President-Elect Seeks Aid For Officials From Parents

MUST KEEP OLD TIME HOME SPIRIT ALIVE

Senator Harding Closes Busy Day of Consultation With Prominent Visitors

MARION, O., Dec. 15.—American mothers were asked by President-elect Harding tonight to give to the nation's officials and other public servants a full measure of cooperation in educational, religious and physical training.

Keep Home Spirit Alive
Speaking before a state meeting of the Child Conservation league, Mr. Harding declared it the duty of motherhood to keep the old time home spirit alive in spite of the growing tendency to entrust the instruction of the child almost wholly to public institutions. He made a particular plea that religious training be kept within the province of the hearth, and voiced a hope for revival of religious reverence in the trying times ahead.

The president-elect also asked that the public welfare agencies of the nation be kept devoted to the expressed disapproval of the practice of the rich in withdrawing their children from the public schools and entering them in private institutions. He reaffirmed his hope that great good would be accomplished by the new public welfare department to be proposed by his administration and said he had found sentiment in and out of congress strongly supporting the plan.

Has Busy Day

The address was delivered at the Methodist Episcopal church here at the end of a busy day. Harding's busiest day since he began his consultations on an association of nations and other public problems. His callers included Raymond Robbins of Chicago, a former leader of the progressive party; Senator A. B. Fall of New Mexico; and Governor Fred Williams, a former American minister to Greece and the conferences are understood to have covered many foreign and domestic questions.

Mr. Fall came from Washington and is said to have given Mr. Harding the "real deal" on the subjects that have been talked over among the republican leaders in congress. It was indicated that cabinet selections was one of the topics discussed, and that much attention also was given to the financial situation. Mr. Fall is an expert on immediate aid to agricultural interests of the country and told Mr. Harding that unless something were done within the next three months serious destruction of food markets would occur.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—An attempt to force consideration of the Mason resolution expressing the sympathy of congress with the Irish people failed today in the house after Representative Flood, democrat, Virginia, had demanded its consideration. Representative Mann, republican, Illinois objected to consideration on the ground that the foreign affairs committee had instructed its chairman, Representative Porter of Pennsylvania, who was not on the floor at the time, to call up the resolution and that a minority member did not have that authority. Speaker Gillett upheld the objection. Further consideration is not possible until the bill is reached on the calendar.

BANDITS ROB OCCUPANTS OF NEW YORK HOTEL ROOM

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Three robbers, two of whom carried revolvers, and the third a black jack, held up Owen C. Linthwaite of Red Bank, N. J., president of the New Jersey Motor Sales Corporation, and H. L. Worley, of Newark, N. J., and their wives in Linthwaite room, on the second floor of the Hotel Astor, tonight. The men took jewelry and money. One of the robbers was caught and the jewelry recovered. The others escaped.

The three men, their faces masked with handkerchiefs, burst into the room as the party of four sat conversing. The woman had returned a few minutes previously and had been joined by their husbands in the lobby, facing Broadway. They had been in the room but a few minutes when the robbers entered.

Swinging a revolver back and forth before them, the first robber ordered the man and woman to put up their hands. "Thinking it a joke," they laughed and the order was repeated under threat of death.

While one man stood guard at the door the others ordered Mr. Linthwaite into a bathroom and Mr. Worley into a bedroom.

The robber guarding Linthwaite, pistol in one hand, went through his victim's pockets with the other and took $22. They secured $27 from Mrs. Worley and robbed Mrs. Linthwaite of her jewelry, a pendant, a bracelet, two diamonds rings and a bracelet.

Linthwaite turned on the robber who was searching him and knocked the gun from his hand. The woman screamed and the guard at the door rushed at them. The cries of the women were heard in other rooms but brought only shouts "for quiet." One of the women, failing to get a reply to her efforts to attract attention, smashed a window glass, falling into Forty-fourth street and nearly striking a policeman.

The officer heard the cries of the women and rushed into the hotel, upstairs when he discovered the two men and women struggling with one robber. The others had rushed from the room. The man arrested gave his name as Lawrence Handboe, 25, of Richmond, Va. He was charged with robbery and felonious assault.

CHINA ELECTED TO COUNCIL OF NATION LEAGUE

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Dec. 15.—China today took rank among the principal powers directing the affairs of the world through its entry into the council of the league of nations in succession to Greece. The election of China had been discounted largely since the assembly previously had adopted the recommendation of the committee on organization that another elective member be allotted to Asia.

It was doubtful up to the last moment, however, whether the members who for the last few days had been advocating Slav or Scandinavian representation would not succeed with their argument that "these [Asians] could not expect two places on the council while two important European countries were not represented at all."

The majority of the delegates, however, held to their implied promise, but the success of China was due largely to the personal strength of Dr. Wellington Koo of the Chinese delegation, who he has acquired in the assembly.

SENATE MEMBERS PROTEST AGAINST EMBASSY ACTION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Ten members of the senate, in a joint letter today asked the state department to protest to the British government against refusal of the British embassy here to issue passports for members of a committee appointed to make a first hand investigation of conditions in Ireland by the commission of the reinitiate of one hundred. Denounces If U. S. and Japan Clash This Country Would Be Most to Blame

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Denouncing what he termed "a vicious and deliberate effort to stir up racial hatred between the people of Japan and the United States" Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation, declared in an address tonight at the annual dinner of the Japan society of New York, that should the two nations clash, "the people of this country will be more to blame than the people of Japan."

Asserted that he liked and trusted the honesty and integrity of the Japanese. Mr. Gary added: "They are building navies at a fast rate, of defense against attack without reason."

Baron Shidehara, Japanese ambassador to the United States, and Roland S. Morris, Ambassador to Japan were among the guests who included many prominent American business and professional men and Japanese bankers and merchants.

"It is the desire of the great masses and particularly the leaders of Japan, for a most intimate friendship with the United States," said Mr. Gary. "The 'who' who desire to stir up trouble are not honest or fair. The majority of our people will not be influenced by that character of people."

Baron Shidehara in an address said the peace of the world depends not so much on the number of diplomatic instruments as on the spirit of good faith and good will between nations.

FORMER ENEMY STATE IS ELECTED NEW MEMBER OF LEAGUE OF NATIONS AT GENEVA ASSEMBLY WITHOUT OPPOSITION; BRINGS UP SHARP DEBATE

By the Associated Press.
GENEVA, Dec. 15.—The assembly of the league of nations elected today the first former enemy state a member of the league without opposition. The vote on the admission of Austria came after an unexpected passage of arms between Giuseppe Motia, Switzerland, and M. Viviani, representing France.

