Major John Molson and Kosh-er Devlin Come to Blows at Session

TRouble Arises Over DISCUSSION OF IRELAND

Reading of Details of Sunday Assassinations in Dublin is Beginning of the Fracas

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Nov. 22.—Two members of the house of commons came to blows this afternoon during the question period, with the Irish situation under discussion. They were Kosher Devlin, nationalist, and Major John Molson, Unionist. The sitting was temporarily suspended, peace was made after Major Molson had apologized. Mr. Devlin accepted the apology.

Trouble Starts At Reading.

The beginning of the trouble came while Sir Hamer Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, was reading the details of yesterday's assassinations in Dublin to the house. There was a short silence, followed by shocked murmurs and when he had finished, a appreciable time elapsed before a single member arose to ask a question. The speaker, in fact, had called Sir William Henry Davidson, who had given notice of an emergency question, when Mr. Devlin arose and was heard to say, "May I ask—?"

There immediately came a chorus of cries, "No sit down."

Mr. Devlin did resume his seat but apparently under a misapprehension as directly upon Sir William rising to put his question. The Nationalist member also arose. He was received with renewed cries of "sit down." And was the object of a hostile demonstration. Mr. Devlin ignored the speakers request to resume his seat, although he was assured he would have another opportunity of speaking, and another question on Ireland was among the approved question papers.

"Call On Sir Williams," said the speaker called on Sir William again, and the member "sank" his question. But the premier was aware that the house was prepared at a single call to give him whatever he wanted. It was understood to him that the atrocity murder campaign in Ireland and whether he would introduce the necessary legislation to enable the person found in possession of arms and ammunition, to be shot?"

Lloyd George Shakes Horror.

Mr. Lloyd George said he shuddered with the idea of shaking the horror all felt at the cold-blooded murder of unarmed British officers. The government, continued Mr. Lloyd George, had resolved to suppress murder and conspiracy in Ireland. It was realized by all that to suppress such carefully organized, highly subsidized plots would take time, but the government was convinced that despite the recent happenings, the Irish authorities were succeeding in breaking up the "gangs of assassins." The premier said, however, that should experience show that the powers possessed by the Irish government had proved insufficient for that purpose the government would have no hesitation in asking the parliament for such further authority as might be necessary to achieve that end.

Mr. Devlin arose and asked why it was that Sir Hamer Greenwood, the chief secretary for Ireland, was asked a question he recited the terrible occurrence which had been yesterday and yet said nothing about the appearance of a military force at the time. He was interrupted with loud cries of "sit down." Mr. Devlin retorted: "I shan't sit down." and continued:

"Why has the house not been ac-

CONDITION OF REFUGEES FROM NEAR EAST APPALS

POLICE BEGIN RAIDS

By the Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 22.—The condition of the refugees abroad the 90 or more ships strung along the Bosphorus is appalling and a terrible catastrophe is feared unless prompt steps are taken to land the thousands who are writhing in misery and pain.

The correspondent visited several of these "floating hospitals and madhouses" today and returned to shore with foreboding of impending calamity.

None of the refugees has as yet been taken ashore, excepting the sick and diseased and the insane, the latter of whom have been extremely badly treated. The correspondent went across the Bosphorus in an open-bottomed boat and was appalled to note standing a strong, cold sea breeze.

An American relief officer accompanied him.

As soon as the pair boarded the ship the clothing of both was very torn off by half-maddened refugees who begged it be taken to land on the open hills which border the Bosphorus.

Men, women and children, regardless of age or sex are herded together promiscuously on the ships day and night in a state of appalling filth. Many women of distinguished demeanor despite their bedraggled appearance, offered to barter their valuable jewels and furs for a crust of bread or a glass of water. In some cases, the refugees have been without food for 11 days.

The correspondent heard that there had been numerous suicides of desperate refugees and going insane during the night hours. They spoke of ghastly screams and the sobbing call of the mothers at night when they were trying with their children. Most of the refugees were restrained from jumping overboard but many succeeded.

