JOHN DENTON HIT BY MOVING AUTO

Chased in Front of Moving Auto and Knocked Down—In Semi-Conscious Condition

John Denton, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Denton, 122 Eleventh avenue S.W., was in a semi-conscious condition last night as a result of having been struck by an automobile yesterday afternoon. No bones were broken and the extent of the injury had not been determined, according to the latest reports last night.

The unavoidable accident occurred on Shoshone street, between Main avenue and Second avenue west, where another boy was chasing John across the street with a squirt gun filled with water. The injured boy jumped in front of a moving automobile belonging to C. C. Griggs and was knocked down, the shock shattering one of the headlights of the car.

Witnesses of the accident carried the injured lad to the Twin Falls hospital, where he was placed in a room. Dr. B. W. Moore was summoned. The boy was unconscious for 20 minutes, and has been in a semi-conscious state ever since. There are no evidences of physical injuries with the exception that he was struck on the forehead above the right eye.

FUNERAL SERVICES.

The Buhl committee, said that they never looked brighter for the American Mills project than at the present time, they stated that most of the committee members were in favor of some kind of an appropriation for the great project. The Buhl representatives were well pleased with the short conference with the committee on appropriations.

EVANGELIST DENIES MANY ALLEGATIONS

At Hearing in Buhl Minister Backs Down but Denies He Made the Statements

Buhl, July 20.—The hearing of Rev. Lewis, Evangelist minister of the Nazarene church, came up Saturday evening. It was alleged that Rev. Lewis made "wonderous remarks" against pool hall proprietors. Rev. Lewis denied that he had made these statements. Rev. Lewis said "that he preached against pool halls that his religion taught pool halls were a menace to the Lord Jesus Christ and mankind." Mr. Gibbs said that he had two witnesses that had heard him say that "liquor is being sold in all pool halls and safe; that all owners had from 15 to 20 barrels in their basements." Mr. Gibbs and Mr. Brown both stated that their business places were open to inspection any time, that they were conducting their business in a clean manner.

Rev. Lewis expressed himself willing to apologize providing they could show that he had made these statements, that he had 10 witnesses to prove that he had not made these remarks.

Mr. Gibbs and Mr. Brown with faith in their witnesses, insisted that Rev. Lewis retract his stories in the newspapers. He refused to do this, stating that they had not proven he had made these remarks.

Judge Q. E. Duvall suggested that Mr. Gibbs and Mr. Brown discontinue the charges against Rev. Lewis, providing the papers print full accounts of the discussion giving the "public" both sides of the case. Mr. Gibbs and Mr. Brown agreed to do this.

Mr. Lewis also denied the remarks that "all women going into the city swimming pool were indecent." He also denied that he had made remarks against city officials.

He denied that he had called ex-service men immoral and murderers.

NEW SUGAR PLANT FOR NEXT CROP

New Factory At Piller to Be Completed for Next Year's Crop—Stock On Sale

That the Idaho Co-operative Beet Sugar company's factory at Piller will be completed in time to handle next year's crop of sugar beets is predicted as a result of a campaign for sale of stock that is launched this week among the growers of this district by L. C. Rubenstein and six associates representing an Eastern brokerage concern.

The sale of stock, it is anticipated, will be limited to those who are already stockholders and best known to this district for a limited time. It is announced, too, that a contract has been closed with the Honolulu Iron Works for the construction of the factory to be situated on the 53-acre site at Piller which has already been secured by the company, and that seed for next year's planting has already been procured.

The beets grown on approximately 1500 acres in this section of the country for delivery this year to the Co-operative company will be handled by the Beet Growers' Sugar Company of Idaho, Idaho. It is estimated that this year's crop will produce 2,500,000 pounds of sugar.

NO LABOR PARTY.

The American Federation of Labor is wisely disposed to take advice of its veteran leader, Samuel Gompers, with regard to a labor party.

