

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM HAS GREAT RECORD

Neither wars, rumors of war, nor riots have ever stirred up in Twin Falls one iota of the interest that is being attached to the game Thanksgiving afternoon between the best football eleven that Twin Falls high school ever produced and the team from the similar institution at Boise.

This game marks the formal resumption of athletic relations which were broken off six or seven years ago when the team from the capital city handed the locals an awful trouncing. From now on this game will be an annual event on Thanksgiving day.

A record breaking crowd for an event of the kind is anticipated and special efforts will be made to accommodate the throngs. The manner in which the crowds have been handled at all games played here this season has been exceptionally good and the same attention and enjoyment of the game from the spectators standpoint.

Plans have been laid for the members of the chamber of commerce to attend the fracas in a body and join in the fronted rooting for the home boys. The members will assemble at the rooms of the organization just before game time, where they will rail in behind the high school band and lead the parade to the Lincoln field. Badges will be distributed to each member and a committee is now at work urging each and every one to come out and help cheer the local boys to victory. Leaving aside their cares for the day, the tired business men of the city will find their youth, and impart their lung power, in paying tribute to the prowess of the combat exhibition.

Organized rooting has long been recognized as one of the essential elements which lends flavor and color to scholastic and collegiate football, and no small factor in the success of the Twin Falls team has been the support accorded them by the student body of the school. Twin Falls high school has at all times supported its warriors with enthusiasm, undiminished and to which no damper can be applied.

In spite of the many rumblings and mutterings heard from the lairs of the defeated and disgruntled rivals, Twin Falls has at all times put up a good, clean game. Coach Evans has trained his boys to be hard and aggressive players, but will not connive at, or for one instant tolerate or condone, any semblance of unsportsmanlike conduct in their past. To the contrary he has inculcated the spirit of fair play in their minds and inured them with the desire to "come clean" at all times. Under the most exasperating circumstances and with ample provocation to loathe their heads and run amuck, they have always refrained from adopting unfair tactics.

In seven games the local aggregation has not yet been scored upon, while rolling up a total of 434 points against their opponents. More than this, they have never been in danger of being scored upon with the single possible exception of the flash-in-the pan sprung by the Gooding team when they rushed the ball down the field to Twin Falls' 12 yard line in the first few minutes of play.

Enviably and unusual, indeed, is their record. Not once during the season have the local boys taken out time for any cause, the injury of a player or otherwise. This is a tribute not only to their own hardihood and ruggedness, but also to the splendid conducting process through which they have been put by Coach Evans.

Less than one dozen times have their opponents found it possible to make first down against them, while on all occasions Twin Falls has shown a consistent and sustained attack that could not and would not be denied.

Employing a deceptive shift, smoothly and quickly executed, the Twin Falls aggregation has smothered its way irresistibly through the pickings of the opposition, and taking everything into consideration, the team is exceptionally well rounded out. The backfield men can hit the line, skirt the ends and dash off tackle, while the linemen, despite their lack of weight, open wide holes and prove inviolable and immovable on the defense.

A well developed forward pass offensive, something that is now essential to the success of any team, can also be shown upon occasion. Now, again, Pix and Yechon can take the ball far and accurately, while there are few ends in the state who are more adept at receiving than is Yechon.

While not boasting any long distance punter, the local eleven has in Newman a man who can be depended upon for a minimum of 40 yards consistently, and who usually exceeds that distance. This player is also a stellar drop kicker, and although it has never been necessary to call upon him in any capacity, he has booted many over from the 40 yard line in practice, and this is admittedly some kick. In converting touchdowns into goals, Newman has few superiors playing in high school ranks today.

Out of 42 attempts he has missed only 1, adding 54 points to his team's grand total in this manner.

In compiling this wonderful record the locals have trampled, massacred and walloped unmercifully the best that the opposition has been able to lead to the slaughter. Starting the season handsomely with a 71 to 0 defeat of Filer, the first game over to Jerome where they stumbled around in a plowed field for a while and came back victors by a score of 56 to 0.

