By the Associated Press.
WARSAW, Aug. 30.—Bolshevik officers taken prisoner by the Poles say that the Polish army will meet serious resistance until it reaches the line running the railroad points of Vilna, Lida, Baranovich and Luninets.

Without messages have been sent broadcast to scattered units of the Bolshevik army remaining in Polish territory asking them to try and rally at Minsk, according to a wire, less message intercepted by the Polish general staff. It is urged that their reorganization be rushed as far as possible.

This intercepted message also noted the complaint of Bolshevik division commanders because they had received unarmed soldiers as reinforcements.

The message indicated that the remnants of the Bolshevik troops in Poland will be divided into two armies. Northern headquarters would be established at Minsk and southern headquarters at Rowno.

Leon Trotsky is expected to take personal supreme command of both armies.

BOLSHIEVSKI ADVANCE

WARSAW, Aug. 30.—An official communication issued tonight says that General Budenny's drive, designed to cut the Polish front, has made further progress. The 15th army forces are moving slowly in the direction of Zamosc, northwest of Lemberg, despite Polish resistance. The fighting in Galicia has taken a favorable turn for the Poles, according to the statement, the Poles occupying a series of places.

"On the northern front," the communication continues, "the Polish vanguards on the line to Grajewo, Osewets, Bialystok and Brest, Litzk have occupied Sokolka, Zolinka, Orzechow, Caschy, Podhorze and Werchowice. Along the Bug the local fighting has been favorable to the Poles, who have regained Horodlo and Matczelo.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Plans of the five big meat packing concerns of the country for disposition of their "side lines" business other than the butchering of meat and packing of meat and produce, which was provided for in the divorce decree arranged by the packers and the department of justice, several months ago, will be filed with the court next few days in the District of Columbia supreme court.

The plans to be filed are expected to give the first information to the public as to what is to be done with the stockyards.

He has been held at Chanute, Kansas.

RAILROADS OF COUNTRY MUST NOW RELY ON THE PROFITS THEY CAN EARN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Railroads of the country will begin operations on their own resources tomorrow night after having cost the government approximately $100,000,000 monthly for the six months in which their earnings were guaranteed by the transportation act. The carriers will be allowed further aid from the government only through loans from revolving funds.

Earnings of the roads will fall about $600,000 below their standard return for the period since March 1, according to estimates today by the bureau of railway economics. Power than half a score of lines have produced revenue sufficient to equal actual operating expenses, which figures do not include the fixed charges of interest, taxes and dividends. Definite figures on the cost to be given of the earnings guarantee provisions of the transportation act will not be known for several months.

Most of all the roads have indicated already that they will have money coming to them as a result of the guarantee. The treasury has received dozens of certifications for advances under the guarantee within the last ten days and more are expected tomorrow, Secretary Houston said. If the roads do not ask for an advance again probably deficits must wait for a final compilation of the sums the government owes.

Accept Progress.
Many lines have accepted the government's proposal for a division of surplus above the standard return and guarantee of earnings should the guarantee fall short. All of those accepting the proposal will be entitled to a final adjustment of accounts by the treasury and the payment where the revenues run low of the guaranteed amounts.

At the first four months of the guarantee period March, April, May and June, railroad revenues stopped actual figures.

The March revenue reported a net deficit of $13,700,000, while there was a deficit of $21,700,000 in April, $11,500,000 in May and $7,700,000 in June.

Mr. Parmelee also estimated a deficit for July and August basing his calculations on the results of the same months last year. Traffic in those two months established a record for volume in which the lines were to be guaranteed only $2,000,000 and $1,500,000, respectively, for July and August, but the actual return of $75,000,000 a month. Additional expenses not yet accounted for, Mr. Parmelee said, probably would cut down the revenues for the two months. The wage award, he said, would mean a loss of $50,000,000 to operating expenses for each month, while about $300,000,000 in back pay to employees will come out of the earnings of July and August, unless the corporations have sufficient funds on hand to draw on a reserve.

STRIKE IN BROOKLYN BOTHERS BROOKLYNITES

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—With the strike brooding Brooklyn Rapid Transit System, able to operate only sixty-one two-car elevated and subway trains and no surface cars, thousands of Brooklynites went home tonight on motor trucks, furniture vans, buses and other vehicles. Other thousands walked across the East river bridge. Those who were lucky rode in the trolleybuses which have one line to operate.

Nearly a thousand emergency municipal buses carried passengers over established routes for five cents. City officials announced they were on the trail of bus profiteers who are charging exorbitant prices.

No attempt will be made to run surface cars in Brooklyn tonight. It is said.

The public service commission held a hearing late today in an effort to bring about a settlement, but did not complete its inquiry. It announced that the chief disagreement is over arbitration.

Lynching of Negro Likely to Lead to Clash National Guard Called Out to Keep Order.

By the Associated Press.
OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 30.—Directions that all national guard units in Oklahoma City be held in readiness for duty in connection with possible race trouble growing out of the lynching of Claude Chandler, a negro here last night, were issued today by Adjutant General C. F. Barrett.

