LEAGUE OF NATIONS UNPOPULAR SUBJECT

Maddaux Criticizes President Wilson and Gets Applause From Delegates; Sees War Nightmare in League.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Amalgamation of the labor party and committee of 48 in a new party movement was threatened with failure tonight when the labor group adopted an ultimatum giving until 10 a. m. Tuesday for the "forty-eighters" to show a disposition to compromise.

The ultimatum was proposed by Max S. Hayes, national chairman of the labor party.

The convention decided to proceed tomorrow to adopt a platform and nominate candidates if amalgamation fails.

The ultimatum carried after an hour's debate in which the forty-eight leaders were criticized as "philistine philanthropists" trying to use the labor party as a cat's paw.

Labor delegates proposed that, if a compromise could be reached, the two parties hold a joint session Tuesday night to adopt a platform and nominate candidates.

Delegates were skeptical that the get-together movement would succeed, but efforts of the more radical to force amalgamation were discouraged by the more conservative.

During the argument, Dudley Field Malone, former democratic leader and collector of the part of New York, arrived as a representative of the committee of 48.

Malone, who is also a member of the labor party, attempted to placate the delegates, grown restive over the prospect that the convention might last into Thursday or longer. He declared there were no unsurmountable difficulties in the way of amalgamation.

The convention adjourned to 9:30 tomorrow morning after adopting the ultimatum.

WORK ON FUSION.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Representatives of five political and semi-political organizations marshaled today in formal fashion under the sheltering wings of the committee of 48 attempt to create a new fusion party, but the labor party, conceded the most important group, was still outside of the fusion arrangements at night. Statements from the conference room indicated the fusion was high, and that the committee of 48 representatives objected to the term "democratic operation" as applied to government ownership of railroads for which both sides there were no difference of opinion.

The name for the new party, labor men demanding the inclusion of the definite word "labor."

Meanwhile the labor party and the convention of the committee of 48 continued to prepare. Each member of the labor party platform committee was armed with three platform drafts, each containing an Irish freedom plank, to which the committee of 48 delegates were said to object. The 48 committee listened to oratory with no action until just before the close, representatives of the American constitutional party, the American party of Texas, which has not previously participated in the activities, single out the World War Veterans' association and Rank and File Veterans' organization, marched into the hall.

MENTION LEAGUE OF NATIONS.

CHICAGO, July 12.—The League of Nations was mentioned before the committee of 48 delegates for the first time when it was introduced to-night. Oscar Maddaux, introduced to

NO STATE HOPELESS AS THE CONCLUSION

Cox and Roosevelt Go Over Ground and Fight Fighting Chance in Each State.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 12.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic nominee for vice president, announced today following a conference with Governor Cox, presidential candidate, that both had decided they would consider no state as being hopeless and that they would carry the fight into every state during the campaign.

This was the first definite announcement from the heads of the ticket since their nomination.

Mr. Roosevelt also reiterated Governor Cox's intention that the campaign will be carried into the West at an early date. He said he expected to take the stump after his notification. The notification, he said, he hoped would be at his home at Hyde Park, New York. He also stated that he expected to resign as assistant secretary of the navy about Aug. 1 or after the return of Secretary Daniels from Alaska. His desire to begin preparation of his notification speech, he said, would hasten his resignation.

He will go to Eastport, Me., where his family is, to prepare the speech. He said he considered the League of Nations a dominant issue of the campaign, and that he expected to make his campaign chiefly on that issue.

He hopes to be there.

Mr. Roosevelt stated that he hopes to be in Dayton July 30, when the democratic national committee meets and also that he hopes to see the president soon.

OPERATORS FAIL TO WORK OUT PLAN

No Action Taken Regarding Shipment of Coal to Northwestern Points; Car Supply Is Problem.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Bituminous coal operators today failed to work out a plan to bring about immediate shipment of next winter's coal to the northwest, although agreeing that the problem of obtaining the dumping of 4,000 carloads daily until November at Great lakes ports for movement to that territory hinged on car supply.

There was the indication that any concrete plan would be worked out for the joint conference of the operators and railroad executives at New York Wednesday. The operators, however, will continue tomorrow. The committee selected to represent

REFUSE ABUTIONS.

BOSTON, July 12.—The White Star liner Celtic has been held at quarantine since Friday, because the crew refused to be washed. The detention involves 1,543 steerage passengers and is costing the company about $20,000 a day. First class passengers were allowed to land without bathing.

The trouble arose out of the fact that port authorities at Naples, recently refused to allow American health officials to examine emigrants. As a result, no clean bill of health could be given the Celtic here, and it was ordered that the crew and steerage passengers be washed off their feet. Passengers submitted but the crew refused, and health officials insist the ship shall not judge until all are washed.

MEREDITH EXPLAINS FUND CURTAILMENT

Secretary Addresses Large Crowd; Reduction of Appropriations Hampers Progress.

The effects of the action of congress in reducing the appropriations for the department of agriculture were outlined by Secretary of Agriculture Meredith last night at a meeting held in the city park.

The cabinet member was in Twin Falls county looking after the interests of the west end and motored to Twin Falls upon invitation of the Chamber of Commerce for the meeting. He was greeted by a large crowd of people eager to hear him. His talk was distinctly to the liking of those gathered, the reception amounting to an ovation.

Twin Falls county claims close relationship with this member of the Wilson cabinet. He has long been identified with the development of the county, and his name has been linked with the more recent efforts for the reclamation of the big Bruna project. By it is that he had been obliged to throw in his lot with these Sinn Féin leaders to save their persons and property.

Mr. Meredith stopped in Twin Falls county en route east from San Francisco, where he attended the democratic national convention, to which his name had been presented as a presidential candidate.

CARSON CLAIMS BRITISH ARE WEAK

Says Government Has Yielded to Control Ireland; Ulster May Take Charge of the Fight.

By the Associated Press.

BELFAST, July 12.—(Celebration of Orangemen's day had as its feature the customary parade, and in addition, a notable speech by Sir Edward Carson, Ulster unionist leader, whose pronouncement on the Irish situation was looked forward to eagerly.

Sir Edward, as usual, came up to expectations. He minced no words and the enthusiasm reached a climax when he declared in effect that the government had failed to govern Ireland and that if it could not govern Ulster the volunteers would recognize and Ulster would take matters in its own hands.

Every hamlet, village and town in Ulster had a celebration and reports tonight are that all passed quietly even in Londonderry where the two factions are represented as ready to renew the fighting, should military forces relax.

Selfless Guarded.

Belfast was heavily guarded by soldiers, but the only troops allowed out of barracks were those on duty.

Those people in England who hoped that a conciliatory note might be struck in the celebration will be disappointed. There was nothing conciliatory about it, from the inscription on the banners across the streets denouncing the Sinn Féin, to Sir Edward's declaration that the people of the north would of their own volition have to hang those guilty of political murders before Ulster would even consider union, which the sponsors of the home rule bill have said they hoped for.

Unique Parade.

The parade, which is estimated numbered 25,000, was unique in the variety of music and its banners. There was a band to every half block. The banners were gorgeous liken of fair on which were painted scenes depicting Ulster's history.

Rain and wind threatened to destroy these banners, but the return march from Flinagh park, where the ceremony was held, was made in beautiful weather.