Perhaps more satisfaction was secured from the two awful trouncings they meted out to the ancient rivals from Buhl than from any other of the long string of victories. Buhl came here with the memory of their victory of last year still bright in their minds, but when they went home beaten by a score of 54 to 0, they had a different tale to tell and an examination of the reports of the game emanating from that place will show that they told it with much vehemence and malice, but little truth.

Laboring under the hallucination that Twin Falls has never defeated Buhl on their home grounds they went into the second combat a much more confident and a much improved team. But they came out of the fracas a sadly disillusioned aggregation, for again, the time 77 to 0. It is more than probable that the score would have run over 100 points had it not been for the rain which made it necessary for the last two quarters to be cut five minutes each, thus giving 10 minutes less playing time.

The condition of the field, being wet and slippery, also hindered the compilation of a larger total, as the mid always handicaps the better and faster team more than the slower rivals. The week following the forfeiture to Twin Falls of the scheduled game with Wendell, the Burley high school sent an undefeated outfit here. One that was highly touted as the main obstacle in the local's path to the championship. They even went so far as to arrange a banquet, provided they won, but since they were beaten they took the first train out of town in accordance with the pre-arranged idea. The score of this nightmare was 42 to 0.

Going to Gooding the Twin Falls boys played tag through the net of a mob of spectators which surged upon the playing field, when they were disappointed that their team could not put up a more even battus. This game soon assumed a ludicrous aspect, for Twin Falls' net has made so many yards at a time had not the Gooding boys been consumed with an overpowering desire to tear Filer's sweater off. Every time they got this stellar half back down, two or three of them would seize him by this garment, and employing a mocking action would proceed to expose him in the presence of the multitude. The invariable result was that when they had finished these childish efforts, they found that they had only succeeded in towing him three or four yards closer to their goal. This new outdoor sport was indulged in so often, that Coach Evans felt called upon to thank the Gooding mentor for the gifts of the additional yards. Result, 42 to 0.

The best game of the season, however, and the only one in which they encountered any worth while opposition was that with Rupert. For the first half of the contest it was an even match and throughout it was almost an impossibility to gain through the Rupert line. In the last two periods the game went the path of all which preceded it. Superior condition and tactics told, and in spite of the game tight that the Rupert lads put up, Twin Falls' attack was the victor by a score of 41 to 0, with her goal line still unbreached and inviolate.

Rupert put up a good, clean game, and at all times exhibited perfect sportsmanship. Not even a suspicion of foul play attached itself to their catchcan and they left the field with the admiration and respect of their opponents and all who saw them. They fought the hard and took their defeat like men, and beyond that, nothing is possible.

Boise is reported to have an exceptionally strong aggregation, despite their defeat by Caldwell. The score of this encounter was 10 to 7, but it is declared by spectators that had it not been for another five minutes Boise would have emerged triumphant. They vanquished Nampa, 28 to 6.

The forward pass is the main weapon of the Boise eleven when on the offensive and they are said to have raised it to a high pitch of perfection that is seldom seen in high school football. Lanson, the right end, is alleged to be a wonder on the receiving end, while Metcalf, the diminutive quarterback, throws most accurately. Metcalf is the individual star of the back field, and the attack is pulled largely about him.

A game with Idaho Falls is in prospect, provided that Boise is vanquished in the big game. Idaho Falls is already claiming the championship of the state, having been matched with East High of Salt Lake with that handle affixed. This claim, however, is a trifle premature, if nothing else. They have not beaten Caldwell, a team which has always been a strong contender for the honors, and is particularly powerful this year.

If the contest is played at all, it will be staged here, as it will be necessary to make it a post season affair and the weather in Idaho Falls will be entirely too cold to permit of a contest there. It is hoped that the contest will be arranged as it would definitely decide the championship and put an abrupt end to the squabbles which invariably follow the season during which no positive conclusion has been reached.

