RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE CONTINUES DELIBERATIONS

Crowd Turns Out to Hear Bryan and Colby Argue on the Wet and Dry Question.

NO REPORT IS MADE; ADJOURNMENT TAKEN

Convention to Reconvene Today at 10 O'clock When Report of Committee Is Expected to Be Made.

By the Associated Press. AUDITORIUM, SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—After a futile night session given over principally to waiting for the wet and dry fight to come off, the democratic national convention found the platform committee unable to report and without prospects of making a report before tomorrow morning. It adjourned at 10:25 o'clock until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

While the convention marked time down in the big hall, tucked away in one corner of the big building the platform committee continued its effort to harmonize its report. After fruitlessly closing up the question of the committee decided to give William J. Bryan another opportunity to present a prohibition plank. Apparently Mr. Bryan made such headway with his arguments that the committee, which everyone thought would make its report with a majority determination to leave the prohibition issue out of the document, found itself unable to report at all.

Permanent Chairman Robinson had a conference with Senator Glass of the resolutions committee and it was finally announced that there was little prospect of the committee being ready to report before tomorrow morning. Amid yells of disappointment from a record-breaking crowd which called for "Bryan, Bryan, Bryan," and "we want to hear Bryan," the convention adjourned until tomorrow. The prospects were said to be that the resolutions committee would work all night.

HAIR WAS PACKED. AUDITORIUM, SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—At 9 o'clock, the hour set for the reassembling of the democratic national convention, the platform committee was not ready to report and the prospects were that the convention would not get under way for some time.

In anticipation of the prohibition fight the convention hall was packed at the appointed hour. The delegates were ready and the last tiers of the galleries up under the eaves of the roof were as full as they could be. The band, the organ and the singers entertained the crowd.

BOTH WET AND DRY PLANKS DEFEATED

Platform Committee Compiles Work and Prohibition Is Not Mentioned in Report.

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—The platform committee of the democratic national convention completed its labors at 12:15 this morning with the decisive defeat of both wet and dry planks. The committee drafts of the platform which will be submitted to the convention today contains no mention of the prohibition enforcement issue.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Shortly after 11 o'clock the platform committee voted 3 to 11 to reject a light wines and beer plank. W. J. Bryan had not talked on his bone dry plank up to that time.

The action narrowed the fight down to two points, whether the platform would contain a provision for rigid enforcement or remain silent on prohibition. A committee member who came from the room at midnight said that up to that time every effort to get a wet or dry plank into the platform had failed. He believed that both wet and dry proponents had about given up hope and that the platform would remain silent on the subject.

The repeated efforts to insert wet or dry planks all were defeated by the same vote, 10 to 12. W. J. Bryan was said to have determined to abandon his efforts to insert a bone dry plank before the committee and to carry his fight before the convention itself.

At Baltimore in 1912, had arranged to defend their champion in case he should be imperiled in the heat of the battle of the wets and dries. They had favorable points about the speakers' stand, and on the floor waiting for the possible developments they hoped would not come.

Many on Outside. Although the big auditorium was packed to the doors and roof, fully 5,000 persons with tickets of admission were on the outside unable to get in. At 8:35 Chairman Robinson wanted to make an announcement but the band and organ prevented it by breaking into "The Sidewalks of New York."

At 8:40 the chairman finally got order and directed that the aisles be cleared.

As usual, the proceedings started with prayer and the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner."

While the convention was waiting for the report of the platform committee, Chairman Glass told inquiries that "there was a possibility that the report might go over until tomorrow morning." The committee then was giving William J. Bryan another opportunity to present a prohibition plank.

FURIOUS FIGHTING OVER PROHIBITION

Platform Committee Having Spent Time in Working Out Which Discussed Wet and Dry Issue.

By the Associated Press. SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—Furious warfare over the prohibition plank began late today in the platform committee of the democratic national convention, with every prospect that it would be carried late to the convention floor, no matter what the committee should decide.

While the convention waited for the committee's work to be completed, wets and dries were locked in a struggle which some members thought it might take hours to terminate.

