LAST TRIBUTE TO MAJOR LUFBERRY

AVIATOR VICTIM OF THE BOOHE MACHINE LAID TO REST IN FRANCE

By FRANK J. TAYLOR
(With Times Staff Correspondent)
UNITED STATES ARMY IN LORRAINE, May 21.—American and French soldiers paused this afternoon in the game of war, wherever possible, to pay homage to Major Raul Lufberry, the great American ace who was killed in an air fight Sunday morning.

The funeral services were held within the scope of the German guns. French and American companies stood at attention while an American band played French and American aviators were present in large numbers. A French general and an American general also paid tribute to the aviator.

Airplane Shower Flashed

The coffin, draped with an American flag, was carried by four French aviators to a tiny, grassy cemetery behind the hospital. Infantry companies were lined up on one side of the road, while officers and aviators were drawn up on the other.

A group of American aviators, hovering above the grave, showered the coffin with flowers, as the chaplain completed the rites.

During the services, a report was received from an American observer in the front lines that a German plane had been brought down by one of Lufberry's comrades.

"It is as usual would want it," said an American aviator. "He'd care far more to have a boche brought down than to have elaborate services in his honor."

Later, it was reported that the German biplane responsible for Lufberry's death was brought down by a French aviator. This has not been officially established.

Lone Machine Attacked

The boche machine which caused Lufberry's death came directly for the American aviator's flight yesterday and acted in an unusual manner. American aviators before it was designed for a special mission, it being the only airplane in sight at the time. It attacked right to the American planes behind the American lines, running only after Lufberry's comrades had emptied over a thousand machine gun bullets into it.

It was ten o'clock yesterday morning when Lufberry and two other American aviators responded to an "alert" north of Toul and spotted the lone boche biplane. Lufberry attacked at an altitude of 4000 meters, his companions following closely.

Body Leaves Machine

Lufberry and the enemy machine opened fire simultaneously. The machine suddenly burst into flames and fell like a plummet, its petrol tank spilling flames. When about half way to the ground Lufberry's body shot out of his seat, falling some distance from where the wrecked machine stalled.

The famous American was dead when a number of French peasants reached him. His body was removed from the little grave in which it had fallen to a house nearby, where it was covered with a flag and wreaths of flowers.

Funeral Services Filmed

During the funeral today the services were filmed. The pictures, it is understood, will be exhibited in America.

GOVERNMENT NEEDS MANY WOMEN FOR WAR WORK

WASHINGTON, D. C.—More and more, as the war program progresses, is the government depending upon women to perform the increasingly increased volume of work in the civil branches. The force of civilian employees in Washington, D. C., increased from 30,000 to approximately 70,000 during the first year of our participation in the war. Of this increase of 40,000, more than 25,000 are women.

Women make up the increase in government offices and establishments outside of Washington in less proportion, for the reason that the greatest expansion in the field has been in the large manufacturing plants of the war and navy departments, where thousands of mechanics and laborers are employed in shipbuilding and in manufacturing ordnance and other war material.

Women are not available for employment in trade positions to any great extent, but their services are being utilized in every way that is practicable.

Civil Service Demands

The United States civil service commission is calling for women for government work of not less than 60 different kinds. The list includes stenography, typewriting, bookkeeping, clerical work of every kind, occupations which require training in some special or technical line, statisticians, operators of various kinds of calculating, addressing, and duplicating machines; proof readers; law clerks; well-versed executive secretaries; operators of a dozen kinds, telegraph and telephone operators, trained nurses, chemists, physicists, library assistants, inspectors of undergarments, finger-print classifiers, and many others.

The commission urges women to offer their services to the government at this time of great need. As men are called to the colors, women must take their places and keep the machinery behind the armor forces moving at the maximum of efficiency. Representatives of the civil service commission at the post offices in all important cities are prepared to furnish definite information and application blanks.

READY TO HANDLE MANY MORE SWINE

OGDEN PACKING COMPANY PREPARED FOR INCREASED PORK PRODUCTION.

