

EXPLOSION CAUSED BY BOMB

AUTHORITIES BELIEVE DEATH DEALING BLAST RESULT OF CONSPIRACY

Twenty-nine Persons Killed, 200 Are Injured and $1,000,000 in Property Destroyed; Government and City Working Diligently to Ascertain Source of Outrage; Letter is Produced That Throws Light on Situation

By the Associated Press NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A mysterious explosion in Wall street, near Broad, believed by trained department of justice and police investigators to have been caused by an infernal machine, rocked the heart of New York's financial district at noon today, leaving death and destruction in its wake.

At least twenty-nine persons were killed, more than 200 were injured, the banking house of J. P. Morgan and company, the sub-treasury and the assay office were partially wrecked and property damage estimated in excess of $1,000,000 was caused.

Believes It Was Accidental. Thomas W. Lamont, of the J. P. Morgan firm expressed the belief, however that the explosion was purely an accident caused by collision between an explosive-laden wagon and another vehicle. The firm had received no threats of any kind, he said, and there was no real reason for the planting of a bomb outside the firm's office.

The noon hour had struck and the endless stream of office workers had just started pouring into the street from buildings in the neighborhood. Suddenly a cloud of yellowish, black smoke and a shower of flaming fragments from the street outside the Morgan office.

Then came a deafening blast. A moment later scores of men, women and children were lying prostrate on the ground and the streets were covered with debris from thousands of broken windows and the torn facade of adjacent buildings. Two minutes later the stock and exchange buildings were in flames and the world had closed. Panic and confusion reigned in the heart of New York's financial district.

Flood in Terror. Thousands of clerks and stenographers fled in terror from adjoining structures. Scores fainted, fell and were trampled on in the rush. Meanwhile the noise of the explosion which was heard throughout lower Manhattan and across the river in Brooklyn brought thousands of the curious to the scene.

The few police on duty in the district were unable to cope with the crowds and a hurry call for police reserves was sent to all downtown police stations. Sub-treasury officials, fearing that an attempt might be made to rob the building, all of the windows of which were broken, requested assistance of the military police and the Governor's Island and a company of soldiers was sent to guard the institution.

Hurry calls were also sent to all hospitals in the downtown section of New York and department ambulances were soon speeding through the narrow streets. Dressing stations were established in the lobbies of the buildings nearby where the less seriously injured were given treatment. Evidence tending to confirm the theory that the explosion was caused by a bomb or some other infernal machine came from several sources.

Inspector Philip S. Egan, chief of Police Inspector Leahy, reported today that he had found evidence to justify the conclusion that the explosion was caused by a huge bomb loaded with a trinitrotozolene mixture which had been fastened from window sill to barn. Pieces of these slugs were found in several adjacent structures. This type of weight bars, a close inspection by police and department of justice agents disclosed, is not used in any building within a radius of several hundred feet from the explosion.

Warning that radicals planned a renewal of bombing outbreaks were sent less than a month ago to all eastern clients of the William J. Burns detective agency, according to a statement by Mr. Burns, who

LETTER IS ALLEGED TO GIVE WARNING

French High Commission Received Communication in Which Intimation is Made of Explosion.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—A letter, the contents of which intimation was dropped Wednesday morning through the mail slot of a door in one of the offices of the French high commission at 63 Broadway, it became known tonight. This letter apparently was written by a man formerly in the employ of the commission, was torn into small pieces soon after it was read and dropped into a waste basket.

Today after the explosion these bits of paper were taken from the basket, pasted together and turned over to the police. The letter which was addressed to Lieutenant Armand who is attached to the commission, began with the word: "Greetings." The writer said he thought he was rendering a service to the commission by advising Maurice Cuesne, minister plenipotentiary and his assistants of the fact that a catastrophe would occur in Wall street about 2:30 o'clock. No date was mentioned.

Gives Warning. The writer suggested that Lieutenant Armand advise Minister Cuesne to have the offices of the commission closed and unoccupied at 2 o'clock so that the lives of the office staff might be spared. The letter also mentioned "between 2 and 4 o'clock, daylight time" as the probable hour of the catastrophe.

It was intimated in the letter that "some people had grievances and wanted to take revenge." Lieutenant Armand read the letter several times. Feeling assured that it had been written by an alarmist and should not be taken seriously, he tore it up and threw it in a waste paper basket. He gave no further thought to the letter until after the explosion today when he rushed into the office, emptied the contents of the basket into a heap on his desk, sorted the bits of the letter, placed them together and turned them over to the police.

Soon after the letter had been handed to the police, it was learned that detectives had been sent to an address in West 3rd street to seek a man formerly in the employ of the French commission. It was said that he had left the service of the French government on September 1, 1919. The writer of the letter, the police believe, was familiar with all plans for the explosion and would be able to point out the "responsible parties."

SENATOR HARDING ISSUES STATEMENT

Expresses in Constitution Day in Ohio by Urging Close Adherence to Fundamental Law.