General Barrett's order followed a day of rumors concerning threatened clashes between whites and negroes as a result of the lynching. Chandler was arrested Saturday following a raid upon an alleged moonshiner's den near Arcadia, Okla., in which Stanton Wells, federal prohibition officer, Homer Adrean, deputy sheriff, and Charles Chandler, father of Claude Chandler were killed.

General Barrett said tonight: "My order is in the way of caution that the lynching has created a condition of special delicacy which may produce a need for troops very suddenly."

ROOSEVELT KNOCKS THE THEORIES OF HARDING

By the Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 30.—Senator Harding's statements how he would conduct the primary have drawn a chill into republican campaign in the west. Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic vice-presidential nominee, declared in an address tonight: "Visions of the senate cabal, of power behind the chief magistrate will not down, he said."

"The Penrose and Smoots and Lodge are at least no more popular than in the past, the people want a leader, not a syndical presidency."

Mr. Roosevelt spoke in the afternoon at both Delphia and Monticello. The speaker touched on the league of nations issue and the republican campaign fund. Then again turned to his findings in the west. He declared that portion of the country is eating up the republican candidates are not to visit it.

"There are vivid memories of Mr. Hughes' disastrous campaign to the political Pacific coast in 1916," he said, adding, "that failure was called because Hughes' one great argument was that everything any democrat had ever defended ended in catastrophe. He was ungenerous."

"They lost a reputation of 1918. There will be a reputation of it on a bigger scale."

"Republican mayors of cities, public delegates to state conventions are out in the open wearing 'Cox buttons.' They are thinking, and their ranks are growing the custom of New Yorkers to forget daily."

Mr. Roosevelt said the people are coming to know how Senator Harding proposed to enter with property, labor, and the people for change of laws, which have without doubt been of great good to the nation. Especially are the voters anxious not to change back to methods now thoroughly discredited, and they remember the duty of financial crisis and the calling of farm mortgages. They are now prosperous taking it by and large, and they want them and measure to round out that property along national lines, not to repeat the mistake for it for political reasons."

Mr. Roosevelt planned to go to Columbus, Ohio, immediately following his address here and confer with Governor Cox, the democratic presidential candidate.

DENIES REPORT

Says Statement of Hays Regarding Contribution from Wells Is Without Any Foundation

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 30.—Answering testimony of Will H. Hays, chairman of the republican national committee before the senate subcommittee investigating campaign expenditures in Chicago today, Governor Cox declared tonight that "the wets have not contributed a dollar to my campaign and I have not any." The governor added that neither had the "dregs" contributed.

The governor's statement was made after reading newspaper accounts of the hearing of Chicago before which "Hays and Hays read a letter, purporting from J. T. Carroll, president of the New Jersey Federation of Liquor Interests, asking for contributions to help elect Cox."

"It is very well understood in this state, in particular," Governor Cox said, "that the wets have not been active in politics for some time. Official reports to the secretary of state show that in the last year or two the wets have not apparently been able to make large campaign contributions for wet referendums. If Mr. Hays will take the time to investigate the official reports in Ohio, he will find that the wets have never contributed a cent to any of my campaigns."

Statement is Absurd.
The governor declared any statement to the effect that the wets are contributing to his campaign to be "heard on his face," adding that he only made reply, because "silence might be misconstrued."

The governor returned today from his eastern tour. He will speak at the Ohio state fair tomorrow afternoon on particularities. He stated that he is preparing a statement on "the last plan," meaning the plan for a world court of justice recently outlined by Senator Harding.

The governor said he had been surprised to learn that New York "has it generally in mind to make the world court of justice a general interest in politics as a whole."

Kirksey had just returned with Charles W. Hudlock of Los Angeles, another sprinter, from Paris for the medal presentations. Kirksey had tickets, but when he tried to enter the dressing rooms, he was attacked by the guards who apparently had orders, which were unknown to the Americans to be used only by football players.

DEMOCRATS NOMINATE PROVO FOR GOVERNOR

SALT LAKE CITY, Aug. 30.—T. N. Taylor of Provo, was nominated for governor on the sixth ballot at the democratic convention. The platform adopted declares allegiance to and express firm belief in the principles of progressive democracy, for the league of nations as proposed by President Wilson and adherence to the platform adopted by the democratic national convention and pledges support to Governor Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic candidates for the presidency and vice presidency.

The sugar issue, according to Congressman Wellington who delivered the keynote convention speech, will be the weapon of the democrats in Utah in the coming campaign. He attacked the sugar interests of the state and charged that from that source would come the greatest opposition to a democratic state victory.

Other nominations, were as follows:

Secretary of state, E. D. Thomas, University of Utah professor; attorney general, E. D. Dobbie of Ogden; justice of supreme court (10 year term), Harold Stevens of Salt Lake; state superintendent of public schools, L. J. Muir of Bountiful.

