FRENCH TELL OF HEROISM OF AMERICAN

A LIEUTENANT AND SIX MEN HOLD FRONT OF 700 YARDS ALL DAY IN FACE OF GERMAN ATTACK—DESPERATE EFFORT OF HIGHEST VALUE

(By Henry Wood, United Press Staff Correspondent) WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, APRIL 22.—How an American lieutenant and six men held a 700-yard front all day against the Germans, during the recent enemy attack on Selchey, was told in the official report of the French colonel, who commanded the regiment which co-operated with the Americans in recapturing Selchey and Bemieres wood.

"After our joint counter attack, personally visited the battle front, the colonel said: "Everywhere evidences were visible of the most desperate hand-to-hand fighting, demonstrating that the Americans, despite the two-hour bombardment, defended themselves valiantly, particularly near Lays. There, two American machine gunners dug in their tracks after covering the retreating ground with German debris.

Heavy Struggle Heavily As a result of this most magnificent resistance, the enemy suffered the heaviest losses. "Two American machine gunners were separated from their company. Although partly surrounded, they refused to retreat, standing fast under a terrific bombardment and engaging in hand-to-hand combat throughout the day. "When the Germans reached the American machine gun positions the Americans blew up their guns and retreated.

Hospital Blown Up "Toward evening, the hospital at Selchey was blown up. All the doctors and nurses were either killed or wounded. Thereupon, the head doctor of an American regiment engaged volunteers, and setting both French and American ambulances, dashed through repeated barrages into the village where he attended the wounded for many hours.

"At Selchey, an American group broke open grenade cases and established themselves in the northern position of the village, maintaining their position throughout the day. Nine of the 23 were still alive when evening came. An American cook was nearly killed by a grenade but seized a rifle and fired until he dropped dead.

Wounded, Fight On "An American lieutenant and six men, caught on a 700-yard front, continued patrolling all day, keeping up contact between the battalions fighting on their right and left. One of these men who was seriously wounded was ordered to rest. In a matter of obeying he leaped into a shell hole and, with his rifle and hand grenades, maintained his position."

MINNESOTA MAY NOT STAGE RING CONTEST (By United Press) ST. PAUL, Minn., April 24.—The fighting of a bout for the Willard-Pulton battle of July fourth was still prominent J. O. Miller's big problem today. When the Minnesota public safety commission after a hearing refused to sanction the bout immediately, the championship fight was hopeless. Miller was quoted as ready to give up a big wad to shift the burden to other promoters.

AWFUL CRIMES MARK RECORD OF DEAD MAN

NO LESS THAN THREE MURDER PLANTS BELIEVED TO HAVE BEEN OPERATED BY SUICIDE

(By United Press) ROYAL OAK, Mich., April 24.—Three "murder plants," one at Lakewood, N. J., one at Detroit and one here—were operated by Heinrich Schmidt at different times, police were inclined to believe today, following revelations by Gertruda, his 18-year-old daughter. At least two other women in addition to Augusta Steinhach, of New York, are known to have chipped from right through his establishments. How many others went the same way, police do not know. The women were attracted through matrimonial advertisements. In expectation of finding traces of bodies of some of the victims, police were digging up in the cellar and yard of the Schmidt home here today.

Old Tells Her Story Following her father's confession yesterday that he burned the body of Augusta Steinhach, New York housemaid, and his subsequent suicide, Gertruda unfolded to the police further details of Schmidt's sordid life. She was ordered released today by the prosecuting attorney, who is convinced she is innocent. Schmidt landed in New York in 1913, she said, having left Germany to escape military service. His first venture was in a "barber-shop," Lakewood, N. J., where Adolf Ulrich, his housekeeper, disappeared.

Next Irma Palatinus, 28, answered Schmidt's matrimonial advertisement, "was married" to him and disappeared. Another woman came in and subsequently disappeared in the Schmidt homes in Detroit and here, authorities declare.

