HUN LINES ARE QUIET AS A GRAVE

HILLS SOUTHWEST OF YPRES GIVE NO HINT OF BITTER STRUGGLE RECENTLY STAGED—MAY TAKE WEEKS TO REFORM GERMAN PLANS

(By United Press.)
The Germans continued to emphasize the importance of the victory gained by the Franco-British forces in the hills southwest of Ypres early this week, by continuing to remove the bodies there. Field Marshal Haig's report today showed that sector remains as quiet as a graveyard—into which the deadly fire of the allies literally tumbled it. Staff correspondents forecast a resumption of the attack by Field Marshal von Hindenburg to possess these heights, but declare he will require days, perhaps weeks, to reform his shattered divisions for this effort.

Rum Bombardment Light
German artillery was busy today, but its activity in only two sectors was reported to remain hostile there. Field Marshal Haig's report today showed that sector remains as quiet as a graveyard—into which the deadly fire of the allies literally tumbled it. Staff correspondents forecast a resumption of the attack by Field Marshal von Hindenburg to possess these heights, but declare he will require days, perhaps weeks, to reform his shattered divisions for this effort.

CRUISER AND COAST LINDER MEET—SIXTY-EIGHT ESTIMATED LOST

(By United Press.)
NEW YORK, May 2.—Sixty-eight dead was the estimate today of lives lost in the sinking of the coast liner City of Athens, rammed by a French cruiser off the Jersey coast early yesterday morning.
The City of Athens was enroute to Savannah, Ga. In a thick fog, the French warship crashed into it. Survivors here today declared the ship went down in seven minutes. Two life boats were launched. Many persons leaped overboard.
The missing include nine civilians, known to have included fourteen French sailors, eight United States marines and thirty-four officers and crew of the steamer. There were 135 passengers and crew aboard.

Many stories of heroism Although the accident occurred about 1 a. m. yesterday, no word of it was heard until the arrival of survivors. They told many stories of heroism. Dr. E. L. Brooks, Atlanta, declared that one of the wireless operators stuck to his post and went down with the ship. Quick work on the part of the French cruiser's officers, who searched lifeboats overboard and played searchlights over the dark waters, prevented an even heavier toll of life.

STILL QUIET ON WESTERN BATTLE LINE

NO INFANTRY COMBATS OF IMPORTANCE BUT GERMAN WAR OFFICE MAKES ITS CUSTOMARY STATEMENT OF DEFEAT OF FRENCH ASSAULTS

LONDON, May 2.—The west battle front continued comparatively quiet yesterday, only the usual artillery activity and local encounters being reported in overnight official statements.
"Field Marshal Haig reported enemy bombardment of the Gack areas near Bethune and French positions in the region of Loere. The French war office said there was lively cannonading north of Montdidier.
Despite the allied statements that there were no infantry combats of importance, the German war office said that several French assaults near Drenthout were repulsed. "Successful reconnaissance" on both sides of the Somme were claimed.
Haig said the British took 8241 German prisoners during April.
Artillery Action Only
German artillery was active this morning in the Villers-Bretonneux sector, in Picardy, and in the neighborhood of Moris, in Flanders, Field Marshal Haig reported.
Last night there was considerable enemy cannonading in the sector connecting the Flanders and Picardy battle fronts.
"The enemy's artillery showed considerable activity this morning in the Villers-Bretonneux sector and in the neighborhood of Moris," the report said.
"In the Arras, Lees and St. Venant sectors there was considerable artillery activity last night. No infantry actions were reported."

The Swiss legation, representing Germany, had offered to pay for Prager's burial but gave the undertaker's bill of $107 to Secretary Lansing. The secretary wrote Governor Lowden the Swiss legation's offer was a formality which it hardly expected to be asked to fulfill, believing the state would consider itself morally bound to care for the expense.

The various other points of "lifting" involved in the case in the United States district court at New York, where an injunction was issued against the Hearst International News service, were not involved in the hearing today.
Samuel Untermyer was chief counsel appearing for the Hearst interests, and Frederick W. Lehmann, Ed. Louis, represented the Associated Press. Senator William Hearst of California is present to make the final argument for Hearst.

