

SHIP BOARD ACCOUNTING POOR, CLAIM

Government Funds Handled in Careless Manner Says Witness

STARTLING DISCLOSURES ARE MADE AT HEARING

No Experts Used in Work of Handling Vast Sums of Money, Declares Gillen

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A series of startling disclosures tending to support what he declared to be a "complete lack of adequate accounting systems" in the handling of government funds were made here by Martin J. Gillen, a witness before the Walsh congressional committee investigating the affairs of the United States shipping board. Gillen was a special assistant to former chairman John Barton Payne.

Harding's Name in the Name of President-elect Harding was brought into the record when Gillen said he had informed Senator Harding that it was the duty of congress to see that only big men capable of handling affairs entrusted to them be appointed to all departments. He said appointments should be confirmed by the senate only when it is determined that the men named are capable and efficient. "It has been conceded," he said, "that the emergency fleet corporation had an expert knowledge of accounting" and he also said that it was due to a complete breakdown of the accounting system that the board had its main trouble. "Figures today by the witness ran into billions of dollars. He testified that one of the first acts of Chairman Payne when he discovered the condition of affairs was to go to the secretary of the treasury and secure from him the services of an accountant, whom he made treasurer of the board. This was done about August first, 1919, and he testified that among other conditions disclosed by the new treasurer were the following:

Claims No Balance Sheet—There was no balance sheet showing what funds the board possessed or in what banks its funds were deposited.

There was no record in the hands of the board of securities valued at more than $150,000,000 which he found in the vaults of a trust company in Philadelphia, where they had been placed for safe-keeping.

There was no record showing in detail how $150,000,000 had been expended up to that time.

There was no record of accounting with operators of shipping board vessels, nor was any of determining how much money belonged to the government they had in their possession.

Prior to the advent of Mr. Twode, he said, the treasurer of the board was only "an issuer of checks," oft times without supporting claim vouchers.

SIX KNOWN DEAD IN BURNING MINE

BARLINGTON, Ky., Nov. 17.—With the sealing this afternoon of that part of the Arnold mine which had been burning since yesterday afternoon when 17 men were entangled, the death toll of the disaster has been definitely established at six. Rescuers today found the entombed miners with the exception of a colored youth. A thorough search was made for him today when he was not found, the conclusion was reached that he had been buried under the fallen slate or that he had been burned to death. "What all hope of finding him alive has been abandoned," they were sealed to remain in for 30 to 40 days.

SMALL NATIONS HOLD FLOOR IN MEETING OF LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

GENEVA, Nov. 17.—South American and South Africa held the floor of the assembly of the League of Nations today. Honorable Pascual Tonello of the Argentine delegation, set forth impressively the Argentine view that all recognized nations must belong to the league to make it complete and avoid the danger of the organization of a rival league. He said that a formula must be found to permit the United States to come in and demanded that the league be made more democratic by electing all the members of the council in the assembly. Instead of allowing the big powers to name a majority of them as at present. This sounded like a formal notice to the big powers that they will encounter opposition from the smaller nations if they insist upon maintaining their council.

Lord Robert Cecil, speaking in behalf of General Smuts as a member of the South African delegation, reviewed the entire report of the council to the assembly and pointed out the result obtained.

HARDING ON WAY TO NEW ORLEANS TO BOARD STEAMER

ON BOARD FRIGATHE ELECT HARDING'S SPECIAL TRAIN, Nov. 17.—President-elect Harding's vacation in Texas came to an end today and he was well on his way toward New Orleans tonight to board a steamer for a voyage in southern waters. His special train left Brownsville, Texas, at 10 a. m., on a schedule of actually 44 hours along the gulf coast to the Louisiana port. He will stay there five hours, making an address at noon before the New Orleans Association of Commerce and boarding his steamer, the United Fruit liner Parissima, at 3 p. m. Whether Vera Cruz or some other Mexican port will be visited by the president elect has not been announced tonight. The Parissima's present sailing order calls for a direct run to the Panama canal zone, but Mr. Harding has indicated that he might request a change to permit him to accept the invitation to visit Mexican territory tendered him yesterday at Brownsville.

KING CONSTANTINE MAKES STATEMENT

LUCERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 17.—Former King Constantine made his first pronouncement respecting his attitude in the light of the Greek elections to "The Associated Press" today. "I cannot go to Athens at the head of any one political party and therefore insist upon a personal request for my return or the return of my wife," he said. "It is for the Greek people to decide. If the people want I shall return to Athens unless, of course, prevented by unjust force."

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—George W. Sterling, assistant director of operations for the United States shipping board, today was appointed receiver for eight Atlantic steamship companies.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A dangerous situation exists in India according to Edward Samuel Montagu, secretary for India who made this admission in the house of commons today. "I am not sure," he said, "that the operations of laws enacted under the British government are being carried out in India."

MAKE CHARGE IN PROBE OF HAITI DEATHS

U. S. Marine and Lieutenant Charged With Killing Natives

BOARD OF INQUIRY HEARS TESTIMONY

Declare Attack Made While Men Were Confined to Prison; One Shot in Back

PORT AU PRINCE, HAITI, Nov. 17.—The direct charge that Freeman Lang, formerly a corporal in the marine corps and a lieutenant in the gendarmerie killed three Haitian prisoners at Hinche in 1917, was made today before a court of inquiry which is investigating the activities of the American marines in Haiti, by Adolph Bourget, a native. Lang was formerly a resident of Los Angeles, California.

Bourget, who at the time was acting as corporal in the Gendarmerie, testified he witnessed the execution of the prisoners, which occurred immediately after a night attack. The others were brought out singly, meeting the same fate in the same way. "I was in the prison yard with other natives seeking safety," Bourget testified clearly and deliberately. Answering a request by Judge Advocate Major Jesse P. Dyer to identify Lang, if present, the witness rose and pointed across the table at Lang. At this juncture the court retired, subsequently announcing it would give Lang the right to question Bourget, obtain witnesses and employ counsel. Lang, who now is in prison at Hinche, started to question Bourget but quickly objected to the translator, declaring he wanted a white man. The court granted the request, adjourning Lang's testimony until tomorrow.

MEXICO MUST MAKE CLEAR MEANING OF LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Record that section were made retroactive to the new government in Mexico by the United States will be withheld, it was stated today at the state department, until Mexico has made clear the effect to be given to the article of the Mexican legislation relating to property in Mexico. Strong pressure for speedy recognition is being brought to bear on the department by some business interests in Mexico and the present attitude is being reported in the department by the Mexican legation. "I am not sure," he said, "that the operations of laws enacted under the British government are being carried out in India."

