

POWDER PLANT GOES UP WITH MANY KILLED

EXPLOSION WREAKS HAVOC—DEAD PLACED AT 100—OTHERS INJURED—RESCUE PARTIES WORK TO SAVE BODIES FROM THE FLAMES

(By United Press.) PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 18.—Altogether county's greatest industrial tragedy since the outbreak of the great war, claimed 100 lives this afternoon when a tremendous explosion wrecked the plant of the Acton Chemical company at Oakland, near here.

Workers returning from Oakland late this afternoon said that the injured will far exceed the above figures, which are based on a semi-official statement that only 250 men were in the TNT plant and that few in other departments were injured by the first blast.

With the explosion of a large quantity of trinitrotoluol the lives of probably 100 skilled and unskilled work men were snuffed out, and hundreds of others were thrown into the balance. Rescue parties placed the number of injured at upwards of 250.

In a second explosion an hour and 40 minutes after the first, the same structure housing the TNT plant went up and four scores were added to the whole roll of injured. Miss Marilyn Ashelman, a Red Cross nurse from Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh, was badly injured when the second blast hurled a steel girder against her as she ministered to wounded workers in the debris.

Her right leg was severed just above the knee. Oakland is a town of 2500 inhabitants, 15 miles from Pittsburgh. The Acton works was located three-quarters of a mile from the place.

Scores were so badly hurt that wheelbarrows, handcarts and even children's cypress wagons were considered to take them to the scene or more drug stores, physicians' offices and private residences.

Fires attacked the debris immediately after the blast. Rescue parties worked feverishly in the ruins in an effort to save many bodies from incineration and the wounded from death.

Beyond the fact that a large quantity of trinitrotoluol blew up, nothing was known of the explosion or its cause. Official said that an inquiry will be launched immediately but that there was little hope of learning much about the blast.

CREEL ADMITS INDISCRETION OF REFERENCE

CHAIRMAN OF PUBLIC INFORMATION COMMITTEE SAYS REMARKS MISCONSTRUED

(By United Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 18.—Admitting his "indiscretion," George Creel, chairman of the committee on public information, wrote Chairman Fox of the house rules committee expressing regret for his remarks called congress "slam," saying they were misconstrued.

Creel made an appeal for "co-operation" between congress and his committee and said that his work was open to inspection by any committee or member of congress.

"My Dear Mr. Fox: While the rules committee have not yet directed my course of action with respect to your committee, I am sure that you will permit me to remain under the impression of having passed public information through the committee without any criticism on the part of the United States.

"My estimate of your committee's body is expressed in a pamphlet issued by the committee on public information in October, 1917, under the title, 'First Session of the War Congress.' So remarkable did I find the record of achievement expressed in that pamphlet that I had it summarized for general distribution and the signed preface I tried to bear testimony to the courage and patriotism of the men behind the record.

"At the Church of the Ascension, I have spoken for an hour and for more than an hour had answered questions bearing on every phase of public misunderstanding. The question under discussion was so vitally, still, its silliness was so completely understood by the audience, that I made a quick and thoughtless answer that lent itself to exaggeration and distortion.

Intent was good. I do not feel deeply indignant and regret it deeply.

"I have given my thought so thoroughly to the service of the war that I have, perhaps, been careless in the matter of guarding my word of my utterance against the possibility of misconception. But I have the feeling that since men see down to the heart of instant and will appreciate my desire at all times to avoid anything that might create the dissemination and confusion so dangerous to our necessary unity.

"Please let me take this opportunity to assure you of my willingness at all times to co-ordinate the work of this committee with the wish and thought of congress.

"What we have done and are doing is always open to the inspection of the individual member or committee, and I cannot but feel that our work will be only strengthened by more intimate contact and cooperation. Believe me, sir, with assurance of deep consideration.

"Very respectfully,
GEORGE CREEL.

A determined attempt to force the president to remove Creel will be made by a majority of the house rules committee.

Although Chairman Fox stated Creel was not to apologize publicly for his New York declaration of congress as a "slam," the demand of Representative Dredway, was, that congress pass a resolution asking the president to remove Creel as "a partisan effort to hold public office," was today approved by all committee members except Fox.

Attacks on Creel came both from Democrats and Republicans.