MARION, O., Sept. 16.—Intending to usher in the observance of "Constitution day" in his home state, Senator Harding tonight issued a statement in which he expressed the hope that "in some tragic dispensation of fate this constitution should cease to be, the door would no longer be closed against the stealthy appropriation of autocratic power and the gradual absorption of the people's sovereignty." Tomorrow Senator Harding will deliver a front porch address on constitutional government to a delegation of central Ohioans.

Sinister Spirit Abroad. Beginning his statement, the senator declared "there is abroad in the land a spirit which seeks to weaken the adherence of the people to their constitution and which recklessly challenges its worth."

"After discussing the necessity for respect of the basic law of a nation he asserted that "so long as it endures, the people will never have a master, but will rule themselves, subject to no compelling force but their own authority and the will of God." The statement follows:

"There is abroad in the land a spirit which seeks to weaken the adherence of the people to their constitution and which recklessly challenges its worth. It is well, therefore, to have one day in the year set apart for the clearing of our vision and the consecration of our faith.

"To assail or belittle the law is to invite and incur the just and passionate resentment of all country-loving men, but the reaction may be untraced or dispersed with impunity and all too often, with approval. And yet the one is by a small world of our national existence.

"It has sometimes been asserted that the constitution was imposed upon the many for the benefit of the few. On the contrary, it is the one thing above all other things in our polity, which both in origin and execution was conceived by the wisdom of a statute rests upon the delegated authority of a small official group but the constitution is the direct fiat of all the people. It is their mandate—expressing not their wishes, but their will—fixing the inner boundaries of power beyond which their servants, who administer their government are forbidden to go. It is declared to be the supreme law of the land with which every other law and every official act must coincide or fail."

"It is an ever-standing proclamation of the right of the people to speak as the sovereign power of the nation whose body and soul they are. If by some tragic dispensation of fate his constitution should cease to be, the people would no longer be citizens against the stealthy appropriation of autocratic power, and the gradual absorption of the people's sovereignty. "So long as it endures the people will never have a master, but will rule themselves, subject to no compelling force but their own authority and the will of God.

"Whether it shall endure will be for the men and women of America to determine. "Our people must set themselves to the task of ending the attempt to subject the legislative power to the control of the executive and of restoring the substance of constitutional government under which the several departments are separate but equal, answerable not one to another, but each to the people from whom alone it derives its power to be or to act at all."

BLUE AND MITCHELL TWIN FALLS IS TO LEAVE IN ONE YEAR HAVE NEW STATION

Superintendent of Schools and High School Principal Notify Board of Intention to Resign.

Twin Falls will lose both Superintendent of Schools Hal G. Blue and High School Principal Mitchell at the conclusion of this school year.

Professor Blue will enter Cornell for a special course, while Professor Mitchell will go to Harvard to round out his training. Both educators have notified the school board of their intention. Both leave with the good will not only of the board but of the school patrons as well.

For some time there have been rumors of changes in the school board, but the announcement of Professor Blue was kept secret by the board members in the hopes that he would reconsider his resignation. He remains firm in his decision, however, and the matter looked out following the recent election of school trustees.

Growing with his work, developing as this was made upon him by enlarged opportunities, Professor Blue has won the school patrons of Twin Falls by his steadfast effort at building. No school system in the north-western states has done so much for school pride and enthusiasm.

The board has not yet taken upon itself the task of filling the positions to be made vacant. There is yet a full year before the new superintendent will assume his active work, although naturally the board is anxious to have its choice made as soon as possible, in order that plans for the new administration may be perfected during the vacation period.

MIGHT MAKE CONCESSION IF SENSIBLE

Cox Says He Would Make Any Reasonable Agreement to Secure League

NO NULLIFICATION IDEA COULD BE TOLERATED

Willing to Meet Reasonable Desires for Proper Reservations Which are Offered in Sincerity

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 16.—A statement that he would "make any reasonable concession" to secure American membership in the league of nations was made by Governor Cox of Ohio, democratic presidential candidate here tonight at the close of his Nevada campaign.

In his statement, a telegram to Professor Irving Fisher of Yale and another Governor Cox said that the democratic platform opposed only reservations of nullification. The governor announced that he would "endeavor to meet all reasonable desires for proper reservations which are offered in sincerity."

The governor's telegram to Professor Fisher, who is working for ratification of the treaty of Versailles, was evoked by a statement of former President Taft, it was announced, that he would "make any reasonable concession" to secure American membership in the league.

"I am determined," said Governor Cox's telegram, "to secure the earliest possible entrance into the league of nations with the least possible delay and with the least possible concessions needed to accomplish that result. The platform adopted by the convention at which I was nominated permits reservations which will clarify and reassure our people and is opposed only to reservations which would nullify and destroy. I have no doubt that republican and democratic senators alike will loyally fulfill the peoples mandate which my election will signify. I shall endeavor to meet all reasonable desires for proper reservations which are offered in sincerity and not merely presented as a trumped up for political purposes. My heart is in this fight and I will put forth all effort and make reasonable concessions to secure that we may secure membership in the league for America."

