CLOSE OF BLACKEST DAY FOR GERMANS IN HISTORY OF THE WAR FINDS TROOPS OF ALLIED NATIONS MORE THAN HOLDING THEIR OWN

GERMAN DEAD LIE THICK ON BATTLE FIELD

CESSATION OF SEVEREST FIGHTING OF THE WAR FINDS ALLIES' LINES INTACT SAVE ONE POINT—HINDENBURG DECISIVELY CHECKED

By WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS (United Press Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FLANDERS, APRIL 30.—Hindenburg has had one of the worst days since the commencement of his offensive.

After repeated onslaughts throughout yesterday and far into the night, the allied lines are intact, save between Monts Bouge and Scherpenberg, known as "Hyde Park corner," where the situation is somewhat obscure.

Monts Bouge and Noir (two miles west of Mont Kemmel) are well named. On their slopes the Germans lie thick, waiting in their own blood—a gruesome testimonial to French tenacity.

Field Is Terrible Sight
(The French word "Bouge" means red or bloody, and "Noir" is black.) Further north, ground becomes level (less than two miles south of Ypres) the flat fields are full of terrible sights. Here British divisions caught the stormy with artillery and machine gun fire, annihilating the enemy, fought well and with courage. The ferns here are strewn with cadavers.

Crown Prince Losses Heavily
On the whole it has been a day of heavy losses for Crown Prince Ruprecht without commensurate gain. The German commander wants the Flanders hills because they command the surrounding plains. The German politician wants Ypres, because they have the absurd idea that its occupation will have a moral effect on the allies. Hindenburg is ready to sacrifice his legions for this double purpose.

There is reason to believe that additional Austrian howitzers are in action. Gas shells, high explosive and long distance projectiles are raining on the front and back areas. The village of Fetre (two miles northwest of Meteren) is in flames.

Enemy Sowed Up
As this is checked, it is doubtful if the Germans are holding the cross road which they captured Monday, as a magnificent French counter attack retook Loere and the Loere bridge, putting the enemy in a nasty pickle.

WAVE AFTER WAVE OF GERMANS MOWED DOWN

Enemy Forced Into Period of Recuperation by Deadly Fire of Allied Troops—Fierce Onslaughts of Early Hours Weaken Steadily Through Day's Fighting.

THE defeat administered in Flanders by the combined British and French has compelled the Germans to resort to another "breathing spell." The enemy opened the battle early yesterday with an intense bombardment on practically the entire northern front. After several hours' preparation, the infantry was sent forward on the ten-mile line between Meteren and Zillebake.

Refuse to Give an Inch
All day and far into the night the Germans hacked and buffeted at the allied positions. The British, moving ever and after waves of the attacking force, refused to give an inch. The French, forced to yield some ground near Loere, launched counter attacks

ENEMY EXHAUSTED ON NORTHERN FRONT—ATTACKS BY FRENCH SUCCESSFUL—PUSH BACK GERMANS IN VICINITY EAST OF BRETONNEUX

LONDON, April 30.—The Germans have been completely halted in their desperate attack on a wide front in Flanders, designed to force the evacuation of Ypres.

Field Marshal Haig's report today said that the northern battle front is "comparatively quiet," following the "heavy repulse inflicted on the enemy yesterday and last night," and showing that the enemy had been exhausted by the terrific pace and energies.

"Not only has it been stopped, Haig said, but the French successfully counter attacked near Loere, restoring all their positions.

In Picardy the British pushed the afternoon back slightly east of Villers-Bretonneux.

Loere in French Hands
"The whole village of Loere remains in the hands of the French," Field Marshal Haig announced today.

"East of Villers-Bretonneux, we advanced our lines slightly.

"The northern battle front, following the heavy repulse inflicted on the enemy yesterday and last night, is comparatively quiet.

"Successful French counter attacks in the neighborhood of Loere yesterday afternoon and evening drove the enemy from the remainder of the ground which he had gained in the morning. A number of prisoners were taken."

