COMMITTEE TO CONFER WITH RAILROAD MEN

Expect Definite Results From Pocatello Meeting Within Ten Days
Declares N. S. Wight.

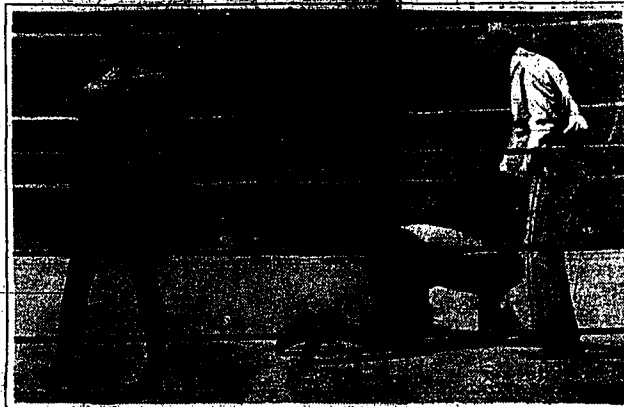

Some definite knowledge as to the result of the conference in Pocatello on a reduction in freight rates on grain products and potatoes, will probably be available within the next ten days, according to Newell S. Wight, secretary of the chamber of commerce, who returned yesterday with other delegates to the hearing from this city.

A committee of eight men was appointed by Chairman Grayham, of Twin Falls, to confer with the railroad officials and to present the demands of the interests which they represented, following the submission of voluminous figures by the farmers as to their costs of production.

This committee after a session with the carriers' executives, reported that the railroads had agreed to take the request under consideration, and that after it had been weighed with respect to the various states on the east and west of Idaho, they would tender their report. They stated that an adjustment of (a) to rates on these commodities cannot be effected without materially affecting the rates in adjacent states and that this matter must be carefully considered before any definite action could be taken.

Members of the committee which took part in this conference were as follows: Leonard Way, vice export of the state public utilities commission; Senator Bridgman, of Parma; Carl DeLong, of Twin Falls; M. J.

ANTI-STRIKE LEGISLATION GIVEN CONSIDERATION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 20.—Anti-strike legislation which has gone a part of the way through congress got momentary consideration again today in the senate.

Senator Poindexter, republican, of Washington, whose bill designed to discourage strikes in interstate commerce was passed by the senate last week without a word of debate and is an almost empty chamber, but was held from going to the house by a motion by Senator La Follette, Wisconsin, to reconsider, gave notice that he would ask shortly for the revival of the parliamentary service.

Senator Poindexter said that he intended to give the Wisconsin senator a motion to reconsider, although La Follette who was in the chamber, did not join in the debate.

Vice President Marshall ruled that that was not done, he would ask the senate to table it and let the bill, although technically passed by the senate, could still be brought up for debate. The senate adjourned before further action could be taken.

Senator Robinson, democrat, of Arkansas, protested in behalf of the bill.

INSTALLATION OF METERS WILL STOP WASTE SAYS MAYOR

W. H. Eldridge Tells of Reasons for Flushing Check on Water Users of City.

In an interview yesterday, Mayor W. H. Eldridge deprecated the hubbub that has been raised over the installation by the waterworks department of meters.

Mr. Eldridge stated "The only reason for the installation of the meters was to cure the waste wastage of water. When the new filtration plant was constructed, it was built with a view to supply a city of twice the present size of Twin Falls.

"In the summer of 1919, test runs were made by the engineer of the company which constructed the filter plant and which showed that the capacity of the plant was being overtaxed. It then became a question of enlarging the filtration plant, building a storage reservoir to hold the night run, which would have cost more than $75,000, or to put on meters and make each man pay his pro rata share."

"After the water works committee had gone into the proposition thoroughly and after it had been discussed by the city council, it was decided that the best step to take was to install the meters. The public probably does not understand August, while the capacity of the

that although the filter plant has a capacity sufficient, to take care of the wants of the waterusers, it cannot do its work efficiently between the hours of 8 o'clock in the morning and 6 o'clock at night when it is carrying the peak load. Between these hours the filter must run at a rate of seven million gallons per day, basing these figures upon the average amount of water used during the past months of July and August, while the capacity of the plant is only six million gallons daily. Figures produced by the superintendent of the water works department show that the maximum consumption during the past year was on August 17 when 4,806,000 gallons were used, while the average during the months of July and August was 4,409,000 per diem.

Mr. Pilgerrin stated that the average daily consumption per capita in this city is 420 gallons, while other cities of the same size average only 125 gallons for each person daily. Also, he declared, the statistics for Twin Falls were based on a population of 10,000 people.

