First Picture of the City of Cork in Flames

This view shows St. Patrick street, the principal thoroughfare of Cork, Ireland, in flames. The burning of the Slinn Fola city on December 11, wiped out the great retail business section with a loss variously estimated at from $15,000,000 to $30,000,000. The Irish claimed the fire was incendiary and charged the "Black and Tan" police with starting it. Sir Hamar Greenwood, British secretary for Ireland, denied this.

JAPANESE TO REGEDE FROM TREATY VIEW

Negotiations in Washington Reach Point of Conferences With Solons

MAY ASK CALIFORNIA TO MAKE ACT GENERAL

Ambassador Morris Proceeding With Shidehara in Effort to Solve perplexing Problem

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Do, clarification was made tonight by Representative Kahn of California, that he believed reports were true that the Japanese government had withdrawn its opposition to the recently ratified California law prohibiting acquisition by Japanese of title to real estate in that state. The California representative made the statement after a conference today with Roland S. Morris, American ambassador to Tokyo.

California's Will Confer.
Announcement was also made by Representative Kahn that a meeting of the California members of the house had been called for Wednesday to discuss aspects of the negotiations now being carried on between the United States and Japanese governments looking toward a treaty defining the rights of Japanese nationals in the United States.

The proposed treaty is to be taken up at the conference, Representative Kahn said, was the proposal that the California legislature be asked to enact a substitute for the recently ratified law. The substitute would prohibit any aliens from acquiring land in California and would thereby remove the contention of the Japanese government that the present California law is discriminatory.

Mr. Kahn who conferred at the state department with Ambassador Morris, who is representing the United States in the negotiations conducted by the Japanese government through the ambassador Baron Shidehara said his impression was that no definite conclusions as to the proposed treaty between the two nations had been reached.

Confere With Senators.
The conference held by Mr. Morris with the California representative is understood to have been in accord, and with a suggestion made by the state department that leaders in both houses of congress be consulted with regard to the proposed treaty with a view to obtaining approval from congress for various provisions of the pact, when it is completed. These consultations are understood to have included conferences with Senator Johnson of California, the only member of the senate relations committee from the Pacific coast states, and Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the house immigration committee.

NEGOTIATIONS ARE PROCEEDING
WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Negotiations between Roland S. Morris, United States ambassador to Tokyo and Mr. Shidehara of Japan to lay the basis of a new American-Japanese treaty are understood to be proceeding here with a view of obtaining for the proposed pact the approval of congress. The state department is said to have advised that the attitude of both branches of congress be taken into consideration in the negotiations.

To the end that the approval of the legislative branch of government may be insured, Ambassador Morris has been in conference with a number of senators and representatives, including Senator Johnson of California, a member of the senate foreign relations committee from the Pacific coast, and with Representative Johnson of Washington, chairman of the house committee on immigration.

CLOTHING COSTS INDEPENDENT OF PRICES OF WOOL

Wool Growers Secretary Takes Issue With Congressman Madden on Tariff Schedules.

By the Associated Press.
SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 27.—J. H. Marshall, secretary of the National Wool Growers association, today issued a statement branding as "very misleading" an assertion attributed to Congressman Madden of Illinois to the effect that the duty proposed on wool in the Fordney emergency tariff bill would double the price of clothing.

Mr. Marshall said: "A very misleading statement by Congressman Madden of Illinois has been twice carried in dispatches. In the debate on the Fordney emergency tariff bill, Congressman Madden stated that the proposed duty on wool would cause the price of clothing to double.

"Such a statement is both ridiculous and dangerous. If uncorrected it would constitute a serious misrepresentation of the work and objects of the wool and means committee and both houses of congress.

"The National Wool Growers association has repeatedly pointed out that but little connection exists between the market price of wool and the selling price of clothes. Three and one quarter pounds of secured wool are required for an average sized man's suit made from worsted cloth. The Fordney bill provides a duty of 45 cents per pound on secured wool. The duty on the wool entering into a suit would amount to $1.45 cents, which is very far from 100 per cent of the price of any suit. Also, an import duty on material does not necessarily mean that the manufacturers cost will be increased by the amount of that duty.

"Producers and selling agents in the country or region realize the need of adjusting their prices to permit exports to countries levying duties. The proposed measure would give American wools in American markets an advantage of 45 cents per secured pound over foreign wools that until recently sold around 2 per pound. This would give needy security to home production."

WOMAN KILLED OVER RELIGIOUS DISCUSSION

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 27.—During a discussion of religious questions Mrs. Mary Smith, 11 years old, was shot and killed tonight in the room of Philip Greck, Greck's wife was standing by when Mrs. Smith was killed. Greck went to the police station and surrendered shortly afterwards.

DISARMAMENT OR GIANT NAVY DANIELS' DEMAND

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The United States, if it does not enter into a league of nations, should initiate a movement looking to an international conference for the reduction of armaments, Secretary Daniels of the navy said tonight. If an agreement is not reached by all nations for such a program, the secretary added, "the United States should have a navy second to none."

The question of disarmament also was discussed in the senate today. Senator Johnson, republican of California, declaring that a disarmament agreement by the nations who constituted the five allied and associated powers in the world war would constitute "the one great step that could be taken toward the promotion of peace and the prevention of all future wars."

Secretary Daniels, in his statement tonight declared that his naval estimates recently submitted to congress called only for minor vessels and expressed approval of the general board's building program only in the event that the United States does not enter the league of nations or become a party to an international agreement to limit armaments.

He advocated legislation similar to that in the 1916 naval appropriation bill which authorized President Wilson to appoint a commission of nine members to represent the United States at an international armaments conference.

"If we do not want the league of nations," Mr. Daniels said, "we ought to have a conference purely on the subject of reduction of armaments. Every nation that has joined the league has promised this and all they need now is to get us in it. Unless there is some such agreement the United States should have a navy second to none. This is the reason that I have advocated the sinking of the German fleet in mid-ocean as an object lesson to all the world that it is unlikely to build great armaments for the purpose of conquest."

MUST DIP SHEEP TO CROSS UTAH BORDER
SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 27.—Colorado and Utah sheepmen who have their herds in Colorado and wish to cross the state line into Utah will observe the proclamation of the governor of Utah and dip their sheep before crossing in the future. Also those who have already crossed the line will dip their sheep. Definite agreement to this end was reached tonight by sheepmen and members of the state livestock board of Utah. Articles of the agreement were definitely settled upon tonight and it is expected that they will be signed tomorrow.

