Postmaster General Frankly Says He Would Modify Volstead Act.

BRYAN WILL SOON ARRIVE ON SCENE

Nebraskan Stumbling Block in Pathway of Untiered Wets at San Francisco Meeting

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—Postmaster General Burleson today at San Antonio regarding democratic platform issues drew particular attention among party leaders here for the national convention next week because of his frank declaration for modification of the Volstead prohibition enforcement act.

"Mr. Burleson's demand for repeal of 'drastic and absurd' provisions of the act, expressed in more direct, fashion views which some of the party leaders now have previously had voiced privately. Coming from a member of President Wilson's cabinet, the statement was regarded as a possible intimation of the administration's attitude on the prohibition issue before the convention. Senator Glass, of Virginia, who is due here tomorrow, is understood to have been entrusted with a formal expression of President Wilson's views as to the platform. On other occasions, however, the postmaster general has been the direct spokesman of the president on important issues and democrats here were inclined to take his expression as to the prohibition plank as more than a statement of his own views.

To Fight Over Platform. The preliminary convention discussion in progress here, while wholly informal in character, has shown a striking unanimity of opinion on two points thus far. The first of these is that the platform struggle will be the chief issue in that fight, out-calling the league of nations declaration in interest among delegates.

On the league issue, W. J. Bryan already is standing directly opposed to President Wilson's views as to the party attitude. That dates back to the Jackson day dinner when Mr. Wilson urged that the democrats enter the campaign on the issue of ratification of the league covenant without material reservation. The former secretary of state stood just as strongly for acceptance of the league covenant reservations as a basis for ratification and in order to keep the league covenant out of the campaign.

If Mr. Burleson's statement is to be accepted as representing the presidential views on prohibition, debate said, it now was evident that Bryan and the administration forces were to clash also over that plank in the party platform.

Mr. Bryan's views have been known to be rigidly against any weakening of the prohibition laws. There is also, it was said, a third point on which the president and his former secretary of state might clash horns at the convention. It was recalled that when the president asked Congress for authority to accept a mandate over Armenia under the league of nations, Mr. Bryan promptly issued a statement in flat opposition to such a program. It has been regarded as possible that the president might seek to have the convention endorse his course as to Armenia and, if so, it was said, the Nebraska leader could be expected to exert his influence against such action.

Pending arrival of Senator Glass, Mr. Burleson and Mr. Bryan, all of whom will reach the convention city during the week, the few party leaders and delegates already on the ground have been exchanging only friendly comment and expressions of personal opinion on the various "three-days-before-the-conference" news and there is still little activity among workers for reform candidates for the presidential election. It was said that attention from the platform was being given to the possibility of securing the support of the party in the West. Virginia were opposed today and

Elwell Murder Probe Uncovers Life of Society G

JOSEPH B. ELWELL.

By H. P. Burton.

N. E. A. Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, June 22.—As detectives unwrap covering after covering from the private life of Joseph B. Elwell, people are discovering that, after all, Robert W. Chambers and Edith Wharton don't fictionalize over-much in their famous novels of high life in Manhattan.

For every incident that is woven into a typical society novel seemingly is present in this mysterious murder of the "bridge what king of America"—bounty, wealth, society, and, lurking everywhere beneath these surface refinements, strange hidden vice.

Had Three Residences. The evidence that is appearing shows that Elwell, who maintained houses in Newport, New York and Palm Beach, often on or lost $50,000 in a single night at the bridge table, nobleman footstep unfolded in the tapestried drawing rooms.

Everything that enhanced the charm of this "lolly god fellow," who grew rich as a bridge, what expert, was apparent at his command. He kept high powered motor cars and a string of blue-blooded racing horses in his Kentucky stable; there was a yacht in southern waters, and he had extensive wardrobe in each house to entrench the women and impress the men he hobnobbed with.

The night before he was murdered was doubtless an average one to him. He had spent the afternoon at the races at Belmont park, betting on the horses.

In the evening his chauffeur drove him in his Mercedes to the Fitts Carlton, where he had dinner with Walter Lowbach, the millionaire, who had with him his wife, his sister-in-law, Mrs. Viola Kraus and Octavio Figueroa, a newspaper publisher of Buenos Aires.

Mrs. Kraus, who had just received a decree of divorce from her former husband, was called by Philip Bollen, the famous illustrator. The most beautiful girl in America, she was. After the dinner the party drove to Zeigfeld's roof. There Elwell danced with the two women. Later, he is said to have gone to an apartment.

LED Mysterious Life.

The night life of this society gambler was so mysterious that it is baffling the trained minds of the detectives.

One of the rooms in Elwell's bachelor home is fitted up as a most luxurious woman's boudoir.

Several society women are said to have possessed keys to the Elwell house.

Elwell had been separated from his wife for eight years. The widow says she had recently refused to agree to a divorce.

She says that she introduced him into society as a bridge whist expert. She is a cousin of Dr. Richard Derby, who married Ethel Roosevelt.

MADE NO PUBLIC REQUESTS. NEW YORK, June 22.—George W. Perkins, financier and philanthropist, who died last Friday, left the bulk of his estate to his widow and two children, according to his will filed today. The exact amount was not given but the value was placed "in excess of $1,000,000." No public bequests were made.

Miss Mary Kihn, his secretary for 27 years, received a bequest of $50,000 together with a $5,000 life annuity.

TIMES HAS HUNCH. LONDON, June 22.—The London Times announces it has reasons to believe that representations have been addressed to the Swedish and Finnish governments on behalf of the allied and associated powers to the effect that Sweden and Finland should refer the question of the sovereignty of the Aland Islands to the League of Nations.

PRISONER CAPTURED. CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 21.—Ninety-eight hours of confinement in the garret of the prison bakery at Rawlins, with only a small bunch of onions for sustenance, drove William Smith, a convict, out yesterday. In search of water and he was captured by guards after an hour's escape.

TOURISTS ROBBED IN WILD WYOMING

Lone Highwayman Seizes $500 From Party Making Tour Across Country.

SALT LAKE CITY, June 22.—A lone bandit last Sunday near Evanston, Wyo., when he held up the automobile in which Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Brown and Mr. Brown's father, all residents of Philadelphia, were riding. Mr. Brown is principal of the Olympic school, near Philadelphia. The party arrived in Salt Lake today on their way to San Francisco. They declared Wyoming authorities were unable to find traces of the robber, who escaped on horseback.

