

FRAME TARIFF TO PROTECT FARM PRODUCE

House Committee Completes New Measure Giving Relief

WILL BE EFFECTIVE FOR ONE YEAR ONLY

Designed to Place Embargo on Twenty Products; Will be Passed Upon Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Framing of an emergency tariff designed to protect 20 farm products was completed today by the house ways and means committee.

The bill was designated as the "Emergency Tariff Act" and is drawn to remain effective for one year from date of passage.

The measure was agreed to after six hours of discussion by the committee, which elected to honor its chairman by giving the bill his name.

Mr. Fordney will prepare and introduce the measure.

The committee broadened the original project of the senate and house leaders at a joint conference.

The bill was said to have been planned as a comprehensive measure to shield agricultural products from further price declines.

Proposals to include sugar, hops, dried beef, vegetable seeds, barley, flax, bitter and potato flour and potato starch in the list were voted down.

NAVAL COURT CLEARS NAME OF MARINES

Board of Inquiry Reports "No Grounds" For Statement

SOLDIERS VIRTUALLY GIVEN CLEAN BILL

Barnett's Charges are "Unwarranted" Says Board

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—The naval court of inquiry which investigated the conduct of the marines in Haiti reported to Secretary Daniels today that there "had been no proper grounds" for the statement by Brigadier General George Barnett, former commander of the marine corps, that the force had been guilty of "practically indiscriminate killings" of Haitians.

After a careful survey, the court, presided over by Rear Admiral Henry T. Mayo, found "General Barnett's charges were 'not considered, regrettable and thoroughly unwarranted reflections on the work of the marine corps in Haiti, adding that the corps had performed difficult, dangerous and delicate duty worthy of the highest commendation'."

The marines virtually were given a "clean bill" by the court, which declined to recommend trial by court-martial of Freeman Lang, of Los Angeles, and Doris Williams, of Birmingham, Ala., charged by native witnesses with the murder of Italian.

Indeed, the Lang and Williams cases were not mentioned.

USE OF CIDER IN HOME SAID TO BE LAWFUL

Attorney General Palmer Submits Opinion on Question

NOT WITHIN BONDS OF PROHIBITION ACT

Even After Fermentation Use of Apples Juices at Home Within the Law

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—Use of cider in the home by its manufacturer, even after it has become intoxicating, is lawful without the bounds of the prohibition enforcement act, according to an opinion submitted to the secretary of the treasury by Attorney General Palmer and made public today.

"Conflicts With Regulations." The opinion is in conflict with the regulations of the bureau of internal revenue which state homemade cider must be "non-intoxicating in fact" although not necessarily containing less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol.

Secretary Houston asked for an opinion as to whether the term "non-intoxicating cider and fruit juices" means non-intoxicating in fact or containing less than one-half of one per cent of alcohol.

"In view, however, of what I understand section 29 to mean, I am sure it would be preferable for me to content myself with this direct answer to your question."

Congress intended by section 29 to prohibit the sale, but not the manufacture of intoxicating cider for use in the home, the opinion said.

"Congress seems to have recognized the fermenting nature of cider," the attorney general declared.

"Section 29 says that to manufacture a recess during the Christmas holidays came up today in the senate but action was deferred until Monday to await disposition by the house of the resolution to revive the war finance corporation."

ADJUST DETAILS CONNECTED WITH LOAN ON WHEAT

W. W. Parrish Takes Part in Conference With Officials of Federal Reserve System.

According to W. W. Parrish, secretary of the Twin Falls county organization of wheat growers, the suggestion that loans to farmers on their grain as a security could not exceed $60,000, including those of Power county, has been definitely cleared up. Mr. Parrish has recently returned from Ogden where he and J. T. Fisher of American Falls took part in a conference with the officials of the federal reserve system. Reports that no difficulty will be experienced by the farmers who are members of the local organization in securing more money.

Through a misunderstanding as to the status of the local branch, it was thought that loans to farmers in this section could not exceed $60,000, including those of Power county. This situation was brought about, Mr. Parrish declared, through the method by which the advance is distributed and the federal law governing the amount which a financial institution may loan to a single creditor.

The federal reserve system is advancing the money, he stated, to the Globe Milling company, which in turn is transacting its business with the association through the Utah National bank, of Ogden. Under the federal law no bank may loan to any one individual, concern or association, an amount which exceeds 10 per cent of its own capital stock, which in the case of the Utah National is $50,000.

Mr. Parrish declared, however, that the real hitch came about through confusing the relations of the local branch and the Washington, Oregon and Idaho Wheat Growers' association, and the matter was quickly cleared when the fact was pointed out to the officials of the federal reserve that the former is not allied with the latter. As far as this year's crop is concerned, the Twin Falls county organization will not be considered an integral part of the larger association until next year, the contracts which were signed by members on this tract having made specific provision for the exemption of the grain which is to be marketed this year.

Only two criminal cases remain to be disposed of in the district court, according to Prosecuting Attorney Frank L. Stephan, that of A. M. Stande, charged with using false weights and measures, and that of Bill Bush, on a charge of taking an automobile without the permission of the owner. These cases, in which both defendants are expected to plead guilty, will come up before the court tomorrow. Civil cases, however, it is stated, will not be taken up until after the first of the new year, as Judge W. A. Babcock will take this coming week in disposing of a multiplicity of matters which have previously been submitted to him. This includes several matters which he has taken under advisement.