CONTOVERSY OVER CABLE TOLLS NOW IN SERIOUS STAGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Relations between the Western Union Telegraph company and the state department, already strained to the point of open rupture, reached a stage today where the government was understood to be considering seriously revocation of landing permits under which the company's existing cables are operated. The power of the executive branch of the government to take such drastic steps has never been established in the courts, but a veiled intimation of the purpose to bring it to an issue was contained in a formal statement on the controversy given out by the state department. After announcing the refusal of the company to handle government cable messages except upon prepayment or to carry messages originating outside of the United States should be entitled to enjoy the same privileges as messages to the control and use of such lines as were exercised by foreign governments. It was obvious, the statement added, that the United States could not be expected to allow the American corporation, to charge to government messages twice the rates charged the British and other governments.

SENATORS PLAN TO URGE LEGISLATION

Declare Revival of War Finance Corporation Only Way to Help Agricultural Interests.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Senators from the western and southern states are considering urging legislative action to revive the war finance corporation. They said today this was the only agency which could give immediate help to agricultural interests in the "appalling" situation resulting from the sudden fall in prices. A conference of western senators and representatives to discuss the matter will be called, it was said, when Chairman Groun, North Dakota, of the senate agricultural committee arrives in Washington. One suggestion is that congress adopt a mandatory resolution directing the immediate revival of the corporation.

In an appeal to President Wilson to revive the corporation, Senator Phil of South Carolina, wrote that he had discussed the matter with Secretary Houston and added: "I must say that he does not comprehend in the least the situation, or he does not desire to assist the American producer and I feel that it is absolutely useless for anyone to confer with him further on the subject."

"I have conferred with all the leading stock parties and I have not yet found a single man who does not agree with the war finance corporation should resume operations at once."

Passage of the Capper-Hiramman bill, legalizing collective marketing will be urged by the farmers' representatives at the coming session of congress it was said today. They will also ask for congressional investigation of credits and rates of interest.

LABOR PLANS TO OUST ALL RADICALISM

Federation Leaders Prepare Legislation to Keep Out Reds

TAKE DEFINITE STAND ON IMPORTANT QUESTION

Foresee Closer Cooperation Between Capital and Workers to Meet Difficulties

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Direct steps to eliminate radicalism from any control in organized labor and to meet the menace of incoming unemployment are being taken by the American Federation of Labor through its legislative council in session here. Already a decisive victory over elements within the organization has been achieved at one point, and the far-reaching nature of the council for the past week, dealing with economic problems, appeared tonight to forebode some action looking to closer cooperation between labor and capital to meet unemployment.

Conservative leaders in the federation have pounded away on the radical question for several months, insisting on a more determined stand by the controlling body, but reports of increasing unemployment have now brought that subject into a position of equal importance.

Although leaders were somewhat relieved on the question today, it developed that there was feeling among certain members of the council that it should deal emphatically with the attempts of radicals to bore from within. There were said to feel that conservatism must characterize labor's aspect.

In the reorganization of the committee to unify the steel workers, the conservative element showed its strength. It eliminated from the committee John J. Fitzpatrick, chairman, a recognized conservative in labor policies and Foster gave place to J. G. Brown, also a known conservative.

Compters Against Admission.—President Compters of the industrial union of Marine and Shipbuilding workers, declared today that he had refused admission of radicals from Europe on several occasions and the federation itself is having no intercourse with foreign labor groups of a radically turned. Federation leaders are planning to bring the congressional committee and every opportunity to check the rush of immigrants from radical sections of Europe and Asia. Increased restrictions will be urged, it was said.

Immigration to bear on the question of unemployment recognized by the labor men, to be increasing at a rapid rate. "The situation was characterized by several labor officials today as somewhat alarming and they felt the council should take steps to deal with it."

CIVIC BODY TO ATTEND GAME

Chamber of Commerce Completes Plans for Football Attendance At Contest Here Thanksgiving

Members of the chamber of commerce will attend the Thanksgiving day game between Twin Falls and Boise high schools in a body, according to plans made at a meeting of the executive bureau of that body last night.

The scheme calls for the assembly at the rooms of the organization of all members, or as many as can possibly be there, just before game time, where they will wait in line behind the high school band and head the parade to Lincoln field. Mr. Blue, who proposed the plan, declares that the active cooperation of the body will be of great assistance in fostering inter-scholastic athletics, one of the essential elements of our modern school system.

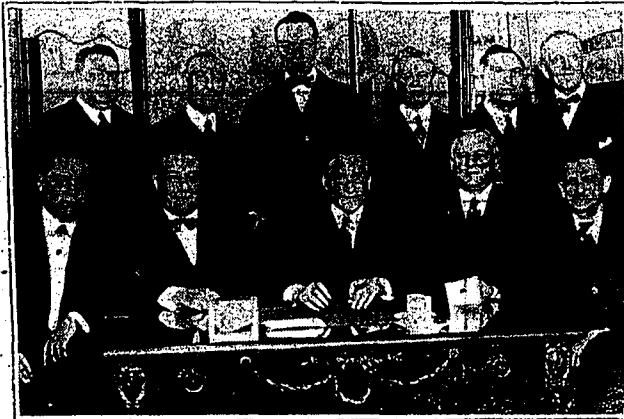

Each member of the bureau of education has been assigned 30 members, each of whom he will see personally and whom he will present a card insuring his presence at the meeting place on the big day. Members of this committee will also carry tickets with them in order to make the contract more binding.

It has been pointed out that this proposition is not only a good thing for the school, but also for the chamber of commerce, and that it affords them an opportunity to do themselves proud, while the representatives of the state capital are here.

This game is expected to be the biggest thing of the kind that has been pulled off in the city in years, being the formal resumption of athletic relations between the two schools which were broken off about six or seven years ago, following a terrible beating handed the locals. Twin Falls, however, is determined to erase this black mark against them and will go into the battle with an added incentive to win.

Another element which enters into the necessity of annexing this contest, is the fact that it is essential that Boise be beaten before Twin Falls can take on the aggression from Idaho Falls in a contest for the state championship.

CURIOUS EPISODE OCCURS IN HOUSE OF COMMONS

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A curious episode occurred in the house of commons tonight. William Adamson, labor member for Fife, announced that the labor party had received a telegram from the town clerk of Tipperary saying that Tipperary was being burned by Gown forces who had cut the fire hose and were preventing the firemen from working by threatening to use their revolvers.

