ITALIANS PUSH ACROSS THE PIAVE IN PURSUIT OF FLEEING AUSTRILIANS

YANKEES DRIVE FORWARD IN BELLEAU WOOD

PUSH AHEAD FOUR HUNDRED YARDS, CAPTURING ENEMY DEFENSES—ONLY SMALL PORTIONS OF WOODS NOW IN THE HANDS OF HUNS

By LOWELL MELLETT (United Press Staff Correspondent) WITH THE AMERICANS ON THE MARNE, June 24.—(4:20 p. m.)—The Americans in Belleau wood today drove forward 400 yards, despite fierce German resistance. They inflicted severe losses on the enemy, captured a number of machine guns, and then dug themselves securely into their new lines. Only a little fringe of the wood now remains in the hands of the boche.

Despite their ideal defensive position, the Germans suffered heavy losses. The American losses were not disproportionate to their gains. The Germans heavily bombarded an American unit northwest of Chateau-Thierry with gas shells today. The enemy is constantly increasing its losses in this respect. These flowers have been establishing barbed wire entanglements and machine gun nests.

Visits From Lines

I visited these American units yesterday. The rocky, uneven ground is covered with dense undergrowth and small trees. The trees are mangled and the ground soft by shell explosions.

American Cause Anxious

If word life is bad for the Americans, it is worse for the Germans. A captured letter written by a Hun on Friday says:

"Our cantenans have not come up. The Americans are bombarding the villages 15 kilometers (between nine and ten miles) behind the front. We are in one corner of the woods. The Americans are in the other. They rub us without warning, so we must shoot at every noise."

"We lie here day and night. We have no blankets and nearly freeze every night. The food is miserable."

PERHING REPORTS SUCCESSFUL

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Though harassed by enemy fire, American troops northwest of Chateau-Thierry Sunday further improved their positions, General Pershing reported today.

VIGOROUS COUNTER ATTACK PROVES DISASTROUS TO THE ENEMY

(By United Press) LONDON, June 24.—The Italians have crossed the Piave at four points on a front of more than twenty miles, it was learned from an authoritative source this afternoon. Bridgeheads have been established on the opposite bank at Falcò, Narverona, Ponte di Piave and Capo Silla.

Establishing a "bridgehead," in modern military parlance, means the acquisition of sufficient territory on the far side of a bridge to permit of free passage of troops.

Italian cavalry is pushing across the river between Consiglio and Oderzo (a 19-mile front northeast of Treviso).

ROME, June 24.—ITALIAN CAVALRY HAS CROSSED THE MIDDLE PIAVE, IN ADDITION TO THE BRIDGING OF LOWER RIVER, AND IS CHARGING THE FLEEING AUSTRILIANS ALONG THE EAST BANK, IT WAS ANNOUNCED TODAY.

ITALIAN FORCES HAVE WON BACK ALL OF THE MONTELOLO GREST AND THE WHOLE PIAVE LINE BELOW THAT POINT, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF ONE SMALL POINT, THE ITALIAN WAR OFFICE ANNOUNCED.

"MONTELOLO AND THE WHOLE PIAVE LINE TO ITS RIGHT, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF A SMALL PORTION OF MUSILE (OPPOSITE SAN DONA DI PIAVE, ON THE LOWER RIVER), WHERE THE STRUGGLE IS STILL GOING ON, HAVE RETURNED TO OUR HANDS," THE STATEMENT SAID.

FOETY-FIVE THOUSAND PRISONERS AND VAST WAR BOOTY, INCLUDING AN ENORMOUS NUMBER OF GUNS, HAVE BEEN CAPTURED BY THE ITALIANS.

AMERICAN ARMIES ARE OPERATING WITH ITALIANS IN THE WEST AND ARE HIGHLY CONCERNED FOR THEIR BRAVERY IN "THEIR INITIAL ATTACK."

GREAT QUANTITIES OF MATERIAL HAVE BEEN ABANDONED. PATRIOTIC DEMONSTRATIONS WERE STAGED THROUGHOUT ITALY TODAY. FLAGS WERE FLOWN, PROCESSIONS HELD, AND CHEERING CROWDS PARADED THE STREETS, SINGING THE NATIONAL ANTHEM.

CAESAR CONGRATULATIONS

WASHINGTON, June 24.—Secretary of War Baker this afternoon congratulated the Italian war office on its success against the Austrians.

Adding to the text of his message, Baker declared "this is the same of the fine, big successes of the war."

AUSTRIAN WAR OFFICE PREPARES PEOPLE FOR STORIES OF REVERSES

LONDON, June 24.—The Austrian war office, through its official statement yesterday, began to prepare the Austrian people for announcement of the retirement from the Piave.

"The heavy rains, which have placed under water broad stretches of the Venetian plain, have multiplied the burdens and privations of our troops," the statement said.

PIAVE FOLDS ENEMY The Piave has become a rushing stream and its volumes of water have many times made it impossible for several hours to communicate between the two banks. It is only possible with the greatest difficulty to provide the fighting men with the most necessary supplies of munitions and provisions."

The British employed tanks in their raid for the first time when several of them participated in a local affair near Bucquoy on Saturday night. They inflicted great damage on the enemy and returned safely.

Nothing of special interest was reported from the British front tonight. The French war office reported Saturday night and Sunday "calm" on the whole front.

Germans Replied "A German attack was reported in the Anthelm region (six miles northwest of Compiegne) on the communication said. "Between the Marne and Rheims the Germans attacked Italian positions on Bilgny mountain. After sharp fighting the Germans were repulsed with heavy losses, losing prisoners. There was active artillery fighting in the Woerreg region and the Vosges."

Beclin reported the repulse of allied raids on the Somme and Oise fronts and the capture of Italian prisoners in a local operation southwest of Rheims.

GERMANY HURRYING UP REINFORCEMENTS TO SAVE ALLY FROM DEMORALIZING ROUT

By CARL D. DECAT (United Press Staff Correspondent) WASHINGTON, June 24.—In the wake of news that Italians have crossed the Piave and have the Austrians in complete rout, Italian and American officials today cautioned against premature hopes of a complete victory.

