BROWNVILLE, Tex., Nov. 15.—President-elect Harding peremptorily abandoned his storm beset vacation cottage at Point Isabel today and found refuge in Brownville from the North that has broke up his outing on the golf course.

He made the trip by automobile, traveling in luck and covering the 20 muddy miles across the desolate prairie in a little less than two hours. The dirt trail over which he came, pronounced impassable yesterday had improved over night and except for a few detours and much harmless skidding the journey was without incident.

The motor road was chosen by the president-elect despite the fact that the narrow gauge special, train on which he made an unsuccessful attempt to escape last night from the marooned point, had been held in readiness for a renewed start today.

The rescue party of automobiles spent most of the forenoon picking a practicable way to Point Isabel and Mr. Harding quickly accepted their offer to bring him in.

From first to last Mr. Harding's vacation to Point Isabel which began last Monday has amounted to two fishing trips; one of golf and many hours of hovering about the little wood shed with which he sought to keep his cottage comfortable.

WILSON GIVEN EVIDENCE SAYS PROBE WITNESS

WELT CORPORATION INSPECTOR DECLARES HE SIGHT DEFECTIVE RIVETS TO PRESIDENT; MOVE COST HIM HIS JOB HE TELLS COMMITTEE AT HEARING

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Alleged defective riveting on ships constructed for the emergency fleet corporation was not only called to the attention of President Wilson, but "evidence" in the form of a package of rivets was sent to him, witnesses before the Walsh committee inquiring into shipping board affairs testified today.

The witness was Thomas H. Purcell, who said in 1918 he was engaged as an inspector of hulls at the plant of the submarine boat corporation. Some of the riveting work in this yard he described as "fierce." He says superiors would not support him in his contentions of poor work—therefore he sent President Wilson some "samples" in the form of defective rivets.

He could not say if the president ever saw the "evidence" but he did know he was "fired for sending it." "They gave me only just about time enough to get my clothes and get out of the place," he said.

"I then went to Philadelphia, and it was evident," the witness testified "that my record had preceded me." "For I found I was in bad favor there."

He also testified that the riveting situation at the later plant was not "something fierce." He complained to his superiors, he added, without satisfaction. He threatened to go direct to the emergency fleet corporation headquarters at Philadelphia and was warned not to do it.

"I went to Philadelphia, and was again fired," he added. The witness supplemented his testimony by exhibits of drawings by him showing rivets under varied conditions and by samples of rivets used in ship construction.

The committee was enlightened as to the meaning of various terms used in describing faulty rivets as to how alleged poor work was covered up by "doping it with red lead and other matters."

BOISE TEAM SAID TO BE STRONG AGGREGATION

Reports reaching here of the Boise-Nampa game last Saturday, which Boise won by a score of 45 to 0, indicate that the local aggregation will have their work cut out for them when the winners come here for the big game on Thanksgiving day. Although heavily beaten by Caldwell, Boise has a heavy, fast team and one that is going to be hard to stop.

Boise's attack is built mainly on the forward pass and on runs from that formation, with the star quarterback, M. J. M. usually on the passing end. Lamson, the right end, is reputed to be a demon at pulling down the throws and most of them are directed towards him. In the game with Nampa, they buried the ball around the "hot" with reckless abandon, and usually made the passes connect for substantial gains.

Very little is known about the strength of the line, but the average weight of the team is estimated at about 160 pounds, or over while they are reputed to be exceptionally fast.

Far From the Madding Crowd

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and laggard. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is slimy, full of sediment, channels of ten get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good reliable physician at once or, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the soda of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular mass excretion. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delicious, effervescent lithia-water drink. Adv.

HOLD SONG FEST AT HIGH SCHOOL

Effort to be Made to Revive Community Singing at Auditorium Tonight; Everyone Invited

An effort will be made to revive the practice of community singing when a song fest is held in the auditorium of the high school tonight under the direction of Charles Oitz, director of music in that institution. The public is urged to attend, bring their voices with them and do help make the occasion a success.

Community singing was conceived during the war as one of the most efficacious means of keeping the people amused and thus sustaining the public morale and taking their minds away from their troubles. In this respect it was eminently successful, being practiced in all of the larger cities and in many of those of smaller size.

Speakers of the song fest that is being held tonight, Superintendent H. A. Blue declared that the usefulness of the idea is not confined to war time, but that the social contact which it promotes is equally desirable during the reign of peace. "The idea," he declared, "is entirely too valuable to let die, and it is in an effort to continue the many benefits to be secured from the social contact that the song fest tonight is being held, and in an effort to promote union and harmony amongst the people of the community."