The governor's Nevada campaign today comprised a hat dozen speeches. He traveled farther, reached fewer voters and drew more news than on any day of the two weeks of his western trip.

Through the Nevada sagebrush and alkali desert beyond his high barren, brown mountains, the governor traveled farther, reached fewer voters and drew more news than on any day of the two weeks of his western trip.

Peace through the league was the burden of the candidate's Nevada speeches. He also emphasized the need of money, which he said could be saved by disarmament under the league, could be put to reclaim western wastes.

Continuing his criticism of Senator Harding, his republican opponent, his alleged nomination by the "dread vaccination of the league issue" Governor Cox said that reports of the senator's address yesterday, told of another plan of the republican candidate for world peace, "which is a different plan, which," he said, "he said the senator had taken up many questions during the last year."

PLAN TO GET RID OF DUTY SHIRKERS

Anti-Saloon League Officials Seek to Tell Government of Easy Officers.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—A program designed to "rid" the government of officials who do not observe or enforce the "spirit as well as the letter" of the Volstead act, was put under way at the first session today of a national conference of Anti-Saloon League officials.

As the first step the conference appointed a committee to draft a resolution which, league officials said, would serve notice on Federal judges that their "sacred duties must be strictly performed." Impediment proceedings were suggested as a means to compel lax judges to employ in a proper manner the penal provisions of the prohibition law.

The conference in its discussions effected a determination that the next congress be made "dry and kept dry." Speakers expressed the fear that "the power of the west is not entirely devoted" and "unless a majority maintained its consensus favorable to strict enforcement the prohibition code may be changed."

Administrative officers, it was thought, also will be brought within the league's program, several speakers asserting that to "bring many" into those officers were not failing, owing to the satisfaction of the "dry." This proposal was made that the league "shall first make those who betray their trust" of their appointment. The opinion was expressed that future interests might seek to defeat the aim of the law by obtaining the appointment of officials who would wink at some kinds of violations.

Bureau I. Cridford, the national program, several speakers suggesting that "bring many" into those officers were not failing, owing to the satisfaction of the "dry." This proposal was made that the league "shall first make those who betray their trust" of their appointment. The opinion was expressed that future interests might seek to defeat the aim of the law by obtaining the appointment of officials who would wink at some kinds of violations.

Wayne H. Wheeler, general counsel for the league, made an address in which he called upon "all persons who believe in law enforcement" to stand by the league in electing only dry candidates to congress. He said it was a most "unimportant time" to the country in facing "such defiance of law."

"If the outlawed brewers can defy the constitution of the United States," Mr. Wheeler said, "then any other form of citizenry do not like a law can proceed to nullify it and the government itself would be in jeopardy. When law enforcement is gone, then all order is gone. Now is the time for every 100 per cent American citizen to stand up for the enforcement of the Volstead amendment and upon the election of men who will not waver to the will of the people by making changes in the Volstead act, the very indices of which would be an overriding of the constitution."

Big League Scouts Get Choice Bits Of Ivory From Bushes

By DEAN SNYDER

The league scouts gathered in some choice bits of "ivory" from the bushy jobs but fall and spring.

And these recruits make the best. But more so.

If the major leagues did not have the army of youth on which to depend, they would soon be on crutches.

This "ivory" material is an interesting thing to look over in the fall to see what percentage of them had the "goods."

Some have turned out to be real gold, some are mediocre, and others are untried but a flash in the pan.

About seventy commissioners, who came late half of early this spring, have passed their caliber.

Among these some of them stand out from the rest.

To the New York Yankees goes the honor of producing the season's best find of pitcher, perhaps. He is the lively Red Murray, the home run hitter of the Pacific Coast league last year.

Musel has a batting eye like Babe Ruth. He has the power in his arms and shoulders to bounce the pellet off the wall. He is young enough to improve. This year he has hit over .350. His confidence is 100 per cent. Bob's not a finished fielder by any means yet. In fact, he has just gotten back in the game after a month's absence from the bench for his buffoonish fielding. He ought to be cured now.

Frisch Is Star.
In the National League the highest ranking young star belongs to the Yankees. Frisch seemed to be the playing card that had struck the New York club up from the bottom until the season was now picking them to top the hunting.

And Frisch didn't cost New York a penny. They wouldn't sell him for $100,000. When he was away for six weeks the Giants floundered. His appearance in the lineup at third base like a hypodermic.

This Giants developed another live one in the large Kofas. Kofas was a gritty hitter early this season. The Polo ground fans nearly laughed him out of baseball, but he came back because he has a great heart. Now he's one of the most popular first basemen in the Heydler circuit.