Leaving the subject until last because it was the most troublesome, the committee had made its decision on the Irish question and the League of Nations and had cleared away all of the lesser controversies delaying its report. But so long as prohibition remained in dispute, committee members agreed that their troubles were far from over.

Fight Over Ireland. Aside from the wet and dry issue, the biggest fight of the day was carried in the Irish plank. Overruling its sub-committee, the committee threw out the administration plank proposing to leave the Irish problem to the League of Nations and adopted instead a declaration of sympathy and a pledge to take whatever diplomatic action would be consonant with international comity.

The platform makers also rejected by a two-to-one vote the plank proposed by organized Irish sympathizers, and backed by a caucus of about 200 convention delegates, for absolute recognition of the Irish republic. At the same time, in an adjoining room, the caucus laid plans for carrying its fight to the convention floor.

But while prospects for floor fights on prohibition and the Irish problem were increasing, all likelihood that the League of Nations would be the subject of open hostilities virtually disappeared. The word was passed around that most of the administration chiefs here were content to let the league plank stand as it was when it emerged from last night's stormy committee meeting.

The reference to reservations, added at the insistence of anti-administration leaders, was not inconsistent with the stand taken by President Wilson, his managers here believed, nor in conflict with the party's record.

Among the other planks completed during the day was that relating to woman suffrage, the committee after a long argument followed the advice of the sub-committee by approving an appeal to democratic officials in Tennessee, North Carolina and Florida for quick action on suffrage.

On the prohibition issue the sub-committee made no recommendation and many members of the committee were for steering the same middle course in the final draft. A dozen or so proposed declarations, ranging from ultra-wet to ultra-dry, were brought into the controversy, however, and the whole scale of wet and dry arguments was rehearsed as the debate progressed.

Bryan for the Dries. William J. Bryan was the scouping champion of the dries. He told the committee bluntly that unless there

GOVERNOR CLEMENT TO HELP SUFFRAGE

Vermont Executive Has Conference With Senator Harding and Delegates to Get Busy.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 1.—Governor Clement of Vermont, after a conference here tonight with Senator Harding, the republican nominee, indicated that he would immediately call the Vermont legislature in special session to act on the federal suffrage amendment.

The Vermont governor, while not stating definitely his course in the suffrage matter, was quoted in a statement from Senator Harding's office as saying that he "frankly confessed there was a preponderance of republican advice in favor of a special session called to consider ratification."

There had been no announcement that the Vermont governor was coming to Washington. Plans had been made, however, to have him take dinner with Senator Harding but the governor's late arrival in the capital thwarted with that plan. The conference between the two was held at Mr. Harding's home.

During the day the republican nominee held a series of conferences with republican leaders. So busily engaged was the senator that he refrained from leaving his office for luncheon, but contented himself with a couple of sandwiches and a bottle of milk.

Statements were issued by both Senator Harding and Governor Clement regarding the conference which took place at the former's home. There was no statement by either as to whether the governor came to Washington at the invitation of the republican candidate.

They Issue Statements. Senator Harding had this to say regarding the conference: "It gave me an opportunity to say to Governor Clement that I was deeply interested in the final disposition of the question of ratification and I told the governor frankly that if my advice were wanted, I would be glad to see Vermont republicans close up the great franchise reform."

The women throughout the nation are deeply interested in the national campaign and the ratification must be closed soon if they are universally to participate in the federal election. I would be gratified, of course, to have republican Vermont close the gap, but Governor Clement understands I was not trespassing on his authority in giving him such an opinion in the course of our conference."

Governor Clement in his statement said: "I have been crilling on Senator Harding, and we discussed the state of the union generally, you can be sure, and we discussed suffrage ratification by Vermont. Our state republican convention asked me to call the extra session."

Chairman Hays has urged it on behalf of the national convention. Naturally I wanted Senator Harding's views and he suggested an early call. My reluctance is due to feeling that Vermont prefers to change the fundamental laws very deliberately. We can only change our state constitution by one direct appeal to the people and by federal action of two legislatures. We are reluctant, therefore, to ratify by a legislature which was elected at a time when suffrage was not an issue."

