more to voters, calling for recognition of the fact that prohibition was established by the constitutional amendment, which was a part of the original compact of Massachusetts, then offered an anti-plank of more moderate tenor which was lost on the vote 4 to 6, according to reports from the delegates.

The Chicago plank follows: "The republican party desires to place on record its sympathy with all honest people and its recognition of the principle that the people of Ireland have the right to determine freely without dictation from outside, their own governmental institutions and their international relations with other states and peoples."

Senator Doran and Mr. Collidge led the unsuccessful fight for the plank. William Heyburn of Kentucky and Judge Wallace McCamant of Oregon, were said to have led the opposition, leaving the entire authority with power to reject and not a political convention should deal with the subject. They also were reported to have argued that such a plank would interfere with affairs of a friendly nation.

Ernest Gross, delegate from Wisconsin, presented a minority report to the convention, just before the delegates adopted the platform advocating the immediate conclusion of peace and the resumption of trade relations with the longest of nations and despised the treaty.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Senator Johnson declared today that he was very confident of the success of the republican platform plank designed to deal with prohibition for long in the shuffle today, furnished a new thrill for "wet" and "dry" and raised some questions of its legal status.

After impatiently waiting time all day for the resolution committee to complete its work, the delegates then proceeded with their work, the committee chairman, Mr. C. C. Johnson, of California, presiding.

PROTEST AGAINST RAISE IN RATES

Local Users of Electricity Resist Power Co.'s Request and Want Continuation.

John W. Graham, an attorney for the Twin Falls users of electrical energy, has filed a protest with the public utilities commission against the petition of the Idaho Power company for a raise in rates, and also an application for a continuance of the hearing.

The users of electrical energy in Twin Falls allege in the protest that the rate asked for is too high, and would result in the confiscation of the property.

users' property; that the rate is asked for knowing that the users cannot pay such rate; and for the purpose of discontinuing that class of service; that the water heating rate and the cooking rate are so linked together and interdependent that one cannot be considered without an investigation of both; and that the application of the Idaho Power company to increase the rate for air and water heating is not made in good faith, but for the purpose of harassing and annoying the users of this class of service.

In their application for a continuance of the hearing the consumers allege that it is an impossibility for the commission to fix and determine a reasonable rate for air and water heating without a full and complete valuation of all the properties of the Idaho Power company, for the reason that all rates are based upon the valuation of the property of the utility; that fifteen months ago a law became effective requiring all utilities, except railroads, to file a complete inventory and appraisal of all their separate properties with the public utilities commission; and that the Idaho Power company has not complied with this law, which was passed for the express purpose of furnishing the commission valuable records in the fixing of rates; that the company's urgent demand for haste in raising rates is inconsistent with its own unlawful tardiness in furnishing the commission with the data which it must have before it can intelligently and justly fix the rates for this or any other class of service.

Several of the city streets that are being paved are expected to be open for travel by Saturday night, it is announced. Work on Second avenue east is just nearing completion and this thoroughfare is expected to be finished this week. The street crossing at Second and Shoshone is being fixed to prevent accidents and much dirt was taken from the outer edge of the iron covers over the water station drainage yesterday to arrange for added paving. If everything continues as expected, it is said that a double shift will start paving on Shoshone street Monday and extend the paving to Blue Lakes boulevard north. The highway district board is pushing work on Blue Lakes boulevard and nearly all the work is laid on the north stretch and is ready for the oil distributor. Trucks are starting to haul rock to Blue Lakes boulevard south and the initial road work is expected to be started Monday.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BLUE CARD SYSTEM LAUNDED

Merchants and others who are in the path of collectors of various kinds are said to be evincing much pleasure over the installation of the blue card system which originated in the Chamber of Commerce. Letters were being written preparatory to being sent out to the members of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday by Secretary Newell R. Wright, explaining in a condensed form the nature of the card. The innovation is beneficial to the city, it is claimed, and besides the blue card which are required by collectors entering the city, other cards are to be mailed to the members of the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of displaying them at prominent places in the business houses. They read, asking if the person who is after a donation possesses a blue card.

"DRY" PLANK LOST EN ROUTE TO BIG MEET

base. This called for vision, leadership and intelligent planning. All three have been lacking. While the country has been left to shift for itself, the government has continued on a war-time basis. The administration has not demobilized the army of place holders. It continued a method of handling which was indefensible during the period of reconstruction.