BRITAINS PROVE CASE OF IRELAND

Statements of Leading Britishers Referred to By Irish to Show Truth of Charges.

DUBLIN, Nov. 15.—When an Irishman complains to the world about British military "oppression" it is quite the thing for the military to call him a liar and assassin and to deny it.

So the Irish Sinn Féin political organization just now is trying to prove their case by using words of Englishmen who have investigated conditions in Ireland.

Only a few days ago a number of well known Englishmen addressed a statement to their fellow countrymen through the London Times, urging the necessity of the abandonment by the British government of its "policy of repression in Ireland."

Among those who signed the statement were General Hubert Gough, H. C. Woodhouse, the author, John Maclellan and Philip Gibbs, one of England's foremost journalists.

System Not Justice, They Charge. To quote from their statement:

"Few Englishmen have any idea of the lengths to which this policy has been carried. The 'coercion act' started the climax of this policy. Court-martial justice will become the rule. It is provided that men may be kept indefinitely in prison without trial. A court may sit in secret.

"This is not a system of justice. It is designed for the punishment of a political movement.

"Every solution of the Irish question presupposes a friendly feeling between England and Ireland and we are stimulating hatred. Thus, only by changing our policy can we create the atmosphere necessary to the successful working of any solution of the Irish question.

Conspirators Have Unlimited Power.

At present the constables or soldiers may raid the home of an Irishman at night, drag him away to prison or stand him up against a wall and shoot him without trial and the local coroner, nine times out of ten a Sinn Féin member, cannot hold an inquest and return a verdict of murder against the soldiers or constables. The British stopped these inquiries because the coroner verdicts rendered were generally political documents.

After Lord Mayor MacCurtain of Cork had been taken from his home and shot to death some months ago, the Cork coroner, later Premier Lloyd George, along with the constables, as those guilty of murder.

Unlimited latitude is allowed the military and constabulary operating in Ireland. Upwards of 25,000 raids have been made on Irish homes in search for seditious literature, firearms and other evidences of disloyalty to the king; 20 Irish newspapers were suppressed at one time for printing advertisements for the Irish republic; some 6000 arrests of Sinn Féin leaders and sympathizers have been made; 31 Sinn Féin members of the "Irish parliament" were in prison at the time of their election; 37 more members have either been imprisoned since their election or are now being hunted by the British authorities with a view to imprisoning them; some 2500 deportations of Irishmen; numerous state fairs and other public gatherings were suppressed; and about 75 Irishmen shot, according to republican government figures.

Occupants of the famous "Horseshoe" a glitter with jewels as ever, chatted only between acts, for the usual of the constant opera-goer was lost in the enthusiasm of the season's opening. The pit, stocked with white shirt fronts, looked over ahead, while over the edge of the highest balcony hung large eyes, a folk whose

MASTER MIND IN CONTROL OF BOOZE

Chicago Heeds Tale of Cliqué Controlled by One Man Who Directs All Movements

CHICAGO.—"Somewhere in Chicago" sits the man who is the brains of the great Chicago whiskey ring. He lives in a comfortable apartment, which he uses also as an office. He is almost daily in communication by long distance telephone with Washington, Cincinnati and other cities.

This "master mind" has four chief lieutenants. Two live in Chicago. Two live in Washington. Made $14,000,000.

Some of them are well-known men. The commander-in-chief himself, though, is comparatively unknown. He is not a public man, nor a politician.

These five men—the real "higher up" in a systematic booze traffic that covers half of the country—have cleaned up $14,000,000 in profits since national prohibition went into effect.

Such is the story whispered in back of the story that controls Chicago. It is a story that contains no names and no addresses. It may be of the flimsiest foundation—but there are several people in Chicago who insist it is true. Reports concerning this "$14,000,000 cliqué" are vague.

There has been emphasis on the story the past week because of the activity of the federal grand jury probing the booze scandal and the coincident resignation of Major A. V. Dalrymple, most famous supervising prohibition commissioner in the country.

Chief Is Worried

It is said the mysterious chief of the "fourteen million dollar cliqué" is worried about Dalrymple's confidential report, though he claims to have such tremendous influence that he cannot be "touched."

Major Dalrymple refuses to discuss his report. Commissioner Williams in Washington admitted its existence but went no further than a hint that it included "names of politicians and officials who attempted to block enforcement of the prohibition law."

