffin," who observes the Cincinnati Commercial Tribune. So rich in oil is this sea bird that the natives simply pass a wick through its body and use it as a lamp.

The oil is also one of the principal articles exported from the island. It is found in the birds' stomachs, is amber colored and has a peculiarly nauseous odor. The old birds are said to feed the young with it, and when they are caught or attacked they light themselves by disgorge it.

In St. Kilda it is legal to kill the fulmars only during one week in the year; but during that week from 18,000 to 20,000 birds are destroyed.

The puffin bird of the Analectic also carries its oil in the stomach and can eject this oil through the nostrils as a means of defense against enemies.

HANGED FOR BURNING COAL

There Was a Time When Job of Looking After Production Would Have Been Sinecure.

The present-day restrictions with regard to the use of coal would have seemed very mild to our ancestors, remarks a writer in London Times. There is no doubt that the use of what used to be called "sea coal" to distinguish it from charcoal had its drawbacks.

Many look forward to this thing when there will be no more smoke chimneys in Britain, when the atmosphere of London will be as clean as it can have been in the days of Great Openness, and when a new building will not be hounded with soot almost as soon as it is built.

In the reign of Edward I the inhabitants of London petitioned the king against the growing use of coal, declaring that it was "a public nuisance, corrupting the air with its stink and smoke, to the great detriment of their health." Whereupon the king prohibited its use, on condition that it should be used for a first offense by a fine and for a second to have their kilns and furnaces destroyed.

The practice of using coal was at length made a capital offense and a man was tried, condemned and hanged for burning coal in London.

In those days the population of England probably did not exceed four or five million, and wood was plentiful and cheap from the vast forests that covered tens of thousands of square miles where now are great towns.

ALWAYS SOMETHING TO DO

Secret of Sir Walter Scott's Marvellous Literary Achievements Told in a Few Words.

"Never to be doing nothing" was the motto that effective rule that enabled Sir Walter Scott to get down the enormous amount of work for which he is noted. A passage in Lockhart's life of the poet and novelist reads:

"Those who observed him the most constantly were never able to understand how he contrived to keep himself so thoroughly up with the stream of contemporary literature of almost all sorts, French and German, as well as English. That a rapid glance might tell him more than another man could gather by a week's poring may easily be guessed; but the great secret was his perpetual practice of his own grand maxim, never to be doing nothing. He had no 'unconsidered trifles' of time. Every moment was turned to account, and thus he had leisure for everything except, indeed, the 'unconsidered trifles' which consume so many precious hours nowadays with most men; and of which, during the period of my acquaintance with him, he certainly read less than any other man I ever knew that had any habit of reading at all. I should also except, speaking generally, by the reviews and magazines of the time. Of these he saw few, and of the few he read little."

Varying Movements of Leaves.

"Different species of trees move their leaves very differently, so that one may sometimes tell by the position of shadows on the ground, if he be too indolent to look up, under what kind of tree he is sitting. On the tulip-tree (which has the finest name that ever tree had, making the very pronunciation of its name almost like the utterance of a strain of music—Liriodendron tulipifera), on the tulip-tree, the aspen, and on all native poplars, the leaves have an intense individualism. Each one moves to suit itself. Under the same wind up it is flapping up and down, another is whirling, another slowly vibrating right and left, and others still, quivering themselves to sleep, as a mother gently rocks her sleeping child; and each one intent upon a motion of its own. Sometimes other trees have single frisky leaves, but usually the oaks, maples, beeches, have community of motion. They are all acting together, or are all alike still—Henry Ward Beecher.

The Bishop of Verdun.
St. Vanne, or Vitonius, died November 9, 1225. A celebrated congregation of reformed Benedictines in Lore, formed in the abbey of St. Vanne in Verdun. In 1594, took him for patron, and from the famous abbey and that of Moyen-Monsieur, dedicated in honor of St. Vitonius, bears the name of St. Vanne and St. Vitonius. Many in France desired to revivify the reform, but on account of the wars then existing, a union was thought too difficult. A reform under the same plan was set on foot in France, under the name of the Congregation of St. Mar and based in the abbey of St. Agustin in Lyons in 1613, and confirmed by Gregory XV. in 1627, which now comprises 185 abbies and priories.

SEEK CONTROL OF CEREAL PRODUCTS

By the Associated Press.
Wheat Growers' Fight Gigantic Organization to Pool Marketing and Milling of All Grains.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 22.—Representatives of virtually every wheat raising community in the United States, attending here the annual convention of National Wheat Growers' association, tonight voted unanimously to form a national combine of the control of cereal products. Agricultural experts in attendance said the organization would be the largest combine of farmers ever attempted.

Elimination of the middleman is one of the first purposes enumerated in the resolution embracing the association's action, which was started for necessary "in order to increase the producers' emolument to a fair profit and at the same time reduce the high cost of living."

The plan for the combine was included in the report of a committee on the marketing of cereal products. The resolution accompanying it, reducing the report to action, was adopted unanimously and a committee of seven was appointed to outline the organization.

The tentative plan provides for local co-operative organizations of cereal growers, centering in co-operative marketing associations with headquarters in the market centers.

Stock in the terminal marketing association will be limited to the farmers, and the local co-operative associations.