EIGHT ARE KILLED AND MANY WOUNDED IN RIOT IN ITALY

DEMOCRATS ARE ASKED TO CONFER ON LEAGUE ISSUE

LONDON, Nov. 22.—Disturbances in the municipal council of Bologna, Sunday in which eight persons were killed and 64 injured, were started by the throwing of three bombs before the municipal palace, says the central news Bologna correspondent today.

Rival factions in the council soon were fighting and an unknown man fired eight shots in the council chamber, killing two of the councilors. The confusion reigned for several hours inside and outside the chamber but after a series of police firing a restored order.

SCHOOL TEACHER FINED FOR WHIPPING SCHOLAR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—Senators Reed of Missouri, and Pomerene of Ohio and Shields of Tennessee, all democrats, are among those invited by President-elect Harding to confer with him on the league of nations issue and other matters after his return from Panama, according to Harry M. Daugherty, Mr. Harding's pre-convention manager, who was in Washington today. Others asked to offer suggestions to the president-elect, Mr. Daugherty said, included Senators Borah, Johnson, Lodge, Knox, Peleg, Dixie, and Mr. Daugherty thought Harriet Hopper.

Informal conferences at Marion probably will begin about December 15. Mr. Daugherty said, adding that no definite date had been set for any conference.

Mr. Daugherty refused to discuss cabinet possibilities.

POLICE BEGIN RAIDS

DUBLIN, Nov. 22.—There was treacherous political and military activity in all parts of the country today. Raids, searches and arrests have been made in all directions. This evening the city of Dublin is surrounded and appears to be being bombed by military and the police. There was most of time in her stateroom but incessant firing early in the evening took place on deck this morning.

A boy 12 years old and a man of 70 were shot.

There was much firing in Cork tonight but no casualties have been reported. Raids by men in uniform were made at the town halls of Cork and Queenstown and at the residences of the town clerks of these cities.

Many documents were seized.

Other places raided included Fermoy, Carrick on Shannon, Galway, Limerick and Cavan. In nearly all these places documents belonging to the local councils were taken. At Galway those taken into custody included Prof. O'Donnell and many students of the college. Some houses in the vicinity of Galway were burned.

These included the residence of Mrs. O'Connor who recently returned to Ireland after a long residence in the United States. George Nurnaghan, well known North Irish landlord and prominent resident was arrested in Omagh.

Constable Ryan was kidnapped in Cork Sunday, and has been released.

BISMARCK, N. D., Nov. 22.—Three more banks were added today to the string of North Dakota financial institutions that have closed in the last six days, due to depletion of their reserves which officials say is due to failure of farmers to meet notes held by the banks.

The Farmers State Bank of Bismarck and the Security State bank of Glendale, and the Security State bank at Columbus closed today, making nine since the first of last week.

E. E. Dorfman, state bank examiner, declared that crop failures, or short crops together with a depreciation in land and wheat holdings by farmers for higher prices is responsible for the closing.

By the Associated Press.
BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 22.—Two hundred dollars spent for ice cream by the Taxpayers League of Baltimore county in the recent campaign was a result of the entry of woman in politics.

On the list of expenses filed today by B. John Riley, treasurer for the campaign on behalf of the county charter, ice cream appears seven times as an item of expense.

Expenditures for this confection ranged in the items from $1.05 to $82.74.

Mr. Riley also spent $4.95 for cake.

He also paid $1.00 for coffee.

INSURGENT COMMANDER DE CLAUDIO HE STILLS UNARMED ARMY OPPOSED TO ACCEPTING TREATY OF RAPallo

STUTZ, Nov. 22.—Gabriel d'Annunzio, insurgent commander at Piume, declared today he was unalterably opposed to accepting the treaty of Rapallo, settling the Adriatic dispute between Italy and Yugoslavia, and that his army would continue fighting until the just claims of Italy were met.

"I am fighting a just fight, and I will continue until the Italian government is satisfied," De Annunzio declared to the correspondent. "Friends may abandon me, I will stand firm. I am Gideon. Let those who lack courage desert me. Let those who fall in with me, rest with me. There remains the brave with Gideon, and Gideon's brave will conquer."