In connection with the installation of the meters and the reasons for placing them in the parkings, Mr. Pilgerrin made the statement that they were so placed in order to make reading them more economical, and also called attention to the fact that a great many of the houses in the city have no basements and that it would be impossible to install them uniformly. As for the declaration that a grain of sand would stop the meter from working, Mr. Pilgerrin said that there is no sand in the water after it has gone through the filter plant, and that it is practically 100 per cent chemically pure.

Total costs, including material and labor, of installing meters, Mr. Pilgerrin placed at $100,000, while the charge which is being made to the property owner is $20, or $15, a 10 per cent discount being allowed for prompt payment. Seven hundred meters have already been installed, he said, and a similar number contracted for, leaving a balance of 500 yet to be purchased. Over 200 houses in the business section were previously metered.

Mr. Pilgerrin explained that even had the filter plant been constructed lower, it would still be necessary to have installed the pump, as the canal company occasionally cuts the water until there is only a little stream and that the pump is then needed to suck up every drop in order to keep the filter supplied. Since the pump has been put in last March, it has run only 48 hours altogether, and instead of a monthly charge of $200 for power, the actual cost to the city has been less than $5 during the entire period.

Upon being questioned as to lowering the elevation of the filter, Mr. Pilgerrin made the statement that had this been done, the installation of the pump would have cost approximately $5,000 more due to the necessity of blasting a bed out of the solid rock.

A DISARMAMENT POLICY

In a recent address in Philadelphia, General Tasker H. Bliss made these interesting suggestions as proposals which the United States might make to the other powers for the promotion of world peace:

"We will agree with you that each nation that so desires shall keep and build whatever frontier and coast fortifications it wishes. Fortifications cannot stride across the earth, devastating fields and destroying cities."

"We will agree with you that each nation may maintain a navy. No navy without an army can conquer and hold foreign territory."

"We will agree with you on a date when we shall simultaneously abolish any military system which is solely necessary for international war."

"We will agree with you on a date as remote as existing conditions make absolutely necessary when we shall begin the gradual reduction of our armed forces until they are at the limit necessary for the maintenance of international order. In coming to an agreement about this we will accept any reasonably just principle of proportion, provided it results in a reasonable and material reduction, but admitting in advance that reduced armaments can no more be equalized than excessive ones. We will trust to the good sense of the common peoples of the nations, who suffer most from excessive armaments, to see to it that when the movement has once begun it is pushed as rapidly as may be to its proper limit."

"We will agree with you on the proper amounts of material to be kept on hand for the reduced forces, and we will further agree with you to cease the manufacture of material until the amounts on hand are reduced to what we agree upon as necessary for the reduced forces."

Some of these proposals are novel, particularly the one permitting navies of any size, provided armies are limited. All of them are worth discussing at this time, particularly, when the League Assembly at Geneva has made disarmament a universal topic, and all the world is looking to the United States for some word as to its future military policy.

CANADIAN INDEPENDENCE

The Canadian government has suggested tactfully and pleasantly to the British government that it would be agreeable to the Dominion to be allowed to select her own Governor-General subject to the approval of the King.

Hitherto the representative of the Crown has been appointed by the King of England, with the advice and consent of the British cabinet. It was so provided in the Canadian constitution before federation, because it was believed that the appointment of a non-partisan governor would avoid local jealousies. A growing spirit of independence and national consciousness has now largely done away with provincial jealousies.

Canada is quietly taking her place as an independent power, loyal to the mother country but perfectly capable of managing her own affairs with only a normal amount of filial deference to parental dignity and authority.

There is nothing startling or radical in Canada's attitude. It is wholly sane and reasonable, a natural result of her position in the western hemisphere. The United States has more reason than ever to count the great nation to the north as a congenial friend.

AVIATION NEEDS

The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics has presented its sixth annual report. It makes several recommendations which are interesting to constituents as well as to congress.

In the first place it approves the idea of a bureau and a commissioner of air navigation. It believes that federal regulation of commercial aviation is necessary, and that the licensing of pilots, aircraft, landing fields, etc., can be better carried on by such a government department than by the scattered methods now in force.

The committee seeks also to have Congress authorize an American competition to stimulate private enterprise in improving airplane designs and manufacture.

It urges the further development of the Post Office department's air service, which has been forging ahead obtrusively ever since the Armistice. It would have more extensive research in aeronautics and also more adequate appropriations for military and naval air services.

All of these things are probably needed and will come eventually, even if great expenditures are not possible immediately. Aircraft of all sorts have been proved practicable for so many and such varied uses that most persons feel that the possibilities are almost unlimited. No American wishes to see the United States lag behind Europe in the development of the full-scale possible use of this new form of transportation.