Thirty Shots Exchanged Between S. S. Chincha and Hun Diver—Single Shell Responsible for Casualties—Gallant Fight
WASHINGTON, April 30.—A. E. Edwards, Augusta, Ga., member of the gun crew, and two members of the ship's crew, were killed March 21, when the American steamship Chincha had a running fight with a large enemy submarine.

The U-boat, after thirty shots had been exchanged, was forced to submerge, the navy department announced. The Chincha had her first experience with U-boats when she was attacked January 18.

The submarine was sighted on the afternoon of March 21, says the navy department statement, and about two minutes later both the Chincha and the diver began firing. The fourth U-boat shot struck the Chincha ash, and killed Edwards and the two members of the ship's crew.

Had Two Coming Towers
"E. D. Arnold, chief boatswain's mate in charge of the armed guard, said the submarine was of a large type, having two coming towers and mounting two 4-inch guns.

The first encounter on January 18, described by E. E. Nordquist, who was then in charge of the armed guard, lasted about an hour.

The men who sighted the submarine and were mentioned in the reports are E. E. Nordquist, Superior, Wisconsin; Elmer D. Arnold, Carmel, Ind.; Allen Seth Edwards, killed, Augusta, Ga.; and Jack Wolman, Catalina, Ohio.

STRANGE EVENTS IN THE MAKING IN PETROGRAD

RUMORS OF MONARCHIST PLOT BORNE OUT BY PECULIARITIES OF PRESIDENT SITUATION
By ED L. KEENE (United Press Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, April 30.—The only scrap of news tending to bear out the rumors of a Russian counter-revolution so far is the report from Zurich regarding the arrest of M. Putiloff and Baron von Dem Buscho-Haddenhansen's strange whims to General von Michalek.

A Zurich dispatch says it is learned from Petrograd that M. Putiloff, president of the international bank at Vienna, Gradyak has been arrested on a charge of conspiring with monarchist counter-revolution. Putiloff is said to have escaped.

German Want Report
The British admiralty has made public a wireless dispatch from Berlin stating that Buscho-Haddenhansen, the undersecretary for foreign affairs, sent a wireless to Michalek, the new German ambassador to Russia, asking him to report concerning the rumors of a monarchist restoration in Petrograd.

Buscho-Haddenhansen said he had received a letter from Petrograd, dated April 19, stating that a monarchist proclamation was imminent and that Michael, Bodinski, Michael, Alexiev, Alexander Gutchikov and Paul Milnikoff were in Petrograd. These four were identified with the Kerensky regime.

WORST CHECK OF THE WAR SAVS EXPERT

NEW YORK, April 30.—The German check before Ypres is the most decisive setback since the beginning of his efforts to reach the Flanders plains preparatory for a new major offensive against the channel ports.

QUICK SLOW-DOWN OF HUN ATTACK BEFORE YPRES INDICATES WAVING OF GERMAN MORALE AND STRENGTH—CROWN PRINCE LOSE

The quick termination of yesterday's assault on the outer defenses of Ypres demonstrates more than any other occurrence of the past five weeks that Hindenburg fears the approach of exhaustion of his offensive power. At one time also the German advance began has Hindenburg directed the cessation of a large scale attack before some slight advantage had been won.

This time the Germans were held in their tracks and the effect on Teutonic morale must be immediate. General von Arnim, commander of the defeated German forces, succeeded General von Kluck early in the war when the latter was removed after his famous drive to Paris overran itself and contributed to the German repulse at the battle of the Marne.

The tradition of defeat to which von Arnim succeeded has now been emphasized before Ypres, and his failure to stand still. When that condition is forced on him, the fact of Germany's ultimate defeat will become increasingly evident to the German people.

BRITISH CASUALTIES ARE RUNNING HIGH

(By United Press.)