Investigating Board Fails to Find Republican Campaign Fund of $15,000,000

THREE MILLION DOLLARS
EXPENDITURES PLANNED

Questioning of Hays, G. O. P. Chairman Shows the Party Expects to Spend Much Less Than Charged

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—An extended examination today of Will H. Hays, republican national chairman, by the senate committee investigating expenditures failed to throw any light on the $15,000,000 fund, which Governor Cox charged the republican party was seeking "in an attempt to corrupt the American electorate and buy the presidency."

"The committee also heard Representative M. D. Flood of Virginia, chairman of the democratic congressional campaign committee and former representative J. L. Throckmold of Kentucky, chairman of the committee. The outstanding points in the maze of figures through which the committee struggled were: Testimony by Mr. Hays that the republican national committee budget for the presidential campaign called for expenditure of $7,729,937.25.

Declarations by Mr. Cummings that, allowing for the increased cost of printing, clerical hire, rents, transportation and all necessities of a national campaign, a national committee should be able to stage a "reasonable and stiff campaign with 'fair, honest publicity' for $2,000,000, even that amount of money, he said, the national chairman need not worry over finances.

Million for Donation.
Mr. Hays also testified the republican national committee was seeking to raise approximately $15,000,000 to be donated to the various committees for their local campaigns, making a total of slightly more than $4,000,000 in the republican campaign chest for all purposes.

Mr. Cummings declared he believed this amount was excessive and pointed to 1908 campaign, saying he believed in his life. He knew of the statement the republicans spent $250,000 in that year. He considered this was too much for a commonwealth of that size.

"I have seen a state committee run wild," he said, "you get an accumulated expenditure which in itself is an outstanding evidence of corrupt purpose. I suggest that this is just what is going to happen with the republicans this year."

"Have any party any monopoly in this practice," asked Senator Lodge. "There is no monopoly of the system," rejoined Mr. Cummings. "But there is no doubt republican excess in the direction."

Neither chairman knew of any large individual contributions and Mr. Hays was rather positive that the republican plan to limit individual contributions to $1,000 was being carried out. He said he knew of the 25 exceptions to the rule, the largest being for $5,000, two for $5,000 each and $5 for lesser amounts. Mr. Cummings testified that the committee was actually poverty stricken when he assumed the office and that he left to his successor $651 in cash and a net indebtedness of slightly more than $100,000.

Agree On One Thing.
The two chairmen agreed that legislation looking to "federal control of presidential campaign" was desirable. Sen. Penrose argued that congress was powerless at present because the supreme court had held that presidential elections were state affairs.

A suggestion that a constitutional amendment might be necessary to prevent congress "outright" of presidential campaigns brought from Mr. Hays a proposal that the parties "make a deal" to effect a change in the basic law.

Earlier in the day Mr. Hays had hoped that this committee would recommend the parties "make a deal" to effect a change in the basic law.

GOT THAT IN "CIVIL" WAR

Good Reason Why Veteran Did Not Care to Dwell Particularly on That Scar.

A much-bruised veteran occupied a seat in a Bristol car. Opposite sat a benevolent-looking old man.

"I should think so, sir," replied the warrior. "This scar across my brow, this seam down my cheek, and this cloven chin, each cost more than one life in a hand-to-hand fight."

"I hear me," said the old man. "I can quite believe it. And how did you come by that deep indentation on your nose?"

"The warrior hung his head and seemed unwilling to reply.

"Come, now, Joseph," said the better half, who was seated beside him, "tell the gentleman how you got that one."

"You keep quiet, Maria!" snarled the warrior.

"I won't," snapped Maria. "It irritates me to hear you bragging of the marks you got in France, while you ignore the most noticeable of 'em all—the one I gave you when I hit you with the fire shovel."—London Times.

The Robber's Waterloo.

"Emory Flint, the president of the stone bank, was kidnaped by a robber yesterday morning," relates the headline of the Bulletin tavern.

"He was in his own yard, and in his shirt sleeves, mowing the lawn, when the villain drove up in a snorting Hootin' Nanny car and compelled him at the point of a pistol, to get in and then went roaring off with him in a south-easterly direction. The supposition was that the scoundrel expected to hold him for ransom. Just at dusk last night Emory came back in the Hootin' Nanny. He was wearing a coat and a positive smile, and also his pants and shirt. In a pocket of the coat was a pistol, and there was a bundle of clothes in the bottom of the car. When asked about the fate of the bandit he snickered, smiled and said he presumed likely the villain would be hanged somewhere."—Kansas City Star.

Scotland and England.

The legislative union of Scotland and England took place on May 1, 1707. The act of union among other things, provided for fairly proportionate parliamentary representation and safeguarded ecclesiastical and judicial institutions. It did not guarantee the official use of the Gaelic language, which was not the official language of Scotland but only of a fraction of the population. The language of Scotland then as now, was English, with certain local differences of pronunciation. Much of the purest English of that time was written by Scotsmen. The Free church separated from the Established church of Scotland in 1843.