TWIN FALLS TRACT ASSURED OF WATER

Natural Flow Released From Jackson Lake; Some Time Yet Before Storage Water Needed.

The natural flow of Snake river was released at Jackson lake on the afternoon of June 27. This is the information contained in a statement of conditions at the lake issued by the United States reclamation service upon information from Moran, Wyo.

This means that the storage waters are not to be drawn upon for some time at least, and since there is now in storage in the great reservoir 698,350 acre-feet as compared with 290,810 on the same day a year ago, assurances for plenty of water are had. It thus becomes evident that the grain will all be out of the way before the storage waters are drawn upon, and that the full storage supply will be available for the last two cuttings of hay and such other crops as are grown outside of grain. In other words, the flood waters of Snake river have taken care of the grain crop and the first cutting of alfalfa, if indeed the second cutting of hay will not be watered from this source. It has been a long time since the tract faced so bright and promising a condition. Crops on the tract never looked better.

COMMITTEE IS TO HAVE JURISDICTION

Nine Railway Executive Are to Handle Emergency Transportation Problems.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 1.—An advisory committee of 9 railway executives was authorized to deal with transportation emergencies through co-operative action on the part of all the railroads at a meeting here today of the Association of Railway Executives.

This committee will co-operate, it was announced, with the interstate commerce commission, and will advise concerning matters brought to its attention "from any proper source."

Subordinate to this committee there will be local committees of executives at leading railroad centers. This action was taken, it was stated, after discussion of a special committee's report, which concluded that "in order to preserve private ownership it is incumbent upon the individuals and communities by voluntary action and co-operation to establish an agency authorized to deal promptly and effectively with such emergencies as contemplated in section 402 of the transportation act."

MANY CONFERENCES ARE HELD BY THE LEADERS

Trades Are Suggested but None of the Candidates as Yet Feels Like Giving Up the Political Ghost.

By the Associated Press. HUNTINGTON, N. Y., July 1.—W. G. McAdoo retired at 9 o'clock tonight without having broken his silence as to whether he will accept the nomination for president on the democratic ticket should the delegates name him. Newspapermen journeyed to the McAdoo home tonight to find the house in darkness. They learned from the watchman that Mr. McAdoo had gone to bed and had left no message for them.

FIGHT ON M'ADOO.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 1.—The attempt at a combination against the nomination of William G. McAdoo still was being carried on when the democratic convention went into tonight's session but it remained without any definite results. Lack of headway was ascribed to the absence of central control and to the feeling among many of those importuned to join the more really was directed against President Wilson rather than wholly a movement against McAdoo. That feeling, its managers agreed, was its weakness.

Another real difficulty was that many of the supporters of candidates having enthusiastic followings, chiefly Palmer and Cox, argued that they should not be asked to desert their candidates until it had been developed whether they could gain strength. In those camps were scattering delegates who professed McAdoo to any dark horse. The promoters of the attempted combination against McAdoo were proceeding deliberately and one after another they continued to bring forward such names as former Speaker Clark, Vice President Marshall, Bainbridge Colby, Homer Cummings and even William J. Bryan.

Clearly and admittedly there was no name about which they could rally. The Cox and Palmer leaders laughed at the idea of "sweeping off" at so early a stage and asserted it had not, as demonstrated that Mr. McAdoo commanded a place in the running to cause them to fear him—it was with them plainly a case of waiting to be shown.

N. E. A. Uses Planes to Beat Mails With FIRST PICTURE of Democratic National Convention

Long in advance of the convention, Newspaper Enterprise Association has arranged to have the fastest planes in the West, its service, on the ground. At noon of June 28, the opening hour of the Democratic convocation, three planes were waiting at the Marina field, propellers whirling, ready to carry the picture East, North and South out of San Francisco to make the quickest possible connection with mail trains hundreds of miles away.