District or terminal marketing organizations in turn will be merged into a national marketing association. District and national organizations are intended as the channels through which all products of America's farms will reach the ultimate consumer.

The plan provides also for co-operative flour and cereal milling associations.

The initial meeting of the national combine will be announced at the closing session of the convention tomorrow.

The seven members of the committee are: Maurice McAllister, Sullin, Kan.

NEW YORK, April 22.—The New York Yankees opened their home season today defeating Philadelphia, 8 to 6, in a loosely played game. O'DELL TELLS STORY OF KILLING OF KNEIP

By the Associated Press.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 22.—James L. O'Dell and his wife, Freda, each charged with the murder of Edward J. Knep, on the night of January 7, last, testified in supreme court today at the trial of O'Dell. O'Dell described Knep handcuffed, described how Knep was handcuffed to a tree while Mrs. O'Dell attacked him with a file and of their dragging the body to a culvert nearby. When they returned to the scene later, he said, Knep was not up and struck him. He killed Knep with a club then, he said. Mrs. O'Dell previously had testified that Knep attacked her after giving her drugged candy.

MEXICO SEES MORE STATES WITH REVOLT

Official Report Says Sonora Movement Gives Birth to New Political Party.

LEADERS TO MEET AND FORM NEW PLATFORM

Occupation of Culiacan Consummated Tuesday; Carranza Forces Destroy bridges; Retreat

By the Associated Press.
AGUA PRUITA, Sonora, April 22.—The Mexican states of Michoacan, Guerrero, Zacatecas and Vera Cruz are in revolution with Sonora against the Carranza government. General P. L. C. Calles, commander in chief of the Sonora military forces, said after his arrival here this afternoon.
More Troops Revolt.
The revolutionary movement also has begun in Nuevo Leon Hidalgo and in three parts of Jalisco. Carranza troops have revolted, General Calles said.
The Sonora movement, according to the Sonora commander, has given birth to a new political party in Mexico the "new party of progress." According to General Calles. He announced that tomorrow he would issue a proclamation to all the people of Mexico in the name of Sonora and the new party.
Leaders of the revolution, according to the Sonora commander, have given birth to a new political party in Mexico, the "new party of progress," according to Nogales advices received today, will meet here soon to formulate a platform and make public the plan of the movement.

After election and the rights of states to control their own internal problems without military government set up by the central government was the first consideration of the movement.
Tells of Engineers.
Complete occupation of Culiacan by Sonora forces under General Angel Flores was not consummated until "Tuesday afternoon, last," General Calles said. Sonora troops previously entered the city, but the main body remained outside until all could enter on a body with their line of communication intact. The delay, he said, was due to destruction of bridges and railroads by retreating Carranza forces.
The Carranza troops at Culiacan put up a virtually no fight, General Calles said, retreating to Mazatlan, the most important objective of the Sonorans.

ON U. S. SOIL.
EL PASO, Tex., April 22.—General Ignacio Pomier, recently appointed military governor of the state of Sonora to succeed Governor Adolfo de la Huerta, was in El Paso today en route from Mexico City to Douglas, Ariz., to await the arrival of Carranza troops in Sonora. He departed tonight following a conference in Juarez with A. Ruiz Sandoval, Mexican consul-general here, and General J. G. (Colonel, commander of the Juarez zone.
General (Candido) Anguilar, son-in-law President Carranza, has been assigned to the command of Mexican federal troops in Chihuahua, Culiacan, Durango and Zacatecas, according to Execlutor of Mexico City. A force of 8,000 men will be placed at his disposition. Troops now in Chihuahua will be sent to Sonora.

2000 SOLDIERS ENROUTE.
JUALIEN, Mex., April 22.—Eleven trains carrying 7,000 soldiers left Buena Vista, near Mexico City, for the north Sunday night, according to Mexico City newspapers received here tonight. They were sent forward for the Sonora campaign.

GERMANY DISPOSED TO EXECUTE TREATY PACT
By the Associated Press.
PARIS, April 22.—General Mastroratti, a member of the entente commission of control in Germany, in a report made public today, severely arraigned Germany for the way the international commission, has been obstructed in its mission.
The report declares that Germany is disposed to execute the treaty of peace, but that the government is entirely in the hands of the military party.

LOCKOUT MEN IN TRANSFER PLANTS

Action Taken in Identification for Lockout On Local Business Houses.

The conflict between the building crafts unions and the Employers' association took a new turn yesterday morning, when union employees of the several transfer companies of the city set out all men working the union button.

As a result, there was a shrinkage in the volume of wares transferred, although all companies run with small crews of non-union men.
In addition the union employees of the Brazos Sheet Metal Works were let out, and that concern closed its doors. The American Electric company also let out all its union electricians, but it is continuing operations with a small force.

Union men are not to be employed by any of these concerns, according to statements issued yesterday.
The action taken is said to be the answer of the Employers' association to the boycott against business houses which are members of the association. For some time there is said to have been a boycott against these merchants, and they have said that they would not further employ transfer and other concerns whose employees are boycotting them.
The action is drastic, but according to the general view, is likely to induce some sort of agreement following the inconveniences of the boycotts, strikes of petty character and a general wrangling which have distressed the city for some time. The business men feel that they have as much right to boycott union labor as union labor has to boycott them, and that they have as much right to organize as have the unions.