BLOCKING CHANNEL HARD ON U-BOATS

AMERICAN ARMY AND NAVY MEN DELIVERED WITH BRITISH ACTION

(WASHINGTON, April 24.—The Ostend and Zeebrugge raids were hailed yesterday as marking a trend toward an aggressive rather than a defensive allied naval policy. Army and navy men who have long preached the naval offensive plan were rejoiced that the allies "have started something." Today raids may not be of vital importance on the whole war situation, but a degree of initiative and daring was exhibited which has been lacking up to date, according to the view of many experts. Blocking the channel, with cement ships will hamper temporarily at least, the free movement of U-boats. German generally keep about two-thirds of them in the bases, one-third at sea. If enough ships could be sunk among the bases other naval vessels could stand off and by occasional shots prevent the Germans from blasting out the obstructions, it is believed.

Navy Working Up Some naval officials recently predicted that real aggressive operations in the North Sea would be attempted before July 1. Today's raid, taken in connection with recent taking of German trawlers in the Cattegat, indicated to authorities that the allies are stirring themselves up on the sea. German naval offensive and to aid, in a measure, the land operations. It is still too soon to determine whether yesterday's action represents a broad scale policy or a chance raid. Some naval strategists are of the opinion that the well laid organization of the allies for allied tactics for the future.

IRISH DEMONSTRATION WORKS LIKE MACHINE

(By United Press) The nationwide parallelization of industry resulting from yesterday's strike which worked with machine-like precision except in Ulster, was regarded today as having emphasized the well laid organization of the allies for allied tactics for the future.

ONLY ONE OF 50 DEFENDANTS ACQUITTED—NO MENTION IN VERDICT OF TWO KILLED IN COURT ROOM—MANY FAMILIAR NAMES

(By United Press) SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 24.—Twenty-nine men, charged with conspiring on American soil to incite a revolution against British rule in India, were found guilty by a jury in federal court here early today. Only one of the thirty defendants on trial was acquitted: He was John F. Craig, shipbuilder of Long Beach, Cal. Among those convicted were Franz Bopp, former German consul-general at San Francisco, and practically the entire consulate staff. Two defendants, killed during the shooting affray in the court room on noon yesterday, were not mentioned in the verdict.

Old Lasts Five Months The verdict, returned at 1 o'clock this morning, marked the end of a five-month trial which has cost the government approximately half a million dollars. Schroeder, former vice-consul at Honolulu. Six additional indictments were dismissed by the prosecution during the trial.

The case was given to the jury at 6:05 p. m. yesterday, and the verdict was returned and read at 1 a. m. today. The closing day of the trial was climaxed yesterday when, just as court adjourned for the noon recess, Ram Singh, a defendant, shot and killed Ram Chandra, another defendant, and fired three more shots which struck the court room. United States Marshal James Holohan shot Ram Singh dead in his tracks an instant later.

HUNS IN ADVANCE NORTH OF ALBERT

AMIENS AIM OF NEW HUN OFFENSIVE

HINDENBURG RESUMES WEST FRONT ACTION IN SECTOR BETWEEN THE SOMME AND THE AVEE—LINE OF TEN MILES IN TERRIFIC FIGHTING (By United Press) FOLLOWING AN intensive artillery bombardment, covering practically the entire British front from south of Ypres to the Somme, Hindenburg today apparently has resumed his west front offensive with a drive against Amiens. Haig, in his official report today, said that "strong infantry attacks are progressing in the Albert sector between the Somme and the Avese."

The Somme and the Avese are slightly less than ten miles apart, where the battle front crosses them. The Somme flows directly westward through Amiens, while the Avese, flowing northwestward, converges with the larger river less than two miles east of that city. Resumption Forecast "Between these two rivers, the Germans in their last drive progressed to within less than five miles of Amiens. A resumption of the drive against this important strategic point has been forecast by allied military officials.