The photo shows the vast concourse of 15,000 delegates and spectators in the new $1,000,000 San Francisco Auditorium immediately after the opening prayer of H. Dav. P. L. Ryan, J. Bruce Kresner, assistant national chairman, is seen in the speaker's rostrum opening the convention, the press in the foreground, and the various state delegations on the ground floor. Directly above Kresner is seen the giant amplifier which carried the speaker's voice to every corner of the hall.

Within a few minutes after the photo had been taken, the first shot had been delivered by a mail train, the first of the service.

Spug Meyers of Pocatello and Jack Coster of New York, 122 pound bantam weights, will be the next four-round offering. Spug Meyers has won favor with Pocatello fans for his aggressiveness and Coster is considered a good match for him.

Darrell Jardine and Frankie Regan, Idaho Falls lightweights, each of whom has large followings in the intermountain west, will then step into the ring for six rounds.

In the semi-windup, Bledie Kelly of Butte and Abbie Mashkard of Salt Lake, will be an aboriginal attraction in an eight round go. Kelly and Mash-kind each have big followings in their territory and considerable money already has been bet on this event.

Every effort will be made by the fight management to start the main go promptly at 2 o'clock. If the big bout goes the full 15 rounds, the fight card will be ended at 3 p. m. Just as soon as the fight is ended, the stadium and platforms made in training and both will step into the

ISSUES RESTRAINING ORDER.

A restraining order has been issued by the district court against the city of Twin Falls in behalf of the Elva Park Water company.

RAISED TIME SLIP; IS SENT TO JAIL

Young Man Engaged in 'Get Rich Quick' Adventure With Sad Results to Him.

Lyman Perkins was given a sentence of 30 days in the county jail for changing a time slip that had been given him by the foreman to hand to the timekeeper.

He was in the employ of the W. G. Reed Construction company. His slip called for nine days work but he put a figure 2 before the 9 and made it 29 days, which was quite a different proposition.

The youth is but 17 years of age and it is hoped by the authorities that he will learn a lesson and not try to carry out any more stunts of this sort. It is an offense that ranks with forgery to raise pay checks and time slips and no young man can afford to indulge in the dangerous practice.

A STATE AWAKE

South Carolina is now undertaking a constructive program of state development which is indicative of live, progressive citizenship. A fund of $250,000 is to be raised by the Development Board of the state, for the purpose of co-ordinating and advancing agricultural work and use of the state's resources.

The fund is to cover a three-year period. Every county in the state is represented on the organizing committee. Capable leaders in industry, commerce and agriculture, as well as in sheep, goat, citizenship, are mapping out the work to be done.

The first step is to organize the already existing sentiment in favor of using the state's resources. Then special commission will put work along such lines as the study and improvement of marketing problems, livestock and live-stock credits, legislation, community life, assessment and age projects, inter-racial relations, taxation, education, sanitation, drainage, roads, industrial research and development of natural resources. If state-wide interest is aroused and the backing of every intelligent citizen is won, South Carolina should make a new name and place for itself in the nation's history.

GOVERNMENTAL SLOWNESS

The recent attitude of the railroad labor organizations toward the government has been such as to suggest that they may be losing their enthusiasm for government ownership.

So discontented are the rank and file of railroad employees at the delay in obtaining their desired wage increases that their officers have found it almost impossible to keep them from striking to enforce their demands. The example set by the striking switchmen might have been followed by the whole switchmen's union, and even by the other railroad groups. If the Railway Labor Board, under pressure, had not eased the situation by announcing the date of its forthcoming decision, and allowing it to become known approximately what increases were to be expected.

Now, the procrastination of the "government" which is to say, of all the governmental agencies, executive and legislative, involved in this railroad wage problem, may have been unnecessary and takeable. But that is a common failing of government. It is the nature of government to procrastinate. It is to be ponderous and slow. Therefore, if the railroads were to pass entirely into the hands of the government, as the railroad brotherhoods have advocated, it seems to follow that the railroad employees, in all their dealings with their new employer, would probably experience this same deliberate and expediting procedure.

