

WILSON WILL NOT APPEAR AT CONGRESS

Indications Are That Executive Will Send Address By Messenger

PRESIDENT RECEIVES JOINT COMMITTEE

Congressional Visitors Are Not Notified of Intentions of Leader of Nation

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Unless President Wilson changes his plans at the last moment, he will not address congress personally tomorrow, but will send a message in written form. It will be read to house and senate sitting in separate sitting as was done with the president's message in December and as was the custom until Mr. Wilson began the habit of addressing congress personally.

The president did not make known his intention to a joint committee of senate and house, which called today at the white house to formally notify him that congress was in session, but members of the delegation left him with the impression that he would not appear before congress in person. The president's statement to the committee that he would not appear to manipulate with congress tomorrow.

Mr. Wilson received his congressional visitors in the blue room, Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the republican leader in the house was the spokesman and he and the president thus met face to face for the first time since the onset of the campaign and the peace treaty were defeated in the senate under Senator Lodge's leadership.

The president did not shake hands with his visitors. They were ushered into the blue room by the White House staff. When Mr. Wilson appeared from an adjoining room, he wore a blue necktie and used a cane. On entering the door he smiled and, pointing to his cane, said "You see gentlemen, I cannot yet use my leg." The committee was in the White House only a few minutes and the president remained standing at the door of the room during the interview. Some of the visitors said that in walking his left leg evidenced his affliction and that he kept his left hand laid up near his chest.

Besides Mr. Lodge, the White House callers were Senator Underwood of Alabama, the democratic leader, and Representative Mondell, the republican house leader, Chairman Foreman of the house ways and means committee and former Speaker Champ Clark. Some of them said the president will give visible evidence of his long illness, but that considering the character and duration of his sickness he appeared in unusually good condition. He was described as having put on much weight as before. There was a difference of opinion as to the president's voice. One of the callers described it as "hollow and low" and said that it was with difficulty that he heard what the president had to say, while others said that while not as robust as before, his illness, Mr. Wilson's voice was good and that the executive spoke clearly with only a slight difficulty in enunciation.

There is nothing to prevent the president from changing his mind before noon tomorrow, but the probability is that he will not. His message has been completed and is ready for transmission by messenger. There has been no intimation as to its contents but there have been several reports that the president discussed nothing, the agricultural situation and many other subjects.

LEAGUE ASSEMBLY TO STICK TO SLOW AND SURE POLICY

Amendments in Covenant Will Be Made Carefully—Committee to Study Article Ten.

GENEVA, Dec. 6.—The league of nations assembly today decided to stick to a slow and sure policy in amending the covenant and to extend that policy to the interpretation of the relations between the council and the assembly with regard to their respective duties and jurisdictions under the covenant.

The Canadian amendment eliminating article ten and the Argentine amendment declaring that all sovereign states shall be members of the league that do not remain outside of their own choice were referred to a special committee which will study all the proposed changes in the covenant and report to the next assembly.

The question as to what are the exact relations between the council and assembly was temporarily and partially settled by the adoption of a sort of working basis in the form of the four general principles enumerated in the recent report of the committee presented over by Mr. Balfour with certain amendments.

INTRODUCE MANY BILLS AT OPENING SESSION

Close of Recess Finds Many Resolutions and Measures Confronting Country's Legislators

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Congress reconvened today with the customary brief and routine opening sessions which were attended by great crowds and marked by an address in the senate, by President-elect Harding as a hour and a half of features. Senator Harding took his seat, answered his name when the senate roll was called and made a brief address, from the rostrum.

Receptive Annual Postmarks. Other features of the opening of third and final session of the sixty-sixth congress were receipt of annual appropriation appropriation estimates aggregating $4,653,000,000 and introduction on the house of the annual volume of bills and resolutions. Senators held up their bills until tomorrow in accordance with the custom of limiting the first day to formal convocation.

The principal business today was to arrange for the transmission of a message of President Wilson's opening message. A joint committee called upon the president at the White House and the latter receiving them in the blue room, told them he would have a copy forwarded to them. He did not state whether he would send or read his message, but it was understood that the former course would be pursued.

New Members Sworn In.

The senate was sworn in 25 minutes and the house, notwithstanding its increased roll call, was sworn in less than half an hour. New members elected last November to fill vacancies were sworn in and adjournment taken until noon tomorrow, when both bodies plan, after receiving the president's message, to proceed to the regular session.

As usual the senate session proceeded with dignified calm and the house with boisterous confusion. The latter's roll call was taken amid a couple of minutes of returning members' conversation of members and spectators. Galleries of both houses were jammed and thousands of persons stood in the halls to catch glimpses and hear the proceedings. About the capital, conferences of party leaders, card dinners, parties and surging crowds in the corridors furnished other opening session atmosphere.

Immigration Bill Today.

The program for tomorrow's inauguration of actual work called for debate in the senate on the bill for federal regulation of the meat industry, and for the launching of immigration restriction legislation in the house. The immigration committee tomorrow will consider a rule for its immediate consideration, under limitation of debate.

More than 350 new bills and resolutions were dropped into the house by the speaker today and a flood of similar propositions is expected tomorrow in the senate. The new house measure dealt with almost every conceivable subject, including proposals for repeal of war laws, for appropriations of millions of dollars for a variety of purposes, pensions and many measures for American relief.

Will Take Up Measures.

Committees of both senate and house are to begin work immediately on the measures left on their desks from previous sessions. Call for committee meetings this week were issued by the chairman today, but leaders said that the regular appropriations bills would have the right-of-way. They added that it is probable that the "big" bill, a bill for the relief of the "war" debt, will be considered of other legislation would be "recessed" in all of the week.