Philadelphia babies are beginning to mimic the cries of street vendors, and fond parents are horrified to learn that sometimes the first word a baby says is "racks," according to Mrs. Imogen B. Oakley, who led a discussion on shouting street vendors at a meeting of the weekly conference in the City Club. For the street vendor who cries his wares the members of the conference had no kind words. He was said to be nothing short of an abomination to the peace of Philadelphia.—Philadelphia Ledger.

That Way Now.

Recently the newspapers contained the information that the doctors in a certain city were thinking of founding a union. Mr. A., a lawyer, read the item to his wife. "Now that looks like," he commented, "regular hours and pay-and-a-half for overtime. They surely deserve that as well as do other working people."

"Yes," she agreed, patiently, "but, John, do you suppose Dr. T. (their family doctor) will still keep on in his overtime hat?"

Country Aspects In New York City

End of Manhattan Island.

CONSUME up the picture presented to the average tourist by the words "New York City" and it's dollars to the doughnuts that made the "Salvation Army" famous that the picture will be a conglomeration of skyscrapers, crowded tenements, and thronged narrow streets. Yet the New York City as the city man knows it is clearly none of these; it contains picturesque truck farms of 100 acres or so; rough, rocky precipices that would do credit to a mountain country, bits of exquisite wooded scenery, spots of overgrown wood with underbrush as to be all but impenetrable, acres of rich pasture land where grassy pastures, contented cows browsing on a portion of Mother Earth whose price per square foot runs into large figures—all these and more may be found within the 300-sq.-mile square of the wonder city, by whomsoever has eyes to see and who knows his New York, says the Christian Science Monitor.

Within its confines are mercantile establishments which are a marvel of completeness, comfort, and ingenuity, and only a few short miles away are country crossroads general stores.

Which would look more in place in Poland Corner. From the tower of the great office building, served by so many persons each day that it is sometimes less than a half hour between deliveries of mail, you can on a clear day view outlying communities.

Within the greater city, where the mail service is so rapid, and so efficient that the western farmer with his rural route box has all the advantages. Here are found more variety and contrast, more lights and shadows, more rich and poor, more contrasts than contrasted with splendid buildings than could be found anywhere else in America within many a day's journey.

Site of Old Fort George. To the city man one of the most satisfying visits, a visit which never loses its charm or variety, is the brief one which greets the eye at the historic site of old Fort George in upper Manhattan. When reached by the subway, the visitor in alighting at the 101st street station platform is at once aware that he is deep below the surface of the ground. From the vaulted roof of the "tube" he hears the drip, drip of water from deep underground springs that will not be closed and which all human ingenuity has been unable to cope with.

To the left he sees the entrance to New York's famous tunnel street, a connection-hollowed out of solid rock to the roadway of upper Broadway, which here runs deep down in the valley between the over the rocky slopes of the northern end of the island. Then taking the elevator, the impression of depth is confirmed and the visitor goes up and up and up until the surface is reached nearly 200 feet above the level at which heighted from the train.

View of Hills and River. A short walk brings one to the site of Fort George, whence the country for miles is seen in all directions, a wonderful variety and charm. But before one has opportunity to give it more than a passing glance there is a rumble and a roar and almost beneath one's feet there rushes a busy subway, expressing out of the hills to continue its journey above the travel of the streets of the valley instead of below, so very far below, one's feet. As the long train, so far beneath that it seems almost to be a valley below the way over the rocky structure, from station to station and thence out of sight, one finds opportunity to regard other more beautiful and less noisy features of the view.

Turning his eyes away from the valley below he sees the tops of the tall apartment houses, their roofs so far below him that they and the noisy cars, autos, and trucks are easily forgotten and looking instead at wooded hillside and glimpse of the broad waters of the Hudson, with the bend of the majestic Palisades in the distance, it is easy for the city man to imagine that he is no longer in the great city, but far away in some distant corner of the country. There are no houses to mar the view, only the billings establishment which occupies the spot of Fort Tryon, the perfect harmony of which only enhances the effect.

Truck Farms on Broadway. A few blocks to the north, on Broadway, are truck farms of 100 acres or so, rough, rocky precipices that would do credit to a mountain country, bits of exquisite wooded scenery, spots of overgrown wood with underbrush as to be all but impenetrable, acres of rich pasture land where grassy pastures, contented cows browsing on a portion of Mother Earth whose price per square foot runs into large figures—all these and more may be found within the 300-sq.-mile square of the wonder city, by whomsoever has eyes to see and who knows his New York, says the Christian Science Monitor.

Chinese Government Derives a Hand-some Revenue From the Tea Markets of Szechuan Province.

The tea trade of Tatsienlu, in the Chinese province of Szechuan, near the Tibetan border, was first started in the reign of Yung Cheng, some 200 years ago. At that time, it is said, Tatsienlu did not exist as a town, but tents were pitched in the valley, and the Tibetans gathered and bartered on the occasion of religious fairs.

The tea trade has now established under government control, yielding a handsome revenue. Licenses are issued quarterly, and taken up by over 100 firms engaged in the trade. Each license costs one taol in Chinese money, equivalent to about 80 cents in American exchange. The license allows the holder to import five baies of tea into Tatsienlu, more being permitted according to requirements.