It is significant that two leading enforcement officials have resigned in Chicago, said to be the distributing center of the nation's illicit booze industry. Captain Hubert Howard, state commissioner, resigned several months ago with the admission that he was helpless—that he had turned down opportunities to make a million dollars "easy money."

Dalrymple Out Now

New Dalrymple, who hung on to his job in spite of open opposition has quit.

Are they going to get the "higher-ups?" Everybody wonders. Meanwhile you can buy all the booze you want in Chicago—and in most every other city.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation—if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mix the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though it troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store, all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—A. dv.

LANGUAGE AS A PACIFIER.

An American born in Europe, who has been traveling abroad and studying conditions resulting from the war, writes:

"Few men and women of even moderate education in Europe, in the next generation will be without a knowledge of English. All over Europe men, women and children are studying language of America as never before. It is being rapidly adopted in the curriculum of their schools. Our failure to understand the problem of Europe is in part small measure due to our inability to understand the language of Europe. How easy will be that understanding when that language is our own! How potent will be Anglo-Saxon ideals, how beneficent their influence!"

Here is something worth remembering, in thinking of future international relations. When all the important foreign nations are able, and accustomed, to express their views in our own language, and have the knowledge of English and American institutions, culture and ideals that command of the language implies, it certainly ought to be easier to get along with them, and easier for them to get along with each other. A common language is the greatest of pacifiers, especially when it is the language of the greatest and most-pacific nations.

ANTI-BOOZE EDUCATION.

A bit of evidence as to the good accomplished by prohibition was secured the other day by a group of people who were visiting the workhouse in their community.

They passed a big room, empty save for long rows of beds down each side. "This," said the officer who was conducting the party, "is the hospital ward for women prisoners." His guests commented on the fact that it was empty, and were informed that seldom had a bed been occupied since prohibition went into effect. When asked how this compared with pre-prohibition days, he said: "Oh, Lord! It was full all the time, day and night—not only those beds you see there, but a double row of cots down the middle of the room, and some in the corridor here. There were plain drunks and women that had been in fights, and lots that had the D. T.'s and all sorts of stuff."

"Well," commented one of the guests, "I never saw much reason for prohibition before—didn't think it really mattered much, one way or the other. But, believe me, I'm converted."

"If more people knew what we fellows know," replied the officer, "there wouldn't be any need of prohibition laws or of men to enforce them."

Wider education along these lines, apparently, is more desirable than further legislation. It is human to resent law, but no one could resent the mute testimony of that empty prison hospital ward.

BUILDING FRAUDS.

The building scandals revealed in New York city in the course of the special inquiry conducted by Samuel Untermyer have shed a new light on the housing problem. It developed that a ring of building contractors has existed in New York, conspiring to keep up the cost of construction by prearranging their bids, allowing some designated member to make the low bid and get the contract, and then dividing up the profit. The "low bid" has been in every case made high enough to insure plenty of "velvet."

It has been proved, too, that contractors have been forced to pay blackmail money regularly to some representatives of the building trades, to obtain men for their work and insure themselves against strikes. These representatives have preyed on labor as well as capital.

There have been also revelations as to price-fixing combines of manufacturers and dealers in building materials, and intimations of exposures to come regarding usurious interest rates or "bonuses" charged for money needed for construction.

Such offenses are particularly culpable at a time when the housing situation is so critical. The crooks have been preying on the most pressing necessities of the nation. The New York Times says:

"The burden of the housing shortage has fallen mainly on the poor, who were already sorely pressed by the cost of food and clothing. The result is registered in the weekly bulletin of the health department. There has been a sharp increase in infant mortality from respiratory and contagious diseases, which are caused mainly by 'close and indiscriminate contact.' The department attributes the increase to the present housing situation, which has necessitated the doubling up of families, making it impossible to properly isolate contagion."

And this is only one of the many evil effects of such grafting. The New-York inquisitors are performing a national service in, exposing the crooks. Putting them out of business will have a wholesome effect on the building trades everywhere. Meanwhile, every other city or state that has suffered from unduly high building costs might well do some probing of its own.

LET GRANDMA VOTE.

The efficient mother of an Ohio household was starting out to register. Grandma sat by the window in the sun. "I'd like to vote," she said timidly. "Oh, no, mother," was the brisk answer. "It would be too big a job to get you up there and then again to vote. You're better off at home; and don't forget to look out for the laundryman." The old lady sighed and agreed patiently that probably it would be best, but the faded eyes were wistful. They had been looking for a good many years over into that promised land. "Votes for women" meant more to the old mother than it ever could to the daughter who had seen only the triumphant ends of the long struggle.