Gompers argues, as he has always done, that it is better for organized labor in this country to refrain from separate political organization, and seek to accomplish its aims by working within the existing parties, retaining its freedom of action as a whole and as individuals. If the republican and democratic parties showed themselves hostile to labor, it is likely that labor would either gravitate to, and dominate, some third party, or else start a party of its own. Barring such a situation, which has not yet existed and is not likely to exist, the interests of labor are plainly best served, as President Gompers insists, by the traditional nonpartisan policy on which the Federation has built its power.

To organize itself into a third party, specifically devoted to a labor program, would be to invite the active enmity of both the big parties. It would also tend to foster the many-party system of Europe, which is alien to American instinct and institutions. With a labor party in the field, there might logically follow a farmers' party, a church party, a capitalists' party, etc., until we should have national politics and government confused by a medley of minority parties, with a clean majority self-depictable on any definite issue, and positive action of any kind made possible only by party coalitions based on political intrigue. Our own system of two parties, with simple majority government, works much better, and in the long run, gives more satisfaction to every element.

SPORTSMANSHIP.

There appears to be about as much interest as ever in the international yacht race, but with it there is less rivalry. What rivalry there is appears to be rather that of genuine sportsmanship than of mere partisanship.

"May the best boat win!" is a sentiment heard far oftener in connection with this contest than with most contests, whether for local or world championships. And a rather surprising thing about it is that so many Americans seem to hope that the Shamrock will prove itself the "best."

The attitude of the American people toward Sir Thomas Lipton is wholly friendly and admiring, because of the man's clean sportsmanship proved in so many unsuccessful contests. There is less antagonism toward Great Britain, too, than there was before the war, and a more tolerant attitude toward foreigners in general. This spirit is showing itself similarly in regard to the Olympic games soon to be held in Antwerp. If the other nations represented in those games manifest the spirit of the American athletes and their friends, there will be no less emulation, but there will be less bickering and bitterness than on former occasions. In sport, at least, the nations are learning to know and like each other.

MEMORIAL FLAG-POLES.

A monument erected in Washington Square, New York, in honor of the soldiers and sailors of that neighborhood who were killed in the war, is described as "neither costly nor imposing—only a flag-pole with a marble base, after the manner of the liberty poles which in a simpler era of the republic were the common type of war memorial."

Nevertheless it is praised as an appropriate and really artistic memorial, and doubtless deserves the praise. Its comparative inexpensiveness is to its advantage, because it encourages simplicity of design. When a city or an organization has much money to spend for a monument, it is likely to produce something unnecessarily big and ornate. In monuments especially, simplicity is recognized by art experts as the chief thing to aim at. The finest monument in America is, by common agreement, the Washington monument in the national capital, which is a plain marble obelisk. A flag-pole with a smooth marble base is almost as simple and durable, and has an additional fitness in the use to which it is put: the flag under which those men fought and died becomes a part of their monument.

This matter deserves the consideration of cities, towns and villages everywhere that are planning memorials for their war-dead. Is not something of this sort better than elaborate sculpture, messed up with symbolic figures which even though they may be well done, few people understand or enjoy?

THE LAWN-SPOILERS.

One of the improvements always urged in the interest of the beautiful city is that lawns be planted and kept in good condition. Nothing adds more to the effect of well-being and prosperity in a neighborhood than fine lawns stretching from house to sidewalk, and from sidewalk to curb.

So, in the interests of property improvement and good appearance, the man with civic and personal pride plants his grass seed, and gets his lawn in fine condition, and then comes the man who is careless or indifferent, or who ought to be kicked, and cuts across the lawn instead of going around by the walk. It may be that it is only the small angle which saves turning the street corner sharply, or it may be a path clean across a row of front lawns and round onto the side street. One man starts it, another man follows. The children find it convenient. The women, seeing a path started, think a little more will not make any difference, so they add the fine touch of their French heels. Presently, where only grass should be, green and slightly, there is an increasing stretch of bare earth, an eyecore when it's dry and a mud hole when it's wet.

And the queer part of it is that so many people who are particular about their own lawns don't feel the same at all by the time they get a block away from home.

THE INEVITABLE DECLINE.

The consensus of opinion on the price situation seems to be that prices will not really start falling much before next spring. This is not to be wondered at, for the upward climb has been going on for years, and the decline must necessarily be slow.