Mr. Omer, who has officiated here several times this year, will in all probability be named as the referee of the game with Boise. He served in that capacity in the Utah-Idaho clash and gave perfect satisfaction.

DAIRY BUSINESS NOT IMPROVING

Cow Testing Experts Predict Lack of Green Food and Small Number of Cows is Cause.

Conditions in the dairy business on this tract are not improving, according to Harry A. Anderson, cow test expert of the Pioneer Cow Testing Association, who states that this is due to lack of green feed through the scarcity of pasturage and the small number of silage.

Speaking of the work of the association, Mr. Anderson declared that it was proving an unqualified benefit to the members. The association which was established about five years ago, now has over 25 members in Twin Falls and Jerome counties. Cows sold by members of the organization are bringing much higher prices than those being disposed of by outsiders, the average of the latter ranging between $15 and $20, while one of the former has received an average price of $142 per cow.

At a meeting held a short time ago the prices for the testing of herds were slightly raised, the new prices going into effect December 1. After that date the rate for testing herds of 15 cows or under will be $2.25, while for all herds over that mark the charge will be $3.50 per month.

Mr. Anderson expressed the belief that in a year or two the membership of the association will be increased tremendously, basing this conviction on the fact that the dairy business will comparatively new in this territory and that the majority of dairymen have not enough cows at the present time to warrant their joining now. Only two members withdrew from the past association last year, having sold out their stock.

Reports for last month show that 25 herds had the highest herd averages for production of butter fat of any member of the association, the average amount for the month totalling 38 pounds. The same owner also had the two highest cows in the organization, one producing 47 and the other 58 pounds during the month. Mr.

Editors has a herd of 11 grade Holsteins. The figures for the year ending May 1, last, place Twin Falls county as the first in all the counties of the three states of Idaho, Washington and Oregon in herd average of milk production, and as the third county in the production of butter fat. This record was established by the herd of six Holsteins owned by L. Thomsen, whose ranch is about one mile from this city.

BARLEY GETS FINE FOR OBSCURE DISTURBANCE

A fine of $25 was plastered on Martin Bailey yesterday afternoon by Judge O. P. Duvall of the probate court, the charge being disturbance of the peace. It seems that Bailey who had been drinking, went out to the county hospital to call on a young lady employed there and that when he was requested to leave, refused to do so and became noisy and boisterous. He pleaded guilty to the charge. Frank Seavers, named in the complaint as a member to the misdemeanor, entered a plea of not guilty and his trial was set for Monday morning at 1 o'clock.

T. A. Walters, recently picked up by the police for the illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, pleaded guilty to the charge in the probate court yesterday and was bound over to the district court for trial under a bond of $500.

MAY BRING EASTERN CHAMPS FOR GAME HERE

Plans are being formulated to bring the football team of Scott high school of Toledo, Ohio, here for a contest with the local eleven while the easterners are on their way to Los Angeles to play a post-season game on Christmas day.

The eastern eleven is one of the best high school outfits that has ever been turned out in the history of the game and is at present the holder of the inter-district scholastic title by virtue of defeats handed three eastern teams in three successive years. They drew a 7 to 7 tie with the great aggregation representing Everett, Washington high school last year. Everett had not been defeated in the past eight years and early this season administrator a 25 to 0 humiliation to the freshman team of Washington State college.

Negotiations hinge, however, on the defect of Boise and Idaho Falls by the local.

ARGUMENTS IN BOLEY CASE ARE CONCLUDED

Arguments in the case of Boley against the Twin Falls Canal company were concluded in the district court yesterday and Judge Babcock took the matter under advisement. The case involves the demands of the Land and Water company, which brought the suit under the name of Boley, for the issuance of stock and for the delivery of water to approximately 35,000 acres of land.

Richard March was sentenced to from one to five years in the penitentiary, having confessed to the charge of burglary in the first district. His partner, E. C. Mulder, was given a similar sentence some time ago. An absolute divorce from Pauline V. Robinson was granted to Willis G. Robinson, the complaint in the case charging cruelty.