Ten has become almost indispensable to the Tibetans, hence they are naturally drawn to the tea market, to which they bring their own products for sale or exchange. One of the largest firms in Tatsienlu buys as many as 20,000 baies, others 10,000 baies. The total regular licenses issued annually is given as 105,000. The licenses were formerly issued at Chengtu, but the authority was transferred to Tatsienlu in 1918.

Under the old arrangement, the tax was paid when the tea actually passed the local customs at Tatsienlu. Now it is paid when the licenses are issued, or within three months of that time. The annual turnover is fully 1,000,000 taels. Since the trade has been established so long, it has probably reached its maximum, but with serious competition from India, which the Chinese have feared for many years, the trade in Tatsienlu would decline materially.

Wanted Her Fish. Augustine Birrell, some time ago, while traveling in a third-class railway carriage from London to England, sat down hurriedly next to a little girl in slaw and clops. Happening to glance at her a moment or two afterward, he saw that she was regarding him with no great favor. It dawned upon him that he was sitting on her newspaper. "Here, my dear," said Mr. Birrell, pulling the paper from under him and handing it to her. "I'm sorry."

The little girl did not look quite satisfied, but she said nothing till, a few minutes later, the train drew up at a station. "Please, sir," she then inquired meekly, "may I have my fish?" "It was in the paper," New Commonwealth.

Swift Times. "Profoundly well," we've been in "clover six months now."

His Wife. "A few months more and we will belong to the old aristocracy."

"I'm a nothing, unimportant, so can any man who hasn't a private stock himself or a friend with one."

DEATH OF MRS. HANNAH D. PIKE

Mrs. Hannah D. Pike, aged 79 years died suddenly Sunday morning at asphyxiation at the home of her son, Dr. W. F. Pike, of this city. She had rested the evening before in apparently as good health and spirits as could be expected in one of her age although for the last two years she had become more and more feeble. She was stricken along toward morning and never regained consciousness. By a mere coincidence, her son, Curtis F. Pike, superintendent of the government assay office at Boise, at whose home she is accustomed to spend her winters, arrived Saturday by auto with his family for a visit. The reunion thus proved doubly fortunate. The body was sent Monday morning for burial, to the old home at St. Joseph, Ill., attended by Dr. W. F. Pike.

THE CITY MAN AND THE FAIR

A more intelligent interest on the part of the city people in the rural fair would be to the benefit of all concerned.

As a rule, the city man loads his friends into the car and drives out to the fair to be amused. The visitors glance casually at the exhibits, bet on the races and go home, all of which means that with an unusual opportunity to learn what the farmers are doing, the man who depends upon them for food remains in his abysmal ignorance.

The man who goes to the county fair with his eyes and mind open will see the best results of the highest farm intelligence. He will see the fruits of a battle fought with as great courage and vision as are involved in the stiffest city enterprise. He will acquire a new respect for the farmer as a business man working steadily to improve his methods and his product, and will learn the true relation of that improvement to the quality of the food upon his own table.

As he realizes what the farmers are trying to accomplish, he will see that farm and city are not too widely separated and bitterly opposed interests, but have instead a common objective and are intimately independent, and he will come to a new realization of the responsibility of the city in the development of the farm, and a new determination to bear his share of that responsibility.

THE STANARIZED TEASPOON

Ours is a government of tremendous projects and small details. The Department of Agriculture, having brought the country safely to a bumper harvest, now turns its attention to the teaspoon. The spoon is to be standardized.

We are used to glaring at the quart measure and regarding the hushel basket with a stern, appraising eye. The happy days when grandma used to make a cake out of her own head long since gave way before the steady advance of domestic science with a half-pint cup rampant on its shield, but somehow the teaspoon escaped the reformer's eagle glance. But not so with the discerning eye of the government. It has looked upon the teaspoon and pronounced it a cheater. With all its simplicity, it is full of guile and must be reformed. Sometimes it pretends to hold full measure and holds only half.

Sometimes it holds more than it should, and the cook puts too much soda in the pancake. False, fleeting, perfidious teaspoon! From now on it will conform to decreed dimensions, and when used as a measure will not be hoaxed but filled exactly level.

What a difference this will make in all our lives! A great, paternal government cannot allow even a teaspoon to betray a trusting nation.

1776 IN IRELAND

Irish resistance to the present British government is recognized by nearly all neutral observers as gaining strength continually. It seems clear that the new policy of coercion forced through parliament by Lloyd George, which virtually substitutes martial law for civil law in Ireland, will not succeed in crushing the Irish Volunteers nor discourage the Sinn Fein nor put the republican courts out of business. It will mean, however, the pouring of more and more troops into the island, in the vain effort to stem the ever-swelling tide of rebellion.

In a dispatch to a New York newspaper Arno Dosch-Fléuret, a European correspondent whose observations are presumably disinterested, points out the hard distasteful task the British army has ahead of it.