I. W. W. TRIAL OPENS WITH FIREWORKS

VERBAL PYROTECHNICS OF DISTINGUISH ADDRESS BY SPECIAL PROSECUTOR OR NEBEKER IN EFFORT TO SHOW VICIOUS ACTIVITIES OF MEMBERS

CHICAGO, May 2.—The government's first wholesale prosecution of alleged war obstructors was finally to get under way here today with Special Prosecutor Frank K. Nebeker's opening statement to the jury in the trial of 112 I. W. W. leaders charged with sedition and sabotage.
The defendants were "continually stirring labor troubles, obstructing government war measures and bidding their time to overthrow existing society and place themselves in power, Nebeker's prepared opening statement declared.
Nebeker planned to read the I. W. W. program from their publications and songs. Reference to sabotage and its methods as "direct action" and "milk for the kitty" according to Nebeker, disclosed the organization's plans. "Kitty" is I. W. W. code for sabotage.
The program was again marshaled handcuffed through the crowded streets to the federal building.
His Tone of Evidence
Nebeker planned to spray their ranks in the courtroom with verbal bombs for several hours. From tons of evidence he had selected 112 I. W. W. communiques alleged to be orders for committing acts of sabotage. Many of their acts had the effect of obstructing war production, he claimed in his opening statement.
"They called themselves conscious class objects," said Nebeker today. "They threatened sabotage if compelled to enter army or navy and if necessary they planned to go to the industries of the country to prevent munitions manufacture."
Jury Took Four Weeks
Completion of a jury yesterday after four weeks' effort seemed almost impossible with federal indictment of 112. Russell, I. W. W. worker, on a charge of tampering with venemen. Russell has not been captured.

(By United Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 2.—Arguments in the suit of the Associated Press against the Hearst International News service were set for this afternoon before the supreme court of the United States.

LUCK IS WITH AMERICANS IN SPITE OF HUN TRAPS

(By United Press.)
AMSTERDAM, May 2.—The German war office today reported that the capture of a Hun trap was a success for the Americans in this sector. It is a system of hidden wires which set off buried bombs, when touched. Another is the attaching of barbed wire, one end of which is being attached to the means of hidden wires. So far, the Yankees haven't been fooled.
All American sectors in this region are quiet.

KAISER'S FAVORITE WAR WRITER TELLS OF GREAT GANNON

AMSTERDAM, May 2.—Karl Rosner, the Kaiser's favorite war correspondent, writing in the Lokal Anzeiger, says:
"The famous long range gun does not look like a gun. It is more like a gigantic gray crane."
"Suddenly it awakes with a violent disturbance, making the very true trunk."
"Then a black thread is visible cutting sky—a traveling column of fire—that can traverse the 70 miles to Paris in three minutes."
"The second hand on your watch has completed its third circuit. The calamity has landed in Paris!"

SEPARATE PEACE MAY BE FORCED UPON OTTOMANS

(By United Press.)
PARIS, May 2.—A German attack failed in the region of Channes, the French war office reported today.
"Thomès is on the south bank of the Luce river, midway between Hangard and Santerre, and Haillies, where American troops have officially been reported brigaded with the French."
Other German attacks were repulsed north of Chavignoy, and northwest of Rehalms (Chemin des-Dames sector).
German used for Food
WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN THE FIELD, May 1.—Hundreds of horses killed by the French artillery are eaten by German soldiers, according to letters found on prisoners.
The Germans, unable to obtain other food, because of the terrific incessant bombardment, cut up dead horses on the battlefields during the night for the day's meals.
Here is a sample of one of these letters: "We think we will capture America. We have been eating horses, these days and nights and are dead, tired, starving, unwarmed, uncombed, encased in mud to the neck and soaked to the skin. I have only four cartridges left."
Supply Is Pinched
"There are more than 200 dead horses in our vicinity. During the night we carve off quarters for steaks. Our hungry horses, but we cannot go to the village, where there is something to eat, because it is bombarded by the enemy."
"German War Office Warned"
PARIS, May 2.—The German war office is finding it increasingly difficult to hide from the retreating and people the true extent of American participation in the war, according to reports received here today.
"The Yagu regulars were all a committee from the retreating, headed by Deputy Noke, received when they sought information at the war office. The result was that many complaints were made by retreating members. The retreating committee then demanded that a representative of the general headquarters appear and give the body true information as to how many Americans were fighting on the west front. The request was refused."