Rev. George Timmon, supreme head of the orange order in the United States, who is here with a few other Americans for the triennial session of the grand and orange council of the world, speaking at the park said: "It is said that 3,000,000 Irish are going to shake the British empire. Well, we have 10,000,000 Irish in America and they are not going to shake the American republic."

Dismissing conditions in Ireland, he said:

"I read daily of the whole government in some places being taken over by the Sinn Féin. I read of county councils meeting in defiance to the Irish republic. I want to ask what the government is doing with the county councils. My opinion is that such councils ought to be dissolved. I read daily of the Sinn Féin police taking part in the government of various towns."

"If the British government is unable to deal with these matters, it ought to ask somebody else. It is an ignominious thing for loyal subjects to be compelled to admit the authority of those professing to act in the name of the so-called Irish republic. Yet, to my knowledge there are men in South and West Ireland who, certainly at least, have been obliged to throw in their lot with these Sinn Féin leaders to save their persons and property."

HARDING HAS MEETING WITH THE LEADERS

Republican Candidate Discusses All Sorts of Issues With Progressives.

RAYMOND ROBINS IS AN IMPORTANT CALLER

Prominent Bull Moose Leader Talks With Candidate and Comes Away Pleased With What He Heard.

By the Associated Press.

MAHON, Ohio, July 12.—Senator Harding today conferred with republican and progressive leaders and agricultural experts with whom he discussed labor, transportation, economic and social problems. He also replied to the announcement of Governor Cox, the democratic nominee, that if elected, a "real dirt farmer" would be appointed secretary of agriculture.

The senator said if the republican policy of "practical usefulness" under which his department was created had been carried forward by the present administration, "half" of our problems of high cost of living would have been solved in advance."

The principal conference was with Raymond Robins, of Chicago, and W. F. Brown of Toledo, Ohio, prominent as progressive in the 1912 campaign, with whom he discussed labor and economic problems especially. Later Mr. Robins announced that the conference had been "very satisfactory."

Matters involving the part the progressives would take, he said, were also discussed.

Substantial Agreement.

On the fundamental surrounding the general economic situation, Mr. Robins said, he and the senator were in "substantial agreement."

Mr. Robins said he had communicated with several labor leaders to learn their views on a republican ticket, but most of them wished to read the senator's speech of acceptance before committing themselves, although some had already done so.

Mr. Robins, however, he would support the republican ticket, but most of them wished to read the senator's speech of acceptance before committing themselves, although some had already done so.

While this was understood to have been the first extended conference at which the senator had discussed the labor situation at length, it was understood to be only one of a series of conferences which he expected. Senator Harding is understood to be in close touch with labor leaders recognized as being of the more conservative stripe and he is expected to seek their views before discussing the labor problem in his speech.

Senator Harding when told Governor Clement of Vermont had declined to call a special session of the legislature to consider woman suffrage, refused comment except say "I had hoped that he would."

In his statement on a secretary of agriculture, Senator Harding said he was gratified to know of the acknowledgment of "at least one mistake" of the democratic administration.

Had a Real Farmer.

"I note," he added, "that the democratic candidate announces, as one of his first reforms he has in mind, to appoint a 'real dirt farmer' as secretary of agriculture. That is a reform the republican party does not need to adopt. For 18 years we had a real farmer from a real farm as secretary of agriculture, Charles J. Wilson of Iowa, who made a most efficient the greatest of its sort. He ran it for the farmers."

"When the democrats came into power they brought a university professor as secretary and later a publisher. The democratic party certainly needs to be reformed in this regard. The republican party certainly does not."

"It is gratifying to see the republican party taking such a real interest in the welfare of the farmer."

"The democratic party has been so long in power that it has become a habit for them to appoint a 'real dirt farmer' as secretary of agriculture. That is a reform the republican party does not need to adopt. For 18 years we had a real farmer from a real farm as secretary of agriculture, Charles J. Wilson of Iowa, who made a most efficient the greatest of its sort. He ran it for the farmers."

NEW YORK, July 12.—Leaving of Madison Square Garden for 10 years was announced tonight by Tex Rickard, boxing contest promoter. The new Jones stated he would enter into control of the garden Aug. 1, and was planning to devote his entire time to it. Rickard stated he would stage bouts between prominent pugilists under the new New York boxing law. Those contests, however, are to form but a portion of the exhibition and amusement program which Rickard is planning. Standing shows, which have been held annually at the garden for some years will be part of the season's attractions in addition to new forms of athletic contests.

New York.—A captive bear has the right to claw any one who comes within its range, under a ruling of the appellate division of the New York supreme court. The court denied Blanche Gutz, thirteen years old, damages sought by a suit against the New York Zoological society, which controls the Bronx zoo. It held she took her chances in pursuing a rolling ball too close to the bear's cage and that the resultant clawing could not be held against the zoo management.

PREFERS BURGLARY TO BISHOP

Preacher Would Rather Have Healthy Thief as Father Than Sickly Prey.

Sharon, Pa.—"If I were compelled to make a choice between a healthy burglar and a sickly bishop as my father I would take the burglar," asserted Rev. H. E. Phillips, pastor of the Oakland Avenue M. E. church, addressing 350 Sharon young people on the subject. "If I were a bishop, again," Rev. Mr. Phillips told his hearers that if he were a boy again that he would devote a portion of each day to exercise and he would participate in athletic sports of various kinds with a view to building up his health. "Happiness depends in a large extent upon health, and if I were a boy again I would seek to be a magnificent specimen of manhood," he declared.

ADD VARIETY TO DAILY FARE

Marines Prefer Alligator Steak to Broiled Lizard for a Steady Diet.

Manacum, Nicaragua.—Perhaps alligator steaks would never appeal to the fastidious officers in America's restaurants, but United States marines attached to the American Legion guard here, say they are the best thing for adding piquancy to the daily fare.

Another variety in the bill of fare is broiled lizard. The iguana, or giant lizard, has been used for food by the natives for many years. The natives say that iguanas make the best food, but they prefer alligator for a steady diet.

Man Fell Into Bear Pit; Arm and Leg Torn Away

August Kabler, a medical student at Berne, Switzerland, was terribly maimed by bears living in whose pit at the zoological gardens he had fallen while he was throwing carrots to them. He was taken to the hospital in a serious condition, his left leg and left arm being entirely torn away.

Let the Defense Hang Itself.
Nashville, Ind.—Mrs. Rosa Davis, administrator, suing the Central Indiana Railway company for the death of her husband, Charles R. Davis, didn't have any witnesses, but on the evidence of the railroad's witnesses she was awarded a verdict of $5,000. All testimony for Mrs. Davis was brought out on cross-examination.

New Experience for Somebody.
Franklin, O.—If some queer tasting whiskey gets on the local market people will know where it comes from. When someone offered a farm three miles from here they found part of a still, consisting of rags and mesh. They couldn't find anybody to arrest, but they put kerosene and soap on the rags and in the mesh, and if any of it is used it will develop a new kind of "kick."

TELL SHIPS OF OCEAN NOISES

Secret Ears to Be Placed on Merchant Ships by the Government.

TEST PROVES IT A SUCCESS

Hydrophone, Government Controlled Invention, Can Explain Many Sea Mysteries—Tried Out on Destroyer.

