

GOVERNORS OF STATES PLAN LEGISLATION TO AID NATION'S FARMERS

Vote to Begin Inquiry Into Situation Now Facing Country

WILL SUGGEST NEW LAWS TO CONGRESS

Propose Financial Assistance Through Extension of Federal Reserve System

HARRISBURG, Pa., Dec. 1.—Governors and governors-elect representing more than 40 states of the United States voted at their annual conference today to begin an inquiry into what was variously called the "acute," "alarming," and "tragic" situation facing farmers of the country with a view to recommending federal legislation to aid them.

Will Make Survey.
As a first step toward carrying out their plan which was suggested by Governor W. L. Harding of Iowa, the conference appointed a committee consisting of Governors Blaine Hickett of North Carolina, Holcomb of Connecticut, Parker of Louisiana and Goodrich of Indiana, to make a preliminary survey and report back before the conclusion of the conference. After that it is contemplated to send the committee to Washington to urge legislation before congress which convenes this month.

The object of the state executives, which is said to be without parallel in the history of American government, is the organization of government to suggest, to urge and to actively advocate passage of legislation necessary to refund the debts of farmers who are pinched by falling markets, with heavy stocks, of surplus produce on hand to us to give them a year or more in which to recoup losses and wait for a strengthening market. It is proposed to do this through extension or adaptation of the federal reserve system.

A second proposal also expected to receive consideration by the committee, submitted by Governor Harding, that a foreign trade corporation be formed to finance purchases of American farm products by foreign countries unable to pay for their lack of funds to come into the American market. Acting on Governor Harding's suggestion Gov. seekert, introduced a resolution providing for appointment of the committee to proceed upon instruction on the subject and take the propositions up with congress direct. This motion, received a second, and was about to be voted upon when it was objected that the constitution of the governors' conference forbids formal resolutions on action at the met. At this, Governor Sprunt of Pennsylvania pointed out that no such formal action was necessary, and at the call of Governor Bamberger of Utah, who presided, a vote was taken on the suggestion to appoint a committee informally. Approval of the governors was overwhelming.

His troops are making incursions to the outskirts of the regulars and capturing an occasional small group of soldiers. Intermittent rifle firing is in progress, but no serious consequences have so far resulted. At Fiume, D'Annunzio himself is constantly busy in conference with his lieutenants. One of the young officers, when asked a question by a newspaper man, excused himself, saying, "We are busy, we are at war."

Door to Further Wage Advances in Anthracite Coal Industry Opened By Joint Committee.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The door to further wage increase in the anthracite coal industry beyond the 17 per cent hike awarded by the federal commissioner last August, was opened today at a conference between the anthracite joint state committee and Secretary Wilson of the department of labor.

The government, Secretary Wilson advised the committee, would not interfere with any change with the committee might agree to make in the federal commission's agreement. This position was understood to mean that the state committee may increase wages above the scales laid down in the agreement under which the mines are now operating, providing the operators consent to such rates.

TOWN HALLS IN LONDON SEIZED BY UNEMPLOYED

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Dec. 1.—Restlessness among the city's unemployed, coupled with the lack of housing accommodations, led to the seizure of the town hall at Edmonton, a northern suburb of London, by several hundred men today.

The occupation of the building was entirely without evidence. The men announce that they will use the town hall as their headquarters until something is done for them.

The town hall at Tottenham, another working district near the city, was the scene of a similar peaceful seizure yesterday. The unemployed men took possession of the building, however, evacuated it today when the council announced that some had been found for them in the nearby city and in the two large storehouses.

A large body of unemployed later today took possession of the public baths in the suburbs of Walthamstow and placed pickets around it. They then informed the Borough Council that the premises would be occupied until another building was furnished as a shelter, and a center from which to distribute food supplies.

Statesmen Optimistic Over Shifting of Responsibility of Armenia to America

The sun came out strong for the first time. But one result, he pointed out, had been obtained and that was "the wonderful spectacle of North and South America, and Europe settling together to try to settle a difficult and an obscure corner of the Black sea."