M. Motia, speaking on the report of the committee, recalled the resolution that Austria's application for admission by the peace conference, saying that Switzerland had always regretted it and that there were now three places vacant in the league, which ought to be filled by the United States, Russia, and Germany. At that point on the admission of Viviani sprang up and asked for the floor and upon the question, interrupted M. Motia's speech, in which the Swiss delegate appealed to the assembly for justice. M. Viviani mounted the tribune and launched into a fervid defense of the French viewpoint. It was soon apparent that the assembly was with him and his remarks were greeted with frequent applause. After he descended from the tribune, he received the greatest ovation of the assembly.

The voting for the admission of Austria, which immediately followed, was by a nominal roll call, the delegates being asked whether they were in favor of or against admission of Austria. The vote was 29 in favor of Austria, 29 against admission of Austria, and 29 abstentions. The four other members of the league council, chosen by the assembly were Spain, Brazil, Belgium and China. The final admission of China coming after several nations being greeted with applause.

STATEMENT IS MADE AT SENATE HEARING

President of Western Union Telegraph Company Tells of Their Plans at Inquiry

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 15.—Noting that the American government today by November 11, Carlton, president of the Western Union Telegraph company that his company intends to connect its new cable from Honolulu with its lines in the United States by means of existing cables to Cuba regardless of the opposition of President Wilson and the state department.

Committee Opens Inquiry.

Mr. Carlton's statement was made in testimony before the senate inter-state commerce sub-committee, which has before it an administration measure giving the executive department absolute control over the landing of cable lines on American soil. He was one of the four witnesses examined at the opening of an inquiry into the whole subject of cable communication and from whose testimony the committee developed among other things that the All-American Cables Inc., an American concern, is engaged with the support of the state department, in a fight against the Western Telegraph company of Great Britain, and the Western Union, in an effort to break the cable monopoly enjoyed by the British company in Brazil.

Claim Cable Monopoly.

There also was testimony that the All-American company enjoys cable monopolies in several Central and South American countries; that the international communication received once here has reached a tentative agreement that no censorship shall be imposed upon cable messages merely passed through relay points; that there is no communications between the United States and Germany except over British controlled lines; that some foreign governments are subsidizing news agencies for obtaining reports in other countries and that the Western Union plans further independent connections through American cable lines to Italy, Holland and Scandinavia.

The committee will continue its inquiry tomorrow and again next week and it plans to inquire particularly into the matter of the dissemination of American news abroad and handling of cable messages of American firms seeking foreign business. These subjects were touched upon generally by Mr. Carlton, who made suggestions from Mr. Carlton that independent cable lines be established between the United States and Japan and the United States and China for

LOCAL PROPERTY OWNERS PROTEST TAX COLLECTION

Institute Action in District Court to Restrict Treasurer's Collecting Taxes

Action was instituted in the district court yesterday by a group of local property owners, requesting an order directed to the city clerk and the county treasurer restraining them from collecting taxes assessed against their property during the pendency of an appeal in the district court.

The suit arises out of the action of the city council in assessing special improvements on lots in the center of the block. Plaintiffs were upheld in the case in the district court with Judge Harry Emslen presiding, to which the city and county took exception and appealed to the supreme court.

The complaint filed yesterday alleges that the assessment is not fair or equitable in that all the property in improvement district Nos. 34, 35 and 37 was not assessed in proportion to the benefits derived to such property by the improvements. The instrument further states that notwithstanding the decree of the district court modifying the assessment rolls insofar as they relate to the property of the plaintiffs, the city clerk, by an arbitrary and capricious exercise of official authority, has continued to certify to the county treasurer the rolls as confirmed last April.

It is further declared in the complaint that Emma L. Warren, the county treasurer and tax collector, pursuant to this action of the city clerk, has proceeded to charge the taxes in question contrary to the decree of the district court and has caused notice to be sent to the plaintiffs in the suit that she will collect the taxes. The complaint further sets forth the plea that if the city is not restrained from the collection of the taxes during the pendency of the appeal and from the certification of the rolls, numerous and vexatious suits will be instituted by the plaintiffs and that their titles will be clouded. Plaintiff is represented by Attorney Anker B. Wilson. Plaintiffs named in the complaint are T. J. Woods, W. A. Babcock, Cornelia B. Ambery, F. W. Bronaugh, S. C. Wyatt, W. A. Brown, H. B. Johnson, J. W. Graven, William G. Reed, W. R. Priebe, L. T. Wright, Wilber S. Hill, Conrad Nagel, Leonard E. Smith, Edna M. Smith, Anker B. Wilson and Harriet Wilson.

OSTEOPATH FOUND GUILTY BY JURY AT COURT HEARING

Dr. W. H. Sawyer Convicted on Charge of Practicing Medicine Without License.

A verdict of guilty was returned yesterday by the jury sitting in the case of the state vs. Dr. H. W. Sawyer, on the charge of practicing medicine without a license, thus establishing a precedent which limits the field of practice of an osteopath to minor surgery and which classifies the removal of the appendix as a major operation.

Judge W. A. Babcock refused to admit as evidence the course of study taken up in schools of osteopathy and also ruled that the questions propounded to applicants for a license to practice osteopathy were inadmissible. He ruled that under his construction of the law governing the granting of licenses to physicians and surgeons, osteopaths and chiropractors, this testimony was irrelevant and immaterial.

Dr. Sawyer took the stand and testified as to the operation upon which the charge was specifically based, stating that he had performed the operation (after diagnosing the case, which diagnosis was borne out later, and that the patient had made an uneventful recovery.

In presenting his argument to the jury, prosecuting Attorney Stephen declared that the state did not question in any particular the qualifications or ability of Dr. Sawyer to perform a surgical operation of even the most serious nature, but that it based its argument upon a strict interpretation of the law. The prosecuting attorney argued that unless there had been some intent to limit the activity, in a professional way, of the osteopath, the legislature would not have enacted two separate statutes covering the medical and the members of the newer school.

The argument put forth by the defense was that any American citizen has the right to do anything that he wants to do, so long as it is not prohibited directly by statute, declaring that this holds true especially in a state where the common law is not recognized as carrying any weight. Counsel for the defense also stated that there was not a single word in either of the laws which limited the field of practice of the osteopath, concluding that this was not the intent of the lawmakers and pointing to the limitations placed upon the practice of chiropractic by the law as substantiation.

Sentence will be pronounced Saturday morning at 1 o'clock. It is understood that the defense will appeal the case to the supreme court of the state, taking exception to the inadmissibility of the evidence, which was barred and also the court's instructions to the jury in which it is alleged the court quoted only a part of the law on osteopathy. Defendant is represented by Martin and Wade, and E. V. Larsen.

WIFE MAY CONVEY SEPARATE PROPERTY

The supreme court of Idaho Saturday held that a married woman has absolute power to dispose of her separate property and may enter into any contract with reference to it, in the same manner, to the same extent and in like effect as a married man may in relation to his real and personal property. The ruling is made in a decision on a case appealed from Kootenai county.