(By United Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 18.—Manufacturers using sugar, except to make essential food products, have been on strict ration, the United States Food Administration announces, in order to assure sufficient supplies for home consumers and the commercial manufacturers of preserves, jams, and other foodstuffs regarded as essential. The restrictions went into effect May 15 and limit the consumption by manufacturers of the less essentials, particularly confectionery and soft drinks, to 80 per cent of last year's requirements.

Those who entered the business or increased their capacity after April 1, 1918, however, will be cut off entirely.

Manufacturers of essential foodstuffs will be permitted to buy sufficient sugar to meet their full requirements. In this class come preservers and packs of vegetables, camp and chili sauce, fruits and milk, manufacturers of jam, jolly, and preserves, tobacco and explosives, apple butter and glycerin, ice cream (not including sherbets and water ices), dyes (for medicinal and printer's use).

CAVE WOMAN IS ROBERTS' CHARGE

62 YEAR OLD DOCTOR ASSERTS SCHOOL MA'AM SEDUCED HIM

(By United Press.)
WAUKESHA, Wis., May 18.—Miss Grace Luak, respected here as prim, intellectual, was pictured today as the seducer of 62-year-old Dr. David Roberts. Her cave woman passion, Roberts testified on the witness stand, had led the forty-year-old school teacher into a maze of intimacies with him culminating in her shooting the doctor's wife last June because she was in the way.

She Says "Liar"

"(O) You said I ain't true!" screamed the murder trial defendant at his matter-of-fact assertion that she had proposed their first "good time" together.

Beyond that passionate denial, ending with Grace Luak crumpled in the arms of her aged father, there was no hint today of how the defense would answer the state's charge that she hoodlumed him to put his wife aside for her.

Unemotionally Roberts told of their trips together.

Grace Luak's letters, read in evidence, breathed of kisses and thousands of hugs and gave careful instructions on avoiding betrayal of their meetings.

Wrote His Wife

A letter she addressed to Mrs. Roberts but which was intercepted, said: "I have lost my one and only reputation that you may keep your throat. He has told me I had all his affection."

She suggested to the wife that Mrs. Roberts give him his freedom.

SUPERINTENDENT BLAUB SAYS $50,000 RECORD LOCAL BOYCOTS PROBABLY UNPARALLELED

Opinion that the record for war work of the pupils of the Twin Falls schools is surpassed by that of no other school of similar size was expressed by Superintendent Hal G. Contributions include donations to the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, Y. W. C. A. and Ardennes and Belgian relief. Purchase of Liberty Bonds, War Savings Certificates and Thrift stamps are listed as war investments.

Following are the reports for the several schools:

Washington—(Enrollment 800)—Contributions, $439.75; investment, $10,663.50.

Lincoln—(Enrollment 750)—Contributions, $450.00; investment, $13,577.50.

High school—(Enrollment 500)—Contributions, $1,580.40; investment, $11,065.00.

In addition to donations and loss of their money, pupils of the Twin Falls schools have completed an immense amount of Red Cross materials for relief of soldiers and civilian war sufferers.

FRANKLIN

—a dollar earned

Just how much ride—service—Mr. Average Car Owner, do you get out of gasoline costing a dollar? The answer to this question will in large part furnish an index to the value of your car. There are other indications of value which must be taken into account. Among these are comfortable riding qualities, ease and safety in driving and operation, economy in the matter of oil and tires, and inexpensiveness in the way of replacements and repairs.

But to many minds the question of gasoline consumption as opposed to riding service occupies first place. The average dollar spent for motor car fuel delivers less than 15 cents worth of ride—85 cents is burned up in friction, dead weight and complicated mechanism—practically 40 per cent is wasted in cooling the motor alone.

The radiator of the average car weighs 75 pounds; the water 45 pounds; fan, piping, pump, and the rest of the 177 water cooling parts add more weight.

This calls for more horsepower to move the car. More horse power demands heavier engine, and a heavier engine demands heavier weight throughout to carry it.

Every part of the mechanism must do some work. It may not rotate, indeed most parts do not, but through gear and vibration over the roads there is friction loss.

The Franklin system of direct air-cooling does away with all these lumberances and complications.

Under practically all conditions of driving the Franklin automobile delivers more mileage per gallon of gasoline than any other car. This is a matter of current fact and every day's record.

Franklin air-cooling COOLs—utilizing an ever fresh medium for that purpose. The harder the engine works, the greater the volume of cooling air that is drawn over the cylinders.