According to information received, both by this government and the embassy here, the Germans are now fully awake to the Austrian peril and are rushing increasing numbers of Germans to stem the Austrian reverse.

With the Austrians disorganized, retreat across the flooded Piave and harassed by the Italians, French and British, such aid is the only thing that will prevent an Austrian disaster with consequent disruption at home, military men say.

They pointed out that the allies might gain a turning point victory by taking the offensive. Whether they could prepare for such action before reinforcements to themselves felt is uncertain.

Additional advice on Austrian internal conditions have caused the state department to alter somewhat its original view of food conditions there. It now appears to the department that in

BITTERNESS AGAINST ALLY BREAKS OUT IN NEW ATTACK ON GERMAN EMBASSY—RAILWAY EMPLOYEES STRIKE—MUNITIONS BLOWN UP

(By United Press) WASHINGTON, June 24.—The Vienna workmen's council has again demanded peace, declaring that no increase of food supplies will come until the war ends, according to Swiss reports to the state department this afternoon.

These declared the Austrian bread ration amounts to three small slices a day, that the 1917 crops and the Rumanian supply are exhausted, and that the Besarabian crops are not available.

ZURICH, June 24.—One hundred and fifty thousand strikers in Vienna had another conflict with the police Saturday, according to a dispatch from Munich today.

Shouting "Down with Germany!" the crowd again attempted to reach the German embassy, but were dispersed.

Railway men in Besarabia have gone on strike and that whole region is paralyzed. Rumanians have blown up many munition depots there.

AMSTERDAM, June 24.—Emperor Karl hurried to the front Sunday, according to a Vienna dispatch today.

COPENHAGEN, June 24.—Emperor Karl has refused to accept the resignation of the Austrian cabinet, according to a dispatch from Vienna today. The political crisis is expected to be solved by reconstruction of the ministry.

The Hungarian cabinet is reported to be resigning.

SPEAKER MAY BE HELD ON ESPIONAGE CHARGE

A sensation was created in Chautauque Saturday evening when announcement was made that Captain J. M. deBeaufort, a star attraction of this year's Chautauque, had been discredited. In making his announcement Superintendent Flint did not go into detail except to give due credit to Captain deBeaufort for his splendid work both in the Chautauque and in U. S. government war work.

In Ottawa, Canada, it is learned that no papers were filed against Captain deBeaufort, but that there is a possibility that he is a German spy or an impostor posing under the name he now gives.

For some time federal officers have been trailing the captain, and the White Bureau has been in constant touch with the officers.

In Idaho Falls Friday evening word was sent by the Army Intelligence department to the Chautauque management to discredit deBeaufort and he was asked to go to Salt Lake, thence to San Francisco. Although apparently surprised, he expressed willingness to go.

"The case seems to be a peculiar one," said A. J. Haskitt, from the Ellington-White office, who was in town Saturday evening. "Captain deBeaufort was one of the most active and efficient workers in New York and Pittsburgh during the second Liberty Loan drive and the Liberty Loan workers were most incredulous when they heard that there was any suspicion whatsoever as to the captain's genuineness. He was

FLASH! THREE BOATS OF TRANSPORT STILL MISSING

INBOUND ALLIED SHIP SUNK OFF DELAWARE CAPES BY GERMAN SUBMARINE

(By United Press) WASHINGTON, June 24.—An allied transport under an American charter was sunk June 18 about 700 miles east of the Delaware capes, the navy department announced officially this afternoon. Eighty-one men have been landed at New York, Hampton Roads and Bermuda, but three livesboats containing 67 men are still missing.

Official Statement The navy department issued the following announcement: "An allied transport under American charter was sunk June 18 about 700 miles east of the Delaware capes. The ship had no troops on board."

The vessel was sunk without warning, the submarine not being seen until after the torpedo struck. The crew took to the boats after they were unable to use the guns. Nineteen souls were fired into the transport after the submarine came to the surface.

"All of the crew—148 men—got away in seven boats. Of these four boats have landed, two by steamer at New York and one by steamer at Hampton Roads and one by a sailing boat at Bermuda.

"A search is being made for the three remaining boats. The transport, which had been engaged in taking American troops to France, is understood to be the Danish. Officials said it was doubtful that American lives were involved.

INQUIRY INTO CAUSE OF GIBSON TRAIN WRECK

HAMMOND, Ind., June 24.—Official inquiry into the cause of the wreck of the Higgenback-Wallace circus train at Ivanhoe, Ind., early Saturday, was to be made here today by Colonel T. H. Greene. Inspectors David Matthews and J. Q. Martin of the Indiana public service commission and Federal officials were expected to attend the inquest.

Twelve charred bodies were removed from the twisted wreckage at Ivanhoe Sunday, making a total of fifty-five "coincidents" to "Creater" Greene. The debris has been carefully searched and Greene believes all the dead have been found.

Approximately 6,000 pupils enrolled in the public schools of Twin Falls county, besides making an immense quantity of hospital materials and clothing for soldiers and refugees, have invested $76,880.25 in Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps and have contributed in excess of $4,000 to the Red Cross. Y. M. C. A., and other war relief funds, according to compilation of reports made by Miss Brittan Wolf, county superintendent.

Junior Red Cross
In the forty-nine school districts of the county there are thirty-four Junior Red Cross auxiliaries and thirty-eight schools in chapters, with a total membership of 3,500. Each member contributed 25 cents as a membership fee. Further funds for the work of the Junior Red Cross have been derived by members of the organization in this county through sale of salvage, 805 entertainments, $240.25, and through other means, $720.25, or $1,020.50 in all. The work done by the Junior Red Cross organizations of this county is credited principally to the schools of Twin Falls, Buhl and Kimberly, for the reason that organization throughout the rural districts was not begun until March of this year.

Other Fields of Work
In addition to their work in the Junior Red Cross, and through investment and contributions to war securities and war relief funds, the pupils of the Twin Falls county schools are taking an active part in the winning of the war in various other ways.

There are thirty-one garden clubs with a total of 1,100 pupils enrolled. Two schools are supporting French orphans.

The organization of Home Guard Girls of Elmer is engaged in sewing for the Belgians.