Mr. Adamson demanded a discussion of the matter.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, said he had telegraphed Dublin Castle and had received a telephone message from the district inspector at Tipperary that the inspector's men had assisted in extinguishing a fire Monday night and that the town was quiet and the story of it being burned was absolutely untrue. Sir Hamar added that this report was characteristic of many of the unofficial rumors being circulated. He declared that the authorities were doing their utmost to repress reprisals.

MADE FEAST FOR LOBSTERS

Crustaceans No Doubt Highly Appreciated Macaroni That Seemed to Be Provided for Them.

"Charlie" is well known in his home town of Rockland. While covering his route along the south shore, he got a trade on some nice lobsters and purchased six dandies. A fat mackerel also caught his fancy while speculating in sea food and he took along the handsome specimen. Charles put the mackerel in with his lobsters and, cranking up his truck, headed for home.

"I've got something here, all right," said Charles to his better half as he carried the big bundle into the house. He dumped a crawling mass of crustaceans on the table but nowhere could he find his mackerel. Back in the auto he went but the fish had disappeared. When the lobsters were boiled and served it was noticed there was a decided flavor of mackerel to them. The diners' suspicions were aroused and, seeking authority, Charles was told that he had guessed correctly—the lobsters had eaten his mackerel. The hungry shellfish, however, brought up on salted herring in the traps, were not slow to realize that an unpleasant dish was being served them on the long ride home. They made the most of it, too.—Brooklyn Enterprise.

Modern Morals.

Lady Duff Gordon said at a tea at the Ritz:

"There are young women who would rather be ultra-fashionable than anything else. In their eyes nothing matters but that."

"Two young women were lunching when a third young woman passed in the company of an elderly married pair."

"There goes Maud," murmured the first young woman. "They say that she and old Mr. Goldie spent the week-end at Atlantic City together."

"Oh," said the second young woman in shocked tones. "Oh, what a libel on poor Maud! You know you couldn't drag her with wild horses to such a vulgar, common resort as Atlantic City."

Commercial Airlines.

The regular commercial air line has already come to stay. At present the longest passenger air service running, or rather flying, on regular air service is between London and Paris. The distance of 250 miles is flown in about three hours, often less. The fare is at the rate of a shilling a mile, or 807 for the trip. Even today these air passengers enjoy all the luxuries of modern travel. Nearly a score of passengers are carried in a comfortable cabin, seated in upholstered chairs. The cabin is lighted with electric candles and decorated with gilded pilasters. Several transatlantic air lines are planned. It is calculated that they can be run at a profit by charging $500 for an air passage.—Boys' Life.

Success and Failure.

Elihu Root on his seventy-fifth birthday reception in New York, talked philosophically about success and failure.

"After all," said a poet, "it's no disgrace to fail if you have done your best."

"Maybe not," said Mr. Root, "but all the same it's pretty rough to have to admit that the best you can do is to fail."

China's Potential Armies.

If, in a war, an enemy started killing Chinese soldiers at a million men a year, and if China were using 10 per cent of her population in that way, it would take fifty years to destroy her first armies, and in that period two further Chinese forces of fifty million would grow up to confront their enemy.—Paul Matthews in the British Review of Reviews.

LOCAL TEAM MAY PLAY IDAHO FALLS

Game for High School Football Championship May Result; Negotiations Now Under Way

When questioned yesterday as to the probability of a game with Idaho Falls, to decide the state championship, Coach Clinton W. Evans declared that Idaho Falls had already made the proposal contingent upon the defeat of Boise by the locals. The authorities of the institution here have already replied and accepted the offer, provided Boise is vanquished. It appears however that inasmuch as Idaho Falls demands that Twin Falls should beat Boise in the twin brother of Albert Idaho Falls trim Caldwell. Twin Falls is now considering everything into consideration, record of Idaho Falls is no more impressive than that of the local outfit, and it is only just that they also be required to show some class before they stack up against the locals. Caldwell has always been a strong contender for the title and this year ranks with any in the state, being as yet unbeaten. Their defeat of the crack Boise eleven by a 10 to 7 score is indicative of their strength.

It is the general public opinion that the game with Idaho Falls fitting the shopping district.

INDICT BRINDELL FOR EXTORTION

President of Building Trades Council of New York to Be Called for Trial.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The joint legislative committee investigation into the "building trust" resulted today in the indictment of Robert P. Brindell, president of the Building Trades Council—one of the highest paid labor leaders in the United States on charges of attempting to extort money from contractors by threats of calling strikes.

Collective extortion charges against Brindell, Special Assistant D. H. T. Attorney Richter declared in a pleading to the court to place the labor leader under heavy bail, will aggregate $100,000.

After pleading not guilty, Brindell was held a prisoner in the criminal courts building for several hours until his counsel could obtain $100,000 bail. He was given nine days in which to amend or change his plea or make necessary filings.

The indictment, the second returned by the grand jury handling cases growing out of the legislative investigation, contained three counts from Jacob Pradon, a house wrecker, for threatening to call a strike on a demolition job unless the money was paid him.

Vigorous protest was made to Judge Mulvaney the general session court by Martin W. Littleton, counsel for Brindell, against the heavy bail. The indictment of Brindell was not unexpected. In previous testimony more than $100,000 were alleged to have been received by the labor leader during the last ten months.

Amounts of payments alleged ranged from $200 to $32,000, the latter being paid by H. S. Robertson, a builder, on account of an agreement to pay Brindell $50,000 for "strike insurance" and "labor movement information."

Witnesses said Brindell and his agents referred to these payments as "commission," "compensation," "rake off," "our bot," "divvy" and "berries" one "berry" signifying $1,000.

Builders testified that Brindell had turned down offers of small amounts, declaring that he was "no piker." They characterized the labor leaders attitude as "bold" and said that unless they "came across" as directed he would not hesitate to put them out of business.

In absolute control of building trades council with its membership of 115,000 union workers, Brindell has been regarded as one of the most powerful factors in organized labor in New York.

RECORD FREIGHT MOVEMENT DURING LAST SIX MONTHS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—New high records for freight movement were made during the first six months after railroads were returned to private ownership, the Association of Railway executives announced today.

A world's record for net ton per train mile was reached in August, a jump from 725 in March. In May the association figures showed 23.8 miles per car per day and in August 27.4.