New York.—In olden times when Chinese shipbuilders designed and constructed their "tear-rigged" craft for war or commercial purposes, prominent and oftentimes ferocious "eyes" were located on either side of the bow.

Today modern America, now the leading nation in ship construction, is proposing to equip her merchant vessels with "ears," the location of which, like the eyes on the Chinese junk, are on the ship's bows, but under instead of over the water. While superstition induced the Chinaman to equip his ship so it could "see" its enemies and sail its way into a safe port through shoal waters, hidden rocks and through crowded waterways, science has designed the "ears" for the same purpose.

Test Is Made.
With the destroyer Breckenridge equipped as a demonstration ship, 40 or more representatives of leading steamship lines have just had an opportunity to see and test the efficiency of the listening device. It is now a government-controlled invention, used on fighting ships during the war as a protection against submarines and officially designated by the navy as the "M. V. type, hydrophone." Its object is to disclose in surrounding waters, the presence of other craft, to forestall the approach to shoal waters, apprise the navigator of the vicinity of light ships equipped with submarine bell signaling devices. It is expected also to disclose with a remarkable degree of accuracy the depth of water where in the ship so equipped is floating.

Tells Depth of Water.
The apparatus includes 48 hydrophone receivers located in a tank of water in the bow of the vessel so that an equal number is on either side. In the test the sound of the propellers of

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur. Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage tea, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen your hair through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Adv.

A steamer five miles distant was heard. The depth of the water is ascertained by listening to the noise made by the propellers of the vessel carrying the hydrophone as it is echoed back from the bottom of the sea. Its depth beyond 100 fathoms, however, the hydrophone refuses to record. It was estimated that an infinity of collisions occur near a coast line and at congested harbor entrances, the inventors and officers of the navy predict that its adoption will remove many of the hazards of navigation now caused by fog.

Dr. J. C. Hayes, formerly of Swarthmore college, said the device had been installed on one transport, Von Steuben, and on one occasion probably saved the ship from running aground on the Long Island shore during a heavy fog. Doctor Hayes also claims that the invention will enable a mariner to locate icebergs, through the reflecting back to the operator from the submerged portion of a dangerous berg the sound of the operating ship's own propellers.

GENERAL WOOD ISSUES STATEMENT

Toledo, G. O. P. What Must Be Done to Please Progressive Element of Party.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Major General Wood, in a statement today, declared he heartily endorsed the nominees of the republican party, "understanding that the progressive elements are to be brought into the campaign and given full representation and participation."

"The party can win through united effort and such clear and explicit declaration of program as will bring the large independent vote to its active support," the statement said.

General Wood, who was elected with Senator Harding at Dayton, Ohio, last week, defined what he considered necessary points in a "progressive policy" and declared that the party could not win by destructive criticism.

"The party's policy must be clean, cut, forward-looking and constructive," he said, "one which, while recognizing America's responsibilities as a leading nation, will guarantee her freedom from foreign control and class domination, one which will safeguard our traditional policies, one which will complete enfranchisement of women; which will stand against all forms and influences tending to break down morality, the physical well-being or the solidarity of our people."

Return to Peace Basis.

"It must be a policy which will strive for a speedy return to a peace basis, in a government under the constitution; for economic efficiency, revision of war taxation; for a strong, but conservative foreign policy, one which will protect American lives and rights abroad; for the building up and protection of our agriculture and industries; for industrial control based upon the square, human handling of the labor between labor and capital, remembering labor is neither a commodity nor a chattel."

"It must be a policy for the improvement of public education, for a highly efficient army and navy; for the building up of a merchant marine and a sound foreign commercial policy; for the careful supervision of our immigration; and the systematic Americanization of those who are incapable of the strengthening of the sense of citizenship obligation, and the adherence of those fundamental principles and policies on which the stability and permanency of our government depends."

"In short, a government of the people under a clean-cut, progressive policy, meeting and dealing with the great issues of the present frankly and courageously, with a view to solving rather than avoiding them."

CROW FARMER'S FRIEND AND FOE

"Twice as Good as He Is Bad,"
Writer Says of Persecuted Bird.

IS BACKED BY UNCLE SAM

Kills Young Chickens and Destroys Eggs of Other Birds, But on Other Hand He Kills Field Mice and Insects.

Washington.—The United States biologist survey sends out a bulletin about the crow. It says that the black fellow is the farmer's friend and should not be exterminated, and it goes on to assert that many crows recently examined were found to eat 38 per cent grain and 62 per cent may beetles, toadstool, grasshoppers, grasshopper moths, army worms, chinchbugs and brown moths. So he is about twice as good as he is bad.

But the crow also kills young chickens and destroys the eggs of other birds, George F. Burba writes in the Columbus Dispatch. Charge that he eats grain which he eats. Then on the other hand, set down a large number of field mice and crows which he also gets away with and there is still a balance in his favor. Besides, much of the grain the crows eat would be scattered anyway, since he picks up the scattered kernels in the field and eats a lot of very poor corn and wheat that wouldn't be any account to anybody else.

Hunted Become Intelligent.
The government bulletins list going to have much effect, one way or another, however. Everybody takes a shot at a crow whenever he gets a chance, but the crows persist. They have been warned upon so much that they have become very intelligent.

Take note of that—anything that is carried upon or hunted becomes intelligent. The hunted birds and animals acquire knowledge and cunning, or whatever you want to call it. Otherwise they would disappear.

If crows were stupid and sat around on fences when they see a man in the field with a gun; if they built their nests where the nests could be easily broken up; if they did not help each other by giving warning of approach and danger, there would be no crows, but everyone seems to be an enemy of the glossy fellow, and he knows that he must keep at a safe distance.

He learns that he must build his nest high up in a tree, away from human habitation, and watch out every moment for somebody or something that would kill him. All of this has made him what we call one of the most intelligent of birds.

The Crow as a Pet.

And still the crow is a sociable bird. He likes human beings, when they treat him right. He makes a splendid pet, although a naughty one, in that he is always getting into trouble. If you will take a crow when it is young and raise it it becomes as gentle as a chicken.

He likes to be around the house, where there are a lot of boys, but at every opportunity he will fly upon the table and snatch the food, or carry scissors or tinblows or spoons of silver or jewelry away and hide them. He is a mischief maker with the hens and chickens and fuses and quarrels, and wrangles with the dog that sleeps upon the porch.

But he will not desert the family; he will remain with the boy that feeds him and attends to him, although he may take a trip occasionally to the fields and talk to the other crows, coming back at night to his regular roost.

Audience Applauded as Snake Crushed Trainer

Applause from a large audience resounded in the little theater at Sebring, Switzerland, while a gigantic python slowly crushed its trainer to death.

The trainer, a Hungarian named Ciro, realized her peril and shrieked for help as the coils of the serpent closed about her, but the audience believed her cries were part of the entertainment and cheered loudly.

Fraulein Ciro's manager rushed on the stage and shot the snake, but not until the young woman was beyond help. It was not until after the performance was over that the people were apprised of the fact they had witnessed a gruesome tragedy.

Lafayetteburg, Ind.—Capt. Wesley L. Moore, aged twenty-eight, river pilot, often said he hoped he might die on the Ohio river. Death came to him as he wished. He was found lifeless in his cabin on the Ivory Wood, a vessel he operated between Cincinnati and New Orleans.