Even the swinging of a big clock might not always avail to hurry governmental processes. Private employers, though possibly less amenable in the long run to the demands of an army of employees, may be expected ordinarily to act more quickly and effectively when an emergency arises.

Some notion of these truths seems to be permeating through the railroad labor ranks, and combating their government-ownership and a little.

GOOD BEEF AND POOL

Wonder is frequently expressed of the varying prices charged by different markets in the same town for the same cuts of beef. A single market will sell certain steak at 50 cents a pound, while two blocks away the dealer charges only 20 cents. The natural inference is that the one dealer is doing a little profiteering, but the chances are that the two men are selling different grades of beef. There are four grades recognized by meat-men: Choice, good, medium and common.

Choice or good-grade beef is light to medium-red in color, and fine in texture. The lean is well marbled or streaked with fat and is heavy in proportion to the amount of bone. The outside fat is thick, creamy white in color, solid and evenly distributed.

As the grade grows poorer the meat will be darker in color, coarser in texture, flabbier instead of solid, scantily streaked with fat or not at all. The proportion of bone to meat will be heavy, and the outside covering of fat will be scanty, unevenly distributed and yellowish.

Tests made by the bureau of markets have shown that there is less shrinkage in cooking the better grades than the poorer. There is less waste of every sort, and the meat is more tender and nourishing.

With all these differences in quality and price, it behooves the marketeer to know good beef when she sees it. Then she will be able to tell whether the lower price really indicates a bargain sale of steaks and chops, and whether, when she pays the top-notch figure she is getting what she pays for.

WAR ASSETS

Whether a "favorable trade balance" is really as favorable as we used to think has been questioned a good deal lately. There is no doubt though, as to the main fact, that the present balance and little doubt as to its ultimate benefits.

During the war and since, this country has piled up such a balance of $17,000,000,000. This means simply that the rest of the world, mostly Europe, has gone in debt to us to that extent. It is incomparably the biggest trade balance ever run up for or against any nation.

About $10,000,000,000 of this "war asset" represents war loans to the Allies. None of those loans were made in money; they were merely credits—we sold the Allies war materials and commodities and took their notes for the stuff. Thus the whole $17,000,000,000,000 represents merchandise sold by Americans abroad, in excess of merchandise imported.

About $5,000,000,000 of this asset has been wiped out, $4,000,000,000 of it in the form of American securities formerly owned abroad and used in payment for our goods and $1,000,000,000 in gold shipments to this country. Thus Europe still owes us about $12,000,000,000.

That fact, of course, is responsible for much of our high prices and inflated credit, but let it not be forgotten that it is a valid debt, an asset which can be paid over against our war liabilities. Practically all of it is sure to be repaid some time, in some form or other—rapidly if international cooperation and reconstruction proceed well, and slowly if they lag. There seems little reason to doubt, too, that the interest will be paid, unless the United States in some moment of national and impulsive generosity should decide to make the allies its gift of the interest.

Here, then, is an asset which, along with our government-owned ships and minor items that can be liquidated, makes a volume of resources equal to about half our war debt. We are not so badly off, after all, precisely we do our part in promoting Europe's ability to pay what it owes us.

COMBINATION TO

McAdoo, Palmer and Cox kept up contented that a few ballads would their informal conferences. Many show the impossibility of nominating either Palmer or Cox and the bitter administration opponents warned that delay in effecting a program might bring them to issue at a time too late to defeat McAdoo. Delegates without pronounced convictions encouraged these leaders by demanding to know why it was that a combination was necessary. In many instances this forced the admission that the principal argument why they thought Mr. McAdoo should not be nominated was that he was the son-in-law of the president. This admission clearly was in control of the convention and this explanation was impossible in many quarters.

All factions have been emphasizing the late delegates to determine the best strength for each of the leading candidates. The returns do not agree, the nearest to an impartial estimate obtainable showed that on the first ballot the strength of Palmer would be about 25, with McAdoo following with 24 and Cox in third place with 20. This left 41 delegates scattered among the other 11 candidates.