The turbine fan fly wheel is at all times drawing sufficient air to cool the motor. It does not depend on the forward rush of the car. Standing still, moving slowly on low gear or going on high speed, the result is the same.

Get acquainted with Franklin owners. Ask of them anything you want to know. Ride in one. Drive one. The car will convince you of its excellence.

Your Army and Navy fights to make the "World safe for Democracy."

Your Red Cross fights to make it fit for Democracy.

Fights for your soldiers—yours and your allies—in trench, canteen and hospital.

Fights for the little children, to save them for the nations' upbuildings of tomorrow.

Fights for the swarms of homeless, dazed refugees and "repatriates" thrown out from the war's black whirl-pool.

Fights the white plague, tuberculosis, that takes a greater toll than lead and steel.

Fights in every war stricken country to uphold a wrecked and suffering humanity in its struggle for a free existence.

One hundred million dollars to "carry on."

No power of taxation, no interest rate to urge those dollars.

Each one a volunteer, sent willingly and by the heart alone.

The noblest fund of all the billions of this war's vast budgets—because the freest given.

What share is yours? What sacrifice to mobilize those Fighting Red Cross Dollars?

Every cent of every dollar received for the Red Cross War Fund goes for War Relief.

The American Red Cross is the largest and most efficient organization for the relief of suffering that the World has ever seen.

It is made up almost entirely of volunteer workers, the higher executives being without exception men accustomed to large affairs, who are in almost all cases giving their services without pay.

It is supported entirely by its membership fees and by voluntary contributions.

It is today bringing relief to suffering humanity, both military and civil, in every War torn allied country. It plans tomorrow to help in the work of restoration throughout the world.

It feeds and clothes entire populations in times of great calamity.

It is there to help your soldier boy to his time of need.

With its thousands of workers, its tremendous stores and smooth running transportation facilities, it is serving as America's advance guard—and thus helping to win the war.

Congress authorizes it.

President Wilson heads it.

The War Department audits its accounts.

A THING OF HEAVIL

In the trial now going on in Chicago of one hundred twelve members of the I. W. W. accused of sabotage in various forms, it was in evidence that one of the defendants wrote a letter in which occurred this statement: "The I. W. W. can do in America what the Bolshevik did in Russia."

For a long time there has been a conviction in the hearts of men that this was precisely what was aimed at by the I. W. W. and its works. But to date, evidence in tangible form was lacking. With the introduction of this letter in the testimony of the prosecution, the conviction is clarified, and in fact any lingering doubt is set at rest.

It is patent from this letter and the general character of the evidence now being adduced that the example of the Russian Bolshevik is as a beacon light to spur to ever dimmer heights the vicious ambitions of Bill Hayward and his gang of outlaws and pariahs. The Russian Bolshevik is today the Russian working class drunk with power and gas mad with blood lust. They take, and they give nothing in return. Without the intelligence of even the lower animals they would use of every resource without thought of the morrow, and when there is no more from which to take they kill in perpetual anger over the very conditions they themselves have brought about.

This is the thing Hayward and his followers would rear up in America in the place of Industrial progress, civic decency, human rights and popular education. They would teach the ignorant to take and to kill. And the ignorant, God pity them, were willing to learn. Not all the ignorant, but the scum of human degradation among the unlettered classes. The failures, the drones, the social outcasts and the men who believe in the principle that the world owes them a living and any means of collection are justified.

This is the menace of the anti-government movement—a menace which may be reared in the bud wherever its ugly form rears its head. It is incompatible with American citizenship. Its theories are destructive of all that tradition holds dear, its practices will not bear the light of day.

THE WAR

It is not likely that Germany will hesitate much longer. The facts all point to an overwhelming necessity of early action in a last desperate endeavor to win a decisive victory before the weight of American manhood is added to that of the Allied armies on the West front.

Today there are over five hundred thousand American soldiers in France. More are crowding steadily. Units are now being brigaded with the British forces in Flanders. Some two weeks ago the French line in the south were similarly reinforced. All this is not unknown to the Kaiser and his cohorts, and all of it is growing daily more disquieting.

When the next struggle comes it is generally agreed among authorities in the Allied countries that that side will win which has the most fresh divisions. If this interpretation is correct the Allies should win, but in no case, there are bloody days ahead and not for a single moment must there be the slightest slackening of effort either at home or abroad.