OGDEN—Two important announcements in connection with the western livestock industry were made during the past week in Ogden, one that Lark Hansen, president of the Ogden Packing & Provision company for nine years past, has resigned so as to devote more time to the Hansen Livestock & Feeding company business, being succeeded by James Pfingst, president of the packing company; the other, that despite any growth in hog production of the western states this year, the Ogden Packing & Provision company is prepared to handle the increased business developed in this way.

Utah will have an increase of more than 100 per cent in number of hogs this year, as compared with last. Idaho will not be far behind in percentage of gain, and there will be material increases in western Wyoming, Nevada and western Colorado, all included in the Ogden livestock territory. However, with the enlargement of the Ogden Union Stock Yards, the growth of the Hansen Livestock & Feeding company and the feeding system, the location of commission houses in the stock yards and presence of dozens of buyers and speculators on the Ogden market, there is every opportunity for sales.

Thronged Demands

The Ogden packing plant is the largest in the western country, and is fully equipped to handle increased numbers of hogs, sheep and cattle. Owing to the demand for pork to be shipped to Europe, for use of the civilians and the soldiers fighting against the Germans and Austrians, there is a market that cannot be entirely filled, even with plans running for their capacity. Utah, Idaho and other western states are to take part of this burden this year through the increase of their hog raising. Livestock men urge that special care be taken now with the little pigs. Every pig saved now means a big increase in the number that will be successfully raised. Attention to the feeding question is also urged. Each farmer should produce food for his entire lot of hogs. Elimination of waste on the farms will result from proper hog feeding this year. Hogs will do excellent cleaning in the fields and the orchards.

Ready Markets Promised

In the finish of the hog production campaign for 1918, livestock men demand that the farmer will first find that, with a firmly established minimum price for hogs in effect, there will be both ready markets, excellent returns and good profits. With the belief that the business will not only grow this year but for the future too, the Ogden livestock center is being enlarged to handle this increased business.

SUGAR BUYERS MUST SIGN UP

COUNTY FOOD ADMINISTRATION DISTRIBUTES BLANK FORMS.

County Food Administrator C. E. Munson is distributing among the retail grocers of the county a quantity of certificates to be used by purchasers of sugar for certain purposes this year. Upon execution of one of these certificates, the applicant is entitled to buy a maximum of 100 pounds of sugar for this purpose, and agrees to limit the consumption of sugar for other purposes in the household to two pounds or less per person per month for the duration of the war.

Following are the instructions in this regard received by Mr. Munson from State Food Administrator R. F. Bicknell:

C. E. Munson, County Food Administrator:

We are sending you under separate cover a considerable quantity of sugar certificates for distribution by you among the merchants of your county. Additional certificates will be supplied to you as needed.

Upon due execution of one of the certificates, permission may be given to any one in your county to buy not to exceed 100 pounds of sugar for canning and preserving purposes only. You should instruct all merchants of this privilege the purchaser promises to limit the use of sugar for all other purposes in the household to three pounds or less per person per month for the duration of the war.

You should instruct all merchants of your county that under no circumstances must sugar be sold in larger amounts than in 25.00 quantities to city customers, and to twenty-five pounds to country customers, without the execution of a certificate.

Any violation of this rule or failure to obtain certificate in writing for each sale for home canning and preserving purposes will be cause for denying such merchant permission to sell sugar in any quantity. Any person making improper use of a certificate to obtain sugar will be denied the right to make any further purchases of that commodity.

Please call attention to the fact that families in the state of Idaho are placed on their honor not to purchase a larger supply of sugar than will be required for their use in canning fruit and vegetables, that many should be able to do with considerably less than the authorized 100 pounds. Whenever possible, they are asked to do so.

The merchant selling sugar must make a record in a book kept for that purpose, showing date of sale, name of purchaser, and amounts purchased, so that he may at all times know the amount so sold, and that the County Food administrators may readily be able to check up such sales, whenever in their judgment reason to do so exists. Purchases for home canning and preserving purposes must not exceed a total of 100 pounds without special permission from the County Food administrators.