WILLIAM THE MEEK

The Chicago Tribune prints a touching interview with the former Kaiser.

It seems that that universal lover of mankind, "along with millions of ordinary Germans and the entire German industrial, financial and political leadership, looks toward America for aid which will help Germany regain her place as one of the world's greatest nations."

Wilhelm believes that the hatred caused by the war will be most easily forgotten in America, and he resents the "vilification and lies" which continue in many places. "It is a sore spot with him that British ministers of the gospel attacked him from their pulpits, but the former German ruler is above small hatreds. In a real Christian spirit he looks forward to reconciliation between all nations." Also the former War Lord is said "always to have stood for peace," and today "he believes that every good citizen should work for international peace and unity."

This report would be funny if it were not so discouraging. It shows all too plainly the same conceited attitude which precipitated the world war, and the same lack of appreciation of his own blood-guiltiness. Wilhelm is said to be in fine physical condition, but there is little here to indicate that the old insane arrogance has been remedied at all.

America may forgive some things. She may agree, for the common good, to erase the records of other offenders. She will never forget William of Hohenzollern or recognize him for anything but what he was and is.

THROUGH WIRE TO PANAMA

The Pan-American Union building in Washington was recently the scene of ceremonies observing the completion of a land-telegraph system between Washington and Panama. Heretofore messages had to go either by wireless or cable. An unbroken land communication now supplements the other two.

The gap in the connection has been in Guatemala, a three-mile stretch across the Suchiate river which forms part of the boundary between Guatemala and Mexico. The gap was finally closed December 11. The all-land route for a telegraph message from our capital now lies by wire through Mexico City, Guatemala, San Salvador, Managua and San Jose.

There is nothing epoch-making in the completion of this line yet 20 governments represented in Washington saw fit to join in celebrating it. Every improvement in international communication should be hailed with similar satisfaction, for it increases the opportunity for fuller understanding and freer exchange of ideas between nations.

The old prejudice against speakers who read their speeches from manuscript is wrong. As a long-suffering toastmaster says, "They have the great merit that, when they're through, they're through."

The principal problem of the unemployed is dodging the things their wives can find for them to do around the house.

Senator Harding will have to be careful not to take the best talkers for the "best minds."

LANDIS REFUSES TO SENTENCE SUGAR THIEVES

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Judge Kenneth Landis today refused to sentence six men charged with stealing 500 sacks of sugar from trains in Indiana.

Neither of the callers who came here at Mr. Harding's invitation, would talk about the details of their conference, but both said they believed he was working along hopeful lines in his efforts to formulate an association of patrons.

Another caller during the day was William Butterworth of Moine, Ill., vice president of the chamber of commerce of the United States, who talked about business conditions. He asked especially that the department of commerce be placed under the supervision of a secretary willing to co-operate with the nation's business interests.

There's no more sensible thing than for fond Parents, Uncles, Grandparents and Employers, instead of spending money for Perishable Gifts, to Start Off their little friends with a Bank Book.

By so doing you'll be conferring what may prove to be a lifelong benefit to a boy or girl.

An early introduction to this institution will get them into the habit of Spending Money Only For Things That Count—and will tend to develop them into hard-headed Men and Women.

A sum as small as a Dollar will secure a Book! Try this plan!

WOMEN ARRAIGN ENGLISH POLICY TOWARD IRELAND

Witness at Investigation Declares
British Show Lack of Sincerity

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—An arraignment of the coalition "government" for what was described as its "lack of sincerity in its policy toward Ireland" was presented today by two English women to the commission of the Committee of One Hundred investigating the Irish question.

Miss Ella C. Wilkinson of Manchester, one of ten women who investigated conditions in Ireland for the Women's International League declared that if a referendum were held, it would be found that the "mass of British opinion was not behind the government in its present policy toward Ireland." Mrs. A. Annet E. Robinson, who accompanied her to Ireland in the declaration that while the British public was hardly ready to accept the Sinn Fein plan of an Irish republic, Ireland can be won yet. If the government adopts a sincere policy.

Says Other Powers Fenced
"Little scraps of nations are opposed by the English as inviting struggle between masters," Miss Wilkinson said, adding that the four other powers using Ireland for military bases probably would prevent the English people from willingly accepting the complete severance of Ireland from the United Kingdom.

Both women told of the burning of homes and the destruction of property in Ireland.

While English opinion is becoming more aroused to the need of a proper policy in Ireland," Miss Wilkinson said, "It has been hard for us to believe that our men were committing the crimes with which they are accused. I have a brother in the military service who was stationed for a time in Ireland."