THIEVES ROB SHOSHONE STORE OF DRESS GOODS

Approximately $1500 worth of goods were stolen late Friday night from the store of C. R. Morse at Shoshone, it was reported here yesterday morning. The robbery closely resembled that reported there a short time ago, Wright's store being the victim upon that occasion.

Entrance was gained through the forcing of a window in the rear of the establishment. All of the merchandise which was taken consisted of articles of ladies' wearing apparel, including 20 dresses, six dozen georgette and tulle waist, and a quantity of sweaters, automobile bells and shoes.

Officers of the sheriff's force are busy running down several clues which may lead to the apprehension of the thieves, and the usual steps have been taken to notify the authorities of nearby cities and towns.

POLICE JUDGE WARNS AUTOISTS TO STUDY LAW

More than one dozen persons having been brought before him yesterday on charges of having parked their automobiles contrary to the ordinance recently passed by the city council, Police Judge W. A. Minnick has issued a warning to all owners of machines to study the new traffic law.

The great majority of those brought in yesterday on this charge were farmers who do not reside in this city and who are entirely ignorant of the law. As a consequence they were dismissed without any penalties.

Judge Minnick, however, calls attention to the fact that every auto mobile owner in the county has been furnished with a copy of the ordinance and that there is no real excuse for such ignorance of the law.

This action was taken upon the request of the local organization which stated that at present costs of production and transportation, farmers on this tract and in this section of the state could not afford substantial losses on their products.

In the same message, Mr. Smith expressed his conviction that foreign farm products will be shut out from Idaho.

HARDING HAS LESS POLITICAL DEBTS TO PAY THAN MOST

Former "Original" Backers of Senator... than of Most Newly Elected Presidents.

WASHINGTON.—Senator Harding will have fewer "original backers" to reward when he becomes president than most incoming executives.

Harding will be less embarrassed through the payment of political debts than most newly inaugurated presidents.

Naturally there will be hundreds of jobs distributed to organization men throughout the country, but they would have been distributed regardless of who had won. These men work for the party first—the victory they will claim their share of the victory.

that a military officer in a martial law zone may not go out of that zone to arrest an editor who sees fit to criticize his actions.

"The conditions involved are so fundamental," said Sanders, "that the fight will be carried through every court until it has been definitely decided. The question of free speech is involved."

Citizen's Rights Involved. "If Mayfield was right the rights of every American under the constitution are involved. It is possible, if he is right, that a militia commander may go to any part of any state and arrest any citizen without the consent of civil authorities and take him to the martial zone for trial in a military court."

"If that is possible under the constitution, which we do not believe it is, then we believe that the people should be informed and that they will take steps to amend the constitution."

The attempted kidnapping of Sanders aroused wide interest in all parts of the country. The three lieutenants and Mayfield were tried by a court martial composed of their brother officers and acquitted.

Hot Legal Battle Seen. The Houston Press has retained Thomas H. Bell, of Houston, former congressman; Judge P. M. Eberhart, who, according to police report, was in Houston, former district attorney, as its editor's legal aides.

The attorney general of the state will defend the militiamen. He is expected to employ some of the ablest lawyers of the state and both sides expect a sternly fought legal battle.

BETTER MARKETING.

The farmers of the country are very bitter, says a writer in the Country Gentleman, about the break in the price of wheat. "Fully half of their year's efforts has vanished. They have done their part in the face of almost insuperable difficulties, and now that their crops are ready for market some force or forces over which they have no control clip off three billions of dollars from their revenue.

"Not knowing exactly whom to blame, the farmers have blamed everybody in any way connected with the transportation and marketing of their products. They blame the railroads, the grain and produce exchanges, the millers, the grain brokers and the government, but chiefly they blame the exchanges.

"There is a deep-seated prejudice against these market centers. The average farmer believes they perform no useful service for agriculture and that their principal function is to provide a place where gambling in foodstuffs may be carried on safely and profitably by those on the inside."

The farmers are not alone in blaming the marketing forces of the country for the present situation, nor are they alone in the prejudice against the exchanges. Nor is wheat the only commodity on which farmers—and city people too—are losing money. Says an editorial in the same magazine:

"Last year the farmers lost heavily on all livestock, actually lost millions of dollars. Some good farmers lost nearly all they possessed. Yet in spite of the fact that meat prices were abnormally low at the point of production, the great consuming public never paid more for their steaks and chops. Who was to blame? We make no accusations. We merely point out the facts. What was the effect on the farmers? They said to themselves that our present marketing system is rotten; the day would come when they would squash it."

It is quite evident that the farmers did not profit in this last year. Neither did the buyers. Somebody must have profited. Every consumer must needs recognize that "the marketing system is rotten," and ought to be radically bettered.

SAFETY FOR THE CONSTITUTION.

The Constitution of the United States, and even the Declaration of Independence, are in grave danger, says Secretary of State Colby. This is not, as some persons will hastily and erroneously conclude, because of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Amendments, or even because of the proposed Sunday Blue Laws. Neither does it mean that the spirit and accomplishments of those two great documents are menaced.