Moreover, one expert says: "We have made a careful study of the matter, and are in intimate first-hand touch with all markets, and it is our best judgment that the general level of commodity prices will rise somewhat before it starts on the inevitable decline."

If experts see an "inevitable decline" coming, even though it lags a bit, the ordinary individual, while finding patience necessary, may view the prospect with confidence. In the meantime the thing which will bring about the decline naturally and in the shortest time possible is, for people to live within their incomes, buy only what is needed and that of good quality, avoid luxuries, and keep a small margin of steady savings. Then when the good day comes, they will be able to meet it clean, and enjoy it, unhampered by the unpleasant necessity of paying old debts.

Ten men were sentenced to be hanged in Chicago the week before the convention, but think of all those that will be annihilated as a result of the convention.

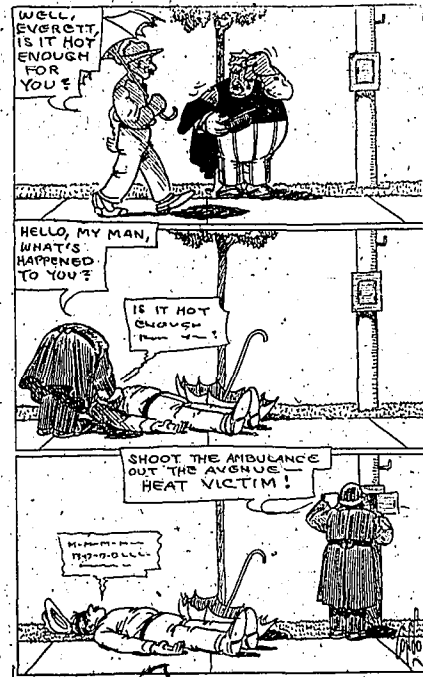

Pictures of prize hogs are to be shown in the movies. This will not include likenesses of famous profiteers, as the reels are in the interests of the "better sires" movement.

Senator Hardigg is said to be an expert coronist, typesetter and newspaper editor. Certainly well qualified to blow his own horn in this campaign, if he's so minded.

Peace and harmony at last in this distracted country! Republicans and democrats both say they're satisfied with the work of the Chicago convention.

Clothing is still reasonably priced—when a season's half over. No excuse for not being fashionably dressed the last part of the summer, at least.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

CANNING WITHOUT SUGAR SUCCESSFUL

By Sister Mary.
 The department of agriculture has just issued a bulletin urging housekeepers to can all the fruit possible without sugar if necessary.

"Canning without sugar is practical in the case of certain fruits, but the woman who attempts it in the ordinary home kitchen, with the usual domestic equipment, MUST keep the following facts in mind if she would do so successfully:

REMEMBER
 Sugar is a preservative.

In eliminating sugar you eliminate about 50 per cent of your safety of success.

CONSEQUENTLY
 To can successfully without sugar you must select perfect fruit.

You must have perfectly sterilized cans.

New and perfect rubbers.

AND
 You must produce in each sealed jar at least a 95 per cent perfect vacuum.

Choosing Your Fruit.
 Almost care must be taken in the selection of fruit to be canned in this way. Beware of over-ripeness. Bacteria breed quickly, and at the first indication of "speaking" or softening it is unsafe to attempt preserving by this method. Every woman has "put up" in the old days, fruit that was just on the borderland of being too ripe for use. We made our "butternut," "jams," etc., of this class of produce, and with success. But we used plenty of sugar at 4 cents a pound. We cannot afford to use sugar at 30 cents a pound with the old lavishness even if we could secure it. So don't run risks with other than perfect fruit.

Test Your Jars.
 If you use the old-fashioned jar, which is still the standby of most housewives, be absolutely sure that the grooves for the screw top are perfectly made. Your jars and lids before the rubbers are adjusted so that you are sure the lids will screw down straight and quickly. All of us have had the experience of a screw top lid going on slightly crooked, though apparently tight. Don't take chances of this sort in sugarcane canning. Also don't forget that the time and trouble taken in this matching up of your jars and lids will add to the speed of sealing, and speed in sealing each jar is a requisite in sugarcane canning.