FILER PLANS INSTALLATION OF SEWER SYSTEM

Definite action has been taken by the town board of Filer looking toward the installation of a complete sewer system for the village and it is probable that an ordinance of intention will be passed by them next week.

According to estimates prepared by Louis C. Kelsey, consulting engineer of the village, the total expense will be $117,478.44. These figures were submitted to the board at a special meeting held last week, and contains complete plans and specifications, including every detail in the incorporation limits. The septic tank disposal system is said to be large enough to take care of the needs of a population of 2000 and the engineer states that the waste from such tank would not be objectionable to inhabitants living below the plant.

EARNING THEIR EDUCATION

There are students who, without effort of their own, come to the halls of learning with their tuition paid and a generous fund of extra cash to spend as they wish. But ever since there have been universities and colleges to attend there have been many students, both men and women who have earned—and are earning today—all or a good part of their tuition and other expenses.

In 1919 Harvard men registered at the university employment bureau earned $77,000, a gain over the figure of 1918, which was $51,000. The report shows that $42,000 was earned in term time and $35,000 in summer work.

Ambitious seekers after learning are very democratic in their choice of labor. They will accept any decent task that comes to hand. They act as tutors, clerks, proctors, monitors, census-takers, choremen, ticket-takers; they serve as carpenters, salesmen, librarians, ushers, waiters, stenographers, dish-washers, janitors, and so on through the list of possible employments.

There are persons who consider the undergraduate a frivolous being, fond of stylish clothes and a good time and inclined to be facetious about not letting his studies interfere with his college career. This criticism seems over-harsh in view of the fact, that so many of these young men and women are willing to work very hard—regularly or in odd hours, at any available job which will enable them to earn the necessary funds to pay for the desired education.

THE END OF THE WORLD.

The end of the world is coming again. Professor W. H. Flinders, speaking at a meeting of the British Scientist Association at Cardiff, declared:

"There is only a minute fraction of the original quantity of carbonic acid left in the atmosphere. The decomposition of a few more inches of silicates over the globe will exhaust the carbonic acid, and life will then be unable to exist."

Yes, and by the time the few hundred thousand years have passed away, and the silicates have decomposed, something else will undoubtedly bob up from the sky or sea or center of the earth to supply the requisites of life. The good old globe has been supporting humanity in some form or other for a good long while. The conditions of living have changed greatly since the well known Mr. Adam was cast out of his renowned country estate.

Anyhow, it is a little too soon to begin worrying about it. Let us turn to a more solemn and vital consideration. How much did your butcher say your turkey was going to cost?

THE ECONOMIC BOYCOTT.

Many amendments to the League of Nations are to be proposed at the present session of the assembly at Geneva. The most striking is one offered by the Scandinavian countries to the effect that a neighboring state shall not be obliged to join in the blockade of a member breaking the covenant, if it is in danger of invasion.

declaring war upon her in the late conflict, and adequate proof that the fear still exists.

The economic blockade as outlined in the present draft of the covenant is the means to be used in preference to war to bring recalcitrant nations to terms. It is the strong arm of peace. To abrogate it as proposed would rob it of its effectiveness. If neighboring states are to be freed from participation in the boycott, it will become just about as effective as that family discipline by which father sends the erring son to bed without any supper, and mother steals up the back stairs with a square meal for him.

It is solely by unity in its observance that the economic boycott can be made the adequate protection of the weak against the strong. So observed, its potency cannot be questioned. It is because its possibilities are not sufficiently understood that it is questioned.

France is known to be opposed to the amendment, and other opposition will develop when it is formally presented to the assembly. For the sake of all the nations it should not pass.

OVERTIME IN THE LEAGUE.

An interesting bit of information in connection with the meeting of the assembly of the league of nations at Geneva is that, "faced for the first time with the prospect of having some real work to do, the employees of the league secretariat have formed a trades union to protest against having to work overtime. The secretary general has proposed a special rate to pay for overtime work, but the agitators are proceeding all the same to unionize the league."