SUCCESS OF BRITISH OPERATIONS NORTHWEST OF BAGDAD LIKELY TO LEAD NEW TURN

(By J. W. T. MASON, United Press War Expert.)
NEW YORK, May 2.—A separate peace with the reluctant consent of Germany may be forced on Turkey by the removal of highly important operations north and northwest of Bagdad by the British expeditionary forces in Mesopotamia.
North of Bagdad the British are within less than 100 miles of Mosul and northwest of Bagdad a second British column is following the Euphrates to Aleppo, which is less than 200 miles from the present resting place of the invading operation. Both of these objectives are major British bases. The capture of Mosul would give the British possession of the most important center of communications in northern Mesopotamia and a further advance of 125 miles westward would place the British possession of Nisibis, the terminus of the completed part of the Bagdad railway running to Constantinople.
Rich Prize in Sight
If at the same time the British troops were to occupy Aleppo, the whole of that part of the Bagdad railway system lying north Mesopotamia would fall a prize to British arms. Simultaneously the Turkish armies in Palestine would be forced to surrender because all of their supplies are received by way of Aleppo.
A catastrophe of this magnitude would be the severest blow that could be inflicted on the pan-Germans. Their major ambition is to dominate in future years the entire eastern sea being won by British troops. Rather than see the total collapse of the Turks and the capture of the Bagdad railway by Great Britain, the Kaiser might well advise the Sultan to surrender in order that he might save for future German exploitation.

GOOD MEN ON TURKS

The British advance toward Mosul and Aleppo is being made principally by Sudan troops. These soldiers have proven good material for the mercenary truck warfare in western Europe. Their use against the Turks, therefore, does not decrease the strength of the allies along the west front at this critical time.

JESS WILLARD RETIRES TO SYLVAN SOLITUDE

(By United Press.)
CHICAGO, May 2.—Joe Jess Willard broke training for that boneless championship match with Fred Fulton. He usually packed his household goods for removal to his farm in Kansas.
"I think there will be a fight," he said. "It won't be at St. Paul, they say, but Miller knows other places. I'm going to stay on my farm until I hear what is coming."

PROMINENT BALL STAR LEARNING SOLDIERING

(By United Press.)
CAMP FUNSTON, Kansas, May 2.—Drover Alexander began the soldiering life today. He has been assigned to a rookie squad to learn some of the first principles of the business. He will be assigned to a company in the 242d field artillery, which has made arrangements for the big language a chance to play baseball this summer.

LUCK IS WITH AMERICANS IN SPITE OF HUN TRAPS

(By FRANK J. TAYLOR, United Press Staff Correspondent.)
LONDON, May 2.—Further details of the Gelpheg engagement show that the Germans have a new system of grenade attacks. They work in two-man teams, one directly behind the other. The second man has hand grenades for throwing and supplying them over the shoulder of the first.
A new type of grenade is used, ignited by a string attachment, which enables the grenadier to use both hands. Many flintish traps have been set for the Americans in this sector. One is a system of hidden wires which set off buried bombs, when touched. Another is the attaching of barbed wire, one end of which is being attached to the means of hidden wires. So far, the Yankees haven't been fooled.
All American sectors in this region are quiet.

TIME LIMIT SET FOR SALE OF STORED WHEAT

FOOD ADMINISTRATION CALLS ON PRODUCERS TO MARKET SURPLUS GRAIN HELD

County food administrators have been directed by State Administrator R. F. Bicknell, in accordance with instructions of the national food administration, to issue calls upon all the wheat producers, as a patriotic duty, to bring all surplus wheat to market by May 15.

Regulation D Alternative After that date surplus wheat that is needed for warlike motives will be requisitioned under executive order, of the state administrator.

Based on Hoover's Order: "All wheat that is held on farms in the state of Idaho in excess of what is necessary for home use will be requisitioned, if needed by our government, after May 15, in accordance with directions received from Herbert Hoover, United States food administrator, to return to Mr. Hoover's request, call has already been made upon the farmers of Idaho that bring to market by May 15 all wheat in their possession except such as it is necessary to retain for such purposes."