"At the same time Hindenburg is thrusting westward from Albert, which is less than six miles north of the Somme. A heavy attack in this same sector last night was broken up by rifle and machine gun fire, Haig reported. "Heavy Enemy Shelling "On the Flanders front, the British commander said there was "heavy howitzer shelling" between Givenechy and Zolococ, a front of more than eight miles along the southwestern edge of the deep German salient. Enemy concentrations of infantry near Merville, in the center of the Flanders wedge were broken up by British artillery. The French war office communique evidently issued before Haig's report, described as "terrific German bombardment" between the Somme and the Avese. "The infantry fighting around Albert was already in progress when the French statement was issued, as Paris mentioned this.

GERMAN GUNS ARE BUSY ON FIFTEEN MILE FRONT

Indications Point to Beginning of Another Enemy Offensive—Point of Wedge Now Lies East of Amiens—Advance Along Front of Nine Miles—Artillery is Active (By United Press) LONDON, April 24.—Strong German attacks were progressing early today on a nine-mile front directly east of Amiens Field Marshal Haig reported. At the same time, another enemy assault was under way in the Albert sector, north of the Somme. German artillery was heavily-bombarding the whole British front, from north of Albert to the junction of the British and French lines south of the Somme on a front of about 16 miles. Strong infantry attacks were reported progressing in the Albert sector and between the Somme and the Avese rivers, Field Marshal Haig reported today.

"There was hostile shelling early morning between Givenechy and Zolococ. "Artillery Very Active "On the whole British front, north of Albert to the junction of the French south of the Somme, enemy's artillery was active throughout the night. At an early hour this morning there was a heavy enemy bombardment. "Hostile infantry left their trenches northwest of Albert at dusk. Their attack was met with heavy rifle machine-gun fire and they were driven back in the neighborhood of Drauzou. "French Depots Attacked "Bygone hostile attacks developed late in the evening. The French pushed them after sharp fighting. British and French artillery inflicted serious losses on the enemy. "In the neighborhood of Merville our artillery dispersed concentrations of hostile infantry. "On the majority of the British front, particularly in the Somme-Ancre sectors, the valley of the Seron and the sectors north of Bethune, north and northeast of Baling, it was hostile artillery firing yesterday afternoon and evening."

AMERICAN TROOPS ARE STATIONED ON AN ACTIVE FRONT

PROGRESS OF BRIGADING U. S. SOLDIERS WITH ALLIES BEING RUSHED—PERSHING COMPLAINS (By United Press) WASHINGTON, April 24.—The nation today was stirred at word from England that some Americans are now brigaded with the allies on one of the hottest sections of the western line. The process of brigading the American troops is being hurried. Daily the war department receives reports of shifts of United States forces and these changes are carefully tabulated. Soon most of the army will probably be brigaded as it is being allowed up in the French and British machine. "Wants His Own Man

The change abroad served to emphasize strongly today the fact that General Pershing has complained as to generals assigned by the war department, contrary to his own recommendations. This is the first clash of opinion between the general and the command generally accepted principle that "Black Jack" could have practically anything he asked for and when he asked it. "Regarding the naval operations against Ostend and Zeebrugge, army officials here complained in speaking of the boldness, heavy air-guns and the plan. That American navy officers knew something of what was in the wind was indicated within the past few weeks when they predicted there would be action against the bases "before July 1."

HOLLAND AFRAID OF GERMAN AUTHORITY (By United Press) WASHINGTON, April 24.—Holl was believed here today to be making some concessions to Germany to be set off war. Germany has demanded right to get badly needed gravel or other needed war material from the Dutch nation. Holland has steadfastly declined to make certain concessions, but it is considered likely that she is striving to do the difficult task of keeping on nominally firm terms, at least, with both the Dutch and the Germans. The state department and Dutch government had unusually small information as to developments there, said to be the fact that the United States is deterring to keep as much peace possible in the Dutch situation by playing more tonnage than at first dictated on.