IRISH PARLIAMENT IN SECRET SESSION

Decrees Reported Passed Establishing Courts of Equity and Court of Criminal Jurisdiction.

DUBLIN, July 1.—It became known today that the Irish parliament was in secret session here Tuesday night. Wednesday and that decrees were passed authorizing establishment of courts of justice and equity and courts of criminal jurisdiction. A national land commission was appointed. Another decree provides for protection of persons occupying land against vexatious claims.

It was announced that the million dollar international loan had been over subscribed by $250,000.

This success was said to emanate from the National Assembly of the Irish Republic.

The Daily Freeman, assembled in full session at Dublin today, unanimously confirms the allegations of the citizens of Ireland to your policy; expresses complete satisfaction with the work you have performed and relies with confidence upon the great American nation to accord recognition to the republic of Ireland, now in fact and law established.

Manners

Manners and manners, which give color to life, are of much greater importance than laws, which are but their manifestations. The law touches us here and there, but manners are about us everywhere, pervading society like the air we breathe. Good manners, as we call them, are neither more nor less than good behavior; consisting of courtesy and kindness, benevolence, being the preponderant element in all kinds of mutually beneficial and pleasant intercourse among human beings. "Civility," said Lady Montagu, "costs nothing and buys everything." The cheapest of all things is kindness, its exercise requiring the least possible trouble and self-sacrifice. "Win hearts," said Burleigh to Queen Elizabeth, "and you have all men's hearts and purses." If we would only let nature get kind, free from affectation and artifice, the results on social good, human and happiness would be incalculable.

Dangerous Method.

There are many people who borrow money and fail to pay it back. It isn't that they don't want to pay it back, but they simply forget. A man in an office of a large newspaper borrowed a quarter from another man in the same room, and failed to pay it back after a reasonable length of time. But the man who loaned the money wasn't to be done out of the quarter. He called up the forgetful borrower and handed him a half dollar. Naturally the borrower said: "What is this for?"

"Oh," answered the money lender, "that will make 75 cents and you owe me 25 cents. He got the quarter the next day, but kept the dollar he had needed the extra half dollar."

Earliest Coinage.

Coinage originated in Asia Minor, and as early as the time of Seven Wise Men coins were in common use, according to Margo Mille Parik, in the National Geographic Magazine. The first coins were made of electrum, which is a mixture of gold and silver.

convention called "platform," "platform," and "Bryan," "Bryan." The selections were ratified, nevertheless.

Senator Robinson then told the convention he had found the committee still in session with prospects of continuing for a considerable time. He said the chair was assured the committee would be ready to report early in the morning. There were yells of disappointment. And in response to calls for Bryan, Chairman Robinson said the Nebraska was unable to be present because he was busy with the platform committee. Then on a motion to adjourn until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning the convention broke up for the night.

"The Rider of the Law"

A Six-Part Western—Featuring
HARRY CAREY

HE feared no gun nor no man's wrath. He played fair and square, his hand hitting: high speed westerner. Yet in spite of his square dealing, his own brother tried to "frame him" with a crime. With all the evidence against him he turned the tide. How did he do it?

HERE'S a real galloper! The story of a U. S. Ranger, reformed from an outlaw life whom Fate forces to arrest his former associates, only to find that their leader is his own brother, and that brother, the man between his sweetheart and himself. Troubles? You bet! And action? I'll say so! Yet genial Harry Carey, somehow plucks through—you'll be tickled to death to watch him do it.

THE strange coincidence that the hero, as an officer of the law, is called upon to arrest his half-brother and his most intimate friend for gold-stealing. Remarkable, stereoscopic photography.

Delightful bits of humor, particularly in a scene showing a western barn dance. The capable direction of Jack Ford.

BENSON DETERMINED TO HELP AMERICA

Tells Foreign Interests Not to Interfere With Yankee Merchant Marine Program.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 1.—Warning foreign interests not to attempt to interfere with development of the American merchant marine, Chairman Benson of the shipping board, declared today that the board was determined to build up an American merchant marine as contemplated by the Jones shipping act, despite threats and propaganda to defeat the law.