The Pirates have developed a one-first basemen, Tom Grifflin. "I don't sock the ball so hard, but he's a big league fielder all right."

Of the National League recruits, pitcher Jim Halton of the Cards and John Watson of the Braves are cutting the mustard.

Ward Is Brilliant.
In the American league there are quite a string who have come through the minor leagues. Young Aaron Ward is the one. Young Aaron, Ward of the Yankees, has outdusted the presence of Frank Baker at third. Ward has an equal as fielder, possibly.

Chuck Griffith's young infielder, Harry O'Neill and Elmer, five class players, Double Double Triple stars. It is now the talk of the big league clubs. Rommel, Keefer, Harry More and Elmer will do some big things next year.

Pitcher James Earl Rayne have helped the Browns. Rip Collins works effectively for the Yankees. Although he had but one year of minor league experience before this season. Bob Clark of the Indians should be a first-string pitcher next year. Walter Smith has joined Cleveland, the reputation as a south-paw listless pond.

New Crop Big.
Outfielder E. Walker has been a big factor in the Athletics' late improvement. Babe Pinell at third has brightened up the Tigers. Frank Brewer has strengthened the Washington club with his big bat.

These are but a few of the youngsters in both organizations that have shown color expected of them when the scouts grabbed them.

Next year the crop of "ivory" will be larger. Already nearly 100 minor leaguers and college stars have been called.

New blood keeps fans guessing and puts the color into the game.

DEPARTMENT ENGINEERS MAKE GAS FROM STRAW
A gas which is obtained by the destructive distillation of wheat and any rice straw is now being produced upon a small scale at the experimental farm of the United States department of agriculture at Arlington, Va. Although an automobile has been ordered with the apparatus, it has not yet been used for illuminating purposes as well as for cooking, the possibilities of straw gas are not fully determined, the department says. In order to determine the exact commercial value of the gas, David F. Perkins, engineer in charge of the new Office of Development Work, a subdivision of the bureau of chemistry designed to help commercial and industrial concerns to save fuel processes and conserve energy in their plants, has placed H. E. Roethke Jr. in charge of a series of production tests with the experimental apparatus at Arlington.

The work can be carried on but slowly, owing to the limited funds available at present, but it is expected to do much that will determine the quantity and nature of the gas that may be obtained from wheat, oat, barley, rice straw, and from cornstalks, cornhusks and other suitable material usually burned as waste. If the results of these tests warrant further investigation the experiments will be extended to the production of plant equipment for producing the gas on a scale sufficient to give the farmer in supply direct fuel for his home, power for light and heat for his business, and, possibly, for his tractor from a small individual outfit. If a suitable unit can be constructed that the farmer's initial cost will be small it seems likely that the straw gas may have a certain economic value in the sections of the country where the raw material from which the gas is made is now considered as waste and burned or left to rot in the fields. In some sections of the country the straw is used as a fertilizer, but in the west and north-west there is an unlimited supply of the material available for conversion into light and fuel for the farm home.

While it has been possible to operate an automobile with straw gas and it is known that 50 pounds of straw will produce about 200 cubic feet of gas, an area of sufficient size to produce 200 cubic feet of gas to liquid form, or, conversely, it is sufficient to allow it to be carried conveniently in a container one that will be solved before straw gas can be considered as a possible motor fuel. This will be a matter of the tanks taken up by the engineers in the development division.

Straw gas is not a new thing. The present process was developed by George Harrison, a Canadian engineer at Monongah, in 1914, who later was employed on the project with Professor MacLennan, of the University of Saskatchewan, Saskatoon, Canada.

The university, in conjunction with the United States department of agriculture, exhibited a straw gas equipment at the exposition of chemical industries in New York City during the fall of 1918. This equipment was later purchased and improved by the department. The Canadian investigators succeeded in operating an automobile with the product. However, the fuel supply was carried in a large flexible bag on the top of the car—a method of doubtful practicality.

Several valuable by-products are obtained in the manufacture of the gas. Carbon residue suitable for manufacturing lamp black of export quality fine quality is one. This residue also contains certain amounts of phosphorus and nitrogenous compounds which give it fertilizing value.

The tar and ammoniacal liquids re-left over from the process, and from their value as disinfectants and preservatives, may also be useful in the new industry. If the new process succeed in perfecting the present apparatus and in reducing the cost of production there is no doubt that straw gas will have an important economic outlet.

OUTLOOK IS BETTER.
ST. LOUIS, Sept. 14.—The printing and paper industry faces favorable prospects during the coming year, according to H. P. Andrews, Washington, D. C. president of the National Trade Paper association, who addressed the annual convention of the United Typographic of America. Andrews declared that paper stocks were only about 50 per cent normal and that production must be adjusted.

MACSWINEY IS WELCOMED.
LONDON, Sept. 15.—Little change in the condition of Lord Mayor George MacSwiney of Cork, was reported this morning by the physician of Brixton prison, where MacSwiney is incarcerated. In his report to the home office however, the physician declared "increased weakness" was noticeable.

