

ALL FANDOM GRIEVES BECAUSE OF THE DEATH OF RAY CHAPMAN

Untimely End of Popular Player Is Cause of Sorrow Throughout America; Mays Is Heartbroken and Sensible Men Do Not Censure Him; Makes Statement to Authorities and Is Told It Was Purely Accidental.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—New York baseball fans paid final tribute tonight to Ray Chapman, shortstop of the Cleveland-American team, who died early today from the blow he received on the head from a pitched ball in the game between New York and Cleveland.

Tonight Chapman's body was put aboard a train for Cleveland where it is to arrive early tomorrow.

Today while the body lay at the undertaker's rooms, hundreds of baseball fans called to view it and tonight acted as an escort as the coffin was placed on a trunk car that carried it through the station to the train. The fans formed an aisle near the gates and stood with bare heads as the car, bearing the body passed through.

May Is Grieved.

While the death of Chapman has caused sorrow among the magistrates, players and fans, none seemed as deeply grieved as Carl Mays, the New York pitcher who delivered the ball that resulted in Chapman's death. After the game yesterday Mays went to his room and denied himself to all. He paced the floor during the night and when he would come today that Chapman had died, he broke down and said he desired to give himself up as soon as possible.

On his visit to the district attorney's office, Mays was accompanied by Charles McMurry, district manager of the Yankee's manager, Tris Speaker and Secretary Walter McNichols of the Cleveland club. Mays made his statement to Assistant District Attorney John F. Joyce. The district attorney listened with care and barely able to tell his story, said:

Was Straight Ball.

"It was a straight fast ball and not a curved one. When Chapman came to bat, I got the signal for a straight ball, which I delivered. It was a little too close and I saw Chapman duck his head to get out of the path of the ball. He was too late, however, and a second later he fell. It was the most respectable incident of my career and I would have given anything if I could undo what has happened."

After hearing Mays' story, Mr. Joyce said he thought Chapman's death was accidental.

Manager Evers of the Cleveland club, talking with Colonel Huston, part owner of the Yankees, said the accident was unavoidable.

"I do not hold Mays responsible," he added. "I have been active in discouraging my players from holding Mays responsible, and in respect to Chapman's memory as well as for the good of baseball I hope all talk of this kind will stop. I can realize Mays feels as deeply as any man, could, and I do not want to add anything to his burden. I do not know what prompted the action of the Boston and Detroit players. For my part I think it is deplorable."

Speaker referred to the report from Boston that the players would not play in subsequent games with Mays.

Grief Is General.

Grief for the popular shortstop cut deep into the hearts of his admirers as soon as it became known that an operation had failed to save his life. The thought that the diamond tragedy would spoil the chances of the Cleveland and New York teams for the American pennant was general.

At the hotel, Mrs. Chapman, who arrived from Cleveland several hours after her husband breathed his last, refused to receive the proffered consolation of his friends and teammates. An except for Tris Speaker who would "see for me one."

Earlier she announced her intention of going to the undertaking parlors, but later when it was learned that the body could be moved to Cleveland tonight she declared she would wait until her husband home.

The post mortem examination of the body brought no new information. According to the autopsy report, Chapman died from a blow in the temporal region which fractured the skull, depressing part of the bone, which caused an inter-cranial hemorrhage.

Colonel Huston said he was deeply troubled by Chapman's death. "I am terribly sorry that Chapman was killed," he said. "I'm sorry such an accident had to happen in our park or that any of our team had any connection with it. It is unfortunate that it should have been Mays pitched the ball, because of the tremendous publicity he has had. I can't say any more."

Game Called Off.

Thousands of fans, most of whom did not know Chapman had died, gathered to see today's game. They dispersed when told that the shortstop had died and that the game had been called off.

Baseball experts declared that cases of batter being killed in professional games were very rare as far as known not more than two or three have met such death. The most recent was that of John Dillinger of the Southern association, killed about three years ago.

John A. Heydler, president of the National League, announced that flags at all national league parks would be flown at half staff for the remainder of the week and that players would wear mourning insignia.

Most players here discount reports from Boston and other places that they are serious opposition permitting them to play in subsequent games.

Detroit won and lost today; Boston winning first game in the opening inning with a triple, double and three singles. Schube had the better of Harper in the second, content. The Fenway park flag hung at half mast in memory of Ray Chapman.