Not boasting any, but Idaho is fast becoming naturalized. Did he ever try to catch the drift of some conversations in a foreign tongue while standing on the corner?

Send the Chronicle to your eastern friends and let them know that the town of Twin Falls is on the map, is surrounded by a progressive and intelligent class of people. Even the small boy has developed the knack of saving for the rainy day.

SEARCHING FOR STEPHEN'S BODY

Rivermen Hunting for Remains of Man Who Went Over Cataract in a Barrel.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 12.—Rivermen were patrolling the Niagara gorge below the falls today in the hope of recovering the body of Charles G. Stephens, of Bristol, Eng., who lost his life yesterday in an attempt to duplicate the feat of Mrs. Annie Edson Taylor and Bobby Leach by going over the cataract in a barrel.

Bobby Leach, whose experiences gave his opinion some weight, declared Stephens' case was too light in all parts for the 158-foot drop at the falls. He warned Stephens before the start that he was doomed to failure, but the Englishman was confident.

"A steel barrel is the only safe kind," said Leach. "If I can have one made by July 15, the anniversary of my last trip, I'll duplicate it."

NEW YORK, July 12.—Charles George Stephens, who was killed yesterday in going over Niagara falls in a barrel, was a barber extraordinary.

His hobby was performing spectacular stunts, for which he received three ribbons, five gold medals and six silver medals. His specialties included climbing a lion in its den, boxing customers in a lion's den, shaving in a lion's den and parachute descent from a balloon.

Seeking a Change of Luck.

"I have noticed," said Cactus Joe, "that most socialists haven't got very far up in the prosperity list."

"No," replied Three-Fingered Sam. "Every game has a few losers in it who are constantly delaying the proceedings by hollering for a new deck."

No Loss.

"What's the gloom about, Dauber?" "I was just worrying over lost art."

"Why worry? There's a lot of art around now that ought to be lost."—Kansas City Journal.

SHIMA SPEAKS PLAINLY TO INVESTIGATION COMMITTEE

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, July 12.—George Shima, president of the Japanese Association of America and the so-called "potato king" of California, told the house committee on immigration and naturalization here today that he is in favor of intermarriage between Japanese and Americans. The committee is investigating the Japanese situation in California.

One of Twin Falls younger generation is already planning an aviation excursion of his own. He has decided he can do the stunt without the aid or consent of anyone. Good for him.

EDITOR CANDIDATES.

The American press naturally takes a certain satisfaction in the fact that both of the big party candidates for the presidency are professional newspaper men. Senator Harding and Governor Cox know the "newspaper game" thoroughly, from experience. Both have remained in active charge of their newspapers, along with the responsibilities of their public life. Both are successful editors.

This fact is going to have considerable bearing on the campaign. Newspaper editors are supposed to be pretty good judges of publicity, and pretty skillful in its use. It may be expected, therefore, that the campaign of each party will be somewhat characterized by a somewhat wider and more effective use of publicity than usual. There will probably be a better sense of news values shown by the candidates and their managers, and a better appreciation of popular psychology. There should be a clearer presentation of the campaign issues, with such trained men at the helm. All this means is marked advantage for the public.

The benefits may be expected to continue when one of the rival editors enters the White House. It is particularly desirable that a presidential candidate should understand not only the sentiment of the nation but the mechanism by which it may be reached and influenced. Many a chief executive has failed in fine and worthy aims because, though able to frame desirable policies and measures, he has lacked skill in presenting them to the public. Theodore Roosevelt was a genius at publicity, though lacking journalistic training. His successors have not been so fortunate in that regard.

It may be assumed that the next president, when he has a big thing he wants to get before the public quickly and clearly, will do it with unusual facility. Inasmuch as this is a government of public opinion, and the president derives most of his real power from contemporary support rather than constitutional prerogative, this is a factor not to be ignored.

RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE LABORS HARD

Both of the big political parties, in their conventions, have expressed sympathy for Ireland and a desire to help that country obtain home rule, but both have carefully refrained from promising official recognition of the Irish republic.

"President" De Valera is much put out about it, and proposes to carry his case to the American people. He says that the heart of America is with Ireland, and all that is necessary now is a campaign to persuade the American intellect.

De Valera is more than half right, but he will have difficulty nevertheless. There is every evidence that the political conventions really represented the nation in their Irish position, and there is little likelihood that the nation will change its opinion as a result of a new publicity campaign financed in the name of the "Irish Republic."

Americans would rejoice to see Ireland free, but they have to much common sense to invite war with Great Britain by battling into an internal dispute of the British empire. Formal recognition of Ireland, while the island is still legally a part of the empire, it has belonged to for several centuries, would be such diplomatic meddling as no great power nowadays does not venture with another. Americans love Ireland more than they loved Cuba in 1898; but they are not prepared to fight Great Britain for one as they fought Spain for the other.

AMERICANS QUIT RUSSIAN TOWNS

Bolshevik Sweeping Along and Yanks Conclude to Move on; Warsaw is Threatened.

By the Associated Press.

WARSAW, July 12.—News from the battlefield is meager, but at least accounts the Americans were reported to have evacuated Minsk, Novol and other towns toward which Bolsheviks are approaching in their 745 mile westward sweep.

Many telegraph wires are down and the railroads have been cut.

It is reported here that Minsk is on fire but it is not certain whether the Bolsheviks have yet occupied the town.

The Catholic archbishop here has appealed to members of the church to join the colors.

Russian residents have begun organization of infantry and cavalry detachments to fight the Bolsheviks.

WARSAW, July 10.—Americans and other foreigners here are considering emergency plans should Bolsheviks overrun the city. The Red Cross and other welfare organization members today discussed plans for the evacuation and also for the care of American property.

Col. Harry Gilchrist, chief of the expedition to combat typhus, has called a meeting to organize a chapter of offering the services of the Legion to Poland but his discussion of the members will guard the American property and look after the Americans who may remain. It is estimated that there are 200 American former service men here.

The American Relief association, the Red Cross, the Y. M. C. A., and the typhus expedition have supplies valued at millions of dollars here.

After-War Coffee.

People old enough to remember the Civil war are able to recall the fact that after the close of that conflict it was difficult and often impossible to obtain coffee. Various substitutes were used, such as parched rye, but one that was commonly utilized in Washington and many other cities was sweet potatoes. The latter were first roasted and allowed to burn somewhat on the outside. Then they were mashed in water and boiled. The water was then transformed into coffee, by no means as palatable as might be imagined. Sugar in those days cost 25 cents a pound. But the sweet potato coffee brewed on sugar, and so was an economical drink.

A Hurry Call.

Senator Boies Penrose awoke this morning by telephone a couple of hours before daylight recently and told him to come to the hotel at once. The chairman responded, says Collins, vest and coat, simply slipping into his overcoat and buttoning it up tightly about his throat. As the senator, who was called, stepped into the car, the chairman called:

"To the capital, senator?"

"No," said Senator Penrose, "to Philadelphia."

A week later, still minus a dress coat, the chairman returned to Washington.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

"Real men" in the forty-eight convention were the farmers and advocates of the name "farmer-labor" to bring the farm group of forty-eight into the labor movement.