APPLE CROP'S BIG ONE HERE SAYS INSPECTOR

C. W. BRANNON, REPORTS ON RESULTS OF INVESTIGATION — PEACHES HARD HIT BY FROST.

The Twin Falls district will produce this season less than six million bushels because of the late frost, but the apple crop will be above normal, according to a statement of C. W. Brannon, deputy state horticultural inspector, who concludes today a several days' investigation of the orchards of this district. Frosts of apples and peaches have been reduced somewhat by the frost, but small fruits generally will yield full crops, he stated.

Plenty of Prunes and Cherries. Peaches were hit hard by the frost of April 27, and there are few left in the orchards, says Mr. Brannon. There is a small percentage of the crop left on the upper lands. There will be a few apricots and pears and plenty of cherries, plums and prunes.

Some Apples Over-Boa. Many apple trees are not bearing this year for the reason that they over-bore last season. Brannon stated, but, deducting the per cent on this account, there still remains a larger production this year than last, because the other trees are full of young fruit which in some cases will have to be thinned.

British Face New Problem In Hun Capture of Fleet

EVIDENCE INDICATES POSSIBLE ATTEMPT ON PART OF GERMANY TO MAKE USE OF RUSSIAN WARSHIPS TAKEN OVER AT SEBASTOPOL—MANY ARE FIRST-CLASS SHIPS.

By J. W. T. MASON. (Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, May 21.—Possibility that the Germans may attempt to use the captured Russian fleet in the Black sea to raid shipping in the Mediterranean, is presenting a new naval problem for the allies in near eastern waters. When the Germans took possession of Russian warships in the Black sea, they secured a fleet comprising at least three fully equipped dreadnoughts, with three others partly or wholly constructed; six old battleships and seven cruisers, together with about thirty destroyers, nine submarines and a half-sized flotilla of subsidiary craft. These vessels were built at Black sea yards for permanent use there. To peace times Russia could not send warships through the Dardanelles and the connecting Turkish waters, and there is no other entrance into the Black sea.

May Use Turkey. As an ally of Turkey, however, the Germans are now at liberty to make use of these vessels in sending the Black sea fleet into the Mediterranean. The recent attempt of the Germans to run the allies' naval blockade at the mouth of the Dardanelles with the Goeben and the Breslau in 1912, and the subsequent capture of Russian vessels into service for a similar exploit will certainly be considered at Berlin. If the Russian warships succeeded in getting into the Mediterranean, they would be a much more menacing force than any captured among merchant shipping, an exploit that would appeal to the German love of war-time sensationalism. But the fleet is not strong enough to make a successful fight against the allies for any length of time. The warships would probably try to reach the Austriac coast or attempt to re-enter the Dardanelles, and, failing that, would eventually be sent to the bottom or would have to surrender.

Must Rely Germany. But the loss of the warships would fall on Russia and not on Germany, and for this reason, the project will appeal to German naval officers with the greater force. Against any such exploit is the argument that the Black sea fleet's use is wholly to prevent the south Russian coast in a war against Turkey. Destruction of the fleet would place Russia in a helpless position in this respect toward the Turks, after the present war is over. Such a condition would not be to Germany's advantage particularly since the present German policy is to attempt to exploit Russia commercially through conciliatory means when peace comes.

Another reason for hesitation by the German admiralty is the strong possibility that the Russian fleet's attempt to emerge from the Dardanelles might be defeated by the allies. The Goeben and Breslau failed to make their exit, and the fleet, which was engaged with a second force, they already declining prestige in Turkey would be badly shaken. Unquestionably the allies are now strengthening their dreadnought strength at the Dardanelles and in the Aegean, and have plans in that area. If the Germans try to come forth, a spectacular engagement is certain.

REVIEW OF WEEK IS VERY SATISFACTORY

(By United Press.)

OTTAWA, Ont., May 21.—Every operation initiated by the Germans on the west front, in the week ending May 16, resulted in a costly failure, while every allied operation was a complete success, the British ministry of information declared in a dispatch received here.