The sheepmen did not want to dip their sheep at this time of the year, maintaining that it is dangerous on account of cold weather, but it was pointed out that sheep are dipped in colder climates without apparent loss to the herds.

THIEVES STEAL MEDALLION OF RARE HISTORIC VALUE

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Valuable heirlooms among them a gold medallion, believed to have been originally the property of Mary Queen of Scots, were stolen Sunday night from the West and avenue apartment of E. V. Kavanaugh, a connoisseur. The medallion was to have been presented to the Metropolitan Museum of art this week.

CANAL DEFENSES INSURE AGAINST HOSTILE FORCES

Panama Territory to be Rendered Impregnable, if Plans of Committee are Fully Materialized

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—Adequate protection for the Panama canal from attacks of enemies from the air, land or sea, is to be provided for in a bill soon to be drafted by the house committee on appropriations for fortifications and sea coast defenses. Members of the committee now are virtually agreed upon a plan to make the canal impregnable. It has been suggested unofficially to those members of the house in charge of appropriations, that the canal must be given the best of modern defenses. These suggestions were said today to have resulted directly from the recent inspection of the canal's fortifications by President-elect Harding and his party.

Plans to meet these suggestions and at the same time adhere strictly to the rules of economy laid down by house leaders have been tentatively agreed to. They involve the spending of necessary ordinance, including the largest calibered artillery pieces to the canal as soon as they are produced.

This ordinance includes those guns which were authorized in 1912 for coast defense purposes, the first of which was to be delivered next spring; defense, the war department has proposed the placing of several of the longest range rifles on an island located about 15 miles off the Pacific entrance. The committee members are said to have agreed to this proposal to use the heaviest railroad artillery mounts with guns calibrated to greater distances than those used by the most powerful dreadnaughts afloat.

House members believe that the canal thus can be made impregnable by the use of material now under construction and with only small additional cost to the government.

PETITION IN DENIED

BISMARCK, D. C., Dec. 27.—The North Dakota supreme court today denied the petition of the state against the board for an election to the office of the recorder of the state and the board at Drake should not be given the board by the state industrial commission and a Minneapolis auditing company.

BOND DEALER OF PORTLAND IS ARRESTED

John L. Etheridge Captured in East Charged With Larceny

ARREST FOLLOWS CLOSE OF BUSINESS HOUSES

Fugitive Thought to Have Been on Way to England; Claim Deficit Will Run High

By the Associated Press.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 27.—John L. Etheridge, former president of Morris Brothers, bond dealers, whose houses at Portland, Seattle and Tacoma did not open today, was arrested here late today by local police at the request of Portland authorities. Etheridge was taken from a train here. It is said he was on his way east to take a boat for England. He is being held until a Portland officer arrives to take him back to that city.

SHERIFF GETS BUSY.
PORTLAND, Ore., Dec. 27.—John L. Etheridge, fugitive ex-president of Morris Brothers, bond dealers, whose houses here and in Seattle and Tacoma failed to open today, was arrested late today at Minneapolis, Minn., according to a telegram received by the sheriff's office. An officer will be sent at once to bring Etheridge to Portland. Sheriff Thomas Harburt said.

In An Ex-Convict.
Etheridge is an ex-convict, with two prison terms in New Jersey charged against his record, according to a certified statement received and published here today from Irvin C. Beam, clerk of the New Jersey state prison.

Following the issuance today for the arrest of Etheridge on a charge of larceny by Bailiff Walter H. Evans, district attorney, announced that a preliminary survey of Etheridge's affairs had shown his personal account with Morris Brothers to be overdrawn $22,000, and that of Mrs. Etheridge to be overdrawn $25,000. No definite estimate had yet been reached as to the amount of the money in the hands of the firm for bonds sold for cash and not delivered to the buyers.

Bonds Are Seized.
Sheriff Harburt announced tonight that his deputies had seized 75,000 worth of bonds which were sent back by Etheridge from Tacoma in custody of Roy Fike, an employee who had driven Etheridge and his wife that far when they left Portland.

These bonds were designed by Etheridge to be delivered to Fred S. Morris, who was left in charge at Morris Brothers. Sheriff Harburt said they would be held, subject to court order for benefit of creditors.

In the federal court today, W. D. Whitcomb, an accountant, was appointed by Judge Charles E. Wolcott to be temporary receiver for the bond house. Simultaneously an order was issued by presiding Judge George Taxwell in the court that all the books of Morris Brothers be brought into court tomorrow morning.

Theodore for producing the books of Morris Brothers in circuit court was in connection with the filing of a suit by P. E. Hale for recovery of $5,500 bonds of Edmondson, Alberta, which he alleged he bought from Morris Brothers and paid for but which were not delivered.

Appointment of Whitcomb as temporary receiver followed the filing of a voluntary petition in bankruptcy by Morris Brothers. The petition declares assets of the house already liquidated aggregated $1,495,515. The largest liability Whitcomb said, as shown by the audit, was in connection with the Edmondson bonds, of which he alleged he had paid $5,500. The petition also stated that the house had a large number of bonds and securities in its hands and was in a position to pay the same as they came due.