"I know," he says, "the military commanders prayed the government would make a positive offer of dominion home rule, and none course Ulster's selfishness and Lloyd George's evident disdain for Ireland more than the army which must carry out his orders. Now begins a long, tense struggle in the attempt to seize and court-martial Volunteer leaders and suppress the Sinn Fein courts and councils, which means an attempt to reconquer Ireland. It will not succeed, declare the republicans. The government can hardly expect to break down the Volunteers."

"Every Irishman is a potential Sinn Feiner, and it is said will be, after the next two months oppression. From today the situation practically will be this: All Irishmen in revolt on one side, and the British Army of Occupation, trying to repress them, on the other."

Evidently it is no trivial revolt that Great Britain had to deal with this time. It looks more like another American Revolution. There is a "Spirit of '76" abroad in Ireland, and with all the Ulster opposition, perhaps as much unity against England as there was in this country when the struggle for our own independence started. The British army, as was the case with America, has little spirit for the task. Have the British people any more? And Lloyd George who is getting most blame for the present impasse—does he aspire to be another George III.

CHURCHES AND MOSQUITOES

The relation of religion to malaria has seldom been properly considered. A medical writer tells of investigations made by Dr. H. T. Scott of Arkansas which show that the prevalence of this disease in many sections is traceable directly to negro churches.

The churches are built almost invariably under trees and near thick underbrush, with pools of water near by that make admirable breeding places for mosquitoes. When the crops are laid by, about this time of year the negroes hold protracted meetings. The churches are unscreened. Some of the mosquitoes are infected. They bite some of the worshippers, and then as a result of promiscuous biting, soon the whole congregation is infected. The adults go home and are bitten by mosquitoes bred in their door-yard pools, and then those mosquitoes bite their children and the neighbors, and everybody has chills and fever.

So this odd remedy is proposed as the best means of ridding the South of malaria: Build negro churches in the open, out of the brush near them and drain the surrounding pools. With that done, the problem will be simplified.

"Poor, ignorant black trash!" many a superior white person will remark when in that white person's own community there are churches, schools, tamping sites and other places of assembly whose neighborhood is swarming with mosquitoes, with nobody doing a thing about draining the breeding pools or pouring kerosene on them.

WRANGLE AND THE MOUJIKS

The Russian moujik or peasant has played but a small part as yet in the Russian revolution. When the revolution broke, he merely grabbed the land he had been cultivating and hung onto it. He stands pat, and asks only to be let alone. If that were all, he could be ignored. But he is a majority of the Russian people, and in the long run, the minority cannot live without him.

The Lenin-Trotsky regime is finding that out to its worry and peril. The factory workers and government employees are ill-fed, and it is hard to get food for the army. The peasants do not like to sell food to the cities if they have it, for the Soviet money is no good to them. They will not raise food for anybody they dislike—and they dislike the whole Bolshevik group.

They do not necessarily like the enemies of Bolshevism. Denikine, who for a time made such headway against the Soviet armies, failed because he disregarded and despised the peasants instead of cultivating their friendship. A letter written him by Gen. Wrangel, on the occasion of the latter's dismissal, and recently published, makes that clear. Denikine could win victories in the field, but when he had won territory he had no support from the rural population, and provisions were withheld from him. So his victorious armies melted away.

Wrangel is wiser. He cultivates the peasants, and is trusted by them. That fact is probably the most hopeful thing about him, and one of the big reasons why France gave him recognition. Though moving from slight beginnings, controlling as yet by a small segment in the Crimea, if he can win the active support of the peasant population he may eventually sweep all Russia.

A writer refers to the summer resort as "the Land of artificial honey," but wouldn't "artificial honeys" be nearer the truth?

The Allies are willing to fight Bolshevism to the last drop of Polish blood.

Villa will probably be beating it pretty soon for Lower California. The rest of Mexico is getting too civilized.

And have you noticed the frequent use of the new laundry basket to hold the baby in the office?

COMMITTEE PROBES FOR GREAT FUND

Local congressional and senatorial campaigns. The area favored having all primary elections for federal office held on a single day in every state.

Subscriptions Were Slow.

Representative Flood estimated that 125,000 would be required by his democratic congressional committee to conduct its efforts properly but presented figures to show that he had received only $8,700. He turned the money over to finance his personal campaign.

Questioning of Mr. Flood brought out that he had printed by the public printer at Washington 1,200,000 copies of speeches to democratic congressmen. He had pledged his committee to pay for printing. The speeches were being sent out under congressional frank, thereby eliminating postage bills. His committee, he said, would need $20,000 for its administration expenses.

Fred W. Lapham, treasurer of the national committee will be the first witness tomorrow. Senator Kenyon announced today when the hearing adjourned.

He will be followed by William W. Marsh, democratic treasurer.

PRESIDENT APPROVES REPORT OF COMMISSION

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—President Wilson today approved the majority report of the anthracite coal commission awarding anthracite miners wage increases aggregating $85,000,000 and notified the miners that he expected them "to accept the award and carry it into effect in good faith."