"On the west front, the week ending May 16, was the second week to have passed with only minor operations," the dispatch stated. "There are two points especially to notice in this: "First, that the local objective in each case is to seize observation points, second, that in each case the enemy's intention is to end in complete and entire failure, even where, as on the Voormezele-Clytte front, considerable bodies of fresh troops were employed and sacrificed. But each operation, initiated by the allies, namely, at Leers, Marincourt and Givenchy, has been complete success."

British Drop Most Bombs. "A comparative statement for April of the number of bombs dropped by British airmen in France, behind the enemy lines, and dropped by British planes in the air, shows that the British dropped more bombs than the enemy."

"The allies are confident that with the infusion of American troops, whose French and British divisions they can withstand the full force of the enemy assault until the American army in the field has grown to the same proportions of those of the French and British."

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 21.—Condemning profiteering under the guise of patriotism, and deploring the gospel of hate toward Germany, the Presbyterian general assembly is an record endorsing the moral aims of the war as enunciated by President Wilson.

"Cursing the Kaiser in the language of the gutter," of which it was said some ministers were guilty, also was condemned in the resolutions by the committee on moral aims.

A section condemning mob law brought Richard Mayers, Knoxville, Tenn., negro delegate, to his feet. "I have the feeling and what they have done," he said. "Their treatment of their enemies and others has been no worse than the treatment of negroes through the lynch law."

J. A. Golden, New York, demanded that the statement be expunged from the records. The moderators said it had been made a part of the record. The committee on church union dealing with the union of the northern and southern branches of the church reported it has been unable to reach agreement, and asked that it be continued. This was done.

HAVE you ever lain in No Man's Land, with a shattered thigh and a throat that burned with thirst?

Has your wife ever begged food for her children and herself at the mess-kitchen of a soldiers' camp?

Has your little son ever torn his mother's heart with a plaintive cry, day after day, for food she couldn't give him?

Has your little daughter, clad in a ragged dress, her only dress, ever shivered night after night in the ruined cellar of what was once her home?

Has your city ever been destroyed—nay, powdered, bricks, stone, timbers and all so ground into the dust that one scarce knew where street ended and building began?

It is exactly such suffering that the Red Cross is organized, here and in Europe, to relieve.

The Red Cross asks for One Hundred Million Dollars as the least it needs to carry on this work.

Can you—dare you—refuse to give to this work—and give till the heart says stop?

Every cent of every dollar received for the Red Cross War Fund goes for War Relief.

The American Red Cross is the largest and most efficient organization for the relief of suffering that the world has ever seen. It is made up almost entirely of volunteer workers, the higher executives being without exception men accustomed to large affairs, who are in almost all cases giving their services without pay. It is supported entirely by its membership fees and by voluntary contributions. It is today bringing relief to suffering humanity, both military and civil, in every War-torn allied country. It plans tomorrow to help in the work of restoration throughout the world.

It feeds and clothes entire populations in times of great calamity. It is there to help your soldier boy in his time of need. With its thousands of workers, its tremendous stores, and its smooth running transportation facilities it is serving as America's advance guard—and the helping to win the war. Congress authorizes it. President Wilson heads it. The War Department audits its accounts. Your Army, your Navy and your Allies enthusiastically endorse it. Twenty-two million Americans have joined it.

A CONTRAST.

While so far there have been no great outstanding demonstrations against German power in Europe, there are enough signs of unrest to lead color to the belief that beneath the surface lies a seething lake of red hot revolt.

It is difficult to imagine a condition of this kind in America. There are no confiscations of metal stocks in private ownership. No absolute prohibitions along any one line.

Contrast these conditions with the known facts as they exist in the countries under the iron heel of Kaiserism, the new Russian provinces now under German domination.

Here in America there is no unsettling of the machinery of civil process, no shattering of industry, no change whatever in the outward and visible form of life.