"I am alone. Even those nearest to me show signs of weakness. I must lie up their hands and guide them. Through all this anguish of 14 months I've stood the test; I have rested in the face of seeming up-

PAY AND PRODUCT.

The British miner demands more pay and the British government replies that they may have it one condition—that they dig more coal.

British mining wages have been low compared with the American standards, but when a similar comparison is made between the American and British output, there seems to be a good deal of justice in Lloyd George's position. British miners are said to be producing only 200 "long tons" of coal a year per man. In the United States a coal miner digs two to four times that much. Our miners have more machinery to help them, but there is also an obvious difference in the spirit with which the men work. No one maintains that the British miner has been overworked. Unless he has been really underpaid for the work he did, it is a fair business proposition that he pay for increased wages by increased production.

The principle has its application just now in this country, in a slightly different way. With prices of commodities going down, there is a natural pressure brought to bring wages down with them. Those wages, generally speaking, have been adjusted to enable the workmen to meet living conditions at high price levels. Some manufacturers can well afford to reduce prices considerably and still maintain high wages. Others cannot. Some of the latter have already reduced wages to some extent, in several industries, with the consent of the workmen who prefer lower pay to the alternative of closed down factories and no job.

There is one way, and only one, as practical business men and professional economists have pointed out, by which American labor can avoid such reduction of its income. It is by producing more.

Just how generally this can be done is a matter of debate. The current view is that in most occupations workmen can still speed up quite a little without harmful overwork. Where this is the case, it is the obvious remedy for the situation and also a guarantee of the greatest prosperity American labor has ever enjoyed.

LESS LABOR, MORE PRODUCTION.

The Ford factory at Detroit recently reported that it was turning out more cars with a smaller force, working five days a week, than it used to, with a large number of men employed six days a week.

What is this but a convincing sign of the increased productivity of labor. Corroborative reports come from many other factories, in many industries. Wherever labor lapsed from efficiency, in the lax, don't-care spirit that comes with boom times, it has been jerking itself up again.

Carpenters in Baltimore, who have been demanding an advance of 10 cents an hour, have decided to waive the demand, preferring steady employment at 90 cents an hour to irregular employment at $1.

The same facts are visible in each of these cases, as they are facts that bode well for American industry and labor. There is new recognition of the fact that wages are not something given by an employer, or wrested from him, but something created by work. When there were more jobs than men, this economic truth was sometimes lost sight of. Now that there are more men than jobs again, it sticks up like a sore thumb. Jobs take on a new value and workmen safeguard them by increased effort.

When employers get more product for the wages they pay, they can sell that product cheaper. After abnormal profits have been squeezed out—as they have now in most cases this is the only way to lower prices further and keep them low. It is the only way to make the public buy, and thus the only way to keep factories and mills and stores at work. It is, in plain English, the only way for workmen to keep their jobs.

A prompt acceptance of the situation, and a cheerful response to the need, makes the circle complete and benefits the workman himself just as much as could any happy circumstance. Producing more, and thus allowing prices to be let down a few notches, he is able himself to save money by buying at those prices. Thus when the reconstruction is accomplished, he may find himself better off than ever.

MOVIE OR GANG?

Again the movie has come under the critic's lash as a school for crime. One paper calls attention to the fact that the scenes enacted in a recent bank robbery were just the sort depicted with increasing frequency upon the screen, and watched with eager eyes by youths ripe for evil influence. But as a matter of fact the movies probably incite a very small proportion of the crimes with which the country is overwhelmed at present. The corner gang is the true school for lawlessness.

No matter what his predilection for crime may be, the spectator at the movies sees one thing with unfailing regularity—good triumphant. The great white light which beats upon the screen leaves no spot where the crook may hide in safety, and with the same impartiality with which it reveals his methods of operation it lays bare the futility of his fleeting triumphs and the completeness of his downfall.