David and Edith F. Coolin gave a mortgage in 1907 covering property of which each owned an undivided one-seventh interest, the remaining five-sevenths being community property occupied as a residence. The mortgage was acknowledged before P. C. Shinn, the mortgage named within. He assigned it to H. Knudson, who brought suit to foreclose.

The opinion, by Justice Alfred Budge holds that the instrument is valid as against the two-sevenths interest which was separate property of the Coolins, but void as to the community property. An acknowledgment by the wife as provided by law is essential in mortgaging community property occupied as a residence, and this acknowledgment is void because taken before an officer who was party to the instrument.

BASKET BALL MEN START PRACTICE ON LOCAL FLOOR

Three Regulars Will Form Nucleus of New Team—Other Good Material Out for Practice.

Basket ball practice at the high school has been started in earnest, more than 50 candidates turning out for the initial session on Monday evening.

Three regular men will form the nucleus of the new team, including Captain Ward Carter, all state center last year, and Clarence Taylor and Bob Tuzler, guards. Newman, a regular forward during the past season, although still in school, is ineligible under the rule prohibiting more than four years participation in any one sport. Of the first string substitutes, Jake Yechem, forward, and Duane Hertz, and Bert Bailly, guards, are also available.

Although Coach Evans has reached no definite decision as to the makeup of the squad, it is very probable that Taylor will be shifted to one of the forward positions, while Yechem stands the best chance to capture the other. Hertz and Bailly will fight it out for the remaining place as guard. Practice is being held five days each week, directly following school on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays and in the evening on Mondays and Fridays.

No games have yet been definitely arranged, but several are pending and are expected to be closed soon. It is thought that the tournament which will decide the championship of the section will be held here about March.

1. following, which the winning team will go to Moscow to participate in the meet for the state title.

FATE OF NAVAL BALLOON IS STILL DEEP MYSTERY

SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Dec. 15.—Communications with various sections of the Adirondack mountains, tonight failed to throw any light on the fate of the naval balloon which left Rockaway Point, N. Y., on Monday bound for Canada, and which was last reported Tuesday night near Wells, Hamilton county.

Woodsmen' families with wild conditions believe that the balloon, unless it met with accident, probably drifted into Quebec or Ontario. Lieutenant Walter Hinton, a member of the crew of the seaplane NC-4 during its trans-Atlantic flight, and who was in charge of the balloon, is regarded as a resourceful navigator. His companions are Lieutenant S. A. Farrell and A. L. Kloor.

It is possible the men have been forced to land at a point far from human habitation. If such is the case, the three naval officers, who set out on the trip without rations, will face a hard fight against the rigors of the Adirondacks winter weather.

CASTLEFORD NEWS

Mrs. Harroes and her daughter, Mrs. Smith, were the guests of Mrs. Berry on Thursday.

Mrs. Wm. Thomas of Lethbridge, Canada, is visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mansey. She will return to her home after the holidays.

The Thomas family are very much pleased with Canada.

The question of whether Castleford schools should have a track for the rural districts was voted upon at a recent school meeting, and the decision was that one should not be purchased at this time. The sentiment of the meeting seemed to be that expenses should be held down as low as possible at present.

Miss Hazel Flynn spent the week end with Miss Manna Todd. Miss Todd had been attending school at Dubu.

Mrs. McGinnis was taken to a hospital for fear of part of the week. Her health has been failing for some time and it is thought that his service overseas, during which he was wounded, has contributed to do with it.

Mrs. Richardson sustained severe burns last Friday when she fell into a pile of hot water scalding her face and breast badly. She is reported to be much better at present and it is hoped that she will soon recover.

Frost Walters is watching about 500 head of cattle on the ranches of T. S. Flynn and Seth Weitz. The stock is looking fine at present. Pastures are good and considerable hay has been sold at a very fair price.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell You're Over Darken
Gray, Fade! Hair With Sage Hair

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that 'faded or streaked appearance,' this simple mixture was applied, with wonderful effect. By using at any drug store for 'Wynne's Sage and Sulphur Compound,' you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everywhere, 'Wynne's Sage and Sulphur Compound' is the best, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it is so easy to use too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through the hair, making one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after an other application or two it is restored to its natural color, and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Adv.

A check for $150 was received yesterday by the county clerk from the Eden National bank to pay for the filing of a chattel mortgage, the regular charge for which service is 50 cents. That official, however, with true American independence, scorned the obvious charity of the institution, using his own check protector to insure the proper amount. He declared that although he appreciated this generosity, especially at this expensive season of the year, he felt constrained to refuse, due to the fact that he considered this a "mistake attitude" on the part of the bank.

RAILROAD EFFICIENCY.

A year ago, even six months ago, there was universal criticism of the railroads. Has anyone heard any serious criticism lately? Service, passenger and freight, is improved almost everywhere. Fewer trains are behind time. There are fewer accidents. Goods are moved more promptly. There are more cars available for service where and when they are wanted. The whole system is running more smoothly.

The latest report on cars is a good index to the general efficiency prevailing. During the war the cars laid up for repair averaged 15 to 20 per cent. Now the Pennsylvania has only 3 per cent of its cars out of commission, and several other big lines make almost as good a showing. The usual average in normal times has been 5 or 6 per cent. The car situation is better than it has been since the beginning of the war.

Some of the improvement is undeniably due to the slump in business, which has eased the freight burden. But the biggest factor is the energy and intelligence with which the men running the roads have taken up the task of putting American transportation on its feet again.

Private operation, of which many citizens had become doubtful, has admittedly justified itself again. The prospect of having to fall back upon government ownership and operation is shrinking to the vanishing point, and the public rejoices accordingly. Mayhap, before long, we can cut down rates to normal.

HORSE LICENSES.

It is bound to come. Horses will yet have to have licenses, just as automobiles do. It has almost come to that now.

The International Traffic Officers' association is determined to obtain a uniform law that will require the owner of every horse-drawn vehicle in the United States and Canada to obtain a license and display a red light in the rear at night. This regulation will refer strictly to the vehicle, not the horse, but it amounts to about the same thing. It is really the horse that is being discriminated against rather than the wagon or buggy.

It is had enough for dobbing now. He cannot plod along a highway anywhere, any more, without taking his life in his hand—or in his hoof, if you prefer. Wherever the road is half paved, he has to keep humbly to the dirt strip, and cannot be sure even then that some roaring automobile will not bump into him or some truck shove him into the ditch.

It was bad enough when Denver banished horses from its streets. That showed what is destined to happen in all our cities. But banishment from cities would not be intolerable. Dobbing has no particular love for city streets. To have his road privileges restricted and threatened with complete abolishment is different. Yet the handwriting is plain. Horses will yet be barred from country roads.