Also be sure that the lids themselves are perfect. Most screw top lids—all, in fact, that are worth using—have an inner cap of white glass. This cap must be perfectly tight. Test each one with your fingers, and if it shows the slightest finger of looseness, discard the lid. There is air under the inner cap, and no way on earth—that I ever heard of—to get it out. And last, but not least, don't try to use old rubbers (aware of that economical trick of putting two old rubbers on a can instead of one new one) and inspect each carefully, discarding any that indicate the possibility of pin bubbles in the rubber.

Actual Process.

The whole success of keeping fruit without the aid of sugar as a preservative is to seal it in as perfect a vacuum as possible. A perfect vacuum cannot be produced outside a laboratory, but a quick-handed woman with strong wrists can go far toward producing air tight jars.

Here are the MUSTS:

The fruit must be boiling hot.

Cans, lids and rubbers must be sterilized.

Here is how I do it:

I can only give you a time. Place the empty can in hot water deep enough to reach within an inch and a half of the top of the can. The rubber has already been put in place.

Next, fill the can with the boiling fruit, using a can funnel so there is no danger of spilling any on the outside of the can and getting the rubber wet. When the can is filled to within about a quarter of an inch of the top, remove the funnel and carefully finish filling the can down with a spoon. Next, screw the lid down as tight as you can without lifting the jar out of the hot water. When you have done this, lift out the jar with a jar lifter (don't pick it up by the usually tightened top) protect your hands with towels, and twist the top down as tightly as possible. Allow the jars to stand upright until cool enough to handle with the bare hands on their heads in some place where they may remain without having to be moved for 24 hours.

Inspect each jar before storing in the fruit closet. If any show bubbles, open and re-can. There will be a slight unsealed space in the jar due to the contraction of the contents during the process of cooling.

Fastest Canned.
 Semi-tart berries that grow on bushes (strawberries are not in this class) are the easiest fruits to can without sugar. I always put in a good many sliced berries, blackberries and blueberries for pies and puddings. I never put sugar in these at the time of canning, and I have never lost a jar. Of course, I do not attempt to serve this type of fruit as a sauce and consequently it is always rebaked with sugar, thus bringing out the flavor. Blackberries, raspberries and grapes to be used for pies and puddings can be put up in this way, too, also, gooseberries and currants.

Tight Stumps.
 Cherries come under the class of fruits discussed above. They can be canned with a fair degree of safety without sugar, and can be made palatable at the time of using by the addition of the sweetener then, but most of the larger fruits cannot be put up with any great degree of success without at least a light syrup.

Besides the preservative value of sugar, in the case of peaches, plums, pears and quinces, it must be remembered that it takes much less time after it has cooled. Also fruit canned in sugar—even a very light sugar to adequately sweeten cooked fruit—will keep longer than fruit in a "light syrup" is made in the proportion of one cup of sugar to a quart of fruit.

There is no trick or mystery about canning. Luck has nothing to do with it. The process is perfectly simple and definite. Accuracy and care assure success.

RAILROAD PEOPLE ARE DISAPPOINTED

Broth-People Officials' Probably Will Submit Award to Referendum of Union-Holders Accept.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 20.—Whether the spectre of a nationwide railway strike has been laid by the $500,000,000 wage increase granted today to more than 1,800,000 railroad employees tonight remained undecided. Brotherhood officials made an attempt to conceal their disappointment that they did not get all of the billion dollar increase they asked. The belief grew, however, that they would submit the award, probably without recommendation to a referendum of the men. A decision on this point was promised tomorrow by W. G. Lou of Cleveland, grant president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, President H. Alford.

Railroad representatives accepted the award philosophically and immediately set about plans for passing the $500,000,000 addition to their wage budget along to the ultimate consumer—in this case the union men pays the freight. Armed with reliable advance knowledge as to what the award would provide, the railroads had their figures ready.

John L. M. Barton, chairman of the United States railway labor board, had hardly handed down his decision when E. T. Whittier, representing the more than 400 railroads involved, announced that the roads would need an increase of 15 per cent in freight rates to meet the load.