The original manuscripts themselves, however, are now stored in an ordinary thin steel safe which is proof against neither fire nor water. It stands in the library of the state department, and is surrounded by the combustible material indigenous to such places. Fire and flood, not to mention moths and thieves, could easily destroy those historically precious documents.

No proper means is provided for exhibiting the Declaration and the Constitution to visitors who revere original copies—human liberty and American history.

The secretary of state asks of congress a comparatively small appropriation to house these documents suitably and to provide for their protection both when on exhibition and when locked away from the public gaze. It ought not to be a very costly business to do this. Surely if Plymouth Rock and Bunker Hill deserve preservation as the places where our forefathers enacted part of the early history of the country, then the United States Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, in the original forms in which they were drawn to declare formally the ideals, the faith and the aspirations of those same forefathers, deserve equal care.

THE USEFUL CHRISTMAS TREE.

Earnest advocates of forest preservation and of economy in general have tried to start a movement for the abolishment of the natural Christmas tree, urging either that there be no tree at all or that an artificial one be used. Now comes the United States forestry service, whose business is the preservation of trees, and calmly announces: "Trees are for use, and there is no other use to which they could be put which would contribute so much to the joy of mankind as their use by children on this one great holiday of the year."

The service has something further to say along this line, however. It advocates that the trees be cut carefully, that they be taken only from areas where clearing out some of the growth will benefit the rest, or that they be ordered from nurseries which make a business of continuous replanting and have always on hand a supply of young trees to replace those taken away.

People who would do away with the natural Christmas tree have the wrong idea of conservation. Conservation does not mean total abstinence from the use of any commodity; it means only that provision for a future supply shall not be neglected in the satisfaction of a present demand.

If everyone who wants a real live Christmas tree in his home will make sure that it comes only from a source where provision for a future supply is insured, he may gratify his longing and delight his little people with a clear conscience.

ACTION ON IMMIGRATION.

On one piece of reconstructive legislation, at least, congress is giving the country prompt action. Indications are that the most drastic immigration measure ever enacted will go to the president before the Christmas holidays.

The Johnson bill will virtually stop the influx of foreigners, admitting only travelers, students and those of near blood relationship to citizens and aliens already here. Time will be given for the arrival of those who have made all their preparations for coming to this country, then the stream will be automatically stopped at its source. The law may be expected to take effect within three months, unless President Wilson vetoes it. In view of the widespread demand for such a measure, and the short period of its operation, a veto is not anticipated.

The house amendment shortening the time of restriction from two years to one is wise. It is recognized that industrial conditions are so unsettled that nothing more than a temporary measure is possible. Within a year, the economic situation should be much nearer normal, permitting the working out of a permanent immigration policy for the future. It may be that within a few months, as business revives, a shortage of labor will appear that will make it advisable to let down the bars somewhat. Needless to say, they should never be lowered as far as they have been in the past.

Vance Thompson, in "Live and Be Young," says: "If you wish to maintain youth, you cannot shake hands with too many men; you cannot kiss too many women." Shaking hands with the men is safe enough, but he's wrong about not kissing women. Many a promising youth has come to a violent end just because he kissed one too many.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

Make Sure It Will Be a Merry Xmas

Wednesday night, December 29, will be THIS NIGHT in Twin Falls. Santa Claus night. No matter what anyone says. No matter that Christmas really comes on December 25, the Wednesday night following is so long to be the real Christmas night of this year for a great many kiddies of Twin Falls and vicinity. For on Wednesday night, the Salvation Army will have on display a gigantic, gorgeous Christmas tree in Parish hall for every child in Twin Falls. And Santa Claus himself will be there. Arrangements have been made for old Kris Kringle, at an appointed hour, to come hurrying and bustling into the hall and shortly after his arrival the many Christmas stockings, collected by the Salvation Army will be distributed to the children of the city.

The only safe and sure way to insure that every kiddie in Twin Falls will receive his Christmas gift is for every one to secure a stocking, fill it with goodies and toys and return it to The Chronicle office. There are going to be lots of little ones without any real tangible evidence that there is a Santa Claus unless YOU do your part. What a tragedy it's a single child in Twin Falls should have Christmas come and go without a gift.

If there is no child in your home, maybe there is one on your doorstep, waiting for you to be his Santa Claus this Christmas. There are certainly some there in the streets. They have been looking at the toys in the windows with wistful faces, and wondering what the lover of children will bring them.

If you have a child in your home, or two, or three, all the more reason why you should help some other kiddie who hasn't the advantage of your own. Look into the happy faces at your children on Christmas morning and then ask yourself if you would willingly see any child go without his or her opportunity for happiness.

DEMOCRATS OF COUNTY ENJOY CROW DINNER

Twenty-five or more democrats of Twin Falls county last night enjoyed a Crow dinner at the Perrine hotel. A crowd caused of the late defeat, accepted the will of the majority gracefully and then devoted themselves to preparations for uniting and strengthening their party only in Twin Falls but neighboring counties. The custom of a Crow dinner comes from the eastern states, where party organizations are maintained from year to year, and where after defeat the losers meet to take canvas of the reasons and to lay plans for the future.