The election of Obregon marked the fourth time in 99 years that there has been a change of administration in Mexico without bloodshed. This seems to bear out the contention that "the first hundred years are the worst."

"What to give for Christmas?" is the ruling question of the day, suggests one paper. Why not give three rousing cheers and let it go at that?

"DEFERENCE" TO D'ANNUNZIO

A recent dispatch from Rome reads as follows:

"A telegram signed by 80 members of the Italian senate was sent today to Gabriele D'Annunzio, exhorting him to desist from any impulsive act and from any step which might cause a fratricidal conflict and be a source of conflict in Italy.

"The message was written in the most deferential style, and asks the poet in the name of his high patriotism to listen to the voice of the disturbed and anxious nation."

D'Annunzio, the reader will remember, seized Fiume several months ago, to "redeem" it for Italy, and has held it ever since, defying the Italian government to oust him.

Dear, oh dear! Suppose that William Randolph Hearst, prominent American patriot, wearing of the dilatory and unsatisfactory handling of the Japanese situation in California, had taken a regiment of revolting soldiers and assumed military control of the state, holding out in defiance of the United States government, and insisting stoutly that he would defend the Americanism of California with the last drop of his heart's blood. Suppose that the United States government succeeded in coming to an agreement with Japan, satisfactorily adjusting the point at issue, but Mr. Hearst still maintained his usurped authority, threatening fire and sword to anyone who questioned his rule. And suppose the government, in this sad contingency, did nothing whatever, and the senate merely sent Mr. Hearst a deferential plea to desist from his stand.

There would be a rough parallel to the Italian situation. Italy has made peace with Yugoslavia and settled the Fiume dispute, yet D'Annunzio still breathes defiance, with ever-swelling egomania, and the Italian government still deals with the lunatic poet as if he were a sane head of a respectable and redoubtable rebellion.

And yet Italian statesmen sometimes are indignant when other nations, accustomed to real government, refuse to take them seriously.

CIRCULATING PICTURES.

The circulating picture gallery operating along the same lines as the circulating library, is one of the newer ideas for dispensing culture.

A club in Cleveland, which is pioneering in the movement, has secured appropriately framed copies of a wide range of famous pictures. Any one wishing to decorate his house for some special function, or to study the works of some artist, or merely to enjoy looking at a picture for his personal gratification, has only to call the club, present his credentials and pay the nominal fee required, and the picture or pictures will be lent him for a stipulated length of time. There is the privilege of renewal as there would be for a library book, and then the patron may exchange his picture for another.

There is no reason why pictures should not have been put into circulation after this fashion long ago, and there might be the same general knowledge of good pictures and famous artists that there is of books and authors if the practicality of the idea had been seized sooner.

But art is long. Now that the circulating picture gallery has become a fact, those interested in its establishment will find plenty of material, their only difficulty being that of selection among the treasures which ancient and modern art afford.

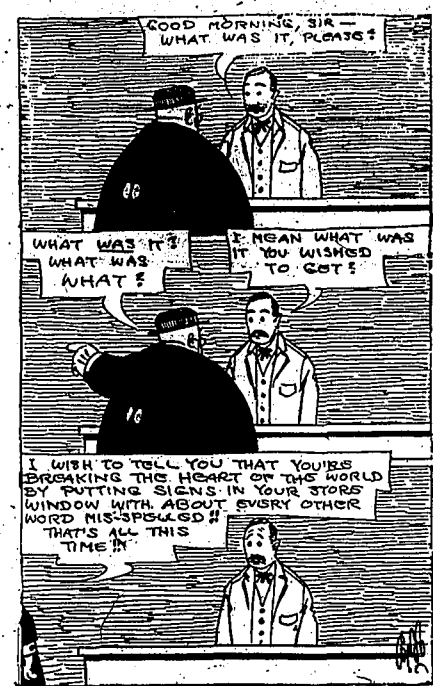

Harding told his associates in the senate that he hoped the present session of congress would be fruitful. "That's all right, provided they don't pick lemons for the public and plums for themselves."

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

"WE'D ALL GLADLY DIE FOR IRELAND" SAYS IRISH WIDOW

Mrs. MacSwiney Claims Never Once Did She Feel That Her Husband Should Quit Hunger Strike.

NEW YORK—Never once during the long, bitter vigil she kept at Brixton prison, where Lord MacSwiney lay dying of hunger, did Mrs. Muriel MacSwiney, his wife, feel that his love would have been better proved living than by death.

"There are things greater than life," she told me: "There was not a time he would not have taken food if I had asked him to. I never asked him and I protested with all my strength when the authorities tried to feed him. By his death I proved his devotion to his loved ones as well as to the great cause of Ireland, for which we all would gladly die."

Mrs. MacSwiney came to America to help the cause of the "Irish republic." She will speak here before various Irish societies and will testify before the Committee of One Hundred investigating the Irish question.

A pleasing little figure is the widow of the martyr of Cork. Her voice is low and has a cultured accent. Pretty, gentle and brave, she seemed to me, with a winsomeness quite unlike in her blue eyes.

I felt an impulse to grasp her hand, pat it and say: "There, there! It's all right, little girl; we'll take care of you. Don't be afraid."

I had expected, I think, to see a large woman in heavy mourning, and I was surprised at her littleness, her gentleness and the softness of her features. She was dressed plainly, wearing a black dress and a white blouse of georgette crepe with a "v" neck.

It is when she talks of her husband that this rose-faced girl of April sweetness comes to be a child. Her eyes then flood with tears and she is a woman of deep emotion, held well in check by character made strong by sorrow and sacrifice.

She first met MacSwiney when he was in Wakefield jail, Yorkshire, in 1915. She was Muriel Murphy, then the daughter of a wealthy Cork distiller, and she visited the jail out of sympathy for the Sinn Féin prisoners. Despite much opposition from her family and friends, she shortly afterward married MacSwiney, who he was in England under deportation order. There is one child, a baby girl, named Maurea, who was left with relatives when Mrs. MacSwiney sailed.

STRIKE HIGH LEADGE IN ABANDONED MINE.

IRELAND, Mont.—A group of Irishmen who were springing a mine to work an abandoned silver claim in the Unionville district, recently struck what is declared to be some of the richest silver lead ever seen in this section of the state. The values also show a gold mine. It is said to be indications of high grade copper ore.

The mine in which the rich ore was found had been abandoned for nearly half a century after it had been believed worked all valuable ore. So anxious were the original owners to quit work that they are said to have left their shovels sticking in the mud.