ADD NEW COLUMNS TO THE SCORE BOARD

(By United Press) CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 24.—A new swatting crown—the highly tilted championship—will be awarded in the American league this year. Two new columns—"Runners Scored" and "Chances Offered"—have been added to official box scores. In the first column, the batter is credited with all runs scored as direct results of his hits, bases on balls, sacrifices, infield outs and being hit by a pitched ball. In the "chances offered" column, he is to be charged with the number of bases when he comes to bat. Each runner represents a man whom he has opportunity to put across.

FRENCH NATION GIVEN WARNING

HUNS EXPECTED TO BEGIN A CAMPAIGN FOR PEACE IN NEAR FUTURE

(By United Press)
 PARIS, April 24.—Expecting Germany soon to launch another peace offensive, French leaders are warning against it.
 "At this serious hour, the safety of France can only come through victory," declared M. Maginot, former minister of colonies, speaking before the department of the Meuse.
 "Each citizen and each soldier, who wishes to live, must determine to conquer. All illusions of a peace not preceded by victory should be blasted. Such a peace would be worse than disaster."
 Antonio Dubost, president of the senate, said before the department of the Yser:

Fate Hangs in Balance
 "We have reached the culminating point in the war, when the fate of France hangs in the balance. Germany is at her maximum of strength. It is plain she pretends to determine the terrible fate of those she believes she is able to conquer. President Wilson has torn away the last mythical veil of Germany's sordid aims and at the same time has pledged the strength of his powerful and immense country."

M. Klats, minister of finance, declared in the department of the Somme that France would never consider peace as long as a "Teutonic foot profanes the fair soil of France."
 "With our brave allies, we will fight to the end," he declared.
 "The entire situation is summed up in the one word—'hold!'"

Short Stories of Plays and Players
 Vivian Martin in "A Petticoat Plot"
 Having recently achieved a remarkable success in "The Fair Barbarian," a comedy-drama, Vivian Martin is again appearing in a humorous production at the Idaho Theatre. This is the farcical picture, "A Petticoat Plot," from the story of Joseph G. Lincoln, well known writer who specializes the Cape Cod stories.
 Miss Martin has succeeded in giving a marvelous display of her heroine, from the days of pig tails and gingham to winsome young lady-love. A charming love story with the aid of a deftly acting partner of the three old sea captains who accepted her to marry his boy. "All's well that ends well," however, and a turn of the wheel of fate brings Mary Ousta sudden happiness and a satisfactory end to the film.

"Sunshine Man" With Ann Pennington as Star
 Ann Pennington's photoplay is "Sunshine Man," adapted from "Calvary Alley," Alice Hegan Rice's popular book. In the part of Nancy Kelly, Miss Pennington portrays an ambitious little sun girl who rises to become the wife of a successful inventor, despite tremendous obstacles which are placed in her path. In the cast is Richard Harrison, the well-known leading man; for Marjorie Clark in the "Bab" pictures.

Next Elsie Ferguson Aircraft Production
 The appearance of Elsie Ferguson in "The Song of Songs," her latest picture for Thrift's cinema, illustrates that this famous star does not intend to rest upon the laurels she won up on the stage and make her appeal to the picture public through her popularity. KAISER CAPTURED ON AMERICAN SOIL

BATTLE OF FORT LEE LOOKS GOOD EVEN IF MOVING PICTURE WAS ONLY MOTIF

WITH THE SIMPLE VILLAGERS IN NEW JERSEY, April 24.—The first German invasion of American soil resulted in the total demoralization of the enemy force today.
 The casualities included Kaiser Wilhelm and his five sons—the Hohenzollern lineage. The engagement will live down in history as the Battle of Fort Lee.

The inhabitants of the peaceful countryside were startled this morning by the sound of marching feet. Looking from their windows, they beheld the road filled with soldiers wearing the grey uniforms and spiked helmets of his family.
 As they held steady the chief Hun and the whole material portion of his family.
 Did the villagers about some Americanized version of "Kamerad," they did NOT.