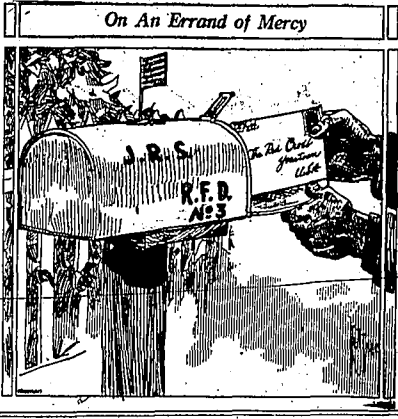

ONLY THRIFT WILL WIN. Although the thrift habit has become contagious in America, there is no danger of one saving too much, for there will be need of it.

USES NEW AUTHORITY.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—President Wilson signed the Overman act for the first time, thus ordering the separation of military aeronautics from the bureau of aircraft production.

ADDITIONS TO LIST.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The royal Prussian war minister has reported an additional list of ten American prisoners of war.

HAPPENINGS in the CITIES

Just the Adventures of Three Women and a Baby

SHE was dressed to kill—in the sense that she was armed with every weapon that money could forge for the fighting of that battle which woman always loses when her enemy is Zinc.

The woman looked at the baby that way, and right in the middle of its pounding and kicking and yelling, by some luck—maybe it wasn't just luck, either, but never mind that—by some luck, the baby caught the woman's glance, stopped crying, held out its arms and began to coo.

It was a queer case of hypochondria. The woman gathered up her belongings with subconscious concentration, paid her bill and then went straight to the baby and took him in her arms.

IN THE LIMELIGHT

PHILOSOPHER OF GOOD CHEER

The open season for banquets being at an end, Patrick Francis Murphy of New York has returned to his pipe, his books, his business and his coteries of congenial companions.

WOULD BAR OUT ALL HEARST PUBLICATIONS

NEW YORK, May 21.—Decision in the application of the local Hearst managers for a permanent injunction to prevent the town of Mount Vernon, N. Y., from enforcing an ordinance barring the Hearst publications from sale there was reserved by Justice Grier in his supreme court here, and leave granted to file briefs Friday.

Mr. Murphy, philosopher of good cheer.

TWELVE MEMBERS SHUNVENED.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 21.—Twelve members of the minority group in the lower house of the Saskatchewan legislature have been sentenced to penal servitude at Lepidic, according to a dispatch from the British ministry of information.

Out of the Trenches for a Breathing Space

'They Are Our Boys; Get Ready, Everyone, for a Rush!'

The long train of freight cars whined and grumbled as it strove to stop. In the doorway of a great long building a white capped and gowned woman released a sunny smile and turning her voice carried into the building called out, 'They are ours; get ready for a rush.'

SPEAKING OF MONEY

Just How the Goodfields—The Stingiest Couple in Town—Helped the Red Cross

By BOOTH TARKINGTON Of the Vigilantes.

'Speaking of money,' said my seat-mate friend of the Maine coast, 'we used to have an old man here named Goodfield. When he was young he used to sing in the church choir—that didn't cost nothing—and married one of the Emberts, but didn't have only one child, and it died, and time he got to be about sixty-eight years old he'd saved up and was hirin' our 'til money at about as high a p' cent, as anybody could get it all 'round, and he'd be careful what he spent, 'Careful' he wouldn't buy himself a pair of britches but once in eight years, and when his old sister that lived with em says one day she was bound to see what the inside the sticher shop theater looked like just once before she died, why, old Goodfield and his wife says that was the last straw, and they fixed up and had her hauled off to live on the coast. His wife was just the same as him, too.'

The Spending of Your Hundred Million Dollars

Busiest Budget in All the World Is a Red Cross War-Fund—Every Dollar Spent Alleviates Misery.

By WILL PAYNE

Last summer the public subscribed a hundred million dollars to the Red Cross. At the latest statement over eighty-five millions of it had been appropriated.

Where has it gone? you ask. For many months the world has been spending over a hundred million dollars a day for the destruction of life and means of subsistence.

Condensed Milk for Children. Soldiers are only a part of the Red Cross work—probably the smaller part.