NEW BUYING MOVEMENT IS PREDICTED FOR NEXT YEAR

By Albert Apple
Business should be picking up about the first of January, according to the Federal Board. By that date, says the board, the amazing war-prices will be completed sufficiently to usher in normal times.
The latest business forecast by the United States Chamber of Commerce says that merchandise stocks by January 1 will be smaller than for years, making a new buying movement probable.
Other guesses for revival of business range as far ahead as April. In the steel industry, long considered the barometer of general business conditions, a new buying movement is expected to start either in February or March. In the bulk, the buying market price, however, is not anxious to quote prices, indicating that they look for big buying by that date.
When Really Wrong
The present business slump is not, basically serious. Business is bad because the cost of living is being smashed. Everybody wanted that. Temporarily, it's bitter medicine. Inflation is being squeezed out of prices. When the downward movement is completed and buyers are sure that bottom has been reached, things will go ahead. No danger of panic. The situation is well in hand.
Meats at Pre-War Prices
Armour & Co. announce that wholesale prices of fresh meat cuts, both beef and pork, are now below the prices of April 1, 1917, and in some instances below 1914 prices.
Other Price Crashes
Cuban raw sugar appears in New York, offered at less than four cents a pound. No buyers.
Silver has fallen to a new low level around 60 cents an ounce. The highest price was $1.37 an ounce, reached January 12 last.
Tobacco growers are in bad shape. Raw tobacco in Kentucky is bringing almost two-thirds less than a year ago.
American farmers have lost at least $6,000,000,000 in three months by the slump in prices of farm products and livestock. Thomas J. Wilson, president of the Institute of American Meat Packers, says the steel trade expects 1921 to break all records in production of steel rails. The roads hope to arrange the necessary financing early in the year.
There is now a surplus of freight cars, President Gray of the Union Pacific predicts a record traffic movement in the west the last eight months of 1921.
Foreign Trade Changes
Big exporters are turning their eyes away from Europe. Many think the few foreign trade opportunities of the next few years will be in the Orient, principally China.
Europe is now underbidding Americans in Argentina, especially in steel products. Germany has reappeared strongly in the steel export trade.
China lands cargo of steel plates in Seattle at less than the American price. This is said to have no broad significance.
Coal Prices Down
Soft coal has dropped an average of $6 a ton in the big mining districts east of the Mississippi. This applies to prices charged by the mines. Consumers should benefit soon. Cheaper coal should greatly stimulate manufacturing. It reduces costs.
French buyers have canceled more than $100,000,000 worth of contracts for American coal. Contracts made a year ago for export were $40 a ton. The open market has dropped to $14 a ton.
Textile Trades Hit Hard
New England textile mills are running 30 to 60 per cent capacity. Manufacturers expect heavy buying to start by spring. Some manufacturers hint they will sell direct to consumers.
A Brooklyn firm throws its factory open to the public and offers $1,000,000 worth of raincoats at wholesale prices.
Dr. S. W. McClure, representing the National Wool Growers' association, tells the senate that 95 per cent of this year's wool crop in the United States is unsold. Also that 995,000 pounds of wool are stored in American warehouses, a two-year supply.

MAYOR HAS NOTHING TO SAY CONCERNING INJUNCTION

When questioned yesterday as to what effect the issuance of a temporary restraining injunction by Judge H. F. Ensign of Halley restraining the city from further collections for the installation of water meters, would have on the attitude of the city council and the water works department, Mayor W. H. Eldridge said that he had no statement to make.

The mayor declared that he had nothing to say at the present time and that the matter was in the hands of the city attorney. The firm of Walter, Hodgins and Bailey has been engaged to assist the city attorney in trying the case, Mayor Eldridge said.

When in Doubt, Add 10 Per Cent.
A Wall street man was negotiating with a country townsmith for the removal of the main gutters on his house, acquiring cautiously about the cost of copper gutters, he was surprised to find that they would cost him at the rate of more than 50 cents a pound, though the metal sells in ingots around 10 cents.

"Well," said the smith, "you see the men that work the metal up in the shop get 20 per cent. The shop adds 10 per cent for the workmen's insurance and aims to make at least $1 a day on every man. When it comes to me I figure the cost of the materials and labor, and I have to add 10 per cent to the wages to cover insurance cost, too. Then I have to add 10 per cent to the whole thing for overhead, 10 per cent for the use of the car and 10 per cent for being a boss. So I really don't get any profit on the job at all. All I get out of it is my living, you might say."—Wall Street Journal.

Making a Lion Love a Lamb.
Mr. Bostock has told how he succeeded in making a lion and lamb friends.

"I placed in the lion's cage all sorts of toys of the animal variety—cotton sheep, horses, rabbits—in fact, a regular Noah's ark," said Mr. Bostock.

"Then I specialized on manufactured sheep, but it took a long time for the lion to find out that they were not good to eat. Finally a live lamb was introduced. At first the lion looked surprised, and then lay down and gently pawed the stranger. The lamb did not like this, and drawing back a nub or two butted the lion in the mane. This appeared to amuse the lion greatly; he playfully rolled over on his back, while the lamb butted again. Now they are fast friends, and an insurance company would be justified in getting the lamb as a first-class risk."

FORMULATE PLAN UNIONIZE MEN IN STEEL INDUSTRY

First Meeting and Conference—Has Big Fund.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—The new labor committee charged with continuing the effort to organize the steel industry, plans to hold its first formal meeting next month. Some of the members already here express the opinion that the first meeting probably will be devoted largely to a survey of the developments of the year which has passed since the last attempt and the laying of grounds to continue the fight at a time when the leaders may consider opportune.

The chairman of the reorganized committee is M. P. Tigho and the secretary now is William Hanson. William H. Johnson, president of the International Association of machinists is a member. Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor is expected to participate in the coming meeting, as he is trustee of the $70,000 fund which remained in the hands of the old organization committee when it was dissolved.

JUST THOUGHTS

Comfort before beauty, as the man who wears ear-muffs said.

Scores of near-success experiments have the way for each inventive genius.

Same time or other there must have been 1,000,000 copies of "Lucile" issued and they have all got into the second-hand stores.

A reason why "a legal notice" is no longer than it was a hundred years ago is because it is impossible to get any more words into it.

When a horse balks everybody gathers around and gives advice; when an automobile balks everybody for two hours behind blows his auto horn.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIEND.

BY BLOSSER

DAUGHERTY'S GOES AWAY BY TELEPHONE

If You Want to See the "Old House"
You'll Find Him at Columbus

COLUMBUS, O.—While President-elect Harding's confidant at Marion with the country's "best ideas" Harry M. Daugherty, his closest personal and political friend, runs the Republican party by long distance telephone from Columbus.

Many of the "best minds" interested primarily in politics and hundreds of other minds concerned solely with getting on the payroll, are following literally the tip: "See Daugherty."

Daugherty arrives at his Columbus law office about 9 a. m. The anteroom is fairly well filled. He greets as long-lost brothers a national committee man, a state chairman, the chairman of a national organization to secure industrial peace, an Americanization expert, and others.

Call Him "Harry"

The warm welcome makes it easy to call him "Harry."

Gibbs, his secretary, has been on the job for an hour. Gibbs is worth a story, himself. If you have any trouble in seeing Daugherty, ask Gibbs.

Gibbs breaks in with: "Senator Blank at Washington is on the long distance, Mr. Daugherty. Will you talk to him now?"

Daugherty disappears. From then on, all day, about six times an hour, Daugherty has his ear to the long distance receiver.

Between calls, Daugherty receives men congregated in his outer office.

Some Telephone Bill

Frequently he comes to the door to see who is waiting.