The number of cars now in service, 2,500,000, the statement says, "is practically the same as in 1913 and statistics reported by the Interstate Commerce commission for the last seven months of 1920 in number of tons of freight carried on mile was 248,990 million tons."

The volume of freight carried in the first six months of 1920, the statement adds, exceeds the net tons carried one mile during the corresponding period in the past three years.

The gain in car movement during the six months period is shown at 23 per cent.

DECLARES SECRETARY DEALS FARMERS BODY BLOW

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 15.—The secretary of the treasury and the federal reserve board dealt a body blow to the farmers of the country when they "persistently and in spite of the United Farmers protest," repeat parrot like, the slogan of certain financial interests that prices decline are "inevitable" and "unavoidable." Chas. S. Barrett, president of the National Farmers' union told delegates to the National convention.

"The farmers are called upon to make sacrifices not demanded by any other industry," President Barrett said, "and they will decline to yield to the wishes of certain interests trying to make them the special victims of what many regard as artificial and unnecessary restriction."

The president urged the preservation of the federal farm loan societies, against which, he said, an attack was being directed by farm mortgage holders.

"Legislation of an anti-social nature is likely to be proposed this year," Mr. Barrett said, "and the farmers union should be prepared to meet the situation."

The Greyhound.

The greyhound was first used as a good producer for its owners. It was necessary to have a dog that could run fast to capture animals for food, when weapons were in their infancy. There was no scale of points nor any typical lines on which this dog was bred. As a matter of fact utility was the foundation of all the great breeds of greyhounds. A wide-chested straight-shouldered, sleek-jointed, poor quartered dog is unable to run fast and a dog that had those faults could not do what the greyhound does. And that is the reason why some form of greyhound can be traced back as far as we have any dog history.

Early Prohibition in England.

Prohibition under stress of necessity does not first make its appearance in America. England, before now has submitted to it. In the years of famine and famine during the reign of Edward III, when the poor stole "fatted hogges to eat" when "thieves that were in prison did pluck in pieces those that were newly brought amongst them, and greedily devoured them with all their wits." Then we had prohibition. The king forbade all maiting of corn for ale making, and so, we are told, greatly relieved the national distress.

READ A BOOK TO CHILDREN.

In connection with "Children's Book Week"—soon to be observed in various library circles, it is urged that mothers read a book to the children during this period, covering a few pages or chapters every evening before bedtime, with the idea of finishing the book by the end of the week.

Among the books suggested are Mother Goose, Alice in Wonderland, Roosevelt's Letters to His Children, The Story of a Bad Boy, Little Women and Understood Betsey. The choice is not limited to this small range; the idea is to choose any books of accepted standing which shall be suited to the age and interest of the children.

It is safe to predict that once this pleasant fashion is begun, it will be continued with mutual delight and profit, and nothing could be more desirable. There are few things that contribute more to happiness in the home life than the habit of reading aloud. Harmony, education and love for good books all are fostered around the evening lamp as parents read and children listen. If there were more of this type of home-keeping entertainment, there would be less need of the multitudinous social organizations which now provide amusement away from home or for corrective institutions for wayward youth.

The reading need not be confined to so-called "juvenile" books, except for very young children. There is much of Dickens, Thackeray, Stevenson and other adult favorites which will delight the childish heart if carefully selected. Moreover, it is not the moral or literary effect alone which makes reading aloud valuable. Better than either of these, it starts early in life a train of precious family associations and memories.

THE HOME RULE BILL

It was ominous for the fate of the new Irish home rule bill that its final passage by the British House of Commons was described as a purely perfunctory proceeding on the part of "a small and rather listless gathering of members." The Liberal and Labor members were absent. Most of those present seemed to feel the hopelessness of it.

Yet there are big things offered in that measure, things which a few years ago might have set Irish people of all the world aflame with enthusiasm. It makes Ireland virtually independent in the local affairs which particularly concern that country, much after the manner of the "dominion home rule" established in Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand.

There are to be two parliaments, one for north Ireland and one for south Ireland, with a council appointed by the two and designed to unite their activities. Ireland is to have control of its own education, land policy, transportation, old age pensions, insurance and other domestic affairs, leaving to the British parliament only matters of imperial and international character, such as peace and war, army and navy, coinage, postoffices, navigation and foreign commerce. The policing system, including the Irish constabulary and the metropolitan police force of Dublin, are to come under Irish control in three years. Contributions to the support of the empire are to cease in two years.

All this, however, it is practically certain the Irish will refuse. They will refuse it almost unanimously. Two things they object to particularly: The governmental partition of Ireland, and the reservations the British government has made for the avowed protection of "the vital interests of the United Kingdom."

Even these, a few years since, would hardly have been insuperable. Now it is to late. Lloyd George himself sadly admits that while he considers the bill "a generous measure," he realizes that "the Irish people are not in position to give it proper consideration." The blundering and cruelty of the British government in Ireland have gone too far, as enlightened Englishmen themselves confess, and what will come now no man knows.

GETTING TEACHERS.

A large city which used to discourage the continuance of married teachers in its schools is now trying to get these teachers back into the ranks. The vacancies in the school system were so many when school opened this fall that the only remedy was to press into service every former teacher who could be persuaded to resume work.

The authorities do not like the idea because they have to take into the schools many persons who cannot give the desired length of service. They say they lose time in training teachers of somewhat mature age, who cannot be expected to serve as long as younger members of the teaching staff. The superintendent adds naively: "We have not yet found a fertile field for procuring teachers. It is hard and often a delicate thing to try to persuade a teacher already established elsewhere to give up her position and come to us."

This whole point of view sounds strange to the ordinary citizen. It would see so much more economical of training to take back experienced, competent, middle-aged women into the schools, women who have learned by having families of their own a great more about the growth of the child mind than they would have learned without that experience, than to hire young people who have to be taught pedagogy from the beginning, and who leave in droves after short periods of service. And how could any superintendent, in this day and age, expect to find in some mysterious realm "a fertile field for teachers"? There is not a city or town, not a village or hamlet in the country, which has not had some kind of difficulty with the teacher shortage in the last few years.

There are only two ways to have teachers. One is to attract them to the profession. The other is to keep them when they are in.

AGE AND TEETH.