PROMISE OF LOOT LURE GERMAN

SACKED TOWNS AGAIN SEARCHED FOR PILLAGE—WHAT CAN'T BE TAKEN DESTROYED—SOLDIERS DO THE JOB BUT TURN OVER OFFICERS' SHARE—RUTHLESS PILLAGE LA TEST POTSDAM TRICK

By HENRY WOOD (United Press Staff Correspondent) WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES IN THE FIELD—Declamations made by German prisoners render it quite apparent that if the allied armies had not checked the German advance the world would have witnessed one of the most astounding campaigns of pillage the world has yet produced. So intent were the Germans on this form of satisfying their lust for conquest and domination that orders to pillage were given as soon as they reached Noyon, due to the fact that village had been looted to the last mouthful of food and the last article of food just a year ago. Even the small amount of food, stoves and household furniture which the inhabitants, largely through the help of various American charities, had been able to get together since Hlensburg's retreat in March, 1917, was not spared.

Prisoner Tells of Order. A typical declaration on this subject, of which many have been made by German prisoners, is the following: "By an order of the Seventh German reserve division. "The moment we passed St. Quentin the pillage began," he said. "All of the abandoned houses were ransacked and entire stocks of provisions were carried away. In many places, as old men and women still remained and these pleaded that they be not allowed to die of starvation. But the soldiers pushed them back and carried away the silverware, breaking everything else that could not be taken away with them. The clothing was torn, the bureaus, and wardrobes and tables and furniture was smashed, while mirrors and pictures were smashed from the walls and destroyed. In the cellars and wine caves, all the wine that could not be drunk was poured out on the ground. Officers Direct Pillage. Captain Detener, commanding one of the battalions, gave the order to a number of soldiers to go to Noyon for the purpose of pillaging it. They returned with a huge amount of booty, including thousands of cigarettes, cans of condensed milk. The under-officers received a great deal more, while the potatoes were turned over to the battalion cook. The officers kept for themselves all the best things to eat and all objects of value. Take Babies' Milk. "In the other battalions the men were given permission to go to Noyon and pillage as they liked." The condensed milk referred to consisted of large stocks bought to Noyon by Baron Henri de Rothschild and a number of American charities for distribution among the babies and sick persons in the devastated district.

To Classify Drafted Men According to Occupation

(By United Press) WASHINGTON, May 18.—Profiling by England's mistakes the war department has organized a depot brigade system which will be the "eyes" of the national army and wherein a classification of men of high price will be made of those available for industrial service. The plan is the most comprehensive thus far developed for intelligent use of the nation's man power. Details of the plan showed that there will be a depot brigade consisting of 12 battalions of 1,000 men each, at each cantonment. Every man called in the draft on May 15 will pass through the depot brigades. He will be examined immediately to ascertain his experience as a worker, business or professional man. They will be classified under three groups: skilled, partly skilled and unskilled. It will be possible under this system to find any number of men of a certain occupation who may be called for by any branch of the service or another. Already this plan has been a help. A call was received from a Seattle shipyard for 10 skilled shipwrights. These were located in some three training camps and transferred to the reserve within 48 hours so that they could take up their work in the Seattle plant.

Says Farmers Between Devil and Deep Sea

(By United Press) NEW YORK, May 18.—The American farmer and stockman today is torn between the devil and the deep sea. Things he consumes and the deep sea of low prices for the things he produces. W. A. Neff, editor of the Chicago Daily Drovers' Journal, who is attending the annual convention of the National Livestock Exchange here, advanced this opinion. "Although prevailing prices of meat seem high to consumers, I know many farmers who have fed cattle and hogs at a loss during the past season," Neff said. "Prices of commodities the farmer must buy have risen out of all proportion to the prices he gets for his stock. The greatest food problem facing government at present, I believe, is that of assuring the producer a fair margin of profit. "We cannot expect the farmers' patriotism to exceed that of others to such an extent that he will increase his livestock production if he knows that in so doing he will incur additional economic loss. "Just now an ample supply of meat seems to be in sight. But unless the farmer and stockman is protected against high prices for what he buys and comparatively low prices for what he must sell, the ample supply will fall, and the failure would be too serious to contemplate."