Pro-German Detested "While much of the surplus wheat of our farms has already been marketed, considerable quantities are still being held by farmers in certain sections of the state. Pro-German motives have accounted for the holding of some of this wheat, which has been held in defiance of a desire and expectation of receiving a higher price. Since any higher price that might be established hereafter by act of congress would not affect present holdings, no farmer can benefit financially by holding his grain beyond May 15. Only detriment to the government's military needs can result from the holding of grain beyond May 15 and no benefit can accrue to the holder, so that without any further delay, the surplus wheat should be marketed through which it will reach the food administration requisitioning.

As county food administrator you are requested to gather just as complete data as possible showing all surplus wheat stocks held in your county, and to report to this office on May 15 indicating the names of the owners thereof, their addresses and approximate quantities in their possession.

After May 15 surplus stocks that are hoarded for warlike motives will be requisitioned under executive order of the national food administration, of the Food Control Act. Mr. Hoover, U. S. food administrator, has given no as federal food administrator of the state of Idaho, special power of attorney to requisition and to take possession of such wheat.

Needed for Common Defense "There is a great need for wheat for the use of the army and navy and for other public uses connected with the common defense, so that no one has either a moral or a legal right to hoard wheat. Power to requisition such wheat is expressly authorized under the food act.

While it is hoped and expected that the necessity for requisitioning will arise in but few, if any, cases, such action will be promptly taken against any farmer who in this state, for any patriotic motives, refuse to comply with this request to market all surplus wheat by May 15.

THROUGH ALL THE BIG WAR WITHOUT SORROW

LONDON—Three years and seven months of continuous fighting in the infantry, without a day's leave of absence or sick-leave is the record of Sergeant Holkinson of the Middlesex Division, a famous English regiment.

Until a few days ago he thought his record must be the record of the British army but a few have turned up since his was printed which make Sergeant Holkinson look like a recruit in a training battalion.

There's Corporal J. White of the Royal Fusiliers who went out with the "Contemptible" fought in all the big battles that Holkinson fought in. He has had a record like a recruit in a training battalion.

COUBS MEANS TROUBLE FOR BEST OF LEAGUE

By H. C. HAMILTON (United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK.—Fred Mitchell had one of the smartest baseball clubs in the National league last season when even breaks in his games for the coming season, Mitchell must be counted very much in the pennant race right through the summer, for his added ability to a team that follows his orders to the letter.

Mitchell, if he never wins a major league pennant, already has qualified as a successful big league manager. Not only is he one of the best developers of pitchers the country ever has seen, but he is a most shrewd judge of ball players in other positions. In addition he knows the tricks to know when a pitcher is going to balk, where he is going to balk, and he is a most shrewd judge of ball players in other positions.

Mitchell is handicapped this year by a certain amount of poor luck. His first baseman, Fred Muck, is growing old in the barracks. Hollock is a new comer. Charley Deal, at best is only a possible third baseman. Pete Kilgus is his sole star, so far as the fans have yet been able to determine, although young Charley Hollock is heralded as a coming great star of the game.

But to back up this weakness Mitchell has the National league's best pitching staff, a "crack" second outfield, and a star set of catchers. Combine these factors with Mitchell's ability to make his men play baseball right up to the handle, and a dangerous lineup is formed. In fact, it would be surprising if Mitchell drove his men to a pennant. The most power seems to lie in Cincinnati, but the Mitchell crew's horsepower reads danger signals for the rest of the league at every step of the journey to the White House.

Mitchell's team enjoys another blessing in harmony. There is no discussion on the Cubs for the first time in many a year. Mitchell hit home—their fans. His orders are law and his men never question them.

Every Detail Complete In the four months which the general staff had to prepare its transportation facilities, it worked out to the last minute the exact time in which every unit, every gun, every pound of munitions and supplies could reach—by horse, automobile or train—any point at which the Germans might attack. When the moment came, it was only necessary to touch a button, as it were, and the general staff knew the moment at which every man and every gun would be at the point of contact.

I visited the French staff headquarters the first days of the German attack and saw the long columns of artillery, reaches of infantry, convoys of munitions, automobiles and trains of heavy wagons rolling up to the front in the most matter of fact, unharmed manner, it is possible to conceive.

It was precisely this preparation that allowed the French troops, with only a negligible number of men engaged, to feel quite sure of the result of the battle between the British and French lines, while covering the retreat of the British, to aid in checking the German advance.