GRANT LEADER OF NATIONAL CLUBS SALARY INCREASE

President Heydler to Receive Stipend of $15,000 Yearly to Head Baseball League

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The national league at its annual meeting today extended for three years the terms of President John A. Heydler and granted to him a substantial increase in salary. President Heydler's present salary is $10,000 a year and the increase, while it was not officially stated, said to have been 50 per cent. The additional years will make his present term expire December 31, 1924.

The new agreement with the American league which is to run for 25 years was adopted and formally signed by each of the eight clubs and President Heydler. The agreement was adopted without even the suggestion of an amendment. "Baseball as an institution has responded quickly and courageously to meet an unprecedented situation growing out of the discovery of crookedness," said President Heydler in submitting his annual report. "The whole governmental structure of the game has been changed to meet this issue of dishonesty within the ranks and to cope with the gamblers' attack from without. No one need fear of the outcome."

Prior to the 1920 season, our New York club barred two players for the best interests of the game, thereby practically destroying its competitive chances. The Chicago club dropped another undesirable, and successfully defended a damage suit brought by this player. The trial was a public one, the evidence presented by the league being of such relentless force as to warrant a finding against the player by a jury of his own townsmen. This verdict for clean baseball proved of far reaching value.

At this time there persist in circulation rumors having to do with the probability of several other players. Your president has followed up each and every rumor of this kind with a charge to the end of calling players concerned before him for examination and preserving records of testimony. The 1920 season, the president said proved the most successful in the history of the national league, the paid attendance being more than one million in excess of the previous season. During the season the clubs used 21,924 baseballs, an increase over 1919 of 10,248. This increase was due mainly to the enforcement of the new pitching rules Mr. Heydler said.

MOTHER PROTESTS USE OF "LAUGHING GAS" ON YOUTH

Mrs. Lillian Chester, Mother of Man Held for Murder of Kansas Girl, Makes Protest.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—"Mamma's come, Darnell! Oh, my boy, my baby boy! Mamma's come! She won't let them hurt you again!"

During the past few weeks Darnell's career has included his arrest at Great Falls, Mont., a month ago; his escape from detectives, through two plate-glass windows of a Pullman car; a gun-hunt over the Nebraska desert; his recapture by a young horse doctor and a deputy sheriff; a long period of silence and helplessness; and finally, the authorities' attempt to make him talk by giving him laughing gas.

When Mrs. Lillian Chester came—all the way from Los Angeles—"You don't have to talk unless you want to, Darnell dear," she told him. "Mamma won't let them make you talk."

And with eyes flaming and small, sworn hands clenched, she just dared physicians and police to come near.

Called them Devils, Not Men. "I'll bring all the federal and state laws in the country to keep you away from him," she cried. "You shan't torture my boy. You are devils, not men!"

When the laughing gas test was made, previous to his mother's arrival, Chester said into unconsciousness and spoke.

"Oh, God," he cried hoarsely, "let me talk!"

"I never did it! I never did it!"

"Didn't do what?" he was asked.

"Didn't kill anybody."

"Will you talk now, Chester?" they asked.

"If they'll let me. They won't let me."

"Who won't let you?"

But Chester went back into silence.

Has Society the Right?

And this laughing gas test, followed by the refusal of Mrs. Chester, has raised the question:

Has society the right to paralyze a human will by anesthetics in order to force a suspected criminal to answer questions? Or—

Has the man with a will strong enough to resist the gas to keep silent as long as he is conscious, the right to defy society's effort to find out whether or not he committed a crime?

"It's camouflaged Prussianism," says Mrs. Chester. "It's worse than vivisection."

And police are satisfied that Chester can talk if he wants to, but that he either hypnotized himself or refuses to talk because he fears he will confess the crime.

Police are unshaken by the question: Did Darnell Chester murder Florence Barton?

PUSH BUTTON EFFICIENCY LATEST IN CONGRESS

Preparatory to the greater "efficiency" of the new congress is that, provided by the new congress, electric push-buttons have been installed on the arm of the seat of every member of the house.

Instead of a member having to leave his seat or summon a page by frantic snapping of his fingers when he wants an early edition of the Record or an extra package of chewing gum, all he will have to do now will be to jab the little button.

The time, nerve-strain and energy saved for purely legislative effort, by the installation of this device, by the firm which installed it maintains, result in an era of sane, well-poised legislation.

Incidentally, too, the new color scheme in which the house chamber has been redecorated is expected to brighten the ideals and ideas of the house membership. Upper walls and ceilings have been done over in cool, clean, French gray, shot through with just enough gold to suggest sunrise and payday.

Probably the most interesting seat in the whole congress is that occupied in the senate by John Sharp Williams of Mississippi.

Williams' desk has been patched up so skillfully that its scars do not show from a distance, but at close range it looks as though it had been through the wars.

And so it has. Its scars are legions, marks made by angry Union soldiers visiting the senate chamber during the Civil war. The soldiers tried to demolish the desk and did a pretty good job, splintering and scoring it thoroughly. But the repair-man put it back in shape for use again.

John Sharp wanted to use it because it was the desk used by Jefferson Davis when he was a member of the senate.

The desk used by Henry Cabot Lodge is also different, and has a history. While the other desks have tops that lift up, the top of Lodge's desk is fast and there are two drawers that pull out. Daniel Webster had it made that way.

MORE DETAILS ARE GIVEN IN HEARING OF IRISH TROUBLE

trial of System of Government Proposed by "Republican" Leaders to Be Set Up in Ireland.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—The system of government which Irish republican leaders propose to set up in Ireland was described as "an ideal co-operative commonwealth" by Laurence Ginnell, former Irish member of the British parliament, in testimony today before the commission, of the commission of one hundred investigating the Irish question.

Mr. Ginnell, who declined to appear before the commission until he had been assured that it would not "attempt to go behind the present Irish republic," in any of its recommendations, presented a rough draft of the governmental system proposed by the Irish republicans.

"The ancient British laws, from which many of the present day socialist doctrines are derived," Mr. Ginnell said, "probably will form the basis for Ireland's form of government should the efforts of the republican leaders to gain independence from Great Britain prove successful. He told the committee he had written a book on socialism, obtaining his material from these laws."

Land in Ireland apportioned under the British Land act for tilling he said, had been leased to "favored cattle raisers," necessitating migration at intervals of a paltry part of the population in some districts to England to find work. The governmental system which the Irish republicans plan to put into effect, he said, contemplates "breaking up of the large land tracts of land in Ireland, now used for grazing and distributing them on smaller parcels, to substitute persons to be tilled."

Mr. Ginnell as well as Miss Ruth Russell, another witness, who last year investigated conditions in Ireland, has been "artificially stimulated," and exaggerated.

Miss Russell went extensively into social, economic and religious conditions and endeavored to establish that mill owners in the province of Ulster had stirred up religious intolerance to prevent organization of their workers.