Purchase of Liberty Bonds in some schools has been made for the benefit of the school.

War Savings Stamps societies have been organized throughout the school and there are several 100 per cent War Savings Stamps schools, where every pupil enrolled is the owner of one or more of the stamps.

Financial Statements
Following is the statement of investments in war securities: Liberty Bonds, $51,760; Thrift Stamps, $3,840.25; War Savings Certificates, $81,200.

Contributions of the pupils to war relief funds are itemized as follows: Y. M. C. A., $2,630; Belgian relief, $200.

Following is an enumeration of the Red Cross articles made by the pupils: Soldiers' handkerchiefs, 72; Boys' caps, 14; Caps with band, 72; Trench cloths, 92; Napkins, 65; Bedspreads, 26; Underwear, 6; Pan loaves, 17; Gun-ropes, 130,000; Kitchen holders, 18; Toys, 18; Candles, 250; Dominoes, 12; Checkers, 14; Picture Puzzles, 8; Other puzzles, 29; Dish towels, 102; Dish cloths, 51; Lavettes—sinks, 32; Homers, 21; Bedspreads, 25; Hospital supplies—property bags, 217; wash cloths, 25; bed spreads, 42; comfort pillows, 295; shirts, 51; Sweaters, 210; Socks, 65; Washlets, 205; Comfort kits, 82; Parking boxes, 182; Scarfs, 13; Helmbags, 6.

COULDN'T WAKE 'EM UP

COUNTY TO SEND BETWEEN THIRTY AND THIRTY-FIVE MEN TO CAMP IN JULY

The next selective service call for men to train for enlistments during the 180-day period of July 22 to 29 will take 1,000 men from Idaho, according to advice received by the local board from Adjutant General O. B. Moody, and will call between 30 and 35 men from Twin Falls county.

June Record is 150.

The largest contingent, which is of 120 men, is to leave here on Friday evening next for Camp Lewis, Washington. Sixteen specially qualified registrants have been called to report at intervals during the month, all but four having reported up to the present time, for special duty with the military aeronautics corps at Vancouver barracks, Washington.

Six registrants volunteered for technical training at the University of Idaho, Moscow, and eight others have volunteered to receive similar training at the Idaho Technical Institute, Pocatello, leaving here on Saturday or Sunday next.

ARMY LIFE SEEMS TO AGREE WITH CADORE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
By H. C. HAMILTON

NEW YORK, June 24.—The benefits of athletic training soldiers are receiving in training camps is well demonstrated by an occurrence in Brooklyn recently when Lieut. Leon Cadore pitched his first and only game of the season, starting with the hand-throwing Cardinals.
Cadore, last year a promising youngster with the Brooklyn club, had not appeared this year in a baseball uniform. He was taken in the draft early among the first to be called from big league stardom. The training he had received didn't come to him through an expensive stay at a southern resort. He found the kinks out of his muscles in Uncle Sam's big camp. The accomplishment speaks better than words what the army is doing for the young men of this country.

try. Cadore really pitched a better game than any he appeared in a year ago.

In connection with Cadore's appearance against the Cardinals, it is stated by the National league that heretofore no player who is in the army will be permitted to return to the game without first having obtained the written consent of his commanding officer. The attitude taken by the league is that, in case of an accident to a player on leave from camp, the manager might be held responsible for injury to a soldier. After Sept. 1, they decided, no player will be permitted to take part in a scheduled contest, provided he is in the army.

Jack Hendricks recently complained against an action of the Dallas club of the Texas league when it permitted Marvin Goodwin, Cardinal pitcher, to "hard a come" for the Dallas team. Goodwin's name was the means of avoiding the lull park that afternoon. He is not a member of the Dallas club.

GIVES GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF LIFE IN FRANCE

ROLLO CRATER WRITES ENTERTAININGLY OF IMPRESSIONS AS MEMBER AMERICAN FORCES

The pictures of the historic surroundings in which they have been placed and graphic accounts of their meetings with the French people figure prominently in the letters received here from members of the American expeditionary forces.

Long Way From Home

Both subjects are featured in letters received by Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Crater from their son, Rollo Crater, a member of the medical detachment with the One Hundred Sixteenth regiment of engineers. In a letter under date of May 3, he says, "I sure seems strange to address a letter to the 'U. S. A.' It makes me feel a long way from home when I stop to think about it, but most of the time it seems like some strange dream to think I'm really over here in France.

The last two days have been regular summer weather, and the air is soft and sweet.

Last evening I went for a little walk in the country. There were a number of people out strolling. One little band of young people were walking down the middle of the road singing softly. I found a quiet place behind a stone wall (there are many stone walls in France) and sat there a long time drinking it all in. France is very beautiful. I can understand the devotion of a people to a country like this, favored as it is in soil and climate.

Rabbit's "Four Manger". I got to go to the track-meet. It took a day to go and a day to come back and we were there three days, so it was quite a trip. I sure enjoyed every minute of it.

On the way up I rode in the same compartment with a young Frenchman and his wife, and we got pretty well acquainted, as far as the barrier of language would permit. She said she was a "refugee." She had two wheel-horses—a cat in one and a rabbit in the other. I asked her if they were "refugees," too. She laughed and said, "no, the rabbit was 'four manger'" (to eat). So I asked her if the cat was "four manger," too, but she denied the charge.

Coming back I happened again to fall in with them and rode all afternoon with them. They taught me quite a bit of French.

Remarkable Cathedral

The place where the track-meet was held is a very pretty little town on a river. There is a very old castle there, and a big cathedral. France is surely remarkable for its cathedrals. I enjoyed wandering around through the town. I bought some hats and mitts in a little shop and talked to the sweet priestess awhile. I asked her how ancient the castle was, and she informed me it dated clear back to the first century.

Most every town has a "Hotel Léon d'Or" (Hotel of the Golden Lion), and in one place where we were, they told us that Joan of Arc had lodged in their hotel at one time.