"Gibbs," he says, "wire that man Smith in Chicago that I can give him 10 minutes tomorrow morning on that industrial peace matter. But urge him to be here at 11 o'clock sharp."

"Gibbs, put in a call for Will Hayes. You'll probably find him at Sullivan, Ind., his home, today."

"Gibbs, wire Edward McLean at Washington, that I want to talk with him over the long distance at 3 o'clock tonight."

"Gibbs, I wish you'd get Mr. Harding on the phone for me."

Looks Like a Youngster

Daugherty gives the impression of being a young man. His clothes are as latest cut as his necktie. His face always clean-shaven and his hair carefully manicured. He has a hearty laugh that is infectious.

He radiates good cheer and good humor. He looks like an athlete. He's never known what it is to be sick.

But Daugherty isn't young in years. He's 40 years old.

Thirty years ago Daugherty began being the storm center of Ohio republican politics. For the first time in his life he had more intense enemies and more staunch friends than any other Ohio politician.

While he hasn't gotten office for himself, Daugherty unquestionably has made everybody, enemies as well as friends, realize that he is a man, for mind when it comes to political planning and execution.

Buried Alive

"The enemies of Daugherty," said one Ohio republican leader, "have crowded at least half dozen times that they buried him forever. But it was only a device that they bury him alive. He comes up smiling, looking for more fight, win or lose, he always smiles, forgets old scores and plays the game as a regular republican. He never bolts a ticket in his life."

When Senator John W. Burton, 30 years ago, wanted a young, vigorous leader who could do things, he picked Daugherty. McKinley followed suit and repeatedly offered Daugherty big jobs in his state and federal administration. But Daugherty was "poor" then to accept a political job.

Tough On Mark

In one state convention, just to show Mark Hanna that he couldn't run everything, Daugherty threw the entire Hanna delegation out of the convention and the anti-Hanna crowd. Later, Hanna was only too glad to make peace.

Nobody from Ohio was more welcome at the White House during the Taft administration than Daugherty. It was Daugherty who managed the Taft fight against Roosevelt in Ohio in 1912—and won it.

When many republican leaders followed Roosevelt in 1912, Daugherty directed the republican fight in Ohio, practically single-handed.

Helped Harding Early

For more than 25 years President-elect Harding and Daugherty have been as close as brothers. Daugherty tells how they first met.

"I was billed for speech in the little town of Riverton and arrived late, covered with dust. I was washing my hands at the pump in the back yard when I noticed a tall, angular fellow, a few feet away, looking the mud off his shoes. He introduced himself."

"The Warren Harding of Marion," he said, and I'm running for state senator. You don't mind if I hang around and shake hands with your crowd, do you?"

"Mind it?" said "Certainly not."

Taking the Oath

Under the American flag and the "lory cross" a new member of Ku Klux Klan is shown taking the Ku Klux oath in a pine woods near Atlanta, Ga. The striking costumes are worn at all ceremonies. W. J. Simmons, Imperial Wizard of the organization, states that it is "a patriotic, law-abiding fraternal organization having no connection whatever with 'night riders'."

Why can't you do some of the speak, ing? I'm dog-tired and I need help."

"Oh, I'm too green at this speaking business," Harding said.

"Green nothing!" I retorted. "If you're good enough man to be nominated for state senator you're good enough to make a speech."

"The upshot was that Harding did practically all the talking. I sat on the platform and rested."

Some hitherto unpublished history is coming to light now. It was Daugherty, who correctly sized up the republican senatorial situation in 1914 and saw a chance for Harding to beat out both former Senator Joseph B. Foraker and former Congressman Ralph D. Cole.

Harding, early this year, conferred long and cordially with Daugherty when he was trying to decide whether he would seek reelection to the senate or go after the presidential nomination.

The dies was cast at Daugherty's home in Columbus long after midnight.

"Mind it?" said "Certainly not."

PLAYED FEW "SAFETY SHOTS"

Men Who Have Won Success in Life's Game Satisfied With Nothing but Victory.

Walter Hagen, the golfer, says: "Never play for a safety, but always try for the cup."

Kings in other trades as well as in golf have found that it pays to "try for the cup," remarks "Glad" in the Philadelphia Press.

Safety shots are often careless shots in business as in play.

Rockefeller played six hole out in the oil world and he made a par and then some.

Morgan hammered the ball straight for the flag and it took every bunkier and sand-pit in the financial world.

Col. "Tom" Scott had no safety shots in his bag when dressing out the Ypsomycinia road system, and Franklin D. Roosevelt when he made his master stroke in buying the Harding's coal lands.

Theodore N. Vall, the telephone giant, never missed his game nor resorted to a half shot to save his face. He went out with the long stroke and came home to the final shot with a record card to his credit.

The big-league teams play to win the game, not to win a compromise or the other team.

The great merchant calls his flag to the mast, says "damn the torpedoes," and shoots straight at his target.

So in business as in the links the advice should be: "Hold your head still and play for the cup."

PICK EMPLOYEES WITH CARE

Modern Business Men No Longer Rely on the "Hit-or-Miss" Method of Selection.

There was a time when picking employees was a hit-and-miss job, a trial-and-error matter which few employers believed could be corrected. This is the day of doing things right and the modern employer is now selecting his associates from the office boy to the man highest up, with as much care as he would launch on an entirely new business venture.

William Marvin Jackson, director of the Personnel Development service, writes:

"If employees are carefully selected, with an eye to their real adaptability and fitness for the work to be done, it is much more likely that they will grow and there is less waste of money."

If they are interested, they will get along well with their fellows and co-operate with their superiors. All of which means that they will grow, and which means satisfaction for the employer greater than that which accompanies the knowledge that he is getting somewhere. Picking him on the spot, may make him feel good, and paying him a good salary may make him a harder worker. But giving him a new job and bigger job, will alone make him supremely happy, will alone make him work with complete abandon, with thorough-going enthusiasm.

AUTOMOBILE PAINTS

The funnel used to fill the oil tank should have a strainer in it of wire. It keeps out any dirt, lint, etc.

When the crankcase is drained, the oil after being thoroughly strained may be used in the gear set during the cold weather.

Some car owners are using automobile paint to brighten up the hood when the latter becomes dull. This is a bad practice.

When we find that a certain cylinder is misfiring, especially when the engine is under load, the cause may be a worn spark plug or a bad valve.

If the owner should have occasion to disassemble the engine he should take the opportunity to spread a lubricant over the valves.