The Interstate commerce commission will be asked to accept the increase over both freight and passenger rates.

The $500,000,000 award represents a 21 per cent increase in the pay of the railway men. For the first time in history, the roads' payrolls this year will pass the three billion dollar mark. Mr. Whittier estimated the 1920 payrolls at $2,444,000,000, nearly double the $1,465,576,394 paid in 1916.

Is Retroactive.
The highest award was made retroactive to May 1, with provision that back pay for three months falls due August 1, when $150,000,000 is to be distributed in addition to the regular pay.

In its decision the board followed the "broad general policy laid down by the Interstate commission, established in 1915, that the man who received the least should get the most. On a percentage basis the biggest increases went to the unskilled and semi-skilled labor.

One notable exception to this rule was the yard service men whose 15 cents an hour increase topped all others. Here, the board explained, the declining factors were the extreme hazard to life and limb to the degree of skill required.

Today's award, if it is accepted by the men, will bring to a close, at least for the present, the board believes, the seemingly endless cycle of wage-cutting from the railway workers. Starting with the demands of 1916, which were met for a time by passage of the Adamson law, there has been an almost continuous procession of rail unions before various government boards and commissions, all demanding changes in pay.

Wanted More Money.
When the government took control of the roads in December, 1917, it found pending requests from many unions for more money. The Labor commission responded with a graduated scale ranging from a 43 per cent increase for the poorest paid men, to nothing for those getting above $245 a month. A series of adjustments followed.

In January 1919, Director General McAdoo received a request from the shop crafts asking that he add another $800,000,000 to the wage budget to meet the rising cost of living. The request hung fire for many months. In August of last year President Wilson appointed to the men to wait and give the government a chance to reduce the cost of living. They waited until this year, then pressed their request again.

Again the matter was deferred, as federal control of the roads was about to end. In February congress passed the transportation bill, providing new machinery in the labor board, to deal with the case, but it was not until the board was appointed on April 15 that work was begun.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that a Primary Election will be held on Tuesday, August 3rd, 1920, in each precinct in Twin Falls County. The polls will be open from one o'clock in the afternoon until seven o'clock in the evening.

The B. P. Round Roof

SOLVES THE BARN PROBLEM

Perhaps you need a new barn to properly protect your stock and crops. That means a building problem that we can help you solve in the best way. The barn shown above has been designed with great care. The practical needs of the farmer have been kept in mind as well as the necessity for economy. The result is a barn that is easy to build, is strong and substantial and provides large unobstructed storage space for hay. Heavy beams and braces have been done away with. The mow space is large and open and the Round Roof construction gives you more room for the same amount of side wall and floor space.

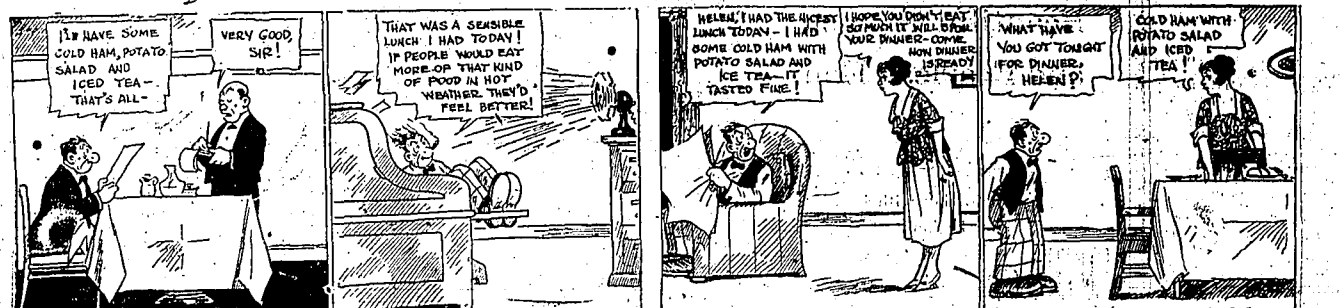

THE BEST SIZE FOR YOU

We are prepared to provide you with plans and specifications to build a Round Roof barn of any size you may need. The cost of construction is more reasonable than you imagine. Come in and talk it over—we're always glad to see you.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON CLOSE TO VICTORY

Shamrock Doing Well and Noted
Yachtman Stands Close Show of Getting the Cup.