Owing to the tremendous importance of the business of the league, it is most desirable that only competent persons be employed in its service, and salaries should be commensurate with the responsibilities involved; but nothing could be more unfortunate than that the league should become the shining mark of grafting office seekers who are looking for easy berths with good pay, with no idea of giving adequate service in return. Since the meetings of the assembly will be only occasional, it will mean the alternation of periods of extreme activity with longer periods of comparative idleness for many persons retained for league service. Adjustments of time and pay should be based on this fact.

The expenses of the league will of necessity be heavy. The interests of all concerned demand that they be administered honestly and in a businesslike manner, which shall eliminate grafting on a large or petty scale. While this nation is not now in a position to express active concern in the matter, it is one of the subjects which may call for inquiry hereafter.

ROPE FOR THE REDS.

With the overwhelming defeat of General Wrangel by the soviet forces in southern Russia, the last hope of overtopping bolshevism by force seems to have vanished. The allies could send into Russia armies big and strong enough to crush the red menace, but that would be a burdensome and probably unprofitable venture. It is now recognized almost everywhere that Russia had better be left, if possible, to work out her own salvation.

The latter is perhaps the best solution, after all. If bolshevism is crushed by force, whether from within or without, its advocates can always maintain that it did not have a chance to demonstrate its superiority as a political and economic system. Left to itself, with a fair field, combatting nothing but the forces of human nature and material nature, it seems destined to certain disaster. Relentless natural law and common sense will vanquish it in the end.

The universe itself is against Lenin and Trotzky, and it may be just as well to stop worrying about the matter, and let the universe do it by its usual process of giving fools enough rope to hang themselves.

HARVARD BEATS ANCIENT RIVALS

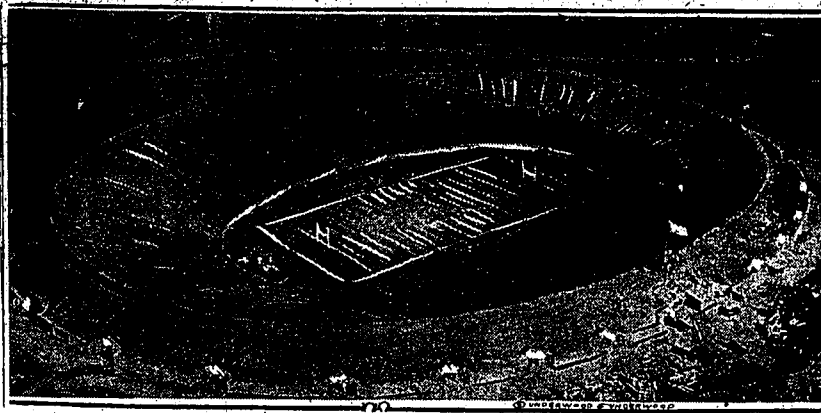

Three Field Goals, Yale Game From Yale; Contest Filled With Forward Passes

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 20.—Repulsed in their attacks at the Yale goal today, Harvard resorted to kicking and with three field goals defeated the Elis 9 to 0 in the annual football combat in the Yale bowl. The contest, witnessed by nearly 80,000 fans and the 39th between the two universities, was a remarkable exhibition of open and aerial game. While loosely played at times it fairly bristled with thrilling forward passes and sweeping rushes.

The Yale players battled so savagely that although the Cambridge clan several times drove the Elis to the shadow of their own goal posts, a touchdown was beyond the physical ability of the crimson eleven led by Arnold Horwath.

In this crisis Harvard fell back upon the kick and three times out of five booted the ball between the uprights, while Yale left the field with the satisfaction of having par-daily checked its greatest rival in a triumph that was considered such a foregone conclusion that Harvard coaches were offering odds of three to one before the game.

Both teams showed a stronger defense than attack and this was particularly noticeable in the case of Yale. Harvard found it reasonably easy to gain between the 25 yard lines but once within striking distance Yale stiffened. Considered entirely from a technical standpoint Harvard outplayed Yale as a team but the individual efforts of the Eli eleven offset team advantage. Against the simple plays of the home team Harvard hung a compact or wide defense as the attack required and seldom did the Eli ball carrier find an avenue of advance open for more than a second or two.