CABINET HAS COLLAPSED. LONDON, June 22.—The Feherbach cabinet has collapsed owing to the majority socialist refusing to support it. This announcement is made in a dispatch from Berlin dated last night.

The first literature in behalf of the claims of candidates was put out by his supporters. Some of the candidates themselves are expected to be here. The Chicago convention was unique in that respect with Senator Johnson, General Wood, Governor Lowden and others of the active candidates for the nomination in that state. The party machine, also was on the scene and shared in conference which led to his selection.

VOLSTEAD BEATEN IN THE PRIMARY

Non-Partisan Preacher Defeats Author of Prohibition Enforcement Act.

ST. PAUL, June 22.—Congressman A. J. Volstead, republican, author of the prohibition enforcement act, was defeated for re-nomination in yesterday's primary by the Rev. O. J. Kvald of Benson, Non-Partisan league candidate, on virtually complete returns tonight.

This congressional upset in the seventh district, the only district in which an incumbent seeking re-nomination was unsuccessful, almost overshadowed the unusually close race for the republican gubernatorial nomination.

J. A. O. Preus, state auditor, sent had a lead of 15,000 votes in the gubernatorial race over Dr. Henrik Shipstead, Non-Partisan league candidate, when returns had been tabulated from more than 2,500 of the 3,195 precincts in the state.

Winner is Prohibitionist. Rev. Kvald is a pastor of the Norwegian Lutheran church and is 37 years old. He has been a clergyman for 28 years. In connection with Volstead's authorship of the prohibition act, it was pointed out by friends of Kvald last night that he had advocated absolute prohibition for more than a score of years. He became a minister in Wisconsin but removed to Minnesota several years ago.

Two years ago Congressman Volstead was opposed for re-nomination by Dr. Shipstead, now seeking gubernatorial honors.

Returns from 2,545 precincts out of 3,195 in the state gave Preus 124,956 and Shipstead 109,845. The seventh congressional district, 331 precincts out of 375 gave Kvald 15,408 and Volstead 13,497.

Q-SWITCHMEN STRIKE. QUINCY, Ill., June 22.—A down-trodden employed by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad, here walked out at 3 o'clock this afternoon, but police officials said there had been no serious interruption of traffic.

PARTY IN HARMONY.

CHICAGO, June 22.—A. Mitchell Palmer, attorney general, was one of a host of democratic leaders that passed through Chicago today en route to the national convention at San Francisco. Mr. Palmer was on a special train carrying a delegation of 250 Pennsylvanians.

"There is no discussion in the democratic party and none is expected," Mr. Palmer said. "All is harmony."

The attorney general refused to discuss his own candidacy, but Warren Van Dyke of Harrisburg, secretary of the Pennsylvania state committee, said that Mr. Palmer would enter the contention the strongest of the candidates with 74 of the state's 76 delegates pledged. He said Palmer would have 400 votes on the first roll call.

The party included Roland B. Morris of Philadelphia, ambassador to Japan, who is on his vacation; Vance C. McCormick of Harrisburg, national democratic chairman in 1914; Joseph P. Guttery, Pittsburg, national committee-man-elect; and Congressman Bruce F. Sterling of Uniontown, state chairman of the party. The party will arrive in San Francisco Friday.

Tom Taggart, national committee-man from Indiana and chairman of the Indiana delegation, also was in Chicago today on his way west. He expressed the opinion that "the political question is no longer a political question, but is simply a question of law."

TO REBUILD INGLEWOOD. LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 22.—The work of rebuilding the business section of Inglewood, 10 miles southwest of this city, which suffered most from the series of earthquakes in Los Angeles county last night, was well under way today, precisely the same population of 5,000 taking part.

MAKES POINT OF LAW. NEW YORK, June 22.—Declaring that under the law not more than one-half of an estate may be left to charity, counsel for the state comptroller today appealed to Surrogate Cochran for a ruling in the case of Joseph B. Elwell.

Elwell's will bequeathed approximately $1,000,000 of his $12,000,000 estate to Columbia and Harvard universities, the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor and other charities.

While the sub-committee was considering his conference, Senator Harding received a group of influential letters in reply to their request for action on the Elwell case. The letters were from the following: Mrs. Edson, California; Mrs. M. L. Fossum, Minnesota; Jake L. Hamon, national committee-man from Oklahoma; John W. Hart, national committee-man from Idaho; A. T. Hart, national committee-man from Kentucky; Charles W. Hilles, national committee-man from New York; B. B. Howell, national committee-man from Nebraska; Mrs. Jeannette A. Hyde, Utah; Mrs. Arthur E. Lohmeyer, New York; Senator Miles P. Pappas, national committee-man from Pennsylvania; Mrs. Corinne Rose-vell Robinson, New York; Mrs. Christine Bradley South, Kentucky; former Senator John W. Weeks, national committee-man from Massachusetts; and P. E. Williams, national committee-man from Oregon.

One member of this executive committee, Chairman Hays said, remains to be appointed. Mr. South, in addition to being a member of the executive committee, has been chosen assistant secretary of the national committee.

Select seven women. The party leaders also disregarded precedent in naming seven women as members of the executive committee and in choosing a woman, Mrs. Harriet Taylor Tipton of Ohio, as vice chairman of the committee. This action was taken, it was said, in recognition of the increasing activity of women in politics.

Mr. South, who is a daughter of former Senator Brannan of Kentucky, also was appointed assistant secretary of the national committee, an office created by the Chicago convention.

Following the announcement of the committee membership, Senator Harding and Chairman Hays both issued statements; the former praising the organization work already accomplished and the latter declaring that a complete amalgamation of party groups had been brought about in the appointment of the committee.

"The conferees have been most successful," says Mr. Hays in his statement. "The great party of the union is most certainly a unit. The executive committee and other committees to be appointed will be splendid representatives of the party and the loyal republicans who have worked so enthusiastically for Senator Harding and those who have no less loyally worked for others are all together vying with each other in their effort to advance the party's cause. There is one great organization, a complete amalgamation and we are on our way to the great republican victory which means so much for the country's welfare."

Of the women members of the executive committee, Mrs. Edson was active in supporting Senator Johnson of California for the presidential nomination.