CONGRESS AND RECONSTRUCTION

Despite the unconstitutional and dictatorial course of the president and the partisan obstruction of the democratic congressional minority, the republican majority has enacted a program of constructive legislation which, in great part, however, has been nullified by the vindictive veto.

Congress has met, despite the adverse conditions, and has prepared the road to reconstruction. The transportation act, the rehabilitation of the railroads, the operation of which, under the present democratic administration, has been wasteful, extravagant, and inefficient in the highest degree. The transportation act made provision for the peaceful settlement of wage disputes, particularly notified, however, by the president's delay in appointing the wage board, created by the act. This delay precipitated the outburst of railroad strikes.

AGRICULTURE:

The farmer is the backbone of the nation. National greatness and economic independence demand a population distributed between industry and the farm, and sharing on equal terms the prosperity which is wholly dependent on the efforts of both. Neither can prosper at the expense of the other without inviting joint disaster.

The crux of the present agricultural conditions lies in prices, labor and credit.

The republican party believes that this condition can be improved by practical and adequate farm representation in the appointment of governmental officials and commissions; the right to farm co-operative associations for marketing their products, and protection against discrimination; the scientific study of agricultural prices and farm production costs at home and abroad; with a view to reducing the frequency of abnormal fluctuations; the uncontrolled publication of such reports; the authorization of associations for the extension of personal credit; a national industry on the co-ordination of rail, water and motor transportation with adequate facilities for receiving, handling and marketing food; the encouragement of our export trade; an end to unnecessary price fixing and ill-considered efforts arbitrarily to reduce prices of farm products which invariably result to the disadvantage both of producer and consumer; and the encouragement of the production and importation of fertilizing material and of its extensive use.

The federal farm loan act should be so administered as to facilitate the acquisition of farm land by those desiring to become owners and proprietors and thus minimize the evils of farm tenantry, and to furnish such long time credits as farmers may need to finance adequately their larger and long-time production operations.

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS:

There are two different conceptions of the relations of capital and labor. The one is contractual, and emphasizes the diversity of interests of employer and employee. The other is that of co-partnership in a common task.

We recognize the justice of collective bargaining as a means of promoting good will, establishing closer and more harmonious relations between employer and employee and realizing the true end of industrial justice.

The article or the lockout as a means of settling industrial disputes inflicts much loss and suffering on the community as to justify government initiative to reduce its frequency and limit its consequences.

We deny the right to strike against the government; but the rights and interest of all government employees must be safeguarded by impartial tribunals to make an investigation of the facts and to render a decision to the end that there may be no organized interruption of service to the lives and health and welfare of the people. The decisions of the tribunals to be morally but not legally binding, and an informed public sentiment to be relied upon to secure their acceptance. The tribunals, however, should refuse to accept jurisdiction except for the purpose of investigation, and as long as the public service be interrupted. For public utilities we favor the type of tribunal provided for in the transportation act of 1920. In private industries we do not advocate the principle of compulsory arbitration, but we favor impartial commission and better facilities for voluntary mediation, conciliation and arbitration, supplemented by that authority which will enter the industrial situation; the uncontrolled publication of such reports; the authorization of associations for the extension of personal credit; a national industry on the co-ordination of rail, water and motor transportation with adequate facilities for receiving, handling and marketing food; the encouragement of our export trade; an end to unnecessary price fixing and ill-considered efforts arbitrarily to reduce prices of farm products which invariably result to the disadvantage both of producer and consumer; and the encouragement of the production and importation of fertilizing material and of its extensive use.

The federal farm loan act should be so administered as to facilitate the acquisition of farm land by those desiring to become owners and proprietors and thus minimize the evils of farm tenantry, and to furnish such long time credits as farmers may need to finance adequately their larger and long-time production operations.

WAR POWERS OF THE PRESIDENT

The president clings tenaciously to his autocratic war-time powers.

His veto on the resolution declaring peace and his refusal to sign the bill repealing war-time legislation, no longer necessary, evidence his determination not to restore to the nation and to the states the form of government provided for by the Constitution. This usurpation is intolerable and deserves the severest condemnation.

TAXATION.

The burden of taxation imposed upon the American people is enormous, but in presenting a true state of the situation we must face the fact that, while the character of the tax and should be changed, an early reduction of the amount of revenue to be raised is not to be expected.

BANKING AND CURRENCY.

The war to a great extent was financed through a policy of inflation. The results have greatly increased our costs and a serious loss of liberty have been followed by restricted credit for legitimate industrial expansion. The federal reserve system should be free from political influence.