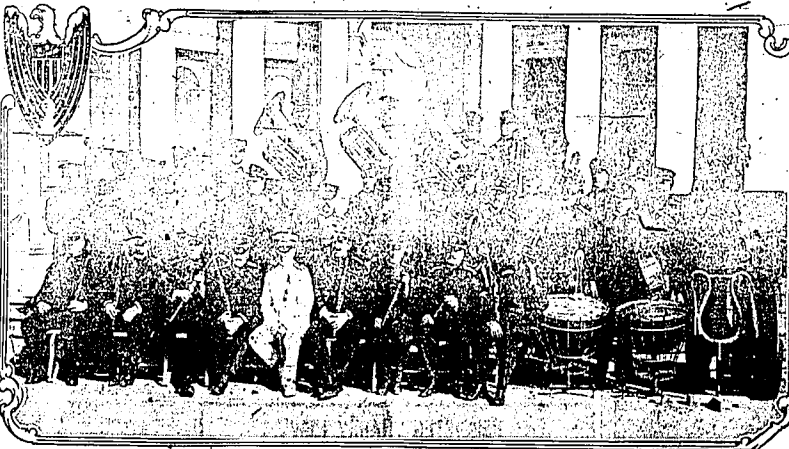

French Soldiers Are Companions

In a letter written February 10, Private Crater tells of a visit to one of the French cathedrals in company with French soldiers. It was Sunday, he says, and we were off duty so we went sight-seeing.

We ran across three French soldiers—splendid young men—and, as they spoke a little English and we a "petite

Chautauquas to Hear Exposition Band

Thavju's Great Organization Which Opened and Closed San Francisco Exposition Coming on Fifth Day of Chautauqua

Thavju's Band is coming to Chautauqua—thirty selected musicians from the great musical organization which both opened and closed the San Francisco Exposition—and led by the magnetic Thavju himself. Of the staid bands of nation-wide reputation which entertained the great crowds during the Exposition commended their return for a return engagement. They had so successfully pleased the throngs during the opening days that the directors commissioned their return for the closing weeks.

The secret of Thavju's popularity is not expressed so much in the size of his organization as in the unusual personnel and the fact that Thavju is a master director of his accomplished musicians. All band music criticism is not expressed so much in the sparkle, life and dazzling brilliancy of his musical interpretation. Two full concerts will be given on the fifth day of Chautauqua. In addition to the band in the evening, three grand opera singers from Thavju's own grand opera organization will appear as soloists.

Pou" (little bit) of French, we got along famously.

We got to see the inside of a wonderful great cathedral built in the twelfth century. It was like the pictures that you see—great archways and statues and wood-carvings and rich stained glass windows. Miss was just over, but there were still a few worshippers, so we felt a little out of place. We were just on the point of leaving, but we had an opportunity to climb up into the tower, so of course, we went. Wish you could have been there.

Wealth of Art

We went up a narrow, pitch-dark stairway that circled round and round in such a rapid spiral that it almost made you dizzy. Every twenty-feet or so, we could glance out through a narrow port hole in the wall, which was four or five feet thick. Finally we came out where we could look down on the whole country side. Looking down on the roof of the cathedral, we could see that it was built in the form of a great cross. The spires were ornamented with countless figures carved in stone—some wonderful figures, too, even when you didn't know just the story they represent. I suppose one could spend weeks studying the works of art in that one cathedral.

It was very ancient, too, and some of the old stone statues are covered with moss. It sure sets you dreaming to think of the different ages that old cathedral has seen. You can look down from that tower and see a perfect example of an old castle nearby, with towers and portholes and a great wall sixty feet or so high around it. You can see where the draw-bridge used to be and it isn't hard to imagine a knight in shining armor riding out across the draw-bridge and away to war—all the atmosphere of chivalry is there.

We got pretty well acquainted with the three French soldiers, and they showed us several interesting places. One was an old Norman house, as old or older than the cathedral.

Yesterday was Sunday and I walked

MILK MEN HELP TO WIN THE WAR

IN SIX MONTHS 444 TEST ASSOCIATION COWS PRODUCE $37,013.90

In the first half of this fiscal year 444 cows owned by members of the Pioneer Cow Testing association have produced 1,857,573 pounds of milk containing 74,077 pounds of butter fat. This is an average of 16.7 pounds fat per cow. Figured at the present market price for butter fat plus the feeding value of the skim milk this amounts to the enormous sum of $37,013.90.

While this is indeed proof that dairymen in this section are doing their "bit" to win the war it is only about two-thirds of what it would have been, Lester R. P. Sharp says, had all the cows and herds been like the following summary of monthly honor rolls for leading herds:

In this list the total number of cows are credited to each member that has equaled or exceeded the requirements for entry to the rolls each month for the first six months of the year.

T. H. Irwin's Brownie is now in the lead for first place for butter fat production this year with 550.7 lbs. fat to her credit.

Fifty pounds of butterfat per cow per month: Irwin Bros., Twin Falls (15 cows); Geo. Chiles, Buhl (9 cows); Karl Reeling, Buhl (6 cows); Gustaf Kunze, Buhl (3 cows).

Thirty pounds herd average per month: Irwin Bros., Twin Falls (6 months); S. H. Kayler, Twin Falls (6 months); Geo. Chiles, Buhl (6 months); E. G. Ehlers, Twin Falls (6 months); L. J. Tenckinck, Twin Falls (4 months); W. D. Howard, Wendell (4 months).

1500 pounds of milk per month: Gustaf Kunze, Buhl (7 cows); Karl Reeling, Buhl (4 cows); E. G. Ehlers, Twin Falls (1 cow); C. H. Boeham, Twin Falls (1 cow).

900 pounds of milk average per month: L. J. Tenckinck, Twin Falls (3 months); Karl Reeling, Buhl (3 months); E. G. Ehlers, Twin Falls (1 month); L. J. Jacobson, Wendell (1 month).

into town. It was a beautiful day and I felt fine, so I yelled "bonjour" at every French man, woman or child I passed. They were all wonderfully friendly and admiring because I spoke an American soldier, and I felt like some knight of olden days going forth to do some chivalrous deed. No knight ever had a friendlier greeting at every turn of the road.

In Love With French

I sure have fallen in love with the French—especially the children. There are always plenty of them around. I got a French dictionary and a French primer and grammar, and got the kids to teach me French. I told one of them something about being a teacher in America, and now wherever I go, the kids and some of the older people call me "maître!" As nearly as I can get it, the pronunciation is "ong-stee-tat."