The national committee immediately after the defeat in November, set about reorganizing the forces of democracy, in desire to bring all elements together and build for the future. The democratic party is not dead. It is not even sleeping. In defeat it is courageous and confident; it will build in hope.

So at the spread last night, after cigars and coffee had been reached, W. Orr Chapman as toastmaster called upon men present, with the request that they define their own position looking to the vitalizing of the party and its building for cooperation with the national committee.

From Jerome, Blaine, Elmore, Gooding, Lincoln, Minidoka and Cassia counties came a number of speakers in pledge of cooperation with the result that a new and live enthusiasm was developed and confidence in the future made fixed and sure.

Talks were made by Lawrence Hansen, Judge John E. Davies, Dr. Pike, State Commissioner Thomas M. Robertson, C. T. Bunce, County Secretary Frank Martin, Thayer Cummings, Dr. Sawyer and others, all designed to advance the party interests and cement its solidarity.

He will be returned to Pocatello for trial. Morris made a complete confession, the telegram received here said.

MAKE PLAN FOR SYSTEM TO AID FARM INTERESTS

Arrangements for Launching Co-operative Marketing Systems Completed by Farmers Board

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Dec. 18.—Provisional arrangements for launching a national system of cooperative markets and financial interests system to rehabilitate the farming industry were completed today at the concluding session of the agricultural conference inaugurated by the National Board of Farm Organizations. The conference endorsed the plan to establish nine grain handling centers and will seek support of all farmers' cooperative grain marketing organizations. The project is designed to eliminate the middlemen and speculation in grain and to be located in Kansas City, Chicago, Omaha, Sioux City, Oklahoma City, Minneapolis, Seattle, Buffalo and St. Louis.

Representatives of agricultural interests in the territory contiguous to those points will meet January 4, to arrange for a convention at which grain marketing organizations will be invited to send delegates to arrange for financing the project.

The financial system advocated by the delegates provides for a national union of farm loan associations.

The resolution covering the project stated 4,000 farm loan bodies have no opportunity of getting proper representation at Washington and charged that the policy of the federal farm loan board has been to discourage attempts by the associations to form state federations.

Resolutions were adopted protesting against amendments which, it was asserted, have been made to the federal farm loan act without giving an opportunity for consultation between the lawmakers and the associations.

Another resolution protested against the Poindexter anti-strike bill just passed by the senate. The conference recognized the harmful effect of strikes, but considers that under certain circumstances the present is the only means of self-protection for the workers.

Federal control of the packing industry and passing of the Kenyon-Kendricks bill was advocated in another resolution.

TAXPAYERS CRITICIZE ACTION OF CITY COUNCIL

declaration of Turner K. Heckman, who made the charge that the men who have been elected to office in Twin Falls in the past four or five years are "seeing how they can take out of our pockets and put in somebody else's." He expressed his firm conviction that it was time to start "lopping off some of the official heads."

Senator Sweezy recommended the appointment of a committee to thoroughly investigate the entire water system, probing into its workings from every angle. This recommendation was acted upon and carried, and a committee of five members was appointed by the chairman of the meeting, which will make a report to another general mass meeting at some subsequent date. Several speakers impressed upon the gathering the necessity for speedy action to prevent the city from purchasing more meters, and also to prevent the water works department from cutting off the flow from those users residing outside of the corporate limits who refuse to pay for a meter.

In discussing the possibility of an increased cost, Dr. Van Cott said that he was familiar with the type of meter to be used, and that from his experience with them in Salt Lake, he was of the opinion that the cost could not be greatly increased, as one little grain of sand will stop them from working altogether. He stated that the present water system of the city is at the mercy of a gopher who might cut the canal, and also declared that the water in the canal above the filtration plant is more pure, by chemical analysis, than after it has passed through the system. He cited the drilling of an artesian well as the only visible means of insuring a plentiful and pure water supply for this city as a reasonable cost.

L. S. Haszen expressed the opinion that the money used for purchasing meters might be considered to have been misappropriated and that if the investigating committee finds such to be the case, those persons who are responsible should be prosecuted and forced to make good.

Only one person present came forward on behalf of the council, John W. Graham, declaring that he favored the installation of the meters because of the fact that the city is faced with a shortage of water during the coming summer. He stated that he took this as the reason under which the council had ordered the installation of the meters and expressed his conviction that they had taken such action because they considered the cutting off of waste by this means a cheaper method of combating the prospective shortage than the enlargement of the filtration plant.

Those who were named as members of the committee were H. B. Luo, chairman; C. E. Blaseel, William Stock, L. A. Warner, S. N. Rydals, J. A. Crom, I. S. Haszen, Senator Swetley, L. L. Allen and E. F. Walton.

TO MAKE AND HOLD FRIENDS

Knack That Can Be Acquired by Most People, and is Well Worth the Having.

Few people are naturally blessed with the happy faculty of making friends easily. With most people is more or less an acquired art. If you wish to acquire this art, don't be discouraged at the apparent ease with which some of your friends seem to "get on" with everybody. They've only learned a few more of the "tricks of the trade," so to speak, than you have. That's all. The main thing is that they have learned to be a person who would have friends must show himself friendly. Just you try it and see if it doesn't act like a charm.