COMMUNISTS TO TAKE CHARGE OF TOWNS IN YUCATAN

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 14.—Several towns in the state of Yucatan have been taken over by alleged communists according to a report printed in the newspaper El Universal here based on private advices from that state. When news was received at Merida about a week ago that the village of Yalcombe was in the hands of the communists Colonel Carpio, commanding government forces in the Yucatan military district, advanced against the town and captured 70 persons who are said to be Bolsheviks. He then continued his march toward the town of Chemax and other nearby centers.

Social literature published in Yucatan has been received in this city, according to the newspaper, which declares the communist movement in that state is part of a general movement, but a result of bad economic conditions.

BROOKLYN'S CHANCE CONTINUES BRIGHT

Was Over Cincinnati and Adds to Firmness of Position in Race for Pennant.

STANDING OF THE CLUBS. National League.

Table with columns: Club, W, L, Pct. Rows include Brooklyn, Cincinnati, New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis, Boston, Philadelphia.

BROOKLYN, Sept. 16.—Brooklyn's chances of winning the National League pennant were enhanced today by a 5 to 3 victory over Cincinnati.

The champions started off as if bent upon upholding their title, but the way the Superbas came about at them in their half of the first, took some of the fight out of Moran's men.

Math opened for Cincinnati with a single through Olson, and was forced at second by Daubert. While Grob was striking out, Daubert stole second and completed the circuit on Daubert's hit to center. Olson hit to center to start for the Superbas, stole second and went to third, while John, ston was being retired at first. Nola walked. On Wheat's hit to right Olson tallied and Nola did likewise when Myers singled to center. Schmundt drew a pass and then Kilduff, with a single to center, scored Wheat.

Cincinnati tied the score in the fifth when Math singled, and scored with Daubert on the latter's home run. The hit was an ordinary single but it bounded away from Wheat, Schmundt's double, Kilduff's sacrifice and Miller's single gave Brooklyn a one run lead in the fifth and center was added in the seventh when Johnston singled, stole second and scored on Griffith's double to center.

Score: R. H. E. Cincinnati 3 19 1 Brooklyn 5 10 1

Batteries: Platter and Wingo; Grimes and Miller.

DOUBLE-HEADER IS DIVIDED.

BOSTON, Sept. 16.—Boston and St. Louis divided a double-header today, the visitors winning the first, 4 to 2, and Boston capturing the second by the same score. Seven pitchers were used in jockeying for the first game. Haines was hit hard in the second but excellent fielding kept the Boston score down.

First game: R. H. E. St. Louis 4 10 0 Boston 2 9 0

Batteries: Goodwin, Sheridan, Lyons, Deak and Clemens; Scott, McQuillen, L. Townsend and Gowdy.

Second game: R. H. E. St. Louis 3 5 0 Boston 4 14 0

Batteries: Haines and Grienerbeck, Clemens; Oeschner and O'Neill.

LUCKY HOME RUN.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16.—Rob, ertson's home run with two on bases in the ninth broke up a close game between Philadelphia and Chicago today, the visitors winning, 3 to 5.

Meusel's homer into the bleachers in left field, scoring Williams ahead, gave the Phillies two runs in the first inning.

Score: R. H. E. Chicago 3 12 2 Philadelphia 5 13 1

Batteries: Vaughn, Alexander and O'Farrell; Hubbel, Enzmann, Cauley and Withersow.

NEIF'S ONE HIT GAME.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Neif's remarkable one hit game enabled New York to break even with Pittsburgh in today's double-header. The Pirates took the first game, 3 to 1, when

Trouble Follows the Pickford Family

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Egg, hoves in which the three Pickfords appeared have contained half the sorrow and trouble found in the lives of Mary (right), her sister Lillian (left), and her brother Jack (center). Mary found love's first young dream, a ghastly nightmare, so she said, and she divorced Owep Moore and married Douglas Fairbanks. This was followed by threats of action against her by Nevada officials growing out of the short time she lived in the state before the divorce was granted. Hardly had this trouble died down when Lillian began work in Los Angeles, making for divorce from A. G. Stupp, New York stockbroker. And now comes the news of the death of Olive Thomas' Jack's wife, under tragic circumstances, in Paris.

She died from mercurial poison taken, it is stated, by mistake. French police began an investigation which included several resorts in the Montmartre district, said to have been visited by Miss Thomas shortly before she took the poison. The Paris police soon decided that the poison was taken by mistake and dropped the probe.