WILL DISCUSS HOW TO GROW BETTER CROPS

Many Features of Interest to Farmers of State Will Come Up at Nampa Seed Show.

BOISE, Ind.—How to grow better crops, how to water them and how to soil them at that time. The program for five days at Nampa, January 10 to 14, at the time of the state seed show, was announced here by C. B. Ahlson, chairman of the program committee for the joint conference that will be held at that time. The program for the week was outlined at a meeting of representatives of the organizations that will participate.

Each of the co-operating societies will have one day for its main program, but may hold its sessions as much longer as it may desire, according to decision of the committee. Chief speakers will appear, however, on the days allotted, so that all of them may be heard by anyone attending the meetings. The general sessions, it was announced, will be open to the public.

Days allotted to the respective organizations were as follows: Idaho state Chapter, American Association of Engineers, Monday. Idaho Irrigation Congress, Tuesday. Idaho Seedgrowers' association, Wednesday.

Idaho State Drymen's association, Thursday. Farm Bureau Junior club, Friday forenoon.

Sales of the Idaho Duroc Jersey Breeders' association, Friday afternoon.

The seed show, which will be a major attraction of the conference, will be open throughout the week. This show, according to Mr. Ahlson, who is a field agent for the seed growers' organization, will be the largest ever held in the state.

"There are to date more entries on hand," he said, "than have been displayed at any previous seed show. Project leaders and county agents from the respective counties of the state will be present.

"Marketing is to be the big feature of the entire program. This problem is commanding increased attention in every state and sooner or later it will affect every county in this state."

Progress of the state and national farm bureaus toward working out a system of marketing farm products will be discussed in particular at the seed growers' conference by S. L. Strivings, vice president of the American Farm Bureau Federation. Mr. Ahlson announced. Other speakers before the seed growers will be John J. Corland, editor of the "The American Seedman," Chicago, and Governor John L. Caldwell of the federal reserve bank of San Francisco.

Governor D. W. Davis, it was announced, will address the entire conference at a joint session. President A. H. Epphan of the University of Idaho, also has been invited to take a place on the program.

Utilization of water in the Snake river, with particular reference to the construction of the proposed Twin Falls dam, will be discussed before the irrigation men by P. A. Banks and Harry Dibble, engineers. The irrigation men will make a trip, Tuesday, to Lake Lowell south of Nampa.

H. W. Morrison, of Morrison & Knudson, contractors, will be one of the principal speakers on the engineering program.

M. C. Johnson, of the national dairy council and C. V. Carlin, of the western dairy division of the United States department of agriculture, will address the dairy association.

More detailed programs of the several organizations, with names of speakers, were promised, on behalf of the program committee, as they are worked out.

FUTURE CABINET OFFICERS CAUSE OF SPECULATION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—Speculation about the possible cabinet selections of the incoming cabinet members was set into motion definite lines today by consultation between President-elect Harding and leaders of his party in and out of congress.

Three names which stood in the foreground tonight among the many discussed as possible cabinet members were those of John W. Weeks of Massachusetts, for secretary of the navy, Will H. Hays of Indiana, republican national chairman, for postmaster general, and Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio, the Harding pre-convention manager, for attorney general.

Regarding the other places in the new official family, gossip was less definite and the list of possibilities was widened rather than narrowed by today's developments.

That no formal officers had been made was emphasized by Mr. Harding himself tonight, as the only comment he was willing to make on reported selections or on his discussion of the subject with republican leaders.

"No place has been offered to anyone," the president-elect said. "Beyond that I can only reply to questions about cabinet with a sweeping assurance that I have nothing to say."

Mr. Hays, Mr. Daugherty and Mr. Weeks all were present at today's conferences with Mr. Harding on this and other subjects. Through the campaign these three were among Mr. Harding's closest advisors on questions of policy, all having been members of the republican campaign committee.

Another close friend of President-elect Harding who took part in the conferences was former Senator George Sutherland of Utah. Herebefore his name also has been associated with cabinet gossip, but today the impression gained ground that he would prefer some other appointment, either in the diplomatic service or to the supreme court.

NATION AT WAR WITH DISEASE AT SEAPORTS

Swarming Host from Mague Spots of Europe Threaten American Life and Health.

By H. S. CUMMING, Surgeon General, U. S. Public Health Service.

Sixty-nine thousand five hundred and nine fresh soldiers of strength (the defense of the U. S. Public Health Service against the entry of disease now epidemic in Europe developed in October, nearly as many and developed in September and many more developed in November. Sixty-nine thousand five hundred and nine is the estimated number of alien immigrants who entered the United States through the port of New York in October; practically all of them coming from Europe and half of them from Italy and east-Mediterranean ports and from Poland and northeast European ports.

Unofficial but reliable accounts say that literally millions from the same areas are desperately seeking to come to this country, and that the numbers that actually will come are limited only to the shipping facilities. The flood is held slightly in check at present by the fact that we are still at war with Germany; that Poland and contiguous countries are trying to ward their men for military reasons; and that Russia is still "off the map."

A very large part of these immigrants, actual and would-be, are of very low grade, stunted by years of poverty and by war and famine, and come from sections where bubonic plague, typhus, small-pox or cholera are more or less epidemic.

The U. S. Public Health Service holds two lines against the importation of disease by these immigrants. The first is at the port of embarkation in Europe and the second at the port of debarkation in the United States. Both lines are held by thoroughly efficient surgeons and other experts, and are entirely adequate to withstand any ordinary attack.