Half the battle is to meet people as if it may be taken for granted that they are glad to see you, and that you are glad to see them. Nine cases out of ten if you are genuinely glad to see them and show it they will be glad to see you.

Don't expect the other person to make the advances if there is no good reason why you shouldn't make them. Sometimes the very persons who seem most "unapproachable" turn out to be quite willing to be friendly if they are approached in the right way. Look for the good in people, always, and you will be very sure to find it.

MAKES THE SAPPHIRE BLUSH

Radium Treatment Turns the Cheapest Stones to Rubies Which Command the Highest Prices.

Modern science has not brought us very much nearer the magic stone of the old philosophers, but it has enabled later experts to play some surprising tricks with the existing materials of the jeweler and lapidary. The old alchemists set out to discover the philosopher's stone, and achieved gunpowder and other adjuncts to civilization as the accidental by-product of their original inquiry. Their less creditable descendants reverse the process. The invention is made first and its application to magic is discovered afterward. The existence of the electric furnace makes it possible to create diamonds that are the veritable stone, and it uses shavings and fragments of rubies into one coarse jewel. Now arrives a report that with the aid of radium successful transformations have been made in the appearance, if not in the nature, of certain precious stones. A sapphire, it is said, has been turned into a glorious ruby by long exposure to the effect of radium. Chemically considered, this is not very surprising, for the two stones are both examples of corundum, and the mysterious secret of color is the principal difference between them. It is possible that we can be made to blush hard enough for its mistake in not being a ruby, presumably it could blush itself into a most accomplished example of the more valuable stone.

BETTER MARKETING.

The farmers of the country are very bitter, says a writer in the Country Gentleman, about the break in the price of wheat. "Fully half of their year's efforts has vanished. They have done their part in the face of almost insuperable difficulties, and now that their crops are ready for market some force or forces over which they have no control clip off three billions of dollars from their revenue.

"Not knowing exactly whom to blame, the farmers have blamed everybody in any way connected with the transportation and marketing of their products. They blame the railroads, the grain and produce exchanges, the millers, the grain brokers and the government, but chiefly they blame the exchanges.

"There is a deep-seated prejudice against these market centers. The average farmer believes they perform no useful service for agriculture and that their principal function is to provide a place where gambling in foodstuffs may be carried on safely and profitably by those on the inside."

The farmers are not alone in blaming the marketing forces of the country for the present situation, nor are they alone in the prejudice against the exchanges. Nor is wheat the only commodity on which farmers—and city people too—are losing money. Says an editorial in the same magazine:

"Last year the farmers lost heavily on all livestock, actually lost millions of dollars. Some good farmers, lost nearly all they possessed. Yet in spite of the fact that meat prices were abnormally low at the point of production, the great consuming public never paid more for their steaks and chops. Who was to blame? We make no accusations. We merely point out the facts. What was the effect on the farmers? They said to themselves that our present marketing system is rotten; the day would come when they would smash it."

It is quite evident that the farmers did not profit in this last year. Neither did the buyers. Somebody must have profited. Every consumer must needs recognize that "the marketing system is rotten," and ought to be radically bettered.

SAFETY FOR THE CONSTITUTION.

The Constitution of the United States, and even the Declaration of Independence, are in grave danger, says Secretary of State Colby. This is not, as some persons will hastily and erroneously conclude, because of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth Amendments, or even because of the proposed Sunday Blue Laws. Neither does it mean that the spirit and accomplishments of those two great documents are menaced.

The original manuscripts themselves, however, are now stored in an ordinary thin steel safe which is proof against neither fire nor water. It stands in the library of the state department, and is surrounded by the combustible material indigenous to such places. Fire and flood, not to mention moths and thieves, could easily destroy those historically precious documents.

No proper means is provided for exhibiting the Declaration and the Constitution to visitors who revere original copies—human liberty and American history.

The secretary of state asks of congress a comparatively small appropriation to house these documents suitably and to provide for their protection both when on exhibition and when locked away from the public gaze. It ought not to be a very costly business to do this. Surely if Plymouth Rock and Bunker Hill deserve preservation as the places where our forefathers enacted part of the early history of the country, then the United States Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, in the original forms in which they were drawn to declare formally the ideals, the faith and the aspirations of those same forefathers, deserve equal care.

THE USEFUL CHRISTMAS TREE.

Earnest advocates of forest preservation and of economy in general have tried to start a movement for the abolishment of the natural Christmas tree, urging either that there be no tree at all or that an artificial one be used. Now come the United States forestry service, whose business is the preservation of trees, and calmly announces: "Trees are for use, and there is no other use to which they could be put which would contribute so much to the joy of mankind as their use by children on this one great holiday of the year."

The service has something further to say along this line, however. It advocates that the trees be cut carefully, that they be taken only from areas where clearing out some of the growth will benefit the rest, or that they be ordered from nurseries which make a business of continuous replanting and have always on hand a supply of young trees to replace those taken away.

People who would do away with the natural Christmas tree have the wrong idea of conservation. Conservation does not mean total abstinence from the use of any commodity; it means only that provision for a future supply shall not be neglected in the satisfaction of a present demand.