Abraham Lefkowitz of New York declared the labor group was not a watch for the "sleek lawyers" in the 48 convention and that if conference continued the forty-eighters would come out victorious.

Townsend Bennett of Connecticut presented the report of the labor party and committee of 48 conference committees. The report recommended "united action."

MEREDITH EXPLAINS FUND CURTAILEMENT

ways popular in Twin Falls, where he has held his residence since the early days of the tract, also spoke. Congressman Smith discussed reclamation hopes and reasons which bar the way in Washington, or bar the way to further development.

He expressed hope that future congresses would have clearer understanding of the central influence of reclamation undertakings, and that in time there would come freer cooperation in Washington to the end that the waters which are now wasting away to the sea may be made to bring life to the waste lands and build cities where now the jackrabbits roam and the coyote howls at the moon.

The meeting was arranged by the Chamber of Commerce hastily yesterday. It became known that Mr. Meredith could not reach Twin Falls until late, which fact gave opportunity for the people to hear from the congressman. In the absence of President Asher D. Wilson of the Chamber of Commerce, Vice President Z. P. Smith called the meeting to order and introduced Hon. R. H. Stevenson as chairman of the meeting.

SENATOR GLASS DEBATES COX IS LEAD DEMOCRAT

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, home today from the democratic convention, declared that Governor Cox is a "genuine democrat" and that it effects the country is safe and clean administration.

Shortly after his arrival, the senator, who was chairman of the committee on resolutions, went to the White House but did not see President Wilson. He expressed himself "as greatly pleased with the convention, and said 'he looked for a corking good campaign, with every prospect of victory.'"

"I confess I think well of the platform," he said, "as I had a hand in its preparation. The convention thought well of it too; indeed, the convention unanimously decided to permit it to be tampered with. It was impossible to talk to rhetoric and scheming. I adopted without alteration of a word and expressed the convictions, the hopes and the aspirations of the democratic party without omissions or reservations."

ATTACK ON FINANCIAL POLICY

LONDON, July 12.—An attack was made in the house of commons today on the government's financial policy, especially the excess profits tax. Discussion came up over the finance bill. Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, declined to reduce the excess profits duty below 60 per cent as provided in the budget, but he promised next year the duty would not exceed 40 per cent.

The chancellor also undertook that there should be no more borrowing, but said the nation should begin while it was prosperous to make an earnest endeavor to reduce the debt.

ARRANGE SCALE FOR COMING HARVEST

Threshermen Have Meeting and Agree on Prices to Be Charged During Harvest and Threshing

The threshermen's meeting held in the farm bureau rooms Saturday afternoon to arrange a wage scale to be paid the hands who help to harvest the grain crop in this county this year was called to order by Mr. Reed-Smith. Mr. Steelman was then elected chairman and Mr. Shack secretary. The prices paid in the year 1918 were then read by Mr. Steelman.

It was agreed that 10 hours was to constitute a day's work. Engineers and repairmen men are to be paid $10 per day, water haulers without a team will get $5, and $7 with team. Pitchers will receive $5 per day, and men in the fields with teams will receive $7.

It was arranged that 25c on wheat, 12c on barley and 10c on oats be adopted as the standard scale. The farmer is to furnish all the coal and haul the grain away from the machine, and the threshermen will furnish the men. It was decided to pay the same price on peas and beans as were paid last year. One dollar and a half per bushel with the farmer furnishing all coal and board, and the price agreed upon for the threshing of red clover, alfalfa and alfalfa, because the crop of clover and alfalfa are not good enough to make wages by the bushel, it was agreed that $8 per hour would be a fair price to charge.

Mrs. Parsons and Mrs. Hunter stayed with the "girls" and the two to get to land without much trouble. Mr. Alberts and Mr. Hunter were unable to get back to the boat and it took some time and considerable assistance from lookers-on before they were brought safely to land.

Canada's Water Power.

It has been estimated by engineers that the available water power in Canada, both developed and undeveloped, is capable of generating 14,822,000 horsepower, of which 7,508,100 horsepower are available in populated areas.

The utilization of this water power is rapidly increasing. During the last year the installation of new power plants, with a total of 1,000 horsepower. Developments now under construction will produce 750,000 horsepower and projects contemplated for this near future will add 750,000 horsepower. The water power in Canada now developed has a capacity of 2,400,000 horsepower. The "white coal" that for ages has been running to waste, is now being made to turn the wheels of industry and to light Canada's streets and dwellings.

"Excuse me, sir, but may I ask your name?"

"My name is—his name," the guest answered.

"I mean your full name," said the chairman.

"The guest hesitated again, said:

"It's just the same," he said, "full or snub."

HERNANDEZ STAYS IN COUNTY JAIL

Will Have to Appear in District Court to Answer to Alleged Crimes.

Carlton Hernandez, a Mexican, has been held over to the district court from the criminal division of the probate court.

The defendant, it is alleged, was implicated in a holdup and fight and in an attempt at an unprovoked crime. The defendant languished in jail in lieu of a $500 bond which is demanded by the lower court in case the Mexican desires temporary freedom.

NO STATE HOPELESS IS THE CONCLUSION

conference other than to have the state talked some of campaign plans and that they expected to continue the conference tonight, but it is expected to leave.

It was the governor's first day at the executive office since his nomination. At an informal reception he spoke to several thousand people, assuring them that he had "never broken confidence with the people" and adding that he had the "deepest conviction that the guarantee of progressive government will be adopted by the people in the election of Mr. Roosevelt and myself."

Moore Quits Ill.

The governor received a message from San Francisco from William Marsh, treasurer of the democratic national committee, stating that E. H. Moore, of Youngstown, Ohio, his present manager, was seriously ill in a hospital from nervous reaction. The message stated a nurse was in charge and that no one was permitted to see him. It added, however, there was no occasion for alarm. The governor sent a message of sympathy, expressing the hope his manager would be able to be out soon.

FIND MAN'S AIM.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 12.—The right arm of a man was taken from the Niagara river, near the Canadian Mill of the Mill landing today. It is believed to be part of the body of George T. Stephens, of Bristol, England, killed yesterday in an attempt to go over the Horseshoe falls in a barrel.

Several tattoo marks were on the arm but no one with such a tattoo here was able to make positive identification. Finding of the arm revived hope that the rest of Stephens' body might be found. Practically all of Stephens' death craft has now been found.

Baldy-Leach of this city, who went over the Horseshoe falls in 1911, said today he might try another trip this summer. Leach said he would make the attempt if he could get a steel barrel similar to the one in which he made his previous trip.

FUNERAL OF NATHAN BARNHILL. Funeral services for Nathan B. Barnhill were conducted at the Christian church at Kimberly yesterday afternoon. Rev. A. H. Brand of Twin Falls officiated. Burial was in the Twin Falls cemetery under the direction of J. E. DeWitt.

WOULD BE USELESS.

PENSACOLA, Fla., July 12.—Governor Catta has refused to call a special session of the Florida legislature to meet on woman suffrage, but has from today announced that they said the governor continued such action would be useless.

UTAH, July 12.—Governor Fred W. Clegg today issued a proclamation refusing to call the legislature in special session to make possible ratification of the federal amendment for woman suffrage.

the country came to pass on the program, it will decide to apply the republican method of correction directly through a republican administration.