"Headin' South," the Arctcraft picture now being exhibited at the Idaho Theatre, is an exceptional Fairbanks production, and is full of action from start to finish. In addition to the scenes photographed in Arizona, including the forest of giant cactus, two western villages were reproduced at the California studios at great expense. Because of the peculiar photographic effects necessary, requiring the aid of all sorts of electrical apparatus, Director Art Rosson ordered the building of these two complete villages. Expense seems to be the least consideration in Fairbanks pictures.

TIME IS MAIN ELEMENT IN PRESENT DAY WAR METHODS

By HENRY WOOD (United Press Staff Correspondent) WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN THE FIELD—Hardly had the Germans begun their offensive at eight o'clock the morning of March 21, than a telephone message from French general headquarters was sent out and instantaneously repeated along the whole French front.

As by magic there appeared almost immediately thereafter at every cross roads behind the French front, and along every route of travel huge black airplanes.

The green placard meant that the Germans had chosen for their field of offensive the point of St. Quentin. The black arrows marked every foot of the way that the French reserves were to arrive to meet the German advance.

Had the Germans chosen any other sector for their attack, this mechanism would have worked just the same. A different colored placard would have indicated the sector where the Germans had opened battle.

As a result of this minute preparation, every man destined, long in advance to meet the Germans at whatever point they might choose for their offensive was to arrive there in the shortest possible time, by the quickest way.

By Charles Eldridge and Helen Tracy. The story is an adaptation of Alice Hegan Rice's well known "Cavalry Raid."

United States Seashore Cities. Seashore cities—small and steep villages in winter, great, bustling cities in summer—are now so numerous that they can hardly be counted. They dot the coast from Maine to Florida; the Gulf coast has any number of pretty, attractive bathing spots, and the Pacific coast, from Gny's Harbor to San Diego, abounds in ocean resorts. The Gulf coast and the lower Pacific coast have the advantage, however, of all-weather bathing; the Atlantic coast means to about three months only.

GERMANY BEATEN IF ALLIES HOLD

SPANISH STATESMAN GIVES OUT ENCOURAGING INTERVIEW

PARIS, May 2.—"If the allies hold, Germany is beaten," declared a Spanish statesman, returning from Germany, who was interviewed at the Spanish frontier yesterday by Andro Glanier, Paris correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph company.

"The Kaiser did not approve the present offensive," said the Spaniard, but Hindenburg, Ludendorff and the crown prince said it would spur the allies, although the losses would be enormous.

"The offensive had three objectives—first, the capture of Amiens; second, the destruction of their rail lines; and third, the capture of the French and British armies, with the capture of Calais. All this was to be accomplished before today.

Kaiser Getting Stronger
"The German feeling at the failure thus far, together with the enormous losses, is making the Kaiser stronger and lessening the power of Hindenburg, Ludendorff and the crown prince.

"If the German offensive is unsuccessful by May 10, it means the return to power of Von Buelow and the launching of a new peace offensive, which may be acceptable to both sides.

Glanier believes the Spanish statesman is sympathetic toward Germany.

MARINES WAITING FOR SAILING ORDERS

F. J. PUTNAM SAYS LIFE AT GALVESTON STATION IS DAILY ROUTINE OF DRILL

Members of the marine corps stationed at Galveston, Texas, are still drilling eight hours a day, rain or shine, and are still in camp, Francis says. F. J. (Syko) Putnam in a letter received this week by A. B. Colwell and R. M. Spang, proprietors of the M-J-L pharmacy, his former employers. In the service with Putnam at Galveston are several other Twin Falls boys who called in the marine corps at about the same time last summer, including Sidney H. Graves and C. L. Deshaussiers.

"I don't see record Thursday," Putnam says, and qualified as a stinkman, which will add two dollars a month to my pay. Also took examination for signaling and passed as second class. This also will pay me two dollars a month more, making a grand total of $34 a month."

PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO GENERAL PERSHING

ATLANTA, Ga., May 2.—Believe me, there isn't a marine in France who wouldn't go through hell for General Pershing.

This is the grim and laconic manner in which the "soldiers of the sea" pay tribute to the American leader, according to a letter Mrs. W. M. Walton of this city received from her son, Sgt. who is a member of the corps now fighting in France.

General Pershing has frequently praised the Marines on various inspection tours and has thereby endeared himself to the men of that service.

"Square-heads" are what the Marines call the Germans, writes Private Walton who wears a sailor's medal.