Miss Russell said that the British authorities, by making it more profitable for the large land owners to raise cattle than to lease their lands to small farmers, had brought about distressing economic conditions in Ireland. Small farms are turned into grazing lands, flour mills and industries dependent on agriculture are idle, she said, adding that no employment for the people had been given, as the cattle were exported on the hoof.

Living conditions, Miss Russell said, are worse in Dublin than in any other city with almost 40 per cent of the city population, or 25,000 families living in one room dwellings. The commission will continue its hearings tomorrow with Fredrick Colum, Irish writer and poet and Paul Furness, an American quaker who was in Ireland in connection with the Society of Friends investigation of Irish conditions, listed to appear.

STAGGER? IT'S WHISKY! SPIN? IT'S MOONSHINE!

CHICAGO.—At last! A way to quell moonshine whisky from regular whisky!

This "boon" to anti-prohibitionists has been discovered by Dr. W. P. Goldsmith, medical director of the Washington Home.

Here's the system: First drink the stuff you wish to test.

Stand in front of a mirror and watch the effect.

If you stagger, it's good whisky. If you spin like a top, it's moonshine!

So says Dr. Goldsmith. He ought to know, for the Washington Home has been treating whisky cases a good many years.

Dr. Goldsmith says prohibition has cut down drunkenness—numerically speaking. But his observation is that a man who gets drunk on moonshine is a danger drunk than one who gets drunk on real whisky.

Before the adoption of the Eighteenth Amendment, the Washington Home treated between 80 and 100 whisky addicts every month. Now the number treated does not exceed ten a month.

"Boozing up is a longer process than it used to be," said the doctor. "Men who drink moonshine do not recover so quickly. Their intoxication is more violent and the poison in bootleg liquor affects their brains and eyes more violently than better whisky did."

Dr. Goldsmith said the expected increase in drug addicts in consequence of prohibition has not materialized. He says few whisky drinkers have taken to drugs as a substitute.

RETURNS FROM POCATELLO

Mrs. J. D. Claborn returned yesterday from Pocatello where she spent the week-end with her husband.

RUSSIA HAS NO LAW DECLARES FORMER RABBI

Joseph Goldman, a Russian Socialist, History of Conditions Under Bolshevik Rule.

"That there is no law in Russia, no judge, no police, and that every man must protect himself, is the statement of ex-Rabbi Joseph Goldman, who will speak at the Methodist church at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and later on in the evening next Sunday, on "The Inner Life of Russia."

"Rabbi Goldman up to four years ago was a Russian subject and a native of that land. Six years ago the former rabbi lost his wife and six children at the hands of a mob and displays a jagged tooth as evidence of the rough handling he himself received. His father and mother also fell victims to the ruthlessness of mob rule in Russia."

Enduring the persecution after losing most of his family, Goldman, with his only remaining son, escaped by way of Siberia and Vladivostok and landed on the Pacific coast of America. In Seattle the son joined the American army and went to France with the Ninety-first division, where he lost his life fighting against the German autocracy.

"My heart is bitter against those who robbed me of my loved ones in Russia, but I have no regret for the loss of that boy who gave his life for America," Mr. Goldman declared last night. "A man cannot die for America. When a man gives up his life for America he lives forever."

Mr. Goldman said that life in Russia was had enough under czarism, but that under Bolshevism it is a million times worse. Five years ago, he declared, the present ruling class were known as the "Black Hundred," and that when the czar felt his throne tottering, he sent these same men out to start pogroms against the Jews and turn the tide of popular feeling from himself.

Under Bolshevism rule, the rabbi declared, any man may secure free, 80 acres of land, but he may not hire anyone to assist him in working the soil or making it produce, while in the city, a man must work five hours every day, but may not labor for a longer time. One of the schemes of the government, he stated, is to establish the use of money, replacing it with time. "Everyone must work," but the difficulty is in finding some one to do the hard labor and the dirty work.

Women are now state property in Russia, Mr. Goldman averred. There is no marriage, but the children are torn from the mother and brought up as community property.

He is a firm believer in the cause of Zionism and is now on his way to Palestine where he will join the hundreds of thousands of Jews who will make the pilgrimage to the Holy Land recently redeemed from the Turks and Germans. Only in America has the Jew been accorded recognition of his rights as a human being, the rabbi declared.

CHRISTMAS TO BE JOYLESS FOR YOUTHS

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Dec. 15.—Christmas this year is to be a joyless festival for three West Orange boys of 10 to 12 years who today were sentenced by City Recorder J. B. Lester to receive no holiday presents, take no part in any Christmas festivities and go to bed at 8:30 every evening for a month, including Christmas eve.

The youngsters, who appeared in court accompanied by their parents, were convicted of breaking into school and stealing pencils and money from the teacher's desk and on another occasion tinkering with the automobile owned by Rev. Elman so that the minister could not start it when he was ready to go home after a church service.

MORE TESTIMONY GIVEN ON INFLUENCE OF ENGLISH

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Further testimony that Great Britain attempted to influence the war time shipping policy of the American government was given today by William Denman of San Francisco, first chairman of the board, before the special house committee investigating operations of the federal shipping agency.

Mr. Denman charged that the British mission which came to the United States in April, 1917, and which was headed by Arthur J. Balfour, then British secretary of state for foreign affairs, had undertaken to influence the shipping board and had succeeded in getting one of its members elected to an administrative board which Mr. Denman said he had attempted to organize in New York to function with the shipping board.

The member of the British mission elected to this administrative board, he said, was Sir Connop Guthrie. Mr. Denman told the committee that he did not know how Sir Connop was elected—that it happened between noon and half past three one afternoon—but that he had learned that three or four members of the British mission were present.

"Afterwards the shipping board had a warm session," he continued. "It lasted twenty minutes and all that had been transacted at the previous session was wiped out."

The witness intimated that his inference that the board be kept free from British influence had more to do with his resignation as chairman, than anything else. He testified that while he wanted British co-operation he did not want England to influence the board.

Mr. Denman said he had frequent conferences with Mr. Balfour and that "certain phases of the conference approached the realm of secret treaties." He indicated his willingness to disclose the nature of the negotiations if President Wilson would consent.

When Mr. Denman concluded the committee adjourned the inquiry until after the Christmas holidays.

By DEAN SNYDER.

Perhaps no greater honor can come to a football player than to be named by a member of Walter Camp's All-American team.

Camp has been picking his mythical eleven since back in the '80's. But his selection for this year represents, in his opinion, a far greater breadth of ability of every member of it than any selection he has yet made.

He says that the development of the game has put additional requirements on each individual position, so that players have acquired an unusual amount of limit of football ability and smartness.

As an illustration he takes Stanley Keeck, Princeton's star tackle, and shows what he actually accomplished in the "tiger" two hardest games of the year.