"I wonder who's kissing her now, I wonder who's teaching her how? They are in the gathering darkness in the window of the United Press Bldg., the soldiers who are singing this. It is in French, just back of the great battle line and on the road these same soldiers must hold to turn the German army's back from Paris. A nighttime adds its song. The air is heavy with the smell of apple blossoms. The haze on the trees are rapidly changing the form of leaves. Along the crooked little street that is the "backyard" on which the low, quaint little houses of the village are built, come other boys from home. "I wonder who's buying the wine, For the lips that I used to call mine!"

No Drug Store Here

The song goes on. These other boys join the group. It is like a gathering of neighborhood pals at the corner drug store to try out a little harmony. But they are leaning against the cold stone of an old peaked-roof, French stable and house. The military police waves the traffic of war by, as it is a cross road, and regulations are strict. Calves, wagons loaded with forage, ammunition and supplies roll by. There is an occasional whine of a shell as the enemy artillery begins to lumber up, but with more voices joining in, the song goes on.

"I wonder if she ever tells him of me, I wonder who's kissing her now."

The singing drifts to "Good Night Ladies." The traffic becomes heavier, the roar of the guns louder, the whine and burst of shells more frequent. Soon the sky is aflame. Windows and doors rattle as the little house trembles from the concussion of guns. Another night of killing and destruction is under way.

NO TIME TO LAY DOWN

With no active opposition and indeed very little opposition at all, the highway district election Saturday was a rather tame affair. The vote cast was light, although very largely in favor of the creation of the independent district.

This removes from the jurisdiction of the county commissioners practically every highway in the county. Several years ago the control of the roads in the west and were transferred to a local management by the creation of the Duhl district.

These three districts will have entire control of all road matters within their boundaries, and as they embrace practically the entire county, the duties of the county commissioners will be materially lightened.

This probably will, and certainly should result in a readjustment of their salaries by the next legislature. With the million dollar bond project coming up; and a corresponding increase in the duties and responsibilities of the commissioners, the Twin Falls delegation in the last legislature saw fit to ask that this county be placed in the first class, with respect to the salaries paid the commissioners.

No salaries are allowed the commissioners of a highway district. They serve gratuitously. Their reward must come either from their interest in road improvements, from the political prestige the job may afford them or, as occasionally happens, from contractors who get peculiar favors.

The petty politicians turned loose with the funds of a road district will make no better showing with the money spent, than he would with the funds of a county or any other public institution. It is too much to expect that a board of district commissioners can be obtained in this county who are versed in all the ins and outs of road construction, and anyway, such men are not available for gratis jobs.

But sound, substantial men of good business judgment can be found, men who have enough interest in the Twin Falls country and the good roads cause to serve without salary, who will see to it that the district gets a dollar's worth of roads for every dollar spent. Such men will not try to build the roads themselves, but will employ someone who is thoroughly qualified to undertake the task. Good intentions and a scraper is not all that is required to construct lasting highways.

The residents of the district of course have very little to do with the selection of the first commissioners. The governor appoints them, and it is certain that more than one politician in the county who thinks he has the governor's ear will endeavor to select the commissioners for us. The people in the newly created district owe it to themselves, owe it to the cause, to make their wishes known, and that directly. The best of feeling must be maintained between the widely separated portions of the district, and the personnel of the first board will have a great deal to do with the success of the project. There should be a general get-together of delegates from the various parts of the district; they should look over the field, pick the men they want, "draft" them, and then ask the governor to appoint them. Nothing will so certainly defeat the purpose for which the district was created than the appointment of men who do not enjoy the entire confidence of the people of the district—confidence in their ability, their integrity, and their sense of a square deal as regards the claims of the various portions of the district.

As an eastern daily says, "Woodman illustrates his stories with cartoons and illustrates his cartoons with stories." His program entertains, amuses, informs, educates.

No Time Lost in Naming Cincinnati Youngster

CINCINNATI—Naming a son who has many dotting relatives sometimes proves a hard task. But for Frank Dowie, one day old and cooling in his mother's arms in a hospital, the problem was solved in a way most remarkable—even for this metropolis, where remarkable adventures are commonplace.

Mrs. Isabel Dowie was on her way to a hospital during the journey. Mrs. Dowie suddenly became ill. Her husband, attending her, whispered something to the conductor. Passengers were ordered out in quick lines and the car was switched hastily to an express track. In a few minutes Dr. Frank Moskowitz arrived in an ambulance, leaped up the steps, jumped nimbly across two third rails and into the car. Scores of persons stood in respectful silence on the platform. Soon a beaming face appeared on the platform and in a stage whisper to a group on the platform called out: "It's a boy."

The group on the platform gave a cheer. Many willing hands reached forward a few minutes later, when the mother and child were lifted gently down from the platform. Trains were halted and hundreds of impatient men and women looked impatiently from car windows and then smiled as the infant took its first journey across rails and its down to the ambulance. From the depths of the stretcher Mrs. Dowie looked up to the physician and inquired: "What is your first name?"

"Frank," answered Doctor Moskowitz. "Then my son's name shall be Frank," said the mother. Mrs. Dowie is thirty-one years old.

IN THE LIMELIGHT

PERSISTENT HARRY NEW

For insistency perhaps Senator Harry New of Indiana wins the prize in the war senate of the United States. The junior senator from Indiana has a sticking power that equals that of the proverbial bulldog.

When New gets behind a war measure he stays behind it until it is put through. As one of the strongest advocates of universal military service he has brought the subject to the attention of the senate almost daily, despite the fact that at times it has seemed almost hopeless.

Tucked away in a seat beneath the galleries, Senator New is not often seen, but he is heard. He is quick to his feet whenever promise for action opens up, and he never leaves the chamber until his fight is disposed of. When the Spanish war broke out Harry New was quick to get into the service. His service during that war gave him an insight into military affairs which has served him in good stead during the present crisis. Senator New is young for his age and comes from Indianapolis, where he used to engage in newspaper work. He is part owner of a paper now and gets back to his desk in the editorial rooms whenever his services are not needed in Washington.