Villagers Take a Hand
 Lacking modern equipment, such as poison gas, liquid fire and tanks, they armed themselves with stones, bricks, and even their own heads, in a desperate cat or so. With these they laid down a barrage, before which the invaders faltered, broke, then fled.
 The sturdy Americans dashed after them in mad pursuit, making captive the Kaiser and his sons, whom they proceeded to smite, hip and thigh.
 "The battle came to an abrupt end when an irate little man, armed with a megaphone, hurled himself into the fray and wanted to know 'welchell they speillet all that film for.'"

There is some suspicion that the "simple villagers" weren't quite so simple after all. But they just couldn't resist the opportunity to "sawnt the Kaiser," even though he was only a movie edition of the real thing.

LOYAL RUSSIAN OFFICERS WOULD FIGHT ON IN RANKS OF ALLIES
 (By United Press)
 YOKOHAMA, Japan.—Possibly here before the Russian in the past year is more profitable than the plight of the patriotic and loyal officers of what was once the Russian army. Stripped of their rank, spilling of their resources, in danger from their own men, yet unfit for any, they have turned their lives, thousands of these officers remain loyal to the allied cause.
 Many of them, in the last few months, have sailed in Yokohama and Hanoi and Vladivostok on their way to America, where they hoped to gain admittance to the forces serving under the Stars and Stripes. Others, having managed the scorching Red Guards, slipped the ports of the China coast, re-moved their allegiance and with the money they have realized from the sale of their personal belongings, attempt to get passage through Sicily or Italy or France, where they believe they can be of service to the allies.
 Not a day passes but what these patriots may be seen in the streets of Yokohama, some in their tattered uniforms, others in soiled civilian clothes. They generally journey to Tokio for an interview with the American military attaché, who, however, is not able to promise them a great deal. Some, who speak French, are offered encouragement in obtaining positions as interpreters, others, particularly aviators, are told the United States may employ them as instructors.
 According to the reports brought here, hundreds of these officers are in Vladivostok awaiting a chance to get away, in the interim there are thousands more who would come if they could and there are generals who would accept any post in the American army, but in Russia they are watched, persecuted and shot, robbed of their assets, reduced to the rank of private, and, moreover, a private's pay—27 roubles a day. Tales have been broadcast here of how they have been mercilessly shot by the soldiers they once commanded. All these men want today, with their own hands, is the aid of the Government to show there is still an element in Russia with faith in the allied cause.

Esquimaux Own Land in Common.
 There is no sufficient question among the Esquimaux—the women own the land with the men and have equal voice in the council meetings. And there are no vexatious questions about property rights to settle, because besides the land and personal belongings there is no property. The Esquimaux cannot conceive of land as belonging to any one person. Why did law it is held as private property by the states, they showed great surprise and one old man asked if the white men also divided the oceans in the same way—World's Outlook.

Aborigines of Australia.
 For the protection of the aboriginal Australian race, there are institutions under the supervision of aboriginal boards, where the blacks are housed and encouraged to work, the children receiving elementary education. The work is usually carried on at mission stations, but many of the natives are nomadic in habit of life, and receive food and clothing when they call, while others but rarely come under the white eyes of the boards.

Rocking-Chair Depravity.
 A rocking chair will move about all over the room until it finds a squeaky board in the floor, and there it will stay, immovable as the neighbor who keeps a pig.

Restores the Balance.
 Each solitary kind of action that is done, the world over, is working itself into its own sphere to restore the balance between right and wrong.

Rich Lands in Cuba.
 The mountainous regions of Cuba include many ridges and valleys of extremely fertile land, nearly all untouched, and existing practically as they did before the time of the Spaniards.

THE OUNCE

"The ounce," commenced Daddy, but both the children interrupted him.

"Well, what is the matter?" asked Daddy.

"Oh, you going to give us a story about arithmetic?" asked Nancy.

"I'll try to be nice," whispered Nancy, "Although I do hate arithmetic."

"Dear me!" laughed Daddy, "and so you know what an ounce means."

"It's a good one, all right," said Nick, "when Nancy, who hates arithmetic, knows something I don't know."

"What is it going to be about?" asked Nick.

"An animal," said Daddy.

"Was his name Ounce?" asked Nancy.