"DOUG" HAS SHAPELY LEGS IN "HEADIN' SOUTH"

The scenario for "Headin' South," Douglas Fairbanks' picture at the Idaho next three nights, was written by Chief Director Allan Dwan and gives Mr. Fairbanks a role in which he does his utmost to "make the grade" that made his recent picture, "The Man from Painted Post," somewhat of a novelty from an scenic standpoint.

The story carries the actors over a wide range of territory, from Canada to Mexico, and presents a vast variety of scenery, including snow-capped mountains, forest wilderness, the western plains and the blazing desert.

Cheriego MacDonald makes her first appearance opposite Douglas in this picture. She recently completed a picture with Charles Ray, the Ince Paramount star. The story has an O. Henry twist at the end which is not being divulged.

Two of the biggest scenes in the picture were villages which were specially constructed near the Mexican border and in which the depredations of the bandits are pictured.

EGG FIFTY YEARS STALE

PHILADELPHIA — Eggs from China—not China eggs, but eggs from the Orient—fifty years young have been seized by Robert Simmons, agent of the State Dairy and Food Commission.

Eggs, fifty years old, although still eggs, but not the proper kind of hen-fertilized Philadelphia, in the opinion of Mr. Simmons. The whole proceeding ran in this way: There were fifty cases of the eggs, they were fifty years old, and it took Simmons just about 80 seconds to taboo them.

The consignment was packed in airtight cans and was to have been put in cold storage at the Reading. The whole plant until bakers needed them for cake. They were "canned" alright.

WHEN DEAF HEAR

By VINCENT G. PERRY.

(Copyright, 1917, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)
Vernon Montgomery, magazine and newspaper feature writer, had won prominence because his articles and stories were different. He never used second-hand information, every fact he quoted was gained by personal investigation; that was one of his boasts. The possibility of a series of articles in his reading presented itself to him and he lost no time in seeking out a school for the deaf, and enrolling as a pupil.

From the first he found the study interesting. As the days went by he began to take an interest in the pupils. There was one young lady especially that interested him. He was attracted to her first by noticing that she was always the first to catch onto the instructions of the teacher, and her conduct in the study seemed to be reflected in her work.

After the first two weeks had passed Vernon thought it time to set to work on the first of his articles. He didn't get more than started, however, for his mind would not settle on his subject. He pushed it away and started off on a love story with a deaf and dumb heroine.

The next day he managed to sit nearer the girl that had attracted him, with the result that he missed some of the instructions. That was her chance, he wondered. Did she know it herself? Of course she knew it! Deaf and dumb people were often very clever and her cleverness could not be mistaken. How eagerly she watched the teacher!

What a wonderful thing it seemed to be to give a girl like her an opportunity to converse with her fellow-beings. He could say a few words, already, and she could say as many, so he seized his first opportunity to begin a conversation with her. He had learned her name at the first of their friendship and every night he said it to himself before the mirror.

Ivy Sterling he thought was the prettiest name he had ever heard, but it was not so pretty as his own, the deaf and dumb girl.

The first of Vernon's articles had appeared and the editor of the magazine that was running them wanted more and lots of it, and Vernon had not object to comply with his wishes. It was hard to get back to his old routine of work but he buckled down to work on a new idea for some feature articles but the new idea didn't run out as he had expected. Something had gone wrong.

Where were all his ideas? Was there nothing in his brain but thoughts of lip-reading and Ivy Sterling? That was it—Ivy Sterling was the cause of the whole thing. He was in love, and he had to admit it, and he hadn't even written to her. To tell the truth the thought of being in love with a deaf and dumb girl had never entered his head before, but now he knew that it was love he felt toward Ivy. After all what did it matter if she was deaf and dumb? They could converse and that was all that mattered. Some men would be thankful if their wives were dumb, but not of course, if Ivy had been gifted with speech she would not have made that kind of a wife. He would tell her his feelings, he resolved. But how could he tell her, even how to face the dress. Wouldn't a nurse about her find her quickest? No sooner had that thought struck his mind than he set down to write the story and when he once got started everything else was to oblivion.

When it was completed, after weeks of the hardest work of his life, and yet the most pleasant, he made up his mind that it was best suited for a magazine article, and he submitted it personally.