The thing is, then, to keep the disease germs out of the country. To do this the U. S. Public Health Service officers at foreign ports quarantine diseased vessels and otherwise deal with the would-be immigrants; at domestic ports other service officers meet the ships at quarantine and sift out and hold for observation immi-

WITNESSES TELL OF SHOOTING OF LOCAL RANCHER

Trial of Ramseyer Resumed in District Court—Eye witnesses to Dispute Recite Details.

The trial of H. F. Ramseyer on the charge of murdering John Abel was resumed in the district court yesterday morning. Hildrey Abel, son of the slain man, and Oscar Heteri, both eyewitnesses to the shooting, being placed on the stand.

The testimony of the two formed a complete story of the tragedy, Abel declaring that he went to his father's house for supper the night on which it occurred, and that after the evening meal was over, he and his father, with Oscar Heteri, the hired man, went to the fragrant headgate where the crime was enacted.

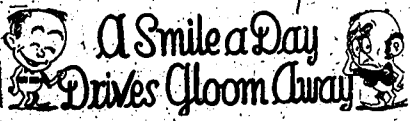

Pledging together the testimony of the two, which indicated in many particulars, the evidence showed that they proceeded along the bank of Ramseyer's ditch until they reached the checkbook which contained three guns, two going to Ramseyer's property and one to that of Abel, Lyons and Hawkins. Here John Abel, the slain man, found a six-inch checkbook where there should have been the two-inch checkbook which the ditch rider testified he had placed there the day before.

Sloan's Liniment

I wandered down a road today—a common country road. And hopping down the country road I saw an ugly toad. He had a lot of warts and things and glassy goggle eyes. In fact I think for ugliness he win most any prize.

I looked at him and as I looked he winked his eye at me. It wasn't just an accident as far as I could see. He meant to wink and so I stopped to see what he would do, and while I thought, "You silly fool, this toad can't talk to you."

"What would you have, my good toad friend?" said I as he hopped up. "Perchance you'd have me find for you a bug on which to sup?" Again he winked, but-passed me up as I stood standing there. Disdainful quite he had the air of any millionaire.

"Aha," said I, "I get it now. I've wasted all this time. This toad is like a lot of folks who haven't got a dime. They wink at you as though they had a secret for your ears, and when you question them you find their mystery is bunk."

ure with Abel, this statement being followed by some talk about putting up a bet, but which was not done. Ramseyer then told John Abel, according to witnesses, not to remove the six inch checkbook, and Abel made "five done that already." The defendant then declared that he himself would put it back again, and Abel then told him to come up and put the checkbook in at that point. Nothing was done, however, about making this change at that time, except that Ramseyer told Abel, states the witness that he would put the six inch board in before he went to bed that night, Abel replying that he would stay up all night and see that he did not.

Witness declared that Ramseyer here made the statement: "Don't forget, Abel, that you're going to take water through my place all summer," and Abel said, "I know that," the defendant then told Abel that he could shut his water off in 48 hours. Abel making the rejoinder, "go ahead and do it," according to the witness.

Ramseyer was said to have been shouting "I shut your water off last fall, just as I shut your horse up last fall," and Abel, with an oath, threatened to knock his head off. At this point, the defendant, according to the witnesses, who had been sitting on the fence, said "if you're going to do it, do it in the direction of the other three men and instructed them to go to the road. The two boys testified that they got out of range without losing any time, but that Abel stood still, while Ramseyer backed across the fence with the gun still pointed at them.

When Ramseyer crossed the fence, Abel started towards him and the defendant said: "You cross that ditch and I'll drop you," declared the witness. Abel replied that he did not have the nerve to shoot the gun, accompanying the declaration with an oath, and stepped across the ditch, Ramseyer being and the latter striking Abel in the leg. Immediately following the shooting, Abel was taken to Filer where he was attended by Dr. F. H. Dwight.

The testimony was made to bring

IDARO SHIPPERS SEEK EMERGENCY RATE ON FREIGHT

Concurred Action Taken by Hay Growers and Shippers of State to Get Lower Rate

Concurred action is being taken by all hay growers and shippers throughout southern Idaho to obtain an emergency freight rate whereby their product may be shipped to eastern points, and the commercial clubs, bankers and farm bureaus are urging the officials of the Oregon Short Line and the Union Pacific system to request the Interstate Commerce Commission to allow them to put this rate into effect.

The following resolutions were passed yesterday by the agricultural bureau of the local chamber of commerce:

Whereas, we recognize the impossibility of marketing Idaho hay in eastern markets under present rate conditions and as a result that our hay will not be sold, therefore

Be It Resolved, that immediate request be made for prompt reduction in the present hay rate to $10 a ton for Missouri points and $12 a ton for Chicago as emergency rates which will make possible the marketing of Idaho hay in eastern markets.

but the fact that Abel had no weapon of any kind and that his hands were empty when he crossed the ditch, the bringing showed that he had brought with him having been left leaning on the checkbook, and that Abel, Lyons and Elmas had preferred water turned into the lateral from coulee No. 46, but that prior to the trouble Ramseyer had not done so.

A. S. Goss, the ditch rider, also was called to the stand, testifying that Abel, Lyons and Elmas had preferred water turned into the lateral from coulee No. 46, but that prior to the trouble Ramseyer had not done so.

The trial will be resumed this morning at 9:30.

WILL DELAY START OF BASKETBALL SEASON

The start of the basket ball season will be delayed for about a week, according to Coach Clinton to order to allow the players, most of whom the members of the first-hill squad, to recover from their strenuous efforts of the past few weeks.