Describes Reprisals
Miss Wilkinson described reprisals by the military in Cork which she said she witnessed in October.

"At 10 o'clock at night," she said, "the curfew sounded, and the streets became quiet, with a startling suddenness. Lights were cut off and up the street on which my hotel was situated came a body of infantry in extended formation. A search light from the end of the street played upon their glistening bayonets and steel helmets. Three armored cars, followed and flanked them came down the street filled with men. The troops moved with precision and discipline through the quiet streets. Suddenly they commenced firing, methodically into the houses. They marched back and forth and until 3 o'clock the next morning I could hear constant firing and the challenge of sentries."

Mrs. Robinson told of the refusal of the American Consul, Wells, at Manchester, to issue the passports to America of herself and Miss Wilkinson. After the refusal she visited the office of the Consul general at London, she said, and when she returned to Manchester her passport was issued after she had promised not to "engage in propaganda, or to give interviews to the newspapers."

The commission, tomorrow, will hear Misses Annie and Susan Walsh sister-in-law of the late Lord Mayor McCurtain of Cork who left Cork the day after the burning of the business district of that city.

THINK MEXICO WOULD BLOCK RECOGNITION

negotiations looking to recognition, preferring to deal with the new administration in Washington.

Informal conferences are known to have occurred from time to time between officials of the state department and the representatives of European powers regarding Mexico; as reported in a Paris dispatch today and the policy adopted several years ago by Great Britain, France, and other European nations of leaving the lead to the United States in dealing with Mexico is expected to be continued. This policy has also been adopted largely by the bankers of the different European countries and has been made the basis for the agreement which is known to exist among them that no money will be loaned to Mexico without the consent of the entire group, and that no financial negotiations will take place until international political relations of Mexico are more firmly established.

Representatives of France and Great Britain have from time to time made suggestions to the United States regarding the course that should be taken, but in the main they have conceded that the interests of their nations are more firmly established. Representatives of the United States, that the course taken by the United States would be endorsed by their governments. None of the large European powers has recognized Mexico. Germany has had her minister in Mexico for over months but she has not presented his letters of credit.

Whether President Obregon will agree finally to an agreement which will be regarded as satisfactory by the government and incidentally by the "mass of Europe," is said to be not definitely known. It has been reported that he had declared he will give his government such as will be given recognition solely on account of its merit and thus preserve a certain amount of dignity.

CLAIM OFFICIALS WERE PROFITEERS DURING SHORTAGE

Managing Director of American
Wholesale Coal Association Testifies to Senate Committee.

WASHINGTON, December 21.—Charges that government officials profited in coal profiteering during the period of shortage last summer were made by George H. Cushing, managing director of the American Wholesale Coal Association, testifying tonight before a senate investigating committee. In an executive session the committee, according to Senator Calder, republican of New York, its chairman, was furnished by Mr. Cushing with the name of the man said to have been a principal in an operation by which a group of men in government service obtained $50,000 tons of coal, which they sold later at a profit of $500,000. Railroad officials and one army officer also participated in the profit making. Mr. Cushing was said by Chairman Calder to have charged.

Shortage Due to "Panic"
This phase of Mr. Cushing's testimony before the committee overshadowed the rest of his statement. It was to the effect that a coal shortage last summer was due to "panic" and largely caused by statements of the Interstate Commerce commission, the geological survey, the railroad administration and the senate interstate commerce committee, telling the consuming public about a coal shortage this winter.

Chairman Calder later recounted a part of Mr. Cushing's statement saying that no names would be made public until investigation of the charges was completed. Certain officials, it was said Cushing testified, were able to obtain information as to communities when shortage conditions were particularly bad and possessed information as to the effect of priority orders obtained in the information for the furnishing of coal cars. These officials were also said to have information as to coal in transit, and to have been able to obtain supplies which could be diverted to more lucrative markets.

One "pool," mentioned by Cushing,

Senator Calder said, involved 450,000 tons, while other operations were said to have been inflated. The government officials named by Cushing, were said by the witnesses to have reached some time ago.

Mr. Cushing, in the open session, said that railroad officials had joined in the profit making "by diverting shipments going over their own rails to new destinations," but refused to give the names except in confidence.

CAMP DODGE MAY BE HOME FOR SOLDIERS

DES MOINES, Ia., Dec. 21.—Camp Dodge may become a home for disabled soldiers if a plan being sponsored by the national organizations of the American legion is carried out. R. bills after the Civil war which provided for permanent homes in various parts of the country for disabled soldiers.