Summit Is Satisfied.

Another caller today was Senator Cummins of Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, who discussed the transportation situation. In a statement, he praised the republican candidate, whom he believed is "as progressive as any man in the country, but none."

To get back to work, on his speech the senator planned to go into seclusion the next few days, beginning tomorrow.

OPERATORS FAIL TO WORK OUT PLAN

sent the operators in Wednesday's conference also was chosen as a permanent one to function on all questions relating to coal supply. D. E. Wentz, president of the National Coal association, was selected chairman.

Not Obeying Order.

General complaint was made by the operators that the road were not strictly obeying the interstate commerce commission's 30-day priority order giving preference to the mines in the assignment of open tonnage. At a meeting which was open only to operators, reports were made that the average daily delivery of coal for the northwest amounted to only 1,675 cars, practically one-half of the quantity said to be needed as insurance against a coal famine in the states at the head of the lakes next winter. The operators declared the small deliveries were due to lack of transportation.

Possibility of the re-establishment of a federal fuel administration also was understood to have been mentioned, but none of the operators professed to have any information as to the government's attitude. Informally, the operators opposed such proposal.

EXTENSION WORK LEADERS HERE

Fifty or More in Party Making Tour of Counties in Order to Note Methods Used.

More than 50 people, comprising state leaders of extension work, county agents, home demonstration agents and county club leaders from all of the counties in Southern Idaho, arrived in Twin Falls last evening on a trip of inspection. They will look over the work done by the local agents and will advise what they consider the best parts of the work they do in their own counties.

The party, which was met in Minkdoka by H. E. Powers, local county agent and A. L. O'Reilly, leader of the Farm Bureau Juniors of Twin Falls county, arrived here in the early part of the evening and were the guests of the chamber of commerce at a dinner.

They will spend this morning studying poultry and pig project work on some of the farms in this county. They will leave this afternoon for Jerome. After visiting for the remainder of the week in Coalinga, Ada and Canyon counties the party will meet in Boise on Saturday for a discussion of project work in all of its phases.

The delegation will be met in Canyon county by Miss Edna M. Ladwig, home demonstration agent for Twin Falls county. After the inspection in this county she will accompany them to Boise for the conference.

YOUNG MEN FOUND GUILTY OF THEFT

Sentenced to Serve 90 Days in Jail, but They Make An Appeal to Higher Tribunal.

A jury in Judge Durrall's court found Fred Smith and Gratty Richardson guilty of taking wool that did not belong to them. They were sentenced to serve 90 days in the county jail but have taken an appeal to the district court.

The case took up the time of the probate court all of Saturday afternoon. The defense offered an alibi but apparently it did not impress the jury and the verdict was rendered in behalf of the state.

STATE CLAIMS FIRST VICTORY

Judge Rules Favorably to Plaintiff in Beginning of Trial of William Lloyd

CHICAGO, July 12.—The first victory in the trial of William Lloyd, Lloyd, millionaire member of the communist labor party, and 19 others was claimed by the state today as a result of the ruling of Judge Heald that activities of the defendants prior to the passage of the Illinois sedition act, could be utilized as evidence. They are charged with conspiracy to advocate the overthrow of the government.

In the opening for the state, L. D. Heald, assistant state attorney, reviewed alleged acts of the defendants. He declared an attempt was made to enforce ideas, which, he said, were promulgated in soviet Russia, in Seattle and Winnipeg by general strikes. He charged that Lloyd, recently, had said that to attain the ends of the communists, the government must be overthrown by force and arms. The court granted a request by the defense to defer its opening statement.

Witnesses Are Called.

J. A. Zimman of New York, a short-hand reporter; J. J. Brown, a detective sergeant of the New York city police department, and Nathan Kellin of Brooklyn, a printer, were the first witnesses called by the prosecution. Their testimony dealt principally with their knowledge of the activities of the left wing conference held in New York in June, 1919.

William R. Forrest of the defense counsel objected to the admission of the Revolutionary Age, official organ of the left wing as evidence. The motion was sustained as to all articles appearing in the publication except one, entitled "Left Wing Manifesto." It dealt with the communist activities, hopes and desires. Later it was read to the jury.

G. F. Cummings, special agent of the department of justice, testified to proceedings of the convention of the communist labor party in September, 1919. He pointed out eight of the defendants, including Max Yergast of San Francisco, who, he said, were present.

The Illinois sedition act, under which the defendants have been indicted, provides that it shall be unlawful for any person openly to advocate the overthrow of the government by violence or force of arms.

For violation of the first sections of the act, a person would be deemed guilty of a felony, and punished by imprisonment for not less than 10 years. Violation of the second part of the act is punishable by a fine of not less than $500 nor more than $1,000, or by imprisonment for from six months to a year or both.

MOON AS ALLY OF FARMER

Agricultural Assets He Courts His Sweetheart and Plants His Corn by Luna's Light

A contributor to the New York Tribune, living in the country, is alarmed that the scientists blow up the moon. He very properly says that the city man doesn't appreciate the moon; in fact, he seldom sees it. But out in the country the moon serves a real purpose, and it ought to be protected from onslaughts from the rockets of the scientists. The contributor's letter is so delightful, and as it contains as much wisdom as many other letters we read we quote at length:

"Nobody knows what the moon is made of. Maybe it's made out of some kind of mineral that will explode when this flesh powder goes off on it. And let me tell you, Mr. Editor, that wouldn't be a very funny thing for anybody to have the moon blow up.

"Folks in the city don't know anything about the moon, whether it is anything or whether it ain't, and they don't care. But we folks that live in the country use the moon a great deal. I counted my wife by moonlight, and my oldest boy is doing the same thing with his girl. I've planted my corn in the full of the moon for forty years and never had a poor crop. Besides, we use the moon in lots of other ways. I can't hardly think what life would be here in the country without the moon."

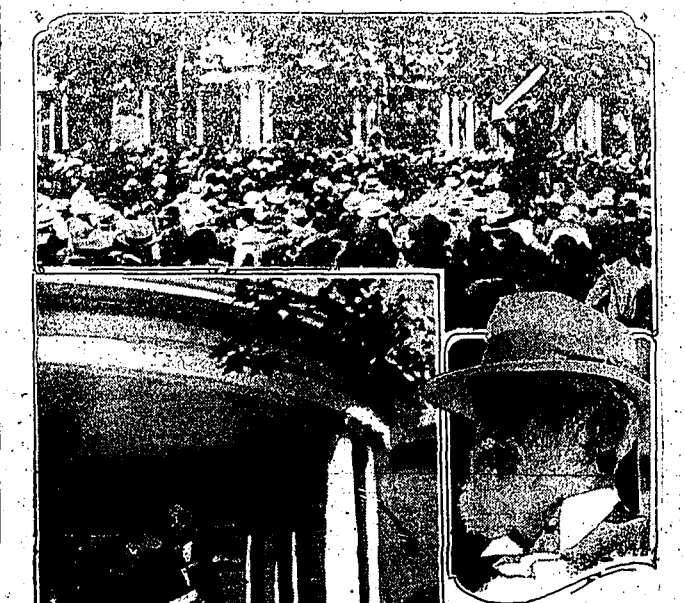

Aye, aye, sir, we are for you—especially since you seem to know how to count. It has been a hundred years or more for years how a city boy manages to fall in love with a girl when the light comes from an electric bulb instead of from the friendly moon.—Columbus Dispatch.