The total of 93,290 casualties is the largest since January, when they were 74,038. The March casualties were 74,558 and the February casualties 104,024.

It is believed that neither the March nor April casualty lists included the total resulting from the German drive. The figure given, 314 missing, is of all proportion to the number of officers reported missing and may be an error in calling.

LEADERS SAY ACQUISITION IN PASSAGE OF OVERMAN BILL IS LAST MEASURE THEY WILL SUPPORT TO ENLARGE PRESIDENTIAL POWERS

By L. G. MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, April 30.—With the passage by the senate of the Overman "empowering" bill, a clean-cut victory for President Wilson, Republicans today declared they have yielded their last ground.

As the measure proceeded to the house today, where it will be passed without long debates or tremendous opposition, Republican leaders indicated they would fight through the summer and coming winter before granting further broad and unspecified powers to the president. Senator Gallinger, minority leader, declared two administrative measures—that authorizing the government to commandeer real and personal property when necessary and that authorizing the government to buy, sell or store practically all grains and farm products—must not be passed by the Democrats.

Will Stay All Winter
"If the majority insists on these bills," said Gallinger, "you may as well send home for your winter clothes, because congress will stay right here until the next session in December."
The Democratic majority of control is to allow in both houses the Gallinger's warning was taken seriously by Democratic leaders who already have plans under way for an ambitious agreement on the two bills in question, as well as other legislation.

INTERESTING SCENES AT TEND CONFERRING OF SIGNAL DECORATION UPON U. S. SOLDIERS

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN LORRAINE—The one hundred and fourth regiment and 123 Massachusetts men received the croix de guerre April 25 on a hillside a few miles from the trenches, for bravery and valor in repelling the German attack on Apremont wood (Toul sector) during the three days beginning April 10.
This was the first American regiment to receive the French war cross. All the traditions of Bunker Hill, Lexington and Concord were upheld by the modern "mainie men."
It was an inspiring sight as the entire regiment, during the ceremony, formed three lines of a square, leaving vacant spaces for their fallen comrades.
Star Spangled Banner
The regimental band played "The Star Spangled Banner" and the "Marsellaise." The crosses were pinned on the men by French and American general officers, who took the hand of each recipient. The entire regiment then marched by the hillock, with the band playing and Old Glory waving.
"It's the best flag in the world, boys!" exclaimed a young lieutenant.
It was a dull day in the trenches, so far as Americans were concerned, but the dull boom of British and German guns furnished a fitting obligato for the impressive ceremony.
A French general, while pinning crosses on the men's tunics, spoke to each of them.
"Faints from excitement."
"Smile, it's nothing against you," he told one doughboy. The man was so excited he fainted.
Rev. J. B. DeValles of Worcester, a chaplain, was among those decorated. He carried some wounded men back under shell fire.
The citation read:
"This regiment showed during the battles of March 30, 12 and 13 the greatest audacity and a fine spirit of sacrifice."
"Subjected to very violent bombardments and attacked by very important German forces, it succeeded in checking dangerous advance and retreating positions at the point of bayonet with vigorous energy, taking prisoners and a few demolished trenches from which it had fallen back in the first assault."

SAMPLE OF A QUIET SUNDAY WITH AMERICANS IN FRANCE

By FRED S. FERGUSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY)
NEAR LUNEVILLE—It was probably quiet in your town today. If you had arrived with as bright a smile as those as she did here, the sun was shining. There was a longing to get on the sunny side of the house, or out into the country, and stretch out for a "sun bath." The men went to church in the morning. Or possibly you spent the entire day on the first motor ride and picnic lunch in the open. At all events it was Sunday and a quiet day.