While the sub-committee was considering his conference, Senator Harding received a group of influential letters in reply to their request for action on the Elwell case. The letters were from the following: Mrs. Edson, California; Mrs. M. L. Fossum, Minnesota; Jake L. Hamon, national committee-man from Oklahoma; John W. Hart, national committee-man from Idaho; A. T. MADE BIG "BAG" OF GERMANS

Raid of Doughboys Within Hun Lines One of the Most Brilliant Exploits of the War.

It was the most audacious night hike of the great war. The infantry brigade of the Second division, American army, was making it. Platoon after platoon of rain-soaked, mud-splattered Yank doughboys, in columns of twos, marched silently straight through the strong German line, a distance of four miles—like a huge khaki-colored monster ready to spring at the throat of the German defense. They did it. Joseph Mills Hansen, former American field artillery officer, gives this graphic description in the Home Section, the ex-soldiers' weekly conducted by the former editorial council of the Stars and Stripes, of how the midnight surprise experts of the A. E. F. floundered and struggled up the hill toward La Tullerie farm on the night of November 4, 1918, where German officers were living close to Beaumont, thinking that the nearest American soldier was eight kilometers away.

He says: "Silently the Americans, panting from their long march, formed and closed in upon the farm, as old Mosby's men used to close in, on unwary federal outposts in Virginia, or as George Rogers Clark's grim frontiersmen closed in on the British at their ball in the wilderness fort at Vincennes.

"There was a pause as they crept up close. Then a sudden rush, a gust of cries, and through the doors and windows they burst in. Knots of German officers, bending over maps and dispatches, looked up in horror into the muzzles of rifles and the stern white faces behind them; men curled up in blankets in the corners staggered to their feet and held their hands aloft. This sort of warfare had a tang of the new-world daring in it, that the disciples of Von Clausewitz and Ludendorff could not comprehend. It set German logic at naught, but they were obliged to yield to it. La Tullerie farm, a German headquarters, four miles from the front, had been throated by a hand reaching out of the darkness. Many of his imperial majesty's trusty officers and men had been made prisoners in a flash, though unfortunately two generals made their escape by starting out of back doors."

Memorial Cottages.

The number of lives the war took has not been adequately reckoned. The number of families it broke up is likewise uncounted. Yet after it is over, there is a greater shortage of housing than ever. There is interest in this connection in a letter to the London Spectator, evidently from one of the sufferers of the war. It contains a suggestion which may or may not be new in this country.

The writer calls attention to an article in the London Chronicle, telling of the building of 120 cottages for ex-service men in Westmoreland, called war memorial cottages. "It is not clear to him whether these were built by public or private funds, but never mind that. "Would it be possible," he asks, "for individuals to do likewise? What more practical memorial of any fallen hero than to provide a home for a disabled soldier or sailor or for his widow and children?" Though our war widows and orphans and our disabled soldiers are few compared with the losses of Great Britain, we have need enough for nursing houses, and the memorial cottage idea is not a bad one.

How She Knew.

A Hoosier school teacher received a very indignant note from one of her patrons, demanding that she stop some boys from annoying her tiny daughter on the way home from school. Immediately after she had read the note the teacher began an investigation. She asked the little girl, "How do these boys annoy you?"

"Why, they talk awful about me and to me," explained the youngster. "They cuss me and say terrible things."

"But how do you know they are cursing and the things are really terrible?" persisted Miss Teacher.

Even she was stunned by the wee child's answer, "Because," she reasoned, "they are just like the things my papa says when he gets mad at my mama."

AMERICA ROLLS UP BIG BALANCE

Trade Advantage Is Great, Since Beginning of World War; Statistics Prove It.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—Since the beginning of the world war in 1914, the United States has rolled up a trade balance of approximately $17,000,000,000 against the world. This exceeds by several billions of dollars the total balance in favor of the United States from 1875 to 1914.

Department of commerce figures today show that the trade balance made in favor of the United States in the fiscal year ending in 1914, one month before the war began, was only $470,000,000. During the first year of the war it was $1,054,419,600, and in the next year ending June 30, 1916, it was $2,136,509,375. During the succeeding year the total was $3,630,693,209.

American exports surpassed imports. Meanwhile the United States had entered the struggle and in the year ending June 30, 1918—the first full fiscal year of America's participation—the balance was only $297,065,974. In the next year ending June 30, 1919, however, it was $4,136,562,618.

During the first 11 months of this fiscal year, the balance was only $2,788,461,602; but exports were larger in those 11 months than in any other full fiscal year in the nation's history, totaling $7,474,193,249 as against the previous 12 months' record of $7,252,282,686 made during the last fiscal year.

At the same time that America's export trade began to advance by leaps and bounds, the import trade also showed an enormous increase, reaching a new high record of $4,685,741,747 during the 11 months of the present fiscal year.

Most of the favorable trade balance of the United States has been against the allied and neutral countries of

ADULT EDUCATION.

It is interesting to learn that the term "Americanization" seems about to give way to one less offensive to the persons whom we try to put through the process. Since most of the immigrants to this country come with a sincere interest and trust in America, and are eager to become real Americans, the term which sets them apart as outsiders and strangers who must be completely altered before they are accepted as fellow-citizens is thought to have done more harm than good. It has made them distrust the Americanization work in the first place, and has put them on their guard to defend their own traditions.

In one of our large cities having a very high percentage of foreign-born residents, the work of helping these newcomers to enter into American life fully and happily is to be called "adult education" hereafter instead of Americanization. Adult education may be the most inspiring term which could be found, but at least it includes everybody who needs this special training. It includes the native-born minority as well as the foreign-born man or woman who needs only to learn American language, customs and ideals, and to receive "the friendly welcome of native citizens."

SUGARLESS CANNING.

A ray of hope for the housewife who has not been thrifty enough or lucky enough to accumulate a supply of sugar sufficient for her canning comes from experts in the department of agriculture, who may that the use of sugar in putting up fruit is unnecessary so far as preservation is concerned, if the canner will use the correct method and follow directions exactly.

Under this method plain hot water
may be substituted for the usual syrup, and then sugar can be added at any time when the can is opened. For jellies the fruit juice is boiled and canned and when sugar is plentiful it can be added and the jelly boiled down as always.

Since this method of canning permits the use of a limited amount of sugar at various times, instead of demanding a large amount at any time,
it seems a reasonable fashion to follow regularly.