PILGRIM WORTHY OF HONOR

Elder Brewster Gave Up Much When He Abandoned His Home for a Great Principle

There is the ancient pear tree, and in the shadow of its branches the Pilgrim was born. The Pilgrim was the young man of which Sir Edwin Sandys said in the long summer days of 1570 at Scrooby Manor, that Pilgrim in England in 1520 need not neglect to be in the shade of the memory of Elder Brewster at his one-time home. Because special arrangements have been made for escorting parties to the tercentenary year. All the Fathers made great sacrifices, but one will be remembered to think that William Brewster made perhaps more than most. He gave up the home of his birth, his home in the north of Scotland.

HARDING OPENS "FRONT PORCH" CAMPAIGN FOR PRESIDENCY

MARION, Ohio.—Warren G. Harding opened his "front-porch campaign" for the presidency on July 5, the day of his arrival, with an address to citizens of Marion who welcomed him home. These exclusive photographs by Staff Photographer Bob Dorman, tell the story. Above, a view of the crowd listening to Harding's speech. Above points to Harding. Left, a clowup of Harding speaking from the front porch of his home. Here he expects to deliver his important campaign address. Right, Dr. C. J. Nichols, former republican mayor of Marion, listening to the speech. Nichols and Harding have never wholly parted in local politics, but Nichols is for Harding this time.

One Man Is Crew.

Recent naval tests have disclosed the remarkable characteristics of a new form of inflatable torpedo launch, so low in the water that it has almost the invisibility of a submarine, according to a recent announcement in Popular Mechanics Magazine, as commended by several interesting illustrations of the curious craft. It is operated by one man. It is but 40 feet long, and weighs 8,500 pounds with its single torpedo. The entire forward half of the boat is the torpedo chamber, and that part of the hull is U-shaped to conform to the big projectile, while the deck above is hinged along one side to permit the torpedo to be hoisted in. To discharge it, the whole rounded bow is lifted up like a gun, gliding the chamber and permitting the torpedo to go forth on the power of its own propeller.

Catch a Freak Fish.

A freak fish, 11 feet long and weighing 200 pounds was brought to port by Capt. Steve Masas of the shark ASD, reports a San Diego (Cal.) correspondent. The fish was caught in a sea bass net off Point Loma at a depth of 30 feet. The fish had a mouth two feet in diameter, no teeth, purple eyes, a short blunt nose, with a sharp horn composed of solid bone and a skin like a rhinoceros. A. L. Minahan of the state fish and game commission and Capt. W. C. Cronall of the California Biological Institute at La Jolla were unable to identify the phenomenal fish. Photographs were taken of the fish and were sent to the University of California in an effort to trace its ancestry.

Again, Leather From the Sea.

Considerable interest is at present being shown in the possibility of utilizing the skins of sharks and porpoises for the making of shoe leather. The bureau of standards has completed arrangements to test the comparative durability of upper leather made from shark and porpoise skins as compared with that from cat skin and cowhide. The cooperation of the National Foot and Shoe Manufacturers' association has been secured in the making of the necessary shoes for the test. It is believed that the results of this investigation will be watched with considerable interest.—Scientific American.

Reays of Light Cause Mirages.

Mirage is the name given to a certain optical illusion caused by the bending of rays of light in the desert atmosphere. Mirages may appear to the eye as lakes, cities, battlements, etc., etc. The huge body of water retreating as the eye advances. Mirages are not uncommon in California, Nevada and Alaska.

Ingenious Way to Save Gas.

A woman's invention to save gas at the gas range makes the weight of pot or kettle on the burner throw open a valve which allows the gas to burn full force, while with the removal of that weight the valve closes to a point where it cuts off all the gas except an amount barely sufficient to support a pilot light.

The Way It Works Out.

The Agent—Have you seen the new ordinance passed by the city council? It forbids rent profiteering under penalty of a hundred-dollar fine.

The Owner—Yep, I saw it. Raise the rent a hundred dollars on each apartment, to pay the fines.

Improving His Method.

Atlas was watching the proceedings of the peevishers.

"These modern fellows," he mused, "knew a lot more about holding their pants than was dreamed of in our young days."

Squashed the Salesman.

"Fardon me, sir," said the salesman, in his superior way, "but this is not the hat you should have, at all. Now here is one much more becoming to you. The price is only two dollars more, and—"

"If a colored man with a wooden leg should ask for a seventy-five cent pink, purple or polka-dotted hat you would sell it to him if you had it, wouldn't you?" interrupted old Fastus Pester.

"Yes, sir, but—"

"Then please treat me as kindly as you would a colored man with a wooden leg,"—Kansas City Star.

WANDERER TO GO ON TRIAL SOON

Indictments Pending and Will Be Returned With Week; Stranger Still Unidentified

CHICAGO, July 12.—Carl Wanderer, former army officer, will go to trial within a month for the slaying of his wife and an unidentified stranger, who aided him in framing a false holdup. State's Attorney Boyne said today after two true bills had been voted by a grand jury.

The indictments will not be returned until later in the week to permit further questioning of the prisoner. "Police continued efforts to find a woman in the case and to establish the stranger's identity. It was thought he was John J. Maloney of River Point, Ill., but the police said that a description of Maloney received did not tally with the man.

Police questioned Miss Julia Schmitt, a stenographer, after it was learned Wanderer had written letters to her, but she was later released. Both denied anything more than a casual friendship.

NEED TO ASK QUESTIONS.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 12.—Senator James A. Reed tonight made public questions he intends to propound to all republican and democratic candidates for senator from Missouri relative to their stand on the League of Nations.

The six questions follow the line of objections Senator Reed has made to the League of Nations. In a statement he offers to debate the question of whether the league covenant impairs American rights as he has charged.

SAVE NOW---SPEND LATER

There's a lot in how we arrange the ups and downs of life. Keeping savings up and holding expenses down is the common sense rule for everyone who expects to make definite progress.

Those who save now while spending brings such unprofitable returns will have the satisfaction of spending later on when dollars buy more.

It takes so little to start an account with us—and the benefits are so numerous—that the desirability for prompt action is obvious.

Baboon Which Acted as Assistant Switchman and Performed Other Acts of Intelligence.

The most remarkable instance of simian intelligence which has come under my personal observation was that of a baboon which did duty as pointsman at the important railway junction of Ultingham, in the Cape province.

This animal was owned by the man who worked the points but who had both legs cut off in a railway accident. On the platform in his charge there were six levers, to each of which was given a name. The man sat in a little wooden cabin with his under-staff and whenever a lever required shifting he would call out its name. At once the baboon would swing the lever over.

One morning he ran his master down to the scene of his work in a little hand trolley, which on arrival at its destination the baboon shifted from the line and stowed away. At night he replaced the trolley on the line and when his master had taken his seat pushed it home again. Most of the journey to the scene of the work was done grade. On reaching the slope the baboon would spring upon the vehicle and wringed the livestock satisfactorily as it skidded along by gravitation.