If everyone who wants a real live Christmas tree in his home will make sure that it comes only from a source where provision for a future supply is insured, he may gratify his longing and delight his little people with a clear conscience.

ACTION ON IMMIGRATION.

On one piece of reconstructive legislation, at least, congress is giving the country prompt action. Indications are that the most drastic immigration measure ever enacted will go to the president before the Christmas holidays.

The Johnson bill will virtually stop the influx of foreigners, admitting only travelers, students and those of near blood relationship to citizens and aliens already here. Time will be given for the arrival of those who have made all their preparations for coming to this country, then the stream will be automatically stopped at its source. The law may be expected to take effect within three months, unless President Wilson vetoes it. In view of the widespread demand for such a measure, and the short period of its operation, a veto is not anticipated.

The house amendment shortening the time of restriction from two years to one is wise. It is recognized that industrial conditions are so unsettled that nothing more than a temporary measure is possible. The conference endorsed the plan to establish also a handling centers and will seek support of all farmers cooperative grain marketing organizations. The project is designed to eliminate the middleman and speculation. These terminals are to be located in Kansas City, Chicago, Omaha, Sioux City, Oklahoma City, Minneapolis, Seattle, Buffalo and St. Louis.

Representatives of agricultural interests in the territory contiguous to these points will meet January 4 to arrange for a convention at which grain marketing organizations will be invited to send delegates to arrange for financing the project. The financial system advocated by the delegates provides for a national union of farm loan associations.

The resolution covering the project stated 4,000 farm loan bodies have no opportunity of getting proper representation at Washington and charged that the policy of the federal farm loan board has been to discourage attempts by the associations to form state federations.

Resolutions were adopted protesting against amendments which, it was asserted, have been made in the federal farm loan act without giving an opportunity for consultation between the lawmakers and the associations.

Another resolution protested against the Federal anti-strike bill just passed by the senate. The conference recognized the harmful effect of strikes, but considers that under certain circumstances the protest is the only means of self-protection for the workers.

Federal control of the packing industry and passage of the Kenyon-Kendrick bill was advocated in another resolution.

declaration of Turner K. Hackman, who made the charge that the men who have been elected to office in Twin Falls in the past four or five years are "seeing how much they can take out of our pockets and put in somebody else's." He expressed his firm conviction that it was time to start "lopping off some of the official heads."

Senator Sweetley recommended the appointment of a committee to thoroughly investigate the entire water system, probing into its workings from every angle. This recommendation was acted upon and carried, and a committee of 10 members was appointed by the chairman of the meeting, which will make a report at another general mass meeting at some subsequent date. Several speakers impressed upon the gathering the necessity for speedy action to prevent the city from purchasing any more meters and also to prevent the water works department from cutting off the flow from those users residing outside of the corporate limits who refuse to pay for a meter.

In discussing the possibility of an increased cost, Dr. Van Cots said that he was familiar with the type of meter to be used, and that from his experience with them in Salt Lake, he was of the opinion that the cost could not be greatly increased, as one cubic foot of water is worth more than a grain of salt. He stated that the present water system of the city is at the mercy of a gopher who might cut the canals, and also declare that the water in the canal above the filtration plant is more pure, by chemical analysis, than after it has passed through the system. He cited the drilling of an artesian well as the only viable means for insuring a plentiful and pure water supply for this city at a reasonable cost.

L. S. Hasen expressed the opinion that the money used for purchasing meters might be considered to have been misappropriated and that, if the investigating committee finds such to be the case, those persons who are responsible should be prosecuted and forced to make good.

Only one person present came forward on behalf of the council, John W. Graham declaring that he favored the installation of the meters because of the fact that the city is faced with a shortage of water during the coming summer. He stated that he took this as the reason since the council had ordered the installation of the meters and expressed his conviction that they had taken such action because they considered the cutting off of water by this means a cheaper method of combating the prospective shortage, than the enlargement of the filtration plant.

Those who were named as members of the committee were H. B. Lio, chairman, C. B. Bissett, William Stack, L. A. Warner, S. N. Pittsilo, J. A. Crom, L. S. Hasen, Senator Sweetley, L. L. Allen and E. F. Walton.

TO MAKE AND HOLD FRIENDS

Knack That Can Be Acquired by Most People, and is Well Worth the Having.

Few people are naturally blessed with the happy faculty of making friends easily. With most people it is more or less an acquired art. If you wish to do this, do not be discouraged at the apparent ease with which some of your friends seem to "get on" with everybody. They've only learned a few more of the "tricks of the trade," so to speak, than you have. That's all. The main point is that they have learned them. A person who would have friends must show himself friendly. Just you try it and see if it doesn't act like a charm.

Half the battle is to meet people as if it may be taken for granted that they are glad to see you, and that you are glad to see them. Nine cases out of ten if you are genuinely glad to see them and show it they will be glad to see you.

Don't always expect the other person to make the advances if there is no good reason why you shouldn't make them. Sometimes the very persons who seem most "unapproachable" turn out to be quite willing to be friendly if they are approached in the right way. Look for the good in people, always, and you will be very sure to find it.

MAKES THE SAPPHIRE BLUSH

Radium Treatment Turns the Cheapest Stones to Rubies, Which Command the Highest Price.