"Your synopsis of the plot sounds promising," the managing editor said as he fingered the manuscript. "Lip-reading, eh?" His face lit up with a smile. "Young man, we shouldn't expect any of your work. Your lip-reading series scooped us, after we had put one of the best of our staff out after the story. To make matters worse she got started in the course and refused to leave off until I had completed it. Were you as interested in it as that?"

"I certainly was. It is a wonder I didn't meet your writer, though." "Oh, yes. A girl sounded in the office the other day and she turned to face a young woman with a handful of copy. It was Ivy Sterling."

"You gave me a start to hear you talk," she gasped.

"Ivy Sterling, aren't you deaf and dumb?" Vernon could hardly believe his ears.

"I should say I am not. So you are the man who scooped me on the lip-reading series the first time have been scooped, too. It is a wonder I never suspected you." There was a merry twinkle in her eye.

"You knew all along!" Vernon said as in an instant.

"Of course, I did," she laughed, "and it is going to make the dandiest magazine story."

"I would have sworn you were dumb. Why the way you blushed the day we learned the word love, made me sure it was all right." "That was it." "Maybe it was. The way you said it." She was blushing again.

Pity, But 'Tis Not So.

Shark Leather Here.

From being an implacable enemy to man science is making the shark emulate its crimes by helping to reduce the high cost of living. For the tigers of the sea has now become a source of leather to clothe millions of pairs of feet.

Experiments with shark leather indicate that it may be used for practically everything now made of cattle leather. It is even claimed that shark hides have one great advantage over cowhides in that the "spills" are amazingly strong. A "spill" is simply a peeling of the hide—something like the veneer cut from a slab of wood.

Dove That Built Great City.

When mighty Amru went to conquer Egypt he camped on the east bank of the Nile opposite Memphis, that great 20-mile-long capital of mud brick, whose western verge was the pyramids and whose mud brick houses have all vanished. Amru crushed the Egyptians and came back to get his camp to move over and occupy Memphis. A dove had built in the folds near the top of his tent. Blood-bathed Amru, the ruthless, would not let her be disturbed. A new city started about his tent. It grew northward along the Nile. It is today Cairo. Memphis is only a name.

How to Increase Your Potato Yield
It has been known for some time that various diseases of potatoes play a very large part in the reduction of yield and the quality of the tubers. The farmers of Twin Falls county who are growing potatoes must take such diseases as fusarium wilt and rhizoctonia into serious consideration or potato culture in this county will retrograde until this line of farming will no longer be profitable.

First: To grow a pure seed plot that is certified or purchased seed from one who has the plot should be clean ground, preferably old alfalfa; the seed should be true to type, clean and free from any disease or insect infestation. Dip the seed in corrosive sublimate solution. Confer with the county agent and make arrangements to have the off type plants taken out during the growing season. If a number of diseases are followed and your yield is free from disease this fall you can have your potatoes certified.

Second: See that potatoes are not grown on the same ground often than 2 or 3 years. A number of diseases are carried in the soil from year to year and rotting the crops will tend to prevent disease.
Third: Practice careful seed selection to avoid the so-called tuber-bone disease, such as fusarium wilt, blackleg and inherited weaknesses which affect the yield, quality and keeping qualities.

Fourth: Dip the seed, preferably in corrosive sublimate, and the tubers during or shortly after the harvest. Fifth: Spray the vines with Bordeaux mixture to help in check the early and late blights, which are especially prevalent in our valley. Sixth: Store the crop in cool, dry well ventilated cellar, in order that the serious storage rot may be held in check.

BIG DRAFT CALL IS COMING SOON

AT LEAST TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND MEN WILL BE PLACED IN CAMPS

By L. G. MARTIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 2.—The foundation for a greater and better army to turn the scale in the west was laid here today.

Secretary of War Baker was to appear before the house military committee this afternoon, and ask authority to mobilize a night's war machine.

Coincidentally with Baker's appearance before the committee, it became known that the draft office will send out, probably Friday or Saturday, a quota estimated at more than 200,000 men, the largest single call thus far made. Another 100,000 will be summoned in May.

Heavy Shipping Increase

At the same time the shipping board, forging ahead on providing extra tonnage, revealed that 1,000,000 tons of overseas shipping will be added to the merchant marine as a result of its policy of expansion.