By the Associated Press.
SANDY HOOK, N. J., July 20.—Sir Thomas Lipton tonight was nearer achieving the coveted cup of his life-lifting the American cup.

Today his "Irish sweetheart," Shamrock IV, ran up a total of two races to none against the American defender, Resolute, winning in a neck-to-neck contest by two minutes and 23 seconds corrected time and needing but one more victory to bear the bottomless power back to England.

There were cheers on Sir Thomas' steam yacht, Victoria, when Shamrock swept first across the line today, but there was a frown when the crew worked feverishly to free the jib topsail that fouled within the first few seconds of the contest.

This fouling permitted Resolute to glide into the lead.
Part of the first leg, the American boat kept to the fore, but when the British yacht, Shamrock IV, came within range, the British crew worked feverishly to free the jib topsail that fouled within the first few seconds of the contest.

This fouling permitted Resolute to glide into the lead.
Part of the first leg, the American boat kept to the fore, but when the British yacht, Shamrock IV, came within range, the British crew worked feverishly to free the jib topsail that fouled within the first few seconds of the contest.

Speculator crowd grouped at the first turn greeted Shamrock with tooting whistles, as she rounded 600 yards in the lead. Away on the second leg theyaped, with the challenger catching every outpaw and Resolute rolling in the doldrums. Capt. William F. Burton, who, it was reported, might be removed from command of Shamrock because of his showing in other races, was evidently making every effort to stage a comeback.
Resolute made a brave showing at the beginning of the third leg, and picking up at the turn fought her way home under the guidance of Capt. Charles Francis Adams, II, disputing every second. But it was no use and by the time Shamrock had coasted the line it was certain that she had won by a safe though narrow margin.

From the Spectator.
FROM A BEACON OVER RACING COURSE, July 20.—Variable winds which now waited advantage to the challenger and then shifted their transient favor to the American defender, made today's race for the international yacht trophy by far the most interesting yet farmed in New York since the harbor.

In contrast to the apparent inactivity of the crews of Shamrock IV and Resolute on the first trial of the second event, as viewed from the air today's spectacle gave the correspondent of the Associated Press the plot of his life-saving aerial observation station as much as they could do to keep up with the varied maneuvers the two sloops went through. The two rival sloops had their men darting here and there over slanting decks with lightning rapidity, or, warning at a word of command into the rigging to wrestle with a rebellious spar or sail which fouled in the settings.

Sailors in the Shrouds.
The green hulled challenger particularly, in the early stages of the contest kept a pair or more of her sailors in the shrouds a good part of the time.

Just after making a good relayway from the starting line, Shamrock IV, bungled the job of getting into on-sets on one of her sails before the start. It looked as though some rag had succeeded in wrapping itself about everything in sight except the breeze, which it avoided with many a flap and quiver.

Two figures on the challenger's deck shined up toward the masthead and the attending sails to see if from whatever point was cutting it to embrace the mast.

Though the weather was clear on the ground, a low hanging mist shortened the aerial panorama to only a few miles in each direction.

Objects directly below or within a radius of five miles or less, all around, were plainly visible from the aerial vantage extending 1,000 feet.

In 1912 he fought for the cause of progress. We won because we stood for reaction. And we shall win again.

"I will carry the cause to the people," said Governor Cox in conclusion. "We are not ashamed of the doctrine we proclaim. I am sure they will give me strength I will justify the confidence that has been reposed in me."

Mr. Roosevelt, referring to Governor Cox's statements regarding campaign funds, said the democrats would "lay all cards on the table, including campaign funds."

"I hope the other party will see, not only the wisdom but the good American spirit in not hiding its light under a bushel," said Mr. Roosevelt, who returned to Washington tonight.

Pulse for Cummings.
The governor and Mr. Roosevelt praised the services of the retiring chairman, Mr. Cummings, the former stating that Mr. Cummings' speech at San Francisco, made by every week, would make a campaign unnecessary.