How many grandmothers like this one, infirm but not helpless in body, clear and active in mind, will be left to sit at home while her daughter goes to reap the results of a victory whose cost she only remotely understands.

What if it is a job to get the old ladies out? What if it does take a whole morning to guide the tottering steps to the voting booth? There will be years enough when the trembling old feet are still and the vigorous younger women can go unhindered to the performance of their civic duties. Take grandma to the polls.

"Do we want more congressmen?" inquires the Literary Digest. That depends. If they're to be like some of the congressmen we've been having, we want to think the matter over pretty carefully.

The Dutch people have decided that after Wilhelmina and her daughter get through they will have no more queens. Then what will they do—play with the knives wild?

However the title to the Greek throne may be conferred, the next king is still sure to bear that fine old Hellenic name of Glucksburg.

With the presidential election off the mind, there is now a comfortable chance to do the Christmas shopping early.

Headline—"Germans Meet French in Paris" Well, they'd still rather do that than to meet them in Berlin.

John Burroughs says he "accepts the universe." Very good of him, to be sure.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

WAR SHORN OF ITS GLAMOR

Modern Painters, Who Themselves Have Looked on Death, Depict Slaughter as It Really Is.

For the first time in history war is painted as it is. The warlike, the glory has been taken off. It stands out in all its sudden horror. The opening of the Salon des Artistes Français, filled for the first time with canvases of men who have been in the trenches, show an actual, almost unbearable, picture of the war.

Most of the painters have sought to depict the horror of the war, not the glory of it. The war has been shown as it really is, the only truth of the war.

They show no dash of glory, these painters who have been through the war, no flourish of triumph, not even fragments of general orders. But war is a fact. A soldier, that he toward the lines, exhausted, despairing, looking up to his mouth a hapless, dark as a clot of blood is what one sees. The face is distorted with suffering, and the uniform is of that indecipherable color which comes only from continual exposure to the elements. Garry paints a blinded soldier guided towards a relief station, Michel and Tournegues show water-bogged trenches.

If governments in the future wish more pleasant and cheerful war scenes they will have to call on artists who stayed away from the front. Those who served were too close to death to paint anything but the truth.

JUST REPETITION OF HISTORY.

Fade of the Present Day Had Their Counterpart in the Fashions of Years Ago.

Nothing is new under the sun, not even the newest and most up-to-date girl striker of the present day, with bobbed hair, nor even the employer who complains of the fashion. A writer in "Blackwood" has discovered that in the time of James I, this fashion was affected by women who donned the doublet and hose, which aroused the ire of an unknown author, who in 1620 lampooned the women of the day for so dressing, and instead of keeping to "the modest attire of the country, as a reminiscence of the modern maidens' forebears in the Conventual time."

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Special ceremonies in honor of Florence Nightingale, famous English nurse during the Crimean war, were held today by the Red Cross at the house of the statue of Liberty in New York harbor. The program was planned as a part of the Red Cross annual roll call activities.

Selling Shoes Under Difficulties.

Dean R. Stover, southern salesman for a Brackton shoe concern, got an order under difficulties while out on his last trip. He made a North Carolina town, and found a last to give him to a township 45 miles away to which few trains run. Arriving on the outskirts of his destination he found that the heavy floods had washed away the only bridge. Mr. Stover decided the only thing to do was to turn back until the last driver suggested that there might be a boat somewhere around. Mr. Stover hunted for the boat, until he found a flat bottomed skiff and he rowed across. He interviewed his customer, paid him back to the other shoe peddler, and then he turned back and left his samples out on the roadside. And he made the sale—Brackton Enterprise.

All Blush Now.

Playwright Eugene Walter approves of a New York publisher's conviction for publishing a supposedly obscene novel said:

"The novel in question is harmless, and the people who brought about that poor publisher's conviction were as silly as—as well as it reminds me of a story."

"The lady principal of a famous girls' school took her older pupils to the Metropolitan museum one day. Entering the hall of sculptures, the principal said, as she looked up from her catalogue:

"Attention, young ladies! When we stand by the next statue but mine you will all blush."

to the truth or which is considered by them inopportune. Protest was made by the newspaper proprietors and they have adopted a resolution asking intervention by the National press federation.