Modern science has got brought in very much nearer the magic source of the old philosopher, but it has enabled later experts to play some surprising tricks with the existing materials of the jeweler and lapidary. The old alchemist set out to discover the philosopher's stone, and the very process and other adjuncts to civilization as the accidental by-product of their original inquiry. Their less credulous descendants reverse the process; the invention is made first and its application to make it disenchanted afterward.

The existence of the electric furnace makes it possible to create diamonds that are the veritable stone, and to fuse chippings and fragments of ruby into one complete jewel. Now arrives a report that with the aid of radium successful transformations have been made in the appearance, if not in the nature, of certain precious stones. A sapphire, it is said, has been turned into a glorious ruby by long exposure to the effect of radium. Chemically considered, this is not very surprising, for the two stones are both examples of corundum, and the mysterious accident of color is the principal difference between them. If a sapphire can be made to blush hard enough for its mistake is not being a ruby, presumably it could blush itself into a most accomplished example of the more valuable stone.

LEADS FIGHT OF WOMEN FOR SEAT IN PARLIAMENT

Viscountess Rhonda Heads Campaign for Places in House of Lords for Titular Women.

LONDON—She is the British house of lords—home of conservatism, inherited riches and titles, of crusty old men—be changed into a house of ladies?

That is the very striking and pertinent question now up to King and government by Viscountess Rhonda.

Mrs. Viscountess Rhonda is daughter and heir to the late Viscount Rhonda, a great Welsh coal baron. She not only succeeded to the title in her own right, but she has also carried on the vast business she inherited. Besides which she has founded and runs a weekly thoughtful paper intended for women especially.

She has now set the dovecoats fluttering by petitioning that the king shall issue a writ authorizing her to take a seat in the house of lords.

Last year a similar general proposal was made, but was sidestepped on the ground the government proposed to reform the house of lords and until this was done, the matter of seating persons who hold the title in their own right, had better be held in abeyance.

Viscountess Rhonda's petition may force the issue. The usual procedure would be for King George to decide the matter, upon the advice of his ministers. But the government can dodge it by referring the matter to a committee on privileges of the house of lords.

Doubtful Precedent. It is stated no precedent exists for women sitting in the upper house other than one dating back to 1366 when four abbesses were summoned to the king's council and it is very doubtful whether this act is a real precedent.

If Viscountess Rhonda's petition is successful, it will mean that about 10 persons in their own right will gain seats in the upper house. Among them is the young baroness Furnivall whose title dates from 1295 and who recently married Lieut. Com. A. S. Agar, a holder of the Victoria Cross and the Distinguished Service Order.

LARGE CROWDS ATTEND DISTRIBUTION OF CLOTHES

At 9:30 last night people were standing on the counters in Edridge's store. The street outside was so packed that progress along the sidewalk was materially impeded. All waiting for the drawing which would decide who were to be the lucky three who would get a suit of clothes for 98 cents.

One of the winners, G. C. Taylor, was evidently the possessor of a promising future in the drawing. He came into the store yesterday morning and ordered a suit to be laid aside for him, making the casual remark that he would not pay for it until after the drawing. The other two successful bidders were Ed Munro and H. J. Johnson.

When the entries in the "furnishings sweepstakes" were closed at 9:30, there were 447 names in the box.

BANTAM CROWN FULL OF DENTS

PETE HERMAN

There are a lot of bantams who can lick Pete Herman but they can't take his title away from him.

Pete has'nt been playing around with it yet. He's had it since 1917 and has been cashing on it ever since.

Probably no champion ever became more unpopular than the lad from New Orleans because of his sticking to non-selection fights so long while the public desires to see him take an occasional risk with his coveted crown, Ocean Breeze.

There's a strong field of bantams out just now. They box Herman and hit him around the ring, but as there is never a referee's decision at, tached he still wears his regal robes and dented crown.

Joe Burman of Chicago clouted the champion around a bit, Lolla ring a few weeks ago, but it didn't mean anything. Joe Lynch of New York has out-punted Herman several times but all he got out of beating the champion was the satisfaction of knowing he could do it.

Outright Him.

Carl Tremaine of Cleveland is keen for a crack at the New Orleans boy and believes he can take away his crown by the knockout route.

Herman has been outpointed dozens of times and laughed out of the ring for his poor exhibition.

He fights at 122 pounds ring-side, while most of the other boys in the division shrink down to the standard 115.

Plenty of Business.

But for all that Herman gets plenty of business.

Right now he is slated for a match in London with Jimmy Wilde with a guaranteed purse of 40,000. It is for a 20-round bout and the date is set for Jan. 14.

He and his manager, Sammy Golden, have booked passage on the steamship Imperator that sails Dec. 23.

Mind Changer.

He was to have appeared at Tex Rickard's New York Garden with the winner of the Trench-Sharkey fight, but since Lynch scored a kayo the match has been taken off the board.

Herman was signed to box Wilde in London for a good guarantee several months ago. At the last minute he called C. B. Cochran, English promoter, that the fight was off and left the British backer of the fight with the sack to hold. Now Pete is to get another chance unless he changes his route card suddenly.