Three regular members of the team which was last year runner-up for the state championship, will be back this year, including Captain Ward Carter, and Bob Putzier and Clarence Taylor, guards. Both forwards will be lost to the team, one through graduation, while Newman is ineligible because of the non-participation in any one sport to four years.

Although nothing definite is known as to the coach's plans, it is thought very probable that Taylor, who has displayed a great deal of aptitude for shooting baskets in the past, will be shifted to forward. Carter, of course, will remain at center, the position he played last year in such splendid style as to win himself a berth on the all-state team, with Putzier holding down one guard position.

Among the first string substitutes last year, Yochem, Heris and Dimes will be available. All probably the former will capture a place as one of the regular forwards, while the latter two will fight it out for the remaining position at guard.

ARRAIGNED FOR LARCENY.

Charged with grand larceny, L. W. Stevens was yesterday arraigned to the probate court and entering a plea of not guilty, was held under $2000 bond. The partition change lodged against Stevens is that of stealing an automobile belonging to J. C. Claborn.

COMMITTED TO ASYLUM.

The hearing in the case of Paul Jones was conducted in the probate court yesterday by Harry Bonett, special assistant prosecuting attorney, and being found insane, Jones was committed the state asylum at Blackfoot. The complaint was preferred by the movement of the 1920 and that the officials of the Oregon Short Line and the Union Pacific the Interstate Commerce commission and the Public Utilities commission of Idaho be requested to see that this rate becomes operative at once. That the request be outlined as follows: "Urgent need that freight rates on Idaho hay of $10 to Missouri river points and $12 to Chicago be immediately allowed. Good effect will be immediate and for reaching."

CONGRESS TO AID HARDING PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—First aim of republican cabinet members in carrying out the party pledges for more business-like and economical administration of government departments will be realized by the short session of congress.

A congressional inquiry will be authorized into the present organization and methods of the executive branches. The findings of the investigators will serve as a guide for the Harding cabinet members, pointing out what can be done in each department and bureau to eliminate duplication, delay and overlapping.

Each cabinet member will have ready to hand, an outline of what he may do, without waiting for any further legislation, to give republican executive a running start.

The investigation will also furnish data in the present hay rate to $10 a ton for Missouri points and $12 a ton for Chicago as emergency rates which will make possible the marketing of Idaho hay in eastern markets.

at a special session of the new congress, probably early in April. A budget bill is slated to put national finances on a more sound and business-like footing.

THREE ARE FINED FOR DRUNKENNESS

John Doe, W. K. Madden and F. H. Cline, were yesterday fined 50 apiece and $7.50 costs by Police Judge W. A. Minnick for drunkenness, and not having sufficient funds, were granted 30 days in which to earn the money. One of the defendants put up the plea that the family for which he was working was suffering with the smallpox and that in order to avoid contracting the malady, he imbibed freely of toddy. This is a no viverrage. Hitherto, untreated, as far as the police records in Twin Falls show. The other two parties are declared to have possession of hard cider, sweet cider, Vanilla extract and other articles of liquid refreshment.

THE ultimate mileage of White Trucks is still unmeasured. Some have rounded out 300,000 miles. Many have run 200,000 miles. Hundreds, probably thousands, have passed the 100,000 mark—a very common White performance. They roll up mileage years after the best ordinary truck is worn out.

In the long run, White Trucks involve less investment. Fewer units are required to do the work. They put off the day when new trucks replace them. Operating and maintenance costs are also lowered by the steady volume of performance which makes possible these high mileage records.

Write for booklet "100,000 Miles and More," giving owners' records of 100,000, 200,000, 300,000 miles made by White Trucks.

MENTAL LOAFING. Whenever you read about an old man who doesn't look or act his years, he is usually quoted as saying something like this: "I have kept young by keeping my mind at work."

Likewise, other men, retiring from business, discover themselves growing old as soon as their minds are released from their accustomed exercise. Any young person can study in himself and enervating physical loafing. And there is nothing more admitting to the system than sustained, purposeful use of the mind.

The Chinese philosopher, Confucius, when asked how he had managed to grow old so gracefully replied that "in his eager pursuit of knowledge he did not even perceive that old age was coming on." The mind was too busy with healthy thinking to brood over the approach of age, the fear of which haunts the thoughts and arrests the energies of many men.

And Cleo, the Roman, in a treatise on old age wrote, "I had rather be an old man a somewhat shorter time than an old man before my time." And to that end he "kept his mind at full stretch, like a bow, and never gave in to old age's growing slack." To keep his memory in working condition he would repeat at night all he had said or heard during the day. In his old age he supported his son, ergo "by my intellectual and not by my forces. He was an old man as always living in the midst of these (mental) labors does not perceive when old age creeps upon him."

These thoughts are commended to the attention of men who perceive themselves growing old and to young men who feel themselves growing slack. The mind is the engine of the system. Keep it tuned up.

MRS. WILSON ENTERTAINS MRS. HARDING AT TEA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—For the first time, within the memory of the oldest aide of the White House a first lady of the land entertained a next first lady of the land.

Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, wife of the president-elect, was the guest of Mrs. Edith Gilling Wilson, widow of the president at the White House tea for two at the executive mansion late this afternoon. Mrs. Wilson met her guest in the front hall and escorted her to the blue room where tea was served.

After Mrs. Wilson and Mrs. Harding had chatted for a while and talked about the White House through the green and red rooms and the attic dining room over which Mrs. Harding will be called upon to preside after next March fourth.

Mrs. Harding prepared to depart with good wishes on her way to her hostess and had progressed as far as the front doorway when Mrs. Wilson suddenly recalling details of the White House household organization, which she had forgotten to impart, invited her back and they withdrew to the blue room again where they talked for another 20 minutes.