SERVICE WINS SEAT IN HOUSE

Miss Alice Robertson, Long Toe of Suffrage is Now Member of Congress.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Nov. 15.—The only woman member of congress was a member of women's suffrage. Miss Alice Robertson, of Cleveland, from this district to the house of representatives is the second woman ever to be sent to congress. Jeannette Rankin of Montana was the first.

"The home is the unit of society," she said in dozens of anti-suffrage speeches. "When woman enters politics she leaves the home and society in danger."

But when suffrage became a fact, and the people here who have known Alice Robertson all her life considered their candidates, they chose her. She is a "bundle of nervous energy" consecrated to the service of humanity, says former State Court Justice Thomas H. Owen, a democratic campaign manager—of this—republican congresswoman.

Indian Work.
Miss Robertson's grandfather was a missionary to the Indians and her father took up his father's work. Early in life Miss Robertson began to carry on the work of the generations before her.

She learned domestic science and stenography at a Boston school and was the first stenographer in Indian territory. She established a school for the Indian girls and, from that time on, she has worked for the betterment of the Indians.

Miss Robertson turned her home into a boarding house and later opened a cafeteria, at first for girls only and later for the general public. The cafeteria has never been a profit-making business.

No man in uniform has ever had to pay for food at Miss Robertson's restaurant, and the poor have always been fed free and everyone else at cost.

Miss Robertson adopted many Indian orphans and cared for them until they were grown.

Named Postmistress.
During the Spanish-American war she helped to recruit the famous Captain Carson regiment of rough riders and personally gave a field kit to every man of the regiment. She came to know Roosevelt at that time and Roosevelt made her postmistress of Muskogee—the first woman postmistress in a first-class postoffice in the United States.

During the last year she was named of the Red Cross chapter which cared for the comfort of thousands of soldiers on troop trains.

There is hardly a person for miles about Muskogee who hasn't at some time or other been aided in some way by Miss Robertson. She hasn't an enemy probably, among all who know her.

Her campaign was as simple as her doctrine of service. She simply talked of the things she'd like to see the nation do in a little "want ad" strip where her restaurant advertisement has run for years.

Miss Robertson gives no heed to prevailing fashions and never has, yet she is conspicuous by the neatness and taste of her attire.

BELIEVE WHITE MEN EATEN BY NATIVES

BRISBANE, Australia, Nov. 13.—It is reported from New Guinea that two white men and 10 native carriers are missing and are believed to have been killed and eaten by the natives on the Fly river.

The missing men were hunting birds of paradise in Dutch New Guinea. A searching party, reported that on visiting a native village on the Fly river the villagers find some booklets stained with blood, a photograph, some clothes and other evidences of the white men were found.

FIRE DESTROYS MAIL CAR IN MONTANA

BILLINGS, Mont., Nov. 13.—A through mail car attached to a Northern Pacific train November 3, St. Paul to Seattle, was practically destroyed by fire today near Pompey's Pillar east of here. All first class mail was salvaged, officials say, but a few political shipments and large quantity of newspapers were burned. The cause of the fire has not been determined.

VISIBLE SUPPLY OF WHEAT SHOWS INCREASE

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The visible supply of American and bonded grain shows the following changes:
Wheat increased 1,742,000 bushels.
Corn decreased 1,038,000 bushels.
Oats decreased 237,000 bushels.
Rye decreased 94,000 bushels.
Barley decreased 44,000 bushels.

OMAHA PILOT JOINS WINGED AIR FORCES

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 15.—Clarence C. Lange, former Omaha air pilot, who made a wide reputation on the Omaha-Chicago and Omaha-Cheyenne runs for daring and speed, left here today to join the forces of General Wrangel, Russian commander, as a fighting flyer against the bolsheviks. Lange will sail from

New York a week from Monday. Lange established and broke several records between Omaha and Chicago and Omaha and Cheyenne. He won the airplane race from Omaha to Crawford, Neb., last September, capturing the $10,000 prize.
Lange saw much service in France as an American aviator, and went to Siberia when the American expeditionary forces were sent into this northland.

WALL STREET EXPLOSION SUSPECT GIVEN ONE DAY

LITTSBURGH, Nov. 13.—Florin Zelenko who was held for investigation in connection with Wall Street, Nov. 10, explosion, was sentenced to serve one day in jail in United States district court here today. He was charged with transporting explosives in interstate travel.

Zelenko was arrested here several months ago with some dynamite in a suitcase and his statement that he had purchased it in West Virginia while working as a coal miner, was verified by government officers.