"The United States," said Admiral Benson, "is in earnest in its efforts to place within the ownership of United States citizens the control of at least a part of its traffic in imports and exports. If it should by any possible means be held that the departments of the government lack such authority as will insure their being able to protect American interests in such control, additional authority will undoubtedly be granted by congress."

"Foreign carriers and those in the United States interested more in the foreign than American institutions will do well to 'let sleeping dogs lie.'"

Talks to Trade Bodies.

Admiral Benson's warning was repeated in a talk to representatives of Pacific coast chambers of commerce and trade bodies and American railway representatives which have been disturbed by threats to divert trade to points on the Pacific coast because of the section of the merchant marine act permitting a preferential rate over foreign carriers within the United States on merchandise moving in export and import in American vessels.

Such a threat, the chairman said, "is futile and idle."

"If such a threat is sincere and the attempt is made to so divert the business," Admiral Benson continued, "the shipping board will allocate American ships to meet the business. The shipping board and the interstate commerce commission will follow this action by other steps which would further protect the interests of the United States against such foreign efforts to defeat the purpose of the merchant marine act."

"Nothing could more surely bring about enforcement of this section of the law than adoption by foreign carriers of this threat to divert business from American ports."

Admiral Benson said that in the trans-Pacific trade at this time there seemed to have been specific and successful efforts to prevent American vessels from securing return cargoes at certain points while ships of other nations have come with full loads. Application of the section of the merchant marine act prescribing preferential rates might be invoked, he said, to require equal equalization in cargoes from such discriminating ports for United States vessels.

CUYLER MAKES RECOMMENDATIONS

Suggests Ways for Distributing $300,000,000 Revolving Fund for Railroads of Country.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—Detailed recommendations for the distribution of the sum set aside out of the $300,000,000 revolving fund provided by the transportation act for the purchase of new equipment and for additions and betterments were made to the interstate commerce commission today by Thomas Dewitt Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives.

The report proposes the distribution among the roads of $86,000,000 to be used in rebuilding and repairing 12,616 cars and locomotives and in the purchase of 898 new locomotives and 45,000 freight cars, and $25,000,000 for additions and betterments to promote the development of cars.

Twenty-five roads would receive the total fund for additions and betterments.

Twenty-five roads would receive $26,653,629 for the acquisition of locomotives, 19 roads would receive $62,260,337 for the purchase of freight cars and 9 roads would receive $7,026,000 for the purpose of additions and betterments to existing equipment which would restore to efficient service 12,616 cars and locomotives.

The committee also recommended reserves from the fund for smaller roads not members of the association.

Southern Pacific would receive out of the fund for the purchase of new locomotives $1,168,000.

Of the fund for the purchase of freight cars, the Southern Pacific would receive $6,231,000 and Western Pacific $1,929,000.

It is stated that the commission is prepared to act upon the recommendations.

BROKERS ARE INDICTED

NEW YORK, July 1.—The federal grand jury which last week indicted 14 congressmen and 50 individuals in connection with a "patron-wild roundup" of alleged fraudulent oil promoters, today indicted Wm. Reynolds & Co., New York brokers, on charges of using the mails to defraud investors in the stock of the Polson Farm Oil company of Delaware.

The indictment names the brokerage firm, its officers and salesmen.

The indictment charges that the defendants falsely represented that the company was firmly established as a producer, assured of earnings available for payment of dividend. They also were alleged to have paid "dividends" of one per cent a month on stock holdings.

Grain

CHICAGO, July 1.—Predictions of reduced receipts after this week ruled corn today. The close was advanced 1-8c net lower to 1c advance, with September $1.49 3-4 to $1.69 7-8 and December $1.59 7-8 to $1.67.

Oats finished 1-4 off to 1-4 up and provisions unchanged to 40c down.

The temporary advantage which bears in corn enjoyed during the earlier trading was due chiefly to a correct forecast of improvement in crop conditions.

Oats were governed mainly by the action of corn.

Lower quotations on hogs tended to weaken provisions.