Upon leaving the White House Mrs. Harding remarked that she had had "a very pleasant visit. Indeed" but she asked to be excused from answering any questions as to her visit. This was her first meeting with Mrs. Wilson and her first visit to the White House.

Mrs. Harding had a busy day in Washington, she went to the capitol in the morning and was in the gallery at the opening session of the senate. She had lunch at the capitol restaurant with her Washington hostess, Mrs. E. B. McLean, and Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Sawyer. As Mrs. Harding was leaving the lunch room she met Mrs. Marshall wife of the vice president and immediately as old friends they embraced.

Mrs. Wilson's invitation to have tea at the White House was received by Mrs. Harding in the forenoon and she immediately accepted. Before going to the executive mansion she called on a number of friends in Washington.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Dr. Carlton Blinn, recently appointed deputy police commissioner with command of anti-narcotic forces today

He said he had asked police commissioner Baruch for more detectives to ferret out these lawbreakers. Evidence, he said, was unscrupled when $50,000 worth of heroin, morphine and cocaine was seized last Friday in rooms opposite the old police headquarters.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

THIS PREACHER FEEDS BODY AS WELL AS SOUL

Rev. Emil Burk Has Plan to Nourish Bodily Needs of Flock As Well As Spiritual.

CHICAGO.—Feeding the body as well as the soul is the new task of Rev. Emil Burk. He's running a church and a restaurant. During two services Sunday and two nightly meetings he took the pastor-restaurant idea to the congregation. He put that and the new rest of the time, at his cafe-r-down town he helps his patrons reduce the high cost of living.

Used to lean that, before he felt the call to the ministry he was a chef and restaurant manager. He put that and the new pastor of the Auburn Park neighborhood. Miss Margaret B. "Gentlemen, Be Seated"

HAS EYE ONLY FOR DEFECTS

Chronicle "Knacker" Blind to Any Good Qualities Prominent in Either Friend or Enemy. "The knacker is a common wild animal you have all met. He is known by the hard look which he makes all the time, which sounds like the stroke of a hammer on an anvil. I never knew of a place which did not have at least one confirmed knacker. One I met today was more blind than the rest. The knacker seems to be afraid of being found out. He should ever be caught saying something good about a person. He knocks the folks he works with. If you mention a good thing about a man, he is always ready with his "yes but—" and then he starts in with a long string of defects to offset the good qualities.

This animal has very keen eyes when he is looking for defects, but for some qualities he is more blind. In this case out of ten he is cynical or pessimistic and when one has a feeling of inferiority, it is much easier to "run down" other people than to lift one's self up.

Most men do it who do not mean to do the harm they cause, but it is a habit they easily get into, and it not only does harm to other people, but it also a man himself of the pleasure he gets out of the good things in their lives. "An astronomer had been looking through a telescope at the sun for several hours one day, when someone said to him, "What a fine day we have had." "I really hadn't noticed it," he answered. "I've been looking for the spots in the sun." A fine messes all the good things when he is on the outlook for spots. H. B. Luceok in "Five Minute Story Talks."

AMERICAN OF CLEAR VISION

John Willis Griffiths Revolutionized the Science of Merchandise Shipment and Naval Architecture.

John Willis Griffiths was the man who revolutionized the science of merchandise shipment and naval architecture. In 1841 he appeared before the American Institute in New York and proposed a model for a new ship. He succeeded in interesting William Astor, one of New York's China trade princes, who then signed a contract to build a ship of 750 tons according to Griffiths' design. The ship was completed in January, 1845, and named the Rainbow. The Rainbow sailed for China in February and was back home again in September to reward her owners with 200 per cent over what she had cost.

John Willis Griffiths was born in New York in 1800, and died there in 1882. He was the inventor of the first shipping and naval architecture of the United States steamship. Invention, the first twin screw ocean-going vessel, and was the inventor of the process of bending, ship timbers in vacuum. In 1851 he published a treatise on naval architecture which attracted comparatively little attention in this country, but his merits were recognized in England, and he became a lecturer in Edinburgh university on a naval architecture.

SHOT AT MAN'S HEAD BUT AIMED TOO LOW

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 6.—Andrew Merlo attempted to shoot the hat from the head of Amado, Glorioso yesterday on a wager that he could do so without hurting the man, but aimed too low, the police said. He told them tonight, the statement was regarded, as clearing up circumstances of the finding of Glorioso's body seated at a café table.

Sheep-Raising Old Industry.

Sheep raising is perhaps the oldest of all industries, for it was practiced even before agriculture. Wool is a product of cultivation or domestication of these are so well adapted which closely resemble the wool-bearing sheep. Floyd W. Parsons, in the Saturday Evening Post, says that with the discovery that cloth could be made from wool came an effort to improve the fleece by selection and breeding. The early Romans were most successful in this pursuit, and their endeavors along this line resulted in developing a breed of great fineness. After the conquest of the Iberian peninsula, Roman sheep were introduced into Spain, where they so greatly improved the native flocks that even during Roman supremacy Spanish wool led the world's markets, a prestige held for many centuries.

Dinner for Dyspeptics.

Sir Henry Holland, the late Lord Knutsford's father, gave what is not too common—a really pleasant piece of medical advice. He recommended his dyspeptic patients to go out to dinner and eat good dishes. Herbert Spencer, one of the recipients of this advice, found it to a considerable extent justified. The effects of agreeable emotions are often surprising, says the veteran dinaritan philosopher. "I have had many experiences of the fact that dyspepsia, so far from being necessarily exacerbated by dining out, may even be cured, notwithstanding many digestive imperfections. In the social surroundings are such as to yield great pleasure."—London Chronicle.