HIGH COST OF LIVING.

The cause of the high cost of living has been a 50 per cent depreciation of the purchasing power of the dollar, due to a gross expansion of our currency and credit. We condemn the unsound fiscal policies of the democratic administration. We pledge ourselves to earnest and consistent attack upon the high cost of living.

RAILROADS.

We are opposed to government ownership and operation or employment of the railroads. In view of the conditions prevailing in the country the expenditures of the last two years and the conclusions which may be fairly drawn from an observation of the transportation system of other countries, it is clear that adequate transportation service, both for the present and future can be furnished more certainly, economically and efficiently through private ownership and operation under proper regulation and control.

There should be no speculative profit in rendering the service of transportation; but in order to do justice to the capital already invested in railway enterprises, to restore railway credit, to induce future investments at a reasonable rate and to furnish the enlarged facilities to meet the requirements of the constantly increasing development and distribution of the railway property used in transportation should be made reasonably sure, and at the same time to provide constant employment to those engaged in transportation services with fair hours and favorable working conditions at wages or compensation at least equal to those prevailing in similar lines of industry.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE AND TRAVEL

Uneconomic conditions of international balances preclude an accurate forecast of even the near future. But the republican party reaffirms its belief in the protective principle and pleads itself to a revision of the tariff.

REGULATION OF INDUSTRY AND COMMERCE.

We approve in general the existing federal legislation against monopoly and combinations in restraint of trade but since the known consistency of a law is the safest to all, we advocate such amendment as will provide American business men with better means of determining in advance whether a proposed combination is or is not unlawful. The federal trade commission, under a democratic administration has not accomplished the purpose for which it was created. This commission properly organized and its duties efficiently administered should afford protection to the public and legitimate business in this.

There should be no persecution of honest business, but to the extent that circumstances warrant we pledge ourselves to strengthen the law against unfair practices.

We pledge the party to an immediate reformation of trade relations with every nation with which we are at peace.

MERCHANT MARINE.

We endorse the sound legislation recently enacted by the republican congress that will insure the maintenance of the American merchant marine. We favor the application of the Workmen's compensation acts to the merchant marine.

IMMIGRATION.

The immigration policy of the United States should favor immigration whose standards are similar to ours. A higher physical standard and more complete exclusion of mental defective and criminals should be required. Attention should be required to regulate annually until naturalized. Existing policies for exclusion of Asiatics in sound.

NATURALIZATION.

No alien should become a citizen until he has become genuinely American. We advocate independent naturalization of women.

FREE SPEECH AND ALIEN REGISTRATION.

We demand that every American citizen shall enjoy the constitutional right of free speech, free press and free assembly, but no man may advocate resistance to law. Every government has a right to deport those alien who are a menace to the peaceful ex-

Anti-Japanese Stand In California Looms at Tokio Meet

Secretary of U. S. Group Tells How Americans and Japanese Opened Momentous Meeting With Straight Talk on Irritating Issues.

(NOTE—Following is the first of a series of articles written for the Twin Falls Chronicle by Harry E. Benedict, secretary of the American delegation to the "Unofficial Conference on Japanese-American Affairs," just concluded at Tokio, in which he sets down what he believes to be the composite impression made upon the distinguished Americans, headed by Frank A. Vanderlip, by Japanese statesmen, business and social leaders. Elaboration and comment upon the important problems there discussed will be continued in subsequent articles which will appear daily and exclusively in the Chronicle.) Copyright, 1920, Newspaper Enterprise Association.

By HARRY E. BENEDICT.
(Business associate of Frank A. Vanderlip, and secretary of the American delegation to the "Unofficial Conference on Japanese-American Affairs" at Tokio.)

What are Japan's national aspirations?

Is she to be an aggressive, troublesome member of the group of great powers, or has she a national ambition to join the western nations in their struggle for a better civilization on an equality of ethical and moral standards?

Indicative of Japan's desire to approach problems that are causing international irritation is the conference, just closed, between an unofficial group of Americans and a very distinguished group of Japanese.

Only honest and the most frank discussion of these problems will produce important results, Baron Shibusawa said in a brief address with which he opened the unofficial conference at Tokio Bankers' club on April 25.

The Japanese group, of which Baron Shibusawa is the head, represent practically every great commercial, financial and industrial enterprise in Japan. They designated their group as the Welcome Association of Japan.