It was a quiet day in a certain little town, nestled at the base of a hill near Luneville, too. Americans were there just as they are in your town. If you live in Ohio you probably know how many of them. But the streets of this town have to be cleared periodically of bricks, stones and mortar blown out of the walls of the houses by German shells. A khaki clad boy from Columbus sat at a switch-board in a crumpled and crumbling building putting through calls for "Glandinville," "Glandinville," "Zaneville," "Youngtown," "Chilli, coho," and a dozen other places you know about. The calls for various points such as battalion headquarters, ambulance hospital and what not are made probably most to church in the town. The name of some towns at home. The crooked streets were full of men. There were no women or children. It was about 6 o'clock. The United Press automobile bumped the way over what was once a smooth street to near what was once the "public square."

"Hello," greeted a Marlon boy, "you're just about in time for the afternoon entertainment. They have been playing the music for the last half hour and are beginning to get nearer the town."

Frequent shell barrels could be heard not far away. A French band kicked the way through the dust up to the square. The music was interrupted and a concert was soon under way. French and American soldiers crowded about.

"Zoo-oo-oo—Whang," a shell could be heard coming and then fell close just on the edge of town.

"The band didn't miss a note."

"Zee-oo-oo, wham bang," another shell. This time just a couple of blocks away. Dust and bricks flew into the air above the tops of the shattered houses. Then they began arriving in shells, men, supplies. Even a small world with a hole in here and the third of another building would be stirred up there. The streets began to quake. Everybody stood up close to the house walls rather than in the middle of the street. The band was still playing.

A little Frenchman hustled down to the corner of the square. Above the music of the band sounded the shrill notes of a bugle raised to his lips.

"Avion," was the word passed from one end of the village to the other.

A German airplane had crossed the lines and was over the town. Shells were still dropping around and the Boche aviator might add a collection of bombs.

"Better get your machine under cover, or you might have to walk home," advised a sergeant from Cleveland. The driver was signalled to follow the sergeant's advice and headed for what was left of a stable. The band finished the selection it was playing, but by this time the audience was out of sight. Then came long moments of waiting. Heads were poked from doorways and windows and everybody stole a look into the sky for the Boche. A French plane appeared and the enemy scurried away. Another blast from the bugle.

"All clear."

The shell struck up again. Shells continued to fall, but after a listen at the sound of the explosions to locate them the audience began to gather again. The shelling continued for an hour. The U. S. automobile was back of the main highway and every body with the traffic of war. Soon the sound of the guns became muffled and then could no longer be heard. French farmers were plowing their fields. In the villages children were playing in the streets. Mothers sat in the doorway watching over them. It was Sunday and a quiet day.

The first annual concert given by the combined high school glee clubs, directed by Miss Jessie Simmon and the Orchestra under the direction of J. G. Lindler, will take place in the high school auditorium on Friday evening, May 10.

It is planned by Principal G. H. Dowman to make the concert a permanent feature of the graduation exercises and promises to be a prominent addition.

Liberty Chorus Does Good Work
Splendid work has been done by both organizations this year and much credit due the directors whose untiring efforts have accomplished much. The Liberty Chorus, a part of the glee club, which has taken part in many of the patriotic rallies both in Twin Falls and the rural districts, has been commended for its work and has met with a great deal of favor—as has the Male Quartette which has assisted the "chorus."

The costumes of red and white worn by the glee vocalists is a pleasing feature and makes a charming group on the stage.