Some enterprising dentist ought to exploit the case of Zora Mehmed. Zora is said to be the oldest man in the world, despite the claims of a certain super-centenarian in Kentucky. He says he is 146. In partial corroboration, he submits a son aged 90. There is no question that Zora is extremely old. If he were a horse, the question might be settled approximately by his teeth. But he isn't a horse and he hasn't any teeth of his own. Moreover, on second thought, a horse as old as Zora probably wouldn't have any teeth either—so there you are.

But to the point! This venerable patriarch has been having a bad spell of indigestion, and it's all on account of those same teeth. He ruined the original set during the Napoleonic wars, by lifting a 500-pound weight with them. He worried along without any for a generation or two, and then took to false teeth, and thus managed to get through another half-century. Then 20 years ago he bought a new set, and these, he explains, have made trouble for him, until finally the difficulty of mastication resulted in the aforesaid indigestion.

"When I get a new set of teeth that fit," says Zora, "I'll be all right for another half-century." And maybe he will. Nothing promotes longevity more than through mastication the doctors say.

There is a movement afoot to have the government buy up all the booze left in storage. Uncle Sam will do some sober thinking before he does that.

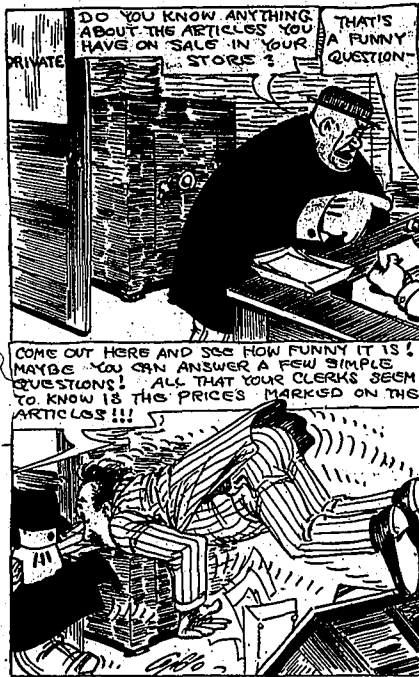

Germany might be able to pay a little of what she owes France and Belgium if she would stop paying Kaiser Wilhelm's salary.

Now Bulgaria is trying to get into the league of nations. Risking her sacred liberties, or trying to recover them?

The congressmen want to raise their pay again. And that's all right; if they really intend to earn it.

NO ACTION TAKEN TO ASSIST CUBAN FINANCE

HAVANA, Nov. 16.—With the expiration of the 30 day moratorium period, only two weeks away, no definite action has been taken thus far toward a solution Cuba's financial problems. The expectation that a loan of from $50,000,000 to $100,000,000 would be arranged between American bankers and the Cuban government, seen as the American principal elections were over, has been realized and interest here now centers on the question as to whether or the moratorium period will be extended, and if so for how long and under what condition.

Efforts are being made to induce the president to renew the moratorium decree in such a way as to permit a gradual increase in the amounts deposited, and withdrawal from banks and thereby relieve somewhat the money stringency, but at the same time prevent a repetition of the situation which led to the present crisis.

LORD EVERETT DECLARES LEAGUE VERY "ALIVE"

GENEVA, Nov. 17.—"Very much alive" are the conditions of the league of nations as shown by the report of the legislative council, Lord Robert Cecil of England, sitting as a delegate from South Africa declared at today's session of the league.

Speaking on the report made that the league is not lively enough.

Lord Robert remarked: "While it has been said in some circles that the league is dead, the council's report shows it to be very much alive."

Referring to criticism of the league that it was spending all its time getting ready to do something, Lord Robert said that the machine to work well must be set up well. He considered the report showed great progress has been made.

The cost of the league to date had been 600,000 pounds, he said.

"This pounds like a large sum to some minds," he continued, "but the amount with a single day of the cost of the war and you have a ridiculously cheap insurance rate."

GAS COMPANIES FACE SERIOUS SITUATION

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—American Gas Association in annual convention made public a statement calling the public's attention to the "grave" situation confronting the industry, its weakened finances and the difficulty experienced in obtaining oil.

The urgent need for gas from the oil industry of a certain supply for the winter, the statement concluded, "and few of us are able to buy oil for more than two or three months ahead even when we are able and willing to pay the prevailing price."

"It is not the fault of the gas people that the price of gas to the consumer has been increased, the statement said. "Before the war we bought gas oil for about four cents a gallon. Today we are paying around 14 cents."

That item alone makes an added cost of from 35 to 40 cents per thousand cubic feet of gas. Coal has doubled or trebled in price, according to localities. Right now we cannot get even at present tremendously high prices—enough coal to supply our daily needs and throughout the country there is only three per cent reserve supply to face the winter months and many companies are digging into that reserve supply for their immediate requirements."

Blame for the coal shortage among the public utilities companies of the country was placed on the interstate commerce commission by J. W. Lieb, chairman of the national committee to run and electric service and vice president of 51 companies requiring 42,000 tons of coal daily or one-third the whole public utility consumption of 156,000 tons, revealed a falling off in coal shipments necessary to do business up to October 30, of from 15 to 53 per cent.

Coal operators were not to blame, he said, due to lack of cooperation by the interstate commerce commission.

ORGANIZATION OF IRISH COMPLETE

American Association for Recognition of Irish Republic Has Been Formed; Leaders Meet

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Irish leaders from over the country today completed organization of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic.

At the same time the commission of seven from the committee of one hundred investigating the Irish question laid plans for opening tomorrow its hearing with two witnesses direct from Ireland on the stand.

The hearings of the commission of seven were to have started today but receipt of information that John Durham, acting mayor of Baltimore, would not be present to testify tomorrow resulted in the postponement. Dudley Field Malone, former customs collector at New York, also is one of the witnesses tomorrow. He is expected to sit at the hearings as the attorney for the American commission on Irish independence.

The British embassy will not be represented, formal declaration of the commission's invitation having been forwarded by the embassy today. The embassy declared it could not approve of the purposes of inquiry and expressed the belief that the only result would be the spreading of propaganda.

The organization formed by Irish sympathizers after a conference with Eamonn De Valera, president of the Provisional Irish republic, was said to be designed to supplant the friends of Irish freedom and the leading Irish independence organizations.

The office of the Irish inquiries committee announced tonight that plans had been perfected to send a sub-committee to Ireland soon to make a first hand investigation. The project resulted, it was said, from invitations to send such a committee received by the commission in round robin signed by British labor party leaders, a similar proposal from the Irish Catholic hierarchy and numerous persons prominent in Protestant Ireland.