"If one had suggested it five years ago," he added "he would have been regarded as a dreamer and would indeed have been a dreamer; had the league of nations not come in the meantime."

COUNTY CLUB LEADERS MAKE ANNUAL REPORT

Excellent Record Made by Boys and Girls Clubs During Year—144 Per Cent Complete Work.

The report of the boys' and girls club agents of Twin Falls county, which has just been completed, shows the establishment of many new records in this line of work during the past year in this county. Of the 449 members who enrolled in all of the various projects, 254 have finished their work and filed their final report with the county club agent, making 94.4 per cent of the total to complete the year. This is said to be a record which has never been exceeded and which probably never will be in any county in the entire country.

The total valuation of the stock and produce of the members of these various projects amounts to $63,668.60, while the cost to the members totaled only $27,074.84, leaving a net return on the year's work of $36,593.76.

According to the report there were 144 public demonstrations put on throughout the county by trained teams, and 220 by the county club agent, and his assistant and by the local leaders. The number of trained demonstration teams in the county was 74.

loaned $13,605 to club members for the purchase of purebred stock, while the contributed a total of $2,165 for bridge trips and other incentives toward greater efforts on the part of the club members.

In reviewing the year's work, the county club agent wishes to extend his heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the business organizations of Twin Falls, Filer, Murtaugh, Hanson, Kimberly and Buhl; to the board of county commissioners, to the local dealers, to the public press, and to all other associations and individuals which have so much time and money to assist in establishing for this county the greatest record for efficiency in organization and production that has ever been known. The state championships in canning, and swine and corn judging, and the championship of the northeast in sheep judging, were all won by Twin Falls county club members during the past year.

The swine project, according to the report, has made Twin Falls county famous throughout the United States and has established a record which in all probability will never be duplicated. The success of this project is attributed greatly to the fact that each member, there being 34, was carefully selected, and that only the best type of purebred, registered pigs were allowed in this club. The members of this club now are the possessors of 211 registered Duroc-Jersey pigs. In addition to the swine with which they began operations a year ago, some of these latter animals are valuable almost beyond a reasonable sale price. The total value of these animals is placed at $15,020, while the cost of feeding and caring for them is fixed at $2,110, leaving a total gain, above all costs of $12,910 including the profits made.

These swine established a gross record on the fair circuit, being exhibited at the county fair at Filer, the state fair at Boise, the Western Royal Livestock show at Spokane, and the Northwest Livestock show at Lewiston, at all of which places they romped away with most of the prizes, not only in the events for club members, but in the open competitions as well.

Another department in which great work has been done is in the "milk project" in which 43 members are enrolled, each on the owner of a purebred registered Shorthorn or Jersey cow, many of the latter ranking among the best producers of their breed in the entire state. One Jersey cow owned by Willie Walton of Murtaugh, was the highest producing cow of the state for the month of July, according to an unofficial test. The reports of the members of this club show that from April 1 to October 1, 20,791 pounds of milk and 6,800 pounds of butterfat were produced. The value of the holdings of the members of this club, including the purchase price of the stock and the returns in the way of increase and dairy products, is valued at $21,567, the actual expense being incurred, amounting to $14,047.69, showing a net return of $7,519.31. The Jersey cows on exhibition at the county fair at Filer took every place but two in the open class. Other projects in which splendid work was done, and great results were accomplished were garden, sheep, poultry, canning, baking, sewing, wheat and sugar-beets.

JOURNEY FROM CRIMEA TO RIGA OF INTEREST

RIGA, Latvia, Nov. 25.—From Crimea to Riga doesn't look like a very long jump on the map, but when an impatient newspaper man starts on the trek he finds central Europe an uncharted world, roughly re-made by the Versailles treaty and infested by hostile armies, troublesome passport officials and annoying customs agents who seem to be located where they catch all trains at three o'clock in the morning. (This despatch reflects the experiences of one of the staff correspondents of the Associated Press sent to Riga for the recent Russian-Polish peace conference.)