Shortages are not pleasant things, but as they almost inevitably lead to economic discoveries and improved methods of various kinds, perhaps they are after all, "like the tooth, which, ugly and venomous, wears yet
a precious jewel in his head."

Why don't those delegates to the labor convention who offered a resolution to nationalize the banks of the United States take their savings over to Russia? Bankers are nationalized there, and the honest working man is getting 3,400 rubles a month, and a one-pound loaf of bread only costs 500 rubles. That's the life!

The weather prophets say that cool weather can be expected at the democratic convention. It's entirely likely that some of the candidates may even feel a decided frost before they leave.

Louisiana refused to ratify suffrage.
Horrible thought—maybe it's because the women have made such a fuss about the price of sugar.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

COMMITTEEMAN IS PLEGDED SUPPORT

Hamilton County, Ohio, Republicans endorse Hynicka and Can-dacy of Harding.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 22.—The executive and central republican committee of Hamilton county in joint session today unanimously endorsed R. K. Hynicka as national committeeman and commended the "delegates to the national convention for their fulfillment of pledges to their constituents and indorse and commend their course in the convention." The resolution also called upon Hynicka to continue his "efficient leadership as chairman" and pledged his loyal support. The adoption of the resolution, which pledged to Senator Harding
"unwavering, enthusiastic and militant support," was passed after Albert Morrill, member of the executive committee, demanded Hynicka's resignation. Morrill said:

"Did Not Look Well."

"The action of the delegates to the republican national convention in declaring Harding does not look well, especially in view of the fact that, at the primary election in Hamilton county, it was reported that at the last minute instructions were sent out by organization leaders to knight Harding and that in spite of this, Harding carried the county."

Hynicka retorted:

"I did what I thought was the proper thing, and I do not care who criticizes my action."

Hynicka and three Hamilton county delegates voted for General Wood on two ballots.

Subsequently Hynicka said that he would resign if the committee thought best, but that he did not propose to be driven out of the chairmanship by mutiny, demanded Hynicka's resignation in the welfare of the party."

LIKED HIS "BATH"

Rabbit Seemed to Enjoy Powerful Electric Shock.

Experiment Recently Made Shows
Great Possibilities in This Form of Treatment for Toning Up
the Nervous System.

It is almost sure death to step upon the third rail of an electric road, for he who does it will get a shock of at least 500 volts. But you can jump on a third rail and stand on it with both feet and feel nothing. You must, however, jump off with both feet or you will get the shock. The reason is that when both feet are on the rail there is no circuit.

Watching two boys nuzzling themselves by jumping on and off a third rail on Long Island recently, H. Ferns-back, editor of the Electrical Experimenter, wondered what would happen if he were to stand on the pole of a very powerful Tesla coil. He went to where there is one of the electrical testing laboratories, where there is one of the most powerful high frequency machines in the country, giving 500, 000 volts and using 20 kilowatts. This machine throws streams of electric fire six to seven feet long; the noise of which can be heard several blocks away. Mr. Fernsback wanted to stand on the metal plate of the "Tesla" tornael of the transformer, but the managers would not let him, for fear of an accident. He hid with him, however, a live rabbit, and they let him put the bunny on that perilous spot.

"At first," writes Mr. Fernsback in the Electrical Experimenter, "the managers were frightened and jumped off the plate at about five kilowatts. Long sparks had shot out from his nose and above his eyes and at the ends of his ears. So the writer wetted the plate form with water, because he thought that sparks might be jumping into the rabbit's belly and legs which insulated the fur part of his body, giving rise to stinging sparks. An improvement was seen immediately. The rabbit now held perfectly still, for about 20 seconds, taking the full charge of 20 kilowatts at 500,000 volts. Long spark streams, four or five feet long, shot from 'br' rabbit's nose, ears and back, but, curious to note, immediately by above the eyes, and after that the rabbit took the full charge, never moving once for 20 seconds at a time.
After a while the rabbit seemed to enjoy the performance, and right after his sense he was as lively as ever, ending a big career at once."

Mr. Fernsback points out that there is a practical value in this experiment, for a charge of electricity such as the one described gives a dry bath which removes every particle of dead skin, dust and dirt and buries them far from the body. Such electric baths also soften hardened arteries, tone up the nervous system and "make the old

Spitzbergen Explorer.

Charles Bahot, French physicist,
with a reputation for arctic research, has been elected honorary member of the Christiania Geographical society.
In 1902 Mr. Bahot participated in the French expedition of Le Manchois to van Mangel and Spitzbergen. He was the first to travel extensively over west Spitzbergen and to form correct conclusions as to its glacialological relations. "It was not a quiet inland mass of ice as is the case with Nor-dhusland and Greenland. Among his many works the most important is,
"Des Variations de Longueurs des Glaciers" (Paris, 1907 and 1909). He was the first to make a survey map of the black ice between Svalbard and Rangfjord, for the time pointing out that at Glandalen the black ice is put into two parts known as Vestbraen and Ostbraen.

A Boy's Judgment.

Terra-Haute-Hop-Bois have a very capable drum corps. Recently two new members were recruited from Troop 10, one of the newer troops.
After the band had their first rehearsal with the corps they came back to their own troops to tell about it.
He says the Indianapolis News.
They brought their drums with them and on the other boys' insistence gave them a drum duel. It certainly was a noisy one if not melodious and the audience was enthusiastic and admiring.

After it was over and the two little drummers were resting, one of the youngest members of the troop turned to one of the school teachers who was present. "I have a horn," he said,
"and I can't play it because to be in a band. But I do think I could play it in a corps for you don't have to watch the time there—nothing! but the time."

GUTHRIE PLEASED WITH CONVENTION

Member Idaho Delegation to Republican Gathering Likes Ticket; Great Admirer of Lodge.

Full of enthusiasm for the ticket named, and with a world of interest for the students of the convention itself, W. P. Guthrie has returned from Chicago where he was one of the Idaho delegates to the republican national convention.

"I was not a band wagon delegate," said Mr. Guthrie last night. "I never cast a vote for Harding, though it was apparent to me as to others that the nomination was a certainty on the last ballot. But I felt that it was my duty to stay with Wood on that last ballot, and I did. I voted six times for Wood without a change. Then I cast two ballots for Lowden, and swung back to Wood for the final roll call."

"I consider Senator Lodge a master mind—one of the really great men of the nation. His work, his handling of that great meeting, stands out to me as the impression which will remain with me."