Optimistic Thought. Remembrance is the only parallel out of which we cannot be driven.

Fascinating Screen Facts

Polly Moran, after a session as a perfect lady in several Bennett comedies, goes back to Sheriff Noll and the Wild and Woolly in "Two Tough Tenderfeet." There is a lot of woolly riding in this comedy, and Polly on her prosa performs some of the wilder of the stunts. There is one scene in which Polly is the only passenger in a single hold-up that would raise the hair on the heads of the famous old stage drivers of Carson City fame.

In "The Family Skeleton," the new Paramount picture, starring Charles Ray, Miss Sylvia Bremer, and of the prettiest stars of the screen, will be his "chorus girl" sweetheart, who turns a kidnapping episode and thereby cures him of an imaginary disease.

"Love Me" is the name of the new Paramount picture which is coming to the Idaho theatre the last of this week, with Dorothy Dalton as the star.

It is a thrilling society drama and will delight our women patrons, and it has some unusual situations and the author has made one of the most recent photoplays.

ROAD DISTRICT IS ENDORSED BY VOTE OF 10 TO 1

ELECTORS TAKE HIGHWAY AFFAIRS OUT OF HANDS OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

THE VOTE

Table with 3 columns: Name, For, Against. Total For: 560, Total Against: 53.

Creation of the Twin Falls highway district to include in its boundaries all of the territory of Twin Falls county outside the Buhl and proposed Filer highway districts was authorized by 10 to 1 vote at an election held in the district Saturday. The returns show practically no opposition to the proposition, Mustang precinct alone, by vote of 29 to 14, declaring against the organization of the district. Rogerson precinct 4 votes, all in favor of the district.

Declares Election Legal

Within 24 days from the date of the election the circuit court is expected to meet to canvass the returns of the election. A certified copy of the returns will be forwarded to the governor, who will appoint these members of the highway district board of directors, to serve until January 1, 1919, and for four years thereafter. Their successors are to be elected by vote of the people of the district.

NO BOND ISSUE YET

The creation of the district removes administration of road affairs within the county from the jurisdiction of the county commission, and places it in the hands of the road district directors. The issuance of bonds by the district is not contemplated at the present time.

RED MEN IN KHAKI

American Indians on Warpath Against the Hun

Approximately 5000 American Indians are at the training camp, or in active service on land or sea, says Capt. Sells, commissioner of Indian affairs, in Review of Review. At least 75 per cent are volunteers. Many of them hold commissions, and many more are non-commissioned officers. They are in every station of defensive service side by side with the white man, not as Indians, but as Americans.

They are gaining by contact an education that will lead them away from tribal relations, and give them a definite comprehension of the genius of American institutions. As a class, they are manly fellows and brave soldiers, quietly responsive to military discipline. The Indians of the United States purchased of the first and second issues of Liberty bonds nearly $10,000,000.

During the war the Indians have increased their soil production by an average of 50 per cent over anti-war yields. Within the last five years they have practically doubled their cultivated acreage and quadrupled the value of crops and live stock produced, and still, and still own the value of live stock they had in the beginning of that period.

HOLDS EXECUTION OF DEED INVALID

Just in District Court Reaches Verdict Quickly in Case on Trial During Week

After 27 minutes deliberation, the jury in district court here in the case of Glen C. Fritcher, administrator, against Mr. and Mrs. John B. Kelly, returned its verdict Saturday afternoon for judgment setting aside the deed to 80 acres of land near Buhl, executed July 18, 1916, by John Allen, deceased, to the Kellys. Presentation of the case on the part of the attorneys in the action occupied the entire time of the court during the week beginning Monday morning.

The verdict sustains the contention of the plaintiffs that Allen was of unsound mind when the deed was executed. Claim also was made by the plaintiffs that the Kellys had exercised undue influence over Allen to secure the deed to the property, which is valued at about $20,000. The administrator brought the action in behalf of seven heirs of Allen.

Attorneys of the administrator were E. M. Wray and J. M. Martin of Twin Falls, Arthur W. Ostrom of Buhl and Turner Oliver of Spokane. The Kellys were represented by Judge E. A. Walters and Rhed L. Hodgin of Twin Falls.

An injunction order of the district court to restrain Herman Anderson and E. F. The complaint recites that the Anderson establishment has been notorious for some time past as a place where liquor was sold and drunk.

The action is the first of its kind brought in Twin Falls county since 1912, when it was proven an effective means of combating the illegal sale of liquor.

"OLD FASHIONED THE HUN"

BY LIEUTENANT PAT O'BRIEN

Then the Belgian you could well directly to the cow-farm, where two cows were kept, and this, as I have pointed out before, is the usual construction of the poorer Belgian houses. I could not make out why the latter seemed to be so unattractive to me, and yet I saw him arguing with the family against me. Perhaps the fact that I wasn't wearing wooden shoes—I doubt whether I could have obtained a pair in enough for me—had convinced him that I was not really a Belgian, because there was nothing about me otherwise which could have given him that idea.

At that time, and I suppose it is true today, about 64 per cent of the people in Belgium were wearing wooden shoes. Among the peasants I don't believe I ever saw any other kind of footwear and they are more common there than they are in Holland. The Dutch wear them more on account of a lack of leather. I was told that during the coming year practically all the peasants and poorer people in Germany, too, will adopt wooden shoes for farm work, as that is one direction in which wood can be substituted for leather without much loss.

When the young man left, I left shortly afterwards, as I was not at all comfortable about what his intentions were regarding me. For all I knew he might have gone to notify the German authorities that there was a strange man in the vicinity—more perhaps to protect his friends from suspicion of having aided me than to inform me.

At any rate, I was not going to take any chances and I got out of that neighborhood as rapidly as I could. That night found me right on the frontier of Holland.

CHAPTER XVII

Getting Through the Lines.

Waiting until it was quite dark, I made my way carefully through a field and eventually came to the much desired barrier.