In Latvia every sixteenth person is a government employe. There are only a million and a half inhabitants all told in the new republic and 25,000 of them work for the government. The same proportion probably holds for most of the other newly-hatched chicks which are seeking the shelter of Mother League of Nations over stretched wings, with the result that the wandering business man and reporter have to suffer.

It requires 14 visas to get from Riga to Berlin, together with scores of government papers enabling travelers to carry more than three dollars and thirteen dollars from one boundary to another. When the new countries find nothing else to do they pass additional travel-and-export regulations and thus afford work for a few scores more inspectors and investigators.

After I had finished my work with the Wrangel army and the officials of the Soviet Russian government, I started back to Constantinople, which is the only center from which travel is possible into Central Europe: Budapest and Belgrade and Makino and a score of other Bolshevik, anti-Bolshevik and neutral cities. There were fighting, or pretending to fight between Wrangel's northern line and Warsaw. The trip might have been made in an airplane, but most of the Russian airplanes have developed faulty temperaments and require constant attention. In succession, I turned to a trusted American destroyer, the Tattalin, which speeded me over to Constantia, Rumania, and landed me in Constantinople within 48 hours. I was semi-official on the ship and free from passport regulations. But at Constantinople the grind began.

It wasn't possible to go to Budapest, railway strikes and disturbed lines made that impossible. In fact, there was only one rail route which was certainly in operation—that was the line through Sofia and Belgrade to Trieste. It was probably possible to go from Trieste to Vienna and the sailing was clear through Trieste to Berlin. But nobody south of Berlin had overboard of Latvia, and very slight information was shown in anybody who was foolish enough to want to get into any part of Old Russia.

The latest professions in Europe in that of visas. I changed the best wrapper of visa in Constantinople, and after two days he advised me that with the assistance of letters from Admiral Bristol and the American consul he had been able to obtain all of the visas necessary to go to Berlin, excepting the French. I had to go to the French control personally and worked five hours in line with Senegalese, Chinese, Azerbaijani, Portuguese and every ornate of Levantine before French military regulations granted me permission to leave Constantinople.

Additional sheets were pinned on my passport and I found myself in possession of the most amazing collection of official documents. I had three Greek visas. They were necessary to carry me across the section of Thrace which the supreme council had given to Greece. One of the visas was from the Greek commander of Levantine before French military regulations granted me permission to leave Constantinople. I had the seal of all the extant military controls, of Bulgaria, Jugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Italy, Austria and Germany. Many of them were actually well started before I hit the Greeks and for three days I got abundant exercise opening and closing luggage, and assuring officials I didn't have more than 100 cigarettes. The quest for cigarettes seems to be the favorite pastime in the Balkans. At Trieste I had to wait two days for a train and consumed most of the time in shuffling up a candidate who tried to make the task of getting me through the Italian police control appear to be extremely difficult. I also amused myself shopping among the money-changers in order to get odd assortment of rubles, francs, piastres, leg and drachmas converted into Austrian crowns. There were only six-sets of customs officials to pass between Trieste and Berlin. As there were no sleeping cars the frontiers were not especially annoying. One gets used to anything.

In the matter of travel information Berlin is further from the new Balkans on the Baltic Sea than Zanzibar. The travel agencies didn't know how to get there, and there were ships from Stettin—sometimes also from Danzig—possibly. It had been rumored there were trains through Lithuania a few weeks ago, but the war had broken down. Somebody was fighting somebody else somewhere, and military passes were probably necessary. If one went to Mennel it might be one could get a motorcar to Libau, but there general, only wasn't any road. The railway was who, out of coal, but sometimes they can with wood if they could get it cut, and could induce their disabled locomotives to work.

There was nothing to do but start. The fact that it's still possible to go anywhere in Europe today. And it is safe to conceal plenty of expense money in one's clothing and trust to luck that the customs officials won't find it. If they find it, Berlin was filled with correspondents trying to find a way to get to the Riga peace conference. They tried various routes, but I managed to get there ahead of most of them, but I managed to get there ahead of most of them by taking the train to the Lithuanian frontier. I was thrown back by the military control, which wouldn't let me go to Kovno. I shuttled back to Mennel and caught a train to Mennel. I was caught up with two correspondents of London papers, and started by motorcar to Libau. We tried to take a boat, but the wind was so high that the captain wouldn't start. And as it was the windy season he didn't know what day he could make the run.