"The ticket, in all the circumstances, is the best that could be named. It is a winner. I can conceive of no ticket which the democrats can name which can possibly defeat Harding and Coolidge. They are both strong characters, both men of outstanding ability and clear-cut patriotism, and their election in the opinion of the throngs who were there, is certain."

"Altogether I had a delightful trip; was impressed with the convention and its work and returned filled with enthusiasm for the choice of the majority of my party."

WIDENING OF STREET IS CAUSE OF LAWSUIT

The case of C. E. Lind vs. City of Twin Falls was heard in the district court. This litigation grew out of a suit in connection with the widening of Second avenue north and east.

The result is not a pronounced victory for either side but a sort of agreement in which the city agrees to make certain repairs to the damage done to old paving. The defendant's it is understood, will pay for new paving. A motion was sustained to strike out that part of the complaint alleging widening of the avenue is not a necessity.

ROTARIANS FAVOR BUREAU OF HELP FOR EMPLOYERS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 22.—The International Association of Rotary clubs in annual convention here today went on record as favoring the establishment of a "bureau of help to employers" to be located at the Chicago headquarters of the association. It will be under the direction of the committee of business methods. The duty of the bureau will be to gather for the use and information of all Rotarians data concerning practical methods for dealing with problems of employee and employer. The action was taken after an address by Judge W. L. Higgins of the Kansas court of industrial relations.

A resolution, introduced by the Tray, N. Y., club was passed designating the third week in October each year as Rotary help week.

COMMITTEE OF 21 TO AID IN CAMPAIGN

recommend ratification should any state seek his opinion.

Women Are Disappointed.

The suffragists numbering 25 from 21 states, through their spokesman, Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the national women's party, in presenting their request made veiled threats of throwing their support to a third party unless ratification of the suffrage amendment was completed through action of a republican state legislature.

Miss Paul in a statement tonight said her delegation was "deeply disappointed" with Senator Harding's position.

In the appointment of the executive committee, the sub-committee diverted from the usual practice of confining membership to the national organization and took in Harry M. Daugherty of Columbus, Ohio, Senator Harding's pre-convention campaign manager.

The appointments as announced today included only 20 names but Mr. Hays said the additional member, who also would not be a member of the national committee would be announced as soon as he could communicate with the prospective appointee.

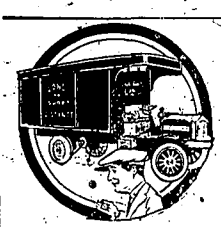

In connection with the appointment of the executive committee, Senator stating made the following statement:

"I cordially approve of the executive organization we worked out by Chairman Hays and the sub-committee of the national committee. At the same time I want to express appreciation of the organization heretofore made, and my gratitude to the many interested republicans who constitute it, and who have been working for two years to develop a republican party administration. It will be noted that we are calling all republicans to the party colors and the good faith of the program will be emphasized as the personnel of other highly important committees are announced."

MATINEE AND EVENING

THE TREAT OF THE SEASON

NOT TRUE 'GENIUS'

"Wonder Children" Merely Intellectually Precocious.

In Most Cases They Are Possessors of an Abnormally Retentive Memory—Do Not Necessarily Dis Young.

A few days ago there appeared an account of the doings of Samuel Heschewski, a wonderful chess player, eight years old, who is confounding Berlin with his uncanny knowledge and skill. These "wonder children" always arouse considerable interest, and, as many explanations are put forward to account for their apparent genius, there are gloomy forebodings as to their meeting with an early death.

There have been many "wonder children" in the past, and it is strange, though true, that quite a large proportion have lived to the average age. In recent years there have been a number of child geniuses who have startled the world by their precociousness and theology. In the United States a few years ago a boy nine years old attempted to convert the whole country, and when ten years old he was actually appointed minister of a church in North Carolina.

In Great Britain there are records of a child twelve years old who preached in a Baptist church at Portsmouth, and a small boy who, at the tender age of three, began preaching to crowded audiences and continued to do so until well after ten years old.

In the case of such prodigies, their talents consist chiefly in an abnormal, retentive memory, and, provided that their temperaments are not epileptic, they stand the mental strain exceedingly well, though there is, of course, the danger attached to the excessive physical strain which they frequently undergo.

To this type belong those children who learn rapidly by heart such things as the tunes, words and numbers of all hymns in the ancient and modern hymn-book. It is such children, with a high development of one faculty, who most often meet with early death, and maybe it was in such cases that old saying, "The wise die young" had its origin.

But the child chess player in Berlin belongs rather to the type of intellectual precocity, such as the learned child of Lubek of the early part of the eighteenth century. This child could recite the whole of the Old and New Testaments before he was two years old, and a little later he was an authority on religious history and dogma. He mastered also ancient and modern geography and history and several languages before his death at the age of four years.

A contemporary of this wonderful child was fluent in five languages before he was five, and translated the Hebrew Bible into Latin and French at the age of eight. He survived until he was nineteen.

Historical and clinical evidence are both definite in showing that "wonder children" are no more liable than other children to die young, nor is it found that children who assimilate knowledge readily and retain it show any undue signs of fatigue.

The great point in the case of children marked by special brilliance is to avoid any attempt at making the brilliance apply to everything, for in so doing the exalted brilliance in the one special direction may tend to disappear. In the same way who are intellectually brilliant must not be forced to become industrious in a practical way, for such interference invariably brings on over-strain and breakdown.

How's This, "Pedestrians"?

It was an inkly black night and we were riding along a country road, when we saw a railroad crossing ahead. We stopped about a hundred feet from the tracks and peered through the brush and trees to find the road. There up the track we saw a light moving toward us. The driver wished to move on, but I, being very nervous, objected loudly, so we waited at least five minutes. "The light kept drawing nearer, but the driver in disgust insisted upon crossing, saying it was probably a slow freight. But again I shrieked loudly, for I knew train lights were so deplorable at night and it must be nearly upon us by now. We continued waiting in the darkness for the train to pass, and as the light drew nearer we discovered our locomotive to be nothing more than a man coming down the track with a lantern."—Chicago Tribune.

The "Lion D'Arras."

A Paris dispatch announces the disappearance of one of the last of the great newspapermen, Lion d'Arras. There was a man whose life was a legend to cheer and encourage the inhabitants of the stricken towns and countryside, will be looked upon in the future as one of the most interesting products of the times. The Lion d'Arras appeared in the city at a time when the enemy was within a few hundred yards from the walls. The founder of the paper was the Abbe Guerin, who continued its editor during the 172 weeks of its existence.