Try the fastenings at each lamp. The swaying of the wires causes them to weaken where they enter the lamp so that they may break readily.

Go over the leather on the car occasionally with special leather dressing and the difference in the appearance of the upholstery will repay you a thousand times.

CITIZENSHIP REPORT CARDS

The public schools in Long Beach, Cal., call the attention of parents to the fact that book learning is not the primary object of a school training. Report cards this year have two parts, one for grades in the regular subjects such as reading, arithmetic, geography and history, and the other for development in citizenship. The explanation reads:

"This folder contains two reports. The first one is of greater importance. It is a record of the progress your child is making in the formation of those habits and attitudes that result in the moral and social qualities necessary for the future citizenship in a democracy. The home and school must work together in giving this training."

It is a good idea. Education has failed if it has not helped boys and girls, young men and young women, to become better citizens, clear-eyed, industrious, thinking citizens, with ideals of service and vision for the future. When education has failed in the past it has done so largely because parents and schools have not recognized this main purpose or because, recognizing it, each has left it to the other to work out. The main fact of the matter is that the familiar little report card will have the beneficial effect of rousing parents to a realization of these overlooked facts. Working with the schools to help their children in "the formation of those habits and attitudes that result in the moral and social qualities necessary for the future citizen in a democracy" should not only insure satisfactory progress on the part of the children, but a considerable improvement along those very same lines on the part of adults.

ARE DREAMNIGHTS OBSOLETE?

Lord Northcliffe, who does not profess to know himself, whether big warships or little ones are best, speaks respectfully of the opinion of the late Lord Fisher on that subject. Lord Fisher was unquestionably an expert on the subject of sea warfare. He was the inventor of the dreadnaught and the fast, highly armored cruiser. He was also one of the first navy men to accept the submarine, and to urge the use of the turbine engine and of the fuel oil.

"In 1915," says Lord Northcliffe, "he told me that the day of the big battleship was gone. He is now supported by Sir Percy Scott. At a time when we are asked to commit Great Britain to the building of a large number of ships which are to cost $50,000,000 each, I think we ought carefully to inquire whether we are building useless monsters for other people's submarines to lock up in harbors."

Another prominent Englishman recently suggested that in the next war all the dreadnaughts would have to be shrouded in a haze with a roof over it, to protect them from air bombs. In view of what happened during the last war, that seems not unlikely.

The matter is of immediate interest to the United States because our government is busy with a big construction program of which the most important factors are battleships and armored cruisers. Quite aside from the question whether it is wise at present to spend such vast sums for increased naval armament, it is certainly well to consider whether whatever money is to be spent will go to the right kind of fighting craft. There has not been enough discussion of that question in this country.

INDICATIONS OF SPIRITED FIGHT SHOWN IN SENATE

Tariff Legislation is Expected to Cause Warm Battle Before Final Passage by Lawmakers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Indications of the fight ahead over tariff legislation were given in the senate today when several hours' spirited debate and two roll calls were required to effect the formal routine action of referring to the finance committee the emergency tariff bill passed last week by the house.

Democratic forces split in the opening clash, five minority members voting with the solid republican strength against a motion by Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, asking that the bill be referred to the commerce instead of the finance committee. After defeat of the Hitchcock motion several democratic attacks upon the bill, parried by republican defense, the senate voted unanimously to send the bill to the finance committee.

Senator McCumber of North Dakota, acting chairman of the finance committee announced during the debate that the bill would be taken up in committee early next month and given "fair and adequate consideration."

There were indications that the republican decision against hearings would be revoked. The house bill was denounced as an "embargo" bill and "suicidal" by Senator Hitchcock, who charged that senate machinery was set to crush it through. American commerce should be aided, he contended, and not hampered by tariff barriers.

Senator McCumber denied that the bill proposed embargoes and was supported by Senator Smoot, republican of Utah. The North Dakota senator declared the measure gave practically no protection to wheat and said that would not support the bill as drafted.

Senator Harrison, democrat, of Mississippi, assailed the bill as "the most iniquitous piece of legislation the country had ever seen."

MRS. HAMON'S HEARING MAY GO TO DOCKET AFTER JANUARY 17

WILSON, Okla., Dec. 22.—Mrs. Hamon arrived here last night from Oklahoma where she attended a conference Sunday with her attorneys at which, it was announced, matters pertaining to her coming trial were discussed.

James H. Mathers, county attorney, said last night that because of the change in county attorney the trial Monday in January, it is almost impossible to frame a docket of the January term of district court until after that time. He added that it had been suggested by W. H. McLean of Fort Worth, Texas, as an attorney for Mrs. Hamon, that docking of the case be postponed until after January 17.

OUTBURSTS OF EVERETT TRUE

FLOUR MILL NOW RUNNING STRONG 11 HOURS SHIFT

Slump in Cotton Prices Ascribed As Cause for Slump in Southern Trade—Conditions Improved.

Operations have been resumed by the Twin Falls flour mill following a shut down which lasted for ten days and a full crew is now being worked on an 11 hour shift.

According to L. L. Breckendridge, the flour market has shown material improvement during the past few days due to a strengthened demand. The slump in prices now being felt by many of the mills, he stated, is due largely to the depression in the cotton market and the resultant unemployment of thousands of negroes, who in their extremity have fallen back on corn meal as their principal means of subsistence.

During the past two years, Mr. Breckendridge declared, the sales of the local mills of 24,000 sacks of flour have increased over 1000 per cent. At the present time approximately 1500 bushels of wheat are being milled daily at the local plant.

In addition to the grain milled locally, Mr. Breckendridge placed the number of carloads of wheat being shipped out every day at from five to ten. The Twin Falls mill has not suffered the slightest, he asserted, from the wheat holding movement in this country, but on the contrary has purchased more grain during the past year than during any year previous.

JAPANESE TO RECEDE FROM TREATY VIEW

The subject of Japanese immigration.

The conference between the American and Japanese plenipotentiaries, it is understood, have been marked by an absence of formality which has permitted considerable latitude without committing the respective governments to definite proposals. Satisfactory progress has been made, it is said, and a mass of material in the shape of reports is about to be submitted to Tokio and to the state department here.

Ambassador McMein reports, it is believed, will probably defer his made available to the senate committee on foreign relations.

While details, or even the general plan of the proposed treaty have not been disclosed, under the agreement reached by the two governments in undertaking the task it is understood that the Japanese government has indicated that it would not object to any reasonable limitation of the rights of Japanese in the United States so long as there is no discrimination not applying equally to other aliens.