Immediately upon announcement that the president had approved the majority report, Secretary of Labor Wilson, at the direction of the president, issued a call for a meeting Thursday at Seranton of the joint anthracite scale committees of operators and United mine Workers of America to write the terms of the award into a contract to be effective until March 31, 1922.

The wage increase recommended by the majority report will amount to an annual increase in pay of $85,000,000 and in the payment of $15,000,000 in back pay, accumulated since last April first.

Public Is Interested.

Interest in the general public in the award centered largely in the effect on the price of hard coal. The commission said that while making substantial improvement in the situation of the miners, it had declined to commit itself to a decision that might justly be considered an encouragement to the so-called "wildcat" upward spiral of prices. If the award of the commission was that the awards while providing improved conditions of the workers, could offer no justification for any advance in the retail price of coal.

The award "is not a great burden along to the consumers of coal," the report asserted. "Any sharp advance in retail price of coal should be charged to the operators, the miners, or the award."

Recognition of the United Mine Workers as a party to the contract. Modification of the individual contract system whereby each miner is assured of protection and relief when necessary.

Protection for contract miners en, countering abnormal conditions, insuring them reasonable pay.

Payment for tools lost through accidents not chargeable to the miner.

Investigation of the practicability of establishing a uniform wage scale at all collieries by the board of conciliation.

Mr. Ferry's minority report declared that the fundamental principles for which the miners contended had been denied by the majority report. While asserting that the workmen would accept the award in full faith, the minority member declared that the miners would continue their efforts to win these fundamental principles.

The anthracite commission was appointed by the president June 2.

CITY CONTRACTS FOR NEW LIGHTS

Idaho Power Company to Install Five Boulevard Lighting System
in Twin Falls.

Extension of a previous contract existing between the city of Twin Falls and the Idaho Power company to cover all work of installing a new lighting system on city streets, was made at the regular session of the city council last night. The new lighting system will provide 108 cluster lights for the city. They will be placed on the highest street from the city park to the railroad station, and on Main avenue two blocks each way from the Main-Shoshone intersection. The installation of these lights will be done on the same basis of all other work previously done by the same company on the same contract. It is expected that the work will be begun soon, since the contract was signed by Mayor W. H. Eldridge last night after the council voted to accept the proposition.

Wants Council in Parade

A delegation from the central labor union of Twin Falls was present and requested that the council lead the Labor Day parade on September 6. The men also asked the council to lend its presence on the speakers' stand during the celebration. Neither of the requests was officially acted upon, though the general opinion seemed to be that the council would later decide to march at the head of the procession.

Estimates 34, 35 and 37 of the paving work were allowed by the administrative board. In respect to the levy for the coming year, the council decided that the old rates would be allowed to stand, and voted again to levy 15 mills for general taxes and 12 and one-half mills for paying interest on the city bonds.

For those who appreciate a genuine opportunity when presented to them, there is still plenty of room in The Chronicle's $75,000,000 "Everybody Wins" campaign for new nominations. No candidate has enough of a lead to boast about. In fact, very few subscriptions separates the lead, for those further down the list of contestants.

The opportunity is here—RIGHT NOW—but those who are actively trying are few in proportion to the generous plan under which these costly prizes are to be distributed and the values of the gifts to be given away without a cent of cost to citizens of Twin Falls county and surrounding territory.

Now, five candidates who are wide awake can enter the campaign and, with a little extra energy, can push their way to the topmost round of the ladder of success.

Big Votes Given Now.
The present big vote schedule gives the credit of only ten days longer. After that the number of votes allowed for each subscription will be very much reduced.

Right now, however, two three-year subscriptions counts 70,000 votes, a four-year subscription will give you 117,500 votes, a five-year subscription credits you with 175,000 and a six-year subscription will allow you 262,500 votes, in addition that 100,000 EXTRA VOTES are issued for every $20.00 turned in.

Because of the present liberal vote schedule, a very few subscriptions would be needed by any candidate, or a newly nominated candidate, to acquire the leadership for one of the large touring cars.

Time Flying Fast.
You can't afford to delay, merely thinking it over—you MUST ACT. GET INTO THE RACE NOW. ANY candidate, already entered—GET HERE. There are but a few days left of the big votes. NOW you get the most votes for every subscription secured—WAKE UP—LET'S GO.

SUIT TO DETERMINE RIGHTS TO WATER

Partners on Dry Creek Bring Suit to Get Court Decision Relative to Their Rights.

Asking that their water rights be defined by court decree and that the decree be established as a precedent for future cases, Jerry Bonard and others, farmers residing on Dry creek near Murtaugh, are plaintiffs in a suit begun yesterday in the district court against D. B. Moorman and 30 other property owners of the Murtaugh and Artesian City vicinity.

Introduction of evidence consumed most of the initial day in court and several witnesses were called on the stand by the prosecution. Their testimony related to ownership of land along Dry creek and alleged water rights held by them. Alleged insufficient water supply is the cause of the suit and the plaintiffs hope to procure more water as a result of court action. The trial will cover most of the week. It is expected.