The corner gang performs no such wholesome office. It may get some suggestions as to technique from the movies, but the urge to crimes is already there. The lust for excitement is cunningly fostered, the possible gains are avidly considered, the dangers discounted and the restraints of law and public opinion are openly sneered at. The triumph of evil is the gospel of the corner gang.

This is the place to begin with censorship and elimination. The moving picture is a result, record, either real or fictional, of a deed accomplished. Those who have the safety of society truly at heart will seek elsewhere for the course of crime. It is not found upon the screen, but lurking in the shadows outside.

PAYING CONSERVATION.

What conservation in lumbering may mean in actual financial return is shown in some figures published in a recent issue of the Journal of Forestry. The figures are based upon a survey made in Pennsylvania forests. They show that a gross return of approximately $500 an acre of forest land was made by close forest utilization as against less than $300 if the timber had been cut for lumber alone.

The lumber company received $288 per acre for a certain cutting of hemlock logs. Under all too frequent wasteful methods that would be the only return. But by turning everything to some definite use; a good deal more money was realized. The company made an additional $45 per acre by gathering hemlock bark, $20 by using hemlock tops and culms for pulp, $25 for mill waste used for kindling and for pulp, $78 by using hardwoods on the tract for stakes and $45 by cutting the small and defective hardwood waste into "chemical wood."

This thorough process not only netted the lumber company a larger return on its tract, but it conserved and made use of a big quantity of wood ordinarily wasted. There is only one more step in a perfect conservation policy in lumbering and that is reforestation.

When Judge Landis tackles that job as head of the baseball board of control, we hope he'll never fine a player $29,000,000.

Home baking is advocated as a means of securing cheaper bread. If you want to bring it down, raise it yourself.

Voting home rule in Ireland now seems a good deal like trying to insure a house after it has started to burn down.

The American people are just beginning to learn that war is not a prosperity-producer but an expensive luxury.

maining masters of their town rate. The republican party in its platform has said, "declared its policy to be the establishment of an arrangement with the foreign nations for the promotion of peace." They condemned the covenant of the league brought from Paris by Mr. Wilson and approved the action of the senate in opposing it. Mr. Cox declared he was ready to go into the League. Senator Harding declared he was opposed to going in. The people by a majority in the neighborhood of 7,000,000 approve the attitude and action of Mr. Harding and of the republican party.

The people have answered therefore that they will not accept or enter upon Mr. Wilson's League. So far as the United States is concerned the League is dead, for the court from which there is no appeal has spoken.

The republican party in their platform left the future open. They declined to bind themselves to any action under a question of the league which necessarily would be greatly affected by the changing conditions in Europe. Mr. Harding and the republican party are therefore entirely free to deal with these questions unhampered by any platform, and they purpose to do so in accordance with Senator Harding's declarations."

HOW WEATHER BUREAU GOT INFORMATION OF BIG VALUE IN AVIATION.

The weather bureau of the United States department of agriculture gathered a great deal of valuable information for army and navy aviators during the war and for mail service aviation since that time by means of a kite to which was attached a self-recording instrument, the anerograph. Some are shown by an incident that occurred March 10 at Leesburg, Ga., in order to attain the height desired, a number of kites had been sent up tandem. They consisted of strong wooden frames about 7 by 7 by 3 feet. Each kite was covered with about 12 yards of fine cambric and was attached to one piano wire. They were let out and hauled by a reel operated by electric motor. Due to a defective splice, four of the kites with about 8 miles of wire broke away and flew about 18 miles before they were become entangled in a tree. The boy who telephoned the news to the meteorological station, but before the party sent out to recover the kites could reach them, some negroes had wrecked the first one and stolen the cloth, which was later found in nine pieces in various cabins. The other three kites, when the first one was separated from them, escaped and flew about three miles farther. During the flight, however, the wire became entangled with a boy and a mule plowing in a field. The boy grasped the wire and cut it, burned his hands. The mule became so entangled in the wire that the help of three men was required to release him. The three kites were finally caught in another fence which was cut down by another party of negroes, and, in falling, wrecked the second kite, which was dismantled by the negroes. The two remaining kites again escaped, flew about 8 miles farther and landed in one of the tallest pine trees in the region. The third kite had a megaphone attachment which was recovered undamaged. A dog which came out, however, and the two remaining kites were broken up and finally abandoned.