Conferences are said to have been held with the California delegation in congress to ascertain whether that state might not be willing itself to remove any discrimination embodied in the law adopted at the last election. It has been suggested that California might enact a state law that would, for instance, prohibit the holding of real property by any alien.

So far as is known the question of conferring civil rights upon the Japanese in California, or in any other states has not arisen. It is understood, however, that protection has been sought for the Japanese in America in whatever property rights they may already have acquired, under the laws and treaties in existence, although the principle of prohibition of the additional acquisitions may be recognized.

FIGHTING POET IS REPORTED LIVING, WOUNDED AND DEAD

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Gabriele d'Annunzio is said to have been slightly wounded, according to the Milan correspondent of the London Times. The report that d'Annunzio has been killed, the correspondent adds, is denied.

PLACE COLORS AT HALF MAST
VENICE, Dec. 22.—The reports of the death of Gabriele d'Annunzio spread quickly throughout Venice today. The Italian colors on the flagstaff at St. Mark's square were immediately half masted and soon after lowered flags on houses were lowered.

According to some reports received here d'Annunzio was only wounded.

DECLARES DIANNUNZIO ALIVE

ROME, Dec. 22.—A committee of members of the chamber of deputies was received this afternoon by Premier Giolitti, who informed them that the reports concerning the situation in Fiume were greatly exaggerated.

He said that Gabriele d'Annunzio neither had been killed nor wounded. The premier added that the government had purposely made a great display of force around Fiume in order to induce the legionaries to surrender like those at Zara. Energetic action was indispensable for the application of the treaty of Rapallo and also to prevent the soldiers from undertaking to settle the question, as they had already proposed to do.

Signor Giolitti said he trusted within a few hours that General Cavaglia's troops would enter Fiume without further bloodshed. He declared that the battleship Andrea Doria had bombarded Fiume.

ONE KILLED WHEN CAR CRASHES IN PITTSBURGH

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 22.—One man was killed and more than 40 persons were injured several seriously when a trailer, attached to a street car, broke loose on a Forbes street grade "whisky" "bootlegging." The negro in the Oakland district tonight, dashed down the hill and crashed into Hannibal, Mo.

another street car. Both cars were crowded with persons on their way to their homes in Oakland, and it was a matter of minutes before the debris and wreckage were scattered in the down town section.

The accident occurred at Law and Forbes streets, three squares away from the point where the trailer disengaged itself from the lead car. When the trailer broke loose at Grant avenue, it started to head down the grade, the passengers became panic-stricken. In the rush for the door a stove was overturned and a slight fire resulted. The passengers crowded against the exit and after the trailer struck the other car at Law street it was impossible to get the doors open. Firemen who were summoned to extinguish the fire in the trailer demolished the doors with axes.

FIERCE FIGHTING IN ENVIRONS OF FIUME

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Fierce fighting is proceeding in the environs of Fiume, says the London Times. Despatches from Milan and the losses to the regulars are very heavy, among the casualties being two colonels mortally wounded.

D'Annunzio flew over the lines Sunday dropping leaflets from his airplane calling on the regulars to desert. The poet's troops have transferred houses in the public gardens to machine gun nests, which have been effective in stopping the government forces. All the main streets are defended by barbed wire barricades.

An Italian is related in which the legionnaires made a desperate stand in an armored car which the regulars had succeeded in setting after killing three and wounding two of the occupants.

ADD SPECIAL POLICE TO CHECK CRIME WAVE

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Placing of every railroad, street car, ferry and highway entrance into the city under special police guard and the calling out of 650 embryonic policemen for final training, were announced by Police Commissioner Enright tonight as the latest measures to check New York's tide of outlaws.

Police previously had been ordered to halt, question and search if necessary, all suspicious characters, and to seek identification from all persons found in unfrequented thoroughfares between midnight and dawn. Meanwhile, the police department, fearing another gang feud as a result of the murder of "Monk" Eastman, former notorious gang leader and war hero, yesterday, exerted themselves in an attempt to establish the identity of his slayer.

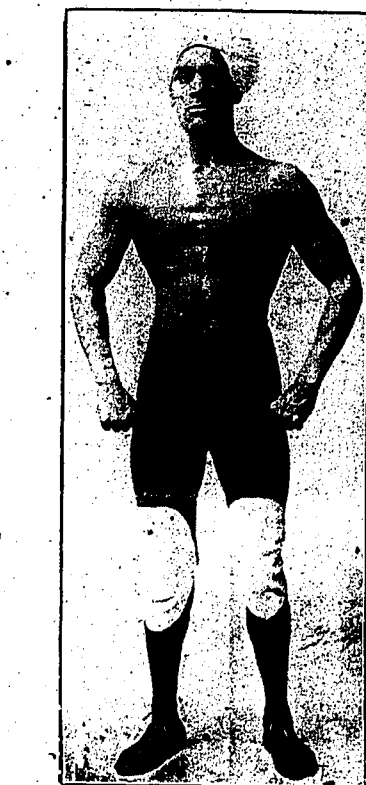

CALL OUT MILITIA TO PREVENT MOB VIOLENCE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 22.—To prevent possible mob violence 70 members of the Kentucky national guard tonight boarded a train carrying Lee Ellison, a negro charged with the murder of Sheriff Scott Hunter of Hopkins county, for trial.

Jackson Morris, state adjutant general, had charge of the troops and they will protect Ellison throughout his trial which begins tomorrow according to schedule. Reports from Madisonville were that the town was quiet.

Ellison, it was charged, shot and killed Sheriff Hunter in Madisonville on November 5, when the officer attempted to arrest him for alleged "bootlegging." The negro, who was in the Oakland district tonight, dashed down the hill and crashed into Hannibal, Mo.

ANNE MORGAN IN TEX RICKARD'S ROLE

Chairman of Charity Fund Is Promoting the Leonard-Mitchell Fight

BY DEAN SNYDER
Tex Rickard will take a back seat on January 14. A woman will be promoting a world's championship fight at his garden on that evening. Benny Leonard will defend his lightweight title against Ritchie Mitchell of Milwaukee. The purse of $40,000 will be split 40 to 60 between—40 to 60 to Ritchie.

What's left over goes to the fund for the devastated in France, 2000 miles away.
Miss Anne Morgan, chairman of this charity fund, supplied the pit idea. It's the first time a member of the gentler sex ever got into the big league game of backing a championship match in the lines of high finance.