Many Acts of Bravery Win Americans Decorations

By FRED B. FERGUSON (United Press Staff Correspondent) WITH THE AMERICANS IN PICARDY, May 17.—The bravery of the Americans in Picardy already has been proven by more than thirty heroic de- grees conferred to date. Major Rasmussen of Portland, Ore., who was killed May 5, was awarded a posthumous decoration. The citation, which was forwarded to his family, stated that he was killed in the course of an attempt to save important papers. Major H. B. Padlock of the signal corps and twenty-two members of his battalion were decorated because of bravery during a bombardment and gas attack, May 2. Padlock, although wounded, remained in an exposed position under heavy fire, maintaining communication with other units throughout the night. The members of Padlock's command who remained with him and who did not desert the war were: Sergeant C. E. Phillips; Corporal F. J. Coonan; J. E. Dady; P. E. Ries; R. L. Byrne; C. D. Chase; private J. O. Robinson, W. Thompson, A. F. Miller, M. E. Mellan, L. E. T. Jenkins, W. W. Harber, B. H. Wely, B. Nudd, B. H. Reese, E. H. Lamorburner, B. L. Carlson, H. H. Barry, K. E. Gahert, C. P. Drack, H. M. McKay, E. S. Weidinger. Others who received the cross of valor were: Color Sergeant T. F. Fink, Sergeant T. F. Phillips, and Musician E. W. Estabrook, their citation reading that although wounded by flying debris they saved an entire company of American troops in rescuing comrades from the fallen timbers of a wrecked house. Corporal T. A. Carroll, though wounded, fought off an enemy patrol. Private L. Leythaus, with a companion, captured three German patriots. They killed one and wounded another. Leythaus's companion was killed, whereupon he bayoneted the third German. He attempted to bring his companion's body but was forced to desert because of his wound. Oscar Griffith, with a ambulance driver, remained with a number of wounded under heavy fire until all were killed.

Help in Fighting Mosquitoes. In fighting the mosquito pest it is well to remember that mosquito breeding pools may often be eliminated through planting of ecocalypsis, either in or about such pools. These are very thirsty trees and will drink up and keep dry very considerable areas of the trees have attained, some since Swamps in Italy and France have been reclaimed through use of ecocalypsis.

SHOWMAN MEETS WITH SCHOOD OHUM HERB

When Al. G. Barnes, the showman, came to town this morning as the head of an aggregation of 1,000 wild animals, 500 horses and 500 people, one of the first men to meet him as he stepped from his private car was C. S. Weiser, a resident of this section. "Hello, Al," said Weiser, "What time will the big fallow?" Barnes looked curiously at the man who had addressed him and then he shook through the years there floated the vision of a bare-footed farm boy wading in Illinois with whom he had played hockey for years in the school. "A reunion followed along with a chat on old times. "What kind of a boy was 'Barnes'?" asked a reporter of the showman. "He was a real kid, but he was a pretty good kid but always 'playin' hockey from school."

ANIMAL CIRCUS IS HERE TODAY

CROWDS ASSEMBLE FOR PERFORMANCES OF BIG AGGREGATION Al. G. Barnes' big four ring wild animal circus is here. The parade this morning was more than a mile long. The trainers, most of them women, some of them men, girls, rode in open cages with lions, tigers, leopards, panthers and every other species of wild animal. During the afternoon performance these animals enacted the role of actors in little dramas and comedies of their own.

Enters Adams' Den An outstanding feature of the show was the work of Miss Venus Padlock, Barnes' latest importation from India, who entered a den with $20. This young woman, the only trainer to ever handle that big a group of the king of beasts, fearlessly placed her foot on the big four ring. Miss Mahel Stark, recognized as the greatest of the country's living tiger trainers, wrestled a full grown royal Bengal tiger in the presence of a score or more of other big cats. There were 55 acts in the show altogether, representing a series of sensations.

Packagers in Battle Act Eight giant elephants perform under the direction of Miss Grace Marvel in a reproduction of "The Battle of Verdun." They swing cannon onto the field in five different ways. "Dead" and "wounded" animals carry their mistress from the arena draped in the folds of a huge American flag. Miss Vera Ewert, prima donna of the white tops, formerly star in the Boston opera company, is with the circus. Altogether the circus is one of the best seen in this part of Idaho. There will be another performance tonight. The doors will open at 7 o'clock to permit the public to visit the great menagerie.