Approximately one-half, 2,200 wooden ships, which soon will be constructed for, will be of 4500 deadweight tonnage each. The others will be of the 4700 ton capacity.

General Crowder was to appear with Secretary Baker to explain how added increments at this time would affect the administration. Crowder also was to insist on reconsideration of the house draft amendments giving credit on draft quotas for volunteers and placing all the 21-year-old men at the foot of the registry list.

RED SOX IN REAR IN RUN AVERAGES

LEAD LEAGUE IN PROCESSION OF PERCENTAGES BUT PERFORMANCE IS WEAK

By H. G. HAMILTON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 2.—The Red Sox, for all of their bare appearance at the head of the American league procession of percentages are, on form displayed since the season opened, the poorest run scoring combination in Ben Johnson's first division.

And the Giants, standing out far in front in the National league, comprise far the best run scoring machine in the National league.

The White Sox, and Cleveland are practically tied for the best showing in scoring in the American league, the former having pushed across 43 runs since they started and the Indians having accumulated 51. The Sox average 1.57 runs a game, the Indians 1.67. The Cubs and Cincinnati are practically as widely separated, with the Cubs hanging close to the Phillies.

The Giants have averaged more than six runs to a game and the Phillies, second best, have averaged only half that.

The Cubs and Cincinnati are practically as widely separated, with the Cubs hanging close to the Phillies.

WHAT YOUR CONFIDENCE HAS DONE FOR ME

CONFIDENCE, always an important factor in business—today seems more important than ever. I seem to enjoy the confidence of those with whom I have been doing business for years, and there has been no time in recent years that confidence has been so important a feature of business as at present. My position in the business world has enabled me to make purchases far in advance of my requirements. Those from whom I have been buying confidence in me as a merchant and the future of my business, has kept me in a position where I have been enabled to carry a larger stock of goods than I otherwise might have done and I believe that the liberal patronage that has been given this store is evidence of your confidence in me.

CONFIDENCE on your part has been a most important feature in the success of the business of this store. Your confidence in the methods under which this business is conducted have proved you to possess here with the feeling that you would be benefited by a perfectly fair manner and there has been no time since this business was started that you could come with a greater feeling of confidence than at the present time and, at the same time, you may be sure that if anything you will give me more courteous treatment than ever before and with the feeling that everything will be done in perfect fairness and that we shall always be glad to see you.

These facts have had a lot to do with the growth of this business and when I say to you that the sales for the past two months have shown a gain of more than 85 per cent over the corresponding months of last year it gives an idea of the continued success of the business and while part of this is due to the fact that weather conditions were better during those months this year than last, at the same time, we should have in mind that this year we have had no coats, suits or high priced dresses to increase our sales, so that on the actual basis on the same class of goods this increase amounts to almost, if not quite, double over last year. I need hardly say that I am gratified and that I am highly appreciative of this patronage.

AN ANNOUNCEMENT CONCERNING DRY GOODS

The numerous calls, in fact the almost insistent demands that we have had for goods by the yard; that is goods that come in the piece, often spoken of as dry goods, has led me to the conclusion that we could serve more of our friends better by carrying this class of goods, and in order to do so the best advantage it seemed wise to discontinue some lines and I have decided to close out coats for women and children, women's suits and wool and silk dresses. This does not mean that I shall give up other ready-to-wear garments but shall carry a larger and more complete waist stock, bungalow aprons, house dresses and wash dresses for women and children.

From now on I plan to carry sheetings, gingham, percales, white goods, serims and other kinds that are most in demand and, like other goods I carry, special attention will be given to quality, patterns and the general desirability of the merchandise with the aim of having that which is best.

APONS ARE HERE

I was not fortunate in my last year's selection of colored aprons and the reputation that we had earned the two years previous for having the best assortment of these useful garments was hardly sustained—but I have been most fortunate in the selection for this year. The line is larger and, if anything, better than anything we have ever shown. It will be worth your while to come in and see the splendid things we have in Waist Aprons, Bungalow Aprons and Dress Aprons. Remarkably good styles and priced most reasonably.

BUTTE, MONT., May 2.—Members of the plumbers' union struck today, in line with the strike vote taken recently. They demand a raise of $1 a day, making a total wage of $9 a day. The master plumbers refuse to grant this.

The master plumbers declared they are paying $9 to some plumbers, but refuse to make that the minimum wage. G. C.