Tex Is For It
This woman has accumulated what Tex couldn't do himself—namely, getting Leonard and Mitchell together. He tried by personal influence. Stacks of letter and wire correspondence have been interchanged in futile effort.

He even had Billy Gibson issue a challenge to the Milwaukeean by long distance telephone to no avail. The match was a bone-fire thing and looked like it might drift over into Jersey.

When the proposition to have the boys fight over the fifteen-round route to a decision for the cause of charity was struck under Rickard's eyes, he fell for it.

Cause True Blue
Miss Morgan has assumed a lot of the following in the promoting game. But the cause she is backing is true blue and there's a method in her madness.

Tickets for box seats will be sold by auction at one of the big hotels. Some of those postcards will bring in the large-figure money. "Charity and boxing" are linked together in this.

Even if the helping-hand idea was not mixed up the show of Leonard and Mitchell would call in plenty of customers.

Gives Garden Free
Rickard showed he was a regular fellow by donating his gold garden for the show. Also he will aid in making the card an interesting one by supplying the warm-up bouts.

Associated with Miss Morgan are Colonel Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York; Louis Stoddard, famous polo player, and Otto B. Shulhof. The latter is a great admirer and friend of the champion.

Mitchell was kayoed by Leonard on April 19, 1917, at Milwaukee in seven rounds. It was a spirited battle. The Mitchell of today is a much better man than the Mitchell of 1917.

Ritchie Is Wiser.
Ritchie has acquired much ring punishment since then. A careful building-up process has made him a finished workman. Milwaukee would give his right eye to stage this party.

Just since the Big Town generally gets what it wants because it pays, and pays many ways, it gets the Christmas present.

Anne Morgan has shown excellent business sense. The fund for the devastated of France is likely to get a big boost.

The fact which Tex Rickard lacked to get Mitchell in the ring with the champion at figures and a weight suitable to both, Miss Morgan has supplied.

So give the promoter credit for being a good show woman. She didn't pick a bloomer act—but a headliner of the first water.

SERVED IN ORIENTAL STYLE

Magnificent Banquet Given by King Hussein of the Hedjaz to Lord Allenby.

A banquet given by King Hussein of the Hedjaz to Lord Allenby, the British high commissioner, as described by an Arab correspondent of the London Times on March 2, was a striking example of oriental magnificence. After preliminary visits and military reviews, in which the Bedouin cavalry dashed by at full speed, firing their rifles, the banquet was held in true Arab style in the magnificently buildings at Jeddah.

On the table, which was eighteen feet broad by thirty feet in length, banqueted waiters dressed in rich Arab costume walked about helping the guests, 70 in number, to slices of the joints of roasted half sheep stuffed with almonds, rice and spices. Each guest had three or four plates, and was surrounded by some 20 or 25 dishes of salads, fish, roasted chickens, plump of mutton and sweets of all descriptions. The king's band of musicians played throughout the banquet.

At the end of the feast the king's servants handed round silver basins with ewers of scented water for the guests to wash their hands in. Coffee was served in another room where guests of a lower degree sat down at the banqueting table. The remnants of the feast, which were considerable, were distributed among the inhabitants of Jeddah and the crews of the British ships in the harbor.

Current History

The House Famine.
Morris Hillquit was discussing in Albany the heinous profiteering on rents which many New York landlords have been practicing.

"And despite this profiteering," he said, "houses and apartments are in greater demand than ever. Well-to-do tenants have their bells rung two or three times a day by real estate agents who anxiously inquire if by any chance they think of leaving home."

"I heard of a chap who entered a newspaper office recently and said to the chief behind the counter: 'I want to advertise in your paper for a house.'"

"Yes. How many insertions?" said the girl briskly. "We make a reduction for space taken by the year, and we have also a very reasonable three-year contract that would probably suit you better."

ANNE MORGAN

Miss Anne Morgan, chairman of the committee for the devastated in France and promoter of the Leonard-Mitchell fight world championship fight January 14, will sell tickets for box seats at auction. She expects to make Madison Square Garden look like society night at a grand opera show on this occasion. Women, who are timid about attending prize fights, will get a chance to see a regular show promoted by a regular woman.

Add $40,000 to $20,000 and you have the size of the purse guaranteed to the principals in Anne Morgan's big show. Leonard will defend his title against Mitchell at 125 pounds.

California, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Nevada, Utah and Arizona have been invited to confer with Governor John T. Galkins of the federal reserve bank and Theodore Hardee, director of the government savings organization there tomorrow in regard to the government's thrift and savings program in the year ending 1921. Among the state representatives of instruction invited are Miss Ethel E. Redfield, Idaho; J. A. Churchill, Oregon; L. J. Muir, Utah; W. J. Hunting, Nevada; Miss Elsie Tolson, Arizona.

The government savings organization directors in the same states also have been invited to attend the conference.

VIENNA.—While a million people verge on starvation in Vienna, the theaters, opera houses are packed nightly.

Spectators from abroad have been buying up operas and plays as an investment, obtaining works of great artistic worth for a few dollars because the composers and authors are in need of bread.

Frank Lehar's operetta, "Die Blauschnee," is attracting as big crowds to the famous Theater an der Weln as did his "Merry Widow."

When it reaches New York its enchanting valets are sure to captivate Americans.

GET RESULTS FROM HOLIDAY

Vacation Days Should Be as Carefully Planned as Is the Work of the Year.

To the question, "What will you do on your holiday?" some might reply, "I'll sleep a possible tilt against the stuporous holiday, 'Nothing.' That would be as wrong as doing too much. The perfect holiday, for the average worker, should be on crescendo and diminishing lines, observes a writer in London Amusements.

You pass into your fortnight or three weeks quickly. Your body is, literally, a machine. It has been doing work—hard, monotonous work—for a year. To switch it on suddenly to something quite different is to ask for trouble.

The walkers to Bridgton don't plunge at the walk. They begin with short walks, to get themselves in trim. So whatever you are going to do on your holiday do it slowly and quietly at first, so that the machine of your body may "change gears" without jar, break or mishap. Then by the middle of your holiday you will be in good trim and the best of health.

And it is necessary, if your holiday is to do you real good, and build you up for another year's work, that you should gradually slow down with your holiday activities, resume your work without as it were, having to make yourself do it.

Who has not known that post-holiday feeling of not being able to settle down? It is the result of living a holiday at high pressure and ending at high pressure. Lay the steam off gradually, so that you may pass from your holiday back to your work without effort.