Bird Eats 1,000 Bugs.

A cliff swallow will eat a thousand beetles, mosquitoes, wheat-midges or other insects in a day and therefore is to be cherished, says the American Forestry association of Washington. This bird is also known as the cave swallow because it plasters its nest on the outside of a barn or other building up under the eaves. Colonies of several thousand will build their nests together on the side of a cliff. These nests shaped like a flattened bowl or water bottle are made of bits of clay rolled into pellets and lined with straw or feathers. This bird winters in the tropics.

The law is supreme and the law is plain, he declared. "Use of wine in holiday mince pies and use of wine in Christmas mince and other cakes is strictly prohibited."

ASSEMBLY DELEGATES WON TO FRENCH VIEW

By H. N. Ricker.
(N. E. Staff Correspondent.)
GENEVA, Switzerland.—The question of the admission of Germany to the League of Nations will not be brought up for serious discussion at this session of the assembly. Undoubtedly there are enough nations favoring Germany's admission to guarantee the necessary two-thirds vote at some future meeting. It is Germany which has given effective guarantees of its sincere intention to observe its international obligations.

The delegates from many of the smaller nations more or less friendly to Germany were inclined early in this session to force the issue of Germany's admission to this result. The French delegation under the aggressive leadership of Viefian has bitterly opposed this suggestion, both in and out of the meetings, and has succeeded in carrying enough delegates to win its point.

Two Sections of Treaty VIII on which the French pointed out that the question of Germany's admission to the league was affected by two sections of the treaty.

The first section (Part I, Article 1, Paragraph 2) of the League covenant: "Any fully self-governing state, dominant or colony not named in the Annex may become a member of the league if its admission is agreed to by two-thirds of the assembly, provided that it shall give effective guarantees of its sincere intention to observe its international obligations, and shall accept such regulations as may be prescribed by the league in regard to its military, naval and air forces and armaments."

"The second section (Part 8, Article 23) of the treaty: "The amount of the above damage for which compensation is to be made by Germany shall be determined by an inter-allied commission, to be called the Reparation Commission, and constituted in the form and with the powers set forth hereunder and in the Annexes II to VII inclusive hereto. This commission shall consider the claims and give to the German government a just opportunity to be heard. The findings of the commission as to the amount of damage shall be binding on the German government."

LEAGUE LAYS FOUNDATION FOR ARMAMENT REDUCTION

By MILTON BLOOMER (European Manager N. E. A.)
GENEVA, Switzerland.—Britain, Sweden's first socialist premier and now head of that nation's delegation to the league assembly, believes we reduce armaments we likewise reduce danger of wars, for military men are always tempted to try to actual warfare the machine they have built. "The abolition of armaments can't be done by a stroke of the pen, but the big thing is that loss of armaments we are making a beginning. We are planning the best new future method of the assembly will see the beginning of the harvest that will be bringing to the world."
Cautious America.
"We are making a word of warning to the United States not to expect too much of the assembly at the league of the start."
"The millionth," he said, "will not be brought about in a day, week or year."
Heating started life as an amateur, but gave that up for newspaper work, devoting himself to the struggle for the betterment of the masses of his country.
When we talked his room was filled with a number of roses sent in honor of his sixtieth birthday. The table was piled with congratulatory telegrams, not only from Scandinavia, but from all parts of the world, including many from Scandinavians in the United States. He was a man of many parts.
"The League of Nations is the best hope of mankind for better things, and the assembly can do much to bring this hope to fulfillment."
"More democratic than the council, it more nearly represents the aspirations of the plain people of all nations. The assembly itself can study the pressing question of reduction of armaments and bring the matter to the attention of the nations."

BOOZE WOULD LAST 36 DAYS AT OLD RATE

WASHINGTON.—If the liquor bonded warehouses was put on the market, it would last only 36 days if Americans should drink at their old rate. The bonded warehouses would be worth $100,000,000. Many of the banks hold liquor warehouse certificates as collateral for loans. There is probably less than $50,000,000 loaned on these certificates. If they were redeemed the money paid into the banks would relieve the present money stringency.

DUBLIN, Dec. 6.—Auxiliary police raided the Dublin city hall today and arrested six members of the corporation. The arrests were made during a meeting of the corporation and included the Sinn Fein members of the house of commons, Michael Staines one member and four councillors.

There have been few seasons in this state in which better individual players have been developed than the one just closed, making the selection of a mythical team a matter of greater difficulty than is usually the case, and a task that has been approached only with great fear and in great trepidation.

The selection here given forms one of the strongest all-star teams ever gotten together in Idaho, one of the finest, one of the best, and one of the most brilliant. With a team of 156 pounds to the man, the line averaging 185 and the backfield 165—there is no lack of beef and brawn, despite which fact there is an unusual amount, also, of speed, dash and aggressiveness.

Past Charging Line.
A sturdy, fast charging line, equally adept at opening up holes and blocking, a speedy pair of ends to get down under the kicks and to pull down forward passes and a brilliant quartet of heavy, fast backs who can wrangle up the strongest opposing line, rest of long runs around the ends and dash off tackle, the make-up of this team would be hard to improve upon, including as it does one star kicker and forward passer, with four other men who are at least up to the average in both of these essential departments.

Denton Great Hoop Center.
Good centers are scarce in this year than men for any other position on the team, and as a matter of fact there was not a single player who nearly approached the high standards set by the players in other positions. Denton, of Twin Falls, however, appears to be a more brash player and one to have the edge on his rivals, mainly because of his great ability in playing roving center, at which he has no superior in the state today and it is because of his qualifications as a roving center that he is given the call. Playing loose in the Idaho Falls game, it was his work, possibly more than that of any other man, that was responsible for the winning of the state championship by Twin Falls.