"I do believe Nancy wants an arithmetic story," Daddy said, with a twinkle in his eye.

"I don't have to," said Nancy, laughing.

"Good," said Daddy, "for the time being we'll pretend we have heard of arithmetic."

"The family name of this animal I'm going to tell you about is Ounce."

"Now, Oswald Ounce was a fine-looking animal and he knew it."

"What is it for me to be here in the high, high mountains where it is cold? I grow to be so beautiful here. My fur becomes very long and heavy. It's really quite lovely."

"So the Ounce family lived happily up in the mountains in Asia, and Oswald was the leader of all."

"They were given such a funny name because it at one time sounded like a word which meant leopard."

"So the Ounce family liked their name because it was so different from all other names, and they would tell folks how it used to be called 'Ounce' but that since they had become so beautiful and important and had reached it they had put a 'u' in the word which made them more distinguished and stylish, which is now the family name."

THE NAVY'S PART

From time immemorial the 'wooden walls of Old England' and their successors on the job have been looked upon as capable in their particular line.

Apparently there is to be a change. Yesterday's action and that of a week ago when a number of German destroyers were the victims of a British naval raid is taken to indicate that the government is to dispense with 'watchful waiting' as a policy and go after the germ.

There is every reason for such a policy. Today England's troops have been beaten on land. They have not been annihilated but they have been forced back at the point of German bayonets until it has become a very grave question if there is sufficient resistance to put up a really effective offensive.

As far as our fighting boys Germany will be decisively defeated when America can land enough men to do the job, probably not sooner.

There is no question but what the new postoffice now under construction will be a distinct improvement to the city as well as a great convenience to citizens.

REALLY MORE THAN NEEDED

Youngster Asked God to Send Nice Cool Rain and a Deluge Flooded Fields of the Southwest.

We were living in the Southwest. Five or six months we had no rain, relates a writer in the Country Gentleman. Every day big, promising-looking clouds rolled up, broke apart and drifted away.

One day the big, black clouds rolled up and then we noticed that they were all striped with green. Pretty soon a big wind sprang up and leveled small houses and barns, broke down trees, scattered chickens, ducks, swine and haying machines all over the country.

What's become of that Miss Flynn, the one in blue? Bob one second to know. He hung about the place until almost the last guest had departed.

Irish Eyes

By HILDA MORRIS
Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

When Bob Ellison was very young he had an Irish nurse. She was a pretty colleen, that unusual, her big blue Irish eyes fringed with long, black as Bob's hair.

Bob went through school and college with none of the love entanglements from which his fellows suffered.

It was at a dance that he met her, a debutante affair to which his mother had had him go with particular injunctions to meet Miss Wayne.

As for Bob, however, he shook off his mother's injunctions as soon as he had left the house.

And as soon as he reached the ballroom he saw the girl with the Irish eyes. She wore big, misty, floating blue that matched the blue of her eyes.

Maggie-Rose seemed to like him, too. They danced together a great deal that evening. He had supposed that they were for a dreamy half-hour in the conservatory.

Later some one else claimed her for a dance, and Bob watched her from the shelter of a doorway until some one reminded him that she had supposed that they were for a dreamy half-hour in the conservatory.

He was the sound of her voice that enchanted him the curve of her neck, when she smiled, the blue of her eyes.

He was the sound of her voice that enchanted him the curve of her neck, when she smiled, the blue of her eyes.

could do so later if he had to, but he resolved in the meantime to conduct his own search for Maggie-Rose Flynn.

After Bob reached home that night he looked up all the flypins in the directory and marked the ones he thought most likely to be related in some manner to Maggie-Rose.

But as he entered the door the first person Bob saw was Maggie-Rose herself, sitting by the fire, her blue eyes blue as the alumnus' frock she wore.

"Well, Mr. Ellison!" exclaimed Miss Banning, much flattered by this visit. "Do come in and have some tea with us. I suppose you met Miss Wayne last night, didn't you?"