The Difference.

"Little Ethel—What's the best year custom, mother?" "Mother—It's the custom that allows a woman to propose to a man instead of putting herself to the trouble of making the man propose."

BEYOND CHINA'S GREAT WALL

Mongolia, Desolate and Terrible Land, Has a Fascination for Traveler From the West.

There is a magic about the Great Wall of China, and the frontier region to its folds facing out upon Mongolia, that land of sandstorms and blizzards, desolate and terrible to the Chinese, and filled with their many inveterate enemies of old times, writes Elizabeth Costerworth in Asia Magazine. Now the Mongolians have retreated further into the interior—three days' journey from civilization—and Kalgan no longer lures itself against the waiting hordes beyond its walls.

We passed through the streets between low square buildings with pale yellow walls often painted with gods and goddesses. Now and then we were amused to see how a pirate to hacco advertisement showed a cut throat with long black mustaches, had jumped the god of good and bad and had become burned before its unholy nose. Everywhere were gray dust and blackness, but at each door was a cage with a hawk in it, and one disappointed man said he had seen a hundred birds were gathered about an old one to learn to sing.

Around us, above the roofs, were the high, copper-colored mountains without a tree upon them, but with the great "looming" of the clouds across the highest points and lonely watch towers outlined on every peak against a brilliant blue sky. The effect of the color combined with the long bare lines of the mountains was gorgeous beyond words.

We passed beyond the Trailers' gate and into old Mongolia! The way opened out immediately into the past, and near us a crowd had gathered about the body of a brigand executed the morning before. There was a remnant of a stream, sharp hills on either side, and caravans of camels loaded with sheepskins were coming in from the desert. The tents had been losing their hair in patches and many of them were wrapped in sackcloth to prevent their catching cold, adding to the somewhat ludicrous effect of a camel despite its stolidness. The Mongolians who led them on their quick scraggy ponies seemed little different in their appearance from the northern Chinese except for their heavy padded red coats and high, yellow peaked hats.

And beyond lay the Great Wall like a living thing with the shining light on its side, seeking the most insurmountable heights, again and again disappearing from sight only to reappear farther and farther off along the horizon. There lay its all but sentient length with only here and there a break in the shell of smooth-cut slabs of stone, each of which weighed at least half a ton. Roman, once built a wall. But only archaeologists can find traces of that younger imperial frontier today.

Three Cents a Drink in 1837.

Long after the last cellar has gone dry and the last drop of whiskey has been consumed there will remain a bottle of liquor that, according to tradition, is entombed in the corner stones of the Universalist church at Montgomery, O. William Swain, seventy-two, village historian and former schoolmaster of Montgomery, is authority for the tradition that a quart of liquor is concealed within the cornerstone of the church, which was built in 1837. "In those days liquor was a respectable water," says Swain. Preachers drank it just as other folk did. It was customary to place liquor in a cornerstone for the same reason that folks drink each other's health in a liquor. Across the road from the church is a tavern that was a stop-over for the farmers hauling their produce to the city. Whiskey sold there for 3 cents a drink. Swain recalls.—Detroit Journal.

New Insurance Idea.

The British woolen and worsted industries are now proposing a scheme whereby the employees in those industries shall contract out of the national unemployment insurance bill, at present under consideration in the house of commons, by devising a scheme of their own. There are in the northern countries area of the wool textile trade. It is assumed, about 200,000 men, youths, women and girls over the age of sixteen years (those under sixteen do not come under the unemployment insurance scheme), and allowing for contributions by employers similar to those under the national unemployment insurance bill, plus one-tenth contribution by the state, it is estimated that there will be available for extra benefits over and above what are provided for under the state scheme the sum of $501,950.

Real Automatic Phonograph.

The much abused term "automatic" can be applied with full justice to a new and highly ingenious phonograph. This versatile instrument plays as many as 20 records, and after another in order, selects any record indicated, allows intervals between selections of ten seconds to half an hour, repeats at desired, and stops at any predetermined point, according to Popular Mechanics. When the machine is started, an arm rolls the first record out of the rack and in front of the turntable, where a plunger centers it.

INSTITUTE A SUIT FOR FINAL PAYMENT

Rights of Indian Women Delayed Transaction and Action Is Brought to Close Deal.

Roy S. Hart and his wife, Lucy L. Hart have filed a suit in the district court against E. L. Turner, H. J. Whittier and W. P. McFarland asking for a final settlement on a farm paid in which the amount of $18,000 was originally involved.

The defendants, it is alleged, paid Roy S. Hart, the husband, $10,500 for his share of the land but they withheld the remainder pending the outcome of an application to the interior department for a permit for Mrs. Hart to sell her share in the land. Mrs. Hart, it is stated, is an Indian and therefore a ward of the government. It took some time to get the government to grant the permit for the sale of the land and in the meantime the defendants, it is alleged, had taken possession but they refused, it is alleged, to come through with the payment for the land in which Mrs. Hart was interested. The suit therefore is instituted to bring about a final settlement for the land under the terms of the agreement.

The amount asked for in the plaintiff's petition is $7,500.

"Grain" Dust Explosion.

The United States department of agriculture recently gave a very practical demonstration of the danger of grain-dust explosions in improperly operated elevators. A miniature sheet iron building was used for the demonstration. A highest innup was first placed in the tin structure and a tablespoonful of powder, gathered in a grain handling plant, was then blown into the model building. With a pair of bellows. The result was an explosion of considerable force. The authorities point out that cleanliness and installation of efficient ventilating apparatus will reduce the peril of grain-dust explosions.

A Portable Granary Saves Time and Money

The economy of this granary is easily understood when we realize it can be drawn to any point on the farm. When the threshers are in action in the field this granary will save time, and the use of high-priced sacks. It is an inexpensive, convenient and efficient way of handling grain during the harvest season.

EASY TO BUILD

We will furnish free of charge complete drawings and specifications for the kind and amount of lumber to be used in the construction of this portable granary. It can be built in any size best adapted to your purposes. The work of constructing is simple—requiring only a short time and little skill.