Occasionally this animal was brought to the bar of a certain hotel and induced to act as waiter. He would carry a large tray on which were glasses containing the various drinks ordered by the company. However, he insisted upon one condition—a glass containing his own favorite tipple had to be placed on the tray with the others. On entering the room where the guests were assembled the waiter would set down the tray on the floor, after which he would empty the glass. Then he would walk with the tray from one guest to another. But if anyone attempted to help himself from the tray before he had consumed his own drink, trouble ensued; he would become violently enraged and scatter the glasses in every direction. This trouble-making animal died after a lingering illness induced by a blow on the back of the head inflicted by a drunken man with a bar of iron. W. K. Smith in Atlantic Monthly.

Market News

Grain

CHICAGO, July 12.—Although black rust reports from the spring wheat belt had a decided bullish influence on the corn market today, the effect failed to last. Owing largely to a big increase of the visible supply of corn, prices closed weak 7-8 to 1-18 cent lower, with September 11.42 1-2 1-2 1-2 and December 11.42 1-2 1-2 1-2 1-2 1-2. Oats finished at 1 cent decline to 3-8 advance and provisions varied from 15c off to a rise of 20 cents.

Word came that there was sufficient black rust infection through Eastern South Dakota, all of Minnesota and the eastern edge of North Dakota, to produce a severe epidemic. With knowledge of the widespread infection, the grain trade was much inclined to accept an opinion given by a leading authority that a serious condition in 1920 spring wheat was likely to develop in two weeks. The severe rust corn values up in sympathy, but toward the last the visible supply statement tended to force a reaction. It was also noted that as yet there was any black rust in the northern districts where most of the spring wheat is raised.

Oats awayed with corn. Provisions were governed by the action of grain.

CITY PEOPLE LIVE LONGEST

Contrary to Very General Belief, the Country Is Not the More Healthful Place to Live.

It has always been thought that the country was a more healthful place than the city, but the following article, offered by Prof. B. F. Cohn of the Colorado Agricultural college seems to refute it:

"If we but realize how much of the backwardness and stupidity which is the lot of the rural population, if we fully realized what it means when 48 per cent of rural children have defective teeth, 28 per cent defective tonsils, 23 per cent defective eyes, 21 per cent defective ears, and when great numbers have enlarged glands, spinal curvatures, lung and ear defects or heart disease, we should be a little more enthusiastic about the country life. The Cross is waging to improve the health and sanitation conditions in the villages and in the open country. There are approximately 12,000,000 children in rural communities in the United States. Had they had the opportunity to choose, they would have been born in the cities, for their chances of living to be men and women would have been greater. Even New York, the largest city in the world, with its great congested districts, has a lower death rate than rural New York.

"The people of the country might be healthier and stronger, but therefore more capable of doing their part of the world's work, but they are not.

"Will you join the crusade for better conditions in the country?"

Australian Crop Conditions.
Australia has been suffering from a long continued drought, particularly severe in New South Wales, and the losses to stockmen and farmers are serious. Thousands of cattle and sheep—having perished of thirst and hunger—are being sent to the slaughter for the whole commonwealth puts the yield at 40,000,000 bushels, as against 170,000,000 bushels last year. The government has $5,000,000 to assist farmers who have suffered particularly heavy losses. It has been proposed also to introduce a moratorium applicable to farmers. Later reports state, however, that good crops have fallen in many parts of the country, and that the harvest prospects have been materially improved.

ADORNED LONG-DEAD BEAUTY

Jewelry of Ancient Egyptian Princesses Admired by Visitors to New York Museum of Art.

Sathorath-lunet has been dead for many years—perhaps 3,500 years. She was a princess of Egypt and lived in the twelfth dynasty, about 1900 B. C. Still, her jewelry is in New York City, and was recently shown at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The exhibit consisted of a gold necklace, laid with emeralds, lapis lazuli and green feldspar and another pectoral of King Senusert II, father of the princess, similar in design; a gold collar of double links; a girdle of gold, with emeralds, lapis lazuli and green feldspar; a gold bracelet with gold links and bands of gold, emeralds and turquoise; copper razors with gold handles; gold armlets with colored links and pendants. The princess' head was of ebony, with gold and garnet ivory panels.

The tomb, with others, had been found by early conquerors or marauders, who took away even the mummy and the funeral jewelry treasures, but the ancient mummy containing the ornaments used during life. An American expert dug out the niche, which had been filled with mud, kiln-dried under hot sands. Now the collection looks as bright and fresh as if only recently from the market.

FATES ATTEND BABY'S BIRTH

Peculiar Superstition That Has Strong Hold on the Poorer Classes of Greece.

Almost every nation has some peculiar superstition or belief about babies, and these result in actions which vary all the way from the utterly absurd to the terribly tragic. The poverty-stricken Greece firmly believes that the future of every child is determined by three fates, known as the Muses. In the popular mind these fates are three old women, who, when they come together to a house, choose to a new-born child. In preparation for them, the father is to see to it that their entering footsteps may not be impeded, and refreshments in the shape of honey, bread, cakes and wine are set out for these important deities. The fates are to be invited to the table at a table, for if they are not, the child will die. In the gift of these fates are all good things as well as evil. Under no circumstances must a child's beauty be attacked, for while the fates are at the table, they will certainly take his good looks away.

TO NUMBER FUR SEALS

Dr. Dallas Hanna Will Make New Census.

Purpose is to Determine How Many Seals Can Be Removed Each Year.

San Francisco, Dr. G. Dallas Hanna, a member of the staff of the California Academy of Science, has just left here for Alaska, where he will make a census of the fur seals on the Pribilof Islands, under the direction of the United States bureau of fisheries.

Doctor Hanna has been connected with this work each year since 1913. In 1919 it was reported that there were 540,000 animals in the herd. In 1910 which the government first took over the operation of the island industry, there were fewer than 200,000. During the time when this increase was taking place enough surplus and sealion seals have been killed and their skins sold at auction to provide the national treasury with $3,500,000 above all expenses, according to W. W. Sargent, secretary of the California Academy of Science.

The purpose of the census is chiefly to determine how many animals can be safely removed each year and still provide for a maximum percentage of increase of the herd. If the increase in 1920 census is as heretofore, it is said that there should be about 600,000 of these amphibious fur bearers, by far the largest herd in existence, as well as a surplus of about 30,000 animals which can be killed for their skins. At current prices of these furs, they will be valued at about $2,000,000. "Since the cost of operation will be less than $200,000, it is quite evident that this industry is one of the best financial enterprises the government has," said Mr. Sargent.

"It is capable of almost unlimited expansion, provided the females are protected at sea and the surplus males are removed from the herd. The fighting of such males on the crowded rookeries causes a large mortality among the females and young.

"The carcasses of the animals killed were formerly allowed to waste, but now a by-product plan was put into operation, by means of which it is expected a very superior oil and animal meal will be placed on the market. The census which will be taken in 1920 will enable a close approximation to be made of the quantities of these products which will be available in the immediate future."

"MAN OF 100 LOVES"

Jack H. Drew, known as "the man of 100 loves," has been arrested by the Los Angeles police as a gun thief. He is accused of having stolen a valuable diamond ring loaned him by a woman friend "to flash." When arrested, Drew boasted of his many loves, and told of how one wealthy woman admirer had lavished $200,000 on him during their acquaintance. Many complaints have already been lodged against him by women he is said to have seduced.