A steady and reliable passer, McGuire of Idaho Falls, is picked for the second team, and so far as this department goes there is no doubt that he exceeds Denton, whose poor passing at the beginning of the season was responsible for many of the numerous defeats by Twin Falls backs. In the connection, however, it must be borne in mind that Denton worked under much greater difficulties than did McGuire, as Twin Falls employs the direct pass on every play. McGuire of Rupert was another center a little above the average of the year.

Irwin and Putzler Good.
Really powerful guards were scarcely more numerous than efficient centers, but in Irwin and Putzler we have two sterling men who stand head and shoulders above the rank and file, and whose work in the middle of the line was in no small measure responsible for the success of the Twin Falls aggregation. Putzler was undoubtedly the most powerful man for his position turned out at any institution in the state, his work on both offense and defense being almost unbeatable while he also proved unusually efficient at receiving forward passes.

Irwin, while not as powerful as Putzler, was a more brash player and one that is very adept at opening up wide holes for the backs to sally through. Success, of both Fultz and Anderson of Rupert are picked as the next best.

Quinn and McAtee Tackles.

Among the tackles, Quinn, the Boise captain, and McAtee of Twin Falls, showed the best form and are chosen for the first team, although both Holden and Baker of Idaho Falls gave them a rub for the places. Playing in a line badly weak, Quinn was a tower of strength throughout the season, his defensive work being particularly noteworthy, while Holden is equally good when the ball is in the possession of his own team or of their opponents. McAtee, handicapped by being greatly outweighed in every encounter, put up a great exhibition throughout the season, his aggressiveness and speed making him a most valuable man. Baker, always reliable and dependable, would have stood a much better chance to oust one of the first string men had he not been injured toward the close of the season. Those of Rupert, and Carter of Twin Falls, are other tackles who deserve mention.

Many Good Ends.
Good ends were thickly sprinkled all over the state, but the work of Epler of Twin Falls and Bucklin of Idaho Falls, entitles them to the undisputed possession of first team berth. Epler is best hard tack and a splendid flanker, while as well as a receiver of forward passes, he has no superiors. Bucklin, weighing 165 pounds, was the fastest, most versatile end-of-the-year, being frequently seen back to back with the best end to kick. That it is not been for his work, in not being able to hold forward passes, Taylor of Twin Falls, would have been one of those to win a first team berth, as he is a terror at breaking up in forward, as well as at going in to adding his own backs to advance the ball. Lambson of Boise, lost his best opportunity to get into the select class when he was injured early in the Boise-Twin Falls game, but his work in the contest with Naama left nothing to be desired in the way of speed and the ability to snag a pass in mid-air. Brickmarrin of Rupert, Ambrose of Buhl, and Thompson of Idaho Falls, are other good men for the wing position.

Newman for Quarterback.
There was a wealth of backfield material displayed during the past season, but the two outstanding figures were Newman of Twin Falls and Stephens of Blackfoot. Newman is selected for the quarterback position because of his general all-around football ability. In addition to which he proved himself to be a splendid field general, running off his legs in a quick, snappy fashion and giving his men to the limit all of the time. This back can hit the line hard, but is not afraid to start the end, but is at his best when running through a broken field, as several runs of 60 yards and one of 80, after receiving punts, will attest. With Newman in the backfield the mythical eleven would be a thoroughly sure of kicking each goal after touchdown as the star unless only one goal in 67 attempts.

Stephens Great Kicker.
Handicapped by playing on a miserably weak team, Stephens played to be a whirlwind, and although it accomplished little during the season, he certainly showed over here brilliant outside of tackle. His greatest asset, however, lies in his phenomenal kicking ability. The Blackfoot boy consistently punted close to 50 yards even though forced to take up his kicking position 15 yards back of his center in order to avoid his opponent forwards who filtered through his own line almost at will and despite this fact he had only two punts blocked during the entire season. His 57 yard drop kick counted the only score made by his team against Idaho Falls, and standing in the snow in the Pocatello game, he booted one over from the 50 yard line. Passing is also his forte, to yards being about the limit of his range, while he is often seen with unusual accuracy for either long or short distances. As a defensive back he has no superiors in the state and few anywhere else.

Fix, the brilliant little Twin Falls half-back is chosen as the running mate for Stephens. This player actually made as much or more yards than Newman during the entire season, while the number of kicks is not taken into consideration. His speed in driving the ends or kicking back off tackle, made him an extremely valuable man, while his ability to break up passes was very unusual.

Hansen for Fullback.
In Hansen we have a powerful, plumpish fullback, whose built-up lines are practically irresistible and whose work was the main reliance of the Rupert team. Tipping the scales as he does at 182 pounds, combining this weight with speed and agility, Hansen is a man much smaller, he makes an ideal fullback and rounds out a really great backfield in splendid shape.

Other backs whose work is worthy of mention, are Herz, the Idaho Falls captain; Herz of Twin Falls, a player whose work stood out strongly throughout the year, despite his slight physique; McAtee, the diminutive Boise quarterback whose work as a safety man was particularly noteworthy; Black of Pocatello, a hard runner and a fast man; Yochem of Twin Falls, Betty of Rupert, Payne of Idaho Falls and Hodgins of Gooding.

Archie Geas of Idaho Falls, while not the best, is undoubtedly the newest star who participated in a game last season. This boy played a full 15 minute quarter in the game against American Falls with a broken shoulder bone. He carried the ball, downed the man every time, and he only quit when the coach discovered his injury between halves and took him out.