Student Musicians
The orchestra, though not as well known publicly as the above organizations has proven itself a most desirable part of the musical institution. The work under way for the coming concert will be supported by all of Twin Falls music lovers. The enrolled members in the organization this semester are Mildred Ainsbury, Ruth Bellville, Emily Bryant, Winifred Brundage, Ester Briggs, Vera Johnson, Helen Johnson, Ethel Johnson, Olga Davis, Mildred Erol, Mary Garff, Ethelina Fy, Loren Oates, Merle Glavin, Ruth Harvey, Ethel Henderson, Effie Henderson, Paule Humphrey, Mildred Holman, Illiana Johnson, Vera Johnson, Mary Johnson, Norma Mackay, Annie McMaster, Eleanor Munson, Priscilla Munson, Marie Orm, Inez Puckett, Mabel Pettijohn, Lorla Puzitzer, Ulen Reed, Geraldine Ross, Lila Siggins, Willie Williams, Leta Ely, Lenora Smith, Florence Smith, Mildred Tracy, Ida Van Fleck, Octavia Williamson, Mattie Williamson, Crystal Kelley, Helen Spangler, pianist; Ruth Coburn, Frank Cook, Jean Mikelwally, Lynn Rowan, Wilbur Stearns, Vernon Coleman, Andrew Perboom, Glen Wilkinson, Grant Watson, William Buck, James Wood, Emil Boltz, Marvin Carlson, Melvin Reed, Ernest Cole, James Ozio, LeRoy Thomas, Ralph Taylor, E. A Four-Passenger Roadster With All Marmon Comforts

THE New Series Marmon four-passenger roadster is an unusual roadster in many ways. For one thing it is exceptionally roomy and comfortable. For another it is low hung, easily handled and turns in a short radius.

Many little touches that are not expected on the touring car have been given the roadster. The top is lower. The windshield is also lower and slanting. A trifle more rakishness has been given to the steering column. These slight departures have made this roadster a most striking car.

The rear seat measures 44 inches wide—over three and one-half feet. There is two inches more knee room than, formerly. Three people of medium size can occupy the rear seat. The same comfort and roominess of the front seats that have attracted so many to Marmon Touring Cars have been retained in this Four-Passenger car.

The Four-Passenger Roadster has the same advantages offered by all other Marmon models.

Those who want a car of this type should not fail to see this new roadster. You will be delighted with its appearance and comfort.

FRENCH GENERAL ORDER LAUDS AMERICAN BOYS

(By United Press)
"WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN NORTHERN FRANCE." The following general order was issued April 28 by the French general commanding the forces in that sector from which the Americans departed for Liberty:

"American troops are leaving for battle. Officers, non-commissioned officers and soldiers of the army corps salute their brothers in arms, who bravely they have admired. They congratulate them on being about to write in the battle of nations the first page of the history of the Sons of the Great Republic, who have come to fight on the soil of France for the triumph of liberty. This page will be glorious."

OSTROM TO DISCONTINUE LAW TO ENTER SERVICE

Judge A. W. Ostrom will turn the business of his law office over to Judge Jake Shank when the first of June is called the army, says the Buhl Herald. It will probably enlist in the marine.

Mr. Ostrom is among the list of registrants in Twin Falls county, and was placed in Class I, having filed no exemption claim, though he will enlist before his number is called. At the present rate of drawing, it would hardly be reached this year, though Mr. Ostrom says that he is going away as soon as his business matters are adjusted.

Judge Jake Shank will take care of the law business for Ostrom & Green during their absence. Mr. Shank was placed in Class I, having filed no exemption claim, though he will enlist before his number is called.

CASUALTY LIST INDICATES IDAHO MEN IN FIGHT

SERGEANT WILLIAM B. KNAPP REPORTED KILLED MAY BE MEMBER OF IDAHO REGIMENT

The casualty list among the members of the American Expeditionary forces Tuesday, reporting the death of Sergeant William B. Knapp, indicates that units of what was the Second Idaho regiment of infantry are in the forefront stemming the advance of the Germans in France.

No indication of the unit to which the Sergeant Knapp who was killed was a member is given in the casualty list, but it is known that William B. Knapp of Athol, Idaho, who was quartermaster sergeant of the Idaho regiment, went with units of that organization to France.

Official announcement made by the war department to relatives of the death or injury of men in the expeditionary service must be depended upon to reveal their identity conclusively. Captain Allen, commander of the supply company of the Idaho regiment, is an uncle of Sergeant Knapp.