EXPLOSIONS CAUSED BY DUST

Investigation Has Proved That Grain Is by No Means the Only Destructive Agent.

When the bureau of chemistry of the United States department of agriculture started investigating the object of reducing fires and explosions caused by dust in the grain elevators and mills it was not long before the experts realized these fires and explosions were caused by dust, not grain. The grain business. These dust-explosion investigations are having a wide influence, which has extended to many industries. Aluminum dust, starch and even fish meal, a byproduct of fish canneries, have been found susceptible to the conditions which produce disastrous explosions.

The latest development goes to prove that the mysterious "blow sacks" so well known to Bremen are in fact caused by dust. With the knowledge of this fact as a guide many fatal accidents may be avoided. The Bremen of America find the matter of sufficient importance to warrant their cooperation with the department of agriculture in a study of preventive measures.

The subject was taken up by the National Bremen's association at their twenty-second annual convention at Peoria, Ill. Engineers engaged in the dust-explosion investigations represented the department of agriculture at the meeting.

EYE HAS GREAT SENSITIVITY

Wonderful Human Organ Capable of Adapting Itself to Any Possible Circumstances.

On entering a dark room after a stay in the outside daylight the eye at once begins to increase in sensitivity. At first this increase appears to be slow, but after five minutes the increase is quite rapid, the eye acquiring a sensitivity several hundred times its initial value. After 30 minutes' sojourn in the dark the sensitivity still increases, but more slowly than before, and after 45 minutes or an hour the maximum sensitivity is reached. The final sensitivity varies slightly with different people, but is fully adapted condition the eye is easily 5,000 or 10,000 times more sensitive than it was at the beginning.

These facts are obtained from a study of the sensitiveness of the eye in the dark made by Selig Hecht of Creighton university, Omaha, and published in the Journal of General Physiology. Mr. Hecht's study goes to show that the increased sensitiveness is due to a reversible photochemical reaction within the retina, involving a photosensitive substance and its two products of decomposition.

No Time for Interruption.

"However deplorable the fact may be, playing two-handed pinocle at 25 cents a hand is one of the favorite diversions of commuters between this city, New York, Atlantic City, Cape May, and other commercial outposts of Philadelphia. One man, who carries his pleasures as well as his worries home from work, was playing pinocle in his library the other evening with a cronie, when the butler entered and handed him a telegram. He returned it unopened. "I'll look at it later."

"But the messenger is waiting, sir," the butler respectfully responded. The financier read the telegram. It said: "Struck 8,000-barrel gusher today. Everything fine."

"Confound you, Thomas, why did you spoil my game? he cried.

He didn't care nearly so much about the fortune he had made, as about the 25 cents he was in danger of losing.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

Sound "News" Exaggerated.

Believing that the United States was in the throes of a railroad strike and not a wheel was turning, Frederick R. Bartlett, wealthy sugar dealer and engineer, of Boston, Mass., arrived at New York on the steamship Maracaibo from Venezuela with a powerboat and enough gasoline to run it to his home town. Reports received in the South American republic, he said, had indicated that he would have to make his way home without the aid of railroads or even automobiles, because of the gasoline shortage.

When Mr. Bartlett found railroads were operating he decided nevertheless to make a water trip to Easton. So the boat was slung overboard and with his wife and daughter he chugged away for home.

Historic House of Industry.

Apparatus for the manufacture of insecticide soon will be installed in the old Philip house at Totteville, headquarters of General House during the British occupation of Staten Island in 1770 and since then a place of historic interest. Announcement of the sale of the property was made yesterday, and with it came the news that the old house will be converted into a factory.

All efforts to have the state purchase the house and preserve it and its dungeon and secret underground passageway as relics of the War for Independence were unsuccessful.—New York Times.

Marry in Haste.

At a tea a number of ladies were discussing the best age at which to marry. Some championed thirty years, some twenty-eight, some twenty-seven. Then Miss Elsie De Wolfe, who has so brilliantly succeeded in so many fields, laughed and said:

"The best age to marry is while you're still too young to know better."

KANSAS MILLERS HEARD IN COURT

Exploit Why Mills Have Suspended Operations; Blame Import of Canadian Flour.

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 15.—Kansas millers probably will be called into conference by the Kansas court of industrial relations to devise a plan for keeping the court informed as to market conditions in the business. W. L. Higgins, presiding judge, announced today at the conclusion of hearing in which the Topeka millers were called upon to explain why they had restricted operation of their mills.