REFUSED TO ABANDON GAME

Fleecy Terrier Died With Fox It Had Run to Earth and Killed in Combat.

What is believed to be an unprecedented end to a combat between a fox and a terrier is reported from the Lake country.

A stout blue fox, hunted by the Bienenhounds for three and a half hours on the mountain heights above St. Johns-in-the-Vale sought sanctuary in a fissure of rock in a crack near the skyline of Wanhwaite. Here he faced one of the gamiest terriers belonging to the pack and, scrambling to a shelf in the rocks, was able for some time to give as fierce punishment as he got. The terrier killed the fox, but refused to leave it and followers and hounds had at last to quit the crags so that they might make the descent of one of the most dangerous ravines of the mountain range before dark. When daylight came, the fox was found next morning to the crag they found terrier as well as fox lying dead outside the borrow.

An examination of the terrier showed that the fox had inflicted no mortal wound upon him. The terrier had dragged the fox out and then, with to leave it, had laid down beside it. It was clear that he had died from exposure during a bitterly cold night. No similar case has, so far, been known to have occurred before—London Times.

INDIANS MUST BE GOOD OR NO CASH COMES

HELENA, Mont.—Clean-up—then you'll be paid up!

That's the message Maj. E. D. Moorman, superintendent of the Fort Peck Indian agency, handed out to Indian wards of the government.

Moorman had $150,000 to be distributed among the Indians at the rate of $50 per capita. He published a notice which said: "Payment will be held up until the towns on this reservation can assure that no more gambling or booze will be permitted during the time subsequent to this payment. If you want the money disbursed in your town, clean it up!"

SOCIETY WOMEN AID BOXING MOVEMENT

NEW YORK.—Society women are backing the Stillman movement to establish athletic clubs throughout New York—and maybe the rest of the country—for free instruction in boxing and other athletic sports. They are "sugar" girls in ball rooms to raise funds to support clubs. "We've got a new outlook on boxing," they say.

That's look at that young lady school teacher in Chicago who refers to right-left boxing. Her pupils as a means of stopping rowdiness. Didn't she get the school board to furnish boxing gloves to teach the boys the "manly art?"
Ball room boys are arranged by a committee, including Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. Henry Potter, Misses and Mrs. J. Thous Mauds. Among those who occupy ringside seats at the shows are Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, Miss Anne Morgan and Mrs. Herbert Shipman.

FLYING CHIP IS SOURCE OF BILL BEFORE COUNCIL

Silver of Cement Breaks Plate Glass Window and Claim Is Made Against the City.

Considerable time was consumed last night by the city council in their regular weekly session in discussing the pros and cons of allowing a bill for $250 submitted by the Warren Construction company for a plate glass window in the First National bank which was broken by employees of that concern while working under the direction of the city engineer.

Action on this bill, however, was postponed until the arrival here early next month of A. J. Hill, local representative of the Warren Construction company, council being desirous of hearing another speech from this gentleman who has recalled them with his eloquence on numerous previous occasions. It appears that while repairing a sidewalk in the street in front of the bank building, a particle of cement flew under doors of a pick and smashed the window. Inasmuch as this work was not being done under contract, but was on a cost plus basis, the city may be held liable. Members of the council, however, were not entirely sure as to whether or not they should pay the insurance company which carried the risk and received a premium therefor, the Warren Construction company having reimbursed that concern.

Turner K. Hackman appeared on behalf of William George relative to the shooting of an alleyway to the city, which deed council refused pursuant to its policy of enforcing no alley less than 20 feet in width. Mr. Hackman then withdrew the deed.

The city meat inspector was granted authority to collect and mount specimens of diseased meat for the education and detection of the public. There was much discussion as to the most appropriate place to install this exhibit.

Council took up the possibility of excluding children under 16 years of age from the streets during the late hours of the night, and the early hours of the morning, in an informal discussion. This subject was brought up for consideration by Mayor W. H. Eldridge upon the complaint of local policemen, who declared that boys of that age were idly hanging about on the streets until two or three o'clock in the morning.

Ordinances were passed declaring a deficiency to exist in the abutting property funds of local improvement districts Nos. 35 and 37, and providing for the reassessing of this land. The deficiencies were placed at $11,151.55 and $3,215.75, respectively.

City Clerk W. A. Minnick also informed council that he had been approached by an unnamed party as to the possibility of naming an ordinance prohibiting dogs from running about the city at large during the night hours. No action was taken.

CITY FATHERS EXPLAIN MEAT INSPECTION LAWS

Misunderstanding of Farmers Concerning Enforcement of New Act Cleared Up at Session

Owing to the fact that there has been considerable misunderstanding over the meat inspection ordinance of the city by farmers of the true desire to see meat, city council last night made known the more important regulations concerning such sale. The meat of animals raised and slaughtered by farmers in a sanitary way on their farms, declared council, may be sold direct to the consumer without inspection.

If the farmer desires to sell meat from animals to hotels, restaurants or other than consumers he may do so by applying to the city clerk for a certificate granting inspection. Inspection will be made by the city meat inspector at the city hall on Tuesdays and Thursdays between the hours of 11:30 a. m. and 1:00 p. m. On Saturdays the hours will be between 10 and 12 a. m. On the other days of the week inspection can be had at various packing plants. If farmers wish inspection on the days the inspector is at the packing plants it will be necessary for them to take the carcasses to that plant. All parts of the carcass brought for inspection with their natural attachments with the exception of the bladder, intestines and stomach. If the carcasses are to be quartered the organs may be attached on either side. Care should also be taken, says the city inspector, to leave all glands on the liver.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF BEING WITCH IN NEW YORK COURT

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Echoes of Puritan days resounded within the walls of Washington Hecla court today when a woman of "black magic" was accused of being a witch.

She appeared as a complainant against Mrs. Sophie Stern, whom she charged with having publicly denounced her with untrue accusations but suddenly she turned defendant when Mrs. Stern came to court with her two-year daughter who had been cured, she said, by Mrs. Avorn, and had lost the power of her legs.

"Up to a couple of months ago," said Mrs. Stern while her sympathizers booed Mrs. Avorn, "my baby was strong and healthy. Then this woman went and cured it. Your honor, that woman is a witch. Two hundred years ago she would have been burned at the stake."

"The witch, the witch," yelled the women spectators.

Dang went the magistrates' gavel. Then the daughter of the summons against Mrs. Stern for lack of evidence.