"Keeck," he says, "met the charges of the Harvard men, shifted to meet formation plays, broke through and hypered the passer and kicker, and finally brought about a touchdown by blocking a punt. In the Yale game he did all these things with the exception of blocking a punt, but in addition he scored a field goal by a place, kick. He also acted as Lourie's interlayer when the brilliant quarter ran for a touchdown."

Wisconsin's Star.
Camp gives the other tackle position to Scott of Wisconsin. His reason for selecting the Wisconsin star is that Scott possesses great football power which is due to his weight, strength and speed for a heavy man.

One guard is allotted to Tim Callahan of Yale and the other to Woods of Harvard. "They are both large," he says, "and possess ability to drag

Millin and Boynton are on a par with the "tiger" star in all other points. George Gipp of Notre Dame draws the fullback position on Camp's list, stringing as a result of his versatility and power, his ability to punt and drop-kick, forward pass, run and kick. He does everything that a backfield man is required to do in superlative form.

Speed of Ohioan.
The other two backs are Stinchcomb of Ohio State and Way of Penn State. Camp particularly liked Way since he could be depended upon to go into the game after being held on the side line and make the necessary gain required, besides being speedy, elusive and quick to see an opportunity.

Stinchcomb's great speed and smartness has earned the other place on Camp's eleven. The Ohioan's speed combined with Way's passing brilliancy pulled the eleven out in front during the last minute of play in several games and Camp believes he needs just such a man at the fast Ohio back on his 1920 All-American eleven.

Best Team Ever.
In summing up his reasons for selecting these men Camp says:

"On the whole, it is one of the most versatile teams on attack and defense on defense that has ever been put together."

"Outside of the development of the open play and forward pass, the most striking feature of the season was the great interest shown in coaches and enthusiasts in the east as to what the south and west were doing, and in the south and west as to what the east was teaching. This has been brought about by inter-sectional games."

"But perhaps the greatest factor of all, however, was the very definite increase in the knowledge of the game by the football public. The spectator in the stands now is an educated spectator."

CENTRE LOSES ONE.

DANVILLE, Ky. — James, right tackle on the wonder eleven of little Centre college, is the only player who will be lost by graduation. Moran will show his turn in the east again next fall.

HUNTING TRIP IS SURE.

OKLAHOMA CITY. — George Smith is sure to bring some elk home from Colorado. He brought 23 from an elk farm, where they are raised for meat, and will slaughter them with a rifle.

WALTER CAMP

none plays quickly and as line men they are impracticable."

Ends and Center.
Carney of Illinois and Fincher of Georgia Tech are given the rank of being the best ends of the year. "Carney has played practically an errorless game and Fincher," he says, "is regarded for a mythical eleven on account of his power in attack, his long reach and his general build."

Camp picks as his center, Captain Stein of Pittsburgh. In his opinion there isn't much difference in his first center and his second, Bill Cunningham of Dartmouth. Stein came through the season with a little less grit, says Camp.

Backfield Changes.

Lord of Princeton is his 1920 All-American quarter, due to his uncanny generalship shown all year and especially in the battle with Yale. Me-

Grain

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—Sharp setbacks in the price of wheat resulted today from the government report showing that grain crops were larger than expected. The close was unsettled, 5 to 8 1/2 cents net lower, with December 2.45 1/2 and March 2.65 1/2 to 2 7/8 and 2 3/8 and oats 2 to 2 5/8. Provisions lost 20 to 35 cents.

Increased production overshadowed every other factor in the wheat market. Word that 1,000,000 bushels had been taken for export by way of the Gulf of Mexico failed to assist the bulls. On the contrary, it was said rural offerings in the southwest had become more liberal.

Many in the trade not only looked on the grain figures as bearish and wheat, especially so, but further considered the big crop of potatoes important as furnishing a bread substitute. Even the most radical bulls had to concede that any wheat shortage this season would be a month later than had seemed probable yesterday. May delivery, in which trading started this morning, proved relatively weak, December or March final, ending at 7 cents to 7 1/4 under the initial price, $1.60.

In corn and oats there was a notable lack of support except from shorts. Old corn led the decline. Country selling of corn futures was rather free.

Provisions went down with grain.

STEEL COMPANY TO REFUSE PRODUCT TO "CLOSED SHOPS"

Bethlehem Steel Corporation Sponsors "Open Shop" Movement Declares President at Investigation

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The Bethlehem steel corporation will refuse to sell fabricated steel to builders and contractors in the New York and Philadelphia districts to be erected on "closed" shops here.

This policy was disclosed by Eugene G. Grace, president of the corporation, who testified today before the joint legislative committee investigating the alleged "building trust" replying to charges that his corporation was sponsoring the "open shop" movement by withholding steel from builders employing only union men.

"I think it is a proper thing to protect the open shop principle," declared Mr. Grace, who explained that his stand would not be changed even "entirely on the effect I should expect it to have on our general labor situation."

The steel magnate was subjected to a severe grilling by Samuel Untermyer, the committee's counsel, who has stated that he, Untermyer, is the largest stockholder in the Bethlehem corporation.

Charging Mr. Grace with "fencing" and evading his questions, Mr. Untermyer several times appealed to Senator Grayson, acting chairman, to order the witness to answer his question.

"You are not in the office of the Bethlehem Steel corporation; you are before a legislative committee," Mr. Untermyer reminded the witness adding that the "president must not have his way all of the time."

Asked if he believed the Bethlehem corporation big enough to carry out its open shop principle, if every other steel company decided otherwise the witness replied: "That is a matter of judgment."

Denying that he had attempted to dictate to union builders as to how they should erect steel, Mr. Grace asserted: "I told them they cannot have our fabricated steel."

"As to the question of getting together, I do not know," replied Mr. Grace. "The question of whether it would be a good principle, I should say it would be."

"I firmly believe that any character of relations or association to support and protect the open shop principle of giving service by any character of laboring man in this country to be a very good thing."

"Now, can't you see what an arrogant and indefensible attitude it would be for the manufacturers of this country to try to force their point of view of what you call the 'open shop' in the erection of their steel when other people might believe it was to their best interest to erect it by the union shop?" asked the committee's counsel.

"If they thought it was to protect their interests, in line with what they considered the right policy for their interest, I would not consider it arrogant, but self protection," pleaded Mr. Grace.

"Facts and expectations and delusions are different things," said Mr. Untermyer.

Declaring that he "never liked the term 'collective bargaining,'" Mr. Grace said he believed in a system of employers' representation.

Declaring that the Bethlehem employees elected their representatives to deal with the management of the company "in all phases affecting the service rendered by them" and that the plan is working very satisfactorily.

"If 95 per cent of the men in your shops were union men they would not have anything more to say as union men," asked Mr. Untermyer.

"We only recognize them as employees," said Mr. Grace.