Withdrawal of Raymond Robins of Chicago from membership in the inquiry committee also was announced tonight. His message to the commission also was announced tonight. His message to the commission expressed regret that preceding engagements would prevent his participation.

CALIFORNIA BOY WINS FIRST ESSAY PRIZE

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—First prize in the contest conducted among boy scouts of America for the best essay on fire prevention has been awarded to Scout Lewis Adam Vincent of Oakland, Cal., Major General Leonard Wood, chairman of the board of judges, announced today. Vincent, besides winning the national prize, a solid gold medal and a complete camping outfit, was awarded a gold medal for the best paper submitted in his district, the eighth created by the scout organization for the conduct of the contest. Other sectional winners included Cecil Hunnicutt, Giltner, Neb. Silver medals were awarded to scouts who submitted the best essays in their respective state organizations.

INSTITUTE SEARCH FOR NEW YORK JEWEL THIEVES

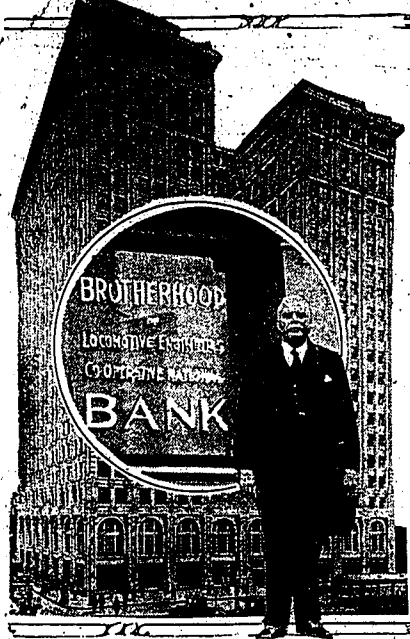

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—An extensive search was instituted tonight for three men who early Tuesday entered a fashionable residence in East Nineteenth street, bound and gagged Mrs. Charlotte F. Palmer, wealthy divorcée, and her two servants, then escaped with jewels and furs valued by the family at $600,000. There were $54,000 insurance on the jewels, police said.

Before leaving Monday night to attend a reception at the home of Mr. Sidney Dore, in Manhattan, N. Y., Mrs. Palmer arranged with her servants that they would answer the door only when the door rang twice sharply.

Shortly after 9 o'clock the servants told police the bell rang twice, the signal arranged by Mrs. Palmer, and they thought, perhaps she had forgotten something. They answered the door, cloaks were thrown over their heads, they were bound and placed on a bed in Mrs. Palmer's room.

Returning Tuesday morning after one o'clock, Mrs. Palmer said she did not want to disturb the servants and used the night key to enter. When inside she noticed some disarrangement of furniture, she said, and rang for the butler. Three men dressed similarly and wearing false mustaches and wigs, answered. They told her the house was in danger of being robbed, she said, but she tried to pass them, and was pushed back. At the door reception, Mrs. Palmer wore a heart-necklace valued by her at $400,000, and two diamond bracelets. She carried a diamond ring and a watch. The jewels were stolen, she said, and she was unable to raise

Union Bank Is Success

Warren S. Stone, chief of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, shown in the inset, is president of the brotherhood's newly established cooperative bank. The picture was made while Stone stood in the entrance of the present bank building. In the background is shown the 20-story bank building the brotherhood plans to build almost immediately.

She tore her neckties and pearls ran over the floor. Her bracelets she thrust into the bosom of her evening gown.

The men carried her to her room. After they had picked up the scattered pearls, she said, they returned, bound her, and then took the jewels from her fingers, and the bracelets who had secreted in her dress.

Proceeding leisurely, Mrs. Palmer said, the men ransacked the house and did not leave until 5:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. Soon after the butler loosened his bonds, freed the maid and his mistress and called physicians and the police.

Mrs. Palmer is 38 years of age. She formerly lived in Chicago and her husband's name is said to be Pariah.

PETROLEUM INSTITUTE IN DISCUSSION OF PROBLEMS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The world oil problem, particularly the situation confronting America due to conditions in Mexico, was the subject of discussion today at the annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute.

W. C. Teggie, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, told the institute that "many foreign governments are deliberately placing obstacles in the way of those who would like to assist in the development of new sources of supply."

Director O. Otis Smith of the United States Geological survey sounded a new warning that American sources were rapidly being exhausted. Richard Alrey, vice president of the Roxana Petroleum corporation, British company, denied at the night session that Great Britain was attempting to monopolize the world's oil supply. The situation in Mexico was described by Frederick R. Kellogg, counsel for the Mexican petroleum corporation, who said American oil men had gone into Mexico because "Mexico issued unmistakable invitations to all the world to come and invest its money in the brains and labor in the oil industry."

This he said entitled American producers to the protection of their government.

URGE COOPERATION OF FARMERS AND BANKERS

FORT DODGE, Ia., Nov. 17.—Officers and members of the Iowa bankers' association and farmers of Northwestern Iowa conferring here today, adopted a resolution stating that the farmers and bankers pledge to each other this sincere cooperation in carrying their business over this period of low prices.

GERMAN REVEALED AT HEARING

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Discussions among German agents and sympathizers in 1915 regarding Dr. Edward A. Rumbler and his plans to purchase the Evening Mail was revealed today in the trial of the former publisher by Matthew B. Clausen, at that time an advertising director employed by the Hamburg-American line. Dr. Rumbler is charged with a. Walter Kaufman and Novin, 77 Eastman lawyer, with having withheld alleged German ownership of the newspaper from the alien property custodian.

William H. Coverdale, an engineer and personal friend of Dr. Rumbler, testified Dr. Rumbler had told him early in 1915 that his object in purchasing the paper was to "set forth clearly the German side of the international questions in the Evening Mail."

CHECKS ARE CHARGED WITH MURDER OF FATHER

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 17.—Victor Check and his wife, Belle Check of Tropic, Kan., were arraigned late today on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Check's father, Thomas J. Check, aged 77, a health seeker, on the night of November 13. They pleaded not guilty. Their preliminary examination was set for next Monday. Check was released on $25,000 bond and his wife under $5,000. Bruises were found on the older Check after his death and neighbors at the coroner's hearing testified they had heard at various times sounds identical with those being his father. One witness testified to having heard blows at various times indicating his wife was beating the aged man, who was reputed to be wealthy.

I.P.