The highway from Mennel to Libau runs through a marshy forest and was extremely muddy. The motorbus was old and wheezy. But it was our last hope. After we had run two miles it balked. It was getting dark and most of the passengers wanted to go back to Mennel. Libau was five miles ahead, but we wouldn't be insisted upon going on, and finally jumped down the other passengers. The machine was pushed up and limped on. Two hours later it stalled in the mud and we lay all night in the forest, far from any houses, without food. A heavy rainstorm made the situation worse and intensified the indignation of many of the passengers, some who carried Englishmen in seven different languages.

The German conductor of the motorbus tried to drown his sorrow by drinking champagne he was carrying as freight and vociferously declared he was a young African tiger. This added to the fury of several of the timid passengers who cheered up their friends by telling them that eight persons had been murdered by robbers in that very forest the week before.

But we weren't murdered and when daylight came the driver managed to unhook up the bus so we ran a few miles further to a telephone and arranged for a tow, which landed us in Libau in time to catch a night train for Riga. We were three days before the Bolsheviks arrived and in 20 five or six days, which elapsed before the Poles came had an opportunity to look over Riga and all Latvia, which proved to be extremely well ordered in spite of the poverty and the chaos of the Latvian, and built on the ruins of the war-torn Russian province.

Another Associated Press correspondent who had been at the previous conference at Minsk came from Poland with delegates, and was the only foreign correspondent so honored. The Poles arrived at Danzig by special trains and traveled on a British destroyer to Libau, thus avoiding Lithuania, which extends no welcome to Poles in these days because of the Polish aggression against Lithuania.

WHEN RHEUMATISM HITS YOU HARD!

Sloan's Liniment should be kept handy for aches and pains

REVIVE ANCIENT PLAN.

LONDON.—Pipe smokers here have revived an ancient method of keeping a pipe clean the driver means to get into a parashaped "bomb" of rice paper, tear a tiny hole in the bottom of the "bomb" and drop it into the pipe bowl. Then they light the twist of paper at the top. The paper doesn't burn except at the top and a rapid puff of the hand at the finish of the smoke throws out paper and ashes and all the "gooey" creosotes and nothing that ordinarily clings to the pipe and makes it foul.

ROUGH ON MAMA.

LONDON.—Randolph G. Wemyss here can't have his mother visit him longer than a day and night. If he does he loses a lot of money. His father divorced his mother, Lady Ellen Wemyss, and married again. Then he died and left his estate and his money to his son with the stipulation that his former wife must consent to break the will. Court wouldn't do it.

A SARDINE SANDWICH

When a workmanman writes to the "New York Herald" letter complaining because he had to pay 20 cents for a sandwich composed of one cucumber and one slice of bread, and two very thin slices of unadorned bread, he doubtless expected a waiver of public sympathy. Instead, the publication of his letter brought a flood of sarcastic criticism.

Here, as the World comments, is the point of the whole matter. That man did not have to pay 20 cents for his own sandwich. He was robbed, to be sure, and the profiteering was inexcusable; yet he was paying most of that 20 cents simply because he was too lazy or thoughtless or proud to make his own sandwiches.

SECURE BUILDING PERMIT. A building permit was issued yesterday to the Continental Oil company to construct on Sixth street south, a brick structure not to exceed 220,000 ft. value.

WILL VISIT GRANDFATHER. CHICAGO.—Hyman Lefkowitz, 39 years old, has applied for a passport to Palestine. Subject of the trip, he said, was to visit his grandfather.

LIGHT CIGARS ARE RULE. CINCINNATI, O.—No need to chide the big fat and black clear, says H. E. Darnett, of the chamber of commerce here who made an investigation. The heavy cigar, went with its little playmate, whiffly, and how men smoke mostly light cigars.