CAREFULLY PLANNED

Our knowledge of your needs, combined with our experience in all phases of building, has enabled us to design a portable granary that will give long and satisfactory service. Notice the heavy sides that are built as a part of the entire structure. The interlocking corners provide smooth inside walls and with great strength. No bulging or falling apart in this granary—consequently no loss.

Convenient upper and lower doors. Easily filled, easily emptied, easily ventilated.

CHICAGO, June 22.—Corn under a sharp break in price today largely as a result of opinion that receipts would for some time continue to be in excess of what bulls had looked for. The close was unsettled, 2 1/2-3 1/4 lower with July $1.75 @ 1.78 1/4 and September $1.49 1/4 @ 1.52 1/4. Data last 1-1/2 to 2-1/2 and provisions 5 to 15c.

Right from the outset big commission houses were active on the selling side and in the absence of any great resistance were able to force an almost continuous setback of values. Railroad labor troubles in the East had tended to reduce demand and there was also a somewhat general belief that downward in prices might naturally be expected after an advance of as much as 12c from the lowest figures last week. Liquidation on an extensive scale developed and was only a little offset at the last by profit-taking on the part of speculative shorts.

Longs in oats as well as in corn unloaded with considerable freedom. Weather and crop reports were bearish.

Provisions weakened with grain, notwithstanding higher prices on hogs. Packers were sellers, especially of lard and ribs.

BUTLER APOLOGIZES.

CINCINNATI, June 22.—Col. William Cooper Butler made public today a telegram of apology he received from Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, sent in answer to Butler's demand to know whether or not Mr. Butler had been accurately quoted in a published item in which he was purported to have declared that gamblers and stock market players were General Wood's principal backers in his campaign for the republican presidential nomination.

Dr. Butler's telegram follows: "Answering your telegram June 21, I am convinced that my words spoken under the strain, turmoil and fatigue of the Chicago convention and in sharp revolt against the power of money in politics were both unbecomingly and unwarranted and that I should and do apologize to each and every one who felt hurt by what I said."

Village Within Extinct Volcano.

"Bottom" is the paradoxical name of a little village perched on the peak of a mountain which comprises the island of Saba, in the Caribbean sea. No other spot in the world is quite like Saba; of all the islands of the tropical sea it is the strangest, the most forbidding. Sheer conical, frowning, this island rises from the waves, its topmost pinnacle veiled in drifting clouds 3,000 feet above the sea, its coast rock-bound and precipitous. It is seldom sighted by ships, but those who do pass it would never dream that it was inhabited.

The mountain is an extinct volcano and the town of Bottom rests in its crater. No harbor breaks Saba's coast; there is no safe landing place or anchorage, and if one would visit the town one must step ashore from a small boat and climb a steep stairway of hundreds of stone steps or toil up a narrow, difficult trail. Every article brought to Saba from the outside world must be carried up the heights. The inhabitants are sailors, as they have been since the earliest times, and though they sail the seven seas they always return to their island home.

Thrill in Chile.

The Scots and the French had better look to their laurels as "saving" people. Chile bids fair to rival them. During the last ten years savings institutions have risen considerably in number. In 1910 there existed in the entire country but a dozen independent institutions carrying the accounts of some 200,000 persons; their complete savings amounted to only $4,000,000 in American money. In 1917 deposits rose to 110,000,000 Chilean pesos, which would equal about one-fourth as many American dollars. To this, in the year 1918, were added 50,000,000 more Chilean pesos. The nation has encouraged savings, through stamps and other substantial inducements. Incidentally it is worth noting that lotteries are not permitted in Chile; down there they believe in getting rich slowly and surely.

Sounded Like a Curse.

A splinter of about forty years or a bit more recently had a house to rent. Now her last tenant had three healthy American sons and they had done a great deal of damage to the house, so she had finally declared that she would tolerate no children this time. So when a man responded to her advertisement, she asked him whether he had any children. "Seven," he returned and then went on to tell how good they were.

But the splinter informed him that he would not rent her house to a family in which there were so many children. Angry the man turned away, but returned over his shoulders, "I'll tell you some day you'll have seven children, lady, and can't find a house, either!"

Two-Frank Checker Boards.

Probably the most extraordinary checker board in the world was constructed at St. Leonards, in Sussex (England), in 1801, says the Columbus (O.) Dispatch. It was made of solid blocks of concrete three feet thick and its surface covered an area 25 feet square. The pieces were moved by hand from road-finding, the game of value as physical as well as a mental exercise.

A checker board which was presented to Blenheim at the height of his fame is said to have been the most costly thing of its kind ever made. The squares were made of gold and silver inlaid upon an ebony base. There were 24 "men," 12 of gold and 12 of silver. In the center of each gold piece was a ruby, with each of the silver pieces a diamond. The outfit was valued at about $300,000.

OIL DISTRIBUTOR TO ARRIVE TODAY

Macdonald Will Be Used on Twin Falls Highway; Apparatus Fully Up to Date.

The large oil distributor bought by the Allen oil company for use on the Twin Falls highway district is expected to arrive here today. The Allen company has the contract for all oil to be used by the highway district in their work here.

The distributor will work on something the same order as a sprinkler wagon. The oil will be heated to the temperature required at the company's storehouse and will be kept at that temperature by a heater attached to the distributor. It is also equipped with a pressure spray which will force the hot oil down between the rocks in the foundation of the roads. This device will result in a great saving of labor as it does away with the old method that required that the rock first be broken and then mixed with the hot oil and then spread on the road.

COUNTY AGENT LEADER HERE FOR CONFERENCE

F. L. Williams, county agent leader of Idaho, was here last night for a conference with the local farm bureau agents. The purpose of the meeting was to outline a demonstration program for the part this county will take in the state-wide farm bureau itinerant schedule which takes place the week beginning July 12.

H. E. Powers, county farm bureau agent and A. T. O'Reilly, leader of the Boy and girls' club, have made trips to Piler and Kimberly this week to make arrangements for a grain grading school to be held in those cities the first part of July. The dates are now arranged are Piler on July 2 and Kimberly on the third of the same month.

The demonstration will be directed by H. P. Sheehan, field agronomist of the University of Idaho extension division.

Miss Edna Ludwig, home demonstration agent of the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau was in Piler yesterday conferring with the secretary of the Twin Falls County Fair association relative to the exhibits to be made by her classes at the coming fair.

Second prize was won by South Dakota. The prizes, which are a stand of silk colors for first prize, and a stand of woolen colors for second, will be awarded by Franklin D. O'Leary, national commander at the national convention of the legion in Cleveland next September.