The Progress of the State

IN following the census reports issued from Washington, you have noticed the big increase in population throughout Southern Idaho and Eastern Oregon. This increase in population is the main reason why the Idaho Power Company must continue to build more power plants, extend transmission and distributing lines, and provide more equipment from year to year.

These new people coming into this territory are demanding electric power to light their homes, to irrigate their farms, to operate their industries. And if this country is to develop as it should, their demands must be cared for.

Old Industries Require More Power

OLD industries are growing, manufacturing plants are springing up, extensive areas of farming land are being opened. But without an ample supply of electric power, this development must be halted.

At the present time, new customers are being added to the Idaho Power Company's lines at the rate of between four and five thousand a year. To take care of these new customers and the increased demands of old power users requires from 8,000 to 10,000 additional horse power each year.

Present System Taxed Almost to Capacity

THIS year, a new 6,000 kilowatt unit plant was built at Thousand Springs to bear the burden of the increased load. In spite of this, there have been times during the past summer when the demand for electric current almost equaled the full generating capacity of our system. This means that additional power plant capacity must be built, additional lines must be installed, and sub-stations must be enlarged, before we can take on any appreciable amount of new business.

New Development Requires Money

AND new development requires money. In fact, an expenditure of between three-quarters of a million and two million dollars is required to take care of the normal growth in the demand for power in our territory each year. The expenditures required to provide power for new irrigation business alone during 1920 and 1921 are in excess of one and three-quarter million dollars.

In order to get this money, we must go out and borrow it in the open market. As the State Law does not allow the Utilities to charge their customers for their service rates which will provide the money required to pay for the construction of new power plants, transmission lines, etc., but our annual income must be sufficient to pay a rate of interest which will induce investors to put their money into our hands to be used for the new construction required to handle this constant growth in business.

Our Present Difficulty

NOW this is the situation at present. As we have shown before, our present rates provide a very small return on the money represented by the Common Stock of our Company. While this condition exists, capital cannot be secured on favorable terms for development, and thus the progress of the territory may be halted for want of power facilities.

We have been asked why it is that we can continue to pay annually 7 per cent on our Preferred Stock when we are earning such a small amount of money. We have only $1,250,000 of preferred stock outstanding, and this stock receives its full 7 per cent each year before any return can be paid on the Common Stock. Consequently our Preferred Stockholders can be assured of their return regularly even when the money represented by the Common Stock earns and receives a very small return.

THE next advertisement will show more fully why an increase in rates is necessary before investors will lend us money to carry on the work of development which the progress of this territory demands.

DOES U. S. WANT BIGGER CONGRESS?

Agitation Made for Increase in Size of Senate or House of Representatives.

By HARRY B. HUNT.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—A bigger congress—a smaller—or a reapportionment of seats among the states so as to retain the present numerical membership?

That is three-horned problem confronting the house of representatives as a result of the recent census which shows the United States to have 13, 710,000 more inhabitants than in 1910.

The present membership of the house is 435—one for each 311,577 inhabitants or major fraction thereof under the 1910 census.

Membership May Reach 500.

If the present basis of apportionment is maintained, the result would be an increase of 65 seats in the house, making the membership of that already cumbersome, unwieldy body exactly 500.

If the apportionment were to be increased to the point possible without reducing the number of representatives 219,427, and seats would have to be provided for 52 new members.

Should a reapportionment be ordered on a basis which would retain the present numerical strength of the house, 435 members, a serious redistribution of seats among the states would be necessary, 14 seats being withdrawn from 12 states and given to nine other states.

And that's where the fight begins. Speak to any congressman, past or present, and he'll tell you a house of 435 members is cumbersome, unwieldy, inefficient but not conducive to well-directed legislation. From the standpoint of good legislation, carefully worked out and thoroughly debated, a smaller house would be desirable, he will say.

But when you suggest the smaller house be achieved by reducing the representation from his state, as well as from others, he balks. Could the smaller representation be obtained without reducing the number of congressmen from his particular state, each of the 435 members would vote for the smaller house. But as that cannot be, each member puts legislation efficiency second to political expediency.

As a result, the reapportionment fight in congress will begin with a solid block of 100 votes actively working for an increase in the house membership to at least 457, for by that time can the states of Missouri, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, Rhode Island, Vermont and Virginia escape a reduction in membership. To fix a house that would retain the present size of the house would mean the loss of two seats in Missouri and of one in each of the other above states.

What Increase of 50 Will Mean.

An increase of 50 members in the house of representatives would mean, among other things:

The addition of about $500,000 yearly in the cost of congress, the cost to the taxpayers for each member, including salary of $7500, salary of secretary, mileage and various allowances, being about $12,000.

A further cluttering of the legislative mill with bills and resolutions of secondary or no importance, lessening the ability of the house to give thorough and undivided attention to really important measures.

A probable reduction in the standard of representatives chosen.

A lessening of the sense of individual responsibility on the part of members generally.

SHOOTS RAJAHS CRISTAL SO FORTUNE TELLING SLUMPS

MOBILE, Ala., Nov. 15.—Fortune telling is in a slump in Mobile.

Rajah, Indian seer, who casts an occult eye over the past and into the future for the edification of Mobileans, cannot guarantee that his predictions for the future will be pleasing to his clients. Therefore the slump.

Henry Sayers of this city, went to the Rajah to have his past reviewed and to obtain a working plan of the future. Sayers and the Rajah gathered round the mystic crystal and the seer drew therefrom bits of a wicked past and an ominous future.

Sayers listened in silence, left in a rage and returned with a rear compartment of his tent, located at the outskirts of the city, when the dissatisfied Sayers entered the mystic chamber. In the faint light of the tent the crystal gleamed from its royal purple setting on a table. Sayers drew a bead on the crystal and fired. Unfold numbers of untold fortunes were destroyed with the crystal.

I know two funny customers—they're yours as well as mine. They bob up when you're hard at work, at play, or when you dine. You always grin when one arrives and say you're glad he came. But when the other shows his face you wish he'd change his name.

One lives on sunshine, thrives on joy, and goes with Mr. Glad. The other is a sorry thing who pals with Mr. Sad. It's seldom that they both come in together visiting. In fact, although they are apart, they're always battling.

Now some folks think that they can make a pal of only one. But soon or late they meet their fate and find it can't be done. For just about the time they have cornered Sonny Smiles, along comes Grandpa Gloom and they are captured by his wiles.