CHARGED TOO MUCH. LONDON.—A food-tuction street butcher got it in the neck for charging a woman customer 10 cents too much for neck of lamb. The violation was reported by police. Fined $150 in police court.

WANTS MACHINE GUNS. COLIMBIA.—Police Chief French wants the council to raise $10,000 to be spent on high-powered armorial automobiles with machine guns. Then, he says, he'll give auto handouts a run for their money.

PLEAS ON HALF-TIME. YAMOUTH, England.—Owing to enormous glut of herrings—value of season's catch already exceeding $5,000,000—the herring fleets have been prohibited from working more than half time for a week or more.

JAIL TOO LARGE. CHANUTE, Mo.—Chanute has more housing accommodations than it needs for its few law-breakers, and less than it needs for its automobiles. So the city commissioners have voted to turn part of the city jail into a garage.

BATTLE WITH PIG. TOLLEDO, O.—For 15 minutes, an unshowered, patrolman Gordon, battled with a voracious pig. Finally he laid the prisoner by the heels, as it were, and "foot cuffed" him. Prisoner weighed 15 pounds and is now being fed with a spoon at police headquarters. He's a baby pig.

CUP TASTED OF ACID. DALLAS, Tex.—When L. Scott, an expression, took a carbolic acid in the week, he found it tasted of acid. He began fed with a spoon at police headquarters. He's a baby pig.

DON'T TRY THIS. DALLAS, Tex.—When Annie Jones here paid her board bill all in nickels, her landlord called the cops. They found Annie had worked an automobile plane. She's in the donjon, keep.

JANITORS PICK COTTON. DALLAS, Tex.—Courthouse janitors here are lining their coats with cotton, so to speak. In the morning they shy up the building. At noon automobiles whizz thru the cotton field and there they work until midnight. They earn $100 a month janitorial and $5 a day picking cotton.

CLAIMS REVOID THIP. LONDON, Nov. 30.—The City of London, a cargo ship, claims the record for trans-Atlantic trips from Texas. It was 42 days from Houston to New York, and return and spent nine days in port in France, making her sailing time each way 20 days. This is not because of any action the Japanese have taken up to now, but because of the quiet general fear that the Japanese are preparing to take over the world. CHICAGO AMERICANS TO TRAVEL IN TEXAS

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—The Chicago American league baseball club will endeavor to build up its team, torn to pieces by the loss of seven stars through the baseball scandal, at Wazazhachle, Texas, that team having been announced today by Secretary Granger as the winning team for 1921.

Hereafter the club has left for its training camp about the middle of March but an earlier start will be made next spring so that Gleason will have a longer period in which to rebuild the club.

FLIVVER BEATS COYOTE

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—Lewell Allen, student at Colorado State Agricultural college, on his way to college in his flivver, ran a coyote in the road. The next instant the animal was a gray streak ahead. Allen depended on the gas. The coyote kept to the road, the engine hunched out as it broke all coyote records; but nearer and nearer crawled the flivver, with a grin on its radiator, until, with a final grunt and rattle, it leaped upon the unsuspecting animal, king of the prairie and ran over him.

When he tried to go back he could not find the way and could not remember the street and number. After walking about 15 miles, he made for the police station and explained his trouble. MINISTERS FIGHT DANCES

HUNTINGTON, W. Va.—"Dances in the public schools," horrors, say the ministers of this city. Because the Parent-Teachers' association advocated dancing for students before supervision of the faculty, the ministerial association threatens action.

Are We Becoming a Nation of Petty Grafters?

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—In this period immediately following the war, to be known as "The Age of Petty Graft?"

It used to be that now and then a grafter folk into the meshes of the law, was punished, and that was an example to all others to eschew even the presence of the graft evil. But now, according to reliable information in the hands of M. Q. MacDonald, Washington lawyer, interested in suppressing the evil, nearly everybody and his brother is steeped in graft—chauffeurs, painters, varnishers, dyers (these are the worst), shipmasters, captains, firemen, sellers, car distributors, ticket agents, Pullman porters, building contractors and even baseball players.