COLUMBIA, O.—E. H. Kinney, who has earned the title "The Marriage Squire," gets up any time of night for a ceremony. He was called out of bed last week at midnight to unite John Hartman, Indianapolis lawyer, and his stenographer, Miss Laura Ginsword. During 50 years of service as a magistrate, Kinney has performed more than 2,000 ceremonies.

PLAYERS ELECT FIX CAPTAIN OF TEAM FOR YEAR

Brilliant Half Back Chosen to Lead Football Men Next Season; Players Will Graduate

The new captain of the Twin Falls high school football eleven for the coming year will be Clifford Fix, following an election held by members of the team at the high school yesterday. The vote was unanimous in his favor.

It is thought that Fix will make a splendid captain, having the qualities of leadership and personality which inspire confidence amongst his followers, and without which any leader is doomed to failure before he starts.

In addition to these qualifications Fix proved himself during the past season to be one of the best half backs in the state and as far as actual ground gaining is concerned, not including the runbacks of kicks, he concerned, he gave "Speed" Newman a mighty close race for the honors.

Practically the entire team will be lost through graduation this year, only two of the regular first string men being back in 1921. Captain Fix and Bob Putzler, the star guard. Among the substitutes, Bob Nicholson and Leonard and Craven Scott are being counted on heavily to form the nucleus of the entirely new eleven which Coach Evans will build for the next season.

COCHRAN BEATS SCHAEFER IN OPENING SESSION

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—Walter Cochran of San Francisco, defeated Jake Schaefer of San Francisco 400 to 338, in the opening game this afternoon of the final round of the national professional 18.2 bank line billiards tournament. The victory gave Cochran the right to meet Willie Hoppe, title holder, in tonight's contest.

Cochran played the more consistent game although several high runs ended through failure to get the balls out of bank. His opponent was forced frequently to resort to Masse shots. Schaefer's high run of 32 was the best of the game.

LACK OF SPACE IN LIBRARY IS BIG HANDICAP

President of Library Board Tells Council of Deporable Condition Due to Growth

Appearing at the meeting of the city council last night, Mrs. Sharon E. Morse told of the deplorable condition that now confronts the library board in its attempt to find a permanent space to take care of the needs of the children who are clamoring for service.

Mrs. Morse, who is president of the library board, declared that the use of the library has far outgrown the building in which it is housed, and that the present room for the use of the children has become congested between the hours of three and six in the afternoon that the librarians are forced to give them books they desire and to send them to some other place to read.

The ordinance prescribing the form of bonds to be issued covering the $75,000 and $20,000 issues was read and passed, providing among other things for the establishment of a sinking fund for taking up the securities at their expiration in 20 years.

Action was taken looking toward full service by the power company for the street lighting charges, several complaints having been made that many of the lights were not functioning properly.

Local garbage contractors again came in for a brief consideration, upon this alleged refusal to remove empty cans from the Colonia apartments.

GOVERNMENT WINS IN LEHIGH VALLEY RAILROAD DISPUTE

Lehigh Great Anthracite Coal and Trust Cases is Won by Federal Forces

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—The Lehigh Valley railroad case, the second and last of the great anthracite coal trust cases, was won today by the government.

The supreme court, in the unanimous opinion of the seven members participating, held that the existing conditions of the railroad and its principal subsidiary companies and involving in the Sherman anti-trust act and reversing the lower court, ordered entering of a decree dissolving the combinations and redistributing its assets, bonds and properties as to make each component part in fact independent and competitive.

Specifically named in the order of dissolution were the Lehigh Valley Railroad company, the Lehigh Valley Coal company, the Lehigh Valley Coal Sales company, Coxo Brothers and company, and the Lehigh Valley Anthracite and Schuylkill Railroad company.

The court dismissed the bill so far as it named the New York and Erie Coal Field Railroad and Coal company, the G. B. Merkle company, the Girard Trust company and individual defendants, including the late George F. Buer, Daniel G. Rehr, Eden B. Thomas, Lyman B. Smith, H. W. Stebbins, G. F. Baker and other officers and directors of the defendant companies prominent in the financial and railroad world.

Justice McLean and Brandeis took no part in the consideration of the case, it was announced.

The opinion of the court, as read by Justice Clarke, sustained in unequivocal language practically every contention raised by the government in its brief. It was held that the Lehigh Valley railroad through the coal company of the same name and other subsidiaries, monopolized the production, transportation and sale of anthracite coal from mines located along its line, and that monopolization was sustained through illegal preference to the subsidiaries and that the fact that the organization of the Coal Sales company was in fact a mere device to circumvent the antitrust laws was sufficient to render the arrangement null and void.

"This history of almost 25 years," the opinion said, after reviewing the evidence submitted by the government was accepted as proving that the railroad controls 60,000 acres of anthracite lands along its line, in the limited area of anthracite producing territory, and that 95 per cent of the local tonnage moved by the railroad in 1919 was controlled by through complete dominance of the parent coal company which produced the tonnage.

FARMERS URGE ACTION TO RELIEVE INDUSTRY

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 6.—Congress was called upon today by a resolution adopted unanimously by the annual convention of the American Farm Bureau Federation to take immediate action for the relief of the farm industry, which it was said is threatened with bankruptcy from the depreciation in prices of farm products.

The resolution asked immediate relief for the extension and renewals of farmers' obligations which have been discontinued through federal reserve banks, that an embargo be placed against export of agricultural products similar to those raised in the United States, and that legislation be passed "so may be expedient to bring about active trade relations with the central European as well as other powers of Europe."