DEMOCRATS DISCUSS REORGANIZATION PLAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Democratic reorganization plans were discussed today by George White, chairman of the democratic national committee with political leaders in congress. Progress was reported toward meeting the party's treasury deficit. House and senate committees to aid in the liquidation of a pro rata basis was the plan said to have been most favored.

LYNCH CAN SEE PROMISED LAND

By DEAN SNYDER.

Public sentiment which frowns on championing change has done its share another good turn.

This time it has shoved Pete Herman into a 15-round title match with Joe Lynch, the 22-year old New York Irishman.

And on December 22 Lynch will try to change the geography of the bantamweight title from New Orleans to the Big Town of many pavements and high chimneys.

Tex Rickard, who has arranged this choice bit of entertainment, will collect the berries in usual big league style at the front door of his Garden of Gold.

Lynch, who recently proved strong enough at 118 pounds to knock out Jack Sharkey, Timmy Wilde's only master, paved his way to this opportunity.

Three years ago he fought a 15-round bout in New Orleans. His and of the purse amounted to just $50. Besides that he busted his hand.

But times have changed since then. Lynch has climbed within sight of the promised land. His ring earnings during the past year reach over the $50,000 mark.

Yet success has not turned his head.

Life doesn't run to taxicabs and cabarets. The night after knocking Sharkey and collecting $10,000 for his bit, Joe walked to his home on West 47th street.

Drives Dad's Truck. His father, a sister and four brothers occupy ring-side seats when he boxes. They are all good, healthy rooters. Three or four days a week Joe drives a truck for his dad.

When he beat Sharkey a tiny cut, which was healed under the tape on his right hand. Believing this to be an omen, of some hell probably never fight again without it.

Herman's Test. On several occasions Lynch has outpointed Champion Herman. Yet he isn't boasting that he will be able to stop him this time. Herman is smart. He also can hit. Unless he beats the New Yorker his planned match with Wilde next January in London will not get a setback. The London go means just $40,000 to the champion.

Sharkey, too, was all set for a London trip to meet the Drilton when he ran into Lynch. And now along comes Herman.

Will the Crescent City boy run afoul of the same bit of luck? Stranger things than this have happened.

Will Try for Title Tonight

JOE LYNCH

Stecher's Headlock Wins Him Title

Champion matches don't always run true to dope.

In fact, dope loses its power, its thrill unless applied now and then. Joe Stecher was no exception. He continued his long reign as czar of the mat game before he met Ed "Strangler" Lewis the other night in the big town.

Lewis split that dope in exactly 1 hour, 41 minutes and 56 seconds with his powerful headlock hold.

The strength of the new, and proposed champ lies in different parts of their muscled bodies: The power of Lewis is chiefly in his arms. Stecher's is in his legs.

The title match was virtually a test between the Strangler's headlock and Stecher's body acrobatics hold.

A year ago this same pair matched their strength for over three hours in New York with Stecher finally losing to Lewis in a dramatic finish. Three minutes before the fall the Nebraska staggered around the ring suffering from the vice-like grip of the deadlock which he had just escaped.

Lewis fought a final showdown by leaping at Stecher but missed his hold. This gave the champion his chance and he made short work of the tired contender. That was about a year ago.

The headlock is a modified form of the strangle grip now barred. The difference is that the arms are grappled with the head instead of the neck.

So, that's that. Stecher will return to Dodge, Neb., minus his title. Lewis will splash his name across the billboards of madison. The dope is now turned in his alley. And he may somebody will come along and split it.

Grain

CHICAGO, Dec. 21.—Wheat, suffered a material setback in price today largely as a result of depression of stocks and cotton. Prices closed near 2 to 3 1/4 cents lower with March 11.62 1/4 to 11.62 1/2 and May 11.58 to 11.58 1/4.

Corn gained 1 1/4 to 1 3/8 cents, oats unchanged to 3/4 cent higher and provisions unchanged to an advance of 30 cents.

Barley sentiment regarding wheat became especially pronounced in the late dealings, although even at the outset it was apparent that buyers were uneasy over the downward swing of stocks. At first, however, there was no evidence or urgent selling of wheat and the market turned upward temporarily, owing more or less to strength of corn. Then the influence of weakness in stocks and in cotton as well proved more of a weight than could be withstood, and the wheat market underwent a quick tumble. A timely snowfall which will help protect winter wheat counted somewhat as a factor in wheat values. It was said that on the entire 600,000 bushels of wheat were taken for Europe.

Assertions that export business in corn was in progress had to do with the strength of that cereal. Export bids were said to be on a full working basis by way of the Gulf of Mexico. Only hardened with corn.

Similar quotations on hogs had a tendency to lift provisions.