Men in all these professions are apt to be devoting much of their time to grafting, many of them making big money out of it. All this graft can be traced to the flivver system. First some knob who thought he deserved better, services than other people, gave a waiter a tip, a tip—his meal. Next time he got better service. Then everybody had to do it in self-defense. It resolved into a question of who would give the largest tip. Then they started to tip before the service was rendered. For instance, telling a ticket seller "give me a lower berth and there is $2 in it for you."

MacDonald represents a paint and varnish company. He says that the fornam varnishers in many factories will not approve varnish purchased from a company till the company gives the foreman 10 per cent of the purchase price.

Of the dye industry: A. Mitchell Calmer, then ally property custodian, "Unless a dyer was given a substantial bribe by a dye salesman, he would not approve dyes purchased from him. If his boss took the matter into his own hands and bought dyes where he thought the dye would see to it that a large batch of silk goods or other valuable material was ruined by the dye, the mill owner was soon willing to let the head dyer have his graft. The chauffeurs and truck drivers graft in to "touch" truck drivers for loans of from $25 to $50 whenever their bosses buy a new truck. If the dealer refuses the loan, the chauffeur makes him sorry by putting the truck out of commission.

"Unless the trucks I sell stand up and stay on the street, my business cannot succeed," a truck dealer told Macdonald. "Consequently, I am paid out most of my profit in this kind of manner."

The Shipping Board, Federal Trade Commission and Food Administration all took cognizance of the bribery practice in the marine trade at American ports. Shippers, stewards and engineers all demand their tips on all purchases made to the ship.

Falsify Carbons. Ship employees have "given taken" bribes to falsify carbons and recently four persons were indicted in New York for falsifying a cargo of fuel oil consigned to the Shipping board. If it hadn't been defaulting the government the scoundrels would have continued to crime. There is no law against bribes in so-called private commerce.

Who pays? It is all shouldered onto the consumer. Bills are piling in congress to stop this practice. They should pass the tipping system, the origin of all this graft, should be wiped out also.

Woman Manages These Pugilists.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Sporting editors face the necessity of putting rugs on the office floor, curling in the windows, a vase of flowers on the desk and a primping mirror on the wall.

For the feminine influence has hit the sporting department. Woman has entered the boxing ring. She has taken to managing pug.

Mrs. Coeli Lahlade, 19 and good to look at, broke the ice. The fighters she manages are plucky pug, but coming champions just the same. So she the manly art of self-defense. They have sparred at numerous entertainments, and everyone has voted them a wonderful pair of boys in the matter of physical perfection.

"I'm their aunt and have full power as their manager. My aim is to show them before the school children of Chicago to impress upon the boys and girls what boxing does toward physical development."

The diminutive future champions appeared publicly in a sparring match at Benton Harbor, Mich., last September when Jack Dempsey was training for his battle with Billy Miske. The girl-manager then got many names for the autograph album she carries around. In it Champion Dempsey wrote:

"A great pair of youngsters. Like everything else it's a good idea for a boy he'd learn boxing as soon as he could walk."

OBREGON IS MAN OF VARIED LIFE AND EXPERIENCES. Personal glimpses of New Mexican President show admirable traits of character.

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 1.—"I am a farmer; I wish that way was over so I could go back to my ranch." President Obregon said to his brother officers. When the revolution broke out General Obregon was a prosperous farmer at Huatampano.

General Obregon lost his right arm above the elbow at Colima in 1915. This forces him to wear a white cane. He had planted mines. Suddenly there was an explosion and one of Obregon's arms flew off. At the hospital the next day he learned his men were becoming uneasy, so he left Colima and went to Mexico City.

Obregon's views on war are contained in these words: "War is savagery broken loose, and it civilization is to be maintained it must be eliminated as a measure of composing international quarrels and harmonizing international interests."

Obregon made his fortune by organizing the garvano (peasants) of Sonora and Sonora, causing them to raise a market price for their produce. His organization was copied after the American farmers' marketing organizations in California. He not only made himself rich, but made all his neighbors prosperous.