DENMAN "DISPELS" BELIEF HE STAGED TREATY RUMORS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 18.—William Denman, first chairman of the shipping board made public tonight a cablegram he had addressed to Arthur J. Balfour at the British foreign office to "dispel" the belief that he, as head of the British war mission had informed the president and other officials in 1917 of the existence of secret allied treaties relating to Shantung and other matters.

In a statement Mr. Denman said he had "outright" permission to make public his own knowledge on the subject as one of the officials who con-

A Smile a Day Drives Gloom Away

The sky above was overcast and snowflakes scurried down as Sunny Smiles and I were riding back into our town. A sheet of white stretched out where once the fields waving green I'd seen and all the trees around for miles looked stark and naked, lean.

"Why can't we always have fair weather, sunshine and no snow?" I asked of Sunny Smiles, "Please tell me so I'll know. When old Sol beams I feel my heart expand in happiness, but when the snow is all around I feel a grouch come on, distress."

"It wouldn't do," said Sunny Smiles, "for then there'd be no wheat. We need the snow or we would miss the most of things we eat. Perhaps you do not like the cold and snow, but still if you will just remember what it's for I don't think you'll be blue.

"And so it is with everything. You've got to look behind the scenes for most things good if happiness you'd find. If joy and bliss are worth having take it straight from me. Just look for them in places where they do not seem to be."

ferred with the British mission. "If Mr. Balfour will deny that he made the alleged disclosure," he added, "it will not be necessary for me to procure the desired permission. The message to Mr. Balfour after referring to press articles from London said:

"It is attributed to you that you stated that you informed the president and your conferees in 1917 of the existence of the secret treaties affecting Shantung, the German share in China, the division of the islands of the South and North Pacific and the coercion of China into the war.

"This statement is generally believed in America to have been made by you and so far as I am informed it has not been denied by you. Will you kindly dispel this American belief concerning your alleged disclosure to us of the secret treaties by stating your memory of what there transpired."

In his statement, Mr. Denman said there was "a sharp conflict between the public statements of the president and of Secretary Lansing on the one hand and Mr. Balfour on the other hand."

HARDING HEARS OPINION FROM SENATOR NEW

Member of Foreign Relations Committee Has Own Views on Association of Nations

MARION, O., Dec. 10.—President-elect Harding heard suggestions for his association of nations plan from widely divergent viewpoints today in conference with Senator Harry S. New of Indiana, Senator J. A. Reed of Missouri and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university.

Each indicated that the thought Mr. Harding was following along hopeful lines but each had his own idea of what had been made the basis and form of any international agreement to promote peace. Senator New, republican, member of the foreign relations committee, was inclined to favor a disarmament agreement if one could be made. He indicated that he would not be adverse to taking such machinery of the Versailles league as might be found practicable, but told Mr. Harding that in his opinion a covenant mutually pledging the leading nations to reduce armaments would be vastly superior to any complicated international peace agreement. As a democrat who has made a bitter fight for flat rejection of the Versailles treaty, Senator Reed counseled the president-elect against acceptance of league membership on any basis and recommended modification of international law as the best hope of averting diplomatic disaster. To go into the language in the face of the people's verdict at the election, he declared, would be a breach of faith and a costly blunder. He evidenced little faith that war could be abolished but conceded a plan for more deliberate diplomatic parleys might prevent some of them.

Economic considerations were advanced by Dr. Butler as the determining factor of the international situation. He prophesied that in the end trade and commercial ties would be found more binding and more practically useful than peace covenants, in rehabilitating conversation and regulations of its own.

Both Senator Reed and Dr. Butler indicated they considered the war referendum proposal impracticable and Senator New reserved judgment regarding it. Another caller today was Harry M. Daugherty. It is understood that both Mr. Daugherty and Senator New talked with Mr. Harding about cabinet appointments.

COMMISSION TO AID DELEGATES SECURE RATES

Idaho Public Utilities Commission Prompt to Help Secure Lower Freight Charges

The assistance of the Idaho Public Utilities commission has been promised to the Twin Falls delegation in presenting the request for lower transportation rates on several products of this county at the hearing to be conducted in Pocatello tomorrow according to Newell S. Wight, secretary of the chamber of commerce. The commission will send Leonard Way, rate expert, to aid in presenting the matter which are to be taken up, Mr. Wight stated yesterday.

Representatives of this city were chosen at a meeting yesterday and will leave here on the evening train Sunday, while Ruth, Durley, Jerome, Flier and Kimberly will also participate in the hearing. The delegation from Twin Falls will consist of Carl DeLong, W. W. Alworth, H. J. Weaver, John Maxwell, John W. Grayham, J. A. Cron, A. Harbour, N. S. Wight and C. C. Taylor.

Mr. Taylor who is the government farm specialist, will present figures compiled from the agricultural survey taken in this county for the past two years. Statistics relating to the cost of production of hay, beans, wheat and potatoes will be particularly stressed.

It is the intention of the committee, Mr. Wight declared, to show that the high cost of production, taken in conjunction with the present high freight rates, is really responsible for the freight loss sustained by the farmers and for their present straggling condition. Officials of both the Union Pacific system and of the Oregon Short Line Railroad company will be present in person at the hearing in order to obtain all the information possible as to production costs.