CLEVELAND SLIPS INTO FIRST PLACE

Now Leads in American League Battle—Whites Sox Defeat New York.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Cleveland slipped into first place in the American League pennant race today when the battle between the other two contenders, Chicago and New York, resulted in a victory for the White Sox. Brooklyn was knocked out of contention by losing Cincinnati in the first game of the series with the Reds. The New York charges should have been brought National, who split even with Pittsburgh, are still a mathematical possibility.

tion by hitting Quinn and Collins lined today. Cincinnati's star pitcher, Hunter, batted only one third of an inning before the on-rush of Brooklyn. Grimes of the Superbas yielded a run in the first inning and two in the fifth when Daubert made a home run, but secured the hits in the other innings. If Brooklyn wins six of its 11 remaining games, the Reds, to nose them out would have to win 16 of 18 and the Giants task would be the 15 straight with no defeats.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16.—Chicago forced New York out of first place in the American League pennant race today by taking the first game of the crucial series, 3 to 2, while Cleveland shut out Washington. Chicago showed a reversal of form after a day's lay-off and supported Kerr with heavy hitting.

Sensational fielding by Jackson, Feuch and Strunk was another factor in subduing the Yankees.

Chicago led on Quinn in the second inning, but failed to smash out his fiftieth homer, although he faced Kerr five times. He cracked out a brace of infield singles and in the sixth inning with two on base, Ruth was fanned for the third out.

Chicago fell on Quinn in the second inning, scoring runs on five hits, which included doubles by Strunk and Jackson and John Collins' triple. Morgridge checked the White Sox when he replaced Quinn but he himself was relieved by a pinch hitter.

A crowd estimated at 30,000 witnessed the game.

ONE BOOM DEFILED
Akron, O., is the greatest automobile tire town in the world. It uses more than one-third of all the tires used in this country.

Recently that boom has been collapsing. Tightened credit, poor motoring cummer and general business slacking are held responsible. Since June 1, perhaps 40,000 rubber workers have been laid off.

Another remark: "The factories are getting more efficiency out of the employees who remain at work. Only the best men have been retained. That has disposed of the irresponsible type that had to be tolerated when business was good."

Another, asked where the departed workers have gone, replies: "Back to the farms where they came from—the farms of Ohio, Pennsylvania and farther south. A year ago the farmers of this section were crying their heads off. Now you don't hear a peep. There are no neglected farms around here now."

Citizens with moderate incomes find considerable satisfaction in the reduction of rents. In many cases, to half their boom rate, and in marked cheapening of clothing, food and nearly everything else.

"This is only a temporary lull," says one of the optimists. "Cars have got to have tires, and there are more cars all the time. Things will start up again before long, but they will start on a better, sounder, safer basis."

Very likely he is right. It is a good thing, in the long run, to debate "booms." This is worth remembering, as other speculative cities and industries in their turn suffer the inevitable deflation.

CAR LOADING

The car situation is improving rapidly. During the week ending August 21, 964,156 freight cars were loaded and set in transit. This is the heaviest car movement for the year, according to the Car Service Commission, and closely approaches the highest number of cars loaded for any week during the war.

The news is encouraging from every point of view. The speeding up of freight car service is practically the first essential to satisfactory business conditions. If without the extreme situation of the war, the business of the world can be carried on at something nearly approach ing war speed, it will mean unprecedented prosperity for the entire nation.

A CHURCH ON WHEELS

A Kansas City, Mo., minister, finding that his congregation did not come to him on summer Sundays, especially in the evening, decided to go to them.

"What do my parishioners do on Sunday?" the reverend doctor asked himself, and received the ready reply. "They go motoring." Very well, the preacher went motoring, too, and he did. At a Sunday morning service he expounded his idea—evening service would be held in the open at a point where many cars could park comfortably.

That evening the doctor got into his own car drove out to the appointed place and found many cars already draw up, their occupants waiting for him.

Stepping up in his own car, he delivered a brief address. The congregation listened comfortably and respectfully. The affair was a complete success. Attendance has increased, from week to week. There has been no lapse in dignity in the assemblage, and more people have been attending evening service than for many a season.

"To serve the modern world," says this practical leader, "so must the church be modern. This is my Church on Wheels. Many churches, you know, have been racing their engines and just burning up gas. It is time to stop this."

He tells the truth. And when it is remembered how the greatest preacher of all held his simple services in wayside places, the plan assumes a greater dignity and meaning than might at first appear. All of which, gentle reader, brings us to appreciation of our own city's air union services on Sunday evenings.

DESTROYED FOOD

The United States Bureau of Markets has been investigating reports that railroads and dealers dump cars of perishable foods to keep the prices up. Wherever such a report has become prevalent, the bureau has sent its representatives to cover the field thoroughly, and they have found in every case that the facts have been exaggerated.

It is true that sometimes small quantities of foods shipped into a city are pronounced by the health authorities as unfit for consumption, and they are turned out of the cars at some suitable point. Sometimes it happens, too, that a railroad has thrown away shipments of food. But that occurs only when the freight is unpaid, and the railroad company finds the market so glutted with the particular commodity that it cannot dispose of the stuff and realize expenses on the sale.