It was all that I had heard about it. Every foot of the border line between Belgium and Holland is protected in precisely the same manner. It is there to serve three purposes: first, to prevent the Belgians from escaping into Holland; second to keep enemies, like myself, from making their way to freedom; and third, to prevent desertions on the part of Germans themselves. One task was enough to convince me on one that it probably accomplished all three objects about as well as any contrivance could, and one took was all I got of it that night, for while I lay on my stomach gazing at the forbidding structure I heard the measured stride of a German sentry advancing towards me and I crawled away as fast as I possibly could, determined to spend the night somewhere in the fields and make another and more careful survey the following night.

The view I had obtained, however, was sufficient to convince me that a pole-vaulter idea was out of the question even if I had a pole and was a proficient pole-vaulter. The three fences covered a span of at least twelve feet and to clear the last barbed wire fence it would be necessary to vault not only at least ten feet high, but at least fourteen feet wide, with the certain knowledge that to touch the electrically charged fence meant instant death. There would be no second chance if you came a cropper the first time.

The stilt idea was also impracticable because of the lack of suitable timber and tools with which to construct the stilts.

It seemed to me that the best thing to do was to travel up and down the line a bit in the hope that some spot might be discovered where conditions were more favorable, although I don't know just what I expected along those lines.

It was nightly disheartening to realize that only a few feet away lay certain liberty and that the only things preventing me from reaching it were three confounded fences. I thought of my many and varied plans that would surely would set it in front of me for just one minute.

I spent the night in a clump of bushes and kept in hiding most of the next day, only going abroad for an hour or two in the middle of the day to intercept some Belgian peasant and beg for food. The Belgians in this section were naturally very much afraid of the Germans and I feared badly. In nearly every house German soldiers were quartered and it was out of the question for me to apply for food in that direction. The proximity of the border made everyone eye each other with more or less suspicion and I soon came to the conclusion that the safest thing I could do was to live on raw vegetables which I and lay down flat on the ground not seven feet away from his feet. He passed so close that I could have touched the ladder out and tripped him up.

It occurred to me that I could have climbed back under the barbed wire fence and waited for the sentry to return and then feigned him with a blow on the head, as he had no idea, of course, that there was anyone in the vicinity. I wouldn't have hesitated to take life, because my only thought was to get into Holland. But I thought that as long as he didn't bother me, perhaps it would be best to let him be to bother him, but to continue my efforts during his periodic absence.

His heat at this point was apparently fairly long and allowed me more time to work than I had hoped for. My gut-wipe with the ladder had convinced me that my escape in that way was not feasible. The shock that I had received had unerved me and I was afraid to risk it again, particularly as I realized that I had failed more frequently than I could hope to again if I met with a similar mishap. There was no way of making that ladder hold and I gave up the idea of using it.

I was now right in front of this electric barrier and as I studied it I saw another way of getting by. If I couldn't get over it, what was the matter with getting under it?

The bottom wire was only two inches from the ground and, of course, I couldn't touch it, but my plan was to dig underneath it and then crawl through the hole in the ground.

I had only my hands to dig with, but I went at it with a will and after a few minutes the ground was not very deep. When I had dug about six inches, making a distance in all of eight inches from the lowest electric wire, I came to an underground wire. I knew enough about electricity to realize that this wire could not be charged as it was in contact with the ground, but still there was not room between the live wire and this underground wire for me to crawl through, and I either had to go back or dig deep enough under this wire to crawl under it or else put it up.

This underground wire was, about an big around as a lead pencil and there was no chance of breaking it. The jack-knife I had had at the start of my travels I had lost almost and even if I had had something to hammer with, the noise would have made the method impracticable.

I went on digging. When the total distance between the live wire and the bottom of the hole I had dug was thirty inches, I took hold of the ground wire and pulled on it with all my strength.

It wouldn't budge. It was stretched fast across the narrow ditch I had dug—about fourteen inches wide—and all the tugging didn't serve to loosen it.

I was just about to give up in despair when a staple gave way in the wire. The noise caused me to pull the wire through the ground a little and I renewed my efforts. After a moment or two of pulling as I had never pulled in my life before, a staple on the next post gave way, and my wire became easier to haul more loosely now and pulled and pulled again until in all eight staples had given way.

Every time a staple gave way, it sounded in my ears like the report of a gun, although, of course, it didn't make very much noise. Nevertheless, each time I would put my ear to the ground to listen for the guard, if I heard him I would stop working and lie perfectly still in the dark till he had gone by.

By pulling on the wire, I was now able to drag it through the ground enough to place it back from the fence and go on digging.

The deeper I went the harder became the work because my fingers and feet were broken and I was nervous—afraid, every moment that I would touch the charged wire.

I kept at it, however, with my mind constantly on the hole I was digging and the liberty which was almost within my reach.

Finally I figured that I had enough space to crawl through and still leave a couple of inches between my back and the live wire.

Before I went under that wire I noticed that the live wire which the Belgian woman had given me as a souvenir made my pocket bulge, and lest it might be the innocent means of electrocuting me by touching the live wire, I took it out, rolled it up and threw it over the barrier first.

Then I lay down on my stomach and crawled or rather writhed under the wire like a snake, with my feet first, and there wasn't any question of my bugging mother earth as closely as possible because I realized that even to touch the wire above me with my back meant instant death.

Anxious as I was to get on the other side, I didn't hurry this operation. I feared that there might be some little detail that I had overlooked and I exercised the greatest possible care in going under, taking nothing for granted.

When I finally got through and straightened up, there were still several feet of Belgium between me and liberty represented by the six feet which separated the electric barrier from the last barbed wire fence, but before I went another step I went down on my knees and thanked God for my long series of escapes and especially for my latest achievement, which seemed to me to be about all that was necessary to bring me freedom.

ITALIANS PUSH AHEAD

announcement of the Italian victory are being continued. The official Vienna announcement referred to the reverses and declared them due entirely to adverse conditions.

Two thousand Austrians were captured at Montebello last night. Numerous squads of our bombers have crossed the river, where our artillery and air craft are hammering the enemy.

The retreat will leave the Austrians in a worse position, both militarily and politically, than before they started their drive a week ago yesterday.

If they yield all the ground they captured, they will have to face their enormous losses in man power without any compensating gains having been obtained. This not only will have a serious effect on the army's morale, but will add to the already serious depression at home.