Because Kelly Springfield tires are seen on so many of the highest priced motor cars, some people have the impression that only the wealthy can afford them. But people of means are usually very careful spenders; that's one reason why they are rich. They buy Kellys because they know that in spite of the slightly higher initial cost, it is real economy to buy a tire that will outlast two of ordinary make.

How the Increased Freight Rates Will Affect Twin Falls

The new schedules will add about $1,400,000,000 to the income of our railroads and the burden, as many of the leading papers state, must be borne by the consumer.

To meet the railroad deficit and cost of the recent $600,000,000 wage increase, freight rates in East are to go up 40 per cent, in the West 35 per cent and in the Mountain-Pacific territory 25 per cent.

It is estimated that it means a per capita tax of $12 to $15 on every man, woman and child in the country.

These figures look big and the press has led you to believe that this is going to make the merchandise you buy higher.

Let us ease your mind by saying that the Idaho Department Store will not add one cent profit to the merchandise they sell on account of the increase in freight rates and wage increase.

What the country needs today is improved service, prompt shipments of merchandise, quick turnovers.

These things will tend to decrease rather than increase prices.

Market conditions do not justify radical reductions on any line of merchandise for fall, 1920. However, everything points to better conditions for spring, 1921. This store for the fall 1920 will continue to do business as usual, giving the best of service, selling quality merchandise at the right prices, carrying in every department complete assortments, bought in quantities direct from the manufacturers, selected by expert buyers whose years of experience has taught them what our people desire.

Our New York buyer of women's ready-to-wear wares from New York that she has purchased—the largest and best selected lines ever secured for this department—the very latest styles and new models that are different from those shown early.

New shipments of Fall merchandise are arriving daily. Feel free to come in often and familiarize yourself with the new things.

ANOTHER BRITISH BLUNDER

England, usually just in governmental matters, is always at its worst in its treatment of Ireland. The latest Irish bill introduced into parliament by Lloyd George is no exception. In fact, it seems worse than usual in its drastic and inopportune provisions.
 This bill purports to be a measure for the "restoration of order in Ireland." What it does is to establish practically a military regime in Ireland. It proposes to set up military tribunals for the handling of criminal offenses. This, as it is naturally pointed out by critics of the measure, makes military offenses of crimes which have always been regarded as civil offenses, and which the Irish themselves seem convinced are "political."
 It means, therefore, not cancellation but army rule. It means more "black" rule in Ireland, more repression—and consequently, more rebellion.
 Surely, after so many generations of experience, the British should realize that, since justice from any question of essential justice and humanity, this will not work. The more the Irish are repressed and punished, the more they resist. This measure, instead of "restoring order," is sure to ferment more disorder. From the standpoint of expediency alone, the British would do far better to deal with Ireland more leniently and humanely.

Perhaps this bill has been inspired by the fact that the Sinn Fein, the power functioning in the name of the Irish republic, has its courts now, which handle all ordinary civil cases. These native courts are thronged while the established British courts lay deserted. It is well that convicted criminals nequely cheerfully in the punishments inflicted by their own courts. What headway can be made against a spirit like that?

An American Legion committee room was offered by Dr. Passer, post commander, saying that there is an extra room in the suite occupied by himself and others, and that it could be used for this purpose.

Various other matters came before the meeting and was disposed of with quietness; that he send for the Victory dispatch. It was decided that the territory should send a circular letter to every member of the legion...

MAYOR'S STATEMENT HELPS RECRUITING

Twin Prospective Recruits Advantages of Belonging to the American Navy

In order to assist the recruiting officer of the local navy flag station overcome the misunderstanding about the navy, Mayor W. H. Eldridge has issued the following statement, in which he presents a short explanation of the purposes and policy of the navy:

"Our navy, often termed the nation's first line of defense, is accorded here as elsewhere as of the utmost importance, and it must be kept up to the full standard of its strength by its enlisted personnel, the United States navy offers fair treatment and opportunity for education, whole some recreation, interesting and instructing travel and a general atmosphere of right living and right thinking.

"It provides a training that any young man will find of marked value throughout his lifetime.