PROPOSED TO ARM STRIKING MINERS

LETTERS INTRODUCED AT I. W. W. TRIAL TO SHOW LEADERS PLANNED TO OVERTHROW WORLD (By United Press) CHICAGO, May 18.—John Baldass, New York City defendant among the 113 I. W. W. leaders on trial for sedition here, was charged today with supplying to Army Pennsylvania's anthracite miners and by joining the American Congress, which was held in other lands, to challenge the power of the governments of the entire world.

Special Prosecutor Claude R. Porter, in reading to the jury letters and articles, including the plans of the miners, considered them important links in the chain of evidence the government has introduced in the five-week-old trial. One of the letters was to William D. Haywood, leading defendant. On May 10, 1917, before the indictment was returned here against the I. W. W., Baldass wrote as follows, according to the letter which was introduced in evidence: World Upside World "My hope is that the I. W. W. will extend its sphere of activity out of the country and go so far as to challenge the power of the governments of the entire world. Let us do our best for building up this great power of the I. W. W."

In the same letter Baldass related his connection with Armando Borghi, the secretary of the United Socialist Italian, and proposed an international I. W. W. congress after the war, "so as to develop a world-wide organization between all workers in favor of the tactics of direct action."

Propose to Arm Miners Baldass was the leading I. W. W. organizer here, according to the government's attorney. In "I Protest" of June 9, 1917, his name was signed to a long appeal to the anthracite miners to join the I. W. W. ranks, concluding: "When through propaganda and organization the I. W. W. will have conquered the masses of miners and at present necessary to begin open attacks against the companies and against the authorities.

"When a struggle and for its consequences the miners must be armed, and strongly armed." The defense will contend that this did not necessarily mean arming them with weapons.

of Particular Interest to Farmers

"I Could Find No Better Motor Truck"

Mr. Edw. S. Johnson, head of the Johnson Auto Sales Company, has signed a contract for the distribution of Garford Motor Trucks in Southern Idaho.

Speaking of the acquisition of this line, Mr. Johnson said:

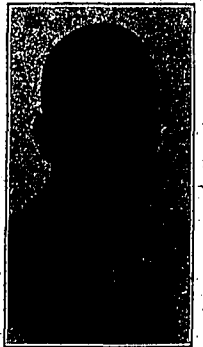

"I could find no better motor truck. I have been investigating the merits of the various trucks on the market for over two years, not only at a distance but by conferences with big truck users in the large Eastern and Middle Western cities, and visits to the factories.

"Southern Idaho is not Chicago, and I have kept this point firmly in mind at all times. I had to have a truck that would meet the rigid requirements of road conditions in Southern Idaho as well as care for the heaviest loads, and I was looking for a truck manufacturer who could supply a truck suitable for every requirement.

"I picked the GARFORD TRUCK."

A GREAT FARM TOOL, AND AS ESSENTIAL AS THE PLOW

One ton, one and one-half ton, two ton, three and one-half ton, five ton trucks, four and one-half ton, seven ton and ten ton road tractors, and a specially built road builder. Special body designs to fit every kind of hauling.

DESIGNER AND BUILDER

Garfords are not so-called "assembled" trucks. Each part is designed and built to do its allotted share of work. There is no question as to future supply of repair parts, or the stability of the guarantee.

PERFORMANCES THAT SATISFY

The established performances of Garford trucks have placed them in the front rank among commercial vehicles and the steadily increasing demand from old users who are adding to their equipment as well as from new customers is the best evidence of the stable foundation of the business.

RENDERS REAL SERVICE

The Garford is a machine-made truck. All parts are constructed by jigs and tools and are therefore interchangeable. Distributors and service stations carry in stock duplicate parts, which are available for quick service in case of repair needs. Garford trucks are put together in a series of units, any one of which can be quickly removed and replaced by another. Every Garford Motor Truck is guaranteed according to the standard warranty of The National Automobile Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

FOR EVERY PURPOSE

The dependability of the motor truck enables it to meet the demand for economy and efficiency in all forms of transportation. Competition has compelled the jobber and retailer of all lines of merchandise, the general and road contractors, the transfer, storage and express companies to discard horse-drawn equipment for the motor truck. It makes the farmer master of his market. The railroads are recognizing the value of the motor truck as a feeder. It is indispensable to the manufacturer.