The hearing which adjourned this evening, was termed by Judge Higgins as a preliminary step to the investigation.

Managers of seven Topeka flour mills appeared before the court and testified in response to questions by members of the court and attorneys of the court. None of the workmen whose informal complaint caused the hearing to be called responded to the invitation to testify although a number of workmen attended the hearing.

Theodore Ismert of Kansas City, Kas., testified that his company has orders sufficient to keep the mill running for two months but that purchasers would not accept deliveries. He said there was no way to force them to accept orders except through the courts.

J. B. Nicholson, manager of the Kaw Milling company and the Forbes Milling company, testified that American millers could within 131 days of continuous production manufacture all flour consumed in the United States. As a result, he testified any limitation of export trade is certain to cause shortages.

Mr. Ismert also testified that states east of Pennsylvania, including one-third of the population of the United States has been lost to the southwestern milling trade through the importation of Canadian flour selling from $1 to $1.50 a barrel lower than it could be manufactured here.

H. H. Yoder of the Topeka Flour Mills company testified that at the recent convention of the American Baking Industry in Atlantic City, N. J., where millers from all over the country went to make contracts, that five times as much Canadian as United States flour was purchased.

The millers denounced the importation of wheat from Canada. Wheat can be grown cheaper in Canada than in the United States, they testified.

KNOW LITTLE ABOUT EARTH

Dwellers on This Globe Have Shown No Curiosity Concerning Possible Wonders of Its Interior.

The earth's crust is compared to the skin of an apple by the writer of a leading article in the Scientific American Monthly. Our knowledge of the globe on which we live, he says, is not even skin deep; for an apple as large as the earth would have a skin twenty miles thick; and no one has been much more than a mile into the crust, or has bored into it with tools more than a mile and a half. It is rather humiliating to think that we know more about the sun, about millions of miles away, than we do of the solid earth under our feet. We think nothing of dispatching exploring expeditions to unknown regions thousands of miles away, have about a little expedition to points only a few miles distant—vertically downward! Such expeditions have been proposed, although the boldest explorer has not dared to suggest going further than twelve miles—a trip that would take him on the surface of the earth only from one end of Manhattan island to the other.

CHICAGO POLICE FORCE ENTIRELY REORGANIZED

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—Chicago's police force today was given the biggest shake-up in its history by Chief Charles C. Fitzmorris, recently appointed to succeed John J. Gharilly.

whose resignation was requested by Mayor William H. Thompson.

Abolishment of the special squads did away with the homicide squad, the bomb squad, the rifle corps, the burglary squad, the "river details" and numerous other special organizations created by Gharilly.
A hazaar and chicken pie supper will be given by the Ladies Aid and the young peoples class at the Community church, one mile east and four miles south of Foundry on Friday evening, November 19, beginning at 6 p. m. Everyone is cordially invited. The proceeds to be used to complete the church basement.

BOXING PROMOTERS WILL COMBINE ALL INTERESTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Tex Rickard, Charles Cochran of London, and William A. Brady, co-promoters of the Dempsey-Carpenter championship boxing contest have combined this country it was learned tonight through the granting of a charter of their interests in staging bouts in Albany today to the "Dempsey-Carpenter contest company."

IDAHO LIVESTOCK WINS AT BIG SHOW

Animals Owned by County Boys and Girls Take Large Amount in Premiums at Exhibitions.

LEWISTON, Ida., Nov. 15.—(Hoy) The livestock members of Twin Falls and Washington counties won more than $2300 in cash prizes on the fair circuit which they concluded here Friday, November 12, with the closing of the Northwest livestock show. This figure was given by William Kerr, scenic specialist of the University of Idaho extension division, who assisted the youngsters in breeding, growing and preparing their livestock exhibits.

The highest individual winner, according to Mr. Kerr, was Clifford Caldwell, of Kimberly, who took prizes totaling $575 on one litter of four pigs.

The closing of the Northwest show in Lewiston on November 12, said Mr. Kerr, "marks the termination of well-nigh carefully made plans on the part of the boys and girls club members of Twin Falls and Washington counties to establish a noteworthy record for efficiency. These young breeders have been on a continuous show circuit with the best breeders of the northwest, carrying two carloads of registered livestock consisting of Duroc Jerseys and Poland China swine, and Hereford, Holstein and Jersey cattle. Altogether they carried 20 Duroc Jerseys, 14 Poland Chinas and seven head of cattle. One car of this exhibit was shown at the southern Idaho fair at Piler and both carloads were shown at the state fair at Boise, and Western Royal livestock show at Spokane and the Northwest livestock show at Lewiston.