While Harvard could not cross the Yale goal line, it could and did, more necessary, required within striking distance of the field goal. Harvard gained 210 yards in 55 rushes which which gave five opportunities for field goals. Yale gained but 60 yards in 32 rushes and never seriously threatened the crimson goal while Harvard was once within eight yards of a touchdown.

When the exciting moment brought the crowd to their feet, it appeared as though the huge garden was agitated by a breeze which set the blooms nodding and bending. The climax came with the snake dance of the undergraduates of Harvard, who presented a picture that to show in the second half however. About the middle of the final period Wisconsin recovered the ball on its own end and for 30 yards, and after forward passes had failed, Davey dropped back to the 37 yard line for a kick.

The victory placed Wisconsin in second place in the conference race. Miss Goebel entertained the Episcopal guild ladies at the home of Mrs. Z. Smith yesterday afternoon. The time was spent filling a box for the Indians to be sent to Alaska. While Miss Goebel was in Alaska last summer she met a missionary who asked if any of the churches would be interested enough to send a package for Christmas. The guild have just finished packing the box which will go forward at once.

WISCONSIN BEATS CHICAGO CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—Allan Davey's kick between the uprights in the final quarter today gave Wisconsin three points to none for Chicago in a game in which Chicago gained honors for its valiant efforts. A crowd of 20,000 witnessed the game.

The Maroons, apparently facing a big defeat at the hands of the eleven which conquered Illinois a week ago, rushed into the contest with an aggressive spirit which kept them on the defensive, in the first half. The superiority of Wisconsin began to show in the second half however.

OPTIMISM ROUTS FEARS OF "RUIN"

South Has Scheme to Handle Future Crops and Bring Dixie Out of Difficulties

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Somebody once called cotton "the fabric of civilization." The title was appropriate—and because cotton is so vital to civilization, the south, in particular and the world in general, have for weeks been concerned over the most serious financial crisis in the cotton-growing states since the Civil War.

A few weeks ago the united cotton people of the nation threw up their hands and yelled "Tithu." For, right in the marketing season, cotton started a sudden and sharp decline that carried the price down 60 per cent, below the prevailing figure of planting time.

Committees rushed to Washington and appealed for aid "stubs" of holding movements and gin burnings filled the telegraph wires. Northern manufacturers, who sell millions of shoes, pianos, pans and a million and one other articles in the south, suddenly cut off the nation's greatest markets menaced by financial depression.

The same men who rushed to Washington are today sorry they did so. Those who yelled "ruin" will now optimistically tell you that in spite of a tremendous loss, the south will "come through safely" and that the lesson it is learning will be fruitful in better financial and agricultural conditions in the future.

From Abject Pessimism to Optimism In short, the public feeling has apparently run from abject pessimism to optimism.

As for the so-called night-riding and gin burnings, they don't exist. I have talked to scores of cotton men in many southern cities, and I have yet to find a gin fire which was caused by incendiaries.

In fact, cotton men claim the gin fires this year are not more numerous than in other years. During the ginning season, and after months of dry weather, numerous gin fires are not unusual.

The country should forget "night-riding" which exists only in the movies—but the country should study the general cotton situation, for cotton is America's greatest export crop; it furnishes employment to hundreds of thousands in the north, and the south is one of America's chief markets for manufactured products.

Two Phases to Present Crisis There are two phases to the present crisis. First, the growers say the 1920 crop cost 25 to 35 cents a pound to produce—and the present selling price is below cost. Second, more than 5,000,000 bales remain in warehouses from the crop of the last three years, on which millions of dollars have been loaned, and there is no market for this cotton.