URGE FARMERS TO PREPARE TO STORE GRAIN

FARM BUREAU TAKES ACTION TO MEET PROBLEM RESULTING FROM THE INCREASED ACREAGE

Increase by 30,000 acres of the plantings of wheat in Twin Falls county, which were 60,216 acres in 1917, and which will be 90,324 acres this year, coupled with difficulties in crop marketing consequent upon the demand of war upon traffic facilities, involve problems of marketing and storage which the county farm bureau executive committee is undertaking to cope with by advising growers to provide their own granaries and storage accommodations.

At its meeting Saturday afternoon, the committee took steps toward issuing growers a circular letter setting forth the conditions that probably will exist and urging the necessity for storage of the grain crops on the farms where they are produced. It was authorized by the committee, and preliminary arrangements were made for exhibiting in the farm bureau offices plans of the several types of granaries that are recommended, as well as for organizing excursions of growers to the county of inspecting granaries already installed and in use in this district.

The statement of Leo S. Fluharty of Boise, director of agricultural extension work in Idaho, was considered by the committee in arriving at its conclusions with regard to the grain marketing and storage problems in prospect. In his letter addressed to the county agent, Mr. Fluharty says:

Storage Facilities Inadequate

"In all of the irrigated districts of southern Idaho, the increase in wheat acreage for this season in comparison with last is from 75 to 100 per cent. With even a moderate crop the warehouses, elevators and mills will not be able to handle the grain without a great deal of difficulty. Many of the farmers will have to hold all or part of their supply over the winter, and for this reason should make provision at this time.

"Since the government has fixed the price of wheat, it will be only natural that the farmers will want to rush to the elevators and mills the earliest possible moment in order to get their money. Unless there is some provision made for farm storage there will be a larger quantity of wheat without any shelter during the winter of 1918-19.

Stock Situation Serious

"Just at present the stock situation is very serious. As you probably know the federal government has established a differential of nine cents per bushel in favor of stocker grain. Many of the farmers have taken this to indicate that the federal government has a surplus supply of stock. At the present time, however, we are short more than 8,000,000 sacks in the Pacific northwest states without any relief in sight."

EGG THAT BROUGHT ITS WHISKEY IN GOLD HATCHES

E. J. Spike, who lives southeast of Buhl and who took the Buhl Patriotic Red Cross egg home from the Elmer Community Day auction three weeks ago, after it had sold for a total of $180.00, said that the egg hatched a chicken last Saturday morning, says the Buhl Herald. Mr. Spike took the egg home and placed it under a hen. Mr. Spike expected it would be a white chick, as a white hen laid the egg, though the chick is a black one. Mr. Spike cannot account for the miracle. He is unable to say whether the young fowl is a male or a female.

This egg sold first at the Buhl Community Day auction for a total of $75.00. It was donated to the Buhl Red Cross and sold the following Saturday.

SAYS FOSSIL FIELD ATTRACTS OIL MEN

E. HENRY BOLTON REPORTS ON PROGRESS IN WORKING DISTRICT WHICH HE VISITED

That the Fossil, Wyoming, oil field is attracting the attention of experienced oil men in increasing numbers is a statement made by E. Henry Bolton of Twin Falls, on his return from a short visit to that district. There are 15 drilling rigs on the ground at the present time and the prospects are becoming increasingly encouraging as the work proceeds, he says.

In well number two on the property of the Idaho-Wyoming Oil company, which is 385 feet deep, oil stands to a depth of 53 feet. Well number one on the same property is only 255 feet deep but holds 75 feet of oil. The Wood Oil & Development company has its first well down to a depth of 635 feet, having passed through two small oil sands of the Twin Falls district, the district being sparsely settled and weather conditions in winter making seasons of school impracticable during that season.

of the shallower wells will result, Mr. Bolton states.

"No one knows what these wells will pump out, but it looks as though they will produce from three to ten barrels of oil per day," Mr. Bolton says. "The oil is of a very high grade."

"The price of crude oil is such that small production at a shallow depth pays now, while a few years ago, this would have been unprofitable."