GREAT IN SERVICE

Type of Idealist Worthy of the Highest Praise.

American in the Philippines Was Forwarding the Cause of Civilization, With Krag in Place of Shepherd's Crook.

I first met him in the brush, a thousand yards north of Dagupan, in Pampanga, lying on his belly and watching me through the sights of his Krag. It is indeed strange to discover the student nature of this muscle protruding through the tropical undergrowth, especially at 20 yards range.

"Friend!" I called across to him. "Sure, come on over," he laughed back, and his rifle muzzle slipped across a point or two, covering the trail I had followed over the skyline. "Though it was but a chance meeting, he trusted me as one of his kind, and there was no 'glad-to-meet-you' talk or the reticence of Manila."

His name is no matter; it was Harvard-Boston-Irish of four American generations. But it is vital that his eyes were blue and that he was one of those unassuming American idealists whose success is not gauged in dollars, but in terms of devotion to civilization, to sanitation, to health and to decency. Why, then, was he civilizing with a Krag? I thought of the head-hunters of the northern mountains, now far away, and of native insurrection, now a thing of the past.

"What's the trouble?" I asked when I reached his nest in the undergrowth. "Nothing, just precaution," he answered. Then I heard in the valley below him the rhythmic pounding of boring machinery and saw the top of a timber scaffold for well digging. He explained, as I crouched beside him, that a certain ex-caldale, in a fit of petulance, had thrown a dog into the village well, thereby contaminating the supply. This had happened three weeks up the road and sickness had spread throughout the valley. To dig another well in the near neighborhood seemed inaccessible to the natives. Not that trouble was really expected, but machinery cut cash and gasoline had been passed at the hill trails. His village needed water, and water they would have, pure and cold from the 200-foot level, whether the natives opposed the work temporarily or not. These things he told me, and more, while we sat and brushed away the flies.

This man was no engineer and no sanitary inspector. He was no N. G. O. of the Philippine constabulary. He thumbed the bolt of his rifle and admitted he was a teacher. "I had heard of his type. Indeed, I had come to the Philippines for the sole purpose of making his acquaintance, and to meet him in the equality of the brush was indeed good fortune, for most of his kind the world over are prone to be uncommunicative as the Englishman at the frontiers of empire. Here he was at work at one of the strong contacts of civilization; and of education in the Philippines—the development of water supply.—Paul Monroe in Asia Magazine.

Birds Increase in Numbers.
The beneficial effects of the migratory bird treaty are beginning to be felt. The United States department of agriculture, through its bureau of biological survey, has conducted investigations of the breeding areas of ducks in North Dakota and Nebraska, says a bulletin of the department. Compared with former years, a gratifying increase of breeding waterfowl, particularly in North Dakota, is evident. The fifth annual series of counts of birds of all species breeding or selected areas in various parts of the United States contained a large proportion of reports showing increase in bird population. The total number of reports received, however, was not large. Many of the persons who had formerly taken part in the annual bird counts were unable, because of extra duties assumed during the war, to find time for the work required by the fifth count.

Men Who "Know It All."
Some folks are "canned" because they are too self-satisfied. It's a common thing in life to find folks too big to take orders. They know the name and refuse to take orders. That is confession they belong to the small class and never will be fitted to lead. The good boss is a master of obedience. He commands because he has learned to obey. He's never satisfied. There are always new goals to strive for. He rises because he sees things from a different angle. It's different with the fellow who is self-satisfied. He sees only what he wants to see, and holds his opinion above that of everybody else. You can't do much with him.—Exchange.

War Service Recognized.
Miss Maud Cleveland of Berkeley, Cal., graduate and member of the faculty of the University of California, recently received the D. S. M. at the American Women's club in Paris for conspicuous service while serving as head of the Red Cross home communications department of the A. E. F. Miss Cleveland had charge at Brest of the war brides who married American soldiers.

COMMISSION TAKES FEW DAYS' RECESS

Testimony of Consumers Will Be Taken by Commissioner Sweeney; Committee to Meet.

After hearing technical cost experts in the employ of the Idaho Power company and arguments by counsel for the consumers and the company, the state utility commission yesterday recessed until Saturday when evidence will be taken from consumers by Commissioner E. M. Sweeney in Twin Falls.

The evidence which will be taken Saturday morning will be for the purpose of showing in the commission the condition the proposed rate in rates would leave the consumers in as far as heating this coming winter is concerned.

Attorney John W. Graham announced to the commission that consumers would be unable to remedy their buildings and their homes in time to heat them next winter, and since the proposed rate is admittedly so high that it is prohibitive, the commission decided that it would hear testimony as to the practicability of an immediate change in the schedule. The commission left last evening for Boise with the exception of Captain Sweeney who remains over to take the testimony Saturday morning. This hearing will be at 10 o'clock, when typical cases will be submitted showing the effects of the proposed advance in rates.

Call was made last evening for a meeting of the committee which is handling the contest for the consumers of Twin Falls. This meeting will be held this morning at 10 a. m. in the chamber of commerce room. It is for the purpose of securing a list of typical cases for submission to the commission at the hearing Saturday morning. At that hearing it is expected that the consumers will be largely represented and the commission desires that they express themselves fully in the premises.

LONDON, Derry, June 22.—The city was quiet this afternoon. Of the persons injured Sunday night two are in a serious condition.

PROPAGANDA OF ANARCHY.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 22.—A copy of radical propaganda alleged to have been distributed by the "central revolutionary council of America" to railway and dock workers, which held largely responsible for present strikes in various parts of the country, was read at a luncheon here today of the American Manufacturers' Export association by William F. Morgan, president of the Merchants' association of New York.

The alleged propaganda is being carefully distributed throughout the country, Mr. Morgan said, declaring "there is a strong undercurrent of anarchy in it."

Tourists are greatly pleased with the ample shade of the tourist grove and the free necessities furnished to them.

Two hundred twenty-six cars stopped in the park the first month of its opening and it is fully expected that 500 cars will stop in the Twin Falls park during the month of June.

FAVOR GENERAL STRIKE

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Circulars calling on American workers to refrain from participation in the coming presidential election and instead join in a general strike, came into the hands of the department of justice officials today. Investigation was ordered to determine the origin of the pamphlets which were signed by "the American Anarchist Federated Communist Soviets."