The 5,000,000 bales of "hold-over cotton" represented that part of the crop which is of low quality—short fibre, stained and filled with trash—which American mills will not use. Germany, alone, used to take more than 2,000,000 bales of this kind of cotton, but the heavy clothing of her peasants. With the German and other central European markets closed by the war and the inability to purchase because of lack of cash or credit, this cotton backed up on the American market.

Thus the south is trying to get rid of its old cotton and at the same time secure a better price for its new cotton.

The government early refused to handle the situation. The south then set to work for itself. Out of its difficulties have arisen a number of plans for export corporations, cooperative marketing and changed agricultural conditions which, while they may not have saved this year's crop, promise tremendous improvement in future years.

Meanwhile, bankers, buyers and cotton factors declare that from 60 to 75 per cent of the 1920 crop will be held for some months and then marketed slowly, and that the south has the finances to carry out this program. They also expect a general rise in raw cotton prices and a steadily improving financial situation.

SHERWOOD WANTS HOUSE MEMBERSHIP MADE SMALLER

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—General Isaac Sherwood, mentor of the house of representatives, always did like like a good fight.

Although past 85, Sherwood, representative from Toledo, O., is ready for another fight. In a coming session of congress when the question of the future size of the house comes up.

"I am in favor," the old general declares, "of reducing the membership of the house to 500, not only as a measure of economy but to promote efficiency in legislation."

"I voted against the increase to 435 members, believing then as I do now, it is a great mistake to increase the membership. At the coming session I shall oppose and vote against any legislation to provide increased membership. Instead of a larger House, we should have a smaller and more efficient body."

The proposition to increase the membership to 500 is being urged by some politicians simply because, under the new census, an increase will be necessary to avoid the reduction of membership from some states in fitting the representation proportionately among the states on the basis of the new census.

ADVISES UNITED STATES TO RENOUNCE DOCTRINE

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 19.—The United States is advised to renounce the Monroe doctrine and enter the league of nations, in an article by Wenceslao Tello, formerly professor of the University of Buenos Aires, published in La Razona today and entitled "Argentinism and Monroism." The writer characterizes "Monroism" as "a relic of the civilization of a people in the face of twentieth century facts."

THIS "PROSPECT" KNEW ALL ABOUT THE ARMY

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Sergeant John Booze of the army recruited here saw an unusually well-built and alert-looking young fellow sauntering along the street "over and over about joining the army." He "checked" the "prospects" and transferred Booze gave a glowing report—but the country should study the advantages of army life. The young man listened for 10 minutes and then explained that he was Earl D. Klemm, former colonel of the 119th field artillery, a graduate of West Point, and a graduate of the Kansas City and Western railway, in civil life.

FIND BOOZE IN CAR

TOLDO, O., Nov. 19.—The old nag which came in a horse car mark "Man o' War," didn't much resemble the freight handler's conceptions of the famous runner here, although the nag was blanketed and groomed to a fare-you-well. The clinch of incidentally, he is a detective and they called Detective Inspector W. D. Dolchany. Cops found the hay well filled with smuggled liquor.

CALLS WIFE SINNY FEINER

LONDON, Nov. 19.—John Wilkins admitted in court that he called his wife a "Sinny Feiner." "Well, is she a Sinny Feiner?" inquired the court. "I dunno, no about that," answered John, "but you see she cursed me and I don't say myself 'o' I had to find something else to get-back at her with."

OHIOANS TAKE WESTERN TITLE

Who Deciding Game From Illinois by Score of 7 to 0; Is Spot-on-Liar Contest

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 20.—Ohio state took the 1920 football championship of the western conference back to the presidential state tonight.

In the most spectacular finish seen in Illinois fields in years, the Ohioans defeated Illinois 7 to 0 in a deciding game of the "big ten" league, when Myers, in the last few seconds, kicked a 37 yard forward pass from Workman and dashed across the line for the only touchdown. Pete Stinecomb, the brilliant Ohio full back, kicked the goal. By winning today Ohio has undisputed claim to the title. Both teams fought on virtually even terms, until the final few minutes, Illinois weakened through the loss of Captain John Dopler (all western center, and further crippled by injuries to Carey, and Ralph Fletcher, star kicker, fought stubbornly to check the smashing Ohio attack. The Ohioans carried the fight into Illinois territory most of the game, although they did not get within inches of the goal, but lacked the drive to put it across.