"I, therefore, respectfully ask that the people of the city of Twin Falls cooperate with the navy in securing recruits and that the young men of our city call at the navy recruiting station, civil service examining room, postoffice building, and investigate the navy's splendid schools.

(Signed)
"W. H. ELDRIDGE, Mayor."

BULLETIN EXPLAINS PROCEDURE DETAILS

Application for Victory Medals Are for Ex-Army Men—Arrangements for Navy Later.

According to a bulletin issued from the office of the adjutant of the Idaho department of the American Legion, some misunderstanding exists concerning applications for the Victory medal, especially with reference to former members of the navy and marine corps.

The bulletin states that the applications handled by the legion pertain only to ex-army men or their next of kin. It states that the marine corps and navy have not yet completed their arrangements for the distribution of medals and no applications are to be made at present by men from these branches of the service.

Giving further information, the bulletin continues:

"Indications are that medals will be mailed to members of the naval reserve force without the necessity of application, and that former navy men, not members of the reserve, may obtain them by applying to the nearest navy recruiting station."

"The marine corps will commence the distribution of medals about the latter part of October. Applications will be made direct to the nearest marine corps recruiting office, either in person or by mail. No special form will be required, though discharge certificate or copy must be presented. In the case of deceased marines, medal will be mailed to the next of kin, without application."

"This of course does not in the least affect the legion's plan for presentation ceremonies. When medals are received, they may be turned in to commanders of local legion posts for formal distribution on Armistice day."

ESSEX San Francisco to New York 3357 Miles 4 Days 14 Hours 43 Minutes

Lower Transcontinental Record by 12 Hours 48 Min. Another Essex Going From New York to San Francisco Broke the Record For That Direction by 22 Hours 13 Min., Completing the Trip In 4 Days 19 Hours 17 Minutes.

So Essex Holds the Transcontinental Record Both Ways

Two Essex touring cars, carrying U. S. Mail, each one making the entire trip between San Francisco and New York, have set the time records for their respective directions across the American continent. And thus comes to Essex another distinction for reliability and endurance.

Except for one airplane record, these two Essex cars have crossed the continent in less time than was ever recorded by any travelling machine. The fastest time possible between San Francisco and New York by train is slightly less than the time taken by the light weight economical Essex. But in the case of the railroad train, many different locomotives are used, each pulling the train only a few hundred miles.

The World's Most Coveted Records

From Cheyenne to Omaha the route taken by the Essex was 43 miles longer than the 550 mile route of the famous Overland Limited yet the Essex time was but one hour longer than the express train time.

From the days of the Prairie Schooner, the Pony Express and the completion of the railroads men have sought to establish new transcontinental time records between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

It has called for the highest development of skill and courage. And it has, as in the case of the motor car, blazed the way to mechanical reliability.

The purpose of this Essex test was to prove its reliability. In the period of 114 hours was crowded more strains, more calls for endurance and mechanical strength than the average owner demands in a life time.

Every requirement of motor car performance was met by these two cars. And the fact that they so consistently met their tasks proves Essex uniformity.

The speeds at which they traveled were not so unusual, for another Essex stock car had on a speedway track gone 3037 miles in 50 hours. But in the transcontinental runs, some 350 cities and towns had to be crossed. Crowded traffic imposed its obstacles to consistent going. Mountain ranges in the East and West with grades such as the average driver never encounters, called for the utmost of hill climbing ability.

Few will ever motor all the way across America and therefore cannot know the extreme varieties of conditions encountered. But let each reader apply to his consideration of what Essex has done, every experience he has ever met in his own driving. It will give some appreciation of Essex reliability.

Light Weight Now Establishes Reliability

How gradual have men come to a realization that a light weight car can also offer reliance and performance.

Essex has led the way for that was its purpose from the very first. Economy is of growing importance. Men want to save in fuel and in first costs. But they want no sacrifice in performance and they demand unquestioned reliability.

Essex offered itself to the public without claim. Now more than 40,000 owners know and praise its worth.

Owner cars that had been driven upwards of 25,000 miles were used in the recent nation wide Essex week to establish reliability, economy, speed and hill climbing records.

To Essex owners the winning of the transcontinental records is not a surprise. But those who do not know Essex performance and reliability must regard these two trips across the continent as an important event in marking mechanical advancement as a similar event in the history of the motor car.