HEAR TESTIMONY IN WATER RIGHT CASE IN COURT.

Suit of Utah Construction Company Against Canal Companies to Adjudicate Rights Now in Court.

The whole day in the district court yesterday was consumed in taking testimony in the case brought by the Utah construction company against the Twin Falls Salmon River Land and Water company, the Shoshone Canal company, and water users on Shoshone creek to adjudicate the water rights of the various parties to the waters of Shoshone and Big creeks. Plaintiff claims prior water rights through some construction work and other improvements in the vicinity and introduced witnesses who testified that such work had been done.

Marian Larsen, a former employee of the plaintiff company, a man who was in charge of the improvement in that locality during 1916, 1917 and 1918, testified, however, that he found traces of practically none of the improvements alleged to have been made. The case will be continued today.

ECONOMY TO BE WATCH WORD OF CITY COUNCIL

NEW POLICY WILL BE PUT INTO FORCE IMMEDIATELY AS
SUITE OF DECLARATION
MAYOR ED BRIDGE

Mayor Bridge last night declared at the meeting of the city council that economy must be the watch word of the city administration and this policy will be put in force immediately. All department heads have been instructed to make a strict survey of all working forces and to cut down wherever the services of anyone can be dispensed with.

The mayor made the statement that there are now more than $65,000 worth of city warrants out which must be paid, while it was more than probable that the city would not receive 100 per cent of the assessed taxation this year due to the general money and credit stringency. He laid the immensely heavy expenses at the door of the big improvement program which has caused a great many incidental expenditures and has caused the retention of an extra large force of men during the entire first six months of the fiscal year.

A new and more comprehensive traffic ordinance was passed last night involving many new features calculated to add to the protection both of pedestrians and motorists. Provision is made that when a truck carries a load which projects more than ten feet over the rear of the vehicle, a red flag must be attached, provided that the circumference of the load at the blind end is less than ten square feet. All cars when parking parallel to the curb in order to provide better music in the patrons of the favoring pavilion, E. C. Laverling has installed a sound-reflecting board which will reflect that piano music back to the patrons.

One of the most important clauses of the new ordinance provides that section of the state. The orchestra vehicles may not be left on any of the city streets for purposes of sale, the floor where a squinting board has been removed to the center of the street, or when a person is playing a solo on the piano. The orchestra will greatly benefit the regular dancing this evening.

permit to construct this building at the meeting of November 8 and when this was denied, made application to the city park for a building permit suspending for a day his application to the council. Mr. Minami, however, did not issue the permit, nor did he refuse, but put the matter before council. A few days after, Mr. Bevercombe secured a writ of mandamus directed to the mayor and city council.

Mr. Bevercombe last night, at the meeting of the city council that economy must be the watch word of the city administration and this policy will be put in force immediately. All department heads have been instructed to make a strict survey of all working forces and to cut down wherever the services of anyone can be dispensed with.

The mayor made the statement that there are now more than $65,000 worth of city warrants out which must be paid, while it was more than probable that the city would not receive 100 per cent of the assessed taxation this year due to the general money and credit stringency. He laid the immensely heavy expenses at the door of the big improvement program which has caused a great many incidental expenditures and has caused the retention of an extra large force of men during the entire first six months of the fiscal year.

Action was also taken looking toward designating the fire chief as fire marshal. This action, it is said, would give him authority to enforce orders for the removal of refuse and rubbish where they might be conducive to fire, at the same time lessening the occasion for conflagrations and reducing fire insurance rates in Twin Falls.

In order to provide better music in the patrons of the favoring pavilion, E. C. Laverling has installed a sound-reflecting board which will reflect that piano music back to the patrons.