To Stinecomb fell the main task of carrying the ball for Ohio. In the second period he ran 21 yards for a gain that placed the ball on Illinois' seventeen yard line. From there it was a dance to Illinois' yard line, where Illinois stiffened. Again at the opening of the second half, Stinecomb returned the ball from the Illinois kickoff for 52 yards, but Illinois kept the Ohioans away. Unable to make consistent gains, the end of the game. Coach Wiley sent in several fresh players and the famed Ohio forward pass was brought into play. Workman heaved four passes, but two were incomplete. The first placed the ball on Illinois' 42 yard line. The next two missed. On the fourth attempt Workman shot the ball 37 yards to Myers, who raced across the goal.

Immediately the 5,000 Ohio fans poured onto the field as Stinecomb's goal was a success. The Ohioans followed their hundred yard gain and a wild snake dance while Illinois rooters remained in their seats singing "Illinois loyalty."

The Ohio victory is considered sweet revenge as last year Illinois matched the championship from the buckeye at Columbus in the last eight seconds of play when Ralph Fletcher kicked goal from field, which gave Illinois the game 9 to 7.

Today each team had at least one golden opportunity for a touchdown. But each time the defender held. Ohio's first opportunity came in the second period. Stinecomb aided by Blair, took the ball to Illinois' six yard line. Four hard plunges against the Illinois line failed. Then in the third period and at the start of the fourth, Illinois turned the tables. With Stinecomb and Blair on the sideline, Illinois rushed the ball near the Ohio line. Back Stinecomb and Blair came and the Ohio line stiffened.

LOCAL QUARTERBACK MAKES GREAT RECORD

"Speed" Newman, stellar quarterback of the Twin Falls high school football eleven was compiled in himself an enviable record this season as a kicker of goals from touchdowns, and in this respect ranks second only to one man, having been successful in 50 out of 60 attempts.

The local boy has not missed a goal after touchdown since the first game of the season played here against Piler, in which contest he booted the ball squarely between the uprights seven times, failing but once. Although it is not positively known which goal it was that he missed during this encounter, Newman himself is inclined to think that he kicked wide on the fifth attempt, and if this is correct he has now made 54 consecutive successful tries.

In the two battles with the Bully boys, "Speed" added 22 goals to his imposing total, in that with Butte, nine, and against Piler seven, while he kicked eight against Jerome and six in both the Gooding and Rupert contests. The total of 436 points run up by the locals this season consists of 42 touchdowns and 102 points. Yochum is the only other player who has made a try, kicking successfully on two occasions in the Piler encounter.

Collegiate as well as scholastic stars, past and present, however, must yield place to George O'Donnell, tackle on the team representing the high school of Billings, Montana, who has compiled one of the most glorious and unique records in the long history of the great American game of football.

In the game played at Billings on November 13, O'Donnell kicked 15 goals from touchdown, extending his record to 50 without a miss. The previous record was established by Robert Weaver, center of the now famous eleven of Center college, who last year kicked 40 goals after missing the first attempt of the season. This mark, however, was made under much more difficult conditions, the rule having been changed this year so that the ball is always kicked from the center of the field.

TENDERS RESIGNATION

Dr. C. Q. McDaniel yesterday tendered his resignation as county health officer to the board of county commissioners, the board accepting it with regret. Dr. McDaniel has accepted a position as company doctor with the Elcora Mines company at Jarbidge and will have complete charge of all the medical work for that concern there.

He has been in the northwest for the past five years and had served in the capacity of county health officer for the last two years. Dr. McDaniel, who studied medicine at Washington University, St. Louis, was very well known and highly esteemed amongst members of the profession in Twin Falls and will be greatly missed. He will leave for Jarbidge during the coming week, making his home there permanently.