It's funny that you sometimes think that Sonny's not your friend. And all of us are wrong to think that money spells Gloom's end. So if you're pestered all the time with Grandpa Gloom, just grin, and soon you'll see him going out and Sonny Smiles walk in.

and so Rajah has temporarily ceased operations until the police judge or drive Sayers to supply funds with which to provide another gazing glass.

Meanwhile, Mobileans must continue to live as ignorant of the stores of the future as they were before the arrival of the Rajah.

BROUGHT BACK SAD MEMORY

Little Wonder That Comedian Could Not Look on But With Any Degree of Affection.

"I never eat dumplings," the comedian said sadly, "they remind me of a horrible experience I had once."

The listeners drew near, thrilled by the tenderness of his tones.

"I was on a ship in mid-ocean," went on the comedian dramatically. "After cargo was self-raising flour and currants, and a tourist threatened party. Suddenly, in the dead of night, we ran into an iceberg."

"There were no boats, so things looked very desperate for us. The huge waves dashed over the sides and down the hatchways."

"Then we heard a curious noise. The water had got to the soft-raising flour and presently it began to ooze up in large blobs, like bun, with the currants mixed up in it."

"As the great lumps of dough floated on the water the heat of the sun baked them hard. I got on top of one of the biggest and floated away from the sinking ship."

"But, alas! the ocean thereabouts was full of sharks and they seemed to like my bun. Anyway, they nibbled and nibbled at it, and finally it grew less, until I had hardly room to hang on. I got washed ashore just when there were only two bites of bun left for them."

"Ever since then," he ended, with a sigh, "I haven't been able to look at a bun without shivering."

THOUSANDS PROTEST EXECUTION OF PURP

LONDON, Nov. 15.—"Onkie" is the most talked-of dog in England. "Onkie" is a terrier into whose parentage it is perhaps not fair to inquire too closely. To be brutally frank, he is only a mutt; but a friendly, loyal and faithful chum of all the kids in his neighborhood.

"Onkie" has been sentenced to death at the mercy sessions in a danger to the public; and his mistress has appealed to Queen Mary and to Queen Alexandra to ask them to intercede on his behalf.

MAY NOT PUNISH EDDIE CICOTTE

White Sox Pitcher Indicted in Baseball Scandal May Go Free by Turning States Evidence.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—Eddie Cicotte, Chicago White Sox pitcher, whose confession resulted in numerous indictments by the special Cook county baseball grand jury in connection with the 1919 world series scandal, probably will not be punished for his part in the game throwing, according to officials of the state attorney's office. Cicotte will turn state's evidence when the 70 indicted are tried and his only sentence will be banishment from organized baseball, it was said tonight.

J. P. Cassaday of Detroit, Cicotte's attorney, conferred today with state attorneys over the pitcher's confession and possible testimony. At this conference, according to state officials, Mr. Cassaday promised that Cicotte would tell the court the same story he told the jury. As a result it was arranged for the pitcher to furnish bonds without personally appearing. While other indicted players who have voluntarily surrendered have been required to furnish $10,000 bonds, Cicotte's bail was fixed at $5,000 on the plea of Mr. Cassaday that it would work a financial hardship on the White Sox player to force him to put up more than that amount. Mr. Cassaday deposited $5,000 in liberty bonds as bail.

While no official announcement was made by the state attorney's office, an official tell it becomes known that for Cicotte's testimony the jury never would have had sufficient evidence to indict more than one or two of the players; and that there will be little chance for conviction without the pitcher as a state witness.

gating the city's purchase of a street car here for $15,000,000 while Ole Hansen was mayor, reported progress today and recessed until January 17. No indictments were returned with the report.

TAKE POSTPONEMENT OF SALE UNDER ADVERTISEMENT

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 15.—Application by a stockholders committee of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad for a 60 day postponement of the date set for the sale of the road under a $45,000,000 judgment obtained by the Equitable Trust company of New York, was taken under consideration in federal court here today.

Arguments for and against granting a postponement were heard by Federal Judge R. E. Lewis of Denver and W. H. Sanborn of St. Paul, neither of whom intimated when a decision would be handed down.

Counsel for the Trust company opposed the application.

Counsel for the stockholders committee declared the case would be appealed if the application was not granted. Postponement of the date of sale, which was set for November 20, was sought, it was explained, to give the stockholders committee an opportunity to file a bill for review in New York in an effort to secure a reversal of the judgment.

Glover, who is from Ashton, in company with Brower of Rupert, appeared in Buih yesterday with an automobile which they attempted to pass for $5. CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Lawrence and Harris Jorgenson, two of the inmates under arrest in connection with the deaths of Marcus Ramsey and Lillian Thompson actresses, whose bodies were found in Grant Park Sunday night made signed statements which led the police to believe that the women were subjected to a brutal attack just prior to their death. The bodies of the police and of the coroner that death was due to alcoholism and exposure was not changed by the stories of the two Jorgensons however, it was said.

Lawrence Jorgenson told the police, according to copies of the statements given out, that Marcus Brumberg and a man named McCarthy, who hitherto was unemployed, attacked the women in Grant Park in view of the two Jorgensons who were said to have been in the automobile in which the four men and two women had been "joy riding."

Brumberg, according to the police, admitted that he and McCarthy got out of the machine with the women, that he and McCarthy had been with McCarthy had been attacked. Brumberg is under arrest and McCarthy is being sought.

It was reported that he had taken a boat for Buffalo, New York. The Jorgenson statements said that the two brothers and Brumberg went riding Saturday night in an automobile which they had borrowed.

On a north side street they noticed Miss Thompson staggering and took her in the car, the statement said. The police said that Brumberg and McCarthy had been with Edward Johnson as Maurice, the bridegroom. The usual brilliant first night audience was present.

FEDERAL BOARD PROMISES LIVESTOCK ASSISTANCE

TOPEKA, Kans., Nov. 17.—J. H. Mercer, state livestock sanitary commissioner and secretary of the Kansas Livestock association, who several times ago sent a letter for information of association to finance the foreign marketing of livestock products, today received a letter from W. Governor Harding suggested that such a trading company might not be able to get a federal charter under the Edge act and in this case he suggested the advisability of operating under state laws.

"The board has always recognized the importance of sustaining the American livestock industry," said Governor Harding's letter. "Members of the board have had conferences with prominent bankers and are informed that steps were taken in Chicago a few days ago to organize a $30,000,000 pool to assist the cattle loan companies in taking care of their obligations without forcing the slaughter of breeding cows."