"In going into the open circuit against the breeders of the northwest, they met with such a keen and determined competition that it would be possible to meet with in the nation.

"All of the animals that were shown by the young breeders are owned by them. They either purchased, all them with cash or borrowed the money from local banks and the animals are registered in their names.

"Among the last of young breeders who had animals on this circuit are Clifford Caldwell, Kimberly; Robert Weaver, Idaho Falls; Hurdell, Piler; and Alfred Stree, Twin Falls. There are all from Twin Falls county. Their exhibit consisted of purebred Duroc Jersey swine. From Washington county the following young breeders sent animals on this circuit: Leslie Reed, Veritas; Reed, L. E. Porter, Clyde Smith, Marvin Pound, Norman Poase, Emmott Routen, Wayne Forrell, Delbert Barton, Lester Farrell and Calvin Poase.

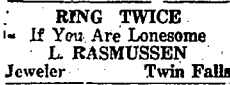

A slight conception of the quality of these animals may be had by realization of the fact that on the circuit the amount of cash won in prizes totals more than $2300. The highest individual winner among those breeders was Clifford Caldwell of Kimberly, Idaho. His best prize was $575, on one litter of four pigs.

CARRY INSIGNIA OF HONOR

War Department Has Decided That Planes Shall Retain Distinguishing Marks Earned in War.

Heavily bucked on the farm is going to get an awful shock one of these days when he looks skyward during a full in the plying. A plane is going to appear overhead and he will instantly recognize the insignia painted on the fuselage of the stellar army squadron that worked for his division at the time they were hoeing their way through the Argentine. In the Home Sector, Frederick J. Darle says: "The decision of the war department to retain the distinguishing insignia will in any event make the identification of the planes easy for civilians. More and more the army planes—old as they are—are undertaking long flights. They appear unexpectedly over cities, far from their bases, and many a farmer these days sees a grunting propeller beetle settle down in his back pasture. When an army plane comes flying by or lands near us, we will soon look for the insignia, just as everybody once looked for the state automobile license tag when the tourist's dust covered auto passed. When the pedestrian sees a plane decorated with the painting of a kicking mule, a silhouetted, scything machine, or a witch astraddle a broomstick, he may wonder what little record the insignia stands for. He may guess rightly that the tiny winged elephant on a plane is a sarcastic commentary on the plane's speed, but he probably would like to know whether this plane is from a burden-bearing squadron that heeled tons of bombs over the lines to drop them on German railway junctions."

"In the club competition at the Western Royal, these young breeders from these two counties won the following prizes:

"Duroc boars: First, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, ninth tenth and eleventh prizes.

"Duroc sows: First, second, third, fourth, fifth, ninth and tenth.

"Litter of four: First, second, third and fourth.

"Poland China boars: First, second and third.

"Poland China girls: First, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth.

Calf club of individuals: First, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh.

"At the Northwest show:

"Duroc boars: First, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth.

"Duroc sows: First, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth.

"Litter of four: First, second, third, fourth and fifth.

"Club exhibit of six pigs: First, second, third and fourth.

"Hereford calves: First and second.

"Hereford heifer: First.

"Hairy calf calves: First, second, third and fourth.

"Calf club exhibit of five: Second."

EXPECT LEAGUE PROBE OF NAVY

Japanese Marine Plans Said to be Subject of Investigation at Geneva

LONDON, Nov. 15.—A queer rumor has gained currency that when the League of Nations assembly meets at Geneva questions will be raised as to the great size of Japan's naval estimates.

It is hard to guess what nation would do this.

France is Japan's ally. France is chiefly interested in German-Russian problems. Italy is occupied with Adriatic matters. Holland as a great East Indian power probably is interested in the growing size of Japan's navy, but it is not believed she will dare to raise the question.

No One Has Rights

The fact is, the covenant gives no one the right to raise it. Article 8 says the league members recognize that the maintenance of peace requires the reduction of national armaments.

But nations now applying for membership in the league, in the coming assembly might afford means of means of getting a full statement as to Japanese designs because Article 8 stipulates "members of the league undertake to interchange full and frank information as to the scale of their armaments, their military, naval and air programs and the condition of such of their industries as are adaptable to warlike purposes."

As America will be unrepresented the chances are against anyone else demanding information as vital to our Congress in building its future naval program.