Mr. White said he would announce his campaign plans later and urged united party assistance.
"As this campaign," said the new chairman, "has cost not dollars and cents to count, democracy is not on the defensive but ready to charge against the enemy."

The new chairman was reluctant to Mr. Moore in Governor Cox's convention campaign. His home is at Marietta, which district he represented in congress for three terms.
Mr. White was born and reared in Elmira, N. Y. He graduated from Princeton university while President Wilson was a professor.

Entering the oil business, Mr. White has amassed a comfortable fortune in oil drillings, but previously he found gold in the Klondike.
Mr. White today said he was a "dry" on prohibition affairs. In electing Mr. White chairman, the national committee re-elected all other officers, including William Marsh of Iowa, treasurer. The committee also added Miss Charles Williams of Tennessee to the vice chairmanship. J. J. Hughes of Des Moines, Iowa, was elected speaker at arms.

FORMER EMPRESS IS BURIED NEAR VILLAGE

FAIRBROOK, Minn., July 20.—Only a village of that magnitude which attended her eventful years as the wife of one of the most powerful monarchs in Europe marked the funeral this morning of the once brilliant Empress Eugenie at the little St. Michael's church near the quiet English village of Fairbrook.

Countess of Chambord, who accomplished the last rites, had there was an entire absence of state splendor. King George and Queen Mary of Great Britain, King Alfonso and Queen Victoria of Spain, the Duke of Connaught, the Duke of Monaco, members of the British royal family, former King Manuel of Portugal and former King Amadeo, as well as the Italian, Spanish and French ambassadors and other members of the diplomatic world, and their flunkeys to the last empress of the French. The chief mourners were Prince Victor Napoleon and Princess Clementine.

The mahogany casket ornamented with silver repoussé on a high crest in front of the altar, with the pall of black and gold, used at the funeral of the prince imperial, Eugene, was its only covering. There was a notable absence of wreaths and other floral decorations.

The services were of two hours' duration.
The churchmen and mourners formed a silent circle while the abbot concluded the rites. Then making a farewell cross at the head of the casket as they left, the churchmen with bowed heads filed out to the number accompaniment of the "Do Profundus."

Princess Clementine, as the last monarchess of the reigning dynasty, stepped reverently to the head of the coffin and kissed it with a show of restrained emotion. Her act was emulated by the other mourners. One by one they passed slowly out.

PRIORITY ORDERS ISSUED FOR SOFT COAL SHIPMENTS

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 20.—New emergency orders were issued today by the Interstate commerce commission giving priority in the movement of the winter stock of soft coal to the northwest.

More than a score of railways serving mines in western Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, West Kentucky and Tennessee, were directed by the commission not only to give preference in the movement of coal for the territory at the head of the Great Lakes, but also to give preference in the supply of cars for such shipments.

Coal operators within the district served by the railways will be required to fulfill the wants of the northwest before filling orders for other sections. The commission is directing the railways to place an embargo on such later movement, if it should be attempted, by the coal men.

The order becomes effective July 21. The orders are also expected to avert a threatened coal shortage in central Canada, a part of whose coal is moved by way of the lakes.

The orders may stand until the close of navigation on the Great Lakes about November 1. The northwest comprising upper Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, North and South Dakota and Montana, is estimated by coal men to be about 25,000,000 tons short of its requirements and to move this quantity would require the daily dumping of more than 4,000 cars at Lake Erie ports.

PEASANT SCYTHEMEN TO FIGHT THE BOLSEVIKI

By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, July 19.—Peasant scythemen of Modlin, reviving the tradition of the scythemen of Kosciutko who fought the Russians in 1794, marched through Warsaw today to take a stand against a possible invasion of the Bolshewiki.

There was a whole battalion of them, dressed in native costumes, each man armed with a sharpened scythe, which glinted in the sun as the peasants marched through the streets. Modlin fortress was built by Napoleon I. It has been the scene of many battles and was besieged by Germans in 1915. The peasants were all from the worst dying out, stepped reverently to the head of the coffin and kissed it with a show of restrained emotion. Her act was emulated by the other mourners. One by one they passed slowly out.