"It was," confessed Bob. "Only I didn't know," Maggie-Rose—was Miss Wayne—"And I didn't catch your name, either," confessed Miss Wayne.

"Wasn't it stupid? I thought all the time that your name was Murphy because you had a boy I used to know, years ago, whose name was 'Timmy Murphy.' He had brown eyes and a nose like yours."

"Good gracious, Maggie-Rose," broke in Miss Banning. "Mr. Ellison isn't Irish!"

"Well, I am," declared Miss Wayne, making a charming moue. "That is one of my grandmothers was. For the rest I'm plain American but I'm glad of a little Irish to balance the Puritan part."

"So am I," declared Bob Ellison devoutly. "I was wondering, Miss—Maggie-Rose, whether you wouldn't like to take a walk in the park this afternoon with me?"

"Did you meet Miss Wayne last night, the one from Boston?" Her son looked slightly confused, as though roused suddenly from dreams of his good soldier in the back line trench.

The glass blowing is also very ancient and had an existence probably 4000 years before Christ. The art of blowing is plainly depicted upon the walls of the cave at Mentone, and these tools were found more than 5000 years ago.

BY THE DOOR CALLED JOHN

Quaker Courtship in Which Woman Frankly Expressed Herself as Favoring Brother, at Quaker

A few weeks ago the Youth's Companion reported two or three strange and amusing courtships of New England tradition. A reader was moved to add another to the list—the tale of a Quaker one. In a small town, of which about half the population were Friends, two brothers, John and Joseph, shared a farm that adjoined the property of Sarah, a spinster in early middle life. Both brothers in their youth had been obvious suitors for Sarah's hand; but they were slow and diffident, and neither ever reached the point of proposing. Then an enterprising and audacious young woman, who belonged to the "free" people, somehow extracted a proposal from Joseph—or disposed with one—and married him. After several years of matrimony she died, leaving him with two little girls, as soon as propriety permitted he betrothed himself to the spinster neighbor, and, according to local tradition, spoke thus: "It is in accordance with my wish, Sarah, that we should make an excellent wife of you. I have no further inclination toward the married state for foolish reasons; whether my reasons are foolish or not, I will only come if I am hidden by the door called John."

"It was by the door called John that she was soon welcomed, to wit, gently and to order wisely a double family."

Harassing an Old Spout. Chester was probably the first place in England where harassing was established, as in 1300 the mayor of that city offered a prison for each contest.

TO PROVIDE SUGAR FOR CANNING SEASON

RATIONING OF MANUFACTURERS AND CONFECTIONERS RELIEVED ON THE WAY—PLEASURES COMING

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Rationing of confectioners and manufacturers using sugar is coming soon, it was learned today.

This step, to follow closely the sugar card or certificate for housewives, is believed necessary to provide sugar for the canning season about to begin.

Over 1,500,000 tons of sugar are used every year for canning fruits and vegetables, sugar experts declare. All except 30,000 tons of this is used by housewives in the millions of American kitchens.

However's sugar card, while not as drastic as those used in Europe, pleases householders buying, sugar on the card to use only for canning and preserving. Surplus sugar must be returned.

ANIMALS ARE GOOD SWIMMERS

Polar Bear, Who Passes His Time in Icey Waters, Is Reported Best, Though Not Quickest.

Nearly all animals are better swimmers than man and take to the water naturally. The ottercoons and hippopotamus are wonderful swimmers and divers, while the Indian elephant crosses great rivers with heavy loads. London-Tip-Bites writes.

The elk and the walrus are first-class swimmers. The elk keeps his head above water and crosses directly from bank to bank to avoid turning. The reindeer, on the other hand, treads as often as he likes, keeping his head only a little above the surface. The ottercoons of all climates the best, though not the swiftest, is the polar bear, who passes half his time in the water swimming and diving. His swimming power is nothing short of miraculous if it be remembered that the water in the regions he frequents is invariably cold and that cold is normally prohibitive to good swimming.

There are bears that can swim from twenty-five to thirty miles without great effort.