Dumping of foods to keep-up prices, in order to be successful, would require a monopoly on the food by some one concern. There is too much competition, and freight moves too quickly in this country, to make that sort of thing practical or possible except in rare instances.

The Bureau of Markets has yet to find an authentic case of deliberate destruction of food to keep up prices or affect the market in any other way. People who prefer to believe in the essential honesty of American business will be glad to hear this.

THE BEE BUSINESS

The old-fashioned farmer who kept one or two hives of bees along with the rest of his stock is no longer interested in bees as a side line. In the last year or two the bees have died off so rapidly that bee culture in some states has proved out of the question except for people for people who make a specialty of it and can give it their full time.

The state bee inspector of Ohio says: "The back-keep, the city and suburban keepers, the farmers who keep six or eight colonies, have slowly been forced out of business."

It is rather surprising to the average reader to learn that bees are of enough economic importance to have a state inspector spending all his time going around to apiaries to see that the occupants are in good health, and to advise the owners on their care. There seems, however, to be a real need for this sort of Bee Public Health Service. More than 300 professional bee-keepers attended the annual field meet of the Ohio State Bee-keepers' Association, and Ohio is far from being the only state where bee culture has been taken up professionally in the last few years.

It is an age of specialization. And nothing in the way of food production, it seems, demands more careful attention than the turning out of honey by the busy little bee. But all the attention is justified. The busy bee is worth her keep.

A woman writer notes with some surprise that more women are "doing their own washing than has been the case for many years, using electric machines. If this keeps on, women may start washing their own hair again one of these times.

A Rhode Island woman has announced her candidacy for the Senate, and says she means to run on a "women and children first" platform. She evidently expects the ship of state to be wrecked.

CHASE OUT OF SIXY ... NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—"It was a death-dealing attack," ... "I was just turning into Wall street from Broadway," he said, "when I first felt, rather than heard the explosion. A concussion of air similar to that experienced by a passenger on the subway when a train dashes into one of the under-river tracks was felt. Its force was sufficient to all but throw me off my feet. Instantly following the concussion came a heavy, reassuring crash which shook to their foundations the monster buildings facing either side of Wall street. With the roar of the blast came the rattle of falling glass and from the junction of Wall, Nassau and Broad streets, a block distant—streams of injured men and women. "I dodged into a convenient doorway to escape falling glass and to reach a telephone and call the office. Looking down Wall street later, I could see arising from the vicinity of the sub-story building and the J. P. Morgan and company bank a mushroom shaped cloud of yellowish, green smoke which mounted to a height of more than 100 feet. The smoke being licked by darting tongues of flame. "I reached the scene a few moments after the explosion took place. The smoke had partially cleared in the street but in the Morgan building there was belching forth through the broken windows clouds of dust and white vapor. In the street an 'automobile was blowing wildly and nearly clear to the roof of a dead horse was another car, evidently from a pile of wreck-body is mutilated. ... Almost in front of the steps leading to the Morgan bank was the mutilated body of a man, his face but in his hands he held a horror-stricken to the sight, one of these forms, half naked, and scored with burns, started to rise. It struggled, then toppled over and lay motionless in the gutter. ... On the opposite side of the street were other forms. One of them was that of a young woman, her clothing scattered around her. It was moving on an effort to rise, but in vain. As I tried she became still. ... I saw that the pavement was decorated with blood. ... It was dead, within a radius of 30 feet of the spot where I stood. ... In the middle of the street showed plain evidence of having been in very close proximity to the scene of the blast. ... It was literally torn to pieces. ... The wheels of the car were hurled over the open side of the door cracked and shattered away.

Police Chief Crowl. ... "By this time the crowd was pressing in, held in check by the hastily gathered policemen. At the doorway of the Morgan bank a uniformed guard, apparently half dazed but sticking to his post and holding back those who sought to enter. ... "The crowd was strangely quiet—and over it seemed to hang a feeling of awe and horror. At the command of the police it moved and fell back silently. On the steps of the old sub-story building—the spot where years ago stirring scenes connected with the American revolution were enacted—stands a statue of George Washington. Looming down from its pedestal between the massive columns scarred by missiles from the explosion the outstretched hands of the father of his country seemed to carry a silent command to be calm."

"Then came the ambulances. Near-by trucks and automobiles were first pressed into service. Volunteers, leading not unadorned hands and white bandages knotted into the vehicles the bodies of the dying and dead. The dead that remained for additional conveyances were charitably hidden from sight by coverings torn from swaines or by notes from ravishing mothers. ... "It was such as scene as I had pictured as a possibility during the war should the enemy succeed in dropping on the financial district one of his deadly aerial bombs."

FEDERAL SLEUTHS GET BUSY AT ONCE

Half Dozen Governmental Agencies Enter Into Task of Solving Mystery of Explosion.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Nearly half a dozen agencies of the federal government were at work tonight in an effort to solve the mystery of the explosion in New York's financial district and to safeguard government property from similar damage.