Baron Shibusawa had extended to Mr. Frank A. Vanderlip an invitation to come to Japan for an unofficial but frank and earnest discussion of problems confronting Japan in her own domestic development, of matters of international concern, and of development in the Far East in which Japan's action had affected American public opinion.

(Conferees Frankly Discuss Immigration.)

Mr. Vanderlip was asked by the bureau to select a small group of representative American business men, bankers and educators, who came to be known in Japan as the "Vanderlip party."

During the conferences at Tokio where Viscount Kaneko and Mr.

Vanderlip acted as joint presidents, the conference freely and fully discussed immigration into the United States, the Siberian, Manchurian, Mongolian and Korean questions, co-operation of Japan and the United States in the development of China's industry and commerce, and cable communication between Japan and America.

This whole general subject of immigration is vital to Japan. Only 17 per cent of her limited area is arable—an average equal to the area of West Virginia, and from this she is attempting to feed her 67,000,000 people. The increase in population has outrun the increase in production of foodstuffs despite the most intensive form of agriculture, and the per capita production of the principal crops, rice, wheat, rye, barley, soy beans—shows in each instance a steadily declining ratio.

Japanese Hurt by California Legislation.

The specter of a hungry nation is lurking in the minds of Japanese business men and statesmen as they approach the subject of immigration.

Restrictive legislation in California, especially the recent proposal for a referendum to be voted upon in November, is a matter of profound interest to the Japanese at present. This referendum is a measure designed to cancel the leasehold of Japanese farmers, and to prevent the guardianship of Japanese children by Japanese parents. Far more important than the material injury that might be done their nationals is the Japanese say, the discourtesy, the harshness of the language of the proposed legislation, the hurt to Japanese national pride that would result from such legislation.

They do not insist, in fact, they seem to have no desire, that further fresh Japanese immigration be permitted by the United States.

Were they laboring under any illusions as to the American attitude in respect of this matter, they would have been dispelled by Mr. Vanderlip's statement at the opening session, when he said:

"It seems to me that your population is growing too fast to make it possible for you to solve such a problem by emigration alone. Certainly you must agree that there is no outlook for relief from the problems of such a rapidly growing population by emigration to America. Were you to send your surplus population to us, it would flood us—any such course would not be good for us, nor would it be good for you."

"Laborers Came at Request of Americans."

The Japanese insisted that Japan had the firmest intentions of living up to the spirit and the letter of the "gentlemen's agreement" in the future omigration of their nationals, to the United States. Their plan is for courteous, just and considerate treatment of this embarrassing and difficult question.

They are anxious, they insist, to encourage the thorough assimilation of the Japanese already in California. They wish to have assurance that these Japanese may pursue peaceful, useful lives. They point out, with some force, that the Japanese have never been a colonizing people; that they came first to the United States at the solicitation of American employers; that, left to themselves, there probably would not have been an emigration in anything like the numbers that have come to America.

The Japanese assert that they are moved by the highest spirit to comply in every possible way with the wishes of the American people; that they are restricting further emigration of their people to our shores, but that the passage of the proposed California legislation would be a bitter national discourtesy to them. And they insist that their government should be asked to deal with a state government. They display complete willingness to discuss and comply with any reasonable proposal made by our government in relation to the Japanese question.

Obviously, the Japanese reach no conclusions on this question. The appointment of a joint high commission to discuss this question would be a step toward a mutual understanding. The American group endeavored to learn the Japanese point of view in the matter, and hope that by laying the situation before the American public when occasion offers that a sound, intelligent public opinion on this subject of international irritation will be formed.

Many of the Japanese leaders feel that America has been so self-centered, in its own development, that it has found little time for a matter such as the Japanese question in California, where the local situation has become so acute that really serious national discourtesy may result without a general American public opinion. Other over the ultimate solution may be, we in America can not escape our responsibility to meet the Japanese in the same spirit and desire for open minded discussion with which they invite us to help plan their future course of action.

An Electric Range

Means Kitchen Comfort

Less watching is required when you cook on an electric range. The radiated heat that is even and easily regulated causes small loss of moisture. There is no fear of burning—food may be left cooking for hours, if necessary—and stirring and turning are unnecessary.

You can save your meat bill by using an electric range, for you will find the radiated heat causes from 15 to 25 per cent less shrinkage.

It is the ideal way of cooking from every standpoint, clean, cool and convenient. Let us tell you about the fireless cooker principle which is used in our electric ranges.