"You take the liberty, don't you, of joining trade associations and acting as a unit in other organizations with them jointly?"

"No, no, Mr. Untermyer."

"You deny your employees, don't you, the right of acting jointly with employees of other companies in dealing with their own association?"

"We would not recognize it."

"But you expect other people to recognize dealings in which you enter as a member of the trade associations don't you, while denying your employees the same right?"

"If I do not know that," replied Mr. Untermyer. "In lines of great business activity, unless seek to dominate the situation, and in times of depression, or when labor is plentiful that the employers seek to limit the unions?"

"I do not know about that," replied the witness.

"You don't know about that and you employ as many as 70,000 men and your business is active as high as $20,000,000?" angrily replied the committee's counsel.

BUILT BETTER CHOWERS PAID OVER $24,000

More than $24,000 was paid to 50 beet growers in the vicinity of Buhl yesterday for beets delivered to the Amalgamated Sugar company during the month of November. This brings the total of the amount paid for beets grown on 500 acres of land to $110,000, and the crop is not yet entirely marketed. It is said that the money received by Buhl farmers for beets this year has had an unusually brightening effect on the business outlook there.

NEW SIGNS HELP TO WARN DRIVERS

Municipal authorities of Detroit have had a lasting success by painting signs, usually consisting of two or three words in white letters a foot long, on various boulevards, to warn motorists. In addition to these signs of caution, broad white center lines appear at curves and bridge approaches to discourage the tendency to "cut corners."

She died a few moments later.

CABLE FIRM TO CONNECT NEW LINES

the experience of news between these countries.

Do Not Fear Censorship.

Mr. Carlton said that the censorship of foreign cables was not to be feared in time of peace. He said it required a very big organization to censor telegrams and that these had been broken up by European countries generally since the war.

Mr. Carlton discussed at length the refusal of the American government to permit the landing at Miami, Fla., of its company's cable from Barbados, which is to connect with the British line there to Brazil, and charged that by its action, the government was seeking to preserve a United States-South American monopoly in favor of the Western Union.

Edwin Root Jr., appearing for the All-American cable, gave an entirely different version. He said the question of a stopping place at Miami cable landing was that it might lead to the British company giving up its Brazil line monopoly and charged that the Western Union entered into a contract with this British company by which the American concern would direct to the British line all the business collected in the United States.

Mr. Root said this contract with the Western Union was a counter attack by the British company on the All-American cables as a result of the latter company obtaining through negotiation in Brazil permission to have its own line to Santos and Rio De Janeiro.

The All-American company, he said, refused the offer. The British government, the witness testified is supporting the British company in the fight.

Acting Secretary of State Davis, testifying as to the controversy between the government and the Western Union, said the president had refused to permit the landing of the Barbados cable because it would connect with the British line which enjoyed a monopoly in Brazil and that this action was "in conformity with American precedent and tradition."

Secretary Davis also said that the president had decided that the decision on the Western Union landing should be postponed pending the meeting of the international communications conference and that when it appeared that the Western Union intended to disregard "this morning" the navy was ordered to act.

Mr. Carlton testified in this regard that when the matter of the Barbados connection was first broached to his state department, no objection was raised.

CLARINE SEYMOUR IN NEW LEADING ROLE

She was the most beautiful girl in all the group of islands, and yet no one thought her even fairly attractive because the standard was black and fat. Half French and half Japanese with a foster father who never paid her a compliment and not enough clothes to even occupy her attention, for half a day, she spent most of her time dancing, swimming and climbing the tall trees for coconuts. Nimble as a boy, she was strong and growing more beautiful every day.

The natives called her a swinging name meaning White Almond Blossoms but her foster father called her Mary, and as Mary the beachcomber knew her when he arrived with his bottle of gin as his only asset, and as Mary the New England college boy knew her when he arrived. They thought she was wonderful, so much so they wished to marry her. This Clarine Seymour as Mary became a very important figure in the story of "The Idol Dancer," David Wark Griffith's latest First National production now showing at the Gem theatre.

WILL REDUCE FREIGHT RATES ON IDAHO HAY

Following an urgent appeal to the authorities of the Oregon Short Line Railroad company and the Union Pacific system, by the Idaho Hay Raisers' association, an announcement has been made that the rate on Idaho alfalfa hay will be lowered 35 per ton to points on the Missouri river. This reduction will place the rate at $10 per ton.

This action is taken because under the rates prevailing at the present time, it proved impossible for the Idaho shipper to move the produce without a substantial loss, while at the same time consumers in the east are sadly in need of the hay.

The only hitch remaining is for permission of the Interstate Commerce commission to put this emergency rate into effect immediately. When this is done, thousands of tons of alfalfa hay will commence to move eastward from this tract. Shipper, however, are being warned not to overlook any eastern market beyond its ability to absorb the shipments.

The following telegram was received yesterday by the chamber of commerce from Miles Cannon, commissioner of agriculture:

"Official notice received at this office that the Pacific system has made application to the Interstate Commerce commission for permission to publish effective on one day's notice a rate of ten dollars per ton on hay from all points in Idaho to the Missouri river. This rate will be a maximum of alfalfa most in demand. Greatest caution should be exercised by shippers to avoid overstocking any particular markets and allowing eastern buyers to appropriate this season's season.

Lindquest Is Edison Star

Hear Him FRIDAY EVE
Dec. 17, 8:15 o'clock
High School Auditorium

Records of Noted Young Tenor Have Had Big Sale Everywhere.

You don't have to wait until Mr. Lindquest comes to town to hear this sensational young American tenor of whom so much has been spoken and written of lately. Mr. Lindquest, who by the way is rated by Leslie's Magazine as one of ten great artists of the day, has made several records for the Edison Phonograph Company. You have an Edison dealer in town; come in and ask to hear Albert Lindquest's rendition of Tolstol's "Goodbye" or ask to hear his "Masculine." Great artists the world over readily have sung Maugham, but few have been able to compare with Mr. Lindquest's rendition of this gem of heart ballads.

Day by day he is becoming more famous as one of America's great artists. During the past three years he has sung with practically all of the largest symphony orchestras of the country. He first came into prominence several years ago when a student of the Chicago University, Alessandro Bonci, the great tenor of the Chicago Operatic Company, heard young Lindquest sing in one of the College Glee Club and said to him: "Young man, you have much gold in your throat."

This was Lindquest's inspiration for a musical career and he has come to the front fast. With Mr. Lindquest at his coming concert here will appear Miss Leonora Allen, lyric soprano and Robert MacDonald, pianist for the concert. These two splendid artists are fitting companions for the wonderful artist, Lindquest.

Hear them, see them, Friday evening, Dec. 17, High School Auditorium, 8:15 o'clock.

Come and hear these records placed on the Edison Phonograph.