WHAT MAKES GOOD MOTOR TRUCKS GOOD

What characterizes a good motor truck? What is the specific thing that commends it, above the truck to the truck buyer? What makes a difference in price? Differences in the quality of the motor? Or the interior? If the answer is quality, what good is quality in a motor truck? It's easy enough to appreciate quality in a passenger car. But when a man buys a truck he isn't looking for artifice lines, mirror-like finish, or luxurious upholstery. What is the good quality in a motor truck? The answer is one word—service. The carefully selected materials, the skilled, conscientious workmanship, the scrupulous inspection that goes into a high grade motor truck all make for quality. And built in quality come out in superior service.

In some instances motor trucks have so far exceeded today's jobs and kept right on running that their records border on the spectacular. As an illustration, a White truck owned by Alexander & Walling, of Preno, Cal., has traveled 600,000 miles—14 million miles—and is still in active service. This mileage was made, of course, in service calling for daily runs longer than are required in ordinary service; and it is to ordinary service that the greater interest attaches.

A two-ton White purchased by the Gifford's Express Co. of Providence, R. I., in December 1912, has not been out of service two weeks altogether in its five years of service and has traveled more than 150,000 miles.

Other examples, hundreds of them, might be cited, says W. E. Smith of the W. E. Smith Motor company, the local White dealer, but there are typical of the performance an owner can count on getting from a high-grade quality truck.

GIFFORD PINCHOT SEES CANDIDATE

Harding and Former Chief Forester Forester Have Conference; Pinchot Declares He Is Pleased

By the Associated Press.
MARION, Ohio, Aug. 30.—Senator Harding's re-election policy, to be inaugurated tomorrow in his address here to a group of republican governors, was discussed in detail by the nominee today with Gifford Pinchot, former chief of the federal forestry service and a leader of the progressive party in the 1912 campaign.

Afterward, Mr. Pinchot issued a statement saying he was much pleased with the senator's views on conservation and related subjects and hoped to let his own be known and do all he could for republican success.

Nine governors, most of them from western states have promised to be in delegation tomorrow in addition to a number of former governors and gubernatorial nominees. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois is among those expected to be present. The other states whose chief executives are to attend are Wisconsin, North Dakota, Nebraska, Wyoming, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, California and Rhode Island.

Several of the group arrived today and spent the evening at the Harding home. After the front porch speech tomorrow the party will be guests of the Mason Encampment of the G. A. R. at a picnic here.

Mr. Pinchot said his conferences with the nominee had impressed him with the necessity of the election of republican candidates. He said the requirements were to be kept out of the hands of southern reactionaries.

"Senator Harding and I have been on opposite sides of many questions. In order to get together there was much for each of us to overlook," he said.

"What he has told me of his views on conservation is admirable and I am greatly pleased."

Message from Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts, congratulating Senator Harding on his league of nations speech made public today. "Congratulations. Absolutely with you. Your address is a logical development of the national conservation declaration and the speech of acceptance."

TENNESSEANS STILL FIGHTING

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 30.—The house of representatives today was informed by the presence of thirty-eight filibustering members who have been in Alabama for more than a week failed by two votes to have a quorum of thirty-six at this afternoon when it reconvened. Adjournment was finally taken until tomorrow morning at ten o'clock.

The lack of the quorum was due to the absence of several members who were unable to rejoin Nashville this afternoon. Their associates, finding themselves in the minority, refused to fill the quorum for fear that the opponents of ratification of the suffrage amendment might attempt to nullify the action of ten days ago, when the ratification resolution was adopted 49 to 47.

EXCHANGE MADE IN METHODIST PASTORS

Announcement was made to his congregation Sunday that the Rev. Alexander G. Bennett, for the past year minister of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Twin Falls, has received and accepted a call to the First Methodist church of Great Falls, Montana, and that the Rev. E. L. White, the pastor in charge of the Great Falls church will take Mr. Bennett's place here.

Negotiations for this exchange of pastors have been in progress for some time and have been officially approved by the boards of both churches, and endorsement by the bishop is expected. Mr. Bennett and Mr. White will make the change within a few weeks.

Dr. Bennett, in whom the local church has had a most capable and efficient leader for nearly a year, came to Twin Falls from Salina, Kansas, where he supplied the pulpit of the Methodist church for five years. He has also had pastorates at Humboldt, Iowa, and York, Nebraska. He was educated at Northwestern university and the Garrett Biblical institute, and was formerly editor of an Illinois newspaper. He has had considerable experience in the printing trade and is keenly interested in newspapers. Dr. Bennett will deliver his last local sermon as pastor of the Twin Falls church Sunday morning. In his successor, the Rev. E. L. White, Twin Falls Methodists will have a minister with seven years of experience in Great Falls alone. He has been quite successful in his present pastorate and has won the confidence of his Montana congregation. Dr. White is said to be an able executive, an impressive speaker and a man who succeeds in making many friends.