One of the swiftest swimming animals is the squirrel. A sportsman, on one occasion, having at hand a squirrel born in captivity, which had never seen water, wanted to see if it could swim, and took it with him in a row-boat to the center of the lake. The squirrel turned toward the bank, head and paws above the water, back and tail underneath it, and began to swim as readily as if it were out of water. It was so difficult that the man recovered it when it reached the shallow water near the land.

PRACTICAL USE OF POETRY

Without Verse People Would Go About Isolated From Each Other by Chaos of Misunderstanding.

If poetry could be in an instant swept out merely out of print, but out of language and tradition, there would be babel indeed. We should be about isolated each one from each by a chaos of misunderstanding, with no more communication than we could improvise out of intellectual terms, says a writer in Century Magazine.

We could suggest nothing, come nothing, say nothing, do nothing, but could do. The practical reality of that loss one may measure by our proverbial ignorance of certain languages and oriental races whose poetry is new to our own. Now is that all for poetry is no longer our common degree of past experience, but to a degree far greater than we realize, our source of present action. There is no need more than to remind any observer of human nature that mankind acts rather upon passion than upon conviction. Brutus demonstrated his point in prose; it was a poetic appeal that made the stones of Rome to the man and murder. We define and determine and decide, and still do nothing; but when we begin to feel, something is done.

Many Interpretations Possible. "Too much silence," says Booth's Tarlington, "is open to suspicion. It may be reticence, or it may be a virtue. It may be dignity, or it may be false bashfulness."

FINAL TRIBUTE IS PAID TO MRS. FINKE

BORROWING FRIENDS IN LARGE NUMBERS ATTEND FUNERAL OF WELL KNOWN WOMAN

Requiem high mass was sung at 9:30 o'clock Tuesday morning in St. Edwards Catholic church for Mrs. John Finke, who died on Thursday morning last. The services were largely attended, and a profusion of floral tributes gave evidence of the esteem in which Mrs. Finke was held in the community. From the family home, 507 Third street, went the funeral procession formed and proceeded to the church, where the sermon was delivered by Rev. N. P. Hahn. Services also were held at the cemetery. Vocal music was furnished by a quartet composed of Mrs. J. W. Clausen, Miss Nellie Teasdale, M. A. Kohler and George W. Hill. The soloists were Thomas Conroy, E. D. Kinney, Julian Hoy, Owen Buchanan, William McCaskey and H. C. Haseel.

Floral tributes were sent by many individuals and by the following organizations: Elks lodge, Knights of Columbus, Altar society of St. Edwards church, Young Ladies' Sodality, high school girls.

Mrs. Finke, whose maiden name was Agnes Welch, was born February 14, 1860, in St. Louis. Mrs. Michael Scully, of St. Louis, older sister of Mrs. Finke, who arrived here Sunday with Mrs. John Finke, daughter of the bereaved husband, was the only mother the little girl knew, the two growing up together.

A pathetic feature of Mrs. Finke's death is to be found in the fact that six little children ranging in age from four to 16 years are left motherless. They are Bernice, aged 15; Arthur, Florence, Raymond, Robert and Harold, aged four years.

John Finke has been a resident of Twin Falls for nearly eight years, during which time he has been steadily engaged in business. He is the head of the Anchor Hay, Grain & Food company, and was known as one of the most successful business men in the city.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to him in his loss.

Nance has filed suit in district court here to secure restitution of the ownership and assignment of the ownership of patents on the three inventions: a rotary steam valve, an automobile low bar and a gasket screw.

Twin Falls Capital Invested

The inventor was engaged for several years here in the automobile business and the corporation was organized here for the purpose of exploiting his inventions. Says Concern Inevitable
 In his complaint, Nance avers that he was to receive a certain number of shares of the stock of the corporation and that he was to be employed by it in connection with the manufacture of the patented articles at a salary of $150 per month. He states that no payment of any nature has been made to him; that he has been discharged from the employment of the corporation and that it is now insolvent and about to dispose of its assets including the patents.