May Hit Mountain Attempt

There is considerable speculation as to the effect the Italian drive will have on the impending renewal of the "Austrian" drive southward from the mountain area. It has been known for several days that the enemy had massed heavy forces in the mountains preparatory to another effort to reach Italy's rear.

British troops, in a surprise attack south of Anigo, penetrated the Austrian lines, killing more than 100 and bringing back 100 prisoners. Then enemy machines were brought down, bringing their total of aerial losses during the drive to 95 airplanes and six observation balloons.

HINDENBURG TO ATTEMPT TO REDDEN FAILURES

BY WILLIAM PHILIP BIMMES (United Press Staff Correspondent) WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN THE FIELD, June 23.—Ideal fighting weather that is almost unopposed continues on the west front, yet there is nothing more serious than the continuous juggling for position.

There is nothing more to delay Hindenburg's next thrust in the west. While on a recent visit to Paris, I was told by a certain personage from Switzerland that German public opinion is becoming exasperated at Hindenburg's delay. Plain spoken Germans are calling the campaign a failure, he said, pointing out the enemy has failed to reach any of the promised vital points.

A desperate attempt to redeem the German fall-down is expected shortly. German soldiers formerly held prisoners in Russia have arrived on the west front. Others are being rapidly brought in, following a brief leave.

HAIG REPORTS ONLY MINOR OPERATIONS

LONDON, June 23.—Successful minor operations in Flanders and at other points on the British front were reported by Field Marshal Haig today. "Many Germans were killed and fifty prisoners taken in a successful minor enterprise south of Meteren last night," the statement said.

"Casualties were inflicted and prisoners captured in night raids and patrol encounters elsewhere on the front."

ANOTHER ITALIAN SUCCESS

PARIS, June 23.—Italian troops holding positions on Bilguy mountain, eight miles southwest of Bolzano, repulsed another German attack after sharp fighting, inflicting heavy losses on the enemy and taking prisoners, the French war office announced today.

SPECIALIZED CLERKS URGENTLY NEEDED

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Expert clerical work has a more important place in the government's war organization than most people realize. We all know that the war can not be won in the trenches alone; that an efficient establishment at home is vital to the success of the biggest job ever undertaken by any nation; but the extent to which the specialized clerk is needed is perhaps not generally understood.

In the national capital alone the civilian force increased from 30,000 to nearly 80,000 during the first year of our participation in the war. Hundreds of the new employees are clerks of one kind or another, and fully three-fourths of them are women. Eighteen thousand stenographers and typists are at work constantly in the government offices at Washington on the top of correspondence and records made necessary by war preparations on a scale such as the world has never before known.

Specialists Needed

General clerks, that is, those without a specialty, are not difficult to obtain under present conditions, but the United States civil service commission, charged with the duty of recruiting the civil service to meet war needs, is experiencing difficulty in obtaining a sufficient number of applications for many clerical positions which require special training or experience.

There is an urgent call for applicants for the positions of stenographer, typewriter, bookkeeper-typewriter, clerk-bookkeeper, cost accountant, accounting and statistical clerk, statistician, clerk qualified in accounting, clerk qualified in business administration, index and catalogue clerk, schedule clerk, personnel clerk, blueprint file clerk, and assistant to business manager. All of these positions are open to both men and women. Representatives of the civil service commission at the post offices in all cities are prepared to furnish definite information and application blanks.

ENLISTING BOY ARMY

DENVER, COLO., June 23.—The boys' division of the Deaver Y. M. C. A., of which J. G. Arnold is secretary, is asking every boy to spend his summer vacation in productive work, preferably in food production. The national war garden commission is cooperating and furnishing the boys with training and gardening manuals.

BOLSHEVIEK DOCTRINE IS CAUSE OF AUSTRIA'S TROUBLES

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPPARD (Written for the United Press) WASHINGTON, June 23.—The Bolshevik doctrine has spread into Austria.

What Lenin and Trotsky started in Russia is working in the Italian army. It is a doctrine that takes hold in a hungry and demoralized land, and Austria, as can be seen by the food riots in Vienna, is sufficiently hungry to consider the preachment of Bolshevism.

The tremendous military feat of the Italian army will not be credited in any way. But it is only fair to say that the Russian decline has had its part in what has happened along the Piave. The once Bolsheviek-ruled Italians have done as fine a thing in coming back and putting victory before Bolsheviek belief as they have done even in a military way. Their sanity and fidelity is proven.

Fighting Force Impaired

First line trenches in this war are really back at home; if the lines break back home, the second line trenches, up where the guns are snouthing, will break also, just as the Austrian fighting line has faded away before the re-energized Italian smashes.

Italy has played a magnificent part; she has more than evened the score with Austria. But the Russian doctrine of the rights of separate peoples to govern themselves, and the American doctrine of government only with the consent of the governed, has weakened Austria as a fighting force.

The last previous report said that Karl was at Austrian headquarters, north of the Anigo plateau. It is probable he had returned to Vienna because of the food demonstrations and ministerial crises.

COPENHAGEN, June 23.—Under-Secretary of State Mules has informed the Reichstag food committee that a lower meat ration for Germany probably will be necessary, it was learned here today.

A Revenue and Expense Problem IT IS costing more today to give telephone service than it ever has before in the history of the telephone business. It costs more to install a telephone. It costs more to take out a telephone. It costs more to move a telephone. It costs more to repair a telephone. It costs more to connect one telephone with another. Poles cost more; copper costs more; lead costs more; iron costs more. Every item of labor and material employed in the maintenance and operation of the plant costs more. In face of all these increased costs telephone rates have remained unchanged, consequently our revenues have not kept pace with the steadily increased expenses. We have introduced the most rigid economies. We have held down expenses to the lowest point that could safely be touched without impairing the quality of the service. But notwithstanding our best efforts, a deficit has been gradually piling up until it has reached a figure amounting to $1,334,062.02. Our experience in the last fourteen months promises no hope of improved conditions, for each month shows a larger deficit than that of the preceding month. The only remedy lies in rate adjustments that will result in increased revenues. It is a problem of getting the revenue above the expense, which unquestionably is necessary to insure to the public continuously efficient service by preserving the financial integrity of the Company.