In an effort to bring to justice any person or persons responsible for the loss of life in the metropolitan agencies of the department of justice, secret service operatives of the treasury, inspectors of the postoffice department and experts of the department of agriculture were ordered to the scene.

Investigation of the origin of the explosion was ordered by Attorney General Palmer upon receipt of the first report from New York and Washington. Chief of the bureau of investigation of the department, left immediately for New York.

The attorney general declined to discuss possible causes of the explosion, holding with other officials of the department that reports from New York did not warrant advancing a theory. The feeling at the department as well as among other officials of the government was that the explosion resulted from a radical bomb plot.

Secret Service At Work.
Secretary Houston announced that the secret service was at work in the case because of the proximity of the explosion to the financial district of the city and army office. Mr. Houston added that the treasury's report contained no definite information as to the cause. In the meantime redoubled precautions will be taken to guard the treasury building here.

Officials of the postoffice department declared postal inspectors were ready to co-operate with the other government agencies, and David J. Price, assistant special agent in charge of the department of agriculture, left for New York tonight to aid in determining the nature of the explosion.

The noise of the explosion was heard in Washington by an official of the treasury who was talking on the telephone to an office in the Equitable building in New York at the time. The conversation was interrupted he said, by "what sounded like the closing of a large book."

THIS PERIOD WILL TELL "WHO'S WHO" IN THE CHRONICLE'S BIG RACE

Only Eight Days Remain for Candidates to Secure Winning Votes on Present Big Vote Schedule—Interest and Enthusiasm Increases as End Nears. Mrs. Quigley Remains in Lead, Followed by Mrs. McLain, and Miss Marshall Keeps Lead in No. 2.

The most determined stage in the big race for the beautiful motor cars and the thousands of dollars in cash that are won by 15 awarded in the Chronicle campaign have been reached. The final week of determination is upon the candidates for the big prize. The volume is pouring into the election department.

The enthusiasm of the candidates has spread to their friends and acquaintances. In many sections of the city and surrounding territory a great amount of "neighborhood" pride is being shown and great efforts are being made to help one of the contestants of the prize won by the favorite contestant of each community. Many candidates that call at the election department are expressing no determination to put forth their best efforts during this important period.

CAMPAIGN NOTES

In just a few weeks this interesting election will come to a final close and the most stupendous list of prizes ever conceived by the Idaho newspaper will be distributed.

The "second period" is now on and the present vote schedule will be in effect for seven days more than the schedule is very sharply reduced for the following five days, and then after this comes the very lowest vote schedule of the campaign to remain in effect until the close of the election.

The longer you delay in getting in "full swing" the less valuable your subscriptions will be from the standpoint. And that's what you're after. If you expect to be one of the big prize winners, The Chronicle's girls are to be distributed to those who make the "best records" in the "second column." "Winners" won't get anywhere in this campaign, but the winner will be handsomely rewarded in accordance with the effort put forth. This is a campaign for "the ones."

Making one of the most remarkable jumps of the entire race, Mrs. Quigley has stepped over her former records in vote-getting by going out in front and retaining the first position in District No. 1, the close of the first period. Mrs. Quigley again leads her district this morning and her friends are hoping that she will be able to maintain this pace throughout the remaining days of the campaign.

In the second position again today is Mrs. McLain, who is being loyally supported by one of the most enthusiastic lists of friends that have yet evidenced themselves in the election. Mrs. McLain has been among the leaders in the race from the very start.

Although a little late in getting started, Mrs. Alvord had little difficulty in going rapidly to the top of the list and has consistently maintained there for the last several vote counts. Her friends say that she will be hard to beat for she is already beginning to gain strength on the "second period" vote schedule.

William Andersonman is certainly a busy young man these days, in addition to his duties as general manager of the Idaho theater, he is carrying extra work this year in school and still finds time to pull enough "cans" to keep him well at the head of the list in the big campaign. That he will be successful in the matter is an event as he has been in all his undertakings is the prediction of all his friends.

Mrs. Daphne Graybill continues her good work and is gradually forging her way to the top of the list. Mrs. Graybill has hosts of friends all over the state who are intensely interested in her success.

Another mighty popular young lady in the campaign is Miss Clara Johnson, who has been one of the leading candidates from the start. Miss Johnson's friends are already getting busy for her fateful "second period" and it will not be surprising to see her make some real gains again soon.

Although school work is probably interfering with her campaign work this week, Miss Grace Young is but a few good subscriptions behind the real leaders this morning. Before the close of the second period, she will undoubtedly again be in her former position in the race.

Mrs. Winder, Miss Ryan, Miss Jewett, and Miss Williams can easily bring themselves up into the winning positions by making proper advantage of the big second period vote schedule.

Second payments on subscriptions taken early in the campaign are proving an important factor in the race just now. Those contestants who are working on these are profiting mightily.
